The fourth entertainment of the Ladies' Benevolent Society, at the Congregational Church, took place last Thursday evening before the largest audience that has been seen in the Church Vestry for many years. Miss Fay Davis of Boston read several selections in a manner that gave unquestionable evidence of a superior talent and culture. Vocal music was rendered by Miss Ellen Maude Kinsman of Cliftondale, Soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Forristall, also of Cliftondale, both of whom gave entire satisfaction. Miss Kinsman was so charming in some of her selections, and especially in the last two, that the audience were hardly willing to excuse her when the limitation of time made it necessary to pass to another part of the programme. A prominent feature of the evening was a fictitious court trial entitled Sheldon vs. Eames, for breach of promise of marriage. It had been written especially for the occasion by Chester W. Clark. The scenes of the courtship and trial were located in Wilmington, which gave it a local interest, and the performance created great amusement and laughter. It was pronounced by all to be a great success. The various characters were represented by the following persons: Misses Lottie C. and Francene A. Buck, and Messrs. Walter I. Weeks, Charles E. Corliss, Arthur O. Buck, Albert C. Buck, Warren A. Taylor, Charles Doe, Howard M. Horton, Willard Lowe, George Perry, George E. Richardson, Harry Preble and J. Howard Eames.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

A Correction.

LYNN, MASS., Dec. 22, 1890.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL:—Upon my arrival in this city from Pittsburg, Pa., where I have just closed a very successful engagement with a theatre company, I was informed that reports were in circulation in Woburn to the effect that I had been arrested for being connected with a train wrecking affair in Lynn, and now I wish to make it public that my name is Will L. Murdock, and not Will E. I have not been arrested, neither have I been connected with any such affair. I trust that this party that carried the report to Woburn will feel convinced that it was false.

WILL L. MURDOCK.

A severe drouth prevails in Central Illinois. The railroads run special water trains to supply their engines. The dry, freezing weather and the insects are destroying the wheat crop.

WINCHESTER.

We have a 3 p. m. daily mail now.

Wedgemere Colony, No. 134, P. F., has been instituted here.

The Calumet Club are going to build a 12,000-dollar club-house.

Gen. Sec'y Canfield has returned to his post with the Y. M. C. A.

Samuel W. McCall, Esq., and wife are (it is believed) enjoying life hugely among the fragrant pines of South Carolina.

The growlers still keep up the road discussion to the supreme weariness and disgust of sensible people. Col. Nat is perfectly competent to look out for the roads.

So far, the holiday season has been made much of in this place. Nothing great in the way of public doings can be reported, but about everybody has his Christmas goose.

It is with pleasure that I am able to send the JOURNAL the fact that Judge Tyler and his daughter Gertrude are back to Winchester both in the enjoyment of very good health.

A cloud "no bigger than a man's hand" on the title to a bit of the proposed purchase has caused a temporary suspension of operations by the West Side real estate syndicate in this town.

A party of ladies and gentlemen, including Major Winn, George T. Littlefield and wife, George Carter, and Miss Hartwell (of Woburn) left here last Saturday for a winter visit to Florida.

Lawyer Elder of this place has been appointed by Gov. Brackett and his Council Commissioner on the Portraits of Governors of Massachusetts under Chap. 58 Resolves of 1890. And an excellent appointment it is too.

The officers of the Calumet Club for the current year are:—L. Barta, President; T. C. Hurd, Vice President; Director, Geo. H. Richards, Jr., H. A. Emerson, B. S. Briggs, C. S. Sergeant, E. F. Sanborn, Wm. Keyes; Geo. H. Eustis, Secretary; Geo. H. Carter, Treasurer.

The William Parkman Lodge of Free Masons recently elected the following officers:—Worshipful Master, C. E. Corey; Senior Warden, J. H. Winchenback; Junior Warden, D. W. Pratt; Treasurer, I. S. Palmer; Secretary, T. S. Spurr; Trustee of Permanent and Charity Fund, 3 years, Franklin Perry.

A. D. Weld Post, 148, G. A. R., has elected the following officers: Commander, Edwin Robinson; Senior Vice Commander, A. J. Edwards; Junior Vice Commander, H. Parker, 2d; Surgeon, G. A. Hall; Quartermaster, Henry Smalley; Chaplain, T. Wilson; Officer of the Day, M. E. Lyon; Officer of the Guard, Philip Maher.

The following are the officers of the W. T. A. S., recently elected: William T. Holland, President; James J. Fitzgerald, Vice President; John R. Fitzgerald, Rec. Secretary; Andrew Flaherty, Fin. Secretary; T. H. Haley, Treasurer, with the following Board of Trustees: Rev. Fr. Walsh, Wm. T. Holland, Michael E. Holland, Edward McKenzie and M. S. Nelson.

I am informed on good authority that Mr. Russell is the Winchester Selectman who boasts that he never reads local newspapers. I didn't take Jim to be that kind of a man at all, and yet I was always puzzled over his ignorance of local affairs. He don't read the local papers; that accounts for it. But I don't think it is anything to brag about, do you, Mr. JOURNAL?

The partnership of Loring & Avery, the tanners, expires Jan. 1, after which date Messrs. Loring and Avery will cease to occupy the present shop. Alexander Moseley, who owns the land and building, and Messrs. Beggs and Cobb, who now occupy the old Maxwell tannery in North Winchester and another shop at Woburn Highlands, have formed a stock company and will operate the plant, which is the largest single shop in the country.

There was seen at Winchester on Wednesday afternoon, at a few minutes before 3 o'clock, a rainbow around the sun. Can any of the readers of The Journal explain the cause of this phenomenon?—Boston Journal. It was an optical illusion supposed to be due to the extra fine quality of the tipple indulged in by the "rainbow chasers" the night before. Old people who knew what they were talking about said the "rainbow" was just a common "sun-dog"—"only this and nothing more."

Abbajona Council, No. 1002, R. A., have elected the following officers for 1891: Regent, A. G. Dominey; Vice Regent, J. E. Corey; Past Regent, W. Foster; Guide, G. A. Dupee; Sec., N. A. Knapp; Collector, W. L. Knox; Treasurer, W. H. Herrick; Orator, C. H. Winn; Chaplain, F. B. Browning; Warden, F. S. Pratt; Sentry, H. H. Hazeltine; Trustees, F. B. Browning, A. G. Dominey, J. E. Corey. On Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, there will be an entertainment and supper to which all members of the order residing in town are invited.

Samual W. McCall, Esq., of Winchester, who was an acknowledged leader in the House of Representatives while serving his District in that body, is prominently spoken of as the successor of Mr. Stackpole in the U. S. Board of Appraisers. Mr. McCall is peculiarly well qualified for the place and we hope the honor will come to him.— Arlington Advocate. Lawyer McCall is one of the ablest young men at the Massachusetts Bar. He is brainy, bright and honest — three qualifications which will be sure to win for him a high seat in political councils as well as distinction in his profession, if life and health are vouchsafed to him.

The third annual ball of the Winchester Firemen's Relief Association will take place in the Town Hall on Friday evening, January 16, 1891. Calnan's Orchestra of Woburn will furnish the music. The floor will be under the direction of Chief Charles T. Symmes who will be assisted by N. A. Knapp, F. J. Corcoran, John Lynch and the following aides: E. Chase, P. Monahan, J. W. McCraven, James Murphy, J. H. McCarty, James Noonan, L. Croscigrain, S. S. Symmes, T. H. Callahan, J. J. Fitzgerald, F. P. O'Connor, M. S. Nelson, F. Edgerly, J. S. Ayer. Caterer, N. J. Hardy. Horse cars will leave at 2 and 5 A. M. for Woburn and North Woburn.

At an antequarian supper given by the Ladies Western Missionary Society of the Congregational church last week eleven of the organized members were present, which, considering the Society was organized in 1840, was something quite remarkable. The names of these old members are Stephen Cutter, Mrs. A. A. Hall, Sullivan Cutter, Sylvanus Elliott, Mrs. L. R. Hutchinson, Mrs. A. J. Sanborn, Mrs. Hannah M. Parker, Sumner Richardson, Eliza H. Richardson, Nancy S. Howe and Esther W. Hatch. Several other original members are still living but were unable to be present at the supper. Their names are: Esther Elliott, Mehitable Christy, Susan Johnson, Andrew N. Shepard. Of the above names the following have for fifty years been active members of the Sunday school: Summer Richardson, Sylvanus Elliott, Sylvester G. Pierce, Lydia L. Blood, Maria S. Thompson.

Literary Notices.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH for January is a real New Year's number. The colored picture with which it opens, called "A New Year's Greeting from the Cottage Hearth" looks "as sweet as a peach," and the poem which follows, called "The Greeting of the New Year," by Celia Thaxter, one of the most gifted poets of our land, is a fit companion-piece for the picture. Several of the number's articles are illustrated, and the literary contents are fresh, pure in spirit, high-toned, and relishable to those who love clean, elevating reading.

It should be borne in mind that we give THE WOBURN JOURNAL ($2 a year) and THE COTTAGE HEARTH ($1.50 a year) for $2 PAYABLE INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

Christmas.

It was a cool, bracing, sunny day.

The services at St. Charles Church were very fine and entertaining.

Rev. and Mrs. Denno spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. James Walker.

There were balls, parties and general feasting on the "Christmas Goose."

It is believed that the street car fare between here and Stoneham will soon be reduced to 5 cents.

A quiet movement is on foot to abolish the Woburn District Court and establish a Police Court in its stead.

Rumor says that the new appointee for Highway Commissioner will be either Mr. William Johnson of Button End or Mr. Richard Terrett.

In the great Boston Globe voting match the Woburn Highland Hose Company received 21,260 votes and won a Souvenir; Nellie Sheehan, teacher, 10,548; Phillip McKenna, policeman, 5,305.

The High School pupils demonstrated their high esteem and affection for ex-Principal Dow by presenting him with a fine picture last Saturday. Principal Mendum made a very nice presentation speech.

In the death of Mr. William A. Blodgett this community has lost an upright and useful member, religion a consistant and influential influence, and the first Baptist Church of Woburn one its main pillars. He was an honest man—"the noblest work of God."

Christmas Music.

At the First Congregational Church Sunday morning, Dec. 28, 1890.

Organ Prelude. "Ave Maria" Cherubini.
Prof. W. H. Clarke.
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite." Dr. Wm. Boyce.
Choir Anthem. "O taste and see how gracious." Sir John Goss.
Organ Postlude. Chorus from "Samson." "Then round about the starry theme." Handel.
Prof. W. H. Clarke.

Four men who had been doing Christmas shopping met in a suburban town the other day. Usually, they trusted their wives and sisters to do the buying for them, but in selecting gifts for these wives and sisters it was necessary to make purchases themselves. "I have something very handsome," said the first man, and he produced a vase. The second man, with a smile, uncovered his parcel. "My present is a vase, too, and quite a bargain," he said. The third man had a peculiar expression upon his face, when he, too, unwrapped a vase, and the fourth burst into a laugh when a vase was shown to be his purchase. Such originality was a subject of much wonderment.

Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank.

Incorporated A. D. 1854.

JOHN CUMMINGS, President.

E. E. THOMPSON, Treasurer.

Open Daily, 9 A. M. to 12 M., 2 to 4 P. M. Saturday evenings, 6 to 8.

NOTICE.

The Regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank will be held on Friday, January 2, 1891, at 7:30 P. M., for the transaction of such business as may legally come before said meeting.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, January 10, 1891, will draw interest from January 1, 1891.

Dividends payable on and after January 17th, 1891.

E. E. THOMPSON, Clerk and Treasurer.

Woburn, Dec. 24, 1890.

Now is the time to buy the following articles at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Drummer's samples in Bed Spreads at 60 cents on the dollar.
Extra fine Berkeley Cambric, 14c worth 20c.
Short lengths in Pepperel Twill Cotton 9c.
Fast Black Wool, fleece lined and cotton Hose for Ladies and Children, warranted goods, very cheap.

Miss Evans & Miss McLean,

Dressmakers,

Of No. 6 Church Ave., have moved to No. 18 Pleasant Street, cor. Bennett, Woburn, Mass., where they will be pleased to see their customers.

DON'T BUY A

Turkey for Christmas

UNTIL YOU GO TO THE

CASH MARKET

And get prices, they are always the lowest in the city.

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

4500 FEET HIGH.

One issue of the

BOSTON SUNDAY HERALD,

Piled, folded, one on top of another, would make a pile sixteen times as high as Bunker Hill Monument.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

CHRISTMAS

GOODS!

Our prices are always the same as in Boston. Read the bargains we are offering.

New Valencia Raisins,	8c. per lb.
" Ondara, "	10c. " "
" California, "	10c. " "
" Currants,	6c. " "
" Leghorn Citron,	20c. " "
" Lemon Peel,	20c. " "
" Orange "	20c. " "

Notice that these are all new goods.

Broken Candy, 13 cts., two pounds for 25 cts.

Mixed Nuts 15 cents lb.

Boston Branch

Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

City of Woburn.

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS or firms having BILLS against the CITY are requested to present them on or before December 31, 1890, as the financial year closes on that date.

CHARLIE A. JONES, City Auditor.

First National Bank

OF WOBURN.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Banking Rooms, on Tuesday, January 13, 1891, at seven o'clock, P. M.

G. A. DAY, Cashier.

Woburn, Dec. 12, 1890.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Central House, Woburn, Mass.

SIDE ENTRANCE.

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

WARNING!

This is to give public notice that I forbid all persons trusting anyone on my account from and after this date without a written order from me.

D. C. HOSKINS.

Woburn, Dec. 26, 1890.

WANTED

An American Boy of about 15 years as errand boy and to learn the retail trade in Woburn. Salary $125 the first year. Apply in own hand writing to Box 1992, Woburn.

THE BEST PLAN OF

Life Insurance

Is that which fixes a definite value on the Policy each year during its existence; always securing to the holder, a sum greater than the gross premiums paid, in Paid Up Insurance, or its Equivalent in Cash on demand on any anniversary.

Paid-up and Cash Values in the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. on a Policy of 1,000.00 Endowment for 25 years. Age 25. Annual Premium, $35.85.

Years Paid.	Cash Value.	Paid-up Value.
2	$39.21	$86.51
3	63.70	136.38
4	89.27	185.38
5	115.93	233.42
6	143.76	280.56
7	172.82	326.77
8	203.15	372.04
9	234.82	416.34
10	267.92	459.74
15	457.47	662.63
20	696.10	842.46
25	1000.00	1000.00

An Endowment Policy in this Company, issued under the new perfected non-forfeiture law of Massachusetts, provides for three most important things.

1st. It is a security to the beneficiaries in case of the early death of the assured.

2d. It makes a certain provision for the wants of one's older years.

3d. It provides a sum of money continually increasing in amount, that the policy-holder may at any time receive, should he be overtaken by misfortune and lose his property.

No business man can afford to do without the advantage that such a policy may be to himself if unfortunate in business; to his family in case of his early decease or as an endowment to himself at a time in life when, if he has no property, he will be poor indeed.

All classes Policies for any amount issued on this principle.

For further information call on

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

ADMINISTRATRIX' SALE

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Hon. Judge of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex, I shall sell at public auction, on Saturday, the third day of January, in the year A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the premises, a lot of land containing about five acres, with the buildings thereon, situated in Wilmington, in said County, on the north side of the County road leading from Lowell to Salem, formerly known as the "Stimpson Place," and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southeast corner of the premises, at a stake and stones at said road and land formerly of Joseph Davis; thence the line runs northerly by land last named to a stake and stones in an acute angle in the fence, at land formerly of T. D. Bond; thence southwesterly by said last named land, by the fence, to said road; thence easterly by said road to the first named bound. Said premises are same as first lot of land described in deed of Washington P. Damon to Ella M. Damon, dated February 1st, 1886, and recorded with Middlesex North District Deeds, Book 729, Page 172, and same as lot in deed of said Ella M. Damon to Joseph A. Phelps, recorded in said Registry, Book 187, Page 352.

Also, I shall sell, by virtue of said license, at public auction, on Saturday the third day of January, A. D. 1891, at thirty minutes past ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the premises hereinafter described, one other lot of land containing about twenty-two acres seven rods, situated in the northwesterly part of said Wilmington and part in Tewksbury, bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the southeast corner of the premises at a stake and stones at land now, or late, of T. D. Bond; thence westerly by last named land 54 rods to a stake and stones at same land; thence northerly by the old road and fence 66 rods 5 links to a stake and stones at same land; thence westerly by same land 398 feet to a stake and stones at same land; thence northerly by same land 314 feet to a pair of bars; thence northerly by a private way 453 feet by heirs of William Pringle to a stake and stones at land of said heirs; thence easterly by same land 486 feet to a stake at land of Laura A. Miller; thence southerly by last named land 822 feet to a stake and stones, at land late of said Joseph A. Phelps and said Miller; thence easterly by land of said Miller, 499½ feet to a stake and stones at land of A. C. Phelps; thence southerly by said Phelps's land 206½ feet to a stake and stones at a corner; thence easterly by land of said A. C. Phelps 281 feet to a stake and stones at land of Pauline F. Deloria; thence southerly by last named land 607½ feet to the point of beginning. For tittle, see Middlesex North District Deeds, Book 187, Page 555.

The mortgage to the Andover Savings Bank now covering said lots will be discharged before the giving of the deeds to the purchasers.

Terms at sale.

PAULINE F. DELORIA, Admx.

E. PRIOR, Auctioneer.

Woburn, Dec. 11, 1890.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by Lawrence Rossiter and Ann Rossiter, his wife in her right, of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank, dated April 1, 1882, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1595, Page 10, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Monday, the fifth day of January, A. D. 1891, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows, to wit:—A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the southerly part of said Woburn, on Garfield Avenue, formerly East street, containing about forty-six thousand five hundred and sixty square feet, and bounded as follows, viz:—Beginning at the northwesterly corner of the premises, at East street, and at land now or formerly of Patrick Glennan; thence the line runs easterly by land last named, and lands now or late of L. H. Allen and heirs of Rufus Wyman, about four hundred and fifty-two feet, to land now or formerly of Holton; thence southerly by land last named, about thirty-five feet to a corner of land now or late of said Holton; thence westerly by land last named, and land of Thomas Quinn, about four hundred and fifty-two feet to said East street; thence northerly on and by said East street, about one hundred fifty-two and one-half feet, to the point of beginning.

$100 will be required of the purchaser at the sale.

THE WOBURN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK, Mortgagee, By Edward E. Thompson, Treasurer.

JOHN W. JOHNSON, Attorney.

Woburn, December 11, 1890.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles Flagg, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Abigail Flagg, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of January, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Thanksgiving

IS OVER!

Now Get Your Picture

Both large and small, for your Christmas Gifts. Crayon Portraits at very Low Prices at the Studio of

F. W. LEGG,

Cor. Montvale Ave. and Main St., WOBURN.

Rooms To Let.

Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let. Enquire at

JOURNAL OFFICE.

1,000 LBS.

Nearly one-half a ton of excellent

NOTE PAPER

At 15 cents a pound of 120 sheets, and BEAUTIFUL BOX PAPER for 10 cents and 37 cents, at

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Examine our Elysian and Wilton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Filling inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

592 WASHINGTON ST. 592

BOSTON.

Business and Shorthand Depts.

Students can enter daily and will receive

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

To a young person entering the business world a Business Education is worth more than a

CASH CAPITAL OF $10,000.

Students Assisted to Positions.

ALL OF OUR last year's graduates are in good situations. Interesting circulars free.

Salesmen Wanted

LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

To sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expenses and Steady Employment guaranteed.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND, 388 Main St. cor. Park St. Woburn, Mass.

WANTED.

A position as a NURSE. Reference given and required.

Address, Box 998, Stoneham.

REVIEW OF THE QUARTER

LESSON XIII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, DEC. 28.

The Texts Extend from Luke xx, 9-19, to Luke xxiv, 44-53, Including Closing Scenes in Christ's Earthly Mission. Sketches of Participants in the Tragedy.

The quarter now closing began with the parable in which Christ announced to His disciples the method of God's dealing with a sinful race. The world is typified as a vineyard and the prophets as messengers, the proceeding closing with the murder of the Son and a prophecy of God's judgments on the murderers. Then follow the closing scenes—the arrest, trial and crucifixion, the glorious resurrection, final instructions and ascension. As this is an epoch concerning which some historical questions are raised, it seems well at this point to turn aside from the texts and mention some facts in the lives of the principal persons—facts which show the reason of their words and actions as there recorded.

It is no small proof of the authenticity of the four gospels that the writers everywhere assume full knowledge on the part of their readers of the nature of the Roman government, and those who wrote chiefly for the Jews do not pause to tell who Annas and Caiaphas, Herod and Pilate were; they speak of them precisely as an American writing today for American readers would speak of President Harrison, Secretary Blaine and Governor Hill. If he were writing of events occurring in England a century ago he would be careful to add words explaining who the principal men were and why they took certain action under the law; nor is it possible for the most able writers to produce a work in one century exactly in the style of the preceding century. This one fact is a powerful argument against a recent assumption of infidelity that the gospels were produced a century later than their assumed dates.

Of the persons mentioned the most prominent is Pontius Pilate, and we know his history almost as well as that of any man of equal rank in the last century. The Jews had been conquered by the Romans, and governors set over them by the Roman emperors. Pilate was procurator of Judea, just as Governor Bent was governor of New Mexico soon after the Americans had conquered that country; and as there were quarrels and riots in New Mexico on account of race and religion, so there were in Judea. Similarly, as the United States government refused to take notice of the religious differences, but punished only those who rebelled against the nation, so Pilate's duty was to disregard the complaints of the Jews on merely religious grounds. He therefore refused to execute the judgment of Annas, Caiaphas and the council, as it was merely for blasphemy; so they brought a new charge, that of sedition, to make a case under Roman law.

Pilate then assumed jurisdiction, and questioned the prisoner, but as it was evident that Christ's words and acts were not aimed at the government Pilate pronounced him faultless—three times, John says. But Pilate "feared the people." Why? Because he had already caused serious riots by violating their religious feelings, and knew that he was in danger of reprimand from Rome. The cruel and suspicious Tiberius was then emperor, and was changing local rulers in every part of the empire. Pilate was the sixth procurator of Judea, and his first acts there had caused trouble. He entered Jerusalem with the Roman standards advanced, and planted them in places considered sacred by the people. The latter looked upon the figures on the standards as idolatrous, and there was a bloody riot, so Pilate removed the standards. In his dilemma, anxious to placate the people and unwilling to slay the innocent, he gladly heard that Christ was a Galilean, and therefore sent him to Herod, who ruled Galilee, but was at that time in Jerusalem.

This was Herod Antipas, son of Herod the Great and uncle of that Herod mentioned in Acts xii, a man with all the vigor and executive ability of his family, and with more than their average taste for social philosophy and research. To him Christ was no more than a curiosity; he wanted the Saviour to talk, "to give his views," as a modern politician would say, and had some hopes of seeing him work a miracle. Christ, therefore, received all his speeches with a dignified silence; it was no part of his earthly mission to satisfy the idly curious. Herod, therefore, returned the prisoner to Pilate, who made one more feeble effort against the popular clamor, then weakly yielded and gave over the innocent one to a cruel death.

The subsequent history of the two rulers is in the highest degree instructive, and by a series of events which seem providential the facts are clearly proved by the testimony of Jews and Romans who, if they had any feeling on the subject, were hostile to Christianity. The very evil which Pilate had consented to the crucifixion to avoid soon came upon him; he attempted by cruelty to suppress outbreaks, and the cruelty provoked greater insurrection. At length he perpetrated a massacre of the Samaritans, so atrocious that the home government interfered. Pilate was recalled, tried and condemned to banishment to Vienne, in Gaul (France). There authentic history leaves him. There was a tradition that he lived in a cave in the mountain now called by his name and drowned himself in a small lake near its summit, but this is not proved.

Herod Antipas indulged his passion for art and luxury as long as Tiberius remained emperor. The latter, however, was succeeded by Caligula, equally cruel and suspicious, and partly insane. To him went Herod with a request that he might have the title of king and the powers of his father, but it was his misfortune to reach Rome at the time when Caligula was enraged by the discovery of a plot. Herod was arrested and narrowly escaped death. He, too, was banished, and finally died in Spain. He had married a daughter of Aretas, king of Arabia Petræa, and repudiated her to marry his half brother Philip's wife. This caused a war with Aretas and much misery. During these troubles Herod Agrippa, grandson of Herod the Great and nephew of Antipas, was living in Rome, and so gained the favor of Caligula that he was given the rule over Judea and much adjacent territory. He yielded to the prejudices of the Jews, slew the Apostle James and imprisoned Peter, and after seven years of pride and luxury died a miserable death (Acts xii, 23).

When the Jews clamored for the crucifixion of Christ and Pilate protested they cried out, "His blood be upon us and our children!" And verily it was. From that day forth troubles multiplied upon them, and the last few years of their national history is one continuous era of woe and horrors. The Gentile world, even the hard hearted Roman soldiers, stood aghast at the frightful punishment the Jews brought upon themselves, and Josephus presents details which even now can scarcely be read without tears. Verily "the wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God."

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters —Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle at H. L. Flanders & Co. Drugstore.

If all the requirements have been observed, bees will now need but little care.

Do You Wish

To regain your health if you are all broken down and suffering from nervous prostration? I will tell you what cured me after suffering for months. I used two bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and now I am a well man. C. Stiles, Bookkeeper, Canton.

THE ANTWERP ARMLESS PAINTER.

Sketch of the Life of a Renowned Artist Who Works with His Toes.

The most celebrated and the most accurate of painters of pictures from the Royal Museum and galleries of Antwerp is M. Charles Francois Felu. He was born at Waermaerde, in Flanders, in 1830. His father occupied a superior position in the bureau of finance; his mother is described as a woman of unusual intelligence, courage and devotion. Charles was her third son, and her suffering was intense at the discovery that he was born entirely without arms. Apart from the singular absence of these limbs he was a well developed boy, and grew into a handsome, bright and intelligent lad, with a keen artistic sense and appreciation of color and beauty of form.

It was his frantic attempts as a baby to reach and hold flowers that suggested to his watchful and painstaking mother the use of his toes. She placed some daisies between the little pink toes of his right foot, and was delighted at his pleasure and at the facility with which he learned to hold, arrange and distribute them.

Later his love of pictures suggested to her to put a pencil between his toes, and with this and scraps of paper he would amuse himself for hours, showing even at this early age his talent by drawing quaint objects which always had some likeness to real ones. His brothers Adolph and Theodore aided their mother in the task to which she consecrated her life of developing the boy's artistic talent without the use of hands. His education was continued at Ostend, whither the family removed, and afterward at Bruges.

Finally M. Felu, the father of M. Charles, fixed his residence at Antwerp, and from that time the destiny of his son was fixed, and his talent developed rapidly under Leys and other artists of renown. In 1874 he visited London, and made studies in the Kensington museum and in the National gallery. He painted a charming portrait of Mme. Victoria Lafontaine, of the Comedie Francaise, full of grace and intelligence. He also received an order from the archduke of Austria to paint a portrait of the celebrated Massala.

His principal work, however, is the making of such close studies from the old masters that it is difficult to distinguish the original from the copy. Visitors to Antwerp have seen him engaged in this at the museum, and he is constantly occupied with orders. He is always cheerful and interested in affairs, yet most conscientious and serious in his work, and uses his foot with such dexterity that he hardly seems to miss the absence of hands.—Homemaker.

Pronunciation of Two Common Words.

How do you pronounce a word spelled portiere? We get it all sorts of ways—porteer, porchair, porcheere and portiar. It's going the rounds now, as vase did some years ago. In Boston it was vawz; in Philadelphia varz, and everywhere else, where they didn't care, they struck it vace. We often wonder how these affectations arise. Portiere is a French word, and there is nothing about it which should confuse one; but take notice, among the retailers particularly, and you will find in a day's trip of the trade that views vary all the way from porcheer to portiur. The best rules of orthoepy give the pronunciation portear, with the last syllable taking the "a" as in the word fat, and not the "ai," as in fair. The best authorities, including Webster, Walker and Johnson, pronounce vase with the sound not as harsh as "z" nor soft as "s," but a go-between.—New York World.

Ready Made Shoes Most Popular.

"Few persons have their shoes made to order," says a retail dealer who does custom work—"not more than 5 per cent. of those I trade with. People don't want the bother and delay of getting measured, and besides, the majority of shoe wearers wait till the old ones are pretty far gone, and then they want a new pair in a hurry. A person with a fairly regular foot has little difficulty now in getting a ready made shoe to fit it comfortably. I make measured work for some particular persons who won't have any other or who have peculiar feet. The running of a tape about the prominent parts of a foot will at best always be but an approximate and uncertain method, owing to the impossibility of getting the form of the foot at all points; a cast is the only true method, and not one in a hundred will have one made."—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

Changing a Patient's Linen.

The best time for changing the linen of the patient is in the morning. When able to bear a daily freshening of the toilet it should be done as nearly as possible at the same hour. Before convalescence or strength will permit of daily toilet a frequent sponging of the face and hands with tepid water, to which has been added a little good Cologne water, will be found very refreshing, especially to a fever patient. When a complete sponging is ordered, if done just before the hour of sleeping, it will be found much more refreshing and will conduce to sleep.—Arkansaw Traveler.

A Clever Trick.

Gothamite—Just got back from Europe, eh? What in the world induced you to send home those bogus cablegrams saying that you were dead?

Literary Man—Well, I had to do something to make the magazines publish the articles they have accepted from me.—Puck.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past obliges us to admit that only one remedy has met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms yield to it.

A very interesting article by Herbert Spencer appears in this month's number of The Popular Science Monthly. In it he argues against Darwin's theory limiting the origin of music to the early expression of amatory feelings, and claims for it the broader derivation from voice-sounds caused by all kinds of emotional excitement.

If you suffer from catarrh why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the common sense remedy? It has cured many people.

A MAN WHO GETS A BIG SALARY.

An Engineer Whose Annual Income Equals That of the President.

A gray haired man of possibly 58 or 60 years, of medium height, rather round in build and possessor of a pair of beady black eyes, took a pen in his chubby hand and indited, "A. Bonzano, Phœnix, Pa.," on the register at the Gibson hotel. He seemed to be simply and solely a well to do business man who had come to the city to transact business, and by his nervously quick manner a casual observer might think that he would do his business briskly and shake the mud of Cincinnati from his feet as soon as possible. Now who was he, this Bonzano?

The richest salaried man in America, outside possibly the president of this great and growing nation.

He is merely an "employe" of an iron company, of Phœnix, Pa., and a civil engineer. Here in the west we know not Bonzano, as he is in the east, but nevertheless the men with capital out here, who are backing up great bridge projects with their spondulix, are gradually coming to realize the almost absolute necessity of having Alphonse Bonzano look first into the project and then give his very valuable professional opinion concerning the feasibility of said project. Now as to his salary. An unblushing reporter put it straight to the old engineer last night:

"My salary, my son," replied M. Bonzano, with a strong Teutonic accent, "is simply enormous. Does that satisfy you?"

This is all the old man has ever been heard to say on that apparently delicate subject, but there are at least two men in this city who should know what the salary of this wonderful old man is annually. The reporter met them and requested accurate information on the subject. The answer was simply stupendous. They replied almost in the same voice:

"About $50,000 a year."

The answer may sound more like an exaggeration, to draw it mildly, than a solid fact, but almost any civil engineer of your acquaintance, precious reader, will verify this incontrovertible fact. They say—that is, those who know him say of Bonzano:

"He is a man who loves his home and family, trusts his God, helps the needy in distress, and does his work more accurately and quickly than any other man of his kind in America."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Ate the Blacksmith's Bellows.

Although the "fretful porcupine" is almost unknown in Orange county, the curious creature is quite numerous in the wooded districts of Sullivan, Ulster and Delaware counties.

One of the porcupine's peculiarities is its inordinate fondness for leather, which it seems to think one of the daintiest of tid-bits, and it not infrequently happens that one of them, if it gets a chance at a set of harness, will destroy it in a single night, and many a trout fisherman who has left his water soaked boots or shoes out of doors at night has risen in the morning to find them chewed to pieces by a porcupine's sharp teeth.

It is not often, however, that these animals enjoy such a feast as the one which lives somewhere in the vicinity of Jim Gibbon's blacksmith shop at Stockport, Delaware county, has partaken of, for twice within a year the "pesky critter" has entered his shop and eaten up his bellows. Any one who has seen a blacksmith's bellows knows how much leather there is in one of them, and when, as happened once, the porcupine in a single night ate up more than half of one, it will be seen that he had indeed a sumptuous feast, and must have been fairly gorged with leather.—Middletown (N. Y.) Argus.

Some Model School Rules.

The following is said to be a literal copy of the rules posted on a school house door up in the Big Bend country: "Each pupil is required to make a bow on entering the School House of morning, also on leaving of the School Room of evening. There shall be no profane language used in School nor on the play ground nor shall there be no pinsticking, pinchin, scratchin, nor no taggin, nor no uneasy Whisperin in School. No pupil shall leve the School house without permission of the Teacher. No uneasy moven from seat to seat. No fitin on the road from nor to school nor no Nick-namin. Every pupil over eight years shall be subjec to these rules, and the teacher is to make allowense for all the pupils under eight and enforce the rules accorden. If any scholar brakes these rules tha shall be punished by switchen."—San Francisco Examiner.

A Queer Powder.

Few people have any notion of the queer things that are used in medical practice at the present day. Not the least extraordinary among the remedies employed by physicians is powdered cockroaches. From this insect, dried and reduced to a brown dust, great relief is obtained by dropsical patients. The dust thus obtained contains an active principle called "antihydropin," which is most effective in the stimulation of the kidneys, and serves as a check to the complaint mentioned. Cockroach powder is also used as a vermifuge.—Washington Star.

Classified.

Smalley—I don't like that old Bookley. He's such a rough, rasping old creature, always rubbing some one the wrong way.

Corncorner—That must be because he's a biblio-file.—America.

The moment catarrh becomes chronic it is difficult to overcome. However Old Saul's Catarrh Cure will cure the most obstinate case.

It is hard work for the baby to cut teeth, and it should be assisted by the use of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup which will cool the inflamed gums.

A French doctor has recently been collecting statistics with regard to those of his patients who complain of nervous affections, with the result that he has come to the conclusion that the prime cause of all the evil is the practice of reading in the train.

Nothing in the Wide World so Good.

I was afflicted with Kidney disease. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y.—I say it with a perfect recollection of all that was done for me besides—is the only thing that gave me permanent relief. I have recommended it to many people for Kidney disease and they all agree that it has not its equal for this complaint.—Lyman Crawford, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

It is estimated that the little word "hello" makes at least 16,000 indentations on a phonographic cylinder.

A WINTER HOME ON A MOUNTAIN.

The Family That Lives on the Top of Overlook During the Cold Months.

"I have plenty to read up here, and I can't say that I get lonesome at all, though I have no neighbors," said Mrs. Charles Brink the other day in her cottage on the summit of Overlook mountain in the Catskills. Since the winter signal service station was abandoned on the top of Mount Washington Mr. Brink and his little family live at a higher altitude during the cold months than any one near the Atlantic seaboard. Mr. Brink is in charge of the property of the company which owns the highest mountain house in the Catskills, and during the severest winter weather, when gales are particularly lively round the summit of the fine old hill, he and his family are there alone in their snug little cottage, 3,200 feet above the level of the sea.

About five years ago Mr. Brink's physician told him that if he continued living at West Hurley he would die of consumption. He was told he must make a change of climate, and so Brink made the change. Instead, however, of going several hundred miles away, he changed climates in a perpendicular direction, and by making his home over 3,000 feet above the sea he found the dryness of atmosphere that was essential to his recovery. Now a more vigorous and hardy man could scarcely be found in the state. Mountain air has done wonders for Mr. Brink.

Mountaineers get so used to running up and down hill that Mr. Brink's hired man thinks nothing of travelling nearly three miles every day far down the mountain side for the little milk the family consumes, and though no one else lives on top of the mountain the Brink family are not deprived of social pleasures during the winter, for now and then sleigh loads of people climb the steep ascent from Woodstock and have a jolly party and lots of dancing on top of the mountain.

The snow clad country below is plainly in view on every clear morning from near Albany to the Highlands on the Hudson. Parts of several states are seen, and the view is as fine in the clear air of winter when everything is snow clad as during the season of verdure. Mr. Brink generally makes one or two trips a week down the mountain to the postoffice and stores at Woodstock. During the great blizzard, however, he was cut off from intercourse with the rest of the world for about two weeks by the impassable nature of the roads.

His wife is very fond of reading, and though her little daughter is away from her at school she finds plenty to occupy her attention with an ample supply of reading matter and her household duties. One of Mr. Brink's occupations during the winter is filling the ice house for summer use at the hotel. He cuts the ice from a reservoir of water that is kept on the mountain top, and one winter when the whole eastern country feared that it would not be able to harvest any ice at all, he succeeded in getting his usual supply without much trouble, which shows that the top of Overlook mountain, besides being a solitary place of winter residence, is also not a little colder than the surrounding country.—New York Sun.

He Collects Dead Men's Clothes.

One of the strangest of odd occupations is that of the man who collects dead men's clothes. He is an old rogue who haunts cheap lodging houses. Every morning he takes the newspapers and reads the death notices. He makes a memorandum of the street and number of each house in which a man has died. During the day he visits every house in turn. He rings the bell at the basement door, represents himself as an old and decrepit man in great distress, and if they will kindly give him some old clothes to wear, if they have any, which are of no further use.

The people of the house pity him, think he is an object worthy of charity and give him some old cast off suit that had belonged to the dead man. In the course of the day he obtains a large collection of old garments, some in good repair. He thus falls heir to the cast off clothes of a good many dead men.

He takes them to a second hand dealer and sells them for a dollar or so. They are mended and pressed and sometimes offered for sale as new. He continues this occupation day in and day out, with the obituary columns for his guide and the second hand dealer's for his goal. He generally arrives soon after the undertaker.—New York Journal.

First Ice Cream.

The first mention of ice cream that is found in history is in the account of the festivities following Washington's first inauguration as president in the city of New York in 1789. Among the ices used upon that occasion was ice cream, which is said to have been prepared under the direct supervision of Dolly Adams, wife of John Adams, the second president. Mrs. Adams was at that time the brightest star in social and diplomatic circles. Dolly's popularity by no means diminished when it was discovered that she was first to suggest the new confection.—St. Louis Republic.

Nothing Personal Intended.

Rev. Dr. Freshleigh—My dear Mr. Sampson, what was the name of that beautiful hymn you played just after my sermon last Sabbath?

Sampson (the organist)—Oh, it was called "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep" —er—nothing personal, you know, doctor.—Life.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

Chinese shoes have no fastening or string, buckle or strap. The upper is made of felt, velvet or other cloth. The sole does not extend to the end of the shoe, but curves upward beneath the ball of the foot. The sole being very thick it gives the wearer an unsteadiness of gait, as though a pair of rockers were fastened to his feet.

A Confession of Dietary Faith.

I am today as straight in my spinal column as a pine of my native state. At the age of 20 I was in the itinerant ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church, and when I had been preaching two years a physician said to me: "You must stop preaching or you will not live five years." He has been in his grave forty years. After this busy and exciting life of sixty years, I am here writing a word to my coevals, and "my eye is not dim, nor my natural force (much) abated." Why? Because, with the blessing of God, I have watched the operation of nature's teaching and obeyed the teacher, and taken care of myself.

For eight or nine years past I have eaten no flesh of dead animals. For many years I have eaten whole wheat or Graham bread. My breakfast is the principal meal for the day—two soft boiled eggs, a saucer of oatmeal mush, bread and one cup of coffee. My dinner is bread, a slice or two, a cup of weak tea; at night, a half a pint of milk and a slice of bread. I hardly know, from any sensation, whether I have eaten or not. I have gained in weight, and suppose, unless some accident befall me or I slip into some indiscretion, I shall be at last a centenarian.—Rev. Mark Trafton.

Remarkable Pieces of Cutlery.

"Yes," said a Main street hardware dealer, "that is the largest knife in America. It was made to order by a firm in Germany. One man did the whole job, and it took him just a year."

The knife in question is known to almost every person in Cincinnati, and perhaps for 100 miles round. It has fifty-six blades and is a chest of tools in itself, containing anything from a slender toothpick or a cigar punch to a pair of scissors or a handsaw. The handle is of tortoise shell and the movable parts are gold plated. It weighs thirteen pounds, and a modest card says, "For sale, $500."

"That is not the largest in the world, though," continued the dealer. "Jonathan Crookes invented and made a unique and superb specimen of cutlery in the shape of a knife with 1,821 blades, which has been the wonder of the world of cutlers. He then worked for Joseph Rodgers, of Sheffield, England, who now has the big knife in his possession; but Crookes has since started up in business for himself, and with his old employer and George Wostenholm has made Sheffield famous for its cutlery."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The Japanese Way of Doing Things.

In Japan babies are carried not in the arms, but upon the back. Etiquette compels the removal of the shoes rather than the doffing of the hat. Boats are stranded with their sterns, instead of their prows, on the shores. Instead of saying northeast or southeast, the Japanese say eastnorth or westsouth. Wine is always drunk before, not after dinner, and sweets are served before the substantial viands of a meal. In all books the footnotes occur at the top of the page; keys turn to the left, carpenters plane toward the body instead of outward, and in cash accounts the figures are written first and the corresponding item next.

The Japanese mount the horse from the right side, the harness is fastened in all parts on that side, and the mane is brushed and made to grow that way. In his stall the horse is placed with his head outward, and his food is always served at the stable door from a tub. In Japan women fall in love with actors, but never a man with an actress. Among Japanese women the penchant is to sew on laces, cuffs and frills topsy turvy and wrong side out.—Cor. Chicago News.

Timber Four Thousand Years Old.

Probably the oldest timber in the world which has been subjected to the use of man is found in the ancient temple of Egypt, in connection with stonework, which is known to be at least 4,000 years old. This was the only wood used in the construction of the temple, and it is in the form of ties, holding the end of one stone to another. When two blocks are laid in place, an excavation about an inch deep was made in each block, in which one of these wooden ties, shaped like an hour glass, was driven. It is, therefore, very difficult to force a stone from its position. These ancient ties are made of timarisk or Shittim wood, the same as that from which the ark was constructed.—St. Louis Republic.

Drowning the Miller.

"Drowning the miller" originated from the following fact: If the mill stream below the mill is dammed or stopped the water is ponded back, and the mill becomes what the millers call "tailed." There is too much water, the mill will not work, and the miller is said to be "drowned out." Hence, when too much of any one article is put into a mixture, it is called "drowning the miller."—Detroit Free Press.

Rather Bad Advice.

In the familiar song, "Pull for the Shore," there is a line, "Cling to self no more," which, as sung by the colored children in one of the schools, sounded strangely, and on having it said slowly it was discovered that they were singing, "Clean yourself no more."—American Missionary.

It is stated by a pharmaceutical conference that the growth of the patent medicine mania has been tremendous in recent years and that the present generation is much more credulous than the last.

A Fortunate Woman.

Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., has reason to be very thankful. She was a great sufferer from heart disease for years. Was short of breath, had hungry spells, pain in her side, fluttering, faintness, etc. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, she says, "I am better than for 20 years. My mind and eyesight have improved wonderfully. I advise all peasons thus afflicted to use this great remedy." Sold by Charles H. Buss druggist. Dr Miles' work on Heart Disease, containing marvelous testimonials, free.

M. Crocq has argued strongly to the Belgian Academy of Medicine in favor of bleeding. By it he arrests all cases of pneumonia, from which five of thirty-five per cent of deaths result by usual treatment, and cures rheumatic fever.

Broca, the French anthropologist declares that the broad-headed race now represented by the people of Central France are the true Gauls or Celts of Cæsar.

I have too many Cloaks in stock. I must get rid of them at some price. I will offer them at lower prices than ever known in this city.

Ranging from $3.00 to $12.00.

I will sell all kinds of Gent's Underwear, Stockings and Neckties, 20 to 25 per cent. less than the usual price elsewhere and everywhere.

I have an extraordinary bargain in Brown Cotton for 7 cents, usually sold for 11 cents. I am smashing the prices on all Millinery Trimmed Goods. And giving bargains in all departments.

I have never been able to sell Nos. 9 and 12 all Silk Ribbon at 10 cents till this season. Gentleman's 37c. Hose at 25 cents, are not found in every place. Call and examine them.

CHRISTMAS GOODS.

Don't delay Christmas purchases. Although the capacity of this store is very great, it is always thronged on Christmas week and many times inconveniently crowded. Better selections can be made and great discomfort avoided by prompt attention to purchasing. I will lay aside for future delivery any article purchased if so desired. It is needless for me to describe or attempt to name the great number of beautiful things on exhibition. It is well known that for many years this is the Banner Store for Holiday Goods. And as for that matter, it is striding ahead and capturing the trade wonderfully, as all observers are aware. Big Stock, well selected variety, much hard work and Low Prices, are sure to win.

WAKE UP GENTLEMEN!

To the idea when you need Furnishing Goods that a great saving can be made at this store.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of Amos Cummings,

WOBURN, MASS.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, tho your last and best medicine ever use.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! It is your only hope. Your Urine thick, cloudy or high-colored?

IT IS Dyspepsia!

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards Free.

Don't Wait.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ella G. Richardson, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Theodore M. Parker, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, no executor being named in said will:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Hallett & Cumston

Have a beautiful assortment of Upright Pianos, in a great variety of figured woods, such as English Oak, Mahogany, Blister Walnut and Magnolia. They sell on easy monthly instalments, as well as for cash, and will take second-hand pianos, of any manufacture, in exchange. They have also a large number of entirely new Pianos to rent. Please call and examine before buying elsewhere.

200 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL. POPULAR PRICES $2.00 $2.50 $4.00

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY M. BANCROFT, Agent.

BAY STATE GUITARS THE BEST IN THE WORLD LOWEST PRICES MADE BY J. CHAYNES & CO. BOSTON, MASS. SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE

TO LET.

House with eight rooms on Franklin street. Inquire of

P. E. BANCROFT, 12 Franklin Street.

9 BENNETT STREET, WOBURN.

Two minute from Depot. Nicely furnished rooms with board $4.00 and $4.50 per week, including heat. Also table board $3.00 and $3.25 per week. Single meals 20 cents. Sunday—Breakfast, 8 to 10. Dinner at 1. Tea at 5. Dining-room open from 6 A. M. to 7 P. M. Bread and pastry home-made, and everything of the very best quality.

SALVATION OIL TRADE MARK

KILLS ALL PAIN 25¢ A BOTTLE

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25c.

E. PRIOR, AUCTIONEER.

Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.

Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 134 Main Street, Woburn.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DRESSMAKER'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.

The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO. 181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1891. NO. 3.

Christmas, 1890.

Lovell, Ph. G.

We have a large line of Plush Toilet Sets, Manicure Sets, Shaving Sets, Infant Sets, Children's Table Sets, Perfumery, Writing Paper, Choice Confectionery and Cigars, etc., etc., etc.

Low Prices. Fair Treatment. Call and See Us.

361 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M.. 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.05, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburnfor Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.25, A. M., 12 M., 1.00, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.23, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.29, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, ‡10.00, ‡10.45, 11.45, A. M., ‡12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, ‡2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, ‡4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, ‡6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, ‡8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at ‡8.40, 9.40, ‡10.20, ‡11.10, A. M., 12.10, ‡1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, ‡3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, ‡5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, ‡7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, ‡9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

‡ Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *8.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	Edward F. Johnson
President of Aldermen,	William C. Kenney
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	E. E. Thompson
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William K. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS, Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stock kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE !

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

Sewing Machines

Of different makes, all warranted first-class. Sold at the unusual low price of $25.00 by Charles H. Rosenquist, 7 Greenwood Avenue. Also, the right place to get pictures copied and framed. All kinds of Rubber Stamps, Stencils, Seals, Steel Dies, Door Plates, Copying Presses, &c., &c.

DEALER,  REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & L. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

JOSEPH P. SHIELDS,

Prescription Druggist,

WOBURN, MASS.

Has removed to Corner of Main and Walnut Streets, formerly Post Office.

N. B.—Shields's Cough Syrup IS guaranteed.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

INVESTMENTS.

YIELDING

5 Per Cent. 6 Per Cent.

AND OCCASIONALLY

7 Per Cent.

FOR SALE BY

WM. E. JENKS,

45 Milk Street, Room 1.

BOSTON.

The Woburn Journal

GOOD FOR NUTHIN'.

BY LIZZIE.

A wild March wind rattled the loose window panes and half-falling doors of a forlorn, desolate cottage, snuggled high up among the breezy hills of New England.

Sleet and wind filled the outside world with dreary discomfort. Within the dingy rooms, the atmosphere was sadder and drearier still. Beside a few smoking embers sat a weary faded woman, vainly hushing the sickly cries of a nervous, unpromising infant. Wholly unpromising, save that the hungry persistent whine betokened a persevering will and good strong lungs, which may win in the coming strife with disease and poverty.

The sad eyes of the tired mother look eagerly into her husband's hard face for some hint of cheer or word of comfort. She sees there only scorn as he slowly mutters:

"Hard case, wife; sure she's worse than the boy; gray and grimmy like the time o' year, squint-eyed, she's a perfect albino; I tell you, she's no good any way."

"Say, pa, can't me 'ave de new baby to play wiv?" asked the half-witted son of these unfortunate parents.

"No, no, Bill, go away; she's no good to you or to anybody else. She's just good for nuthin' and that tells the whole story; no use to fret over what can't be helped, she is just good for nuthin'. We'll call her name Albino—our Albino—our good for nuthin'

The poor mother turned away that her husband might not see the sorrowful tears which fell in a baptismal shower on the unlovely head, while her aching heart sent up to a merciful God the appealing cry:

"Gracious Father, make this unwelcome child, somehow, a blessing to my hard-hearted husband and to our poor imbecile son." Prophetic mother-love, your prayer shall be answered.

Years came and went in this lowly cabin among the hills, bringing changes to all its inmates.

The father grew weaker and sterner as the passing years lessened his strength, so that work which once was pleasure, had become a burden, heavy and hard to bear.

The mother was whiter and stiller than of yore: her faith in the good time coming was almost gone.

The half-witted boy had grown in stature but not in intellect.

The feeble infant gained strength with each fleeting year. The well rounded girlish figure shows strong vitality now. The pure mountain air has given her good powers of endurance. Yet the father still looks on her with disfavor—still calls her his good for nuthin', his Albino. The name fitted her well, for her face was lily white, no sun or wind could brown or freckle its fairness. Defective sight caused the sensitive girl to shrink from strangers, and almost shun her own kindred. The mother alone understood and appreciated the retiring child. The distasteful name given by the father, the mother toned down into Alba, for which the child was extremely grateful. She was always a helpful child, running on errands and seeking out ways to lighten her mother's cares.

Early in life she took delight in gardening. Flowers satisfied her for a time, but she was practical, and small fruits soon engaged her attention. Strawberries grew as if by magic under her culture. These brave pushing plants, so hard to kill by neglect, yet so easy to grow into luxuriant beauty of foliage and delicious fruit, filled her with wonder and admiration. Did bending angels whisper low, "This may yet be your life work?" Be this as it may, she was learning many of the wants and needs of this popular berry.

Her time was mostly spent in the open air; among those bleak hills, schools were a far away luxury, and timid Alba had never been so far from home. Her mother was her only teacher,—that mother's bible her library. Her father's political paper served her for light reading.

The strong boorish brother was the torment of all her young life. He took a thoughtless, savage delight in teasing the little sister always insisting that he could double her up snug and round to play foot-ball with.

One summer day he had been more vexing than usual, and Alba lay awake far into the night, devising some plan to make this weak-minded boy, Willie, less unkind, and more like other people.

Suddenly the room fills with smoke. The house is on fire! Instinct must have guided her, for she had never seen a burning building. In a moment a wet towel was bound around her mouth, and she shouting fire and rousing the family, and carrying all sorts of goods from the burning house.

Outside help was beyond call, but they four all worked rapidly and saved nearly all their scanty house furnishings. But it was hard to see their home home dissolve in smoke and flames. It was poor and wretched, but it was their own, and dear to them. They had never known a better one than this poor hut, which had sheltered them from summer heats, and shielded them from winter storms.

At the last moment, the father remembered his box of private papers, containing his deed of this property, hidden away on a high shelf which no one could reach but himself. He rushed into the blinding smoke and scorching heat, secured the box, and groped his way back to the outer door, there a falling timber struck him down. Quick as a flash, Alba bound her hands in the dew-wet grass, lifted the blazing log from her father's breast and dragged him away from the dangerous heat. Cold water freely applied soon brought him to consciousness, but he was unable to move hand or foot, indeed, quite paralyzed.

Now they missed the witless boy, Willie. Faint and trembling, Alba shouted his name. Above the roar of the crackling flames rose the cries of the frightened chickens, which the poor imbecile was risking his own life to save from burning.

Alba caught a rope—slipped it into a noose and flung it over the poor boy's head, then bracing herself by a tree, drew his heavy body clear from the blazing shed.

Breath and strength failed her now, and she fell back in a dead faint.

The weak mother was now the only one to bring water to rouse the fainting girl, or to speak a cheering word to the whimpering idiot. The first dash of cool water on Alba's face roused her to the needs of those weaker than herself.

Her magnetic touch brought sense and vigor to the brother's dull brain.

Her father was still unable to move. His trembling lips were slowly whispering, "My poor little abused Alba, can you forgive me? a thousand times I've called you "good for nuthin'," all your life-long have I done this cruel injustice. Now but for you we'd all be cinders in yonder burning heap."

"Never mind the past now, papa, we must make up a shelter from the night air for our beds, and have you snug and comfortable before you take cold. The corn barn is not burned. Willie is housing his chickens beneath it. He loves them as I do my berry plants. Now we must not fret, but all be thankful that we have so many comforts left."

"But, child, can we all sleep in that crowded corn barn?"

"Surely we can for a few nights. Tomorrow I'll go down into the valley and ask the wealthy farmers to help us get out a frame for a new house. Before you know it we'll have a better house than the old one."

"You poor, bashful puss, you look like forcing all those strangers, begging a favor for the poor old father who always called you good for nuthin'. O my child, this punishment is hard to bear."

"Never you fear, papa, I can and shall do this same." And the close shut lips told with what unflinching courage her powerful will could nerve her sensitive nature to perform this Herculean task.

Calling Willie to help, they soon had the beds ready. Then, they came to assist their father to his lowly cot.

He was still unable to move. The strength had gone from his stalwart frame forever. As he realized this fact, he cried like a child. His wife was too weak and crushed to speak. But Alba's sweet face touched his withered cheek, as she soothingly replied, "Don't cry, papa, don't I'll be hands and feet for you. We'll all be happy yet. You shall never want for bread or care, I am young, and now see how strong I am."

She took a door which had been saved from the fire, and by their united efforts slipped it under the helpless man. But they were unable to lift him. Again she took the strong rope, and making it fast to one end of the litter, they easily drew the sick man to his bedside. Soon he was comfortable for the night. The weary, dispirited mother sought her rest. The brother had a cot in the far corner, where his loud breathing soon testified that his troubles were forgotten in healthful slumber. Alba tenderly bathed the troubled aching heads of father and mother until they were soothed to rest. Then, folding a quilt, she lay down near by where she could know if either needed anything. What to do on the morrow, now must be settled. She must make good those brave words to her father. There could be no shrinking—no turning backward. These low words were borne upward on the still night air, "I will do this work, I must do it. Merciful Father, help me, guide and guard us all with holy, loving care." Soon the rest of the pure and innocent closed her weary eyelids.

They all slept late the next morning—slept till the chickens and pigs woke them, by clamoring for their breakfast. Fortunately, none of their animals were lost in the fire. Willie was competent to attend to all the feeding and to milk the little Jersey cow.

This one eventful night had changed the frail, timid Alba, into an energetic, helpful woman, strong to bear hardship for the friends, dependent upon her for comfort and even for bread.

Quietly she rose, and as both father and mother were still, she glided out into the fresh, pure morning air, flooded the entire world, bright and sweet as if ruined hopes and desolate homes were joys instead of sorrows.

Bravely she choked back the rising sobs, saying to herself, "This will never do, to cheer others, I must first be cheerful myself."

A brisk fire was quickly started in the cook-stove. The delicious coffee aroma roused the inmates of the grain barn. The mother seemed little the worse for the fright and loss during the night. The father could use his hands and feet a trifle this morning. But he was peevish and despondent.

Alba's cheerful greeting did not enliven him. The loss of home and strength and entire dependence upon this frail child was deeply humiliating to this cold, hard man. But the little girl-woman chatted merrily all the while, forgetting to reply to the fret and whims, made her father and mother both clean and tidy, then brought in her breakfast of delicately browned toast, coffee, cream and the first ripe strawberries of the season. It was not in the hearts of these poor people to refuse this tempting repast. Yet the father groaned dismally, "Oh, Alba, this breakfast is good enough for Queen Victoria, and you bring it so kindly to the poor old father who has always called you his good for nuthin'." The words ended in a great sob.

With a powerful effort the young girl controlled her own feelings, and quietly smoothing her father's whitening hair, she replied in clear, soft tones.

'Now, papa, no more of this,—you have always worked hard for us all. This misfortune which has taken our home and your strength no one is to blame for. But if we fret and whine, we are unwise and unthankful. Your words may prove true, I may never be good for anything. But trust me. I am young and strong and shall certainly try hard to earn a living for us all. Hereafter, if you lack for food or shelter, then call me good for nothing. I must now leave you for a few hours, but shall bring back good news before night. Papa, you must bear your troubles manfully and I will send up Dr. Blister to cure you.

And my little mother must keep yourself and papa pleasant. And, Willie, be a good boy, and keep the animals all well fed and take care of papa and mama. Now, good-by all.'

Despite her brave words, the trembling heart was heavy and sad. Resolute action must relieve this sadness. No time need be wasted in arranging crimps or bangs, for her pale, golden hair clustered in natural rings around her face. Their pony was sure-footed and Alba was a fearless rider. The fresh morning air invigorated her tired nerves, brightened her cheeks, and intensified her resolve to save her family from want if human endeavor, aided by divine assistance, could enable her to earn a living for them. She kept saying over to herself, 'I must succeed, I must succeed; Father in Heaven, help me, lead, guide, direct, compel me to go in the right way.'

At the base of this range of hills, almost underneath her humble home, was a busy, flourishing village. Alba was almost an entire stranger here. Her father had always been hard and stern to her. But he was respected by his neighbors as an honest, industrious, well-meaning man.

Alba resolutely put aside her native timidity, and went bravely from house to house, telling her short, sad story of the fire, and of her father's loss of strength. She asked them frankly if they would club together and get out a frame for a new house and put it up for them. Adding that her brother was growing chickens, and that she knew something of gardening, and should start a strawberry field for another year, and she felt confident that she could pay them all in a year or so.

Those sturdy villagers smiled at the earnest faith of this slight, young girl.

But their sympathy went out in ready help.

The first to bring aid and cheer to the helpless man was good, genial Dr. Blister. His cheery words and manner were a stronger tonic than his medicine. True to his name, he thoroughly treated the spine to burning applications. But his most affectual remedy was the hope he inspired.

Long before night, wagons, loaded with all sorts of provisions, clothing, bedding, and delicacies for the sick man, were unloaded before the astonished eyes of this poor homeless family.

Early the next morning, a gang of men were chipping, hewing, measuring, and smoothing lumber for a larger, better house than the old one had ever been. The new structure soon stood on a granite foundation. Then came masons, plasterers, and painters and wonder of wonders to these simple country people, bright, green shutters screened the windows, and neat, bright carpets covered the floors. The eager helpers could hardly wait for the fresh walls to dry before moving the overjoyed family into their new, commodious house.

At the house warming, the contrite father told them all, how he had fretted because Alba's baby face had been so plain; told them, with wet eyes, how he had always thought of her as good for nuthin'; and now she's the angel of this household. Now one and all, kind, generous neighbors, may God in Heaven bless and reward you for this wonderful home so much better than I deserve. We shall all thank you for this every day of our lives. May you never come to want and all be blessed with as smart a gal as my good for nuthin'.

Three cheers greeted the poor man's trembling speech. All joined in singing, 'Home Sweet Home.' The minister said a few words of prayerful benediction, then, with friendly goodbyes, they left the thankful family happy in their cosy, new house.

As they went back to their own homes, the several givers felt that it might indeed be "more blessed to give than to receive." They had "fed the hungry" and "clothed the naked," and, more than this, their united help had given a lovely home to a homeless family. They were justly proud of their generosity. The recording angel must have written sweet approval of that noble, christian charity.

Their kindness did not stop with the house warming. Alba was promised a ready market for any product they could spare. Without delay, she hired a man with a heavy plow-team to prepare a six acre field to put into strawberries for another year's yield. The season was quite advanced to set out plants, but this soil was moist, which was favorable to their growth. Alba's garden experience had given her many hints of strawberry needs, the greatest one being water. A stream crossing this field furnished an unfailing supply.

A wealthy lady living alone, in the valley, invited Alba to board her during the summer and autumn. The proposal was accepted gladly. The advantages were mutual. This lady needed the pure mountain air, while the generous price she gave them for their kindly care of her was a great help to the poor family.

Yet the greatest good of her coming was the few valuable books she brought. These opened a new world to Alba's hungry, thirsting soul.

After the cares of the day were over, some book chosen by this wise friend, kept the eager girl awake far into the night. This nightly reading busied her thoughts during the working hours of day.

The unlettered father grew dismayed at the fund of information thus gained by his busy, hard-working girl.

She was never idle, either in the house or berry field, always active—working and planning, determined that she would make herself good for something.

She had her berry field ploughed, cross ploughed, and richly dressed, harrowed and cross furrowed. Then Alba, herself, taking advantage of a week's cloudy weather, set choice strawberry plants in a small circle at each angle of the cross furrows. Planted in this way, Willie could keep the long rows free of weeds both ways, with the pony and cultivator, leaving only the small circles for hand labor.

Alba proved a capital manager.

When the shortening autumn days grew chilly and dark, their pleasant lady boarder went down to her valley home.

This gave Alba more time to herself. She coaxed her father to teach her to reseat cane-seated chairs. He was skillful at this work. Unwillingly he guided her nimble fingers, for he hoped to be working himself when the spring opened.

But returning springtime brought but little strength to his paralized limbs.

All through the winter months, Alba's busy fingers threaded in and out the long cane ribbons, giving to worn-out useless chairs, a fresh lease of life and beauty. Willie could take written requests to the kindly village neighbors for this work, and return the chairs when finished.

The poor witless boy was a great help to his sister in this and in many other ways. He had brightened mentally since the fire.

His dull brain dimly comprehended that Alba had saved his life and his father's, and was working hard to keep them all comfortable.

The winter, crowded with work and plans, went by like a dream. Spring came on early. April was warm, but brought frequent showers. The strawberry's best friend is water, always. Thus nature seemed smiling on Alba's work. She, fortunately, secured the services of a stout Norwegian and his thrifty wife. His wife proved as willing to work in the pure open air as in a heated cook-room.

They put the berry field in perfect order. The light winter covering of evergreen boughs was carefully removed and burned. Alba was neat and tidy in all of her greatest hurry. No weeds were allowed to grow. Just after a heavy rain-fall, to protect the ripening fruit from sand, the field was thickly sown to grass seed, making the land all ready for next year's hay crop.

Before the hurry of gathering the fruit for market commenced, the Norwegian ploughed and prepared a ten-acre lot for the next year. This field was set out to strawberry plants early in June, to insure a good year's growth before their fruiting.

A large kitchen garden was started early to supply their own table, and the surplus found a ready market, at good prices, in the village. But Alba's main income was from the berry field.

On stormy days, the Norwegian built carrying crates, while his wife and Alba braided baskets in which to market their fruit.

Alba could hardly sleep, so great was her desire for success. And succeed she did beyond her brightest hopes. The long rows were beautiful as the white blossoms thickly starred the dark green foliage. But more beautiful, to Alba's eager eyes, as the fruit grew larger and brighter each day on the clean carpet of soft new grass.

'The first to ripen must be eaten by papa and mamma,' said Alba, 'then we'll enjoy them, afterwards we must all work for market.'

The berries now drove them early and late. Alba sent to the village for wagons to bring up boys and girls for pickers, who could trudge home at night while the wagons carried the delicious fruit to the homes of ready patrons.

The Norwegian proved an honest financier; the marketing went on rapidly and the proceeds returned as quickly. When Alba brought the shining silver and gold to her father, is it any wonder if she archly asked if she had proved good for anything? The happy girl invited the whole township to come up and celebrate the success they had generously helped her to achieve, to come on the fourth, and celebrate our national holiday at the same time.

They all came in the early morning. The breakfast was spread under the apple trees. The hungry company declared they had never tasted such eggs and coffee or such fluffy rolls, and surely strawberries and cream were never so sweet and delicious before. After breakfast, came games and swings and romps among the hills and groves.

Some went to the mountain stream to fish for the dinner's chowder. The dinner was abundant and thoroughly enjoyed. The after dinner toasts reddened Alba's cheeks.

The dear old father was proud and happy, but had to tell the story of his life again.

"My friends, you see I was disappinted in my boy. Then this little gal was so white and picked I couldn't think or speak of her only as jest good for nuthin'. And now my friends, you see what she's done for me. She's cleared five hundred dollars over'n above expenses so far this year, and gin us this jollification into the bargain. I tell you she's good 'nough for anybuddy. All praise to the gal who's good for strabbry growin.'

Munroe's Clothing House.

Please call and see us when in want of

MEN'S, YOUTH'S and BOYS'

OVERCOATS,
ULSTERS,
SUITS,
TROUSERS,
HATS and CAPS,
GLOVES,
UNDERWEAR,
WHITE SHIRTS,
LINEN COLLARS, &c.

Large Stock. Lowest Prices.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause of failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc.; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigestion, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congestion, etc. Paine in the left side, shoulder and stomach is caused by heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miles' New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

If you store celery in the cellar for winter use, you can cut off a large portion of the green leaves without injury. Pack in earth.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any Throat, Lung or Chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 2, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

ABOLITION OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

A story current in this community has made its appearance in some of the Boston papers to the effect that petitions are in circulation praying that the next General Court will abolish the Fourth Middlesex District Court now located in this city and establish a Police Court in its stead. That such a movement is on foot admits of no doubt, and it is equally a fact that several of our lawyers have been requested to sign the petitions in circulation.

It is barely possible that it means more than the abolition of the Woburn Court. A leading lawyer in this city tells a JOURNAL representative that a change in the arrangements of Massachusetts Courts of inferior jurisdiction has been the subject of debate for a dozen years or so, the fact being recognized by the Bench and influential members of the Bar that improved machinery for them is imperatively demanded by the best interests of the public. The subject has been talked of in many quarters and the preponderance of opinion is largely in favor of abolishing all District Courts as now constituted and of re-districting the several counties of the State on a basis of similar jurisdiction and uniformity of rules of practice in them.

The matter is an important one and it is by no means improbable that it may be included in the list of reforms which it is expected Governor Russell's Inaugural Address will contain. If it should, it will receive hearty support from the friends of a better system for the inferior judiciary of the Commonwealth, but whether Gov. Russell discusses it in his Address or not the change, our legal informant (who is well posted as to judicial affairs) believes the time is close at hand when such changes will have to be made to meet an imperative and nearly universal demand for them.

The movement for the abolition of the Fourth Middlesex District Court is however a private undertaking and means no more than the gratification of a desire to change the personnel of the Court and as an individual enterprise will probably prove signally abortive.

A FEW HARD KNOCKS.

Last Tuesday Senators Hale, Walcott and Teller took occasion to inform Senator Hoar in very plain terms what they thought of his management of the Force Bill as it is called, and were not very mealy-mouthed about expressing their opinion of the measure itself.

It is evident that there are quite a good many Senators who do not regard this Federal Election bill a panacea for all the political ills which the South are afflicted with, and a few men go so far as to express the belief that Mr. Hoar's course and an everlasting agitation of the political affairs of the South are not well calculated to lessen the race difficulties down there. If let severely alone there would soon be two parties in the South and matters would speedily settle themselves in good shape.

It would seem from their speeches in the Senate last Tuesday that Senators Teller, Walcott and Hale entertain some such notions on the subject and are not afraid to say so.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
P. L. Converse—Citation.
Keeler & Co.—Furniture.
E. H. Holbrook—Poultry.
Paine Furn. Co.—Furniture.
Unitarian Society—Supper.
M. C. Messer—Christian Science.

— HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

— It snowed some more yesterday.

— See change in Munroe's advertisement.

— The days have lengthened just 5 minutes.

— Bonelli advertises desirable dress and dry goods cheap.

— Next Monday will be Inauguration Day in this city.

— In dating your letters, etc., don't forget that it is 1891.

— Sunday was a bright sunny day, but the air was sharp and cut like a knife.

— The poor sparrows have had rather a hard time of it since the snow came on.

— Mr. Adam J. Eaton of this city has recently been granted a pension by Uncle Sam.

— Mr. John R. Carter and lady expect to start for California on the 13th instant.

— Our good Methodist brethren "watched the Old Year out and the New Year in."

— Nearly all the street cars on both lines have four horses attached to them since the snow.

— Hall & Jaquith are grinding large quantities of corn and other feed for this market.

— Particular attention is called to the change in the advertisement of Copeland & Bowser.

— Mr. W. H. Slater left late Manchester, England, papers at this office last Wednesday, for which thanks.

— Mr. E. N. Blake who has not been very well for a month or so is getting better every day, so report says.

— It has been good weather back along for Hooper, the plumber. He and his men have been as busy as bees.

— The First Congregational people held a prayer-meeting at 6.30 yesterday morning to welcome in the New Year.

— Our Woburn police are working on the origin of the Bassett fire last Monday night. Crooked business is suspected.

— Mrs. Leach of Montrose, Penn., will please accept our thanks for Christmas tokens of remembrance and good will.

— "New Year's Calls," once a principal feature of the advent of the new year, a jolly, rollicking, rousing holiday are passed.

— Last Tuesday morning was the coldest of the season. Thermometers ranged from 2 to 5 above at 7 o'clock. Pretty sharp that!

— The Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank Trustees will hold their regular quarterly meeting this, Friday, evening at half past 7 o'clock.

— Nichols is entirely satisfied with the prospect for an ice crop. There will be enough of it before the apple trees bloom in the spring.

— Janitor Nathaniel Simonds of the Union and Plympton schools was lately made the recipient of two handsome rugs from the pupils thereof.

— Our public schools will resume business next Monday after a good, jolly holiday vacation. Now, boys and girls, go in big for knowledge.

— Mr. C. Willard Smith has a change in his business notice this week to which attention is called. He is offering great bargains in dry goods.

— A meeting of the W. H. S. G. A. will be held on Jan. 14 to elect officers and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

— It is generally thought that there will not be many changes in the present official holdings at Municipal Building after the new administration comes in.

— We do not believe there is another place in Middlesex county that can boast of as many civic societies as exist and seem to flourish here in Woburn.

— Mr. N. W. Warren of the J. A. Wolf, Advertising Co., with 5 men, is having big success on canvassing for the sale of Legg's 25 cent pink Photo tickets.

— The Bellevue Club will occupy the hall in Mechanic Building after it is finished for their headquarters. The Bellevue is a large and prosperous social Club.

— The contractors for building the new Methodist church expect to deliver it over into the hands of the Church Trustees on Jan. 26, instant, according to contract.

— The St. Charles Minstrels, a popular musical company of this city, will give a show and concert on next Monday evening. It will be worth patronizing.

— Maria Trull, whose decease appears in the appropriate column of the JOURNAL, was a sister of the late Elbridge Trull and was last survivor of the family.

— Rev. W. A. Start, Secretary of the Massachusetts Universalist Convention, will open services for the Universalists in Concert Hall on Jan. 11, in the afternoon.

— The street railroad men had a hard time of it on last Friday afternoon, night and Saturday. But they were equal to the emergency and made good time right through.

— The annual exhibit of the Woburn Fanciers Club will be given in Lyceum Hall on Jan. 21, 22, 23, when brother Legg will show some poultry worth going quite a way to see.

— Before fitting up a business office for the coming year, send to Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal street, Boston, for an Illustrated Catalogue of Office Furniture. Their prices are very low.

Thursday, January 1, Mr. Chester A. Cotton, one of our members takes his position as Assistant Secretary at Cambridge. Two Woburn Boys at the head of the Cambridge Association!

— The installation of officers of Branch No. 428, Order of the Iron Hall will take place Wednesday evening next. Deputy Supreme Justice G. M. Stevens of Somerville being installing officers.

— Gay evening sleighing parties have been all the rage since the late snow fall. Young people and old indulge in them and lively scenes may be witnessed on the highway every evening.

— With the compliments of Postmaster General Wannamaker we have received his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1890. Political friend and foe unite in saying the report is a good one.

— There was quite a smash-up of a freight train at No. Winchester last Monday night, the result of which was a constant running of freight and passenger trains over the Woburn Loop on Tuesday.

— The annual supper of the Ladies Charitable Society will be given next Thursday evening at the usual time, as the ladies having the matter in charge will provide a good supper a fee will be charged.

— At the Poultry show in Stoneham last week, E. A. Holbrook of Winchester sold Light Brahma pullets to Geo. C. Bucknam of Melrose and to A. B. Yeaton of Stoneham and has more large fine birds for sale.

— Especial attention is called to the card of Miss M. C. Messer in this paper and to what she has to say about healing diseases without a physician. She comes highly recommended as a Christian Science healer, and is a graduate of The Metaphysical College.

— The Woburn Equal Suffrage League will hold its next regular meeting Monday, Jan. 5, at 7.30 P. M. in the Y. M. C. A. parlor. The study of Political Economy begins at 8 and all interested are cordially invited to come.

— It is probable that a good many of the old friends and neighbors of Mr. D. G. Converse will attend his funeral at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his late home on Church Ave. Messrs. Tripp, the undertakers, will have charge.

— The burning of Mr. Bassett's barn near the Stoneham line last Monday night gave our alert firemen a taste of midnight air which did not set any too well on their stomachs. It was a long, cold run, but they "got there all the same."

— The Holdsworth confectionary store in Fox Block is famous for its ice-cream and good old fashioned molasses candy. By the way, old fashioned molasses candy is quite "the correct thing" for parties as well as private consumption.

— It has been decided to hold the Firemen's Relief Association's annual ball on Friday evening, Jan. 30. The report of the subcommittee was accepted by the full committee on time, place and arrangements, and if nothing splits the ball will be a grand affair.

— The weather was 40 degrees below zero at Bangor last Wednesday night and at some places in the Provinces it was 60 degrees below by spirit thermometers, the coldest ever known down there. It was just about the same all through Maine. Tough!

— It is not yet settled whether Loring & Avery, the Winchester tanners who have gone out of business there, will buy the Bryant & King tannery in this city or not. It is greatly to be desired that they should do so for they are the kind of manufacturers that Woburn can't have too many of.

— People who want places on the police force are notified to appear before the Board of Civil Service Commissioners in the Aldermen's Chamber Municipal Building, at noon on tomorrow, Jan. 3, and submit themselves to a Civil Service examination.

Been adjourned one week.

— Last Tuesday John William Stewart, a carpenter employed on the Murdock tannery in this city, fell from that building and was very seriously injured. Dr. J. H. Hutchings, the attending surgeon, found the unfortunate man had sustained a bad break of one wrist and a supposed fracture of the skull.

— Yesterday forenoon the small people of the Congregational Sunday School assembled in the vestry of the church where they were pleasantly entertained with an exhibition of pictures by Supt. Richardson and afterwards presented with oranges and candy by the pastor, Dr March. This was his annual juvenile party.

— Crystal Fount Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F., have elected the following named officers: Noble Grand, William D. Wright; Vice Grand, George B. Woodside; Rec. Secretary, Alonzo L. Perham; Per. Secretary, Alvah J. Foster; Treasurer, Olando M. Brooks; Trustees, Marcellus Littlefield, Oliver M. Wade, Henry L. Andrews.

— By referring to the business columns of the JOURNAL it will be seen that the ladies of the Saint Cecilias, a well known and popular musical organization in this city, will give a concert at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday evening, Jan. 13. We need not tell our readers that it will be a fine musical entertainment which will pay richly to attend.

— The Woburn Mechanic Phalanx, Co. G. Mass. Vol. M., are in a peck of trouble and if something is not done to put a period to the internal broils and bickerings there is danger that the old Company, which is the military pride of Woburn, will go to pieces. Its difficulties are, we understand, in the hands of the State military authorities for settlement.

— Prof. and Madam Elmore A. Pierce celebrated the 10th anniversary of their union on Christmas day by a large gathering of relatives and friends at their home in this city, a Christmas Tree, and a genuine Christmas dinner. It was probably one of the jolliest family gatherings that took place here on that festive day. And may they enjoy many returns of the same.

— Mr. Clark, the accomplished organist at the First Congregational church, has prepared the following musical treat for next Sunday morning services at that place of worship:

Organ Prelude. "Pastoral in G." (Dedicated to Mr. Clarke.) by S. B. Whitney, Organist of the Church of the Advent, Boston.
Antiphonal Chant in A flat. "Venite." Clarke.
Choir Anthem. "How beautiful are thy dwellings." F. Kuhnstedt.
Organ Postlude. Fugue in D minor. J. S. Bach.

— Next Thursday will be the anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans. Most likely it will be duly celebrated by the Democracy of this city, and in a specially enthusiastic manner by those of them who have never yet failed to vote for General Andrew Jackson for President of the U. S. every four years also quite regularly to make him Governor of Massachusetts.

— Gen. Banks said today that he had not yet made any recommendation in regard to the appointment of a postmaster at Woburn, but expected to move in a few days.—Wash. Corr. Boston Herald. There is some ground for the belief that Gen. Banks will advise that a caucus be held to choose a candidate for postmaster for this city. There will be numerous candidates and probably a caucus would be a wise way of settling the question.

— Mr. Amos Cummings will begin his "closing-out sale" of dry goods and millinery on Thursday, Jan. 8, instant, when big bargains will be offered. His store contains stacks of desirable and seasonable goods the prices of which will be marked down to rediculously low figures, and we advise all thrifty ladies to remember the date of the openlng of this great "closing-out sale."

— At the Congregational Sunday School election of officers Mr. Frank B. Richardson was chosen Superintendent, and William W. Crosby was chosen Secretary. It is a wonder that Mr. Richardson has never before been elected to the office, for he is just the man for the place. Mr. Crosby has held the position of Secretary for some time and his repeated re-elections show that his good services are duly appreciated.

— Something good for the city is likely to grow out of the Charles Pollard idea of getting up a large street-car building establishment here. It may not be that Carter's rink will be moved to lower Main street but Mr. Pollard has got money which talks business and there are other gentlemen with surplus wealth who are with him in the enterprise. Pollard is a thorough and well known carriage maker and the "No. Woburn Snow-plow", of which he is the builder, is known far and wide as the very best thing of the kind extant. He stands ready to put lots of money into the new enterprise and we confidently expect to see it a go.

— Henry Davis of the firm of James T. Freeman & Co. returned from a business trip to the West last week and brought back a pocketful of orders for brewery and tannery machinery. He went as far as Milwaukee and circulated pretty well all over that section of the West and thus made his visit a paying one for the firm. Freeman & Co. are doing a large machinery-manufacturing business which is all the time growing larger.

— In the case of Superintendent of streets it is more than likely, if rumors are reliable, that the incoming city government will conclude to "let well enough alone" and make no change. Mr. Jones's administration of our highway affairs during the last two years will stand the severest scrutiny, while it is a fact that the Committee on Highways have cordially approved of his work and endorsed his methods of taking care of our streets.

— Well, it can't be said that the boys do not have fun alive and dead loads of it boarding sleighs, sleds and other things on runners that they catch moving through our streets. Swarms of them enjoy this business hugely all day long and well into the evenings, and some of the drivers foolishly get very mad with the small fry. The snow has given the boys and girls opportunities for this sort of sport, of which they have had none to speak of for some years.

— Last Tuesday evening Liberty Council, No. 38, O. U. A. M., elected the following officers: Councillor, J. E. Furlong; Vice-Councillor, James E. Cutler; Inductor, David H. Eaton; Examiner, George H. Sutherland; Recording Secretary, Lewis W. Patten; Assistant Recording Secretary, Harry W. Annable; Financial Secretary, Francis L. Skinner; Treasurer, George W. Soles; Inside Protector, Walter M. French; Trustee, Frederick E. Ordway.

— The Legion of Honor, Council 774, has elected the following officers: Commander, Francis A. Partridge; Vice-Commander, Frank H. Leathe; Secretary, George W. Nichols; Collector, George W. Soles; Treasurer, Frank B. Dodge; Guide, Edwin W. Gurney; Orator, Abijah Thompson; Chaplain, Amariah V. Haynes; Warden, Joseph E. Stewart; Sentry, Josiah Parker; Trustee, Salem T. Brigham.

— The following are the newly elected officers of Mishawum Lodge, No. 61, A. O. U. W.; Past Master Workman, John M. Willoughby; Master Workman, James A. Adamson; Overseer, William D. Wright; Foreman, William Redford; Recorder, Henry F. Davis; Financier, B. Frank Waldron; Receiver, Simeon E. Kendrick; Guide, Walter T. Litchfield. The lodge has 112 members. The installation of officers will take place Jan. 14.

— In token of the high esteem in which he is held by the members of the Mechanics Investment Company of this city, and also as a recognition of his valuable services as manager of the changes in the Mechanics Building, the members, through the Directors of the Company, last week presented President B. F. Waldron with a valuable gold watch. Mr. James E. Furlong, one of the Directors, presented the watch to Mr. Waldron in a felicitous speech, which was feelingly responded to by the grateful recipient.

— Mr. Charles B. Bryant & Sons have the changes in the old Pollard tannery on Eastern Ave. nearly completed and will soon occupy it for manufacturing purposes. It is said to be one of the best built leather manufacturing establishments in this city, the Pollards having spared no expense in the way of furnishing it with all modern improvements, and when Messrs. Bryant & Sons get ready to go to work they will have a factory whose equipment is second to none.

— The dry goods dealers, milliners, boot and shoe men, and clothiers are moving for a closing of their places of business on Monday evening of each week, and if it succeeds they will then close three evenings—Monday, Wednesday and Friday. It is expected that all branches of trade will adopt the new Monday evening lock-up, and thus no business will be transacted in our stores after 6 o'clock p. m. on one third of the secular evenings in the week. Clerks and salespeople are enthusiastically in favor of the Monday evening shut-up.

— Mr. J. Henry Symonds, publisher and proprietor of The Cabinet of Boston, the principal organ of the American furniture manufacturers and dealers, was a guest of the New England Furniture Exchange at their 17th annual dinner at the American House in Boston last Monday evening. Mr. S. C. Small of Winchester, a prominent Boston furniture merchant, was a member of the Committee of Arrangements on the dinner and entertainment. Besides Mr. Symonds several distinguished gentlemen were guests of the Exchange.

— Mr. David F. Moreland, City Clerk, who is probably as well posted on labor matters as any man in Woburn, says he has no doubt but that last year's agreement between the Knights of Labor and the Manufacturer's Association will be renewed at once without any material modification of its provisions. It is earnestly to be hoped that Mr. Moreland is right about it, of which we have little or doubt, for his position gives him unusually good opportunities to find out and judge of such matters.

— If the question was left for the present official occupants of Municipal Building to decide there would be no danger of Mr. John Connolly, the present efficient Janitor, losing his position. He has served the official headquarters of Woburn as Janitor under town and city governments about 4 years, during which time he has given the best of satisfaction. He has always been faithful in the discharge of his duties; he minds his own business and lets other peoples affairs alone; is pleasant, courteous, obligiug, and there is no sort of likelihood that he will be disturbed in his position by the new administration. Of course others will be trying to get it — perhaps they are already thus trying; but a good, faithful public servant is something to be prized and his services should not be hastily or incousiderately dispensed with.

— There are tolerable good grounds for thinking that a 5-cents street car fare between here and Stoneham will soon be established. The Directors of the East Middlesex Company have the question under consideration, the result of which, it is believed, will be a reduction from 8 to 5 cents. Then it would be: 5 cents to Stoneham; 10 to Melrose Highlands; 15 to Malden; 20 to Chelsea, which would be just about the checker. There is no question in our mind but that the reduction would be a profitable move for the Company to make.

— Ensign Charles Walker and Mrs. Walker of the Salvation Army have been transferred from the Woburn Station to Hudson for the purpose of establishing one there. Although needing it very badly indeed Hudson has never had the benefit of Salvation Army preaching and prayer and for this reason Ensign Walker and family have been sent there. They met with good success while here. Some 30 persons were converted and several others were preparing to enter the ranks as new recruits. They were self-sustaining, and they carried on the work in a manner to command the respect of right-minded people.

— The installation of the new set of officers of Burbank Post, No. 83, G. A. R., took place last evening at the Post's Headquarters in G. A. R. Hall. The installation ceremonies were conducted by Past Commander John Welch and Suite of B. F. Butler Post. No. 42, of Lowell. At the conclusion of them a real hot old fashioned Camp Fire was held and highly enjoyed. It consisted of stories of army life, army songs, anecdotes, yarns, experiences on the field, march and bivouac, by Lowell, Lexington and Woburn Comrades, the whole concluding with a fine collation, smoke and talk. It was one of the best Camp Fires the Post has ever held.

— It snowed all last Friday in a very wintry fashion. It looked and felt like a good old style New England snow storm. A stiff wind blew from the northeast and piled the light snow up in big drifts and made locomotion tedious and tiresome. In the night the storm turned to a brisk rain which cleared off cold towards morning and the weather has continued somewhat anti-tropical ever since. The sleighing is good, and from present appearances it is likely to continue until next planting time. The storm was destructive to vessels and crews on the Atlantic and many a scene of suffering was described by survivors in the papers after it had cleared off.

— In Noah Brooks's story of "The Boy Settlers" in the January number of St. Nicholas the "Woburn man" comes to the surface again after having been lost sight of for several weeks by the Dixon (Illinois) party—the men and lads who constituted "The Boy Settlers." He had changed the handsome suit of clothes which he bought at Munroe's clothing store before starting for the great and wooly West for a suit of butternut, in which latter he found more personal safety in the great struggle then going on between the pro-Slavery and Free State men for the political ascendency in Kansas. He finally settled on the American Fork a tributary to the Kaw, where he flourished and raised a likely family.

— Nichols, the watchmaker, killed the cat at last after two doses of chloroform, 45 minutes apart, failed to do the business. The old creature seemed to enjoy and grow lively on it. Nichols employed all the latest inventions for killing cats with chloroform including the much-vaunted tin wash-boiler, but it was no go. Each time he unrolled the blankets and things with the expectation of finding a dead cat there lay stretched out before his eyes the happiest old ex-mouser in Woburn, and Nick gave it up—that is to say, he abandoned the idea of terminating the cat's existence with chloroform. As a last resort a sharp axe was used and to that implement of death Tabby yielded and shuffled off her mortal coil without a moan, a groan, or a sigh.

— In the January number of the North American Review there is published a paper entitled "How to teach citizenship" written by Mr. Samuel Mendum, Principal of the High School in this city and Military Instructor of the High School Battalion. This is the second article from Mr. Mendum's pen that has appeared in the North American Review within the last 10 months, which goes to show that his literary productions are popular with the publishers of the leading magazine of the country. "How to teach citizenship" is an article of merit, and it is particularly commendable for the spirit of patriotism which it inculcates. The general run of our teachers might well read and ponder over this piece of composition from Mr. Mendum's pen.

— Mrs. James C. Richardson who, with her family, recently moved to Princeton, N. J., to reside with her son who is Librarian of Princeton College, writes: "We think we will find our new home very pleasant. We find some things that seem strange to us, for instance, we miss the music (?) of the Woburn gongs and the whistles of the engines on the railroad from the roar of 'Peggasus' to the shrillest one of all. Instead, we hear the far-away whistle and not very loud rumble of the N. Y. trains and the ringing of the College bells. We buy eggs by the score instead of dozen, and oysters by the dozen. When we asked if they ever sold them by the quart they said 'never.' We have several broad Avenues and many handsome residences in Princeton. The College grounds are beautiful and the buildings grand. I send you a small photo of the College Library." Thanks, Sister Richardson, for letter and contents.

— Since the introduction of electricity for lighting our streets and buildings there has been a large increase in the consumption of coal gas, and the demand for it is growing right along. One would hardly have thought it and yet it is true. In the one class of quarterly gas bills Supt. Gilereast's books show that the amount of gas used during the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1890, exceeded that used during the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1886, by over 600,000 feet. In the monthly and other bills a relative increase of consumption is shown. Here is another curious fact about it: Nearly all the business houses in the city illuminated by arc and incandescent lights use more gas than they did before the introduction of electricity for public and private lighting. Can anyone explain why it is that the proprietors of stores pay more every quarter for gas than they did before their places were lighted by electricity, and with the price of gas considerable less than it was before electric illumination was introduced? It is so, and Supt. Gilereast says there has been no time in the history of the Company when their output of illuminating material was so large as now, and yet at the same time electric lighting is on the increase.

— There was a judicial hearing on the Dow contested will case at Cambridge last Tuesday which was the beginning of what will probably turn out to be a hard legal struggle over the will of the late Mrs. Stephen Dow. The lawyers for the contestents who are the children of Mrs. Emma T. Dow of Court street in this city, and the grandchildren of Mrs. Stephen D., deceased, and the Pickering children of Lowell whose mother was a daughter of the deceased, are John W. Johnson, Esq., of this city, and A. A. Strout, Esq., of Boston, and for the defendents, M. T. Allen, Esq., of this city, and Hon. John D. Long of Boston—an array of legal talent which means a sharp, hard fight until victory perches on the banner of one side or the other. The amount of property left by the deceased Mrs. Dow is estimated at a sum approximating $500,000, nearly all of which was willed by her to her son Edward who has the largest interest in proceedings to annul the will. The hearing before the Court on last Tuesday was merely a preliminary step, or a skirmish preparatory to the general battle which will come off in due time. J. W. Johnson, of counsel above named, was appointed special administrator pending litigation over the will. The matter excites considerable interest in this community.

— On last Tuesday evening a Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, named Lotlie Lodge, No. 86, K. P., was instituted in this city with a rousing good membership which includes many leading business and professional gentlemen among us. Besides the charter members there were petitions from quite a number of other people for leave to join the Lodge. Officers of the Grand Lodge present were: Grand Chancellor, Charles P. Newton; Grand Prelate, Charles C. Eaton; Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, Charles A. Cross; Grand Master of Exchequer, Henry C. Allen; Grand Master-at-Arms, Daniel E. Denney; Grand Outer Guard, George O. Gleason; Grand Inside Guard, P. G. C. Walter A. Hanson, assisted by D. D. G. Charles W. Carlisle. The following officers were elected: Past Chancellor, William N. Titus; Chancellor, Fred. E. Lovell; Vice Chancellor, John T. Given; Prelate, Henry W. Deans; Keeper of Seal and Records, B. Frank Waldron; Master Finance, Samuel H. Patten; Master Exchequer, Simeon E. Kendrick; Master-at-Arms, Charles F. Spear; Inside Guard, Charles H. Hunter; Outside Guard, Benjamin F. Story; Trustees, Charles H. Buss, Dr. Nathaniel A. Springer, Walton B. Ward; Representatives to Grand Lodge, William N. Titus, two years; Fred. E. Lovell, one year.

Perfection Makes Them Laugh.

Housekeepers laugh right out when the groceryman shows them some unknown brand of soap, and tells them that it is the best, the cheapest and finer than ever soap was before. They laugh because well they know perfection cannot be improved upon, and as they know Brussels soap is perfection, both in its cleansing and its lasting qualities, they will have no other.

School Meeting.

The School Board of this city held their final meeting for 1890 last Tuesday evening and enjoyed a very refreshing season. An unusual amount of important matters was attended to and harmony prevailed.

Vice-Chairman Mrs. Charles D. Adams presided with becoming dignity and grace. A vote of thanks was extended the Vice-Chairman, and Miss Jacobs was appointed assistant to the Principal of the High School, with an increase of $50 to her salary.

The annual report of the Board contains much matter of interest to the city. The Committee regretted the loss of two such teachers as Herbert B. Dow, Principal of the High School, and Edward H. Lounsbury, Principal of the Cummings school, but their places are ably filled by Messrs. Mendum and Crocker. The duties of the Superintendent have been performed with zeal and fidelity, and it is due to him that the schools compare so favorably with other cities and towns, a fact which deserves recognition and appreciation.

Thanks were extended to the persons and organizations presenting flags to the schools. The High School by Post 161, G. A. R.; Cummings, by Hon. John Cummings; Plympton, by the pupils; Union, by John G. Maguire; Lawrence, by William F. Kenney; Main street, by Francis P. Curran; Morse street, by pupils and others; Rumford, by United American Mechanics; Montvale, by Baeder, Adamson & Co.; Johnson, by Hon. Edward F. Johnson; Cedar, by James R. Wood; Cambridge, by neighbor subscription.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

There was a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen last evening. Willis L. Gould sent in his resignation as a member of the Fire Department; accepted. The Chief Engineer nominated, and the Board confirmed, Patrick H. Greeney as a member of the Department. The report of the Highway Committee laying out Brown street, was accepted and adopted. Adjourned to Monday, Jan. 5, at 2.30 p. m.

To Nervous Debilitated Men.

If you will send your address, we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Appliances, and their charming effects upon the nervous debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor and manhood. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Belt and Appliances on a trial. Pamphlet free.

VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 30 Congress Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

MILLINERY.

All the latest styles in TRIMMED BONNETS and HATS and MILLINERY GOODS.

Mrs. C. PACKARD, 419 Main St., Woburn.

Reunion Class '89, W. H. S.

Last Monday evening 25 out of the 30 ladies and gentlemen who composed Class '89 of the Woburn High School held their first reunion at the residence of Mrs. Florence W. Crosby on Court street by invitation of her son, Mr. William W. Crosby, President of the organization. A very pleasant evening was passed and everyone felt grateful for the presence of so many of their classmates.

In literary and musical pleasures the evening hours flew rapidly by and all too soon the time for home-hieing arrived.

Mr. J. Winn Brown was Toast-Master on the occasion and filled the office admirably. Toasts and responses, interspersed with songs, etc., occupied a large share of the time, while social intercourse, story-telling, anecdotes of the Class while students, and the discussion of a fine collation provided by Mrs. Crosby, filled out the rest of the evening hours.

Frank P. Johnson responded to "The Classics;" Arthur Wyman to "Business men of the Class;" Leonard Buchanan to "Science;" and Stillman Shaw, President of Class '90, eloquently responded to the toast, "Class '90." The Class Poet, Harry G. Carter, wrote a poem for the occasion, the reading of which was listened to with marked attention.

Fine music was furnished by a Quartet composed of Miss Remick and Miss Ramsdell, Mr. William W. Crosby and Mr. F. P. Johnson. Several musical good things were finely rendered by them, thus materially enhancing the pleasures of the reunion.

The Roll of Honor.

The following is a list of the names of the bright, smart boys and girls who furnished 9,712 votes to secure for the Woburn Highland Hose Co. the Fireman's prize in the great Globe contest:

Cora Buxton,	2225
Belle Cutler,	1833
Fred. A. Ames,	1289
Besse Barrett,	1076
Grace Parkhurst,	534
Chas. D. Wyman, N. Woburn	530
George Waters,	436
Harry W. Singer,	380
Selwyn B. Parker, Lynn,	315
Annie Parker,	280
Lellie Giroux,	183
Marcia M. Stearns,	112
George McCafferty,	110
Minerva M. Harrow, Reading	105
F. H. Jackson,	102
Carl Carter,	101
Wilbur Leathe,	46
Eddie Warren,	42
John McGrath,	12
Winnie Cooke,	9
Total number received,	9,712

Will Close.

The following is the agreement signed by the several merchants of this city to take effect next Monday:

We, the undersigned, Merchants of Woburn, agree to close our stores on Mondays at 6 P. M., in addition to the other evenings we already close. This agreement shall not be binding unless all the dealers in our line of trade signed this agreement.

COPELAND & BOWSER,
AMOS CUMMINGS,
WILLIAM WOODBURY,
C. WILLARD SMITH,
CHARLES M. MUNROE,
MRS. C. PACKARD,
J. M. GERRISH,
J. MCGRATH,
MRS. L. M. FOGG,
A. N. WEBSTER,
BOSTON CLOTHING CO.,
J. W. HAMMOND & SON,
F. B. DODGE,
FRANK J. BRIGGS,
CHARLES HERTKORN,
H. W. DEANS.

Congregational S. S. Election.

At the First Congregational Sunday School last Sunday, Mr. Frank B. Richardson was chosen Superintendent to succeed Mr. Carter who has filled the office so acceptably for the past year. The resignation of Mr. William W. Crosby as Secretary was not accepted. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

Supt., Frank B. Richardson.
1st Asst. Supt., Chas. F. Lyford.
2d Asst. Supt., Geo. C. Conn.
Secretary, William W. Crosby.
Treasurer, Chauncy B. Conn.

Obituary.

GERTRUDE A. STEVENS.

Died Dec. 26, 1890.

The graduating class of the Plympton School has been called to mourn the loss of one of its members, Gertrude Stevens, who died Dec. 26, after a brief illness.

She was a diligent and conscientious pupil and leaves many friends who deeply sympathize with the stricken family, though none but those who have passed through a like sorrow can fully conceive of the desolation in that home bereft of the sunny presence of an only daughter.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Mr. Elmer F. Blank is a prescription pharmacist of great care and reliability at 389 Main St., Dr. Dodge's old stand.

[Original.]

BEAUTIFUL HANDS.

"She hath finished the work Thou gavest her to do."

Beautiful hands, so still and pulseless,
Folded now for the endless rest;
Beautiful! yet so unresponsive,
Motionless! cold! He knoweth best.
Dear, aged hands so full of doing,
So full of planning for others' good,
So willing and glad to be helpful,
So anxious to lighten our load.

Holding our hands in childhood's stumblings,
Making us strong when trials came;
Bearing our loss and pain and grieving,
Trusting in joy and sorrow, the same.
Over our lives as the years slipped by,
No hands like these e'er helped us so,
No touch so soothing, no love more strong,
No one so true to us here below.

Never before were these dear hands still
When our tears were falling like rain,
Never before was their touch unfelt,
When our hearts were so sore with pain.
Folded to sleep! for oh! they were weary,
Feeble and worn, for life's day was long,
But, oh! we would fain keep them with us;
Though feeble, their help was so strong.

Dear hands! they were parted from loved ones,
Long years they have waited to clasp
Again, on the hills of heaven's glory,
The hands that came back from the past.
So we'll lay them away for their resting,
And look up through her faith's strong hands,
For we know, in the home everlasting,
We'll again clasp these dear! dear! hands.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: A New Year's Homily.

BAPTIST—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: Everlasting remembrance of the Good. Communion Service at 2.30 p. m. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6. p. m. Missionary Concert at 7 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Looking Forward." Young People's meeting at 6 p. m. Monthly Concert. Mission Reports at 7 p. m. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evenings.

METHODIST—Holy Communion and reception of members at 10.30 a. m. Epworth League prayer meeting at 6 p. m. Preaching by pastor at 7 p. m. Prelude Address to the incoming Mayor and Aldermen. Subject: Rich Man and Lazarus. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Class meeting Friday evening.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

C. F. Gibbs of Atlanta, Mich., traded a horse for forty acres of pine land on a 15,000 foot estimate. He has already cut 250,000 feet of pine, and he's still cutting. The horse was worth about $35.

Mr. Elmer F. Blank succeeds Dr. G. S. Dodge in the drug business and will continue a firstclass pharmacy at 389 Main street.

Married.

In this city, Dec. 18, by Rev. H. C. Parker, Willis Luther Gould and Mary Alice Wade, both of Woburn.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, Dec. 25, Mary T. Wilson, aged 75 years, 4 months, 5 days.
In this city, Dec. 26, Gertrude A. Stevens, aged 16 years, 8 months, 15 days.
In this city, Dec. 27, Abigail Winn, aged 81 years, 6 days.
In this city, Dec. 28, William Shannon, aged 3 days.
In this city, Dec. 30, 1890, David Gould Converse, aged 70 years, 1 month, 16 days, one of the oldest residents, and best known of the business men of the city.
Funeral services at his late residence, Church Ave., on Friday, Jan. 2, at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited without further notice.
In Stoneham, Dec. 28, Maria Trull, formerly of Woburn, aged 87 years, 11 months, 18 days.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the symptomatic effects of the disease,

Remnants. Remnants. Remnants.

Our Annual Sale of Remnants and Shop-worn Goods, remnants of Dress Goods, Cloakings, Linings, Flannels, Cotton Cloths, Table Linens, Towelings, Ginghams, Calico, etc.

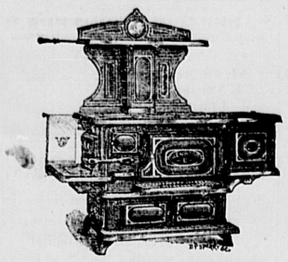
Shop-worn Blankets, Comforters, Underwear, Men's Laundered Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Neckwear.

Ladies' and Misses' Garments at one-half their former price.

Felt Goods such as Table Covers, Tidies, Scarfs, etc., all at greatly reduced prices.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Some Calendars.

The calendar fashion has died out to quite an extent, and yet some very pretty ones are printed and sent out for distribution, in which the country Editor is almost the first one to be remembered. He must have a calendar sent to him if everybody else has to go without, and to prove that at least one country Editor is particularly blessed in this line all one need do is to enter his sanctum (!) and take a careful survey of its walls and other places and spots for hanging things on. These tell an eloquent story of the favors of other years, but, alackaday! not many of the much prized tokens of respect for 1891 are to be found there.

A few however for the current year are to be seen hung in the JOURNAL'S Editorial rooms, and among the handsomest that have recently found their way there as well as the most useful are two issued by The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York of which Mr. Webster Woodman, at Munroe's Clothing store, is the very successful local agent. They are of different sizes and designs, and each seems to be as near a perfect calendar as it is possible to get from the standpoint of neatness and utility. The Mut. Lf. of N. Y., thanks to Mr. Woodman's commendable manner of doing its business, is a very popular Company in Woburn.

Another neat, nice, pretty calendar is that just issued by Mr. F. E. Lovell, the popular druggist at 361 Main street, a copy of which the JOURNAL has hung in a conspicuous place among the specimens of this and former years. Mr. Lowell shows enterprise in issuing this handsome calendar. In fact, he is a go-ahead sort of a person, and a gentleman who can be implicitly relied on every day in the week, Sundays not excepted. We are glad to know he is doing a fine business and can afford to get out such a handsome calendar.

Next comes a handsome one issued by the Canadian Agriculturalist Company of Peterborough, Ontario, and it is as handy as ornamental.

On Tuesday morning when we entered our Sanctum we knew in a moment Ben T. H. Porter had been there before us for on the table were six new handsome 1891 calendars all containing his footprints. They were a choice lot and were issued by The Citizens Mutual Ins. Co. of Boston; The Ætna Ins. Co. of Hartford; The Royal Ins. Co., Liverpool, England; The Merrimack Mut. Fire Ins. Co., of Andover, Mass.; The Pennsylvania Fire Ins. Co. of Philadelphia, for all which Mr. Porter is the Woburn agent. Each was a beauty, and here's our hand on the same.

And Alderman S. B. Goddard, whose pleasant and busy business headquarters are in the new Five Cents Savings Bank Block on Pleasant street, was not far behind with a choice collection of very handsome calendars for 1891 for the use and behoof of the JOURNAL and its employees. This fine batch which the bright, smart Vaughn lad brought from the Alderman's office consisted of calendars issued by The Orient Insurance Co. of Hartford; The Hanover Fire Ins. Co. of New York; and Middlesex Mutual Fire Ins. Co. of Concord—the latter a particularly neat and appropriate piece of calendar work. Thanks, Alderman Goddard.

She—"Dear me, those people next door have half a dozen children to annoy us!" He—"And we have half a dozen to annoy them!" "Well, that's our lookout; I guess we have a right to have children.

A rascal at Pittsburg, Pa., has been fleecing colored people by advertising to take the kinks out of their hair.

A most valuable little book which should be in every household, has been prepared by the proprietors of Mellin's Food, entitled "The Care and Feeding of Infants." It contains advice that every mother will find of the greatest value and assistance in feeding her child. Mailed free on application to the Doliber-Goodale Co., 41 Central Wharf, Boston, Mass.

WE WISH YOU

A Happy New Year!

Your presence is respectfully requested to inspect the beautiful assortment which we have just opened of the

Celebrated W Lock Stitch

brand of Muslin Underwear for Ladies.

We wish to call your personal attention to the fact that this brand is the only one that guarantees all garments to be made entirely on Lock Stitch Machines, and with the best 6 cord thread upper and under, everything full size in length and width, made of good Muslin and Cambric, and are in every respect the best that is made.

Do not fail to examine this line of Goods before you make your purchases.

Very respectfully,

C. Willard Smith

WOBURN, MASS.

Y. M. C. A.

Sunday at 3 P. M. Boys meeting.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Prayer meeting for men.

The Singing class on Monday evening, Jan. 5 will be resumed and all who have joined express their pleasure at the way the teacher is conducting it.

4 o'clock Men's meeting will be lead by Mr. Frank Johnson assisted by all the Chester College Boys of the city. All men invited to be present. Subject: "The one way." 2. Kings 5.

The 23d, 24th, and 25th of Jan. the third District of Mass. and R. I. Y. M. C. A.'s will meet in this city and on the 24th Rev. Dr. Munhall of Philadelphia, Penn., the Evangelist, will be present, and it is hoped it will be one of the best conferences ever held in this part of the State if not in the whole State. A fine programme has been arranged which will be out before long. Plan to attend it.

Tuesday evening, Jan. 6 at 8 o'clock the annual meeting of the Association at which time 5 Directors are to be elected in place of the five whose time expires. Those expiring are E. E. Thompson, W. E. Blodgett, Thomas Heartz, James Frasor and C. E. Richardson, also one in the place of F. S. Burgess, deceased; also a Clerk and Treasurer. Immediately following this meeting, the Directors will meet and elect a President and Vice-President.

The Womans Auxiliary met last Tuesday at 3 P. M. for their regular meeting. The following officers were elected for 1891: President, Mrs. E. T. Dow; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Robert Duncan, 1st Congregational; Mrs. George Russell, 1st Baptist; Mrs. C. E. French, Methodist; Mrs. Tylor, No. Woburn Congregational; Mrs. John Flagg, Independent Baptist; Secretary, Pro. Tem., Mrs. A. B. Dimic; Treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Heartz. Raised about $300 this year besides membership dues; Members nearly 100.

North Woburn.

Miss Austin, of Portland, Maine, spent the Christmas holidays with her sister, Mrs. Bixby.

Mr. John O. Page, Jr., of Haverhill, passed the holidays at his home in this village.

Mr. Charles W. Edgcombe and his daughter Miss Susie Edgcombe are passing a few days in New York.

A fine strap of fish was caught at the mill pond on Christmas day by Mr. J. O. Cummings and some of his friends.

The inmates of the Old Ladies Home were given a pleasant surprise by the scholars of the Rumford school on the afternoon before Christmas.

The Christmas concert which took place in the Congregational church on last Sunday evening was very well attended. The exercises were conducted by the Superintendent Mr. B. F. Kimbal.

On Christmas Eve the Unitarian Chapel was decked in an appropriate dress of green and bore a cheerful and cosy appearance. The fir tree was made beautiful by the artistic arrangement of quantities of presents. After the presents were distributed ice cream and cake was served.

Burlington.

The schools had a Christmas vacation of two days last week.

There was a social dancing party in the Town Hall, Christmas Eve.

Mr. G. Goodwin has opened his blacksmith shop again after his sickness.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society are making preparations for an "Auction Supper" to be given at the time of the annual sale of the pews in the church. The date and further particulars will be announced later.

The storm of last Friday filled our roads with snow so that a force of men were busy "breaking out" on Saturday. The sleighing is quite good and would be enjoyable if the weather could be induced to be favorable but a sleigh ride with the thermometer below zero is "cold comfort."

American genius has given to us the mowing machine, liver pad and wire bustle, and last but not least Brussels, the economical soap.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prizes will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st	Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd	"	$500 in Gold
3rd	"	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th	"	$500 Piano
5th	"	$300 Organ
6th	"	Ticket to England and return.
7th	"	Lady's Gold Watch
8th	"	Gent's Gold Watch
9th	"	China Tea Set
10th	"	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th	"	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently THE paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

Boston Theatres.

W. J. Scanlan the graceful and smiling man who sings with a charm all his own will play his annual week's engagement at the Globe Theatre commencing Monday evening, Jan. 5, appearing in a grand scenic revival of Jessop and Townsend's picturesque Irish drama, "Myles Aroon," the play which made such a pronounced success when produced there last season. It tells a pretty love story, introduces typical Irish scenes and characters, and its dialogue whenever the hero is cooing with the colleens is filled with such blarney as anyone can appreciate. Scanlan himself appears to be several degrees cleverer than heretofore. In his picturesque attire, and jaunty cap he is a romantic figure, and in his songs he is as sweet voiced as an Irish minstrel ought to be. His character of Myles Aroon gives him ample opportunity to display all his graces, and that he does so delicately is the best praise that can be given him. Mr. Scanlan brings with him the same strong supporting company that shared his success last season, and will sing the following songs, written and composed by himself for this play: "You and I, Love," "My Maggie," "Live, my Love, Oh! Live," "The Swing Song," and in the last act will introduce his widely known, and always popular "Peek-a-Boo."

The renowned American actor, Mr. Lewis Morrison as Mephisto in his magnificent production of Faust, will open a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, commencing Monday, Jan. 5, and may be seen every evening with the usual matinees, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The press speaks very highly of Morrison among other things saying his Mephisto is one of the most finished pieces of acting in the annals of the stage. The piece is magnificently staged and the electric and calcium effects are truly wonderful.

To get a tight boot on, grease your heel with Brussels soap.

Literary Notices.

OUR LITTLE ONES for January, 1891, is a very nice number. The small people will be charmed with its pictures, stories and poems, and the old folks will find things in it to interest them. OUR LITTLE ONES is issued by the Russell Publishing Company of Boston.

With the number bearing date January 3d, LITTELL'S LIVING AGE begins its one hundred and eighty-eigth volumn. This standard weekly magazine grows more assential every year to readers who wish to keep abreast with the best current work in literature and science.

The first number of the new year has the following table of contents:—Lavoisier, Contemporary Review; Marcia, by W. E. Norris, Murray's Magazine; Provincial France, Quarterly Review; Geoge Elliot and her Neighborhood, Gentleman's Magazine; My Second Marriage, Temple Bar; Chateau Malbrouk, National Review; The Omnibus, Speaker; together with choice poetry and miscellany. This, the first weekly number of the new volume, is a good one with which to begin a subscription. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4.00 monthlies or weeklies with THE LIVING AGE for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

An important gastronomic question has arisen in Baltimore. Shall the size of the guests' mouths be taken into consideration when raw oysters are served at dinner?

DON'T BUY A

Turkey for Christmas

UNTIL YOU GO TO THE

CASH MARKET

And get prices, they are always the lowest in the city.

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

WINCHESTER.

Lawyer McCall and wife got back home a week ago or more.

The Y. M. C. A. gave their last entertainment last Tuesday evening.

We are having some of what the doctor's call scarlet fever here. There is no scare over it.

Winchester people in the South write back to friends here that they are perfectly happy down there.

Mr. Josiah Robinson and Miss Lizzie Morse have recently engaged to be married. Congratulations.

The Highland Chapel Sunday School gave their Christmas concert last Sunday afternoon. It was a very pleasant affair.

Considerable complaint against the working of the street electric lights in this place is heard. We are left in darkness too often for comfort.

Plans are maturing for a lively winter of amusements here. There is a disposition on the part of our leading people to stop quarreling during the cold weather and be jolly.

The Boston Ice Company is making arrangements for cutting a crop of ice in Woburn this winter.—Star. Well, don't they harvest a crop of Woburn ice every winter when ice is to be had?

Henry F. Johnson has returned from Washington and south of there in season to open his campaign against the Highway Commissioner and such other of our public functionaries as may be so unfortunate as to fall under the lash of his displeasure.

A New Year's party was given in Rangely Hall, Thursday evening Jan. 1, 1891, from 8 to 12 o'clock. The matrons were Mrs. C. A. Cutter, Mrs. J. W. Suter, Mrs. Gen. J. M. Corse and Mrs. Daniel March.

A cooking school will be opened here next Tuesday. Does anyone dare to stand right straight up and boldly affirm that Winchester is'nt hightoned with her cooking school and other fixins? But if the cooking school is suffered to become a permanent institution the population of this town will show a great falling off in the next lustre. Cooking schools are tough on the constitution.

Principal Fred Shattuck of the Wadleigh Grammer School has sent his resignation to the School Board to take effect as soon as his successor can be appointed. Mr. Shattuck has accepted a position at Somerville, in a school where there are 500 pupils. His resignation will be a loss to the schools of our town, as he is a gentleman of unusual ability as an instructor, and had the love of his pupils and confidence of parents. We wish him success in his new field—Star. The regret over Principal Shattuck's resignation is universal and sincere. His going away will be a great loss to our schools. He is one of the best educators in this part of the country, and by good rights he ought to have been made to stay here by the offer of sufficient pecuniary inducement.

It's economical—Brussels soap.

The New York Times has this item: "The private secretary of a railroad man who is supposed to be worth $10,000,000 remarked yesterday that, if 'the very rich' millionaires got as many letters prior to Christmas as did his employer, there was an unprecedented amount of begging done through the mails this year. 'Persons who beg by lerrer,' said he, 'almost invariably name the amount of money that they desire to have sent to them. The figures run from $10 to $1000, and a large proportion of the appeals come from women, who say that they want the money to pay off morgages on their homes.'"

The Buffalo Express relates that a green clerk in a large crockery store in that city sold a plate that was marked $125 to a female customer for $1.25. The first sum is the price per dozen. Great was the dismay of the clerk when the mistake was discovered. But all's well that ends well. The day after the mistake occurred in came the customer with the ten-dollar plate. She didn't like the plate—didn't think it was quite good enough. She wanted something better. She was accomodated with a two-dollar plate.

Connundrum SUPPER!

— AT THE —

Unitarian Church,

NEXT

Thursday Evening,

AT 8 O'CLOCK.

Tickets, 25 Cents.

Rooms To Let.

Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let. Enquire at

JOURNAL OFFICE.

21,979 FEET.

Eleven thousand, four hundred and sixty-seven columns of advertisements were printed last year in the

BOSTON HERALD

And the

SUNDAY HERALD.

If placed end to end, they would extend twenty-one thousand, nine hundred and seventy-nine feet.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

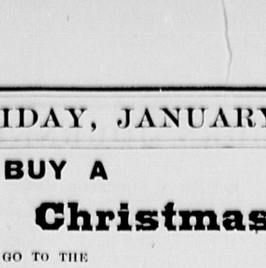
The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Another Reduction

IN THE PRICE OF

FLOUR



The Perfect Flour,	$6.75 Bbl.
Corrugated Flour,	6.50 "
Pillsbury's Best Flour,	6.50 "

All other Brands equally low. A discount of 25c. per bbl. made on Flour taken at the store.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

IS OUR SPECIALTY.

We make it a point to suit all who call on us for Parlor, Boudoir and Sitting-room Goods or Chamber Sets, and Tapestries.

We have many unique single articles, which cannot be duplicated elsewhere—Lounges, Ottomans, Desks, Luxurious Chairs, What-Nots, and Hall Furniture.

Our establishment is in the direct way of all who arrive at the Haymarket Square Station of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Keeler & Co.

81 to 91 Washington Street, BOSTON.

One Price and Plain Figures.

Concert!

BY THE LADIES OF THE

SAINT CECILIAS

CONSISTING OF

Mrs. Phinney,
Mrs. Partridge,
Miss Davis,
Miss Ramsdell,
Miss Bancroft,

— IN THE —

Unitarian Church,

— ON —

Tuesday Evening, Jan. 13, '91,

Quarter after eight o'clock.

Tickets, 35 Cents.

Three for One Dollar.

For sale at the Drug Stores of Messrs. Buss and Leeds.

Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank.

Incorporated A. D. 1854.

JOHN CUMMINGS, President.

E. E. THOMPSON, Treasurer.

Open Daily, 9 A. M. to 12 M., 2 to 4 P. M. Saturday evenings, 6 to 8.

NOTICE.

The Regular quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank will be held on Friday, January 2, 1891, at 7.30 P. M., for the transaction of such business as may legally come before said meeting.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, January 10, 1891, will draw interest from January 1, 1891.

Dividends payable on and after January 17th, 1891.

E. E. THOMPSON, Clerk and Treasurer.

Woburn, Dec. 24, 1890.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

THE BEST PLAN OF

Life Insurance

Is that which fixes a definite value on the Policy each year during its existence; always securing to the holder, a sum greater than the gross premiums paid, in Paid Up Insurance, or its Equivalent in Cash on demand on any anniversary.

Paid-up and Cash Values in the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. on a Policy of 1,000.00 Endowment for 25 years. Age 25. Annual Premium, $39.85.

YEARS PAID.	CASH VALUE.	PAID-UP VALUE.
2	$39.21	$86.51
3	63.70	136.38
4	89.27	185.38
5	115.93	233.42
6	143.76	280.56
7	172.82	326.77
8	203.15	372.04
9	234.82	416.34
10	267.92	459.74
15	457.47	662.63
20	696.10	842.46
25	1000.00	1000.00

An Endowment Policy in this Company, issued under the new perfected non-forfeiture law of Massachusetts, provides for three most important things.

1st. It is a security to the beneficiaries in case of the early death of the assured.

2d. It makes a certain provision for the wants of one's older years.

3d. It provides a sum of money continually increasing in amount, that the policy-holder may at any time receive, should he be overtaken by misfortune and lose his property.

No business man can afford to do without the advantage that such a policy may be to himself if unfortunate in business; to his family in case of his early decease or as an endowment to himself at a time in life when, if he has no property, he will be poor indeed.

All classes Policies for any amount issued on this principle.

For further information call on

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles Flagg, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Abigail Flagg, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of January, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Christian Science

LECTURES!

Healing without medicine by

Dr. Clara E. Choate of Boston,

At Y. M. C. A. Parlor, Saturdays, Jan. 3 and 10, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

All cordially invited.

Miss M. C. Messer, Graduate of "The Metaphysical College," will receive patients at 12 Franklin street, every day, except Tuesdays and Fridays.

First National Bank OF WOBURN.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Banking Rooms, on Tuesday, January 13, 1891, at seven o'clock, P. M.

G. A. DAY, Cashier.

Woburn, Dec. 12, 1890.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Central House, Woburn, Mass.

SIDE ENTRANCE.

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

1,000 LBS.

Nearly one-half a ton of excellent

NOTE PAPER

At 15 cents a pound of 120 sheets, and BEAUTIFUL BOX PAPER for 10 cents to 37 cents, at

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Examine our Elysian and Wilton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, JR.

Now is the time to buy the following articles at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Drummer's samples in Bed Spreads at 60 cents on the dollar.

Extra fine Berkeley Cambric, 14c worth 20c.

Short lengths in Pepperell Twill Cotton 9c.

Fast Black Wool, Fleece lined and cotton Hose for Ladies and Children, warranted goods, very cheap.

WANTED

An American Boy of about 15 years as errand boy and to learn the retail trade in Woburn. Salary $125 the first year. Apply in own hand writing to Box 1362, Woburn.

WANTED.

A position as a NURSE. Reference given and required.

Address, Box 998, Stoneham.

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

592 WASHINGTON ST. 592

BOSTON.

Business and Shorthand Depts.

Students can enter daily and will receive

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

To a young person entering the business world a Business Education is worth more than a

CASH CAPITAL OF $10,000.

Students Assisted to Positions.

ALL OF OUR last year's graduates are in good situations. Interesting circulars free.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND, 389 Main St. cor. Park St. Woburn, Mass.

THE KINGDOM DIVIDED.

LESSON I, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JAN. 4.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xii, 1-17. Commit Verses, 12-14—Golden Text, Prov. xvi, 18—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Rehoboam—Shechem—all Israel—to make him King."

Such are the words and phrases in this verse demanding our attention; but let us remember that we are reading the word of the Lord, and the Holy Spirit in this word is ever bringing before us persons, places and events which show us God honored or dishonored, God manifest and glorified, or the adversary manifest and God despised. Rehoboam was, so far as we know, the only son of Solomon, and therefore heir to the throne. His name, according to Young, signifies "Freer of the people," but he proved to be a great oppressor.

2. "Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who was yet in Egypt, heard of it."

The previous chapter gives the history of this widow's son, God's purpose concerning him and offer to him if he would walk in His ways and do right in His sight.

3. "Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came and spake unto Rehoboam."

This seems outwardly all fair and submissive, but Jeroboam cannot have forgotten the promise of the Lord by the prophet Ahijah (xi, 29-31), and he is only quietly awaiting the developments which shall give him the ten tribes for his kingdom.

4. "Thy father made our yoke grievous; make thou the grievous service * * * lighter, and we will serve thee."

This, too, seems fair and reasonable, and it looks as if all might be well with Rehoboam if he will only do right.

5. "Depart yet three days, then come again to me."

The third day in Scripture is the day of resurrection and life and deliverance (Hos. vi, 2; John ii, 19; Matt. xvi, 21), but only for such as follow on to know the Lord.

6. "And King Rehoboam consulted with the old men * * * and said, How do ye advise, that I may answer this people?"

"With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding." "Days should speak, and multitude of years should teach wisdom" (Job xii, 12; xxxii, 7). But if the king had consulted the "Ancient of days" (Dan. vii, 13) he would have found true wisdom, and the word "Ancient" in Job xii, 12, according to the margin of the next verse, refers to God and not to man.

7. "If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day * * * and speak good words to them, then they will be thy servants forever."

If he would only seek the welfare and peace of his people, as did those kings who sought to do right in the sight of the Lord, and as did Mordecai (Esth. x, 3) at a later period, then all would be well. But this was not his spirit.

8. "But he forsook the counsel of the old men * * * and consulted with the young men."

The old men had stood before Solomon, his father, but these young men had grown up with himself and stood before him.

9. "And he said unto them, What counsel give ye?"

10. "My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins."

This is part of the answer which the young men instructed him to give to the people. The loins are significant of strength as in Job xl, 16; Prov. xxxi, 17; but in the case of Solomon it was strength of oppression.

11. "My father hath chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions."

So they would have him draw his people to him by encouraging him to act not as a shepherd of his people, but as a cruel taskmaster, a veritable Egyptian Pharaoh.

12. "So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day as the king had appointed."

It is a dark day for Israel. They are to hear no comforting words; their yoke is not to be lightened nor their service made easier. And yet this man was king on the throne of David, ruling over the Lord's people.

13. "And the king answered the people roughly."

"Roughly" is the same word that in verse 4 is translated "grievous." Joseph also spoke "roughly" to his brethren (Gen. xlii, 7, 30), but in his case it was only outward roughness, yet well deserved, while back of it there was forgiveness and love.

14. "And spake to them after the counsel of the young men."

Wicked counsellors are a great curse, and are all in the service, for the time at least, of the first wicked counselor, who in the garden led Adam and Eve astray. It is bad enough when friends give evil counsel, but how much worse when one's own mother is the evil counselor (Gen. xxvii, 13; II Chron. xxii, 3).

15. "The cause was from the Lord."

Back of all these apparently ordinary circumstances God was working. He cannot do evil, but He often permits evil to take its course, and yet overrules all for the good of His people. Again in verse 24 we read concerning the conduct of Rehoboam and its results, "This thing is from me." It is a fearful thing to refuse to obey God and walk in the truth, for that lays us open to the possibility of His sending us strong delusion that we should believe a lie (II Thess. ii, 11). There is much in the Bible about evil from the Lord, as in the following texts: Judg. ix, 23; xiv, 4; I Sam. ii, 25; xvi, 14; II Chron. xviii, 22; xxii, 7; Isa. xix, 14; xlv, 7; Amos iii, 6; but it will always be found that the person or persons have deliberately turned away from God, and the evil that overtakes them is the result of their own doings, which God permits to come to them because they will not have His love and care (I Kings xi, 11).

16. "All Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them."

Then they departed to their tents and made Jeroboam their king; there was none that followed the house of David but the tribe of Judah only. And when Rehoboam would have gone forth to subdue the rebels God by His servant forbade him, and he had to be content to have it so (vs. 20-24). Thus the highly privileged nation were divided because of their sins, and to this day they have never been as a whole nation reunited. We shall see as we go on in our studies that the revolting tribes grew worse and worse, wandering farther and farther from God, until after more than 200 years their iniquity came to a head and they went into captivity, from which they have not yet returned.

17. "But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them."

Not for his sake, nor Solomon's, but for David's sake was this one tribe left him (xi, 13, 36); and because the scepter should not depart from Judah till Shiloh should come (Gen. xlix, 10).

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and medicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambery & Murphy, of Battle Creek, Mich.; C. B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly, or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at Charles H. Buss.

It will pay better to make a shed of posts and poles using straw or fodder for a roof, than to allow the fodder to stand out to the weather.

The Captain

Of the good ship Storm King says: For the past five years I have used Sulphur Bitters on board my vessel, and have not lost a man. They are a sure preventive of all contagious fevers so incident to warm climates. Please send me at once two dozen bottles, and oblidge J. STARRET.

THE RIVER.

We stood on the banks of a river
And its tide was calm and still,
While soft shadows fell upon it,
From the moon behind the hill.
There was never a restless ripple
On its bosom fair and wide,
But I stood on this bank of the river,
And you on the other side.

The flowers bloomed on this side the river,
The birds sang, the night wind was sweet,
With pale moonlight soft in its bosom,
The wide river flowed at my feet.
Yet my eyes were heavy with weeping,
As I gazed on the wonderful scene—
For we stood on the banks of the river,
And its waters flowed silent, between.

'Tis a beautiful, cold, moonlit river,
But the name of the river is death,
And we only cross over its waters
When done with our frail, mortal breath.
It floweth for ever and ever;
On its bank lies the "city of gold;"
But it shuts from our wondering vision
The hearts that have loved us of old.

I stand on this side of the river
And I call, but no echo comes o'er,
To show that you listen, my darling,
From your home on the far away shore;
And the river that floweth so calmly
Bears no ripple to me on its breast,
To tell me that you still remember
And love me, though you are at rest.

O river of death, wide and boundless,
With moonlight of grief on thy breast,
Wilt thou bear me away into silence,
To silence, to love and to rest?
Wilt thou take my poor heart, worn and broken,
Away from this life's changing scene,
And bear me away to my loved one,
Where no more thy waves are between?

Oh, rest, to be borne on thy bosom,
To float with the outgoing tide
Till I land on the shore of "the city"—
And stand by the waiting one's side;
Oh, joy—when we stand by the river
And no more our souls are apart,
While we wander in heaven forever,
With peace in each wild weary heart.

—Agnes L. Pratt in Boston Globe.

Preserving Rope.

It has been suggested by a French exchange that, in order to insure greater strength and consequently more safety in ropes for scaffolding purposes, particularly in localities where the atmosphere is destructive of hemp fiber, such ropes should be dipped, when dry, into a bath containing twenty grains of sulphate of copper per liter of water, and kept in soak in this solution some four days, afterward being dried. The ropes will thus have absorbed a certain quantity of sulphate of copper, which will preserve them for some time both from the attacks of animal parasites and from rot.

The copper salt may be fixed in the fibers by a coating of tar or by soapy water, and in order to do this it may be passed through a bath of boiled tar, hot, drawing it through a thimble to press back the excess of tar, and suspending it afterward on a staging to dry and harden. In a second method the rope is soaked in a solution of 100 grammes of soap per liter of water. The copper soap thus formed in the fiber of the rope is stated to preserve it even better than tar is capable of doing, which acts mechanically to imprison the sulphate of copper, which is the real preservative in the case.

Turpentine Cures Diphtheria.

Once, when traveling in Montana, I had to stop in a small settlement many miles from a city, says a contributor. A child was sick in the house, and a neighbor who had a reputation as an amateur doctor was sent for. He was an intelligent man, and after a few minutes pronounced the disease to be diphtheria or croup, or a little of both. While the distracted father mounted his horse and rode off after a doctor the neighbor proceeded to get some turpentine and burn it.

The smell was pretty bad, and he nearly suffocated both himself and his patient. The physician arrived at midnight and found the child vomiting. Instead of accusing the amateur of being a quack he said quietly that it was clearly a case of diphtheretic croup, but that the turpentine treatment had removed the child from danger. His words proved true, and I don't see why a remedy when proved effective in a Montana frame shanty shouldn't help sick children in a large city when a doctor isn't right handy.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Deferred Annuity Bond.

Some one wants me to explain what a deferred annuity bond offered by a life insurance company of this city is. It is this: You pay a certain amount of money for a certain number of years for the benefit, say, of your son. Should he die before you have paid up all the money all the premiums that you have paid the company promises to return to you. In a word, you pay a certain premium for a certain time, either for your benefit or for that of some other person whom you may designate, and after that time the company binds itself to pay every year a certain sum of money to you or that other person during life. It may be added that a medical examination is not exacted.—Epoch.

Queer Definitions.

Dr. Johnson, the celebrated English dictionarymaker, whose definition of the word "excise" would lead one to consider him a splendid political economist, often found himself badly tangled up in the great sea of letters, words and phrases. In the first edition (London, 1755) the following comical blunders appear:

Garret, a room on the highest floor of the house.

Cock-loft, the room over the garret.

Network, anything reticulated or decussated at equal distances with interstices between the intersections.

Pensioner, a slave of state hired for a stipend to obey his master.—St. Louis Republic.

Paris was once a seaport, as London still is, and from time to time during the present century its citizens have discussed the feasibility of restoring its connection with the sea.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past obliges us to admit that only one remedy has met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms yield to it.

The now-completed Forth Bridge, in Scotland, has been provided with an indicator which records the number of trains passing, the daily contraction or expansion of the bridge, and the behavior of the bridge while each train is passing.

Deformity from Bright's Disease.

S. D. VanBuskirk, of Demarest, N. J., says: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., has cured our daughter of Bright's Disease, after all other means had failed. She was so swollen that she measured 45 inches around the waist, and 18 inches below the knee. To say that we feel thankful for such a boon as Favorite Remedy is but a poor expression."

JOHN STRANGE WINTER.

Luck Brought to the Author of "The Other Man's Wife" by Horseshoes.

Mrs. Arthur Stannard, better known as "John Strange Winter," is an author whose outlook in life is sunny. London, or the most interesting part of it, goes out often to visit her in her fine old house at Putney, near the Thames. At her summer garden parties and winter "at homes" artists, authors and journalists make a charming Bohemian circle about the peculiar trophy of horseshoes arranged in her reception hall. The writer of "Bootles' Baby" confesses to a pet superstition. After the manuscript of that story had been hawked about to six publishers she picked up a horseshoe an hour before the news came that The London Graphic had accepted it. On three other occasions of finding horseshoes she has immediately heard of good things, and her friends affect a joking reverence for these mascots and invariably hold all discussions of important enterprises within the radius of their auspicious influences.

It is not every visitor to Putney who has the entree of the nursery of Mr. Winter, so called until the favorable receptions of "Hoopla" and "In Quarters" induced the author to let the public into the secret of her sex. She is the mother of three chubby babies, the eldest of whom is 5 years old. These mischievous, sunny tempered youngsters fill their end of the house with laughter. With a toddler on each knee and another hanging over a chair behind she answered a question as to the happiest hour she had ever seen.

"To understand the pleasantest little thing that ever happened to me you must know that when I was 12 years old my dear old schoolmistress politely, but firmly, informed my father that I got into so many scrapes he must really take me home. When my 'Cavalry Life' began to receive favorable notices the impulse came to me to write and let this teacher into my secret. The congratulations I received in reply gave me more pleasure, I think, than any others I have ever received."

Mrs. Stannard is not a beautiful woman, though her face is a pleasant one. Her knowledge of military life came to her naturally, her father, the Rev. H. V. Palmer, having been prior to entering the church an officer in the royal artillery. Mr. Stannard is by profession a civil engineer, but his time is altogether at his wife's disposal, he being her private secretary and conducting all negotiations with her publishers.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Protest Against Cut and Dried Criticism.

The art of criticism is such a fine thing that one must regret its present tendency to formulary. It has, I think, such a tendency among us, curiously enough at the very moment when elsewhere—in France, at least, it has emancipated itself into the license of a mere record of irresponsible impressions; in England, perhaps, it is equally irresponsible, but certainly not impressionist. With us the novel mainly seems to be the victim of this tendency.

Our critics—do not inquire too closely who they are—are at the present moment nearly unanimous in their preoccupation with prescribing to the novelist from the old rules of French unity and German objectivity. This would be all very well if they were professors in a conservatory where novel writing was taught, but it savors distinctly rather of pedagogy than of criticism. And though pedagogy may be more important than criticism it is at any rate a different thing. The great distinction perhaps between the two is that one is mechanical and the other spiritual.—Scribner's.

Norwegian Razors.

I have nice specimens of Norwegian cutlery, but not until a few days ago did I know that the inventive Norseman had marched before us in razors. A friend who has been traveling hard for two whole years came to stay with me, and exhibited the most beautiful pair of these toilet tools I ever saw, of very highly finished Bessemer steel, simple and scientific, being merely thin, flat blades of metal, inserted in grooves of thicker stuff. The agent warrants their edge to stand three months, when the razors must be sent to him, dismounted and sharpened, having to be removed from the grooved back to do so. Chantrey, the sculptor, made one of hard bronze with a keen and effective edge, and there are relics of Pompeii manufactured in that alloy.—New York Ledger.

Red Snow.

At the head of Holy Cross creek, near Leadville, Colo., and in the almost inaccessible defiles of Mount Shasta, Cal., there are hundreds of square feet of ground continually covered with snow as red as blood. In the polar regions red and scarlet snow is a familiar sight, but the two places named above are the only spots within the limits of the United States where it is known to exist. The phenomenon is due to the presence of the minute animalculæ in the snow. How the little midge ever got there is a question that has never been satisfactorily answered.—St. Louis Republic.

The Way with Men.

If a man is successful and everything goes as he wants it, he lifts up his voice and says: "Lo! and behold! I am a great and brainy man. I have made myself what I am, and the man that fails in life must be a fool." But when things go wrong he says, with a hang-dog look, "Providence always was down on me for some reason."—Boston Courier.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nerve Tonic and Alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at H. L. Flanders & Co. Drug Store.

Consul General Cardwell, at Cairo, reports that the artificial hatching of eggs was known to the ancient Egyptians, and that by their process, handed down from father to son, 15,000,000 marketable chickens are now produced each season.

Leading authorities say the only proper way to treat catarrh is to take a constitutional remedy, like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

RATHER A NUMEROUS MAN.

A Commuter Has Fun with an Obdurate and Thick Headed Ferry Man.

"It is a singular thing," remarked one man to another as they made their way toward the ferry waiting room, "how long it takes the average man to get accustomed to faces that he is seeing every day. That fellow at the gate makes me show my commutation ticket every time I come through, though he sees me every day. I never have any trouble with the train conductor, but that's because he is a man of unusual intelligence. I have met many conductors who would make you show your ticket at every station, and would never get to know you, even if you rode with them twice a day.

"That's the kind of a man that fellow at the gate is. It's awfully provoking when you're running for a boat to have to stop, unbutton your overcoat and get your ticket out of your inside coat pocket. I'm a pious man, but it makes me swear sometimes."

As the two walked about waiting for the boat, an idea struck the man who had been talking.

"It would be interesting," said he, "to see how many times a fellow could walk through that gate without being recognized. Suppose we try it?"

"All right," said his friend.

"You go along, and I'll stand here and watch."

The commuter went out through the wagon gateway into the street. He returned through the passenger gate, and had to show his ticket. He tried again, with the same result. He tried several times more, and still the obdurate gateman failed to recognize him. There were few people going through at that time, and it was singular that his continued reappearance was not noticed. Persistence did, however, have an effect at last. On the sixth trip through the gateway the gatekeeper stared at him in a rather bewildered manner. On the seventh trip the gatekeeper swore gently to himself, and demanded to see the name on the commuter's ticket. The commuter permitted him to read it, and on reaching the waiting room said to his friend: "He has found out my name. Lend me your ticket."

On the eighth trip through the gateway he showed his friend's ticket. The gatekeeper swore loudly as he approached.

"I've got you," said he; "you can't make game of me. Let me see the name on that ticket."

The commuter assumed an air of indignation, but complied.

"Well, I'm beat," exclaimed the gateman, as he read the ticket. And he scratched his head in perplexity.

"What do you mean by addressing such harsh remarks to me?" asked the commuter.

"Well, I'll tell you, stranger," said the gateman in an apologetic tone, "you're the most numerous man I ever ran across. Chaps looking just like you have been passing through this gateway in a regular stream for the last fifteen minutes, an' I began to think it was some fellow making game of me. But I guess it must be something the matter with my eyes, for I see by your ticket that you're not the feller I was layin' for."—New York Tribune.

Two Famous London Streets.

Paternoster row is the name of a street in London almost under the shadow of St. Paul's cathedral. It is so called, according to antiquarians, from the fact that 400 or 500 years ago the makers of rosaries or pater nosters lived and had their shops there. As education became general religious books were added to the stock in trade, and in course of time the entire street was given up to publishers' and stationers' establishments. No vehicles were formerly allowed to enter the street, which, although in the midst of a great metropolis, was thus kept quiet, and even at present it is not a general thoroughfare.

Many of the essayists and poets of a century ago mention it, and not always in the most reverential terms. As Paternoster row was the publication center, so Grub street, now Milton street, so called not from the poet, but from a wealthy builder, was the headquarters of the writing fraternity. It was filled with houses of mean aspect and poor interior, hence the name came to be applied to trashy and worthless productions.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Convenient Trunk Labels.

The most expensive of trunks, portmanteaus, etc., are soon rendered unsightly by the repeated pasting on of labels. All this may be avoided, it appears, by the use of an English invention, which consists of a base of tough, flexible board on which are placed, one on top of the other, twelve parchment paper labels, the whole being securely fastened together with metal clips and an eyelet to carry the string for attachment to luggage. The frequent attachment of fresh labels is thus avoided, as the old or directed surfaces have simply to be torn off as used and a fresh one is always ready for redirection until the "tablet" is exhausted.—New York Telegram.

Caught the Meaning.

Good Minister—I was greatly overjoyed, madam, to find your little boy so attentive during the sermon. Do you think he understood what I meant?

Fair Dame—Yes, indeed, sir. He's a born mind reader.—Good News.

What Did He Mean?

A resident of Hardwick has his fence decorated with the following notice to owners of horses: "Nobuddy hich no hosses to this fence."—New York World.

An eminent Presbyterian divine announced to his congregation that he must take a vacation on account of bronchitis, the elders raised his salary and gave him Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. He was cured.

My daughter suffered greatly with neuralgia in the face and forehead and was unable to secure any relief. I saw Salvation Oil advertised, sent for a bottle, and one application gave entire relief.—J. S. McCaulley, (Policeman.) Residence, 204 N. Bond St., Balto., Md.

The Grecian shoe is made almost entirely of leather, and has a thickly padded sole, with a sharp turn up toe which is surmounted by a large ball of colored wool or hair. The shoe is fleece lined and is gorgeously decorated with beads and ornamental stitching.

Eleven Years In Charge

Of the package department, Boston & Maine Depot, Boston, Mass. Miss Helen Jones says: I was a sufferer from general debility, biliousness and water brash for several years, and life seemed a burden to me. After using almost everything, Sulphur Bitters cured me.

Jay Gould's Fear of Dynamite.

One day a man presented himself at Mr. Gould's office and demanded to see the millionaire. Somebody else offered to transact any business that he might have. The man was very dignified, and said he would treat with nobody except Mr. Gould. Mr. Gould happened to overhear his remark, and stepping to the door asked him the nature of his business. The man reached into an inside pocket and quickly drew out a long brass cylinder. The natural conclusion was that the man was a dynamiter and that the instrument which he held in his hand was a bomb. The door was slammed shut and everybody in the office made a wild rush for a place of safety.

No explosion followed, and after a time one of the clerks reconnoitered. The man still stood where he was left with the cylinder in his hand. He succeeded in convincing the clerk that there was no danger, and Mr. Gould returned to the door. The man said he had the greatest invention of the age, in which he wanted Mr. Gould to invest a few millions. It looked like a squirt gun, but the man said that it was a pocket churn, which would make it possible to have fresh butter at each meal. All that was necessary to do was to put some cream in the churn, stick the churn in the pocket and in idle moments agitate the paddle.—Interview in New York Sun.

A Wonder of the Grave.

At Assens, in the canton of Vaud, Switzerland, on Sept. 9, 1890, while some gravediggers were removing the contents of a grave from a low, wet portion of a cemetery, a coffin, which contained the remains of a woman, was found to be full to overflowing with crisp, curly black hair. The coffin was of wood and laid the undermost of three, all in one grave. As soon as the first two had been removed the workmen noticed that the clay on the lid of the under coffin, as well as the cracks in the lid and sides, was matted with hair which seemed to be pushing out through the cracks.

On removing the lid a most remarkable sight met their gaze. There was the whole figure of the corpse, exhibiting the eyes, mouth, ears and every part, every square inch of the body being covered with the long, curly hair. Exposed to the air for a few minutes the contents of the coffin became a shapeless mass of hair, one hand and the great toe of the right foot only retaining their shape.—St. Louis Republic.

The Gentlemanly Bank Teller.

It always amuses me when I receive a notice to the effect that my bank account has been overdrawn (and, by the way, I trust that I shall fall in no body's estimation through the frank admission that I am sometimes overtaken by this misfortune). The manner of it is this: A messenger, not the postman, brings me a letter couched in the following terms:

DEAR SIR—I make your account overdrawn $575.84 (it is usually a little less than that) and I think the mistake is yours. Yours truly, ———, Teller.

The politeness of this pleases me very much. Of course the teller knows that the mistake is mine, but with a kind of Chinese civility he puts the unpleasant fact in the form of a mere opinion. Perhaps this considerate formula has come down as a tradition in banks from the old and courtly days. It only remains to add that my bank account is overdrawn, not because my resources are straitened, but because I have such a lavish, careless, munificent way of throwing my money about.—Boston Post.

A Handy Invention.

Few of those who fasten their gloves with the ingenious little snap button in use for a few years past know the history of the contrivance. It was invented by an American, who tried in vain to enlist in his invention the interest of American capitalists. Nobody could see any promise in the tiny bit of mechanism, and the inventor finally betook himself to France. There he found capital, and the invention speedily became popular. Now the inventor and the capitalists interested are getting rich out of the contrivance, and even the American agency is proving a mint of money. The fastener, at first applied chiefly to gloves, is now affixed to umbrellas and to a dozen other articles of daily use. Made of silver, it is put upon ornamental pocketbooks, portfolios and the like.—New York Star.

She Forgot Something After All.

She came into the first coach with a bandbox, and a birdcage, and a bunch of dried stinkweed, and an umbrella, and two sachels, and a bottle of coffee, and a lunch basket, and an old sunshade, and a summer hat, and a squash done up in a newspaper, and a bag of autumn leaves, and two shawls, and a wrap, and a hunk of meat and cheese, and when the whole menagerie was seated she turned around and, raising her hands in disappointment and horror, exclaimed, "There, Maria, I've forgot something!"

And when they brought the man in the corner out of a fit the conductor got a shovel and began digging for her ticket.—Albany Argus.

Cure for a Felon.

For a felon take common rock salt such as is used for salting down pork, dry it in an oven, then pound it fine and mix with spirits of turpentine in equal parts. Put it on a linen rag and wrap around the felon. As it dries put on more, and if followed up the felon will be dead in twenty-four hours.—Exchange.

The clog worn by the Japanese is of wood, and as viewed from the side is the shape of a boy's sled. It is fastened to the foot by a string which passes between the great and second toe and across the former. A strap, an inch in width and lined with linen, is carried across the instep.

The Hungarian shoe, or moccasin, is made of rawhide, prepared by a sun curing process. Loops or thongs extend upward around the ankle and through these loops is passed a strap which is buckled at the side.

Now is the time to purchase breeding fowls. They will be dearer in the Spring, and perhaps not so healthy as if you had raised them yourself.

No animal can be healthy without exercise. If it is not healthy it will not pay for its keep. Make a "run" for the Winter use of your hens.

Mother and Daughter.

In the winter of 1870-71 a great costume festival was held in Munich. Among the many beautiful women present was a Greek girl, dressed in classic costume of extreme simplicity, her only jewels being a single string of pearls about the neck. A Boston artist, then a student at the Royal Art academy, who was present, was impressed with the classic charm of this virgin beauty, made sketches and notes, and at once set to work to paint the picture, but in vain; the time had not come in which to realize the conception, and the canvas was laid aside.

Two years ago, as the artist was returning from a summer trip in Europe, he was introduced to a Hungarian nobleman, who had been appointed consul, and with his family was sailing for New York. When introduced to the consul's family, a glance at the daughter, a beautiful girl of 16, brought to mind the Greek girl seen at the costume festival in Munich years ago; another look at the mother, and indeed it was the same woman. An intimate acquaintance brought to light the fact that the Hungarian, then a student at the University of Munich, lost his heart that memorable night at the festival, and soon after married the girl.

A few months after the arrival in New York the daughter gave sittings to complete the picture "Leukopis," which had been inspired by the mother years previous. The artist was Mr. J. M. Stone, of this city, and the picture was at the Art Club exhibition.—Boston Transcript.

Odd Postoffice Names.

I saw a letter recently postmarked Negro Foot, Va. The name seemed so odd for a government postoffice that I consulted an official postal guide to see if Uncle Sam indorsed it. A glance through the guide discovered hundreds of others as little creditable to his taste and dignity. For instance, Big Foot is an office in Indiana, Pig in Kentucky, Skull Bone and Mouse Tail in Tennessee, Buzzard's Roost in Georgia, and Corn Cob in South Carolina. Number One is a Maine postoffice, and Vermont has a Bread Loaf. In New York there are a Promised Land, a Painted Post, Good Ground and Half Moon.

Pennsylvania might have selected better sounding names than Bird-in-hand, Bean, Bald Eagle, Burning Bush, Darling, Good Interest and Gum Tree. Gunpowder is in Maryland, while Old Hundred and Alone, with Negro Foot, are in Virginia. West Virginia boasts a Left Hand, and North Carolina the grace of Charity, blessing of Prosperity and Forks of Pigeon. Georgia is discredited by a Dirt Town, and has Alligator, Fish and Cold Water. Pay Up and Cut Off are also Georgia offices. Big Coon, Coal Fire and Red Rose are in Alabama, and Bananas in Florida. I'll wager you never heard of half of those.—Philadelphia North American.

"Overlaying" Woodcuts.

Overlaying is merely an intelligent adjustment of pressure on woodcuts—a pressure adjusted to suit the resistance, so that light lines shall have little and solid surfaces much pressure. So treated light lines will print sharp and clear; the compact and closer lines of middle tints will be smoothly gray, and the solid portions of the dark shadows will be full velvety black. The different degrees of light and shade in every woodcut require this graduation of pressure. The theory seems simple enough, but putting the theory in practice is not.

Every printing machine is made so that the pressed and the pressing surfaces shall be in exact parallel—so that pressure shall be absolutely uniform in every part. If woodcuts were like the ordinary text types of books and newspapers in their equality of color and their equal resistance to impression, there would be no need of overlaying; no more pressure would be required in one portion than in another. But woodcuts are conspicuously unequal—the thin lines, the close lines, the solid blacks, are irregularly combined. Yet each must have a different degree of pressure.—Theo. L. De Vinne in Century.

Only Once.

There is nothing like making the best of everything, but even when people do make the best of things they are very apt to put in a qualifying "but" somewhere.

Two very old people were talking one day about the delights of old age.

"Why," said one, "we get the best of everything. At our house all the tenderest bits of steak, the nicest morsels of chicken, the largest pieces of pie, are saved out for me."

"Yes," said the other; "at our house I have the most comfortable room in the house, the easiest chair, and the warmest corner at the fireplace."

"And everybody looks at us kindly and respectfully."

"To be sure. But, ah, John, it's sorrowful to think"——

"What, Jane?"

"We can't be old but once!"—Youth's Companion.

Give 'Em Time.

Thirteen years ago a Boston man lost a trunk on a railroad entering Chicago. The officials asked for a week to hunt it up, and then they wanted a month and a year. The loser didn't want to seem captious about it, and he kept still and let the good work go on, and the other day he received a pair of socks, a collar and the lid of his long lost trunk, together with a note stating that there were no charges for storage.—Detroit Free Press.

The Russian boot is composed of many pieces of morocco in several colors, put together in a shape to please the taste of the maker or wearer. The foot of the boot is made of heavy calf. The whole boot is beautifully embossed by thread in bright colors.

After digging up root crops and cutting corn, the weeds are frequently left to grow. They should be harrowed down or they will spread their seeds and give trouble in future years.

In buying apple trees the yearlings are cheaper, more easily handled, require less work in every way, and will make a fine tree if the proper care is given.

A physician has compiled some very elaborate statistics to demonstrate that men of thought live, on an average, three years and a half longer than men in the ordinary vocations of life.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

Literary Notices.

The New Year's issue of HARPER'S MAGAZINE worthily represents the enterprise and liberal spirit of its old and highly successful publishers, the Harpers of New York. The number is splendidly illustrated, and never were its contents fresher, more timely or entertaining. A few of the papers are: The Outlook in Southern California, London Music Halls, both profusely illustrated; At the Casa Napoleon, Impressions of Peru, A Modern Legend, Another Chapter of My Memoirs and several fine poems.

 HARPER'S is sold by the New England News Company of Boston, and at the Old Woburn Bookstore by Sparrow Horton.

Mothers and nurses should always remember that disappointment never attends the use of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price only 25 cents.

No wonder people say the climate is changing, with all the queer weather we are having lately, and to be free from catarrh is a privilege. We have, however an excellent remedy for this ailment, Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

There is a large amount of light gold coin in circulation. Out of $1000 paid in duties by a Philadelphia merchant last week $300 in $2½ pieces were found to be of light weight and ordered out of circulation. This is the result of a dishonest manipulation. One large bank in Philadelphia is said to have $20,000 of this light weight money on hand.

Astronomical students have had unusually fine opportunities for studying the skies dur ng these clear nights. The moon, the the planets and Orion have formed interesting subjects.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST BLOOD PURIFIER

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why pay with that terrible Headache? Why Jay and lose on that bed of pain, with Rheumatism? What makes your head ache? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to regain the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which stimulate only to DESTROY. It is composed of the choicest Roots, Barks and Berries, combined with the Extract of SULPHUR in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY.

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

A. P. ORDWAY & CO., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD

FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 454 Main Street, Woburn.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

*Sample copies sent free

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1891. NO. 4.

Christmas, 1890.

Lovell, Ph. G.

We have a large line of Plush Toilet Sets, Manicure Sets, Shaving Sets, Infant Sets, Children's Table Sets, Perfumery, Writing Paper, Choice Confectionery and Cigars, etc., etc., etc.

Low Prices. Fair Treatment. Call and See Us.

361 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.47, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, s7.45, s8.45, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.45, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.50, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9.10, s9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.35, 4.35, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10 20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	Edward F. Johnson
President of Aldermen,	William C. Kenney
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	E. E. Thompson
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS, Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
512	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE !

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

Sewing Machines

Of different makes, all warranted first-class. Sold at the unusual low price of $25.00 by Charles R. Rosenquist, 7 Greenwood Avenue. Also, the right place to get pictures copied and framed. All kinds of Rubber Stamps, Stencils, Seals, Steel Dies, Door Plates, Copying Presses, &c., &c.

DEALER, REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

JOSEPH P. SHIELDS,

Prescription Druggist,

WOBURN, MASS.

Has removed to Corner of Main and Walnut Streets, formerly Post Office.

N. B.—Shields's Cough Syrup IS guaranteed.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

Mayor Bean's Inaugural Address.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

As we assume today the duties of the several positions to which we have been chosen, I am impressed with the important and serious responsibilities which devolve upon us as public officials.

And when I say this, I assure you I am not merely uttering a commonplace expression which is not supported by an honest and earnest conviction. It is gratifying to men to be regarded worthy of the confidence of their fellow citizens and to have such confidence find expression in their selection for positions of honor and trust. Such gratification is both natural and creditable. I believe, however, that in quite recent years public servants, while they have experienced no less satisfaction in the public choice, have generally come to entertain a more just and broader idea of the obligations which they assume. The popular sentiment that "Public office is a Public trust" is so sound in policy and so obviously safe and wise to follow in practice that it has become a fundamental plank of the platforms of all parties. I do not wish to appear, therefore, to lay claim to any exceptional appreciation of the character of the duties upon the discharge of which we enter today, but only to indicate that I have no light opinion of their nature. I believe you will all agree with me in the expression of this sentiment.

The conduct of the affairs of a municipality like ours corresponds in my opinion in great degree to the management of a large business corporation. They are considered valuable and capable directors of a business enterprise who with keen foresight plan for its development and safe prosecution, who calculate the means at their disposal and how best to use them, who choose agents, officers and employees to attend to the details of their business with careful regard to their efficiency and honesty and who seek to understand the public desires and demands and to provide for them. We are the directors of this Municipal Corporation for the coming year and we cannot do better than, as business men in the exercise of our best judgment, to administer the affairs of the city and attend to the variety of duties which come to us in a business-like manner, always to place the needs of the public before our own wish or that of any individual, and public welfare before private advantage, to bear in mind constantly that we are to administer a trust, not to indulge ourselves as we please with a gift.

I propose now to lay before you such facts concerning the city's affairs as I have deemed of importance enough to be considered at this time and to make a few suggestions concerning some subjects for your consideration.

FINANCE.

Our entire municipal and water debt is now funded. During the year 1890 there was added to the former the Public Park Loan $7,000 and the Highland School House Loan $14,000 and maturing obligations to the amount of $43,516.67 were paid: $30,000 was taken from the Sinking Fund and applied to the payment of the municipal debt, and the balance of the amount paid $13,514.67 was paid out of appropriations.

There was added to the Water Debt in 1890 the Conduit Loan $6,000 and notes to the amount of $30,300 have been paid: $28,300 was taken from the Sinking Funds for this purpose and the balance $2,000 was paid out of appropriations.

The Sinking Funds on Jan. 1, 1890, amounted to $134,412.23. During the year there was received from appropriations, interest on bonds and sales and premiums on sales, $17,844.44, making a total of $152,256.73. Deducting from this sum the total amount used to pay debts $58,300 a balance remains of $93,956.73. Adding to this the sum transferred by the Water Board as the balance from Water Works maintenance for 1890, $1,235.75, gives the amount of the Sinking Fund Jan. 1, 1891 $95,192.48.

The following is a statement of the city's debt, Jan. 1, 1891:

Municipal Debt,	$ 84,583 33
Water Debt,	416,000 00
Total,	$500,583 33
Less Sinking Funds at their face value,	95,192 48
Net debt, Jan 1, 1891,	$405,390 85
The net debt, Jan. 1, 1890 was,	$412,987 71
Deducting from this the net debt Jan. 1, 1891,	405,390 85
Reduction of debt in 1890,	$ 7,596 86

In calculating the debt notes given in anticipation of taxes are not reckoned, as they are offset by the taxes themselves and the net result would be the same if they were taken into account.

The proportion of our indebtedness to our valuation is less than ever before. The latter was, according to the Assessors valuation May 1, 1891, $8,918,306. The debt is about 4.6 per cent of the valuation or about one-fifth of one percent lower than a year ago.

Suly 1, 1892, $200,000 of Woburn Water scrip falls due. It is estimated that the Sinking Fund will then amount to about $105,000. The Sinking Fund Commissioners have hitherto purchased $23,000 of water scrip of the series of 1893 and $1,000 of the series of 1894. These bonds were cancelled when purchased as required by law and their aggregate $24,000 must be deducted from $105,000 in order to get at the amount of the Sinking Fund which will be available to apply to the payment of $200,000 in 1892. According to this estimate we shall have about $80,000 for this purpose. The balance, $120,00, must be provided in some other way. While it will not fall upon the City Government for 1891 to make this provision yet as our financial policy in order to be a wise and intelligent one must be based not only upon present necessities but also future requirements, it is not, I think, out of place to say that in my opinion the amount required should be raised in accordance with Chap. 133 of the Acts of 1882, that is, notes maturing in successive years should be given, and in order to distribute the payment of the debt over an extended period I suggest that twelve notes of $10,000 each be issued. This plan appears to be especially desirable since the revenue from the water works is continually increasing and has now reached a point which renders them self-sustaining, notwithstanding the large amount of interest which is paid out of the funds of that department.

Water scrip amounting to $400,000 now bears interest at the rate of 6 per cent, an annual charge on the department of $24,000, When half of this scrip matures in 1892 a loan can undoubtedly be made on $120,000 not provided for by the Sinking Fund, at 4 per cent or less. The result will be that whereas we now pay $12,000 interest on $200,000 we shall have only to pay $4,800 or less on $120,000 thus at once effecting a saving of $7,200 or more per annum. We shall be relieved of a part of this interest each year as we pay the notes. Every dollar saved in interest will increase the net income of the department.

$100,000 of water scrip matures in 1893 and the balance ($100,000) in 1894. If the same course is pursued with these amounts as that just indicated we shall make in each of these years a saving in interest of $2,000 and in succeeding years the interest will be rapidly reduced. A careful estimate of expected income from the water works in the next few years and the reduction of interest account on the water debt makes it reasonably certain that after the first half of the debt matures and is provided for in 1892, the annual appropriation of $8,500 for the Sinking Fund of 1874 will no longer be needed and that the water works will take care both of the interest on the debt of the department and the debt itself as it becomes due, and at the same time the entire original water debt of $400,000 will be paid within the period of time required by law, or before 1905. We shall thus be in better condition to bear the burden which the Metropolitan system of sewerage will bring upon us as well as to establish and maintain such local system of drainage as we may decide upon.

TAXATION AND APPROPRIATION.

The tax rate in 1890 was $16.50 per thousand. This was exceeded by but five cities in the Commonwealth, the highest rate in any city being $17.60 in both Taunton and Chelsea. The rate in Woburn was 94 cents in excess of the average rate of the cities of the Commonwealth exclusive of Boston. The financial status of a municipality cannot however be properly determined by simply considering its tax rate. If all regular expenses are provided for by the tax levy and the expedient of a permanent loan is only resorted to when some unusual expense is incurred, then the tax rate may be above the average. This has been the case in this city for the past two years, the rate of taxation however continually going lower. Not infrequently in some cities and towns expenses which should be met by appropriations and be anticipated in the tax levy are provided for by loans, relief being not infrequently sought from the General Court and permission obtained to exceed the limit of indebtedness provided by law. Thus, while the people are gratified by a moderate tax rate, there is created an additional debt at the same time which they or their successors must pay. It is a sound and safe policy to pay each year what may be termed our "living expenses" and to live within our means though we may thus go without some luxuries which we desire to have.

The problem before us in Woburn is to so distribute the very moderate sum which by law we can raise by taxation as to reasonably and equitably provide for the various departments of the City Government. It is impossible to appropriate for all departments such sums as could be well expended therein. Woburn is relatively speaking a poor city. Her valuation is less than that of any of the other twenty-eight cities in the Commonwealth except Chicopee and Marlborough which have just received their charters and in which the rate of increase in valuation is several times greater than in Woburn. There is not enough wealth here to make it feasible to expend in the various departments such amounts as many other cities can use, at the same time keeping their tax rates below the average.

By the Act of 1885 the appropriations for all other purposes than the State Tax, County Tax and sums required by law to be raised on account of the city debt, cannot exceed a sum equal to a rate of $12 per thousand of the average valuation for the three immediate preceding years less abatements. The sum which can lawfully be raised by taxation in 1891 is computed to be $104,581.41.

To this should be added the unexpended balance for the year 1890 which amounts to $8,137.18.

The total sum is $112,718.09 which with several thousand dollars to be paid into the treasury for licenses for the sale of liquor constitutes the available funds at our disposal. It will require the most careful attention and scrutiny to determine what appropriations the several departments shall receive. Undoubtedly more money could be expended to good advantage in several departments and it is probable that strong arguments can be advanced in support of greater demands. I am however in favor of the most rigid economy. There are certain purposes for which we must appropriate certain and definite amounts. These are such portions of the debt as mature, the interest on municipal debt, the sinking funds, and the State and County taxes. For all other purposes I consider that we should aim, not to appropriate as much as we can legally raise by taxation but rather to bring the total expenditure as far within that limit as we can with regard for the reasonable requirements of the departments. If this is done the public will uphold the policy and the public should, at the same time, bear in mind that such a policy in this city is not compatible with general liberal expenditures.

Woburn's tax rate should be reduced to at least the average of the cities of Massachucetts, not simply so that it can be said that it is at that point, but because it is an important advantage to a city and will be to Woburn to have taxation moderate. I trust you will be disposed to join me in a determined effort to approximate if not accomplish this result.

Our valuation in 1890 was $225,843 greater than in 1889 but as already stated, it remains relatively small. An examination of the valuations of the several cities for 1889 and 1890 shows that one (Northampton) lost in 1890 over 1889. All the others with three exceptions gained at a rate in excess of our advance. There is no reason to expect that our valuation May 1, 1891 will show a material increase over 1890. Any reduction in the tax rate will therefore be mainly due to a reduced tax levy and the latter will in turn depend on your action.

SCHOOLS.

During the past year the city has borrowed $14,000 to build the new Highland School House. The structure is approaching completion and will be occupied in the coming Fall. It contains four school rooms, a gain of two rooms over the former accommodations. A purchase of land at Central Square upon which to erect another four room school house has been already considered and will be brought to your attention during the coming year. These new buildings have been considered necessary on account of the rapid increase in the number of school children.

In order to ascertain what are our present school accommodations and thus determine what our needs are, I have obtained from the Superintendent of Schools some statistics from which the following facts are deduced.

In 1885, 40 school rooms were occupied exclusive of the High School and the average number of children attending school in these rooms daily for the month of September of that year, was 1737. The average number of pupils per room was 43 1-2. The attendance exceeded 40 in all the rooms except at the Morse, Cedar and Cambridge street schools.

At present 45 rooms are occupied exclusive of the High School. The average daily attendance for September 1890 in these rooms was 2050. The average number of pupils per room was 45 1-2. The average attendance constitutes about 82 per cent. of the enrolled membership of the schools. The number of enrolled scholars is about 2500.

The gain of rooms in five years is five and of scholars in average daily attendance, 333.

The year 1885 followed the year when the Parochial School was opened. The reduction in school attendance which resulted from the opening of this school has been more than made up now. There is an average daily attendance of 51 scholars per room at the Cummings, Union street, and Rumford Schools; of 50 at the Lawrence School, of 49 at the Highland School, and 48 at the Plympton School. The Morse, Cedar and Cambridge street schools have less than 40 scholars per room in daily attendance, though the first named has an average of 39. There are fully 500 scholars in the Parochial School. I think it is apparent from these statistics that more school accommodations are required. The average daily attendance increases about 75 scholars per year. Many of the schools are overflowing now and all of them except two in the outlying sections have a full complement of pupils.

The proportion of the taxes which the schools receive is a large one and I take it that the people of the city generally approve the outlay. The schools hold high rank, they are well directed and the corps of teachers is exceptionally earnest and efficient. A material reduction of the appropriation for the department would mean poorer schools, and would, I believe, be received with marked general disfavor. The School Committee has extensive powers not only as to the management of the schools but also in determining the appropriations for their support. It remains for the City Council to provide the amount of money, which the Committee, acting they undoubtedly will with discretion and care, shall deem necessary.

SCHOOL HOUSE VENTILATION.

By an Act of the session of 1888 the General Court provided that "Every public building and every school house shall be ventilated in such a proper manner that the air shall not become so exhausted as to be injurious to the health of the persons present therein. * * * * *

A succeeding section of the Act says that "Wherever it shall appear to an inspector of factories and public buildings that further or different * * * * means of ventilation are required in any public building or school house in order to conform to the requirements of this Act and that the same can be provided without incurring unreasonable expense, such an inspector may issue a written order to the proper person or authorities, directing such means of ventilation to be provided, and they shall thereupon be provided in accordance with such order."

An Act of the session of 1890 allows an appeal within ten days to the Superior Court by the person or authority so ordered by the inspector.

The Union Street Schoolhouse has recently been provided with ventilation under the Act of 1888 and under the supervision of an inspector. At the present the new system there employed is not accomplishing the work in a manner satisfactory to the authorities or the inspector himself. The expense of the work has not been paid, $1390 having been set aside by the retiring City Government to be paid when the requirements of the contract shall have been met. It is possible that the City will be directed to provide new means of ventilation in other school houses and the question becomes one of importance in view of this prospect as to what the probable expense will be. It is estimated that not less than $20,000 would be needed if all our school houses are to be provided with new systems of ventilation. Another and even more important item is the cost of maintenance after the change has been made. A calculation based on the Union Street experiment indicates an additional annual expense of $6,000 for fuel and janitors, our city should not be made to bear this burden through any arbitrary and unreasonable enforcement of the law. I am certainly in favor of good ventilation and the provision of all proper safe guards for the health of our children, but I am opposed to radical measures which are unnecessary.

The law requires that ventilation shall be provided when ordered by the Inspection department of the District Police in order to accomplish the purpose of the Act, and that purpose is stated to be that every school house "shall be ventilated in such a proper manner that the air shall not become so exhausted as to be injurious to the health of the persons present therein." Besides this the new provision for ventilation is to be ordered by the Inspector only when it can be provided without unreasonable expense." It should be satisfactorily shown that the present ventilation in the school houses is altogether inadequate and that the effect of it is manifest in the health of the children before the city is compelled to incur heavy initial expense and to introduce a system of ventilation which will double the expenses for fuel and janitors. I should favor the prompt exercise of the right of appeal, if without good proof of the reasonableness of the requirement, Woburn is directed to reconstruct the heating and ventilating apparatus of her schoolrooms, at great expense.

SEWERAGE.

During the past year the City of Boston has obtained and served injunctions on several establishments in Woburn restraining the proprietors from discharging sewage through natural outlets and thus, it is claimed, contaminating the Mystic Water Supply.

During the summer of 1890 an eight inch drain was laid along the easterly side of Main street from Walnut street to the Mystic Valley Sewer which was entered near the railroad crossing on Main street, thus forming a connection which allows the discharge of sewage from the premises abutting the pipe. This affords drainage, however, to a very limited area and number of buildings and the question of the disposal of the sewage of the centre of the City remains open. This question I do not regard as very serious, or one to excite grave apprehension on the part of our citizens. Woburn's natural drainage advantages are certainly curtailed and limited by Boston's requirements in connection with the Mystic Water supply, but the Metropolitan Sewerage System is not far away now, and Woburn's problem meanwhile is to make the best practicable disposition of her sewage. I am of the opinion that Boston and the other communities below us will not be unreasonably exacting in view of the circumstances and the prospective solution of the difficulty at an early day. Woburn cannot be said to be thickly settled except in a very limited part of her territory, and the parties and premises against whom injunctions have been or may be obtained or who desire to dispose of their sewage will be able in most cases to provide private facilities which will answer until the Metropolitan System is completed and Woburn has determined upon and constructed in her central section a local sewer system.

The construction of cesspools and catch basins in cases which from time to time call for relief will help us to bridge over the period before the permanent system is established.

It will soon become necessary to determine what our local system is to be. The Metropolitan Sewerage Act requires that any city or town entered by any main sewer constructed under the Act shall connect its local sewers with such main sewer. The Act does not prescribe what the local system of any city or town shall be or when it shall be constructed. It is to be expected however that in order to dispose of our sewage and remove the cause for complaint and legal proceedings against the citizens of Woburn as well as to more surely secure the public health and welfare, the city will proceed to construct a local system and effect connection with the main sewer as soon as practicable.

My predecessor in his inaugural address a year ago explained with clearness and particularly the details of the plans which the Commissioners are to proceed upon in their work so far as they relate to Woburn. I do not therefore dwell on those matters. It would seem that it will be wise, when we begin the work, to build a sewer through Main street. If it is constructed as far north as New Boston street it will reach the height of land. Beyond that point the sewage will be conducted through the North Woburn arm of the system when that is built. This Main street sewer may connect with the Mystic Valley sewer which is to be acquired by the State from its outlet to a point just across our southern border. It will be necessary for Woburn to acquire the remainder of this sewer unless a parallel line is built at a cost not much in excess of what we would have to pay for the present one and so built as to better adapted to present and prospective needs. In the present state of our finances sewer construction on any extended scale ought not to be undertaken till after 1892, but in view of the need of drainage in the centre of the city the Main street sewer should be built first and connected with the Mystic sewer as soon as practicable.

The question of what is to be Woburn's share of the expense of Metropolitan Sewerage system and when payments upon it will begin is of interest and importance. As far as operating expenses are concerned I understand from officers of the Commission that there will be no assessment upon Woburn before 1894. Woburn will be one of the last cities to be reached by the system and will not therefore be assessed for operating it until it is completed. The date of completion is now set by the Commission as August 1894. The total annual operating expenses of the completed system are estimated at $89,000.

The Act of 1889 provides for the issuing of scrip or certificates of debt by the State Treasurer not to exceed $5,000,000 to meet construction expenses. The term of this loan is forty years and its payment to be provided by a sinking fund to which all the cities and towns enumerated in the Act are to contribute annually according to an apportionment by the Treasurer. The assessment is to be at the rate of 1-80 part of the whole amount in each of the first ten years, 1-60 part in each of the second ten years 1-30 in each of the third ten years and the balance in the last ten years. A calculation by a state official which I have been permitted to copy but which is not yet published as an official apportionment gives the following figures as the approximate amounts which the entire sewerage district will contribute annually in the successive periods.

From 1890 to 1899 inclusive,		$22,291 32
" 1900 to 1909	"	40,030 90
" 1910 to 1919	"	107,831 15
" 1920 to 1929	"	163,387 79

It is plain that Woburn's annual contribution to the Sinking Fund will be an inconsiderable sum for at least 20 years, whether the apportionment be based on population, area, or as is more probable both combined. The assessment to pay operating expenses will, when it comes, exceed that for the Sinking Fund during the first twenty years of contribution to the latter. The city will not be burdened with any tax the present year in connection with this matter.

It is, as I have already said, our local sewerage system which demands special consideration, and it seems none to early to take steps towards determining what is to be and how the expenses of it is to be provided for.

*Continued on the f

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 9, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

MAYOR BEAN'S ADDRESS.

The JOURNAL presents to its numerous readers and patrons this morning the Inaugural Address of Mayor George F. Bean delivered on last Monday afternoon in Lyceum Hall in the presence of the retiring and new city governments and a large concourse of interested people of both sexes. We recommend it to the studious perusal of all those not already familiar with what it sets forth.

The Address is a plain business document from start to finish. Its main characteristics are distinguished by common sense, intelligent ideas, and terse English.

The suggestions and recommendations appeal strongly to public approval by their practicableness. We have failed to find in the production a single suggestion that is not timely and sensible.

The financial condition of the city is clearly set forth. Our debt is so plainly figured out and stated that the tyro in mathematics can easily understand and tell how much it is. Credit is due Mayor Bean for making this part of his able Address intelligible to the common understanding.

The JOURNAL regards the Address of the new Mayor as a sound business paper, and it finds that the public voice is in entire accord with this view of its merits.

THE CITY OFFICES.

It was never contemplated, we presume, whoever might be elected, to disturb City Treasurer John C. Buck, City Collector John G. Maguire, or Clerk of Committees Edward H. Lounsbury. Their services are worth more to the public than party success and therefore their tenure of office is likely to become a long one.

Unquestionably some of last year's incumbents would have failed to secure a re-election if certain political movements had succeeded in making connections, which they did not. As city officers they were as free from objection as the gentlemen named above, but as partisans they were obnoxious to some.

The positions of City Clerk, City Solicitor, and City Physician have been as well and satisfactorily filled by Messrs. Moreland, Curran and Conway respectively as any public places could be. And that is what the people, the tax-payers, want—capacity and faithfulness in the discharge of the duties of the public offices.

And so it is with the minor offices—they are filled with good men.

The Republican and Democrat parties in the city feel very well indeed over the election of same old corps of city offices, but we have heard that those deluded members of both parties who broke away from their friends and went after strange gods don't feel quite happy over it.

ABOUT "THE RING."

The People's movement was started in the city before the late charter election to beat the alleged "Ring" at Municipal Building—meaning Moreland, Conway Curran, etc. Their success was not monumental.

The "Ring" is still on deck and the livest dead body in this community. The People's movement made just about as much out of the election as the Democrats did out of the State election.

Every one of the "old gang" from City Clerk Moreland down through the gamut to City Janitor Connolly is back in his warm nest as happy and contented as anybody can be.

In a practical way what did the People's movement gain by the election? The columns of the JOURNAL are open for replies from Democrats only.

MEETING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Massachusetts General Court for 1891 met and organized last Wednesday.

With the Senate evenly divided between the Republicans and Democrats and only a small Republican majority in the House; with a Democratic Governor and Republican Lieut. Governor and Council; with these things thus, it wouldn't be at all strange if there should be considerable fun for outsiders in the doings of the forthcoming session between now and next haying time.

☞ The talk at the State House is that Capt E. F. Wyer of this city, Senator for the 5th Middlesex District, is the first member of the Massachusetts General Court ever known to refuse a railroad pass. They say he returned his to the officials with thanks and thus greatly surprised them.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
M. T. Allen—Citation.
M. E. Society—Supper.
R. C. Whittier—Concert.
W. F. Club—Exhibition.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
T. C. Evans—Ivers & Pond.
Rev. W. A. Start—Meeting.
J. J. Mead—Manure Wanted.
Pettengill & Co.—Dr. Greene.

— "A Vision" will appear in the JOURNAL next week.

— There was a bit more of snow last Monday.

— Tuesday was a raw, cold, cheerless sort of a day.

— Sneak theives are about, at least W. A. Russell thinks so.

— There was never better sleighing in all the world than now.

— Don't fail to keep in mind Amos Cummings's great mark-down sale.

— Don't fail to feed the sparrows while snow is on the ground and food scarce.

— Lovers of good living, please run your eye over the change in the Cash Market ad.

— An excellent article on "Tobacco" by one of our brightest ladies, will appear next week.

— The Woburn Democracy reorganize and form a Club twice a year generally. A new one is on the tapis.

— The great Peace Dance by Shawsheen Tribe, No. 49, I. O. R. M. will take place at Lyceum Hall on Feb. 4.

— Rev. W. A. Start will open services for the Universalists of this city next Sunday afternoon. See announcement.

— Editor Kenney, we rejoice to note your promotion on the Woburn School Board. We doff our beaver to you, Chairman K.

— Last Friday Mr. George Thompson, a well known citizen of Woburn aged about 76 years, dropped dead with heart disease.

— Mrs. Charles A. Fowle has left her summer home at Swampscott and is pleasantly domiciled at the American House in Boston.

— Let's see, wasn't there something said by somebody before the city election about "smashing the ring?" Or did our ears deceive us?

— Bro. Dorr suggests that the Pine Tree Club hold a meeting soon to arrange for the annual celebration, and the JOURNAL seconds the motion.

— The officers of Woburn Post, No. 161, were duly installed last Monday evening by Post Commander A. A. Davis and suite of Post 185 at Lowell.

— That "ring" is quite a chipper combine considering the "smashing" which the "People's Movement" in the last city election said they were going to give it, eh?

— The annual election of the Woburn High School Graduates Association will be held in the High School building Wednesday evening, Jan. 14, '91, at 8 o'clock.

— The officers of Aberjona Colony, 131, United Order Pilgrim Fathers, were installed last Wednesday evening by Brother Hutchinson and suite of Cambridgeport.

— Deputy Great Sachem, O. J. Hart, and suite of Nahmeokee Council, D. of P., installed the officers of Iyanough Council D. of P., of Stoneham, Thursday evening.

— Mr. Thomas Salmon met with a sad bereavement last Tuesday morning in the death by consumption of his only son, Thomas, for which this community will deeply sympathize with him.

— Auctioneer Gregory has sold the Ann Rossiter place, No. 122 Garfield Ave., to Mary Rooney for $1320 and the taxes for two years. He always gets the highest price for everything.

— Mr. William Johnson, late of Button End, has taken up his abode on Canal street. We are glad that he is not going to pull up stakes and leave. Mr. Johnson is a worthy citizen.

— Some one asked: "how is Dea. Gage this morning?" The reply was: "his signature on the business end of a bank check is as good as any man's in Woburn," which seemed to be satisfactory all round.

— Please bear in mind, ladies and gentlemen, the time and place for the concert by the Saint Cecilias. Read the card. Our word for it, it will be of the very best. Note the talent who will take part in it.

— A good photo of Mr. Warren Teel, the "Old Reliable" of the Davenport (Iowa) postoffice for lo, these many years—nearly 30 of them—smilingly turned up in our mail last Wednesday morning, to the great pleasure of the JOURNAL family.

— A large party of Woburn people took a sleigh ride to Brighton last Wednesday night and had one of the times you read of. Mr. Jones's big barge never held a merrier crowd. Supper and chicken fixins were enjoyed at the Brighton tavern.

— Supt. Sewell has done firstrate in removing the snow shovelled from the street car tracks from the streets altogether. There are no heaps or banks of snow from No. Woburn to Winchester, for which Supt. Sewell is entitled to much credit.

— Mr. F. Schuartz, formerly with A. H. Davenport, and Keeler & Co., Upholsterers and Interior Decorators, will occupy the upholstery department 404 Main street, lately occupied by F. M. Frye, about Feb. 1. First class work and fair prices will be given by him.

— The annual report of P. M. G. Wannamaker for 1890 shows that for correctness in handling incoming and outgoing mail the Woburn postoffice stands at the head. It is a record that Bro. Reade, Miss Celia, and the other employees of the office have a right to feel proud of.

— Mr. John Maxwell, who founded Pell City in northern Alabama, returned to his home in Winchester last Saturday. There isn't much doubt left that "he struck it rich" down there and is just more than lining his pockets with gold. Well, he's a big-hearted fellow—John Maxwell is.

— The St. Charles Minstreis gave a very fine entertainment at Lyceum Hall last Monday evening. The house was packed with the best kind of an audience who enjoyed the performance in the highest degree. There is no amateur minstrel combination in the country superior to the St. Charles. They gave an excellent entertainment at Arlington lately, and have been invited to go to Malden. Everybody was pleased last Monday night.

— The public bequests in the will of the late D. Gould Converse were: $3000 to the First Baptist Church of Woburn; $500 to the Woburn Home for Aged Women; $500 to the Salem Street Cemetery. Of the private bequests the public know nothing, notwithstanding what has been published respecting them.

— Because Mr. Freeman A. Loring has rented the Maxwell tannery at No. Winchester for two years it does not follow that he will not in the mean time buy or build one here in Woburn. Each kind of business naturally flocks by itself, and this is the place to make leather in, it being the centre of the business in this State.

— Read the notice of the coming exhibition of the Woburn Fanciers Club in this city. It is going to be a good one. Hardly anyone would believe it, but a poultry breeder of Savannah, Georgia, has entered some game birds for the show and will have them on the spot at its opening. For a long range entry that beats them all.

— Uncle Edward Simonds, allow the JOURNAL to congratulate you on your re-election to the office of City Messenger. When you, Uncle Edward, shall cease to be an official at Municipal Building the JOURNAL'S visits thereto will be robbed of more than half of their present enjoyment. Shake, Uncle!

— Mr. John J. Mead, who recently bought the farm, stock, etc., of Mr. William Johnson of Button End over near the Reading line, wants to buy manure and advertises the fact in the JOURNAL. He is going into the farming business for all there is in it, and has the pluck and good sense which will enable him to make a success of it.

— Every house should have at least one good Easy Chair. The most comfortable pattern ever invented is the famous Morris Chair, which adjusts to four different inclinations of the back. Morris Chairs cost usually from $40 to $75 but a new and beautiful pattern is now offered by Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal street, Boston, at the low price of $28.

— The business outlook in Woburn is gloomy enough. More than two-thirds the leather workmen are out of employment, and the number is likely to be added to.—Reading Chronicle. What silly twaddle that is. Woburn was never more prosperous or growing faster than now. It does more business in one day than Reading does in a month.

— The most solid basis any paper can have, is that the people buy it because they want it. Hiring people to buy a paper by "cheap john" inducements is a practical admission on the part of its proprietors that the publication they offer has little merit of its own to stand upon.—Milford Journal.—True as preaching. Real merit always wins in the end.

— We are glad to be informed that Mrs. Dorinda Hadley of this city has been awarded back pay by the government and receives a pension of $12 a month. On the score of inability to make a living Mrs. Hadley is entitled to State aid and ought to have it. She is a sick woman and the pension which she receives is not sufficient to give her a maintenance.

— Regarding the Woburn postoffice it is believed here that Col. Grammer, who was the Republican predecessor to Mr. Reade, the Democratic incumbent, will try to get his old berth again, although at present he does not figure as an applicant for the place.—Boston Herald. Undoubtedly Col. Grammer will be a candidate for his old place, and if so he will be found a very hard man to run against.

— The ladies of the Methodist church advertise to give the first supper in the Society's new church and dining-roooms on next Thursday evening for the purpose of raising funds with which to buy a carpet. The banquet room of the church has been arranged, fitted up and furnished especially for the purpose, and is a fine one. Be sure and patronize this first supper of the ladies.

— Organist Clarke has arranged a fine musical programme for next Sunday's morning services at the First Congregational church in this city, to wit:

Organ Prelude. "Allegretto in A." Gustave Merkel.
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite in G." Richard Farrant.
Choir Anthem. "Show me thy ways, O Lord." Clarke.
Organ Postlude. "Fugue in C. Minor." F. Mendelssohn.

— Post 33, G. A. R., had a royal time at their installation last week Thursday. For real enjoyment the campfire was never excelled. The "boys" seemed to feel as young and sprightly as they did in 1861-2 and along there while at the front defending their country's flag. Comrade John F. Larkin, the new Commander, presided at the feast. A large number of the members of Post 119 of Lexington, were present as guests of 33.

— The Woburn Orchestra furnished some very fine music for the installation ceremonies of the officers of Post No. 161, G. A. R., last Monday evening and the entertainment that followed. It was good, and a fitting accompaniment of the speeches by Mayor Bean, Commander Frank W. Graves, P. C., James I. Pinkham, Edward H. Lounsbury, Esq., Mrs. Flower, Mrs. Dorr, President of Corps 83, and Miss Susan Tebbets. It fitted in well with the supper too.

— The venerable Mr. Stephen Cutter of Winchester renewed his subscription to THE JOURNAL promptly on the advent of 1891, as it has been his custom to do in years gone by. Mr. Cutter's name is on the original list of subscribers to THE JOURNAL, placed there with his own hand in October, 1851, and on the first of January (or very near that date) every year since he has promptly renewed the same and always paid in advance. Mr. Cutter is now 93 years old or over, but he is active, with a clear brain, well preserved faculties, and continues to hold to the very rational opinion (with many hundreds of other good and reputable Winchester and Woburn people) that THE JOURNAL is the best family paper printed in Middlesex county if not in Massachusetts.

— Last week Thursday evening Woburn Lodge, 57, Order of Ægis, held a special meeting and elected the following officers: Past President, Oliver M. Wade; President, Charles H. Stevens; Vice-President, Joseph C. Bishop; Secretary, John M. Wallace; Treasurer, J. Fred Richardson; Chaplain, Zoeth W. Atwood; Marshal George Dargie; Guard, William T. Kendall; Outside Sentinel, William W. Wade; Trustees for one year, Lawrence Reade, William R. Bartlett, William H. Curtis.

— Mayor Bean hadn't much more than uttered the last sentence of his Inaugural Address before the JOURNAL had it on the streets and the news depots corrected, revised, and red hot. The JOURNAL got a big "scoop" on its slow-going neighbors, as it never fails to do when there is anything going on worth reporting. Before 5 p. m. Monday the pedestrian could hear all along our streets: "the JOURNAL gets in ahead every time, don't it? Good for the JOURNAL!" Yea, friends, the JOURNAL always leads, and that is why it has so many good patrons.

— Mr. William E. Blodgett, late City Auditor of Woburn, and a very likely sort of a fellow all the way through, is Secretary of the Gustavino Fire-Proof Construction Company of New York City, and makes his home at the Metropolis. It was to accept that position that he resigned the office of Auditor of this city. Mr. Blodgett is a gentlemen of excellent judgment on literary and journalistic matters, as please note: "Life in N. Y. without the JOURNAL is unbearable, so, if you will kindly send it to me", etc. Only the levelest kind of a level head could write like that.

— On Monday evening Jan. 5, the following officers of Crystal Fount Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F. were installed by District Deputy Grand Master, John E. Brown and suite of Boston: N. G., William D. Wright; V. G., Geo. B. Woodside; Rec. Sec'y, A. L. Perham; Per. Sec'y, Alvah J. Fosier; Treasurer, Orlando Brooks; R. S. N. G., Henry L. Andrews; L. S. N. G., Elmer Soper; R. S. V. G., Benjamin L. Trull; L. S. V. G., John DeLoriea; R. S. S. Winthrop Hammond; L. S. S., G. W. Soles; Chaplain, Herbert S. Dickinson; Warden, Geo. Anderson; Conductor, William A. Poole; I. G. Charles Smith; O. G., Jamsey Bennett.

— By referring to the JOURNAL'S business columns the musical people of this city can learn the particulars of a firstclass hightoned, and every way choice concert which is to be given at Winchester on Monday evening, Jan. 26. The talent are all, except Mr. Robert Whitten, Boston artists and the best to be found in the city. Miss Clark and Miss Woodbury are very fine singers, especially in duets. Mr. Parker, as everybody knows, has no equal in Boston, and the same is true of both Mr. Tucker and Mr. Schuecker, both of whom have played at the celebrated Boston Symphony Concerts, and Mr. Schuecker is the regular harpist for them.

— A lot of the worst kind of profanity was indulged in by the old style Democratic moss-backs in the Mishawum Club last Monday night when the news of the "smashing of the ring" at Municipal Building reached there. They had no doubt but that Moreland and Conway and Curran and the rest of the "ring" would get "laid out colder than a wedge," but oh, my! when the returns began to come in wasn't the swearing just awful, though? An "eye witness" said he used to hear a good deal of pretty tough cursing when he was in the army, but what he heard at the Mishawum Club last Monday night beat it all hollow. Those old fellows felt bad.

— Old Mrs. Skinner, 90 years of age, has done the housework for four in family, besides working over and packing 1400 pounds of butter, since the first day of April last.—Bellows Falls (Vt.) Times, Dec. 18, ult. Mrs. Skinner, mentioned above, lives at Chester, Vt., where she did the above work, and is a sister of Mr. L. W. Perham of this city. She is a wonderfully preserved woman and seems to be good for several more years of active life. Mr. Perham is the youngest of 14 children and is 72 years old. He can "fight, run or rassle" as well now as he could when only 25 years of age. Mr. Perham's name stands in bold letters on the list of original subscribers to THE JOURNAL of date Oct. 18, 1851.

— The American Association for the Study and Cure of Inebriety was established more than 20 years ago in New York City during which period it has done a great deal of good. Dr. Albert Day, Superintendent of the Washingtonian Home in Boston, is Vice-President of the Society, which has decided to hold monthly meetings during the present winter. At the last one, which was held in N. Y. City on last Wednesday, several very eminent physicians read papers of great merit on the subject, and Doctor Ephraim Cutter exhibited and described a series of photo-microscopic slides, with a lantern, illustrating the effect of alcohol on the blood tissue. He has spent much time in studying the effect of alcohol on the human system and his opinions on it are valuable.

— Among the bequests made by Mrs. Abigail Winn, relict of the late Col. Moses F. Winn, whose death occurred at the old home at No. Woburn a week ago or more, were the following: $2,000 to the Home for Aged Women, $1,500 for the North Woburn Chapel Association, $2,000 to Woburn cemetery, $800 of which is to be used for the care of the Winn and Nichols lot; Sallie J., wife of Alden Knight, $100 in trust; Abbie Buckman of Iowa, $1,000; Charles D. Wyman, $100; Franklin Knight, son of Alden, $400; Harry Fuller, for his mother, $100; Surviah B. Thompson and Rosanna B. Eaton, all of her personal effects and $100 each; Mary S. Nichols, $1,000, and if deceased, the money to go to Mary E. Conn, widow of the late George H. Conn; Ellen Warren, $1,000; Rumford Historical Society, $500; Clarissa Pope of Reading, $100; May Nichols, daughter of Charles Nichols, $1,000 Charles Nichols, $1,500; Mrs. Thomas Warland, $100; Ruth Poole, $100, if deceased, then to go to Henry and William Poole.

— Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain received her Sunday School class and numerous invited friends at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain on Eastern Avenue, on New Years night, in fine style. The hostess entertains in a graceful manner and the company of more than 100 young gentlemen and ladies who filled her parlors and reception rooms were delighted with the welcome given them. It was a dress and society affair for the successful carrying out of such Mrs. Chamberlain is not excelled.

— Mayor Johnson and President of the Common Council E. E. Thompson did the handsome thing by the Boards of Aldermen and Common Council about to retire into private life, last Friday evening. The banquet, provided by that prince of caterers, Dill of Boston, was given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, and the tables were handsomely decorated by a profusion of beautiful flowers generously presented by Dea. G. R. Gage, whose enforced absence the banqueters deeply regretted, while the company was a choice one of course. The latter was composed of the following named: Mayor Edward F. Johnson, President of the Council Edward E. Thompson, Aldermen Goddard, Ramsdell, Kenney, Place, Kendall, Linscott, Doherty, Councilmen Beggs, McGowan, Fox, Shaw, Grant, Beggs, Fowle, Thompson, Walsh, Emery. There were also present City Clerk D. F. Moreland and Clerk of Committees Lounsbury. Speeches were made by the Mayor congratulating them upon the harmony which had prevailed. Messrs. Moreland and Lounsbury gave a vocal duet, after which resolutions of thanks were passed for Deacon Gage the Mayor and President Thompson. The party separated after singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The New Government.

At Lyceum Hall, on Monday afternoon, Jan. 5, the new city government of Woburn was duly inaugurated. The retiring government marched over from Municipal Building and took places near the stage of Lyceum Hall. The newly elected Boards were appropriately seated.

Rev. Daniel March, D. D., offered up a prayer.

City Clerk Moreland announced the names of the officers elected, after which the oath of office was administered by Justice P. L. Converse of the Fourth District Court.

Mayor Bean then delivered his inaugural address. [See 1st and 4th pages to this issue of the JOURNAL].

When Mayor Bean had concluded his address which, by the way, appeared to meet with public approval, the new city goverment went direct to the City Hall, where both branches were organized. The Aldermen chose W. Frank Fowle President. Edward Simonds was chosen City Messenger, receiving four votes and Martin Doyle three. Dr. James H. Conway was chosen City Physician, receiving five votes to two for Dr. Blake.

An order was passed making the regular meeting nights on the first and third Thursday of each month.

The Common Council elected B. Frank Waldron of Ward 4 President. Edward H. Lounsbury was chosen Clerk unanimously.

The Aldermen then came in and a joint convention organized with Mayor Bean in the chair.

Vote for City Clerk—Arthur W. Whitcher, 8; David F. Moreland, 10. Mr. Moreland was chosen.

Vote for City Treasurer—Elisha F. Hayward, 4; John C. Buck, 14. Mr. Buck was chosen.

John G. Maguire was chosen Collector of Taxes unanimously.

The convention then dissolved.

The Council received a notice from the Aldermen that that body had chosen Edward Simonds City Messenger and Dr. James H. Conway City Physician. Concurred action was taken.

Two ballots were required for Janitor of City Hall. On the second ballot Mr. Connolly was chosen.

An order was passed, making the regular meetings nights of the Council the first and third Friday of each month. Adjourned to Friday evening next.

Political Science and Soap.

It is often charged that men gain high positions by a liberal use of "soap." If "soap" enough is used a man may make a clean sweep. Of course this is spoken figuratively, yet one can always make a clean sweep if he or she uses Brussels soap, for its mission is to purify and cleanse, and this it does with astounding rapidity and celerity. All who use Brussels soap attest the fact. It's economical.

Meeting of School Board.

Last Monday evening the School Committee of 1891 met at the regular headquarters of the Board and organized by the choice of William F. Kenney, Chairman; Henry E. Smith, Auditor; and Frank B. Richardson, Secretary.

Mrs. Jennie K. Adams, Frank F. Dodge and Supt. Richardson were appointed a committee on appropriations to report to the City Council.

The matter of the confusion caused by the similarity of the "no school" signal of the Woburn and Stoneham gongs was referred to the Superintendent. Mr. W. F. Kenney, the newly elected Chairman of the School Board, has been a member of the committee six years. For the past three years he has been chairman of the Evening School committee. Mr. Kenney is day editor of The Boston Globe.

Dr. Greene's Free Lecture.

The name of Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, has become a familiar one to the sick and well throughout the United States, and many, whose vitality was swiftly and surely leaving them, now testify to the value of Dr. Greene's Nervura and other wonderful remedies. We have the pleasure of announcing that Dr. Greene will give a series of free lectures every evening next week except Saturday in Lyceum Hall. The lectures will be finely illustrated by the stereopticon and always draw crowded audiences. Admission is entirely free.

It is easier to slake the thirst of a bottomless barrel than to get along without Brussels soap.

Woman's Club.

On Friday, Jan 2, Mrs. Erving Winslow read to the Woburn Woman's Club from Ibsen's "Doll's House."

Mrs. Winslow is a woman of fine appearance and pleasing manners, and her cultivated and well modulated voice is well fitted to render the diverse characters of this celebrated play.

Her delineation of the characters of Nora and Christina was especially good, and one was forced to admire in the character of Nora the many strong and lovable points, and to forgive the mistaken acts of this imperfectly educated woman—acts founded on love and a spirit of self sacrifice.

Mrs. Winslow's voice is capable of expressing sorrow and deep feeling, yet can also express flippancy and coquetry. The face, now lit up with joy, now full of mischief, her eyes dancing with fun, or filled with tears, and again shadowed by fear, or saddened by grief, was an interesting study.

The different types of men: the masterful, selfishly weak, and unwisely indulgent husband; the grim, unscrupulous lawyer; the suffering and erring doctor; were as well rendered as were the characters of the women.

The two hours and more spent in listening to the charming reader sped all too quickly, and the tale was too soon told.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Concert Hall on Friday, Jan. 16, 1891. Reception at 6.30. Supper at 7.30. It will be the Annual Social and Supper and there will be a musical and literary entertainment.

Full particulars will be sent to the members as soon as possible.—G. M. B.

If Your House is on Fire

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Religious Announcement.

EDITOR OF JOURNAL:—At the request of many Protestants and Catholics I am going to preach five sermons on the five principal points on which Protestants and Catholics differ. This is to be done in the spirit of Christ without any abuse whatever.

They will be delivered the following Sabbath evenings:

Jan. 11. Purgatory.
Jan. 25. Worship of the Virgin Mary and the Saints.
Feb. 1. Confession and Absolution.
Feb. 8. Transubstantiation.
Feb. 15. The influence of Romanism on Morals.

HUGH MONTGOMERY,
Pastor M. E. Church.

Jan. 7, 1891.

Highly Complimentary.

Mr. William H. Smith, the Real Estate Agent, of 162 Salem street, Woburn, fell on the ice a few weeks ago and very badly sprained his right arm, necessitating his wearing it in a sling several weeks. Mr. Smith has for a number of years held a policy in the "U. S. Mutual Accident Association of New York and Boston" and as soon as his injury would permit he presented his case before Messrs. Bishop & Robinson, General Agents, at the Boston office in the Equitable Building, which promptly met with their attention, and at the expiration of three weeks from the time of the injury Mr. Smith received the tidy sum of seventy-five dollars.

MORAL.—Keep insured. Messrs. Bishop & Robinson, Equitable Building, Boston, are the right one to insure with.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symtoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Statement

Of the condition of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank at the close of business, December 31, 1890:

RESOURCES.

Loans on Real Estate,	$603,165 00
" " Personal Security,	177,255 00
" to Cities and Towns,	22,188 42
Public Funds,	18,500 00
National Bank Stock,	218,210 00
Real Estate,	55,000 00
Real Estate by foreclosure,	700 00
Railroad Bonds,	53,700 00
Loans to Banks,	22,587 10
Safe, Furniture and Fixtures,	4,872 00
Cash on hand,	1,184 53
	$1,197,362 05

LIABILITIES.

Due Depositors,	$1,148,354 98
Guarantee Fund,	19,843 31
Profit and Loss,	29,163 76
	$1,197,362 05

Number of accounts open, 4,726.

A semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent. was declared payable on and after January 17, 1891.

E. E. THOMPSON, Treasurer.

Woburn, Jan. 8, 1891.

A Lecture.

Mrs. Choate's lecture on Christian Science healing Saturday afternoon was a clear and concise statement of the power of mind. In a very simple, easy manner she showed that this is not the "stuff dreams are made of" but a great, helpful reality.

Saturday next she will continue the thought with "Psyco-Physical Culture" as her subject, and we are sure of practical suggestions and explanations.

Surely there is "nothing new under the sun" that does not deserve a candid and patient hearing Let all hear and know. Mrs. Choate is giving a course of 3 P. M. Sunday afternoon lectures in The Woman's Journal parlors No. 3, Park street, Boston, to appreciative audiences. Free to all.—X.

Y. M. C. A.

The Junior Departments of the Massachusettts and Rhode Island Young Men's Christian Associations will hold a Conference at Everett, Mass., the 28th of this month.

Addresses will be made by prominent men. Papers upon several phases of boys work as done in Associations will be given by boys.

This is the first Conference of the kind ever held in the State, and it is expected that it will be an inspiring gathering.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 30 Congress Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

MILLINERY.

All the latest styles in TRIMMED BONNETS and HATS and MILLINERY GOODS.

Mrs. C. PACKARD, 419 Main St., Woburn.

[For the Woburn Journal.]

The Coming Poultry Show.

The Woburn Fanciers Club, composed of gentlemen interested in the breeding of Thoroughbred Fowls, will hold an exhibition at Lyceum Hall on the 21st, 22d and 23d of Jan., 1891, and it promises to be a success so far as numbers and quality of birds entered can contribute to that end. The premiums offered are liberal, and the arrangements for the care and display of the entries are such as to insure to every exhibitor a fair chance among his competitors.

The Society has made a new departure from the old established customs, in that they have included a class of cross-bred, or general utility, fowls. It is well known that many in our community are interested in crossing two families of thoroughbreds, believing they get better results in eggs, poultry, and a hardy race, than by close inbreeding. To all such here is offered an opportunity to show what skilful mating of two pure breeds will produce. This class must not be confounded with an exhibition of Mongrels. In order to be eligible to entry in this class the birds must have been produced by the crossing of two different families of pure breeds: for instance, the Bramah with the Leghorn, the Plymouth Rock with the Game, or any other cross of strictly pure bred varieties, and it must be the first outcross of such unions. It is believed this feature will interest breeders and the public generally.

There will, however, be no lack of interest in the strictly thoroughbreds.

Already entries have been made by many of the largest and most successful breeders of light Bramahs, D. K. Bramahs, Partridge, Cochins, Brown Leghorns, White Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, Wyandottes, Games, Hamburgs, Bantams, Pigeons, &c. to insure one of the finest exhibitions of choice bred birds ever shown in New England.

This being a home Club composed largely of Woburn breeders and fanciers they look to the people of Woburn and vicinity to sustain them in this, their first, venture as exhibitors, believing all will be amply repaid for the time and money expended by the variety and excellence of the attractions offered. This exhibition will not only interest those already engaged in breeding, but the whole community will find it an interesting study. It will be attractive to many children, and parents having boys of the right age cannot do better than to encourage them to keep and care for a flock of chickens or pigeons: it keeps them employed and out of idleness; teaches them habits of industry and application to business; and no one who has facilities for keeping them and manages judiciously but can make it profitable.

It is hoped this first exhibition of the W. F. C. will be so well sustained as to insure its becoming one of the permanent annual shows of Woburn. Other places much smaller have maintained them for years.

Let us see what our young city can do.

A MEMBER OF W. F. C.

To Nervous Debilitated Men.

If you will send your address, we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Appliances, and their charming effects upon the nervous debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor and manhood. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Belt and Appliances on a trial. Pamphlet free.

VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

[For the Woburn Journal].

Abigail Winn.

Died at North Woburn, Dec. 27, Abigail Winn, widow of the late Col. M. F. Winn, aged 82 years. Mrs. Winn was the oldest daughter of the the late Capt. Stephen Nichols and Mrs. Nabby (Tidd) Nichols, and was born Dec. 21, 1808. On her mother's side, she was a great granddaughter of Sheriff Abijah Thompson, and a descendant from James Thompson, one of the first settlers of Woburn in 1642. Her only child dying in early life, she and her devoted husband lived in a little world of their own, till the husband's death in 1875. During the fifteen years succeeding his death, the bereaved and broken hearted widow has lived a life of solitary sorrow in her spacious but deeply overshadowed home. Though once fond of society and often journeying abroad for recreation and pleasure, she has of late rarely left her house even for a call upon her nearest friends. This seclusion doubtless unfavorably affected her health, and the younger portion of the people have not known her as the older class once knew her. But the few remaining friends of former years know that she had many kindly traits of character and often in a noiseless way, has manifested tangible proofs of her thoughtful generosity. What ever may be the destiny of her Will as affected by legal technicalities, it certainly reveals kindly intentions on her part towards objects of which many would not have even thought. Her liberal bequest to the Home for Aged Women is one which bespeaks a thoughtfulness which we may well wish were often imitated. Her kind remembrance of the Rumford Historical Association is thankfully appreciated. Though that Association has had an existence since 1877, and has accomplished much more in its line of work than its original members dared to hope, it has never, during these thirteen years, received a dollar from any bequest. There are some people left who know that Mrs. Winn was not the selfish recluse that, to the stirring throngs of passers-by, she may have seemed. She had a heart beneath her sable attire, and some who knew her in her brighter days, as they have passed and repassed in recent years her silent and darkened home, have felt, if they have not expressed the ejaculation, "God bless the stricken and childless widow within."—LONG AGO.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

It is estimated that from 90,000 to 100,000 deer feed in the forests of Scotland and that 4000 stags are killed annually.

Some soaps are little else than fancy wrappers, others merely a pleasant "smell" and the balance nearly all rosin. Brussels soap is soap only, and the best and most economical at that.

First Church Statistics—1890.

Funerals attended by the Pastor,	37
Marriages attended by the Pastor,	17
Church Members died,	14
Average Age,	69
Received to the Church,	18
Sunday School Officers,	13
Teachers,	58
Scholars,	651
Average Attendance,	440
Parish Expenses,	$4,700

BENEVOLENT CONTRIBUTIONS.

Monthly Concert Collections,	$522 06
Home Missions,	225 23
Foreign Missions,	200 00
Congregational Union,	90 00
Peace Society,	25 75
Maplewood Church,	89 40
Church Assessment,	179 50
Church Poor,	51 17
Scandinavian Church,	1,091 00
Christian Association,	780 00
Methodist Church,	270 00
By Charitable Society,	211 06
By Social Benevolent Society,	205 03
By Sunday School,	821 76
By Ladies Missionary Society,	100 00
By Christian Endeavor,	124 66
By Mission Club,	57 00
Total contributions,	$5,043 62

The above facts were communicated to the congregation by Dr. March, the pastor, at the close of the religious services on last Sunday morning. The total of benevolent contributions shows that the church was very liberal with their money last year.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by Rev. Cyrus Richardson, D. D., of Nashua. Young peoples meeting at 6 p. m. At 7 p. m. Dr. Richardson will preach. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evenings.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by Pastor. Subject; "Heaven." Matt. viii, 11, 12; at 6 p. m. Epworth League meeting. At 7 p. m. preaching by Pastor. Subject: by request, "Purgatory." Matt. v, 26. Wednesday evening prayer meeting. Friday evening Class meeting.

[illegible] Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Card of Thanks.

Highland Hose Co., of this city, return their sincere thanks to their many friends for their generous support in the Globe voting contest, the vote they received placing them among the souvenir winners. Rest assured your efforts in our behalf were fully appreciated.

Per order of Co.,
H. L. ANDREWS, Clerk.

You are aware of course that catarrh will become chronic unless checked at once by Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. Only 25 cents.

"If a numerous household is the safety of

Remnants. Remnants. Remnants.

Our Annual Sale of Remnants and Shop-worn Goods, remnants of Dress Goods, Cloakings, Linings, Flannels, Cotton Cloths, Table Linens, Towelings, Ginghams, Calico, etc.

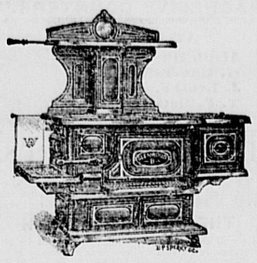
Shop-worn Blankets, Comforters, Underwear, Men's Laundered Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Neckwear.

Ladies' and Misses' Garments at one-half their former price.

Felt Goods such as Table Covers, Tidies, Scarfs, etc., all at greatly reduced prices.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

[Written for the Woburn Journal.]

Woburn Public Library.

The following are the statistics for the year ending Dec. 31, 1890. Whole numbers of books in Library, 27,706; of these 775 have been added during the last year. Number of books given out for home use, 60,958; largest number given out in any one day, 585; smallest number 18, on Tuesday, Aug. 12, Grand Army week in Boston. Of the large numbers of books circulated 51,107 are from the classes of fiction and juveniles. This may seem a very large proportion but when we take into account the great number of children who come daily to the Library, it will not perhaps seem so strange, for the food of a child's mind must be fiction as well as fact and with the number of healthy juvenile books flooding the market our American boys and girls should stand fully equipped for the intellectual battles of life. But when supplied with too lavish a hand a child is tempted to read too much and the mind becomes shrunken from a lack of a vigorous stimulant to excite and expand it. Children should be freely advised against hasty, excessive reading for one book thoroughly digested is better than twenty hurried through and then as quickly forgotten. Our minds grow by what they feed upon; the more stimulating and the more elevating material we supply them with the stronger they will become and as the development arrived at through this means of education will sooner or later impress its stamp upon the thought, energy, and action of the coming generations so it becomes the guardians of the young to give all possible help and attention to those under their care.

Just now the "Journal of Sir Walter Scott" is creating much interest. It is edited by his great granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Maxwell Scott. Miss Mary Scott married the Hon. Joseph Maxwell and by a special act was allowed to take his wife's name and thus the family of Scott was saved from extinction. Sir Walter began this journal in 1825. The volume was provided with a lock and Sir Walter continued the practice of writing almost without intermission until 1832 a few months before his death. His first appearance as a writer without a name made a new epoch in the literature of fiction and before his light all others paled. The impulse which Scott's works gave to literature, and the interest they awakened, excited all thinking minds to new energy and prose fiction became so abundant that it is difficult even to take a brief few of the distinguished novelists in England and France who were his contemporaries or successors. A clear knowledge of the great writer is gained from his Journal and no one who reads it will fail to appreciate his great fund of information. He was the brightest and most pleasant of companions; "The wealthy courted him and the poor blessed him."

Mr. Froude portrays for us in his Life of Lord Beaconsfield the several stages of his career when as a writer in his early life the literary world acknowledged that a new star had appeared, and he became a London lion. As a Member of Parliament he met Peel and Canning in debate and then after a few years of changing scenes the author of Vivian, Tancred and Lothair became Prime Minister to the Queen. The author says Disraeli achieved no marked success for his country. He won his way by parliamentary ability and by a determined resolution to succeed. His chief motive was ambition. He started as a soldier of fortune and he won all that his ambition deemed was worth the winning. His vanity was satisfied with garters and peerages. He was English only by adoption, and he never completely identified himself with the Country which he ruled.

"Richard Henry Dana," a biography by Charles Francis Adams. Mr. Dana is well known to our readers as the author of "Two Years before the Mast," a member of the Boston bar, a prominent political leader and intimately acquainted with distinguished men of his time in this country and Europe. The work, in two volumes, gives views of many illustrious persons and sketches of many important events.

"Higher Education of Women in Europe" by Helen Lange is one of a series of educational works. This somewhat special work is printed because of its interest to English-speaking nations which have advanced beyond the first steps and engaged actively in establishing institutions of various characters for the higher education of women. In this matter of female education the Editor says we may behold reflected as in a mirror the entire movement in all countries and see all of its stages from the imitation on to the most advanced line of progress.

"The History of Greek Literature" by Thomas Sargeant Perry is a large and richly illustrated volume, which gives an admirable abstract of this important subject, and the reader can find no other volume in the language which gives so good a view of Grecian learning. A hundred pages are given to Homer, a hundred to Æschylus and Sophocles, and nearly a hundred to Herodotus, Socrates, Plato and Aristotle. The book is not so much adapted to classical students as to the general reader or one who has no definite knowledge of the subject.—E. F. H.

It's economical—Brussels soap.

WE WISH YOU

A Happy New Year!

Your presence is respectfully requested to inspect the beautiful assortment which we have just opened of the

Celebrated W Lock Stitch

brand of Muslin Underwear for Ladies.

We wish to call your personal attention to the fact that this brand is the only one that guarantees all garments to be made entirely on Lock Stitch Machines, and with the best 6 cord thread upper and under, everything full size in length and width, made of good Muslin and Cambric, and are in every respect the best that is made.

Do not fail to examine this line of Goods before you make your purchases.

Very respectfully,

C. Willard Smith

WOBURN, MASS.

An Interesting Will Case.

On the first of last November Mrs. Celende T. Dow, of Woburn, widow of Stephen Dow, and daughter of the late Abijah Thompson, died, leaving a will which bequeathed the bulk of her estate to two of her sons and cut off the rest of her children and grandchildren with amounts ranging from $50 to $1,000. Two codicils to the will on account of an increase in her property increased the latter bequests, but did not materially alter the body of the will. The case was brought up in the Probate Court, Judge Brooks presiding, Tuesday morning, and undue influence was alleged as the cause for the hearing. Because of the absence of some important witnesses the case was postponed until January 12. Aside from the large amount of property involved in the case, a great deal of interest is taken in it because of the array of legal talent employed, Messrs. Strout, Coolidge and John Warren Johnson representing the children of the late Stephen Henry Dow, son of the testatrix, and Emma T. Dow, their guardian, Alfred A. Dow and Edward A. Dow. The executors are represented by Ex-Governor John D. Long and Alfred Hemenway; Charles D. Adams representing Mrs. Ellen T. Ellis, and Messrs. Marshall, Hamblet and Burke the five Pickering children, grandchildren of the testatrix.—Cambridge Chronicle.

M. T. Allen, Esq., of this city is also of counsel for the executors although for some technical reasons his name does not appear on the Court docket. The hearing on the case is to be resumed on next Monday at East Cambridge.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searles, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Charles H. Buss's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

A Leaf from the Past.

The subject of the following correspondence was a leaf from the book of accounts kept by the Treasurer of the Woburn Young Men's Christian Association in 1869—22 years ago. Mr. W. H. Holmes General Secretary of the Topeka, Kansas, Y. M. C. A. The correspondence explains itself, while the leaf will be kept by the Woburn Y. M. C. A. as a memento of other days:

TOPEKA, Dec. 17, '90.

MR. HOMES:—This is a leaf from the Treasurer's book of the Woburn, Mass., Y. M. C. A. of 30 years ago. I was Treasurer of the Association at the time, but we failed to keep the Association alive.

Yours,

(signed) JAS. F. GRIFFIN.

TOPEKA, KANS., Dec. 17th, 1890.

J. P. BAILEY, Gen'l. Sec'y. Y. M. C. A. Woburn, Mass.

DEAR SIR:—Our Treasurer, Mr. James F. Griffin, was in the office this morning and showed me the enclosed leaf as a curiosity.

I prevailed on him to let me have it. Thought you might like to see it yourself. It is yours Enc.

Yours truly,

(signed) W. H. HOLMES.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. H. L. Flanders & Co., Druggists.

A New Piano Within the Reach of All.

Reference to the announcement in another column of IVERS & POND will be of interest to all who desire what is almost as indispensable as a sewing machine, a good piano; as the terms on which they supply one of their noted instruments, are such that all can be accommodated.

While excavating for the foundation of a new opera house in Atlanta, Ga., last week, workmen found a live snake "six feet below the surface." It was an ugly, poisonous moccasin, nearly five feet long, and fought hard until killed.

Three German steamers costing in all about $125,000 are to be placed on the African lakes. Germany is determined to push her trade on the Dark Continent.

"In my practice among children, I have had more and better success with Mellin's Food than with any and all others," is the testimony of a prominent physician.

North Woburn.

A sociable will take place at the Congregational church tonight.

Mrs. L. K. Tidd and her son, Mr. A. W. Tidd, have been visiting friends in Malden.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 31, friends of Miss Bertha Richardson gave her a very pleasant surprise party at her home.

The will of Mrs. Abigail Winn gives general satisfaction throughout the village, where her kind deeds will never be forgotten.

The annual meeting and the monthly sociable of the Unitarian Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Linscott on last Wednesday evening.

The Whist Clubs had a jollification at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bond on Saturday evening, Jan. 3, which was the tenth anniversary of their wedding. An elaborate supper was served and music both instrumental and vocal helped to enliven the occasion, nor did the guests forget to bring a good supply of tin ware even to tin horns.

On New Years Eve Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bond entertained the two Whist Clubs of this village. Mrs. Bond served a very fine collation which was given a most hearty reception by the players. The evening was made exceedingly pleasant by the genial host and hostess who put so much life and jollity into the occasion that the old year was played out and the new year in before the party broke up.

Rheumatism.

Our daughter had the rheumatism so severe that she was helpless for months. We were induced through our uncle, James McFarland, of this place, to give Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y., a trial. In a short time she began to improve, slept well, and soon recovered from all effects of the dread disease.—L. M. Sanford, No. 315 Fifth street, Des Moines, Iowa.

Burlington.

The name of Ruth Wilson is an honored and familiar name in Burlington. Many of our people remember her and those who do not are accustomed to hear our citizens frequently speak of her generosity to the town and the church. Born in Burlington in 1782, she led a quiet and unassuming life and probably no one ever thought of her as a woman who was to be a public benefactor. In her youth, like many country girls of that day, she went to the city and spent some years in domestic service and working in a factory. Her earning were carefully saved and invested for her by her employer and formed the basis of a snug little fortune.

After several years she went back to Burlington and lived in the home of her father, leading a retired life, yet contented and happy in her sphere of duty, enjoying the love and respect of her friends and neighbors in her native town. Just before her death, which occurred when she was eighty-nine years old, she sent for one of her valued friends and unfolded to him her plans for the public good. After leaving her real estate and some other property to her relatives she gave to the town a fund to keep in good condition the burying ground of our forefathers, and to the church a fund for the support of preaching. The original sum invested she returned to the heirs of her employer by whom it was sent to the "Girls' Home" at Constantinople. During the past week a tablet to her memory has been placed in the meeting-house. It bears the following inscription:

This tablet is placed here in memory of
RUTH WILSON,
A native of Burlington,
Who, at the close of her long life, gave to the Church, from the earnings of her youth, a fund for the support of the Gospel.
1782—1871.
"Let her own works praise her in the gates."—Prov. 31:31.

The tablet is made of pure white marble and was procured from Everson & Co., Rutland, Vt., through their popular agent, Mr. J. M. Portal.

Let us be thankful that any poor sufferer can buy with 25 cents a bottle of Salvation Oil.

Vennor's predictions, though in the main pretty accurate, are not infallible. But Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup was never known to fail to cure a cough.

WINCHESTER.

The grand concert to be given here by eminent Boston talent on Jan. 26, will draw a big house.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Antonio Lollands, who died at Kingston, Ont., on Thursday, aged 103, danced briskly to music a few days before.

Catarrh indicates impure blood, and to cure it, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood. Sold by all druggists.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

IS OUR SPECIALTY.

We make it a point to suit all who call on us for Parlor, Boudoir and Sitting-room Goods or Chamber Sets, and Tapestries.

We have many unique single articles, which cannot be duplicated elsewhere—Lounges, Ottomans, Desks, Luxurious Chairs, What-Nots, and Hall Furniture.

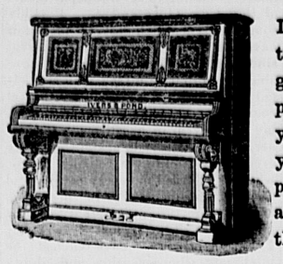
Our establishment is in the direct way of all who arrive at the Haymarket Square Station of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Keeler & Co.

81 to 91 Washington Street, BOSTON.

One Price and Plain Figures.

DO YOU WANT A NEW PIANO?



Don't say you cannot afford to get one till you have given us a trial. Ask by postal card and we will send you free, a Catalogue, tell you our prices, explain our plan of EASY PAYMENTS, and generally post you on the Piano question.

You may save $50. by writing us a postal card.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO.

183 Tremont St., Boston.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

HALF A THOUSAND.

Few people realize that 500 Men are on the pay roll of the

BOSTON HERALD,

Employed in getting out the enormous

DAILY & SUNDAY

Editions. It costs something to be the leading newspaper in New England.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

The First Annual

EXHIBITION!

— OF THE —

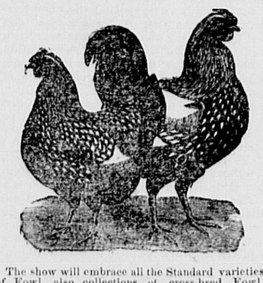
Woburn Fanciers' Club,

WILL BE HELD IN

Lyceum Hall, Woburn,

— ON —

Jan. 21, 22 & 23, 1891



The show will embrace all the Standard varieties of Fowl, also collections of cross-bred Fowl, Pigeons, Rabbits, and Household Pets.

An Incubator will be on exhibition, with the hatch coming out during the days of the show.

Artificial Brooders will also be exhibited, caring for the newly hatched chicks.

The Judges are the best that can be procured, and the interest already manifested by the fraternity throughout New England, warrant a successful show.

Now, fanciers of Woburn and vicinity, bring out your birds and let us see what we have about home.

Premium lists, rules and all other needed information, can be had by applying to

M. W. TRUE, Secretary,
Woburn, Mass.

METHODIST

Opening Supper

— ON —

Thursday, Jan. 15,

From 6 to 8.

Price of Supper, 25 cts.
Cildren, 12 and under, 15 "

Manure Wanted.

In large or small lots, or stables by the year.

Address JOHN J. MEAD,
Woburn, Mass.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Central House, Woburn, Mass.

SIDE ENTRANCE.

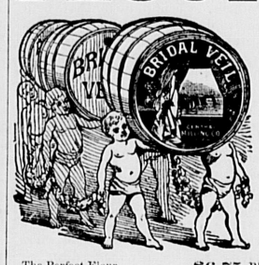
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

Another Reduction

IN THE PRICE OF

FLOUR



The Perfect Flour,	$6.75 Bbl.
Corrugated Flour,	6.50 "
Pillsbury's Best Flour,	6.50 "

All other Brands equally low. A discount of 25c. per bbl. made on Flour taken at the store.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Concert!

BY THE LADIES OF THE

SAINT CECILIAS

CONSISTING OF

Mrs. Phinney,
Mrs. Partridge,
Miss Davis,
Miss Ramsdell,
Miss Bancroft,

— IN THE —

Unitarian Church,

— ON —

Tuesday Evening, Jan. 13, '91,

Quarter after eight o'clock.

Tickets, 35 Cents.

Three for One Dollar.

For sale at the Drug Stores of Messrs. Buss and Leeds.

CONCERT.

A Concert will be given in the Town Hall, Winchester,

— ON —

Monday Evening, Jan. 26, 1891.

ARTISTS:

Miss Hattie W. Clark, Soprano,
Miss Helen Louise Woodbury, Contralto,
Mr. Geo. J. Parker, Tenor,
Mr. Robt. C. Whitten, Baritone,
Mr. H. G. Tucker, Pianist,
Mr. Heinrich Schuecker, Harpist.

Tickets, 50 and 75 Cents.

At Brown's Drug Store.

Universalist Meeting

REV. W. A. START,

Secretary of the Massachusetts Universalist Convention, will open services for the Universalists of Woburn,

— IN —

Concert Hall, January 11,

At 2.30 P. M.

PER ORDER.

Christian Science

LECTURES!

Healing without medicine by

Dr. Clara E. Choate of Boston,

At Y. M. C. A. Parlor, Saturdays, Jan. 3 and 10, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

All cordially invited.

Miss M. C. Messer, Graduate of "The Metaphysical College," will receive patients at 12 Franklin street, every day, except Tuesdays and Fridays.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Rooms To Let.

Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let. Enquire at

JOURNAL OFFICE.

THE BEST PLAN OF

Life Insurance

Is that which fixes a definite value on the Policy each year during its existence; always securing to the holder, a sum greater than the gross premiums paid, in Paid Up Insurance, or its Equivalent in Cash on demand on any anniversary.

Paid-up and Cash Values in the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. on a Policy of 1,000.00 Endowment for 25 years. Age 25. Annual Premium, $33.85.

YEARS PAID.	CASH VALUE.	PAID-UP VALUE.
2	$39.21	$86.51
3	63.70	136.38
4	89.27	185.38
5	115.93	233.42
6	143.76	280.56
7	172.82	326.77
8	203.15	372.04
9	234.82	416.34
10	267.92	459.74
15	457.47	662.63
20	696.10	842.46
25	1000.00	1000.00

An Endowment Policy in this Company, issued under the new perfected non-forfeiture law of Massachusetts, provides for three most important things.

1st. It is a security to the beneficiaries in case of the early death of the assured.

2d. It makes a certain provision for the wants of one's older years.

3d. It provides a sum of money continually increasing in amount, that the policy-holder may at any time receive, should he be overtaken by misfortune and lose his property.

No business man can afford to do without the advantage that such a policy may be to himself if unfortunate in business; to his family in case of his early decease or as an endowment to himself at a time in life when, if he has no property, he will be poor indeed.

All classes Policies for any amount issued on this principle.

For further information call on

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of David G. Converse, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate by Oliver P. Bryant of said Woburn, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLETEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Ella G. Richardson, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Theodore M. Parker, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, no executor being named in said will;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

First National Bank OF WOBURN.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Banking Rooms, on Tuesday, January 13, 1891, at seven o'clock, P. M.

G. A. DAY, Cashier.

Woburn, Dec. 12, 1890.

1,000 LBS.

Nearly one-half a ton of excellent

NOTE PAPER

At 15 cents a pound of 120 sheets, and BEAUTIFUL BOX PAPER for 10 cents to 37 cents, at

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Examine our Elysian and Wilton Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

Now is the time to buy the following articles at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Drummer's samples in Bed Spreads at 60 cents on the dollar.

Extra fine Berkeley Cambric, 14c worth 20c.

Short lengths in Pepperell Twill Cotton 9c.

Fast Black Wool, fleece lined and cotton Hose for Ladies and Children, warranted goods, very cheap.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 351 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

WANTED

An American Boy of about 15 years as errand boy and to learn the retail trade in Woburn. Salary $125 the first year. Apply in own hand writing to Box 1962, Woburn.

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

592 WASHINGTON ST. 592

BOSTON.

Business and Shorthand Depts.

Students can enter daily and will receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

To a young person entering the business world a Business Education is worth more than a

CASH CAPITAL OF $10,000.

Students Assisted to Positions.

ALL OF OUR last year's graduates are in good situations. Interesting circulars free.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D., Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St. cor. Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

IDOLATRY IN ISRAEL.

LESSON II, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JAN. 11.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xii, 25-33. Commit Verses, 28-30—Golden Text, Ex. xx, 4—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

25. "Then Jeroboam built Shechem in Mount Ephraim and dwelt therein."

Rehoboam having been warned by Shemiah, the man of God, not to go against the revolting tribes to subdue them, returned home with his army and contented himself to be king of Judah only, according to the word of the Lord (vs. 22-24). Thus the twelve tribes became two nations, not to be united again till the coming of the son of David in power and glory (Ezek. xxxvii, 21-28). Shechem became for a time the capital of the kingdom of the ten tribes.

"And went out from thence and built Penuel."

Here the angel of the Lord wrestled with Jacob and changed his name to Israel. Jacob called the name of the place Penuel (the Face of God), for, said he, I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved (Gen. xxxii, 28, 30). Jeroboam's building these places may be explained by the fact that in the days of the Judges they had been destroyed (Judg. viii, 17; ix, 45).

26. "And Jeroboam said in his heart, Now shall the kingdom return to the house of David."

He evidently did not know in his heart anything of the meaning of either Shechem (shoulder) or Penuel (the face of God). His heart had not received the precious promise of Deut. xxxiii, 12, nor did he know Him of whom it is written "the government shall be upon His shoulder."

27. "If this people go up to do sacrifice in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people turn again unto their Lord, unto Rehoboam, king of Judah, etc."

There is no gratitude to God in this, nor any confidence in Him, but there is a thought of direct disobedience; for Jeroboam knew that God had commanded that sacrifice should be offered only in the city and at the place which he had chosen (Deut, xii, 5, 14).

28. "Whereupon the king took counsel and made two calves of gold."

It was not the counsel of God, it must have been the counsel of the ungodly. He must have known the story of the golden calf in the wilderness and of the thousands who fell because of that sin; but if any one had reminded him of that, and had suggested that his present course was a dangerous one, he might have replied: "Oh, that was 500 years ago, and we do not know whether there was any truth in it or not; that is an old story and perhaps only a tradition. Then look at those idol groves and high places on Olivet which the great Solomon built for his wives, and where they worshiped also (I Kings xi, 5-8), and yet he prospered and died peacefully."

"It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem; behold thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt."

He talked like the devil in the garden of Eden when he suggested to Eve that God demanded too much when he told them not to eat of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, or when he suggested to Achan that it was too much self denial not to take that garment and that gold, or when he suggested to Jesus through Simon that it was too much to think of dying at Jerusalem.

29. "And he set the one in Bethel, and the other put he in Dan."

What a desecrator of holy places! Bethel (house of God), where God gave to Jacob such a glorious vision of heavenly things and such promises for the future (Gen. xxviii, 11-19); where God set up a ladder that reached to heaven and Jacob dedicated a pillar to God, here this rebel sets up an idol and establishes idolatry.

30. "And this thing became a sin."

Not only a sin against God, but a sin against himself and all his house to cut it off, and to destroy it from off the face of the earth (xiii, 34). He that sinneth against God wrongeth his own soul, and all they that hate Him love death (Prov. viii, 36). Moses, when speaking to Israel of the calf which Aaron made, said, "I took your sin, the calf which ye had made, and burnt it with fire (Deut. ix, 21).

"The people went to worship before the one, even unto Dan."

It would be such worship as Cain offered, the worship of disobedience, and therefore hateful to God. They were breaking the first and second commandments of the law, besides all the other commands which God had given concerning the only place of worship. There is no particular place now where we are to worship God, but as Jesus taught the woman of Samaria, God seeketh true worshipers who will worship Him in spirit and in truth.

31. "And he made an house of high places, and made priests of the lowest of the people which were not of the sons of Levi."

Notwithstanding the command, "Thou shalt give the Levites unto Aaron, and to his sons, * * * and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death" (Num. iii, 9, 10), this man takes any one and sets him apart as a priest. It is not enough to despise the only true God, the God of Israel, and the Holy City, and the Temple, the only appointed place of sacrifice, but he also despises God's chosen priesthood and sets up one of his own. We do not need to seek far, even in our own day, for a man made priesthood, many of whom, to judge by their conduct, are among the lowest of the people, and if they do not worship golden calves they certainly do worship golden eagles. Nor need we step outside the Protestant church, nor even enter the Episcopal church, to find them, for they may be found in all.

32. "And Jeroboam ordained a feast * * * like unto the feast that is in Judah, and he offered upon the altar.

Moses did not ordain feasts; everything connected with the tabernacle and temple, and worship and feasts was appointed by God; but this man takes the place of God and imitates God. He reminds us of one described in II Thess. ii, 4, "who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped; so that he, as God, sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God." God had appointed that on the seventh month and tenth day of the month Israel should fast, and afflict their souls, and by appropriate sacrifices such as He ordained keep the great day of atonement, the high priest on only that one day in all the year going into the holy of holies to sprinkle the blood upon the mercy seat. Then on the fifteenth day they were to keep the feast of tabernacles. But this man knows better than God; he has no day for atonement, but on the fifteenth day of the eighth month he will have a feast and sacrifices.

"Sacrificing unto the calves that he had made, and he placed in Bethel the priests of the high places which he had made."

God was the architect of tabernacle and temple, but these places of worship were made by this man, to whom God had been so kind, and who was now so vigorously setting himself and his people against God.

The World's Fair.

The excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equaled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr. Miles—the Restorative Nervine. It speedily cures nervous prostration, change of life, pain, dullness and confusion in head, fits sleeplessness, the blues, neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. C. W. Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbot & Moss, of Greensburg, Ind., and A. Blackburn of Wooster, O., say that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold, and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and trial bottle free at Charles H. Buss's drug store.

The spire of a church at Middletown, Pa., that was bent by a storm in 1826 was straightened out by the recent gale.

The Captain

Of the good ship Storm King says: For the past five years I have used Sulphur Bitters on board my vessel, and have not lost a man. They are a sure preventive of all contagious fevers so incident to warm climates. Please send me at once two dozen bottles, and oblidge J. STARRET.

Concluded from first page.

I renew the recommendation made by the Mayor last year, that the City Council consider the advisablity of asking for an amendment to the Charter of the City providing for the appointment of a Board of three Sewerage Commissioners, who shall have ample powers to deal with all matters relating to the subject.

WATER WORKS.

A new conduit from the pumping station to the reservoir which has for some time been advocated by the officers of the department has been put in during the latter part of the past year, and water has been pumped into the reservoir through it for about three weeks. The estimated expense of the improvement was $6,000, and a loan for that sum was effected. The expenses have however, not reached that limit and a balance of about $800 remains unexpended. The new system is working to the perfect satisfaction of the officials. There has not yet been an opportunity to observe what effect the change will have on the quality of the water, particularly with reference to the growth of algæ in the reservoir. Another summer will demonstrate whether this difficulty has been obviated. It is apparent now that the water is clearer than before. Water has hitherto been pumped directly into the mains or into the reservoir through the same main in which, when the pumps were not working it flowed to the city. By this method little opportunity was furnished for circulation in the reservoir and the water remained comparatively stagnant in upper or westerly end. The outlet of the new supply pipe is near this upper end through a standpipe at about high water mark. The water in the reservoir is therefore constantly in circulation.

It will not be necessary to pump directly into the street mains hereafter except when the reservoir is undergoing repairs, and as the pumps are working under a uniform pressure they run much smoother than before and work to their full stroke with safety. There is no longer danger of strain and sudden shock upon the pumps and water pipes which was liable to occur at any time under the old system. The main through which the pumping is done and that supplying the city are distinct and any break or sudden escape of water through a hydrant will have no effect in the pumping station. The water mains are relieved of the constant hammering to which they have been subjected and fewer breaks in them may now be anticipated. These advantages are very important and unquestionable and alone justify I think, the work which has been done. I recommend to you and to the citizens generally an inspection of the plans of this improvement as well as the Pumping Station and reservoir.

The Commissioners believe that a lot of land should be purchased near the centre of the city to which the buildings now on Cove street could be removed and such additions made as to afford accommodations for manufacturing water pipe, storage of tools and service construction material and stabling for the horses owned by the department.

There is much to be said in favor of this project, and I recommend the consideration of the subject by you when the Commissioners are ready to present to you the reasons for the improvement and any estimate of the expense.

It give me pleasure to express the favorable opinion which I have formed of the exceptionally judicious and careful manner in which the Water Department is conducted. Its officers appear deeply interested in their work, and take a justifiable pride in the system and its development under their competent direction.

HIGHWAYS.

The public streets are peculiarly open to observation and comment. Defects in them are quickly discovered and promptly commented on. Poor schools or an inefficient fire department are not so soon discovered nor so generally appreciated to be such. I am satisfied as the result of my own observation and inquiry that complaint is made in all cities concerning the streets. Woburn is not an exception in this regard. It would be surprising if complaint were not common in this city, since the amount of money which is possible to set apart for repairs of highways is altogether disproportionate and inadequate to our needs. The streets are not by any means what the citizens would like them to be. I believe they are substantially as good as we can afford to make them.

The appropriation for highways in 1890 was $15,000 and there was an unexpended balance of $646.73. The expenses of the department for the year fall within this aggregate amount. $1000 has been expended for land and in connection with the stone-crusher. I believe that the balance, about $14,000, has been judiciously expended under the direction of the Superintendent of streets. It is impossible with such an appropriation to answer all demands for repairs and to make the streets compare favorably with those of other cities where thousands are spent to our hundreds. Little can be done in the construction of sidewalks or in macadamizing and paving. Our citizens must bear this in mind when passing judgment on our streets.

If you make the same appropriation in this department in the coming year which was made in 1890 it is believed that a more manifest improvement in the streets will be the result as the entire fund can this year be expended directly on the streets. If it is found practicable I shall be glad to see the appropriation increased to a moderate extent and a part of the increase expended in improving the sidewalks. In this regard Woburn should make a decided advance as rapidly as possible. Public sentiment in favor of better sidewalks ought to be stronger than it is. The city now puts in edgestones and lays concrete where abutters are willing to pay one-half the expense. It would add materially to the attractiveness of the city if this were more extensively done, though the city could not respond to a general demand for the work. But there is a lack of uniformity in width and grade of sidewalks, and as far as possible I recommend the establishment of grades and the construction of sidewalks. Regular though slow progress in this work will in a few years lead to marked improvement.

A permanent loan would have to be made if the streets are to be generally graded and paved or macadamized and sidewalks and cross walks built. This course is sometimes advocated but I doubt if the citizens would generally approve the plain or willingly acquiesce in the establishment of a system of street improvements which called upon real estate owners in general to share in the expense of sidewalk construction as is the custom in other cities.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The appropriation for the Fire Department in 1890 was $10,000. The expenses have been kept within the total of this amount and $1346.93, the unexpended balance of 1889. There will be no unusual demand from the department for funds in the coming year and the same appropriation with the unexpended balance and receipts will probably be sufficient for its needs.

The basis of organization of the department remains the same as a year ago.

Two tests, one of which was made without the slightest knowledge on the part of any member of the department that it was to occur have recently demonstrated that the several companies respond with promptness and speed to calls as well as that, while there is a natural rivalry among them, yet all are united and interested in the important work which they must stand ready to perform. Woburn has been fortunate for many years in escaping disastrous conflagrations. Many incipient fires which unchecked would have brought disaster, have been extinguished by the department. The experience of other communities like ours plainly shows, however, that the Fire Department must be kept momentarily ready for a serious emergency. The citizens take pride in an efficient fire force and proper apparatus. The Woburn Department has not had a severe test of its ability to subdue and control a fire, but I am confident that it will give excellent account of itself when the occasion arises.

POLICE.

The Police Force consists at present of a Chief, seven regular officers and six special officers, the latter of whom are paid by the hour when on duty. I have had no opportunity to familiarize myself with the operation of this department or to become acquainted with the men. It is possible that my observations hereafter lead me to recommend some changes. Those who are to patrol our streets as the guardians of persons and property, to prevent or quell disturbances and to enforce the liquor laws, should be men of courage, discretion and integrity. They should be men who will not be deterred by threats or influenced by bribes to neglect their duty, who by their deportment cultivate a wholesome respect for law, who are well disciplined and promptly obedient to the orders of their superiors. There is every incentive for an officer to properly conduct himself and to contribute by his own law-abiding and decorous behavior to the maintenance of law. For under our charter as well as the Laws of the Commonwealth the members of the Police Force hold their positions "during good behavior and until removed by the Mayor with the concurrence of the Board of Aldermen, after hearing for cause in their opinion sufficient." I apprehend that an officer may often find himself in trying and difficult situations and for that reason as well as others he should be a man of good judgment, determination and force of character.

An officer of the force who does his duty manfully should be upheld and all the officers should understand that they are not to protect or favor anyone or wink at the violation of laws anywhere. This is and will be my attitude toward the police. If I have reason to believe an officer is guilty of conduct requiring investigation or calling for discipline or removal, I shall take action without delay. If occasion arises to appoint new members to the force the appointments will be made after careful investigation as to the fitness of the candidate for the position.

The citizens of Woburn by a decided majority voted at the last election in favor of licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors for the year beginning May 1, 1891. The Aldermen will be called upon to grant thirteen licenses before that date. I hope this difficult duty will be discharged judiciously. The licensees well know that the conditions under which they are allowed to engage in the liquor traffic are distinct and stringent and must be given to understand that the known violation of these conditions will bring about a revocation of the license. The police force has an important work to perform in connection with the restraint of liquor selling within lawful bounds. They will be directed to impartially enforce the law both in stopping as far as possible unlicensed sales and in holding those who are licensed in all cases to the terms under which they are granted the right to sell.

PUBLIC PARK.

The land which has been purchased for a Public Park is considered to be well situated and well adapted for the intended purpose. The citizens of Woburn by a large majority accepted the Provisions of the Park Act and the Board of Park Commissioners appointed in consequence of the public expression of opinion recommended the lot which has been purchased. Woburn's limited financial ability will prevent any rapid development of the Park. I should favor the appropriation of a limited amount if the Commissioners ask for it, to be expended in beginning the work of improvement.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Public Library which is the pride of the citizens of Woburn and the object of admiration by our visitors makes but slight demand for public support. It gives much and demands but little. I only refer to the subject for the purpose of expressing the hope that the eminently high character which the Board of Trustees now sustain in in its membership may be continued by the selections which shall be made in this and succeeding years. It is gratifying to know that the Library is coming to be more extensively consulted and employed for purposes of study and and research, and that a more intelligent use of its contents is apparent from year to year.

ARMORY.

An agreement binding on the city has been entered into for the purchase of a lot of land from the Winn estate in the rear of the High Schoolhouse on which to erect an Armory. The Committee who negotiated the purchase were led to make this selection, aside from the availability of the site, in order that a proper place for drilling by the High School Battalion might be provided near the schoolhouse, thus supplying better accommodation and at the same time removing the exercise from the High School Hall. It is expected that before long the City will be called upon to borrow enough money to pay for the land and the Armory to be erected on it. No plans for the Armory have as yet been prepared and its cost is not estimated. The City is by law required to furnish the militia suitable accommodations. The building now occupied is not large enough for the Company and it is needed for other purposes to which its adapted. I therefore recommend action by you which shall provide for the erection of the new Armory. When this is completed and occupied it will be probable and apparently advisable to transfer the Middlesex Fourth District Court and the Police Headquarters to the present Armory, thus relieving City Hall and making room for some departments and officials not suitably accommodated.

ALMSHOUSE AND OUTSIDE RELIEF.

The number of inmates of the Almshouse is not as large at present as it generally is at this season of the year. The management of the institution deserves the warmest praise. The unfortunates within its walls are provided with all that is necessary to make them comfortably. The buildings and premises are kept scrupulously clean under the direction of the Superintendent and Matron who are most worthy and faithful officials.

The Overseers of the Poor have a delicate and difficult work to perform. To distinguish deserving calls for help from others, to lead those to whom help is given to do what they can to help themselves, to temper firmness with charity and confine generous impulse within the limits of public duty is a hard and ungrateful task. It appears to be discharged at present with patience and discretion. The demand upon the department has lately increased and it is probable that the appropriation for 1891 will need to be larger than in 1890 when it was $3,750.

The charges upon us for pauper insane at the several State asylums are very heavy and the number of these unfortunates is steadily increasing.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

The 250th, anniversary of the incorporation of Woburn occurs Oct. 7, 1892. On that date in 1642 the public Act of incorporation of the town of Woburn was passed. I regard it as eminently fitting that the completion of this rounded period of the corporate existence of Woburn should be appropriately observed. I am inclined to go farther and express the opinion that it is incumbent on the citizens and the city to provide for such a celebration. I think it will be of material advantage to the community if the observance is carried out on a scale befitting its importance and significance. Woburn is one of the historic towns of the Commonwealth. Her history goes back to the earliest period of the Colonies. Her revolutionary record is a proud one and her territory is historic ground. If Woburn's patriots were not actually in the track of the famous ride of Paul Revere and were not actually roused by him to help repel the invaders, they were quick to respond to the call when it reached their ears. They were on hand at Lexington and Concord Bridge and fought where

"The embattled farmers bravely stood
And fired the shot heard round the world."

The occasion comes to us in the slow march of time. We have not to seek it and no one can question our right and duty to embrace it. No trivial or doubtful incident or fancied anniversary date is the foundation for the observance.

Considerable inquiry has satisfied me that the past and present citizens of Woburn generally desire a fitting observance of the occasion. Other cities and towns of the Commonwealth have already celebrated like anniversaries with exercises which have called together their sons and daughters in grand reunions and entertained them with civic and military parades and public orations, poems and banquets. The effort has in every case been to awaken local pride, stimulate local business, and promote general good feeling and good will.

While speaking to the City Council, I would also reach the Woburn public. It is desirable that the initial steps in this undertaking should be taken by the citizens. Though not a son of Woburn by birth or ancestry, I desire as a citizen who has made this his home, to urge that local organizations for historic or other purposes and individual citizens by petition or otherwise, indicate to you and each other their sentiments on the subject.

If the celebration is to take place the City Council should take steps to secure during the coming session of the General Court, the passage of an Act authorizing the appropriation of a proper sum to defray expenses. I recommend that this be done.

WOBURN RECORDS.

The records of births and of deaths in Woburn down to 1873 which has been completed under the direction of Mayor Johnson, has been printed in connection with the City Report for 1890. A similar record of marriages covering the same period is completed. I think it should be included in the printed City Report for 1891, and recommend action by you to secure this. These records are invaluable. The compilation of them has involved long and patient work and while it has been voluntarily undertaken and prosecuted, it deserves recognition and its results should be placed in permanent form.

In the opinion of those eminently fitted to speak on the subject, Woburn's town records are unusually complete and valuable. As soon as possible they should be transcribed and indexed and eventually published. They are now in fire-proof vaults, but unindexed they are practically closed books as far as their value for purposes of reference is concerned, and the oldest of them, which naturally are the most interesting, are rapidly becoming obscured and destroyed by the ravages of time.

CONCLUSION.

I have thus inadequately considered matters relating to several departments of the City Government. Possibly some subjects which deserves attention have not received it. In the interval since the City election I have not been able to familiarize myself with municipal affairs to such a degree as to feel competent to consider them at the opening of the year in a satisfactory manner. I desire here to acknowledge my great obligation to the retiring Mayor who has afforded me every facility and assisted me materially in preparing myself for the assumption of my duties. I shall be fortunate if hereafter I shall be deemed to have reached the intelligent comprehension and ability to faithfully discharge the manifold duties of the office of Mayor which have characterized his incumbency.

The City Government today installed in office is made up to an unusual degree of men new to their positions.

We need on this account to be specially diligent and careful in our work. I invite and expect your hearty support in every effort to secure and maintain good government and promote the public interests. I shall be happy to have your counsel to the end that there may be intelligent co-operation and mutual understanding between us regarding the policy to be followed and that this policy may contribute to the City's prosperity and secure the citizen's approval.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at H. L. Flanders & Co.'s Drug Store.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prizes will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st	Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd	"	$500 in Gold
3rd	"	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th	"	$500 Piano
5th	"	$300 Organ
6th	"	Ticket to England and return.
7th	"	Lady's Gold Watch
8th	"	Gent's Gold Watch
9th	"	China Tea S t
10th	"	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th	"	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently THE paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

Eleven Years In Charge

Of the package department, Boston & Maine Depot, Boston, Mass. Miss Helen Jones says: I was a sufferer from general debility, biliousness and water brash for several years, and life seemed a burden to me. After using almost everything, Sulphur Bitters cured me.

New Zealand has a bank on wheels. On certain days of the week a clerk from one of the Palmerston banks travels up and down the railway line from Palmerston to Otaki, transacting the ordinary business of the bank en route. Laden with a satchel containing his supply of cash, and provided with a teller's usual precautions against danger of robbery, he makes the carriage his headquarters, and there receives visits from customers at the way stations, changing checks or taking deposits as occasion may require. This plan is said to bring a good share of grist to the bank's mill, and proves a great convenience to settlers, who are saved all the trouble of journeying to town to relieve themselves of surplus money or to procure change. This will probably continue until some bold rascal interviews the clerk and cleans out his bank.

A singular story comes from Greenpoint, N. Y. A large mansion in the vicinity took fire, which originated in the main chimney, and the flames were spreading rapidly. A young man ran to the duck pen and secured a number of the largest fowls. Then he took a ladder, and mounting to the top of the house went to the chimney, from which flames and smoke were pouring, and dropped the ducks one after another into the fiery shaft. This had the effect of checking the flames and the fire was subdued.

Deformity from Bright's Disease.

S. D. VanBuskirk, of Demarest, N. J., says: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., has cured our daughter of Bright's Disease, after all other means had failed. She was so swollen that she measured 45 inches around the waist, and 18 inches below the knee. To say that we feel thankful for such a boon as Favorite Remedy is but a poor expression."

A ward politician at Pittsburg, Pa., last week, knowing that he must die, expressed a wish that he might die on Friday, so that he could be buried on Sunday, when the "boys" would not lose a day by attending the funeral. And his wish was gratified.

Gold Disliked by Bankers.

"Do you know that gold is the most unwieldy of all the different kinds of money now in circulation?" said a prominent banker.

"Why?" was asked.

"Because it is not bankable without careful scrutiny."

"How is that?"

"Simply this: Take a greenback, a silver certificate, a gold certficate or a national bank note to your bank, and it is received and placed to your credit without a moment's delay. Not so with gold. A few days ago a gentleman brought to our bank upward of $3,000 in gold of different denominations, and was much provoked because we would not receive it forthwith, and give him credit with the amount the face of the coin represented. This we could not do, because the law requires that gold shall be redeemed only at its actual value. Coins carried in the pocket for any length of time naturally lose something in weight by abrasion, probably but a fractional part of a cent on a $10 piece, but it is a loss, nevertheless, and bankers cannot give credit for gold deposits until the coin shall have been weighed."—Indianapolis Journal.

Kindness Unappreciated.

A little boy who did not know what it was to feel the effects of poison ivy one day carried an armful of its autumn tinted leaves to his teacher, and laid them on her desk as a pleasant surprise. That morning she came late to school, and approached her chair just as the head master had finished conducting devotions. She glanced at the offering on her desk, started back, and put her handkerchief to her face.

"Who brought this?" she called, with emphasis.

The little boy rose, proud of receiving public thanks.

"Take it away at once," was the peremptory command. "The smell, the very sight of it, poisons me."

Poor Johnnie, very much depressed, gathered it in his arms, and deposited it in the waste basket.

"Not there," said the teacher; "the janitor might touch it. Go down and put in the furnace."

Then Johnnie, amid the titters of his fellows, took his embarrassed way out of the room. All his pleasant anticipations had been turned to bitterness by the mortifying fact that he had done the wrong thing.—Youth's Companion.

An Actor's Peculiarity.

Each actor may have some peculiar, particular and different difficulty. One finds his voice unmanageable, another his walk, another this, another that. For myself I can perambulate freely enough, and always regret I never learned dancing—stage dancing I mean. My particular "difficulty" is, or rather was, my hands; but I manage them better now. I was once rehearsing a part with a man, a very clever actor, who used his hands exceedingly well, but he had his "difficulty." We were discussing the best way in which he should give me a flower. "Why not do it like this?" said I. "Yes, that is very well," he replied; "but, you see, I shall be there"—pointing to a spot about five feet off on the stage—"and how shall I get to where you are?" "Take a hansom," I jocosely replied, thinking he was in fun; and it was a long time before I came to realize that it was a serious matter to him to stir five feet on the stage unless he had planned out his movements beforehand.—Ellen Terry in Treasure Trove.

Wall Paper Is Cheap.

Wall paper is turned out now at prices that are little less than absurd. Nobody ever thinks of paying the advertised price for wall papers any more than for a piano in these days. An owner who was papering a large up town apartment house recently made up his mind that the paper hanger's estimate was too heavy. He called on an architect with whom he was acquainted, and the two men went to a large wholesale place in Seventh avenue, where he found that he could buy the paper for which he had been charged seventy cents by the paper hanger for thirty-two cents. Then he went to the factory, where the same paper was offered him in quantity at nineteen cents a roll. He subsequently called on his architect friend, who bought the paper in his own name for sixteen cents a roll.—New York Sun.

Thoughts of Animals.

Animals must frequently be surprised at receiving punishment "for their good," when they are innocent of intentional wrongdoing. Puss, in her kitten days, steals a bit of tempting fish from the table, and has her ears boxed. She is a wiser cat from that time, as well as a sadder one at the moment. One can imagine her retreating to the woodshed to think it over after the blow has fallen. Perhaps she bewails her sad fate, and exclaims against its cruelty, as we all do when we have sinned through ignorance and not escaped the penalty. — Youth's Companion.

Samples, Mostly.

Singleton—It's a wonder to me that more women are not robbed when they carry their purses so openly in their hands.

Doubleday—If you were married, and knew what they carry in those purses, you would not make such a remark.—Puck.

Ready for Him.

Arthur Q. Bunco—Where do you live when you are at home, Silas?

Silas Wiley—Ter hum, of course. Where'd yer 'spose?—Life.

A brougham built by an English firm is a model of conveniences. It is fitted with electric light sufficient for reading or writing. Opposite the seat is an ivory plate on which are several buttons properly lettered "Left," "Right," "Stop," "Go On," "Home," and so on. On the dashboard, in the coachman's view, is a case lettered to correspond, so that when a knob is pressed he understands at once what is expected of him. One button brings out the word "Speak," in which case he will put the speaking tube in position and receive orders.

The Poncho Springs in Colorado are all on the side of a mountain, and hot and cold water flows from the ground in places not more than three inches apart.

More than 2000 women of India sent a petition 60 feet in length to Queen Victoria, praying for the increase of the age at which marriage may be legally entered into by women.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Clean up and pack away boxes that are to be used a second time.

Have the rats gone into winter-quarters? Better rout them at once.

Have you ever figured the rattage on your farm? What was the result?

Researches made by geologists are said to show that the diamond mines of South Africa are situated in vents or chimneys varying from 75 to 1500 feet in diameter.

Judge Guerry of Georgia is determined that his court shall be treated with respect. Last week he fined the Solicitor General $2.50 for smoking, and the Sheriff $5 for talking while the court was in session.

The negroes of Terrell county, Ga., are steadily increasing in prosperity and acquiring real estate, for which they have an especial liking. They own some of the best farm lands in the county.

A prehistoric smelting furnace has been discovered near Bibuquerque, New Mexico. Near by a bar of pure silver was found. The furnace had been filled with ore and never fired. It is not larger than a common baker's oven.

Mr. Cheapside—"I thought you said you were going to Mrs. Brick's 5 o'clock tea this afternoon. It's after 5 now." Mrs. Cheapside—"There's no hurry. Her 5 o'clock tea isn't likely to be ready before 7. She's got the girl I used to have."

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS.

Why suffer with Headache? Why suffer with Rheumatism? Why suffer with Boils? Why have with that terrible Pain in the Back? Why suffer with Dyspepsia? Why suffer with Kidney Complaint? Why suffer with Liver Complaint? Why suffer with Nervousness? Why suffer with Sleeplessness? Why suffer with Blood Poison? Why suffer with Female Complaints? Why suffer with Scrofula? Why suffer with Erysipelas? Why suffer with Piles? Why suffer with Constipation? Why suffer with Malaria? Why suffer with Loss of Appetite? Why suffer with Debility? Why suffer with Impure Blood? Why suffer with Catarrh? Why suffer with Bronchitis? Why suffer with Consumption? Why suffer with Colds? Why suffer with Coughs? Why suffer with Fevers? Why suffer with Weakness? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a good, soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage within. Your blood is impure, or poor, and you have Catarrh. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap, worthless, "fancy" drink, to be sold at a high price, to astonish the weak, but is a medicine of great merit, and is sold at a reasonable price, to bring it within the reach of all

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1891. NO. 5.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.00, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.30, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.39, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.41, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.00, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.30, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, s7.45, s8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburnfor Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10 40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.50, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9.10, *9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10.20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	Edward F. Johnson
President of Aldermen,	William C. Kenney
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	E. E. Thompson
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stock kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
512	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Several blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,

—DEALER IN—

Drugs and Medicines,

And Druggist's Sundries,

WINCHESTER, - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE!

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

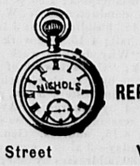
DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

Sewing Machines

Of different makes, all warranted first-class. Sold at the unusual low price of $25.00 by Charles R. Rosenquist, 7 Greenwood Avenue. Also, the right place to get pictures copied and framed. All kinds of Rubber Stamps, Stencils, Seals, Steel Dies, Door Plates, Copying Presses, &c., &c.



DEALER, REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial o the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

JOSEPH P. SHIELDS,

Prescription Druggist,

WOBURN, MASS.

Has removed to Corner of Main and Walnut Streets, formerly Post Office.

N. B.—Shields's Cough Syrup IS guaranteed.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

[Original.]

A VISION.

A form of gentle, youthful grace,
Before the massive gates of pearl,
Now stands, with eager, happy face—
'Tis Gertrude, dear, our gentle girl.

And now the portals slowly swing
Far out—disclosing radiance bright,
The splendor of our Savior King,
The glory of unfading light.

She passes through the gateway grand,
Without a burden or a care,
She joins the bright, immortal band,
And myriads turn to greet her there.

Her eyes but one emotion show,
And that the joy that angels feel;
All sorrow left she, here below;
Distress gave place to joy and weal.

Her spirit sensitive will grieve
No more for thoughtless word or act;
No more will disappointment weave
Its mesh of sorrow in her track.

There in Elysian fields so fair,
She waits for loved ones here on earth,
To come to her—to join her where
No care nor trouble e'er has birth.

The father, dear and well-beloved,
Who, here, his child naught e'er denied,
Who daily found hope, joy and love
All fulfilled, answered, satisfied.

The mother too, so weak and frail,
Lived in her daughter's smiling face.
And watched her grow, and did not fail
To note her winsomeness and grace.

The brother dear, she waits for too,
In distant realms beyond the skies,
Stalwart protector, kind and true,
Type of a love that never dies.

Ah! not for her shed tears, dear friends,
To die is gain—then why this woe?
For her, the joy that never ends
Is won, while we must wait below.

Must linger, till our Father calls
Hence, to meet our darling there,
In spacious mansions, golden halls,
Her home, and ours, eternal fair.

[Original.]

MARGOT.

Margot, of chiefest treasure now bereft,
Has scarce a thought for any trifle left;
She can but count the cost
Of this that she hath lost,
And sighing, says, "Until I find once more
What I have lost I cannot be content."
So, mourning, all her days are spent,
She cannot smile till God her gift restore.

Searching by day and night she soon will learn
That each good thing unto which she will turn
Shall hold some little part
Of this that filled her heart;
And, searching, she shall other treasures gain,
And goodly gifts shall add unto her store,
Till, going where her precious gem has lain,
She holds it as her own forevermore.

—L. P. S. BARNARD.

A PAIR OF NIECES.

"You can't expect me to support you in idleness any longer," said Mrs. Ubsdell, a tall, stout woman with level black brows, very red lips, and a loud voice.

The woman's two young nieces sat by the window, shrinking back as if every word had been a blow. They had been with their aunt a month—just long enough for the grass to become green on their father's grave and the crape trimmings on their frocks to grow a little crumpled and rusty.

"And now," went on the portly dame, "it is time for you to do something for yourselves. I'm not rich you know."

"But we don't know what to do, Aunt Matilda," said Kate.

"We are willing to work if any one would show us how," murmured Ginevra.

"General Livingston wants a governess for his granddaughters, six and seven years old. Music, French and Latin required. You shall take that position, Ginevra," said her aunt.

The taller of the girls changed color.

"I don't know much about music," said she. "Papa taught me Latin; but I'm quite ignorant of French."

"Say you know it," said Mrs. Ubsdell, sharply. "And do the best you can. General Livingston is at home very little. Twenty to one he'll never find it out. At all events, I've told Miss Jenks, the housekeeper, that you will be there to-morrow at nine o'clock to take the situation.

"But Aunt Matilda, wouldn't that be acting a lie?" faltered the girl.

"A lie, indeed!" almost screamed Mrs. Ubsdell, her eyes ablaze with anger. "How dare you use that word to me, Ginevra Hall? As for you, Kate, you are to go as companion to Miss Ramona Ray. She's deaf as a post, and you've got a good clear voice to read aloud to her. She's bad-tempered and exacting; but it's the business of you young people to give way to your elders—and any way you have your living to earn."

The girls looked aghast at each other when Mrs. Ubsdell left the room.

"What shall we do?" asked Kate.

"Obey, I suppose, sighed Ginevra. "It is very evident that we are unwelcome here. Aunt Ubsdell grudges every bit of bread we eat. Oh, Kate, Kate, if we could only have died and been buried with papa!"

"We must do the best we can," said Kate, who was dark, with soft velvety eyes, and skin as fair and fine-grained as a Bermuda lily. "Perhaps this Miss Ray is not so bad as we think. I shall try to be patient."

"And I am to enter the family of an aristocrat under false pretenses!" cried Ginevra. "I hope I shall earn my salary."

Ginevra was as unlike as possible to her dark-haired sister—a rosy, dimpled childish girl, who scarcely looked her seventeen years.

Kate looked at her with tender regret.

"The idea of your being a governess?" exclaimed she.

"Or of your turning lady's companion!" retorted Ginevra. "But I do believe, Kate, we would go as gypsy fortune-tellers, or take situations as scullery-maids, to get out from under Aunt Matilda's eye."

Miss Ramona Ray was rather deaf—there could be no doubt of that. But Kate Hall had a clear, distinct enunciation, and found little trouble in making her hear.

And really, her temper was not so very bad after all.

It was necessary to be very particular in the care of her parrot and the daily bath of her poodle dog, the watering of her plants, and the preparation of the rose-creams and the lily lotions that she used for her venerable complexion. But she conceived a decided fancy for her new companion; took her out in the carriage for her new companion; took her out in the carriage for a daily drive, and told her the whole story of the Mexican officer who had once been engaged to her, and who went away to Chapultepec or some of those four syllabled places, and married a Spanish senora even while Miss Ramona's wedding cake was being baked.

When Miss Ramona told this story to any one, it was a sign of a very high favor indeed.

Miss Ramona had only one relative in the world—a nephew—and he was a naval officer. And, as it happened, he came home on a visit when Kate Hall had been a week with his aunt, bursting into the room at twilight, like a cheerful tornado.

"Well, Aunt Mona," said he. "Here I am. Got your letter at Norfolk What sort of a companion have you got now? Regular old maid, eh? or a widow in dyed bombazine and eyeglasses?"

"Hush, Geoffrey," said Miss Ray. "Kate, my dear, bring candles. This young lady is my companion at present. Miss Hall, allow me to present my nephew, Lieutenant Rossmore."

"You see," said Kate, laughing, "I am neither an old maid nor a widow."

"I'm sure I beg ten thousand pardons!" said the lieutenant, blushing mahogany color.

Meanwhile Ginevra had gone to her situation at Livingston Larches, where two blooming little maidens were sitting up in the school-room, with clean slates and spotlessly new school-books, waiting for their governess.

Miss Jenks was on hand to introduce the stranger to her new domains.

"You're rather young miss," said she, "and insignificant-looking for the place. Mrs. Ubsdell told me—"

"I shall do my best," said Ginevra, with gentle dignity; "and I do not doubt that I shall succeed very well."

But Eva and Ella were born rebels. They had conquered governess after governess, and driven her off defeated. They liked the excitment of it, and did not like to study; and the natural sequence was that in less than an hour Ginevra Hall was in tears.

Eva had imitated her French accent with scorn; Ella had mischievously rubbed out the figures on the slate as often as Miss Hall made them. And when the hour of noon recreation came, and the little mutineers rushed out to play on the lawn, poor Ginevra hid herself among the palms in the conservatory to weep without stint.

"Is anything the matter?" said a voice.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said Ginevra, reddening to the very roots of her hair. "I didn't mean to be in the way, if you are the gardener, I just broke off this one little white orange blossom I may keep it?"

"You may keep it—certainly," said a tall, fine looking man, who was trimming the superfluous branches from a magnificent, white-blossomed daphne.

"I thought, perhaps, you had pricked your fingers on the great Colorado cactus and hurt yourself. You seemed to be crying."

"It wasn't the cactus," fluttered Ginevra. "It was the children."

"The children?"

"They won't mind," explained Ginevra; "they only laugh at me, and I don't know what to do."

The stranger opened the side door, which, garlanded over with passion flowers, looked on the lawn, and called out, in stern, imperative tones,—

"Children!"

Eva dropped her croquet mallet, Ella left off munching strawberries. Both obeyed the newcomer at once.

"Have you been disobeying this young lady?" questioned Ginevra's champion.

"N-no," faltered Ella. "We didn't disobey her, we only didn't do as she told us."

"Very well," said he. "Hereafter you will be a good little class, or there shall be no more boating on the river for you, or rides on the cream-colored ponies; and nothing but bread and water for dinner. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir," murmured Ella, meekly.

"Yes, grandpapa," said Eva, obediently.

Ginevra looked up in surprise.

"You are not General Livingston?" said she.

"How do you know that I am not?"

"I—I thought you were the gardener."

"I do garden sometimes; but the gardener is a snuffy old Scotchman, in a wig and a pepper-and-salt suit."

"But—General Livingston is an old gentleman, isn't he?"

"Five and forty—if you call that old. I see how it is," said the master of the house, laughingly. "You are misled by those little sprites calling me grandpapa. My late wife was a widow, considerable older than myself. Eva and Ella are her grandchildren, not mine. This may explain some of the inconsistencies that puzzle you, Miss Hall. And now, if you will resume the charge of the young Turks, I think I can guarantee that they shall make you no more trouble."

He was right. Eva was docile as any kitten; Ella sweeter than an angel. Evidently some miracle had been wrought.

"You see," said Eva, "when grandpapa says a thing, he means it."

"And we are so afraid he'll send us to boarding school!" whispered Ella.

General Livingston came in toward evening to see that the children kept faith, and then Ginevra made her confession to him.

"I have deceived you, sir," said she. "I don't know French at all; but my aunt told me I must not let you know it."

And then she told him the simple story of her bereavement and dependence.

"And if French is essential," she added, "I must go back to Aunt Matilda. But I couldn't keep on deceiving you, when you had been so kind to me."

General Livingston smiled.

"You are a good little girl," said he, "and we must try and dispense with French for the present."

After this, Ginevra found very little trouble. The children, wild and wayward though they had been at first, became attached to her, and were quick to learn. At the end of six months Mrs. Ubsdell came to Livingston Larches.

"Ginevra," said she, "you must strike for higher salary. Every one else is doing it."

"Oh, Aunt Matilda," cried the girl, "I can't. The terms are too liberal already. I feel that I am not earning the money I receive."

Mrs. Ubsdell, however, insisted.

"I will go to General Livingston myself," said she. "These aristocrats can't expect to grind every one down into the earth."

Poor Ginevra burst into tears; but Mrs. Ubsdell was implacable.

Ginevra scarcely dared look General Livingston in the face when she met him in the garden, a couple of hours later. His face wore an amused expression.

"Miss Hall," said he, "your aunt has been kind enough to pay me a visit."

"Please don't think that I had anything to do with it," she said, almost inaudibly. "I am too well aware that I am already overpaid."

General Livingston looked calmly at her.

"Miss Hall," said he, "I have been thinking matters over, and I have come to the conclusion to dispense with your services as governess hereafter."

Ginevra involuntarily clasped her hands; she grew pale.

"Oh," she cried, "must I go back to Aunt Matilda? And I was so happy here!"

"Ginevra," said General Livingston, "I am five-and-forty years old, and yet I have been sanguine enough to hope that I can win the love of a girl of seventeen. It is for you to decide whether I am right or wrong."

"For me?"

"I have fallen in love with you, Ginevra. Tell me—will you be my wife instead of the children's governess?"

She stole one timid glance at him. It was as if some strong, serene archangel had stooped from a celestial clime to ask her to nestle under the shadow of his gleaming wings. Did he suspect how long she'd secretly worshipped him? Had he penetrated into the mysteries of her heart? That glance, however, was a sufficient answer. He put out his hand and drew her to his heart.

"My darling! my own darling!" was all that he said.

Ginevra Hall was standing in the shadow of the tree ferns in the conservatory that evening when the gardener showed in a young lady. It was her sister.

"Ginevra," said Kate, "Aunt Matilda has been to see me. Surely she has not succeeded in making you discontented with your situation?"

"Dearest Kate," said Ginevra, "I am going to tell you a secret. I am to be General Livingston's wife next week. Oh, I am so thankful that I came here! I don't think there ever was a girl so happy before."

"Except me," said Kate. "I also am to be married to Lieutenant Geoffrey Rossmore. And Miss Ray is so pleased and proud.

And Mrs. Ubsdell arrogates to herself all the credit of having settled her nieces so well in life.

"They ought to be very much obliged to me," she says. "If it hadn't been for me it never would have happened."

How to Read.

How to read so as to obtain the best results is almost a science, and is acquired only after patient and persistent effort. Goethe once said: "I have been fifty years trying to learn how to read, and I have not learned yet."

Thomas W. Higginson tells of a girl who read "dutifully and torpidly whatever was set before her," but she forgot every page as soon as read. He advised her to read one chapter a day, and compel her mind to ask one question on every chapter. A young man applied to Charles O'Conor for advice read. Mr. O'Conor replied that he had not read one half of the list, but judged it was safe to advise him to "read less and think more."

These men recognized the fact that good reading requires effort. Read with a purpose. Unless you know why you are reading, you are very much like the loafers who collect on the sunny side of a fence and whittle, without even the intention of making a round plug; and like them your time will be lost, and you will have only a pile of shavings. The value of your work depends on its purpose. Without purpose you have no interest; without interest you have no concentration; and without concentration, you have no benefit. The benefit depends not on the quantity of your reading, but on its quality, and your ability to use it.

Having decided on your purpose, fix upon a starting point and a goal, and map out a way; that is, read with a system. Without a system, or general direction, you are apt to wander too far from your purpose. It is difficult to plough a straight furrow across a ten-acre lot unless there is something to aim at. The difference between knowledge acquired systematically and unsystematically is this: in the first case you know what you have read or where you can find it; in the other you have a confused jumble of ideas, unarranged and unavailable. Your mind is a library with the thoughts shelved and numbered, or a garret where the books and papers of years have accumulated, grown dusty and musty, unused and unusable. The best readers have a system; many have lamented the lack of one.

Webster once said: "Many other students read more than I did, but so much as I read I made my own." Burke read exery book as if he never expected to see it again. Francis Homer made it a rule to read few books, but to read these few well, believing that continued application on a given subject, and a careful reading of a few of the best books on that subject would furnish the best mainspring for a successful life. It is the man thoroughly versed on one subject who is honored. Hobbs of Malmesbury was once asked why he didn't read more books. "Read more! If I had read as many books as other men, I should have been as ignorant as other men."

Read to remember, to digest, to have ready and available the knowledge acquired. Many people read a book just as they go through life, without seeing anything; never close a book without seeing something, without feeling you are richer than when you opened it. This can be done only by remembering. To remember, you must think. Think as you read and after your book is closed. A good plan is to compel yourself to recall the substance at the close of each chapter. Dr. Macaulay, of New York, went further than this, and retraced the thought at the end of each page. If he could not retrace it, he re-read it. Each chapter thus reviewed will give a concise idea of the volume when completed. If you can get only a few moments' leisure, read what you can, and then as you go about your other work, ruminate. Chew the cud of reflection long and earnestly.

Conversation is one of the best aids to remembering. If possible, find a friend to read upon the same subject with you, and converse together frequently. If you cannot find such a one, you can generally find someone willing to exchange his time for your information. Conversation is the "student's workshop," of exceeding value.

You need not only to remember, but also to digest. It is not enough to simply swallow food; you must digest it so that its nutritive portions may be assimilated, to become "bone of your bone, and flesh of your flesh." Mental digestion is the same. Unless the thought is digested, you will talk book, not your own thoughts. You will return your information much as the sponge does water, in the same form but not so clear as the original. Remembered and digested, it naturally becomes ready and available.—W. H. Small, in Morning Star.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN

—IN—

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.

FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prices will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd "	$500 in Gold
3rd "	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th "	$500 Piano
5th "	$300 Organ
6th "	Ticket to England and return.
7th "	Lady's Gold Watch
8th "	Gent's Gold Watch
9th "	China Tea Set
10th "	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th "	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently THE paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symtoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Rev. James W. Ford, who has spent nearly all his life as a missionary to China, says he has studied Chinese for fifty years and yet has not mastered the language.

Rheumatism.

Our daughter had the rheumatism so severe that she was helpless for month. We were induced through our uncle, James McFarland, of this place, to give Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y., a trial. In a short time she began to improve, slept well, and soon recovered from all effects of the dread disease.—L. M. Sanford, No. 319 Fifth street, Des Moines, Iowa.

Marshal Von

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 16, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 5d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

REPUBLICAN CLUB.

Last week leading Republicans from all over the Commonwealth assembled in Boston and organized a State Republican Club for the purpose of helping the party to win a victory at the polls next fall. There was need enough of such a step being taken for if the Republicans do not pull themselves together and work shoulder to shoulder for success they have got through winning victories in Massachusetts. A similar movement must be made all over the Union, else Grover Cleveland will occupy the Presidential Chair again in 1893.

Hon. Edward F. Johnson, ex-Mayor of Woburn, was made Vice President of the Club for the Fifth Congressional District, and Hon. Edward D. Hayden of this city, ex-Congressman, sent a sound letter of approval to the convention, the reading of which helped strengthen the courage of the men present.

A GOOD MOVE.

Congressman-elect Sherman Hoar of this District was in Washington a few days ago trying to get a pension of $200 per month for his distinguished predecessor, General N. P. Banks. He succeeded in enlisting the sympathy of quite a number of influential members of both branches of Congress and it is not improbable that the pension will soon be forthcoming.

If there is a man in the Union who deserves consideration at the hands of the general government for gallant and distinguished services as a civil and military leader it is General Banks.

Whether Mr. Hoar succeeds or not in getting the old General on to the pension list his philanthropic efforts to do so are worthy of the highest commendation.

A THIRD TERM-ER.

On the organization of the General Court last Wednesday week William E. Barrett, Esquire, was elected Speaker of the House. It was his third successive election to that honorable post. He received 225 of the 228 ballots cast.

Mr. Speaker Barrett, the JOURNAL offers it congratulations.

ON THE COMMITTEES.

In making up the Joint Standing Committees last Tuesday the Legislature put Senator Wyer on the Committee of Military Affairs and Committee on Water Supply, both important; and Representative Hevey on the Committee of Woman Suffrage.

☞ Chat is a weekly paper recently established at Waltham, the receipt of which is hereby gratefully acknowledged. Its size and shape are unique for a newspaper, but it is neat withal and handy. Success to the same.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
C. M. Carroll—Stetson.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
C. Lamb—Weather Strips.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.

— The days have lengthened 23 minutes.

— "Iron Hall" will appear next week.

— Bonelli has a change of card this week. Read it.

— Read the card of Druggist Lovell in this paper.

— Tramp printers are quite plenty about these days.

— Just as Old Prob predicted, Tuesday was a pretty cold day.

— Mr. A. F. Morrill will please accept thanks for late California papers.

— Mr. F. H. Lewis has a firstclass concert at an early day in contemplation.

— Last week ex-Alderman Ramsdell left this city for Tennessee on business matters.

— Wednesday morning it looked as though another big snow storm had set in, but there hadn't.

— The price of the best brands of flour range very low at Fitz & Stanley's, Boston Branch.

— Mr. Alonzo T. Young sold land and buildings on Main street to Joseph H. Parker for $1,700.

— The Union meetings of the Week of Prayer were none too well attended by the people in this city.

— Mr. S. Sargent of Wilmington is one of the dealers who supply the best of meat to Woburn people.

— The Charitable Society of the Congregational church held their annual meeting last evening.

— The District conference of the Y. M. C. A. mentioned elsewhere in this paper is to be held in the First Baptist church.

— Mishawum Lodge, A. O. U. W., installed their officers last Wednesday evening, and closed with a banquet, stories and songs.

— The Y. M. C. A. extend a cordial invitation to men and women, old and young, to attend the Y. M. C. A. conference next week.

— Mr. L. Houghton Allen is enjoying life at Riverside, California, having recently driven his tent-pins at that delightful winter resort.

— President Buchanan is very desirous that there should be a full attendance at the meeting of the Board of Trade next Tuesday evening.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe has an important notice in the JOURNAL this week in respect to prices of men's winter clothing, especially of overcoats.

— Five hundred veterinary surgeons in Great Britian have signed a paper condemning overhead check reins as painful to horses and inducive of disease.

— Officers of Masonic Mutual Relief Association: S. Frankaford Trull, President; C. H. Buss, Vice President; F. B. Dodge, Secretary.

— Hon. B. F. Whittemore of this city was elected Chaplain of the Fusilier Veteran Association at its annual meeting in Boston last Wednesday evening.

— A 1890 Tufts College catalogue contains the name of Stillman Shaw in the first class in Engineering, and George Mayo Gerrish to be a member of special class.

— Pupils of the Primary and Grammar schools in this city will be admitted to the show of the Fanciers Club at Lyceum Hall on next Wednesday afternoon free.

— The next meeting of the Friday Night Club will be held in the Unitarian Vestry on Friday evening, Jan. 23, at 7.45 o'clock. The evening will be devoted to music.

— There is to be a grand musical entertainment by the Friday Night Club at the Unitarian Church this evening. The F. N. C. never give poor entertainments.

— A big rain storm set in on Sunday afternoon and continued until Monday morning. It injured the sleighing, of which there had been a week or two of prime.

— People interested in fowl breeding will do well to remember the date of the Woburn Fancier Club's exhibition in this city—Jan. 21, 22, and 23—and then go and see the birds.

— Instead of the pupils it was the teachers of the Plympton and Union street schools who gave Mr. Janitor Simonds holiday presents in token of their appreciation of his valuable services.

— The Woburn Electric Light Co. are about to enlarge their plant. An increase of business demands more power and to secure it Supt. Fish informs the JOURNAL that more room is necessary.

— The new Methodist church is the first building we ever saw that was handsomer than any picture of it. No architect's or photographer's reproduction of it has equalled its actual fine appearance.

— Auctioneer Gregory will sell at public vendue next Monday, Jan. 19, at 2 P. M., on the premises, No. 122 Garfield Avenue, the household furniture and effects of Lawrence Rossetter. Sale positive.

Mr. Horace N. Conn, the popular and flourishing Insurance Agent of this city, has issued one of the handiest and best calendars that we have seen. One of them graces the Editor's desk, for which thanks.

— The officers of Crystal Fount Lodge Mut. Ben. Association for the current year are: President, Orlando M. Brooks; Vice-President, George N. Gwynn; Secretary and Treasurer, Henry L. Anderson.

— Miss Fannie Hartwell is enjoying life immensely with her uncle's family on Indian River, Florida. Just now they are all living on the finest oranges raised in that State—and that means the finest in the world.

— Recently Mr. Simeon Weymouth, 26 Charles street, this city, returned from a visit of several weeks among his many relatives in York county, Maine, his native heath. He enjoyed the trip and visit very much.

— The JOURNAL correctly foretold the re-election of Mr. Gilman F. Jones to the office of Road Commissioner. There was no thought of electing anybody else and the vote for him was unanimous. That is all right.

— The St. Charles Minstrel troup played at Peabody one night last week for the benefit of the Lynn strikers. They went over in one of Mr. G. F. Jones's barges and had a fine sleigh ride. The show netted some $400 for the strikers.

— At the election of Uuitarian Sunday School officers last Sunday Mr. D. H. Richards was chosen Treasurer for the 19th successive time. Not many people can show such a record of Sunday School service as this of Mr. Richards's.

— Mr. S. H. Leathe of St. Louis, Mo., sends to the JOURNAL cordial New Year's greetings and the wherewithal to enhance the JOURNAL's comforts. Our old friend out on the banks of the Mississippi will please accept thanks for his kindness.

— A Winchester team indulged in a furious runaway on Main street in this city last Saturday. The occupants of the sleigh, two ladies, were thrown out, and the last seen of the horse he was pushing for Winchester at a terrible rate of speed. No one was seriously hurt.

— Can it be that it is the extraordinary influx of Colonels into the ranks of the State Military which is having a disturbing effect? Here is a company at Woburn all at sixes and sevens, and mainly because of $5 worth of meal tickets and some extra trousers. —Boston Record.

— The funeral of William H. Doody took place from the Lodge of the Celtic's in the JOURNAL building yesterday morning at 9 o'clock under the direction of Undertaker Lawrence Reade. He died in the Mass. Gen. Hospital. He had no family here but was a member of the Celtic Association.

— Last Monday was the day to which further hearing in the Dow will case was postponed. When the time arrived a further continuance was granted at the request of counsel for the executors. The postponement is to a date as yet uncertain, but which will be fixed by agreement between counsel.

— We would respectfully inform those staunch old Democrats who took exceptions to the JOURNAL's bit of pleasantry at their expense that the gentleman whom they have heard and suspect to have been the JOURNAL's informant was not the one at all from whom our reporter got his information.

— The Woburn First National Bank held their annual meeting in the Bank parlors last Tuesday evening and elected the following Board of Directors: E. L. Shaw, John Johnson, E. D. Hayden. E. N. Blake, J. M. Harlow, Jacob Brown, Griffin Place, Benjamin Hinckley, Julius F. Ramsdell. Subsequently on the same evening E. L. Shaw was elected President, and John Johnson Vice President, of the Board.

— Organist Clarke has arranged the following choice programme for next Sunday morning's service at the Congregational church:

Organ Prelude. "Andante in B flat." T. Dubois.
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite." English.
Choir Anthem. "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house." Berthold Tours.
Organ Postlude. Chorus from the "Creation." "Achieved is the glorious work." Haydn.

— The business people of this city will read Secretary Fox's notice in this paper with pleasure for it insures harmony and good feelings between employer and employees and good times. It shows too that the Manufacturers Association stand ready to act squarely with their workmen at all times.

— A manufacturing business enterprise is being organized here, to have a capital of $30,000, to manufacture street cars. Already a fair share of the stock has been subscribed for. The man at the head of the enterprise is Charles P. Pollard, who for nearly 25 years has been in the carriage building business in this city.—Boston Paper.

— A few days ago we received a mammoth copy of the San Francisco, (Cal.) Chronicle from Mr. Oliver C. Bryant, Secretary of the El Paso de Robles Land Company, who, as every here knows, is the son of Mr. Oliver F. Bryant of this city. He settled on the Pacific coast some years ago and thinks everything of his adopted home. Thanks for the favors.

— The Conundrum Supper given at the Unitarian church parlors last week Thursday evening was a jovial one. It was a great success too, there being over 150 guests present. Mrs. Alonzo Young suggested the character of the affair, arranged the menu (there was when the fun came in), and generally supervised matters. It was a novel entertainment and everyone enjoyed it.

— A very useful article in the house is a Cheval Glass. It shows the full length figure and is very essential to every person who is mindful of personal appearance. Cheval Glasses cost from $25 to $75, but a full size glass in an antique carved oak frame is offered this mouth as low as $18 at Paine's Furniture Warerooms, 48 Canal St., opposite the Boston & Maine Depot in Boston.

— With its issue of last week THE WOBURN JOURNAL completed 40 years of its existence. It does not show age in the least, and this institution of Middlesex County promises not only to keep young, but reflect public opinion and give all the news for many, many years to come. Continued success to you, Brother Hobbs.—Winchester Star. —Thanks awfully! And the same to yourself.

— Mr. Cyrus Lamb furnishes the best weather strips, or house protectors from winter winds that seek entrance at doors, that are made. They are correct in principle and practice and no people who would keep comfortable during the winter should fail to apply to Mr. Lamb and have their outside doors supplied with these strips. They come cheap, but there is nothing that equals them.

— Mr. Frank Nichols finished filling his ice-houses at Horn Pond last Saturday and Woburn's next summer's supply is secured. It averaged 14 inches thick and was as clear and pure as crystal. On Monday Goodrich and Nichols began to fill the former's houses for Winchester. The houses of the Boston Ice Co. at Horn Pond hold about 50,000 tons, and will be filled to the ridgepoles.

— We should think our good Christian people would make an effort to get Moody to come out here and hold a series of meetings. He has done so at other points in the neighborhood of Boston lately. We do not mean by this suggestion that the clergy of Woburn are not earnest, honest and able, but that with Moody to help them they might give us stirring times here this winter.

— The Woburn Mutual Benefit Association elected the following officers last Monday evening: President, John G. Maguire; Vice President, James L. Pinkham; Secretary, Charles K. Conn; Treasurer, Lawrence Reade; Directors, John I. Munroe, Edward J. Gregory, Albert P. Barrett, Eliot L. Packard, Myron B. Field, Elmore A. Pierce, Horace N. Conn, Jacob A. Ham, Thomas Moore.

— If all the members of the Board of Trade would attend the meetings as regularly and promptly as President Buchanan and Secretary Lewis do, and a few others who could be named, a great deal more good would be done by it. On next Tuesday evening there is to be a very important meeting and it is desirable that the Rooms should be filled. Business of interest to the city will be considered. Come all!

— There will be snow enough in February—depend on that. Mr. E. P. Marion's record of the weather during "the twelve days of Christmas" tells that on the 2d day, Dec. 26, there occured the biggest snow storm of the season—a real, double-and-twisted Northeaster, and February corresponds to the second day of Christmas: so, look out for big snow storms during nearly all through next month.

— Perseverance Division, S. of T., recently held an election with the following result; W. P., Hugh Murray; W. A., Miss Emma Russell; P. W. P., Winfield S. Fetridge; Chaplain-Mrs. Donald T. Stewart; R. S., Austin Crowell; A. R. S., Mrs. L. M., Daland; F. S., J. W. Stewart; Treasurer, Miss Mary J. Whittie; Conductor, Miss Jennie Waters; A. C., Miss Sarah Sweetin; I. S., Miss Clara B. Kean; O. S., William Fraser; Pianist, Ralph Barrett.

— No person deserved to be more generously remembered in the will of the late David Gould Converse than his faithful housekeeper for the last 16 years, Miss Hattie A. Kenney. For the two years and more previous to his death she was indispensable to his comfort and happiness—no one could have ministered to his wants so intelligently and satisfactorily as she did, and the public were glad to hear that the deceased had dealt fairly by her in the distribution of his wealth. Mr. Converse appreciated Miss Kenney's worth to him as a nurse, attendant and companion and therefore generously remembered her in his will.

— The following office-bearers of Clan MacKinnon, 45, Order of Scottish Clans, have been elected and installed: Chief, Daniel Waters; Tanist, William S. MacGregor; Past Chief, John W. Hutchinson; Chaplain, John Beaton; Secretary, Hugh Murray; Financial Secretary, Hugh D. MacDonald; Treasurer, Alexander Murray; Senior Henchman, Walter Stackpole; Junior Henchman, Archibald MacKinnon; Seneschal, Thomas Grant; Warder, James Sweetin; Sentinel, Robert Duncan.

— The funeral of Thomas W. Salmon, son of Mr. Thomas Salmon, merchant of this city, which took place on last Friday, was one of the most numerously attended that has ever been witnessed here. More than 100 carriages followed the remains to their last earthly resting place in Calvery cemetery at Montvale, which showed, in some sense, the esteem in which the deceased was held. The services at the church were solemn and impressive; the music fine and appropriate; and the floral tributes numerous and rich.

— The first service of the Universalists was held in Concert Hall last Sunday. Rev. W. A. Start, who has had charge of the mission work of the Massachusetts Universalist Convention for the past fourteen years, conducted the service and preached upon the mission of Christ and its object. The afternoon was stormy, yet a goodly number were in attendance. Rev. Mr. Start will preach again next Sunday at the same hour 2.30 P. M. President Capen and Professor Leonard of Tufts College are to aid Rev. Mr. Start in establishiug a Universalist church here.

— Mr. J. F. Spinney, the ever popular Agent of the Yarmouth S. S. Co. in Boston has recently been presented with an elegant gold watch by the Company, through the Hon. L. E. Baker, President, for his long and faithful services with them. Spinney, although not having yet attained the age of twenty-five years, has been in the service of the Company in various capacities for the past thirteen years, receiving promotions each year until he has attained his present responsible position and we have no doubt but that many of his people here will be pleased to hear of his success.

— Charles H. Taylor of Woburn, formerly in the employ of E. C. Cottle & Son of that city, has been engaged by Beggs & Cobb to take charge of their new place of business, now the Loring & Avery tannery in Winchester, where he was formerly for upwards of 8 years, and will assume his duties immediately.—Winchester Star. Mr. Taylor has just returned from quite a lengthy visit to Pennsylvania and regions thereabouts. It will be some three weeks yet before he takes charge of the establishment of Beggs & Cobb at Winchester owing to the time Loring & Avery require to close out their business.

— General Miles, the Indian fighter now in command of the military forces operating against the hostile tribes in the remote West, was, when the War of the Rebellion broke out, a dry goods salesman in Boston. He enlisted and served bravely through to the end of the trouble and then joined the Regular Army. He married a niece of General and Senator John Sherman, since which his advancement in army rank has been rapid. He served in the War of the Rebellion in the Massachusetts Regiment in which Captain John P. Crane of this city commanded a Company and was very well known by him. General Miles is a great man to deal with the Indians and will probably come out of the present conflict with additional feathers in his cap.

— Mrs. E. M. Drake, who for several years past has been doing successful Christian missionary work with her husband, Rev. A. J. Drake, in South Dakota, was duly ordained a minister of the gospel a few weeks ago at Iroquois, S. D. She is a woman of bright talents, a sincere and earnest desciple, and a worker in the vineyard of uncommon industry, energy, single-mindedness, and success. Mrs. Drake has lectured in and around Boston—at Worcester, Salem, Peabody, Woburn, and many other places—under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society in the last four or five years, and at its annual meetings held at Saratoga every summer she has been for several successive seasons relied on as the "drawing card." The large number of people in New England who know Rev. Mrs. Drake and honor her for her work in the West will doubtless be surprised, as they certainly will be pleased, to hear of her ordination into the Christian ministry.

A Bit of Medical Truth.

Typhoid fever often gets into a community and has a "run." Science says it is born within the human system, and that when the germ reaches the open air, perhaps through the pores of the skin, its touch is contamination. It is then very essential that clothing should be thoroughly washed, and this can best be done with Brussels soap, and then all typhoid and other germs become inert.

Its the Doctrine We Believe in All The Same.

"Civil Service Reform" has a pretty, jingling sound, but no greater humbug in point of fact, practice and principle has ever been peddled off upon the American people or any other people for that matter. It is the nesting place of demagogues and the garb for charlatans to masquerade in.

The "Spoils Doctrine?" Well, we suppose so. But it's the doctrine we believe in, all the same. — Milford Journal.

We welcome the Milford Journal to our side of the house with much pleasure. We have been battling away at the Civil Service humbug for a good while without getting many recruits. At times we have felt lonesome, believing ourselves all alone in the fight, so when the JOURNAL's eye fell on the above paragraph it felt to rejoice that there were two Republican Editors at least in Massachusetts who had too much sense to be carried away with this British importation, for the growth of which American institutions and ideas are not at all well adapted.

We can sympathize with a man who falls down stairs; also with the woman who does not use the economical Brussels soap.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Aldermen met last Thursday evening week, all the members being present. Elwyn G. Preston was chosen Auditor, receiving six votes to one for C. A. Jones. Edward H. Lounsbury was chosen Clerk of Committees, and Gilman F. Jones, Superintendent of Streets, each unanimously. The annual report of the Chief of Police was received and ordered printed. The Treasurer was directed to pay bills until the appropriations are made. Ordered, that the record of marriages be printed with the city reports.

COMMON COUNCIL.

At the meeting of the Common Council last Friday evening all the members were present. Concurred with the Aldermen in authorizing the Treasurer to pay bills and in printing the record of marriages, limiting them to 2500.

A communication was received from the Aldermen notifying the Council that they had chosen Elwyn G. Preston, Auditor; Gilman F. Jones, Superintendent of Streets, and Edward H. Lounsbury, Clerk of Committees. Put on file. The annual report of the Sinking Fund Commissioners was read, accepted and approved. Ballot for Superintendent of Streets: William Johnson, 1; John Hutchinson, 1; Gilman F. Jones, 9, and the latter was elected in concurrence. Auditor: Charlie A. Jones had 3; Elwyn G. Preston, 8, and the latter was elected in concurrence. Clerk of Committees Edward H. Lounsbury had all the votes cast, and was elected in concurrence.

The Treasurer was authorized to hire a sum not exceeding $120,000 in anticipation of taxes.

An order was passed authorizing the appointment of a committee on the part of the Council, with such of the Aldermen as may join, to have charge of the construction of the Highland school.

An order was passed to draw seats, and they were drawn as follows: Hanson, 1; Simonds, 2; Weafer, 3; Bowers, 4; McAvoy, 5; Cutler, 6; Kendrick, 7; Larkin, 8; O'Donnell, 9; Littlefield, 10. Councilman Littlefield suggested a ballot for City Solicitor, but the President thought it only courtesy that that should be left with the Aldermen. Adjourned.

Mr. David Gould Converse.

Since the death of Mr. David G. Converse, which was announced in our issue of Jan. 2, we have learned some facts which we think will interest those who must have known him well for many years.

Mr. Converse was born in Woburn, Nov. 13, 1820. The house is still standing and is occupied by the florist whose greenhouses are not far from the Railroad station at Bæder & Adamson's works near the Stoneham line.

He was descended from three of the oldest families in this locality; from Edward Converse on his father's side, and from Samuel Richardson on his mothers side, both original founders and settlers of the town of Woburn. He was also a descendant through his paternal grandmother, from the Gould family of Stoneham, made famous by the murder and robbery of which it was the victim many years ago.

Mr. Converse was named David Gould for his great uncle, one of the survivors of that murderous assault and robbery. From this relative, David Gould, Mr. Converse received a small legacy of a few hundred dollars, which came into his possession at his majority. This was prudently loaned in accordance with the advice of a skilful financier, a native of Woburn long since passed away. Such was the beginning of Mr. Converse's long and successful business career.

He was a man of unquestioned integrity, whose word was as good as a bond. He never ensnared men that he might profit by their necessities, nor exacted his dues with cruelty or oppression. While pursuing his own calling he liked best to help those who were earnest in their efforts to help themselves. Many can bear testimony to the value of his helping hand ungrudgingly given in times of business stress.

Mr. Converse was simple in his manners and did not seek notoriety. His many benefactions were so made that few except the recipients knew of them, and now that he is gone some will certainly miss a kind friend in time of need. His public bequests, of which we spoke last week, show that he was not unmindful of the benefits which came to him, in common with every other citizen, from the church, philanthropic and municipal organizations of our city. His success was the reward of integrity, intelligence and a wise economy.

Let our young men heed the lesson.

[Written for the Woburn Journal.]

Thoughts on Seeing

THE MASTERPIECE OF REMBRANDT, "THE SETTING OF THE WATCH," IN AMSTERDAM.

It is famous and yet, as we think of it, the City of Woburn has a greater scene to commemorate, just as the victories of peace are greater than those of war, and as those who have done the most good should be remembered longest.

It is difficult to estimate the value of the discovery of the vulcanization of India-rubber, but had not Charles Goodyear happened on a winter's day while waiting to be served in Col. John Wade's store (now extant), to put a piece of sulphur and India rubber to the stove and found that they fused together, the world's progress in all departments of the art could not have been what it is. Woburn should erect a monument to the discovery, or have a painting of the old store, the red hot cylinder stove, and with the impoverished inventor holding a piece of rubber against it.

The time is coming and has come when Woburn is to be visited by foreigners and the original but humble incident commemorated in the place of its nativity would be a most interesting thing to point out and remember far more than the setting of a watch by armed police in sturdy solid old Holland.

One has only to recall the thousand and one applications of vulcanized rubber which are indispensible modern civilization to be convinced of the truth of these thoughts.—E. C.

Amsterdam, Holland, Aug., 1890.

The Saint Cecilias.

An audience of good size composed of the elite of the city assembled at the Unitarian church last Tuesday evening to enjoy a concert given by the Saint Cecilias, an organization of our best lady musicians, both vocal and instrumental. It was one of the finest ever given in Woburn. The most exacting and critical heard nothing in the singing or playing with which they could find fault.

Mrs. Phinney, Mrs. Partridge, Miss Davis, Miss Ramsdell, vocalists, and Miss Mertena Bancroft, pianist, compose the combination, each of whom is a thoroughly trained and highly educated musician. The singing of each of the ladies was superb, and Miss Bancroft acquitted herself handsomely as an accompanist and also in the execution of several classical piano solos.

The public vocal efforts of Mrs. Phinney are always received with high favor and applause. She is a local favorite and people never fail to come out to hear her when her name is on the bills. Mrs. Partridge is a prime singer too. She has a charming soprano voice—full, round, sweet and well cultivated—and always pleases an audience whose ears are attuned to an appreciation of the best. Miss Davis is popular with music-loving people not only at home but in Boston where she frequently sings. Miss Ramsdell has a very fine and well-educated voice, and to listen to her is a genuine pleasure. The training of the Quartette has been thorough and the blending of their voices is exceptionally good. Of Miss Bancroft nothing need be said. As a pianist she is too well and favorably known to need commendation from our pencil.

The following programme indicates to some extent the character of the concert:

PROGRAMME.

Quartette—Song of the Triton. Molloy.
Song: a. "Still as the Night. Bohm.
b. Spring Song. Ries.
Mrs. PARTRIDGE.
Pianoforte Solos: a. Prelude E-minor. MacDowell.
b. Caprice, E-minor. Mendelssohn.
Miss BANCROFT.
Quartette: a. Russian Song. Rees.
b. Last Night. Kjerulf.
c. Legends. Mohring.
Songs: a. The Heart's Fancies. Thomas.
b. Love Song. MacDowell.
c. "Oh! that we two were Maying". Nevins.
d. Child's Garden Sons. Nevins.
Mrs. PHINNEY.
Trio, "Night Sinks on the Wave." Smart.
Mrs. PARTRIDGE, Miss DAVIS, Miss RAMSDELL.
Song, Sancta Maria (with organ accompaniment.) Faure.
Miss DAVIS,
Quartette, Waltz Song. Brinkworth.
Pianoforte Solo, Spinner-Lied (Flying Dutchman.) Wagner-Liszt.
Miss BANCROFT.
Songs: a. Willow Song. Sullivan.
b. Warning. Helmund.
Miss RAMSDELL.
Quartette: a. Lullaby. Chadwick.
b. Briar Rose, Vierling.
c. Annie Laurie. Arranged by Buck.
Duett, Barcarole. Gounod.
Quartette, "Goodnight." Goldberg

Can See the Stars Fall.

And now you can look and see the stars fall and the heavens disappear at any moment. Deacon George A. Hobbs, the most ultra of all the radical Republicans of Massachusetts, in his WOBURN JOURNAL rebukes Senator Hoar for "playing the part of Nero and fiddling while Rome is burning—for persistently pressing partizan legislation while the country is on the verge of bankruptcy and every interest is appealing to Congress for relief. Editor Hobbs sagely concludes: "More business and less political legislation by the General Government is what the interests of the country demand just now." All over the country the command is: Change Direction—Left Oblique—Forward on first Company—Genoa Junction Journal Stand Fast—Battalion Right-About Face—Guide Left—Forward—March!—Genoa (Wis.) Journal.

The eye of THE WOBURN JOURNAL is never dimmed by partisanship to an extent detrimental to public interests. We plead guilty to the charge of being "the most ultra of all radical Republicans," etc. nevertheless our esteemed Mugwump contemporary of the Badger State will please be assured that we never sacrifice principle to personal considerations, nor let party affiliations deter us from an honest discharge of duty towards the people.

Like the Mugwumps in general, our esteemed Mugwump contemporary of the Badger State is, politically, like a rudderless ship on a tempestuous sea, driven hither and yon, no safe harbor in sight, anchor gone, sails rent, and in a dilapidated, used up, and unenviable condition generally. We would that Editor Riggs might be convicted of this political backslidings and return to the tents of the true believers—to his old associates, the Republican party, quit wandering into by and forbidden paths, and be happy once more.

Carter—Hinckley.

John R. Carter, Esq., a prominent business man of this city, and Miss Josephine S. Hinckley, late teacher in the Winchester Schools, and a lady of superior personal worth, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the residence of Mr. William W. Hill (brother-in-law of Mr. Carter) in this city on Tuesday last by Rev. Edward F. Wheeler of Wilbraham, this State, also a brother-in-law of the groom, and brother of Mrs. Hill.

The wedding was strictly a private affair, the attendance being composed solely of relatives and near friends of the bride and groom. The bride was dressed in a white gown of rich material, and the groom stood in full wedding suit.

There were many beautiful presents from warm friends and business acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter left on the same day on a Raymond excursion train for California where they intend to remain and enjoy the genial winter climate of the Pacific coast for two or three months.

They will please accept the JOURNAL's best wishes for their future peace, prosperity and happiness.

Chief McIntosh's Report—1890.

This annual exhibit of the Chief of our Police shows two things; first, that Chief McIntosh has "attended strictly to business" during 1890 and has proved himself an efficient and capable head of the Force; second, that prohibition reduces the number of arrests for drunkenness and gives the Force less to do in every direction as respects rum than does its opposite, or license rule.

We call particular attention to the statistics presented by Chief McIntosh below. He has made a good officer and it is to be hoped that he will be retained by the new administration in the responsible position now so well and satisfactorily filled by him.

His report shows: that there were 376 arrests, or 200 less than the year before, of which 229 were for drunkenness; 43, assault; 23, larceny. There were 261 search warrants issued, and 91 liquor seizures. 978 gallons seized. Imprisonment, 134 years; committed to House of correction, 123. There were 1568 lodgers entertained.

First Congregational Sunday School.

Secretary's Report for the quarter ending Dec. 28, 1890:

Average Atten.	Whole School,	456
" "	Advanced Dep't,	267
" "	Primary "	147
" "	Bible Class,	42
" "	Teachers Whole School,	55
" "	Adv. Dep't, 38 or 92 pr. ct.
" "	Prim. " 17 " 94 " "
" "	Off. Whole School, 72 " 92 " "
Largest atten. during Quarter was on Oct. 5.		527
Smallest " " " " " " 19.		312

W. W. CROSBY, Secretary.

Agreement Renewed.

WOBURN, Jan. 12, '91.

WOBURN JOURNAL: At the Annual meeting of the Leather Manufacturers Association held Jan. 9, in their rooms in Dow's Block, the Board of officers now serving were re-elected for the year 1891.

It was also voted to accept the proposition made by the Knights of Labor to renew the agreement now in existence for the year 1891.

E. P. FOX, Secretary.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 30 Congress Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

MILLINERY.

All the latest styles in TRIMMED BONNETS and HATS and MILLINERY GOODS.

Mrs. C. PACKARD, 419 Main St., Woburn.

Y. M. C. A.

Sunday 4 p. m. Union meeting for all.

Monday evening, Jan 19, singing class.

Saturday evening Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock.

Sunday 3 p. m. Boys meeting. Prayer service for men at 3.30.

Tuesday evening the first Directors meeting in 1891, at 8 o'clock, at which the committees are to be appointed for 1891.

On Friday evening Jan. 23, Rev. D. N. Beach of Cambridge is to give the opening address of the conference in the Baptist church.

The annual meeting of the Woburn Y. M. C. A. was held on Tuesday evening, Jan. 6, and the following were elected to the Board of Directors to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of five members of the Board and by the death of Mr. Frank S. Burgess: William W. Hill, Dr. H. E. Chase, Richard H. Chamberlain, Everett E. Thompson, Thomas Heartz and James Frazer, the last three named being re-elected.

The full Board then chose William W. Hill President; Albert B. Dimmick, Vice President and Clerk; Thomas Heartz, Treasurer. The matter of a new building on Main street for the Association was referred to the Board. Reports were read by General Secretary Bailey and other officers and committees. The Association is in good financial condition, having a surplus of about $200 in the Treasury after paying all expenses of the year.

In Mr. Hill the Association made a judicious choice for President. He takes a lively interest in the prosperity of the organization, and is willing to make sacrifices for its good. Experience will unquestionably demonstrate the wisdom of the choice.

The Association are fortunate too in securing Mr. Bailey for General Secretary. He appears to be capitally fitted for the work of rescuing boys and young men from the paths of vice and folly and of teaching them of the better way of life.

A somewhat larger share of vital piety wouldn't hurt a few of the officers and members that could be named, but on the whole the Association under able and judicious management are doing a power of good.

The conference of the Y. M. C. A. of the District of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held in this city on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 23, 24, 25, for which the following order of exercises has been arranged. A number of eminent Y. M. C. A. men will be present and participate in the meetings. The local Association are looking for much pleasure from the conference. The following will be the programme: Friday, 6 p. m., reception of delegates in Y. M. C. A.; 6.30 collation; evening session in church; 7.30, praise service, J. H. Gilkey presiding; 7.45, opening exercises; 8 boys' business meeting; 8.15 address. Saturday, forenoon session, John Allen, Waltham, presiding; 9.30 a. m., prayer service, conducted by C. L. Pitkin, Boston; 10, district work, "The Duty of Organized Towards Unorganized Towns," O. E. Ryther, Hyde Park; "Suggestions to District Committee," R. C. Goodwin; 10.30, boys work, conversation, E. McAllister, Waltham; reports from junior department; 11, Bible reading; L. W. Munhall, Philadelphia; 2.30 p. m., devotional services, conducted by W. W. Lyman, Boston; 2.45, building quiz; 3.15, address, L. W. Munhall; 4.15, The work of the Y. M. C. A.: "Why definite work for men." J. W. Cook; "Can the work of the Y. M. C. A. be done by a single church?" Rev. J. F. Fielden, Winchester; 5 to 6, prayer service conducted by George S. Avery, Boston; evening session; 7.30, praise service; 7.45, reports; 8.15, address, Gen. Sec., Boston; Sunday—9 a. m., consecration meeting; 10.30, addresses by delegates; 3 p. m., boys' meeting; 4, men's meeting; 5, women's meeting; 6, prayer meeting; 7.30, mass meeting in the Congregational church. Associations in the district, Boston, Brockton, Charlestown, Cambridge, Harvard University, Hyde Park, Natick, Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Wincester, Woburn. District committee—Alfred H. Whitford, Chairman, Cambridge; George S. Avery, Secretary, Boston; O. E. Ryther, Hyde Park; F. V. Wooster, Winchester; W. L. Rockwell, Watertown; George H. Brown, Quincy; L. H. Roots, Harvard University; Hugh Campbell, Newton; W. W. Lyman, Brockton; W. B. Herrick, Natick; E. McAllister, Waltham; Horace P. Wilder, Marlboro'; Albert B. Dimick, Woburn. Entertainment will be provided for delegates.

Complimentary.

At the closing meeting of the Common Council of 1890, held on Friday evening, January 2, the following resolutions, offered by Councilman Fox of Ward 2, were passed unanimously:

WHEREAS: By the retirement of our esteemed President, E. E. Thompson, our official relations with him are brought to an end, therefore be it

Resolved, That, the thanks of the members of the Common Council are due Mr. Thompson for the able manner in which he has presided over our deliberations; and be it

Resolved, That, we his associates take this opportunity to express the esteem in which we hold him as a faithful public servant and the respect we entertain for him as a citizen of high character and sterling worth, and we sincerely hope that his future life may be marked with that success and prosperity which the actions of his public and private life so richly merit as the reward of an honorable career.

At the same meeting Councilman Eames of Ward 6 offered the following:

Resolved, That, the thanks of this Council be and are hereby extended to its Clerk, E. H. Lounsbury, Esq., for the prompt, efficient, and business like manner which he has performed the duties of his office.

Passed by a unanimous vote.

Both gentlemen responded in a few appropriate and feeling remarks.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Capt. Wyer Not Alone.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL: I see by your last week's issue that there is much talk at the State House about Hon. Edwin F. Wyer of this city, present Senator for the 5th Middlesex District, being the first member of the Massachusetts General Court ever known to refuse a railroad pass. Now, I don't believe there is a single member of the Legislature who would not express his honest convictions on all questions of interest to the people whether he rides on a pass or not.

I have known Senator Wyer all his life. I never knew him do anything but speak out frankly and act honestly in regard to the interests of Woburn and the public generally. His fellow-Senators will find Captain Wyer ready to free his mind fairly and intelligently on any questions of moment that may come before the Senate.

But I will take the liberty to inform the present Legislature that there now lives in the City of Woburn, and has for many years, a gentleman whom all the people respect; who has held many important offices; who was elected some years ago to the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and subsequently to the Senate; and who was given railroad passes by the Boston & Lowell RR. Co. What did he do with them? He returned them to the Company. And who was the member? Hon. Joseph G. Pollard.

I have known many others to do the same thing. I do not believe that all men the service of the State would violate their oaths and consciences for a railroad pass. And many ride on them. I do not know of a State in the Union whose members of the Legislature do not accept and ride on railroad passes during the sessions.

AN OLD MEMBER
OF THE MASS. LEGISL

Remnants. Remnants. Remnants.

Our Annual Sale of Remnants and Shop-worn Goods, remnants of Dress Goods, Cloakings, Linings, Flannels, Cotton Cloths, Table Linens, Towelings, Ginghams, Calico, etc.

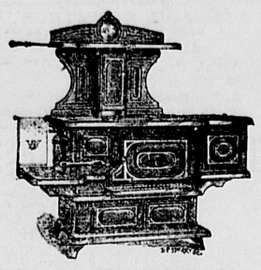
Shop-worn Blankets, Comforters, Underwear, Men's Laundered Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Neckwear.

Ladies' and Misses' Garments at one-half their former price.

Felt Goods such as Table Covers, Tidies, Scarfs, etc., all at greatly reduced prices.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

—AND—

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

[For the Journal.]

Psyco-Physical Culture.

The practical value of culture in every form is admitted by all and the growing interest in Physical Culture is shown by the time and care given in our schools and gymnasiums to these forms of development.

"What is culture if not mental?" asked Mrs. Choate in her lecture Saturday afternoon. "It is doing away with limitations we have made for ourselves, or allowed to be made for us; it is asserting, I can do what I believed I could not do; that constitutes so called Physical Culture; is it then in mind? Surely. Who sets your limits? What holds you in bonds? When we come to understand the power of mind, that our thinking makes our conditions, we find freedom."

Mrs. Choate talks with earnest consciousness of the truth of her words and was eloquent in declaring that the Christ work is as truly the healing of the body as the saving of the soul. Jesus went about teaching and healing and so taught his disciples saying "greater things shall ye do."

An appreciative audience were sorry for the lecture to close and many lingered to ask questions. We are therefore glad to say to those, and to the public who may wish to hear more, that Mrs. Choate has consented to come again, and will be glad to meet everyone in the Y. M. C. A. Parlor, Saturday at 3 o'clock. She will answer questions at the close of the lecture, which will be entitled: "Man's relations to the Eternal: the Infinite."—VERA.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Words of Praise.

A prettier or more enjoyable concert has seldom been given in Woburn than that of "The Saint Cecilias" Tuesday evening in the Unitarian church. The Club, consisting of Mrs. Phinney, Mrs. Partridge, Miss Davis, Miss Ramsdell, with Miss Bancroft at the piano, gave a bright and varied programme of quartettes, trios, duets and solos.

Mrs. Partridge was in fine voice and sang with clearness and power. Her solo, "Still as the Night," was a gem.

Mrs. Phinney's exquisite group of songs were artistically given.

Miss Ramsdell is a young singer of much promise and sang the "Willow Song" delightfully.

Miss Davis always gives pleasure, and her solo "Sancta Maria," with organ accompaniment, deserved high praise. We were only sorry it was not repeated.

With the quartettes we were much pleased, particularly the old favorite, "Annie Laurie." The perfection of the accompanying was not the least of success of the concert and Miss Bancroft's piano-forte solos were finely rendered and highly appreciated.

A very attractive feature was the novelty of young lady ushers and programme girls in white gowns.—LISTENER.

W. H. S. G. A.

Last Wednesday evening the Woburn High School Graduates Association held their annual meeting at High School building for the election of officers. In the absence of the President, E. F. Johnson, Vice President Elmore A. Pierce presided. The Secretary and Treasurer made their annual reports, that of latter showing all expenses paid and a balance in the treasury. Also that 91 people had joined the Association in the last year.

A committee of 5 were chosen by ballot to bring in a list of officers for next year to report at an adjourned meeting at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, Jan. 21. The committee were: F. B. Leeds, H. B. Grant, Belle Menard, E. A. Pierce, H. N. Conn, to which Mrs. H. M. Strout was added by the committee. Subsequently the committee met and selected a ticket.

Members of the Association are earnestly solicited to attend the meeting next Wednesday evening without further notice.

Joint Installation.

At a joint installation of officers of Shawsheen Tribe, I. O. R. M. and Nahmeokee Council D, of P. the following officers were installed by deputies from Stoneham on last Friday night:

SHAWSHEEN TRIBE: Prophet, A. U Dickson; Sachem, A. T. Webber; S. S., John H. Bates; J. S., E. J. Hart; C. of R., Chas. H. Harrington; A. C. of R., A. P. Tabor; K. of W., W. A. Hanson.

NAHMEOKEE COUNCIL: Prophetess, S. Jessie Crowell; Pocahontas, Hattie Knight; Wanonah, Abbie N. French; Powhatan, J C. Knight; K. of R., O. C. Greenleaf; A. K. of R., Rebecca Brooks; K. of W., Mabel E. Dickson.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

WE WISH YOU

A Happy New Year!

Your presence is respectfully requested to inspect the beautiful assortment which we have just opened of the

Celebrated WA Lock Stitch

brand of Muslin Underwear for Ladies.

We wish to call your personal attention to the fact that this brand is the only one that guarantees all garments to be made entirely on Lock Stitch Machines, and with the best 6 cord thread upper and under, everything full size in length and width, made of good Muslin and Cambric, and are in every respect the best that is made.

Do not fail to examine this line of Goods before you make your purchases.

Very respectfully,

C. Willard Smith

WOBURN, MASS.

North Woburn.

Mr. A. W. Tidd is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Mr. Arthur Page has been quite sick but is now gradually recovering.

On last Tuesday Mr. Enoch Curtis slipped and fell and hurt his foot badly.

Miss Gertrude Anderson of Malden has been visiting friends in this village.

A spelling match will take place in the vestry of the Congregational church this, Friday evening.

Mr. Arthur H. Linscott is travelling through the Carolinas on business for J. B. Lewis & Co., Boston, Mass.

The annual meeting of the W. C, T. U. was held in the parlor of the Congregational church on last Wednesday afternoon. Officers were chosen.

The Woburn City L. and I. Co., is still prospering. Mr. Peters has moved into his new house on one of its thoroughfares. A big boom is expected in the spring.

A party of twelve young people enjoyed a pleasant sleighride on last Saturday evening. The jingle of bells and the blowing of horns could be heard in all directions.

Burlington.

The "Social Five" had a dancing party in the Town Hall Thursday evening.

Tickets are being sold for the ball to be given by the Agricultural Society, Friday evening, Jan. 16.

Dr. Torrey of Lynn preached at the church Sunday morning, and is expected to supply the pulpit next Sunday.

The annual sale of seats in the church was held Thursday afternoon. The popular auctioneer, Mr. G. W. Austin of Arlington who every year generously contributes his services to the church, officiated. The sale was prompt and very satisfactory, the first choice selling for nearly twice as much as last year and all the seats averaging a higher price than ever before. At half past four o'clock an adjournment was ordered, and the company repaired to the church parlor where an excellent supper was served by the Ladies Benevolent Society. After the supper the sale was continued until all present had selected their seats.

Mr. William H. Walker, who died at his home in Burlington, Jan. 10, was one of our best known citizens. Born in Burlington, he spent his whole life in the town occupying the farm which was owned by his father. Mr. Walker was very successful in his chosen occupation and demonstrated to all who knew him that the tilling of the soil may be as pleasant and profitable as any other employment. As a neighbor and friend he was highly esteemed. His strict integrity and faithfulness in every relation of life were well known. He held, at different times, important town offices and discharged his duties with marked success. Mr. Walker had been for many years one of the most active members of the church and his place will not be easily filled. During his long illness he still kept his interest in the affairs of the church and his last work was to take part in the annual parish meeting which was held at his house a few weeks before his death. The funeral services, Tuesday afternoon, were conducted by Rev. A. S. Hudson of Ayer, a former pastor of the Burlington church.

Those who worship at the shrine of the economical Brussels soap arise purified.

Boston Theatres.

Next Monday evening, Jan. 19, "Kajanka" begins a short engagement at the Grand Opera House. Kajanka is as near perfection as modern stage management can make it. The story is entirely new and typifies the battle of good against bad in the guise of spirits. Electra is the good fairy of nature, and Beelzebub is, of course, her arch enemy. The staging of the extravaganza is gorgeous in the extreme. At the rising of the curtain the audience gazes into Beelzebub's cave, a pit of blackness illuminated only at intivals by sepulchral flames. Changing scenes display successively the Janish Idol Temple, a fairy grotto, the floral bower, an artist's studio, Electra's home, and the grand final transformation scene. Good comedy work is done by Chas. W. Ravel as the clown, William Ruge as harlequin and Joe Allen as the high priest of the temple. The specialties are of a high order, of which Mlle. Bertoto, the baby premier, takes the lead. She is apparently no more than 6 or 7 years of age, but can dance like a fairy and change her costume in the twinkling of an eye.

A Good Paper.

Every housewife can find much help and advice in the columns of "The Home", a family paper adapted to the wants of every member. It is published monthly at 141-a Milk street, Boston, Mass., has 16 pages filled with interesting stories for young and old, fashions and fancy work illustrated, and much valuable matter for the kitchen and farm. Subscription price of "The Home" only 50 cents a year. Sent on trial 3 months for 10 cents. Sample copies mailed free; also illustrated premium list of 100 premiums sent to any address.

By the showing of scientists and the experience of parents, physicians and nurses, throughout the country, the claims of Mellin's Food have been thoroughly established. It is in the form of a dry powder, consisting entirely of soluble and assimilable matter, the indigestible portions being eliminated by careful scientific processes.

Tobacco.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL:—Your issue of Dec. 26, announces the fact that Mayor Johnson has made an effort to suppress tobacco smoke in the Municipal Building during business hours.

To a Woman who hates tobacco—emphatically hates it whether indulged in as "smoke," "snuff" or "chew"—this effort on the part of Mayor Johnson seems the crowning glory of his highly honorable administration of public duties since he became the Mayor of Woburn.

Taxes, water rates and other matters of business compel women to go to that building. Often the question has arisen in the mind of the writer: What right have the men who assemble there for the adjustment of matters relating to the inhabitants of the city, to indulge themselves in filthy habits that defile the atmosphere, rendering it sickening and detestable for others to encounter who are compelled to go to the various offices? Non-compliance with legal demand for taxes subjects the individual to suit-at-law or process that disgraces reputation.

And yet, till this out-spoken gallantry on the part of Mayor Johnson, women have been obliged to endure the infliction and wait before officials in an atmosphere loaded with the fœtid fumes of tobacco. To many it is not merely offensive but seriously injurious to health.

Men do the voting that establishes men in the public offices. Men demand of women the same prompt payment of taxes that is required of men. But, is it fair, is it in keeping with gentlemanly department, to subject women to contact with the vile odor that emanates from tobacconized breaths and smoke? Praise, emphatic praise, is due Mayor Johnson for having assailed the Protean vice, even at this late day in his official power. May the succeeding Mayor follow the lead of Mayor Johnson till all public offices and thoroughfares shall be freed from the effects of tobacco, so that clearly people who despise it may be spared exposure and annoyance.

The revival of an old fashioned edict, if in force to-day, would enhance the moral and physical interests of thousands who are now being victimized by the curse of tobacco. The men of our city have deliberately licensed the sale of rum—by many declared "the way to enrich the Treasury." Gladly women would see "the Treasury enriched" by the following becoming, like license, a city law:

"TOBACKO."

"fforasmuch as it is observed, that many abuses are crept in, and committed, by frequent taking of tobacko:

"It is ordered by the authority of this Courte, that no person under the age of twenty-one years, nor any other, that hath not already accustomed himself to the use thereof, shall take any tobacko, until hee hath brought a certificate under the hands of some who are approved for knowledge and skill in phisick, that it is useful for him, and allso, that hee hath received a lycense from the courte, for the same.——And for the regulating of those, who either by theire former taking it, have, to theire owne apprehensions, made it necessary to them, or uppon due advice, are pursuaded to the use thereof. It is ordered "That no man within this colonye, after the publication hereof, shall take any tobacko publiquely, in the streett, highways, or any barne yardes, or uppon training dayes, in any open places, under the penalty of six-pence for each offence against this order, in any the particulars thereof, to bee paid without gainesaying, uppon conviction, by the testimony of one witness, that is without just exception, before any one magistrate.

"And the constables in the severall townes, are required to make presentment to each particular courte, of such as they doe understand, and can evict to bee transgressors of this order."

When the above becomes a City law, in Woburn (?) and necessary to procure "a certificate under the hands of some who are approved for knowledge and skill in phisick" it is to be hoped the Dr. who is so enslaved by the smoke habit that he indulged in the pet sin while waiting in the vestibule of a church for his wife to put on her wraps after an evening entertainment, will not be Chairman of the Board for granting the certificates. "Fair play" would appoint from the other side.

"Tobacco, thou art the greatest curse of the whole earth, for thou maketh man hunger and thirst for rum."—X.

Unitarian Sunday School.

The annual election of officers of the Unitarian Sunday School occurred on Sunday, Jan. 4, and the following persons were elected:

Superintendent, Rev. H. C. Parker; First Assistant, Wm. F. Davis; Second Assistant, Harry Brackett; Treasurer (for the 19th year), D. H. Richards; Secretary, Miss E. F. Platts.

Directors, Mr. H. M. Aldrich, A. W. Parker, Mrs. J. T. Trull, Mrs. E. D. Shaw, Miss Grace Bryant. Music Director, H. M. Aldrich; Librarians, George Ferguson, Henry Parker, Harry Richardson.

Number of attendants one hundred sixty-five.

To Nervous Debilitated Men.

If you will send your address, we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Appliances, and their charming effects upon the nervous debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor and manhood. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Belt and Appliances on a trial. Pamphlet free.

VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

Some More Calendars.

Hood's Calendar for 1891 is out and it is certainly a beautiful production of the lithographers' and printers' arts. The subject represents three children playing musical instrumeuts, and the positions, expressions, coloring and general fluish make a most charming picture. But to be appreciated it must be seen. Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla Calender, or send six cents in stamps for one copy, or ten cents for two, to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, Jan. 10, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

A. E., Woburn, Mass. P. O., Henry Carey, M. Gerty, 16 High St., Mr. S. D. Jakes, Harry Kenney, Mrs. Robert Mabey, Box 1060, Mr. S. G. Smith, Mr. Andrew Spence, Vinney Terry.

WINCHESTER.

The new quarters of the Y. M. C. A. are nearly completed and ready for occupancy.

The meetings of the Week of Prayer, held at the Congregational and Baptist churches were quite well attended.

Mrs. Henry Howe has been quite ill for some time, but her many friends hope to soon see her about again fully restored to health.

"Farseer" raked our town authorities over the coals in last week's Star from a financial stand-point. There was a good deal of truth in what he said.

Everybody is expecting the concert, to be given here on the evening of the 26th instant, is going to be the richest musical treat of the season. And everybody is getting ready to attend it.

The officers of William Parkman Lodge, F. and A. M., were installed last Friday evening by Worthy Brother H. G. McGrew, grand lecturer, assisted by R. W. William H. Parkman, P. G. M. They are as follows: W. M., Charles E. Corey; senior warden, J. H. Winchenback; junior warden, D. W. Pratt: secretary, Thomas S. Spurr; treasurer, I. S. Palmer.

It is the prevailing opinion here, and it is certainly the prevailing wish, that General John M. Corse may be his own successor in the Boston Postoffice. He was a brave and gallant soldier in the War of the Rebellion. His military skill, quick thought, indomitable courage, hard work, and plucky soldiery, enabled him to "Hold the Fort" and thus secure General Sherman's triumphant "March to the Sea." He never ought to lack any good thing which the general government has in its power to give.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

FRESH IDEAS IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it.

Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom:

Washington Street, cor. Elm, BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

FIFTY-SIX HORSES.

It takes fifty-six horse power to run the two mammoth presses which are soon to be placed in the

BOSTON HERALD

Office.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

If First-class Goods at half price is any object to you, call at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

And inspect the following articles:—

Light Blue Cashmere, 39c. worth 62½c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 75c. worth $1.75.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 79c. worth $1.25.

Striped French Beige in Blue and Brown, 35c., 62½c.

50 doz. Napkins, slightly soiled, at 60c. on the dollar.

This is a dull month, and to induce you to buy we will give you a big benefit.

Manure Wanted.

In large or small lots, or stables by the year.

Address JOHN J. MEAD,

Woburn, Mass.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main steeet, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 388 Main Street, Woburn.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Abigail Winn, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Parker L. Converse and Leonard Thompson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of David G. Converse, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Oliver P. Bryant of said Woburn, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLETEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Ella G. Richardson, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Theodore M. Parker, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, no executor being named in said will;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Eli Cooper, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Alva S. Wood, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

CONCERT.

A Concert will be given in the Town Hall, Winchester,

—ON—

Monday Evening, Jan. 26, 1891.

ARTISTS:

Miss Hattie W. Clark, Soprano,
Miss Helen Louise Woodbury, Contralto,
Mr. Geo. J. Parker, Tenor,
Mr. Robt. C. Whitten, Baritone,
Mr. H. G. Tucker, Pianist,
Mr. Heinrich Schuecker, Harpist.

Tickets, 50 and 75 Cents.

At Brown's Drug Store.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., | Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. |

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, JR.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St. cor. Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

The First Annual EXHIBITION!

—OF THE—

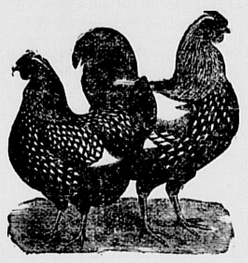
Woburn Fanciers' Club,

WILL BE HELD IN

Lyceum Hall, Woburn,

—ON—

Jan. 21, 22 & 23, 1891



The show will embrace all the Standard varieties of Fowl, also collections of cross-bred Fowl, Pigeons, Rabbits, and Household Pets.

An Incubator will be on exhibition, with the hatch coming out during the days of the show.

Artificial Brooders will also be exhibited, caring for the newly hatched chicks.

The Judges are the best that can be procured, and the interest already manifested by the fraternity throughout New England, warrant a successful show.

Now, fanciers of Woburn and vicinity, bring out your birds and let us see what we have about home.

Premium lists, rules and all other needed information, can be had by applying to

M. W. TRUE, Secretary,
Woburn, Mass.

Another Reduction

IN THE PRICE OF

FLOUR

The Perfect Flour,	$6.75 Bbl.
Corrugated Flour,	6.50 "
Pillsbury's Best Flour,	6.50 "

All other Brands equally low. A discount of 25c. per bbl. made on Flour taken at the store.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

THE SELF-RESTORER FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 381 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

1,000 LBS.

Nearly one-half a ton of excellent

NOTE PAPER

At 15 cents a pound of 120 sheets, and BEAUTIFUL BOX PAPER for 10 cents to 37 cents, at

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

WE TAKE

Old Pianos in Exchange.

Mail us a postal, and a competent man will be sent to value your instrument, and tell you how far it will go toward a new one. The balance can be in monthly payments, running thro' two or even three years. Don't say you can't afford a New Piano till you have given us a trial. Write us TO-DAY.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO.

183 Tremont St., Boston.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Wilton Overcoatings for $25.

—AT—

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

—AT—

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Central House, Woburn, Mass.

SIDE ENTRANCE.

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

GOD'S CARE OF ELIJAH.

LESSON III, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JAN. 18.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xvii, 1-16. Commit Verses, 2-5—Golden Text, Ps. xxxiv, 10—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "And Elijah the Tishbite, who was of the inhabitants of Gilead, said unto Ahab."

Sixty years have passed since the kingdom was divided. Six kings have reigned over the ten tribes (Jeroboam, Nadab, Baasha, Elah, Zimri and Omri), each seeming to excel his predecessor in wickedness (xvi, 25, 30), and all walking in the ways of Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin (xiv, 16; xv, 26, 30, 34; xvi, 19, 26), and now we have Ahab, the seventh, the worst of all, the perfection of wickedness (xvi, 33).

"As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word."

2. "And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying."

There is nothing under the sun like "the word of the Lord." It is pure, sure and unchanging like the Lord Himself. "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven." "The word of our God shall stand forever." His name is called the word of God (Ps. cxix, 89; Isa. xl, 8; Rev. xix, 13). Let us be filled with His word and wholly subject to it.

3. "Hide thyself by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan."

"Get thee hence" teaches us that one who would live close to God must not tarry long with those who know Him not; just long enough to testify for Him and then be gone.

4. "Thou shalt drink of the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there."

5. "So he went and did according unto the word of the Lord."

Here is one man who is obedient; he questions not, but simply obeys. He is subject to the word of the Lord.

6. "And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the brook."

He could sing the song of Hab. iii, 17, 18, and say, "Though vineyard, field and flock all fail, yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation!"

7. "And it came to pass, after awhile, that the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land."

The source of this brook was not unfailing; it was dependent upon the clouds, which empty their contents upon the earth. Elijah, however, depended neither upon the brook nor upon the clouds, but upon Him who is far above all.

8. "And the word of the Lord came unto him."

God does not forget those who trust in Him, nor is He ever too late with His providing. Elijah saw the brook drying up day by day, but so did his God whom he served. Just enough of the necessaries of this life, and one day's supply at a time, keeps one very close to God, while an abundance is apt to lead us to forget Him.

9. "Arise, get thee to Zarephath, * * * behold I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee."

Young says that Zarephath signifies "place of refining;" and if Cherith signifies "cutting," as the word would seem to indicate, we can see the processes by which the Lord was fitting His servant for the great day on Carmel. Without the cutting and refining of Cherith and Zarephath he never would have been able to stand alone for God as he afterward did on Carmel.

10. "When he came to the gate of the city, behold the widow woman was there gathering of sticks."

It was quite a journey from Cherith to Zarephath, but the journey is not noticed. Observe the silence of Scripture concerning such matters.

11. "Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand."

As he came near to the city and saw this poor woman the Spirit must have whispered, "This is she."

12. "As the Lord thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse."

Behold the larder that is to sustain the prophet in this widow's home. By the brook he had bread and flesh twice a day; but now there is no flesh, and only enough meal to make one last cake for the woman and her son, after which they expect to die.

13. "And Elijah said unto her, Fear not; go and do as thou hast said."

He wavers not, he trembles not, he is not moved; "his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord;" "he waits only upon God; his expectation is from Him" (Ps. cxii, 7; lxii, 5, 6). God, who could direct ravens where to find bread and flesh, can as easily supply the need in this case. If ever a woman had cause to fear to give away her last morsel surely this woman had; but the command comes strong and clear: "Fear not, * * * Make me a little cake first." If we would grow strong in faith let us consider well the "Fear nots" of Scripture from the first ones in Gen. xv, 1; xxi, 17, to the last in Revelation, and see how God, even our own God, is above all circumstances of time or place; and how abiding in His love will cast out all fear (I John iv, 18).

14. "Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, the barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day the Lord sendeth rain upon the earth."

It would seem from this that God had told Elijah how he would provide in this case, viz., by a miraculous increase of the meal and oil from day to day; and this is told the widow for her encouragement, for she has not been living at Cherith, and has not learned the secret of peace when cut off from seen resources. This meal and oil would make unleavened bread, symbol of the putting away of all evil (I Cor. v, 7, 8), for we cannot know the power of God unless we walk with him in sincerity and truth.

15. "And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah; and she, and he, and her house did eat many days (Margin: "A full year")."

Here again is obedience and consequent blessing. It was a poor time to take in a boarder, with not enough in the house for present company. It seemed to the disciples a poor time to have 5,000 hungry men around when five loaves and two fishes were all that the disciples had for themselves. But they learned, and this widow learned, that "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth" (Prov. xi, 24). Many are poor because they keep their little all for themselves.

16. "The barrel of meal wasted not, neither did the cruse of oil fail, according to the word of the Lord, which He spake by Elijah."

This is the fourth time that we have met in this lesson the expression, "the word of the Lord." We called attention to it in the second verse, urging full subjection.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at H. L. Flanders & Co.'s Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

The young Viscount Belgrave, grandson of the Duke of Westminster, if he lives to inherit his patrimony, will be the richest man in the world. By the time he attains his majority his income will amount to between $10,000 and $20,000 a day.

Wharton Barker, the Philadelphia reformer, is a journalist and successful banker.

A LAND OF QUEER CUSTOMS.

The Ways People in Holland Have for Doing Ordinary Things.

All things are reversed in Holland. The main entrance to the finest public building in the country, The Palace, or late town hall, of Amsterdam, is its back door. Bashful maidens hire beaus to escort them to the kermis, or fair, on festival days. Timid citizens are scared in the dead of the night by their own watchmen, who at every quarter of the hour make such a noise with their wooden clappers one would suppose the town to be on fire. You will see sleds used in summer there. They go bumping over the bare cobblestones, while the driver holds a dripping oil rag in advance of the runners to lessen the friction. You will see streets of water, and the country roads paved as nicely as Broadway. You will see vessels hitched like horses to their owners' doorposts, and whole rows of square peaked houses leaning over the street, as if they were getting ready to tumble.

Instead of solemn striking clocks you will hear church chimes playing snatches of operatic airs every quarter of an hour by way of marking the time. You will see looking glasses hanging outside of the dwellings, and pincushions displayed on the street doors. The first are called spionnen (or spionnetjen), and are so arranged outside of the windows that persons sitting inside can, without being seen, enjoy a reflection of all that is going on in the street. They can learn, too, what visitor may be coming, and watch him rubbing his soles to a polish before entering.

The pincushion means that a new baby has appeared in the household. If white or blue the new comer is a girl; if red it is a little Dutchman. Some of these signals are very showy affairs; some are not cushions at all, but merely shingles trimmed with ribbon or lace; and among the poorest class it is not uncommon to see merely a white or red string tied to the door latch—fit token of the meager life the poor little stranger is destined to lead.

Sometimes, instead of either pincushion or shingle, you will see a large placard hung outside of the front door. Then you may know that somebody in the house is ill, and his or her present condition is described on the placard for the benefit of inquiring friends, and sometimes, when such a placard has been taken down, you may meet a grim looking man on the street dressed in black tights, a short cloak and a high hat from which a long, black streamer is flying. This is the Aanspreker going from house to house to tell certain persons that their friend is dead. He attends to funerals, and bears invitations to all friends whose presence may be desired. A strange, weird looking figure he is; and he wears a peculiar, professional cast of countenance that is anything but comforting.—Mary Mapes Dodge in St. Nicholas.

Just in Time.

In the good old times, when it was the custom to proclaim the banns in public from the pulpit two Sundays before the marriage of a couple, there lived in western New York a youth named Isaiah Gage, who was about taking to himself a wife.

It was the custom in the particular church which Isaiah attended for the minister to read the banns with the other notices just before the sermon.

Isaiah was familiar, of course, with this custom, and on the morning when his own banns were to be read timed his movements so as to come into church quietly just as the sermon was beginning.

The old minister was an eccentric, absent minded man, and as he saw the young man come down the aisle he paused—he had just announced his text—and said: "Oh! seeing Isaiah Gage reminds me of his banns with Polly McCabe. I have the document here somewhere!"

And to the overwhelming embarrassment of the now prominent Isaiah the banns were read.

Isaiah said afterward that it was done on purpose by the old doctor, but the minister solemnly declared that he had really forgotten the notice.—Youth's Companion.

French Fruits and Vegetables.

The French larder was much better furnished than the English in mediæval times, but some things were considered dainties which are now discarded. Our modern confectioners offer us candied violets, but the French of the Fourteenth century used to cook violet leaves like spinach or serve them as salad. They also used to eat the green ears of wheat boiled with melted butter, just as in this country we eat the unripe ears of Indian corn. The young burgeons of the grapevine boiled and dressed with a piquant sauce was a favorite vegetable entremet on a French mediæval table. In general, however, it must be said that even in the most civilized parts of the continent of Europe 500 years ago people had fewer flowers, fruits and vegetables than we have now.—New York Ledger.

A Parlor Receptacle.

This is a box 30 inches high, 20 inches wide and 16 deep, made of black walnut or of white wood stained and varnished. Fifteen inches from the bottom put a shelf to fit the box perfectly. Inclose the front and fit a drawer thereby, making a receptacle for dust cloths, brushes, etc. Above this place a rack having four compartments for music or two shelves for books. A curtain falling in front of the books and music is an improvement.—Cor. New York Press.

Card of Thanks.

I hereby desire to extend to all of my friends my thanks for the many kindnesses extended to me during my past illness of over three months from rheumatism, and I especially desire to tell them that but for Sulphur Bitters I should have been suffering still. May you never suffer what I have, is the wish of your friend,

B. H. Tayleur.

Gen. Butler's happy faculty of dropping off into a sound sleep on short notice is one secret of his great vitality and vigor. In his stumping tours he will sleep in railway trains and in carriages as readily and as comfortably as in his bed.

Jay Gould employs often two brokers, but never lets one know what the other is doing. He has twenty-five special wires running from his office.

Cornelius Vanderbilt has purchased two of Turner's famous pictures in London for $80,000.

CONSTINE'S LOST CHARM.

Missed It in Atlanta and Had It Served to Him in a Seattle Restaurant.

H. L. Constine, of New Orleans, La., who has been in Seattle for several days, tells a story that would rival in its improbability the tales of the "Arabian Nights." Mr. Constine, however, declares that his story is true, and says that he is willing to swear to it.

"When I was in Atlanta, Ga., some time ago," said Mr. Constine, "I was invited by a friend, Mr. John Sawyer, to visit a peach cannery in which he was employed. After I had completed my tour of the cannery I missed a very valuable charm that I had been wearing on my watch chain. The loss was a sad one to me, inasmuch as the charm was a gift from a dead sister. I offered a liberal reward for the return of the charm, which I supposed I had dropped somewhere about the cannery, but all to no purpose, as I never heard from it.

"I had returned home and had given up all hopes of recovering the charm. About two months ago I conceived the idea of visiting the Pacific coast, and arranging my business in short order, started at once for the west.

"I arrived in Seattle and was visiting friends who live near Yesler avenue. One day I was down town and stepped into a restaurant for lunch.

"After eating a hearty lunch I called for some peaches and cream. I started to eat the peaches, and was in the act of cutting one of them with a spoon, when the spoon struck some hard substance which appeared to be imbedded in the heart of one of the peaches. I worked the substance out with my spoon and held it up to the light. My surprise can be better imagined than described when I found that I held in my hand my missing charm, which I had long ago given up for lost.

"The story is a strange one," concluded Mr. Constine, "and I should hardly be willing to believe it myself if told to me by a stranger, but nevertheless every word of it is strictly true. The only way I can account for the mysterious disappearance and recovery of the jewel is that it became disengaged from the chain when I was watching the performance of a new coring and paring machine in which I was much interested while I was visiting the cannery in Atlanta, and it fell in among the peaches without my noticing it."

The charm, which Mr. Constine showed the reporter, was a gold cross, with a small diamond set in either end and a larger one in the center, and was of very unique design. The story is a strange one, but was told in a concise and straightforward manner that argued well for its veracity.—Seattle Press.

The True Story of Don Juan.

Don Juan was a real character—Don Juan de Marana was his name—and the house where he lived may still be seen behind the Church of All Saints, in Seville, the building itself being the property of the Montijo family, to which family the Empress Eugenie belongs. The house has a balcony and large window, half Mauresque, half Gothic, by which it may be distinguished from its neighbors. And, next, the true story of the final incident is quite different from the stage story.

Don Juan was returning late at night through the city when he met a funeral cortege with singing friars and torches and dirges. He stopped a priest and asked whose it was. He was told Don Juan's. Fascinated he followed the procession and entered the church. The ceremony was conducted with extraordinary solemnity; but at the last moment Don Juan, lifting the coffin lid, recognized himself. Next morning they found him wandering about the church, half demented. He was nursed through a long illness, lived a better life, and died leaving all his wealth to the Hospicio de la Caridad, which he had founded at Seville.—London News.

Something on Eggs.

Eggs are generally considered healthful if properly prepared by the cook. Whether it is worth an act of legislation to classify them, as they do in London, is very hard to tell. There they have "new laid eggs" or "first rate eggs," "fresh eggs" or "moderately good eggs," and "eggs." It is very positive that "eggs" of the third class cannot be too far gone, for nature has generously adapted the unmistakable olfactory method which will cause even the most hungry mortal to retire from their obnoxious presence. The best way to cook eggs is to bring water to the boiling point, drop in as many as you wish, remove the pot from the fire and allow it to stand for five minutes. When the eggs are removed they will be found to be thoroughly cooked, and in a very digestible manner.—Hall's Journal.

Chili Has One Armed Vessel.

The only armed vessel Chili has built since the war with Peru is the Captain Prat, a fine second class armorclad of 6,900 tons displacement, 328 feet long, 60 2-3 feet beam and 21 5-6 feet draught. The highest structure is four 10 1-2 inch breech loading rifles and eight 4.7 inch rapid fire guns. The water line belt is twelve inches thick amidships. The estimated speed is nineteen knots.—New York Herald.

In the fall of 1265 the English parliament passed an act by which the price of bread was brought to a marked or standard uniformity; adulteration was made an offense, punishable by a fine and by prison, and very often by a severe and prolonged confinement in the ignominious pillory.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world is Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high. But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. This wonderful nerve medicine builds up worn out systems, cures fits, sparms, headache, nervous prostration, dizziness, sleeplessness, monthly pains, sexual troubles, etc. Mrs. John R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., gained 20 pounds a month while taking it. Finely illustrated treatise on "Nervous Diseases," and a sample bottle of the Restorative Nervine, free at Charles H. Buss's.

President Bliss, of the Boston and Albany road, was recently offered an increase of salary from $12,000 to $20,000, but declined because he did not consider his services worth so much more.

Adam Monts, of Bigby Fork, Miss., who is 94 years of age, has 400 descendants living.

HE CALLED THEM.

But the Doctor Did Not Know It Until He Nearly Bred a Revolution.

President Wilson gave orders to have electric bells put in at sanitary headquarters, so that he might sit at his desk and, by pressing a button with his foot, call any or all of his chiefs of division in consultation. Having given the order he went away and forgot all about it.

The bellhanger came that night and fitted up his wires. They were all ready and in working order the next morning when Mr. Wilson came down and, taking his usual seat, went to work opening his letters on his desk. Presently his foot strayed toward the waste basket and touched one of the buttons. It was the wire that rang the bell in the registrar's office upstairs. A moment later Dr. Tracy appeared in the doorway, walked to the president's desk and sat down.

Mr. Wilson looked over the edge of the letter, said "Good morning, doctor. How d'ye do?" and went on reading. Unbeknown to him his foot made another trip toward the waste basket. There was something on the floor and, still engrossed in his reading, he gave it a little half unconscious push. Maj. Bullard, of the sanitary police, walked in and sat down beside Dr. Tracy with an expectant air.

The president looked up after a session of protracted study of a knotty sanitary problem, during which he had been singularly bothered by obstructions that kept coming under his feet, to find Mr. Collins, the inspector of plumbing and ventilation; Col. Prentice, the counsel, and Dr. Ewing, the sanitary superintendent, grouped about his desk.

"Well, gentlemen," he said, "what have we on deck this morning that brings you all here?"

"You called," came the simultaneous reply of the expectant band.

"I? No! Always glad to see you, but I did not call."

The staff retired, mystified. Dr. Tracy had barely seated himself in his chair when the bell over his door rang again, as if it meant business. The doctor is a patient man, but he was just a bit flurried as he reappeared before the president, sitting calm and smiling there at his desk.

"You called?"

"I? No! What's the matter, doctor? I said nothing."

The doctor went thoughtfully back to his office, to find the bell ringing yet and the boy trying to make it stop by putting a wad of paper under the clapper. All of a sudden it was still. The president had taken his foot off the button.

Dr. Tracy saw. He went back down stairs and confronted Mr. Wilson once more.

"You called?"

"Why, doctor," exclaimed the president, laying down his paper in much amazement, "I haven't opened my mouth."

"No," said the doctor quietly, "but you probably moved your foot."

Mr. Wilson looked under the table, saw the buttons and the cause of the commotion, and laughed.

"I had forgotten," he said, "that this is an age in which a man may shout with his foot."—New York Sun.

An Unselfish Child.

I must tell an anecdote of a little girl 4 years old. It was a spring day. It had been very hot in the morning. The little girl and her mother set gayly forth at 2 o'clock to make a long intended visit to a dearly beloved grandmamma. It was a long journey in an elevated road to the grandmamma's. The mother had, misled by the hot morning, dressed very lightly. Just as she was about to get into the cars with the child, who was beaming with expectation, she said: "My dear little girl, I am not warmly enough dressed. I am afraid that I shall catch cold. Would you be very much disappointed if we should go to grandmamma's another day?"

The joy in the child's face gave way to solicitude. "Come home," she said eagerly. "I hope, mamma, you have not caught cold," and all the way home she insisted on walking very fast, and talked about going the next day to see grandmamma.

This was a child who had never been punished in the slightest way—never even sent out of the room for punishment—who had always been reasoned with and treated with extreme tenderness—a child of strong will, of intense feeling, of ceaseless energy and a high temper by nature.—Harper's Bazar.

New Theory of Seasickness.

A new theory of seasickness has been recently offered by M. Rochet. Accepting the view that the symptoms are those of cerebral anæmia, he accounts for this anæmia by the disorder brought into muscular contractions through not being used to such sudden movements as those of vessels. M. Rochet's advice is, not to look to anæsthetics, soothing drugs, etc., for relief, but rather to muscular excitants, and, above all, to seek in voluntary movements a compensation for the reflex movements which are not produced. He recommends strychnine, veratrine, ergot of rye and drinks charged with carbonic acid.—New York Telegram.

His New Trade.

Visitor—How is Jack doing in the far west?

Grandma Doting—Jest splendid! You know he was a first rate glassblower at home. And now I hear he's one of the best safeblowers in all his section. It's wonderful, anyhow, what they kin make out of glass these days.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

It is not always perfectly safe to soothe the baby with opium preparations, but you can rely on Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup: it contains nothing injurious. Sold by all dealers for 25 cents.

So extraordinary successful has been the work of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure, that dealers can sell no other. Price only 25 cents.

George M. Pullman, the palace car multi-millionaire, made his first money in Chicago by lifting old houses with jack screws. He was not above handling the bars himself.

Catarrh
In the head
Is a constitutional
Disease, and requires
A constitutional remedy
Like Hood's Sarsaparilla,
Which purifies the blood,
Makes the weak strong,
Restores health.
Try it now.

That about the meanest source of income is the race course.

The Term "John Bull."

Everybody knows that a "Johnny Bull" is an Englishman, but how few of us know how the term first came to be applied to subjects of the British sovereigns. According to the story of its origin, Dr. John Bull was the first Gresham professor of music, besides being organist and composer to her majesty, Queen Elizabeth. John, like all true Englishmen, traveled for improvement, and having heard of a famous musician at St. Omers, France, resolved to place himself under him as a novice. But circumstances soon convinced the master that his talents were inferior to those of his scholar, who, by the way, had not let the Frenchman know his name. Finally one day the musician thought to give John a genuine surprise by rendering a piece in forty parts, taking good care to let the pupil know that he defied all the world to add another part to his composition.

Bull requested to be left alone for a few minutes with the additional indulgence of a pen and ink. In a very short time he had added forty parts more to the song! The master went into ecstacies when he saw what his pupil had done, declaring that the musical world had had more added to it that day than it ever had before in the history of the world, winding up by informing the scholar that he must be one of two personages, either the devil or John Bull, the Englishman—a remark which has ever since been proverbial in Britain.—St. Louis Republic.

One Way to Attract Customers.

An Italian who conducts a confectionery stand in Park Row has adopted a novel idea to force custom. He leaves a silver half dollar lying upon the glass case in which his wares are inclosed. Naturally every one who comes along looks at the half dollar, and as a consequence has his attention called to the goods beneath the glass. Occasionally some well meaning individual, thinking such a reckless exposure of money unintentional and due to carelessness, will pause, call the attention of the Italian, and point to the coin. The Italian pretends to misunderstand the reason he is called.

"Half a pound cat'mels, did you say?" he inquires blandly, as he picks up the half dollar and puts it in his pocket.

"Er-er-a-yes," the victim replies about nine times out of ten. Why he does so reply it would be difficult to say, except on the theory that his good sense wilts beneath the supreme blandness of the Italian.—New York Tribune.

How a Nickel Can Be Made to Grow.

Some time ago the Ladies' Aid society agreed to invest a nickel in some kind of article, and sell it at a profit and reinvest it in something else, and so on, to speculate on this capital for two weeks and see how much each one could make. One lady on the same evening of the meeting bought a cabbage with her nickel. She carried it home and sold half of it to her neighbor for a nickel. She invested that in vinegar and pickled the remaining half and sold the pickle for 25 cents. She then bought 20 cents worth of cloth and a spool of thread and made it up into three aprons, which she sold for 55 cents each, and took the 75 cents and bought molasses, and gave a candy pulling to the children, making them pay 10 cents a plate for the candy. The molasses made twenty-one plates of candy, so she made $2.10 on the nickle in two weeks' time. How money will grow if properly used!—Reading Telegram.

Why It Is Called "North" River.

I overheard Chauncey M. Depew, at the Fifth Avenue hotel the other evening, explaining to some friends from the country the difference between the North and the East river. "Probably not one New Yorker in a thousand can account for the fact that we have an East and a North river instead of an East and a West river. The explanation is found in the fact that the Hudson was originally called the North river to distinguish it from the Delaware, which was familiarly known as the 'South river' among the early colonists. While the latter has become obsolete as a designation, the former is still in current use, although there is no use for it. It is just as easy to say 'Hudson' as 'North,' and it is certainly more charming to both eye and ear."—New York Star.

The Highest Chimney.

The highest smokestack in the world is said to be in Glasgow, Scotland. It belongs to Tennant & Co.'s chemical works, and is 460 feet high. The tallest chimney in England is, or was, in Liverpool, in the London road. We do not know its height, but it was on this chimney that the bricklayer was caught when the scaffolds were taken down. At the suggestion of his wife he unraveled his stockings and let the thread down. To the end she tied first a silk thread, then a thin cord, then a light and lastly a heavy rope, which he tied to the iron bar built into the chimney, and so let himself down.—New York Sun.

Sundown Doctors.

"One has to go no farther away than Washington," remarked a woman recently, "to come upon something unaccustomed. I was curious when I heard a sundown doctor mentioned during a visit there last month till I found out what he was. Young physicians it seems frequently add to the income of their first months of practice by service in some one of the departments. During the day they are clerks, but after 4 o'clock, at sundown, they become physicians; hence the designation."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Frau Charlotte Embden, who recently celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of her birth, and who is the only sister of the poet Heinrich Heine, was born a year after he was, and in childhood especially they were much together.

Miss Elizbeth Peabody, who first introduced into this country from Germany the kindergarten method of teaching the children, is still living in Boston at the age of 87 years, and retains much interest in educational matters.

Nellie Tetrau, of Lumpkin, Colo., a girl of 14, is in charge of one of the immense road engines used in hauling logs to the sawmills. She is said to handle the throttle as well as any of the male engineers.

Dr. G. B. Bigelow, who is serving a term in the penitentiary for bigamy, has been left $30,000 by his first wife, who died lately.

Woman's Column.

Ramabai has added to her school for Hindoo widows a kindergarten for children from three to six years old.

Annie R. Osgood, of Fryeburg, Me., has been appointed by the governor to succeed her father as register of deeds for the western district of Oxford County.

Miss Anna E. Dixon has been elected County Superintendent of Schools for Napa County, Cal., on the Democratic ticket, in a Republican county. She ran nearly 500 ahead of her ticket.

Elizabeth Hollenbeck, who lately died at Los Angeles, Cal., deeded in trust $750,000 to found a home for indigent women and homeless children. A new refutation of the slander that "women are women's worst enemies."

The American Federation of Labor, at its recent annual convention in Detroit, Mich., with about 2,000 delegates present, representing 500,000 workingmen, voted to petition Congress for an amendment to the constitution of the United States enfranchising women.

Rev. Dr. Phillips Brooks closed his remarks on "ladies' night" at the Mystic Valley Club, with the significant remark that "the time will come when your picture-galleries and mechanics' fairs will not have separate departments for men and for women, and the Mystic Valley Club will not have their distinct and separate women's nights."

Mrs. Sarah Bristol Cooper, of San Francisco, contributes to the Woman's Journal of Dec. 20 a delightful account of the Free Kindergartens of that city, which she has been chiefly instrumental in establishing. Of the 8000 children collected from the lowest quarters of the city into these kindergartens, not one has ever appeared in a police court for any misconduct,—a high testimony to the good effect of kindergarten training.

Miss Julia Rappicourt, of Melbourne, Australia, took honors in Greek and French at Melbourne University at the age of sixteen. Now, at nineteen, in the examination for the clerical division of the Victoria civil service, with 196 competitors, this diligent young lady has secured 492 marks out of a possible 500 in mathematics—the highest rank ever taken in such a competition. She hopes to take her degree of M. A., and to study law.

Mrs. Carrie Steele, of Georgia, has founded a colored orphan asylum, where destitute children may be cared for and taught trades. A cottage and stable have been built, a larger building is going up, and four acres of land belonging to the asylum are under full cultivation. All the funds thus far have been raised by Mrs. Steele's personal exertions. She now appeals for State aid, and will probably receive it, the Atlanta papers speaking in high terms of this effort by a colored woman to care for and train "the hundreds of colored orphans who are growing up as material for the chain-gang."

The Case of Miss Carroll.

The effort to purchase an annuity for Miss Anna Ella Carroll is worthy of every encouragement. It seems to be the most prompt and practicable way of ensuring her comfort for the remainder of her life. At her age and in her state of health, a handsome annuity can be purchased for her for a comparatively small sum. The prospect is that not only the bill for a suitable pension, but even the payment of the government's direct money debts to her, will continue to be indefinitely postponed.

The Court of Claims has sat upon her case, and has officially declared that her claim is incontestable; but year after year and session after session the matter is crowded aside by business regarded as more important. During this time, millions of dollars have been voted in pensions to mothers, sisters, widows, daughters, and granddaughters of soldiers, women whose only claim to government aid lay in that relationship, and in the hardships the men of their families had suffered. We do not grudge them their pensions, or question the soundness, in most cases, of their claims. But meanwhile the woman who planned the masterstroke that turned defeat into victory at the most critical moment of the Civil War,—the woman but for whom the Union, in all probability, would not have been saved; the woman whose distinguished service to her country was the direct fruit of her own heart and brain,—is left unpensioned and neglected. It shows how much more easily the world accords recognition to women for services rendered within the generally accepted lines of "woman's sphere," than for a service of a thousand times the importance rendered in an unusual direction.

Nothing is more certain than that Miss Carroll's case will be quoted in history as one of the great instances of national ingratitude. In Byron's tragedy of Marino Faliero, the Doge of Venice, a celebrated general who has repeatedly saved Venice from destruction at the hands of the infidels, conspires against the State in his old age, is discovered, and condemned to death. His wife pleads eloquently before the council for his pardon. A member of the council says:

"He is a traitor, and betrayed the State."

Angiolina answers:

"And, but for him, there now had been no State
To save or to destroy; and you, who sit
There to pronounce the death of your deliverer,
Had now been groaning at a Moorish oar,
Or digging in the Hunnish mines in fetters."

It is interesting to consider where the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives would probably have been to-day, but for the woman whose case the senators and representatives allow to be crowded aside year after year by "more important business." But, unlike the Doge, Miss Carroll's only offense is her having unselfishly concealed her authorship of the plan of campaign, at a time when such concealment seemed to be for the public good.

Somewhere the statue is now waiting in the marble, that will surely be erected by and to the woman who saved the Union. Meanwhile, as it is evident that Congress is not likely to do anything during the lifetime of Miss Carroll, it is well that the women of the country should take the matter up. The appeal in her behalf should meet with a wide and warm response.

Alice Stone Blackwell.

"What is home without a mother?" Why it is about as comfortless as a mantel-piece in winter time without a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Tic douloureux or neuralgia can be permanently cured by the use of Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents.

Maurice Bernhardt, son of Sarah Bernhardt, who lately wounded his antagonist in a duel, is allowed by his mother $35,000 a year for expenses, and he runs into debt besides.

Deformity from Bright's Disease.

S. D. VanBuskirk, of Demarest, N. J., says: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., has cured our daughter of Bright's Disease, after all other means had failed. She was so swollen that she measured 45 inches around the waist, and 18 inches below the knee. To say that we feel thankful for such a boon as Favorite Remedy is but a poor expression."

Six brothers named Withers at Louisville, Ky., are said to be over 6 feet, 6 inches each in height, and their average weight is 191 pounds. Their mother is living at the age of 89 years.

That the time to test friendship is in times of personal disgrace.

That the quarrels of the doctors do not affect the sale of pills.

That actresses have discovered some new methods of advertising.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.
THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50¢

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester."

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the Woburn Journal with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the Woburn Journal.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address Woburn Journal, Woburn, Mass.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on Sulphur Bitters, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use Sulphur Bitters.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using Sulphur Bitters.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where Sulphur Bitters will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and workshops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use Sulphur Bitters. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on Sulphur Bitters, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic Use Sulphur Bitters, and you will not be troubled.

Sulphur Bitters will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

Sulphur Bitters will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

Rooms To Let.

Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let. Enquire at

Journal Office.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.
THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50¢

Hallett & Cumston

Have a beautiful assortment of Upright Pianos, in a great variety of figured woods, such as English Oak, Mahogany, Blister Walnut and Magnolia. They sell on easy monthly instalments, as well as for cash, and will take second-hand pianos, of any manufacture, in exchange. They have also a large number of entirely new Pianos to rent. Please call and examine before buying elsewhere.

200 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY

POPULAR PRICES $2.99 $4.00 $2.00

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 1891. NO. 6.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M. 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.47, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Pemacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.00, 5.32, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.23, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.37, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, s7.45, s8.40, 9.40, 10.35, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10 40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9 10, 9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10.20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9 55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	Edward F. Johnson
President of Aldermen,	William C. Kenney
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	E. E. Thompson
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Loomsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School Sts., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Central House, Woburn, Mass.
SIDE ENTRANCE.
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

JOSEPH P. SHIELDS,
Prescription Druggist,
WOBURN, MASS.
Has removed to Corner of Main and Walnut Streets, formerly Post Office.
N. B.—Shields's Cough Syrup IS guaranteed.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M,

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

A LETTER AND A TELEGRAM.

"I don't never waste words," said old Mr. Brown, in a hard, driving voice, "and I hain't good at letter writin', but I reckon this'n will cut!"

"It's a pity you writ it so hard, father," said his young daughter, trembling; "it'll hurt her to the heart; she didn't never mean to borry that $300, and then cheat you out o' it."

"She didn't eh? Then why hain't the mony back in my pocket, safe and sound! It's a year last Christmas since she pestered me about it, and I hain't seen hide nor hair on't yet; if that hain't a clear case o' cheatin', Fanny, I'll like to know what ye call it!"

The girl stopped churning a moment, and wiped a surreptitious tear from her eyelid before she answered:

"Call it nothing, father, but bad luck; when Sister Mary borryed that money to lift the mortgage, she expected to pay it back; but you know as how Brother John he was took with the rheumatics, and the overflow came, and the crop was ruint and then she couldn't pay; that's all, and God knows it's enough!"

"Twasn't my fault," snapped her father fiercely, as he pounded on the kitchen table to give vent to his anger. "I never put in the agreement to 'low for overflows, and rheumatics, and sich like, and I never would ha' lent her the $300 if it hadn't been for your sniffliu' and pesterin'. And now ye hear gal, not another dime of my earnius shall they ever smell, and I'll never forgive——"

The girl sprang up from the churn, crying, "No, father, don't say it—don't say it, father; you'll be sorry some day when it's too late; besides you're a church member, you know!"

"You're right 'bout that," said Mr. Brown, perversely; "I'm a church member, and don't owe nary a person a red cent, and the Bible says, 'an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth,' and I'm going to have it!"

He pounded the table again with his fists, after a fashion he had of wanting to pound something or somebody when he felt particularly aggressive. But the sound of his voice had scarcely died away, when there came a knock at the door, and one of those ominous, yellow envelopes, marked with the impress of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was handed in. Mr. Brown took it, and looked it over in a helpless kind of fashion before breaking the seal. "How much to pay," he asked the boy, and passed over to him the change with trembling hand; though it was characteristic of the man that even then, with the knowledge that the telegram must contain terrible news, he was careful to count the dimes as they dropped back into his pocket. Oh, those cruel telegrams! Do the company ever remorsefully count the breaking hearts that are left in the wake of their messengers? Mr. Brown was a hard man, and loved his moneybags over well, but somewhere beneath the rough outward crusts there was an abiding affection for his children that needed something like the stirring of the soil around the violet-beds, to loosen the selfish bonds, and give his love a human voice. And when he read these words, "Mary died this evening, come at once," a great, sudden anguish filled his breast, and silently handing the despatch to Fanny, he walked from the kitchen and shut himself up in his own room, where years before death had made sundry visits. He did not cry out or fall, or make any sign that he was grief-stricken, but he was hurt to the soul, and a great remorse made him sick and faint. He had never put it in the agreement about sickness, overflows, and bad crops, as he had just said; neither had he "put it" that Mary in her young blooming matronhood days, should die—his first born? How could he bear it? and it was all the harder because of the cruel words he had uttered while she lay dead at home. Did he say he would never forgive her—did he really—really say that? Fanny had tried to stop him, and brought it to his mind that he was a "church member" and a Christian. As if a father ought to be merely a Christian to his own child. Why hadn't he given her the money? Might have done so five times over and never missed it. And the old man groaned remorsefully, as with these thoughts in his heart, heis gaze wandered over the great fields where the cotton would soon be a shimmering, fleecy sea, bringing new treasures to his hoarded gains, and mrking no hearts happy save his own.

Those few, poor stunted acres of John's and Mary's! Swamped by the overflow last spring, stock drowned, and John, wading waist deep, fighting with the waters, laid up with the rheumatic.

Suppose he had given 'em a thousand dollars?

Oh, the sting of remembering evil when it is too late to turn evil into good. And then there was that unkind letter. Did his child read those cruel words with the dying light in her eyes, or would it be left for the stricken husband to be treated to the short, stern homily!

He went back to the kitchen, where Fanny sat crying over the telegram. "Lock up the house," he said in a hurried way, for fear of his voice would falter; "we'll go at once. I'll hitch up while ye get ready." And when they had started on their long journey he quite broke down in talking over the past and telling Fanny little things here and there that no one would have supposed he had remembered.

"Mary was allus a dutiful da'arter," he said, putting into broken sentences the grief and remorse that overwhelmed him; "after her ma died, and she wasn't knee-high to a duck, she was like a second pairent to the little uns; nussed 'em through the measles, and when they was well, took it herself, and laid as quiet on the bed for fear o' giving trouble as if she warn't a child."

He didn't tell her of how, when the second Mrs. Brown was installed as mistress, Mary became the drudge and maid-of-all-work, and was nurse to a half-dozen more little Browns, who, like their mother, ruled her with a rod of iron. Nor of Mary's marriage with a sturdy, young fellow, who, for the lack of a little timely help, and the pressure of a large family, was kept with his nose to the perpetual grindstone. He did not tell how Mary pinched and worked, and sat up till late hours, and struggled to help her family, until in consequence of doctor's bills and babies, and poor crops, John was forced to give a mortgage on his house, when her (the father) might have lifted them out of their poverty. He might even have given them a better house; the oldest inhabitant could not remember when the ugly, ramshackle affair had been built. Some ancient ancestors had put up a couple of rooms, then added on a few more, until, what with patching and propping up, John's inheritance was an offence to the eye. Mr. Brown thought bitterly of all this through the long journey. Too late, too late seemed written in words of fire on every tree and shrub. At last the house was in sight; a poor, miserable place enough, but now, in the month of June, sweet with climbing roses and honeysuckle that the mistress's hand had trained to the porch.

"Who-o-o, Dandy." The children were in the yard; with a shout they ran to the gate, and as the old horse stopped, somebody rushed down the steps, and with a cry, "Why father, why Fanny," Mary in her famous clean calico and apron, and checks like roses, with the pleasure and excitement of the visit, was in her father's arms—her father, who held her as he had never done before, and kissed her with the tears running down his face.

"My child," he said presently, "you were dead, and are alive again. Thank God?"

"Why, father?" questioned Mary again, what on earth is the matter?" And she looked with frightened gaze at her sister, vaguely woudering if her father were stricken with some sudden insanity. For answer, Fanny drew out the telegram from her pocket, and gave it to Mary.

"It's all a wonderful mistake," exclaimed the elder woman, glancing it over, and hugging father and sister excitedly again. "We have a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Harris, who died last evening; she has a brother living somewhere near you, and by the way, his name is Brown—Richard Brown—your name father. They carried you the telegram instead of him. What a pity he won't hear of it, so as to get there to the burying."

And so, between hysterical sobs and smiles, and everybody talking at once, and asking questions that no one dreamed of answering, they went in under the bower of roses and honeysuckle, and presently John hobbled from the field on crutches, and the story was told all over again.

And when Mary slipped out into the kitchen to get an early supper, old Mr. Brown followed here and there, and she was folded tight in her father's arms again, while the tears streamed down both their faces. It was as if she had been raised from the dead.

"My child," whispered the old man, "I hain't been the best of fathers to ye; I ha' shut my eyes and my heart when I ought to ha' been the one to help ye; never ye mind 'bout that money; don't ye say one word 'bout it, and we'll knock this old rattletrap down to-morrow, and I'll show ye how to build a house!"

And so he did, and a very comfortable house it was, where John did not have to stoop when he went in and out of doors. And would you believe it? The letter, all the more harsh for being so brief, never did reach its destination. Old Mr. Brown's chirography was of a very inferior sort, and the postmaster couldn't puzzle out the address, much as he desired so to do; then the letter was forwarded to the Dead Letter Office at Washington, and in due time was returned to Mr. Brown, who quietly and satisfactorily consigned it to the flames.

Literary Notices.

The January issue of THE ARENA, published by the Arena Pub. Co., Boston, is a remarkably entertaining one. The frontispiece is a fine portrait of Alfred Russell Wallace, which is accompanied by a biographical sketch of him, and some of the able and interesting papers which follow are: The Three Objective Apparitions, Popular Leaders, A New Declaration of Rights, Was Christ a Buddhist? Immigration a Law of Nature, Silver Coinage, Would We Live Our Lives Over Again. A Symposium of Celebrated Winters, and others.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for the weeks ending December 13th and 20th contain The Guide of the Early Italian painters, The Siege of Sunda Gunge, The Development of Tropical Africa under British Auspices, Under a Colonnade, Irish Chronicles, Gerald the Great, Mme. de Chevreuse, Housekeeping Troubles in the Australian Colonies, Interviewing Extraordinary, Koch's Cure for Consumption, General Booth's Scheme, English as She is Wrote at Munich, The Light Reading of our Audestors, Robert Browning, The Obiteration of Florence, A Recent Visit to Goa, Deep-Sea Fish, Some Notes on the History of Books for Children, with instalments of Marcia by W. E. Norris, and Eight Days, and poetry and miscellany. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

Taking up the January WIDE AWAKE one is led to reflect that this magazine has a particularly happy and kindly way of enlisting the interest and the fancy of its readers by its Prize Competitions. Its amusing "Nonsense Animals" were enjoyed by young and old and showed that the drawing-lessons at school had really trained young fingers to express ideas with the pencil; the Lumbkin, Prig or Hero competition was not a bad course in Moral Philosophy. The Prize Anagram competition amused thousands of readers. For 1891 Miss Rimmer's Prize Art-series: The Drawing of the Child Figure bids fair to be of great interest to children, while the Prize Problems in Horology, by E. H. Hawley of the Smithsonian Institution, will call forth the efforts of the students in the Latin and High Schools. The stories and articles of the January number are each excellent of their kind and are by such authors as Susan Coolidge, Mrs. Burton Harrison, Margaret Sidney, Elbridge S. Brooks, Ernest Ingersoll, Kirk Munroe, etc.

WIDE AWAKE is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston, Mass.

In the January ST. NICHOLAS—the second of the Holiday numbers of this magazine—Charles Dudley Warner calls up the thousands of its readers to hear A Talk about Reading. The Pratt Institute, Brooklyn's Great Industrial School, is fully described by a well-informed writer. One of the pleasant surprises which the Editor of ST. NICHOLAS is fond of offering to subscribers, is an unannounced little fanciful serial, Ellie's Visit to Cloudland, by Frances V. Austen, with just the sort of pictures that children like, and plenty of them, too. Andrew Lang continues his Story of the Golden Fleece; J. T. Trowbridge and Noah Brooks vigorously carry on their serials, and Mrs. Jamison's Lady Jane promises the conclusion in the next number. There is a Christmas story illustrated; a poem by Celia Thaxter; funny pictures by Bensell; a short article on Michael Angelo; a jingle with humorous illustrations by Brenon, and other contributions, perhaps not inferior in merit to some of those named.

The first instalment of the selections from Talleyrand's long-expected Memoirs is the most striking feature of the January CENTURY. A sketch of Talleyrand by Minister Whitelaw Reid prefaces this instalment. Before plunging into the Gold Discovery the California series pauses at the Pioneer Spanish Families in California, of which Mr. Charles H. Shinn writes with special reference to the Vallejos, a supplementary paper, by Mr. John T. Doyle, giving an account of the contemporary life in the Spanish Missions of Alta California. Both articles are illustrated from authentic sources, Mr. Fenn having made a special trip to California to make his sparkling drawings of the Missions, which refute the charge that America has no ruins! Further glimpses of the simple and courteous pastoral life before the gold discovery are afforded by a series of short articles in the department of California, on A Californian Lion and a Pirate. A Carnival Ball at Monterey, A Journey from Monterey to Los Angeles, and Domestic Life in 1827, and there is a characteristic letter from Sutter to Alvarado. The balance of the number's papers are timely and of much interest. A good many of them are finely illustrated.

PETERSON for February is in some respects an advance on the beautiful January number. The illustrations seem even more numerous, and the excellent opening article, Among Japanese Marvels, displays a profusion of very effective ones. The Sheriff of Oskaloo, by Howard Seely is one of the most spirited sketches we have seen from the pen of this popular author. Minna Irving contributes a fine poem which is fitly illustrated A Tardy Answer, by Katharine Allen, is a delightful story and has a number of fine illustrations. Another illustrated paper is Filling Nooks and Corners, which gives such useful and clear explanations that the veriest tyro in housekeeping or furnishing can profit thereby. Miss McClelland's serial, In The Woods, is a wonderfully realistic production, and Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Queen of Diamonds promises to be superior to any of her former efforts. There is besides various capital short stories and poems. The fashion plates and descriptions, needlework designs, table recipes and household directions are practical and useful. Terms, two dollars a year, with reduced rates to clubs. Address PETERSON MAGAZINE COMPANY, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN
—IN—
Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prices will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st	Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd	"	$500 in Gold
3rd	"	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th	"	$500 Piano
5th	"	$300 Organ
6th	"	Ticket to England and return.
7th	"	Lady's Gold Watch
8th	"	Gent's Gold Watch
9th	"	China Tea Set
10th	"	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th	"	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently THE paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

Why Politicians Are Big Men.

There is no more trying business than politics. Men of long experience in the elections of New York watch the leaders of the different parties with an interest that is more or less gruesome. The steady, interminable and violent wear and tear on the men who head the big political movements tell on their looks, weight and manner so rapidly that the most sturdy constitutions would break down under it if it were not for the short period during which the excitement lasts.

The men who are so fond of tracing the subtle connection between the physical appearance of man and his mental occupations should consider that one reason why the successful New York politician is always represented as a broad shouldered, powerfully built man, with a thick neck, a round head and a plentiful supply of strength is because about the only successful ward workers in town who are able to Lold their own as the years roll by must have a strong physique—New York Sun.

How Nice

Miss Bell is looking, Addie. Yes, Laura. Why, only a year ago her face was completely covered with pimples, blotches, and sores. She told mother that she owed her nice, clear complexion to her using Sulphur Bitters. Well, Laura, I shall try them too.

Discouraging the Whittling Habit.

In New Haven they are determined to discourage the practice of whittling public buildings. A prisoner in the lockup climbed up a ventilator shaft and cut away a number of slats, only to be nabbed by the vigilant watchman. Brought before the magistrate he was fined $20 and costs for damaging the building, in addition to receiving the penalty for the missdeeds that brought him into the toils of the law.—Boston Transcript.

Rheumatism.

Our daughter had the rheumatism so severe that she was helpless for months. We were induced through our uncle, James McFarland, of this place, to give Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y., a trial. In a short time she began to improve, slept well, and soon recovered from all effects of the dread disease.—L. M. Sanford, No. 319 Fifth street, Des Moines, Iowa.

The Little Church Around the Corner.

The useful career and unblemished character of George Holland will be recalled by all who knew him. He lived a bright and cheerful spirit in this world for eighty years, for time could not age his youthful heart. He was the merriest man I ever knew.

Upon the announcement of the death of George Holland, I called at the house of his family, and found them in great grief. The sister of Mrs. Holland informed me that they desired the funeral to take place from the church, as many of Mr. Holland's friends would like to mark their love and respect for him by their attendance, and that the house in which the family lived was too small to receive the large gathering of people that would be likely to assemble. The lady desired me to call upon the pastor of her own church, and request him to officiate at the service. I at once started in quest of the minister, taking one of the sons of Mr. Holland with me. On arriving at the house, I explained to the reverend gentleman the nature of my visit, and the arrangements were made for the time and place at which the funeral was to be held. Something, I can scarcely say what, gave me the impression that I had best mention that Mr. Holland was an actor. I did so in a few words, and concluded by presuming that probably this fact would make no difference. I saw, however, by the restrained manner of the minister, and an unmistakable change in the expression of his face that it would make, at least to him, a great deal of difference. After some hesitation he said that he would be compelled, it Mr. Holland had been an actor, to decline holding the service at the church.

While his refusal to perform the funeral rites for my old friend would have been a shock under ordinary circumstances, the fact that it was made in the presence of the dead man's son was more painful than I can describe. I turned to look at the youth, and saw that his eyes were filled with tears. He stood as one dazed with a blow just realized; as if he felt the terrible injustice of a reproach upon the kind and loving father who had often kissed him in his sleep, and had taken him on his knee when the boy was old enough to know the meaning of the words, and told him to grow up to be an honest man. I was hurt for my young friend and indignant with the man—too much so to reply; and I rose to leave the room with a mortification that I cannot remember to have fel

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 23, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 5d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION.

"The General Court shall have full power to erect and constitute new towns in this Commonwealth by dividing and setting off any portion of the territory of any existing town or towns: provided, that no such town or towns shall be divided for such purpose unless it be with the consent and on the application of a majority of the voters of such town present and voting thereon, at a meeting duly warned and holden for that purpose."

The above resolution came up in the last Legislature and was referred to the Legislature of 1891, which, it is presumed, will give it some attention this winter.

There are men in the General Court and out of it who take a deep interest in this matter and they propose to keep on agitating it until the proposition is submitted to the people to vote on. The question involved in the proposed change is an important one. The voters of Massachusetts should be allowed to settle it as they please, and that too without any unnecessary delay.

If the proposed amendment should go to the people for their decision it would be easy enough to guess what the verdict would be. To divide a town against the remonstrance of a majority of its voters is an outrage against majority rule, and a Legislature ought to be debarred from exercising any such power by adopting the constitutional amendment above set forth.

CHIEF WADE'S ANNUAL REPORT.

A copy of the annual report of Hon. Rufus R. Wade, Chief of the Massachusetts District Police, has been received at this office. As usual it is a complete work, and as to the matters treated it is exhaustive.

Some fifty pages are devoted to the subject of ventilation which the Chief handles vigorously and from the standpoint of the best modern ideas on this important question. The paper is profusely illustrated with drawings of school houses, inside and out; with representations of the different modes of expelling the bad air of school and other rooms; with cuts of machinery and apparatus used in the same. This part of the report is worthy of careful study.

Other questions discussed by Chief Wade are of hardly less importance, notably, Employment of Children in Factories, Women as Factory Inspectors, Employment of Illiterate Minors, Protection of Human Beings in Hotels in case of Fire, and many others.

The work of the Chief and his corps has been well done, and his report will doubtless be examined and studied with much interest.

A PENSION FOR GEN. BANKS.

A few days ago the thousands of admirers and warm friends of Gen. N. P. Banks not only in this Congressional District but in all parts of the State and country as well, were delighted to learn from the Washington newspaper correspondents that the Congressional Committee having the matter in charge had reported in favor of granting him a pension of $100 per month—not half as much as he deserved, but better than nothing.

It is surmised that the gallant old General's successor, Mr. Hoar, was largely instrumental in bringing about this very commendable decision by Congress.

☞ With hardly any warning at all The Woburn Daily City Press was safely launched from the Hart buildings on Main St., about 9 o'clock last Saturday evening. It is a 6-column sheet and makes a respectable appearance. Three, and some say four, stalwart journalists are at the Editorial end of the new venture, and if only there was business enough here to give a daily even the scantiest kind of a support such an Editorial Staff ought to be able to make a success of it. But there is the rub! At anyrate, we seriously hope that this daily is not the swan-song of the first, last and only Democratic paper that ever tried to plant itself and make a living in Woburn.

☞ The Adams (Mass.) Enterprise is a new journalistic candidate for public patronage and if it keeps on as well as it began it will deserve it. It is a neat, bright paper, of which W. F. Davis is the Editor and publisher. Success to it.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Miss Messer—Card.
Advertiser—Found.
Dr. Dodge—Coughs.
C. M. Carroll—Sietson.
C. Greenwood—To Let.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
L. L. Whitney—Citation.
Cooper & Rand—For Sale.
C. Lamb—Weather Strips.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
Home for A. W.—An. Meeting.

— No school yesterday.

— Read "Money Found."

— Read Dr. Dodge's card in this paper.

— Mr. Gilman F. Jones has been visiting Buffalo N. Y., this week.

— The K. of L. will give an Assembly at Vidette Hall this evening.

— "The Middlesex County National Bank," eh? Not this crop of potatoes.

— Mr. Curtis Greenwood offers to rent a very desirable house in this city.

— Rev. Dr. March has been lecturing on missions in Vermont this week.

— Lovell keeps one of the neatest, nicest, and most orderly drugstores in this city.

— Gage & Co. ("Co." means Fred Flint) have changed their business card this week.

— The First Congregational Parish in this city will hold their annual meeting next week.

— Durward furnishes everything good to eat in the meat and vegetable line at his market.

— Mr. William P. Symonds has become connected with the Secretaryship of the Lynn Y. M. C. A.

— Mrs. Page Eaton of this city is pleasantly settled at Hotel Oxford, Huntington Ave., Boston.

— Mr. William Johnson has gone to Canada for a visit of a few weeks among old friends and scenes.

— Mr. Willard Smith has an interesting advertisement in this paper. The ladies will do well to read it.

— Copeland's display windows are a perfect beauty this week. True taste is employed in their arrangement.

— Mr. Charles Johnson of this city, son of Mr. Joseph Johnson, has been appointed usher at the State House.

— Mr. C. Willard Smith, the dry goods and carpet dealer, and salespeople took "count of stock" last week.

— Mr. Sherburne, who is to be manager of Eaton's shoe factory, is a brother-in-law of Chief of Police McIntosh.

— Dr. Fisher, Superintendent of the State institution at Tewksbury, will soon lecture before the Y. M. C. A. of this city.

— Mr. Moses Bancroft keeps one of the largest and best stocks of boots and shoes in this city. His prices are very reasonable.

— At the incipient blaze in Park street the other night a man had his shoulder dislocated. The particulars were not disclosed.

— The next meeting of the Friday Night Club will be held the evening of Jan. 30, when a dramatic entertainment will be given.

— Mr. J. T. Freeman is sick with blood-poisoning and is confined to his house. His doctor says he will be around again soon.

— The annual meeting of the Corporation and Managers of the Woburn Home for Aged Women will be held Feb. 3. See notice.

— Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Taylor, Jr., of Newbury street, held a reception on Wednesday evening.—"Table Talk" in Boston Courier.

— Cooper & Rand want real estate in Woburn in exchange for a number of shares of the Johnston Electrical Train Signal Co's stock and cash.

— Mr. Chester Smith remembered the JOURNAL office when distributing "C. Willard Smith's Edition of the Jenness-Miller Quarterly Journal."

— Mr. Amos Cummings offers 5000 yards of standard calico, fast colors, at 5 1-2 cents a yard and some other goods in proportion. See his announcement.

— The census of 1890 reported as residents of Woburn, 343 persons from Nova Scotia, 132 from New Brunswick and 121 from Prince Edwards Island.

— Everyone who loves good music and to dance is looking forward with much pleasure to the annual ball of the Red Men which will come off on Feb. 4.

— A heavy rain storm set in yesterday morning and continued until snow and sleighing disappeared and by noon were numbered among the things that were.

— The second Officers party of the Woburn High School Battalion will be given at Lyceum Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 13. Great preparations for it are under way.

— The Friday Night Club has in preparation, to be given at a date to be announced hereafter, a drama of universal interest. The best of local talent has the play in hand.

— The Boston Art Club recently purchased for exhibition a picture recently painted by Benjamin Champney of this city. It was a bunch of roses, the Boston papers stated.

— Last week we got from the Boston and Yarmouth Steamship Co. one of the best calendars received this year. Shouldn't wonder if Bro. Pindar had something to do with sending it.

— Hon. E. D. Hayden's name appeared in the list of those of the solid men of Boston who signed the call for a meeting to protest against free silver coinage held in the Cradle of Liberty.

— Miss M. C. Messer has a professional card in the JOURNAL this week to which we call attention. She is an intelligent, well educated lady, and understands her business thoroughly.

— G. S. Russell of Marlboro has been elected Assistant Treasurer of the Johnston Electric Train Signal Co. After Feb. 1 the Company will remove its headquarters to their factory in Woburn.

— Mr. E. N. Blake is making steady, although not very rapid, progress towards perfectly restored health. Dyspepsia is the enemy that has been carrying his flesh off for a few months past.

— The Universalists held their meeting last Sunday in Concert Hall. Rev. W. A. Start preached. Subject "Salvation." Rev. Dr. Leonard of Tufts College will preach in same place next Sunday at 2.30.

— Rev. John Quealy, Pastor of St. Charles (R. C.) church of this city, was ordained to the ministry 45 years ago last Sunday. He has been at the head of St. Charles Church here more than a quarter of a century.

— Mr. Lawrence Reade takes the prospective change in the head of the Woburn postoffice about as coolly and indifferently as any of those who are not so deeply interested in the matter as he is. The clerks appear quite serene too.

— The conference of the Y. M. C. A. of the District of Massachusetts and Rhode Island opens to-day in the First Baptist church in this city and will continue over Sunday. The order of exercises was correctly printed in the JOURNAL last week.

— People who have any regard to their comfort and would save fuel at the same time should call on Mr. Cyrus Lamb at once and get him to put his weather strips on their doors. They are the best invention to keep cold out of the house now in vogue.

— Florest McGregor is meeting with excellent success in raising English violets at the Dow greenhouses. They are very fashionable in Boston just now and Mr. McGregor sells a great many very nice ones there every morning. English violets are his hobby at present.

— Nobody could reasonably ask for finer sleighing than we have had this week. And it has been fully improved by the people, especially by gay and festive sleighing parties, for the enjoyment of which the silvery light of a moon nearly full has added materially.

— If it wasn't for the help of Mr. William B. Ward, the perambulating and very popular knife and scissors grinder, we would find it rather up-hill work to edit the JOURNAL as well as it is edited at the present time. As an Assistant Editor we find Mr. Ward's services very valuable.

— Frank T. Robinson, a stockholder, director, and one of the mainstays of the Electric Signal Company, is Art Critic for the Boston Traveller. For a good many years he held the same position on the Boston Advertiser, and has done like kind of work on other Boston and some N. Y. papers.

— The grand annual ball of the Woburn Firemen's Relief Association will take place on the evening of Jan. 30, that is say, on next Friday. A great many tickets have been sold for it because it is to be grand affair, and secondly because everyone likes to see our firemen's affairs prosper.

— Probably no house in this or any other country of the old world has reduced to a system the manufacture and sale of furniture to a more advanced stage of perfection than can be found at Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal St., Boston. It is marvellous how such fine goods can be produced at so little cost.

— During the past year Messrs. Moses Colman & Sons of Portland street, Boston, of which Mr. E. C. Colman of this city is a member, have sold nearly 6000 horses and ponies. They are large dealers in ponies, of which they import great numbers. They say it has been a good year for business in horses.

— It isn't generally known that Albert Thompson is an artist in crayon work as well as in paints and oils, but it is true nevertheless, and not only so, but he is a master-workman at it. Recent productions of his in this line prove beyond a peradventure that as a crayon artist Mr. Thompson has no superiors and but few peers.

— Mr. Joseph Johnson who resides on Pleasant street has entered on his 50th year of continuous service at the Dow tannery, the time he was fighting the enemies of the Union to be taken out. Probably there is not another man in Woburn who can point to a continuous service of almost 50 years for the same business concern.

— Organist Clark, ever mindful of the pleasure of those of the congregation who love good music, has arranged the following fine programme for next Sunday's morning service at the First Congregational church:

Organ Prelude. German Choral Variation. "Jesus meine Zuversicht." A. Hesse
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite in G." Clark
Choir Anthem. "The Lord is my light." Reichardt
Organ Postlude. "Postludium in Dilinor." Hesse

— All of our old subscribers having paid up so promptly this January, and so many new ones have come in and paid in advance, that we really begin to feel as though we were on the high road to great worldly prosperity. We are going to try hard to merit, in measure at least, the kindness which our numerous patrons have shown the JOURNAL this year.

— The will of the late George Thompson gives his wife all the property except the house at 8 Ringgold st., Boston, his books and $300. Marietta T. Jameson, his daughter, and her children receive the Boston house, and to his grandson, John F. Jameson, he gives his set of Harper's magazines. To his three grandchildren he gives $100 each.

— A continued hearing of the Dow will case before the Judge of Probate at East Cambridge was postponed to last Monday or Tuesday in order to obtain the attendance of Mrs. George F. Ellis and Mr. A. A. Dow as witnesses. When the day came around Mrs. Ellis was mourning the sudden death of her husband, and Mr. Dow the loss of his daughter, Mrs. Brown of Stoneham.

— Burdett's Boston Business College, 592 Washington street, enjoys a reputation second to no similar institution in this country. It is patronized by people from everywhere and with New England young aspirents for business acquirments it is a particular favorite. The proprietors are esteemed residents of Woburn, by whose young ladies and gentlemen their very successful Business College is well patronized.

— Within a short time the Eaton Shoe Manufacturing Co. of Plymouth, N. H., will commence operations in a part of the N. J. Simonds buildings recently leased to them by Dr. J. M. Harlow for 5 years. In order to secure this manufacturing concern it is said that Dr. Harlow not only put the rent very low but gave them the first year's outright. The Doctor isn't in the habit of doing things by the halves.

— Friendly Aid Society in this city numbers about 400 members, and has elected the following officers: Past President, Amariah V. Haynes; President, Charles M. Strout; Vice-President, Mrs. Margaret Turner; Secretary, William J. Brown; Treasurer, Frederick A. Flint; Chaplain, Mrs. Hibbard C. Thompson; Marshal, Hibbard C. Thompson; Warden, Charles W. Dorr; Sentinel, Edward D. Kempton; Trustees, Lawrence Reade, Wellington W. McCabe, Joseph H. Parker.

— Snow and rain storms are frequent and of a somewhat singular character. There was snow and rain and sleet on Saturday and Sunday which gave the trees, the limbs bending under their crystal loads, a brilliant appearance. Seldom does the ice monarch give such an exhibition of his skill in the manipulations of frost as that of last Sunday. Nobody else could do such exquisitely delicate and beautiful work, and nothing else could play havoc with it all so effectually and speedily as the sun.

— We have been placed under obligations this week to Messrs. C. A. & F. H. Burdett, proprietor of Burdett's Boston Business College, for a rare piece of calendar work. It is a large, handsomely ornamented calendar executed by these gentlemen entirely with pen and black ink and then lithographed. There must have been a great amount of work put into it. It is highly ornamental as well as useful, and we have our doubts as to there being another person in Boston who could do such a job of pen and ink work.

— It is entirely safe to say that the concert to be given in the Winchester Town House on next Monday evening, Jan. 26, is to be the musical event of the season in that pleasant village. It will be worth several times the price of admission to hear Heinrich Schnecker play the harp, for he "is just splendid." All the artists engaged move in the highest musical circles in Boston except Mr. Whitten, whose reputation as a baritone is not confined to Winchester. It is expected that a large number of Woburn people will go down next Monday evening and attend this grand concert.

— Mr. Preston, our new City Auditor, is a gentleman who will fill the position with ability and fidelity if we have been correctly informed. He did a large part of the work during the last of Auditor Blodgett's term on account of that gentleman's enforced residence in New York City, and everyone says he did it admirably. He is the Clerk of Mr. Daniel W. Sanborn, Superintendent of the B. & M. RR. Co. Southern Division, which speaks well for him as an accountant and bookkeeper. The Municipal Building people speak in high praise of his clerical capacity, and being, as they say, a right down good fellow, his elevation to office meets with general and cordial approbation.

— Mr. Ralph A. Tenney of Chicago sent us a copy of the Chicago Post the other day which announced the approaching nuptials of some mutual friends accompanied with their portraits which we were very glad to get. Not more so, however, than to be remembered by the old Illinois pioneer who laid out towns, ran newspapers, engineered political machines, nearly 40 years ago, and finally settled down, "a wiser and better man," in the Garden City on Lake Michigan. Ralph was an excellent person in every sense of the word until he got to flocking with Artemus Ward in the Mississippi Valley away back in the early sixties. He even recovered from that after a while, and has lived an exemplary life ever since. He will please accept our thanks for the kind remembrance and favor.

— A meeting of the Board of Trade was held at the Rooms last Tuesday evening at which President Buchanan presided. Various matters were discussed by the members present but nothing in particular was done. It looks as though the Board was in imminent danger of total collapse. It has been a good institution for the place and might prolong its usefulness if properly encouraged by the right class of citizens. It is composed of many of the best business men of the city—men of wealth, intelligence and local pride—and if they would all turn to and heartily co-operate with President Buchanan, Vice-President Skinner, Secretary Lewis, and the few others who still cling to the institution and try to help it live, a great work might be accomplished by the Board. We hope to see interest in it revive and the busy days and evenings of its prime return once more.

— Hope Lodge, D. of R., held an installation of officers last Tuesday evening. Deputy Grand Master John E. Brown, assisted by Mrs. H. K. Wilson, G. W.; Mrs. R. Hicks, G. R. S.; Mrs. M. J. Mills, Grand Treasurer; Mrs. Annie Perham, Grand Guard; Mrs. Julia A. Burroughs, Grand Secretary; Mrs. Helen Shaw, Grand Marshal, officiated. The following officers were installed: Noble Grand, Mrs. Augusta A. Corbett; Vice Grand, Mrs. Lydia Buxton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hattie N. Deland; Permanent Secretary, Mrs. Ida M. Magee; Treasurer, E. M. Colomb; Warden, Clara Cole; Outside Guardian, Pauline DeLoriea; Conductor, Sophia Corbett; Inside Guardian, Annie Anderson; Right Supporter Noble Grand, George H. Woodside; Left Supporter Noble Grand, Sarah C. Lamb; Chaplain, Eugene Hovey; Right Supporter Vice Grand, Lucy Taylor; Left Supporter Noble Grand, Ruth Ward.

— We had been impressed with the idea that we had eaten "oranges as was oranges" before, but it was a mistake. Not until last Saturday evening did we ever know just what kind of fruit a real, genuine Florida orange is. Mr. Fred A. Hartwell of the City Market was the gentleman who enlightened our understanding on the subject. He had just received some boxes of "Indian River Oranges" from his brother E. A. Hartwell of Rock Ledge, situated on that river, with whom Miss Fannie Hartwell (Fred's daughter) is spending the winter, and on his invitation the JOURNAL sampled them. They were immense in size, golden as to hue, luscious to the palate, and weigh from a pound to a pound and a quarter each. We never tasted anything like them before in the orange line. They are so juicy that to do it just right they should be treated as "spoon victuals" and their contents dished out with small ladles. The Florida orange is the finest raised on this continent, and the "Indian River" is away ahead the best of all other kinds.

— Seventeen of her music pupils treated Miss Alice O'Brien to a genuine surprise party last Friday evening at her home on Church Avenue. They assembled and took possession of the establishment and after matters had got quieted down a little one of the 17, previously chosen for the purpose, in behalf of her fellow-pupils, as a token of their esteem for her and of their appreciation of her ability and fidelity as a teacher of the piano-forte, presented her with an elegant piano lamp and a handsome gold ring. Miss O'Brien returned her hearty thanks for the same, after which a pleasant evening was passed in the enjoyment of excellent music, conversation, friendly intercourse, and the discussion of an elegant collation spread before the party by Mrs. and the Misses O'Brien. We would not omit to state that the presentation of the ring and lamp was made by Miss Bessie Farrey in a neat speech. The names of the donors were: Misses A. Kelleher, Mary Kelleher, Mary Gleason, Lizzie Flaherty, Bessie Farrey, Maggie Reynolds, Nellie McGovern, Annie O'Donnell, Annie O'Brien, Winchester; Annie Leary, Winchester; Katie Ahern, Mary Kerwin, Mary McDonald, Christina Bowe, Agnes Larkin, Nellie Farrey, Master John O'Donnell.

— Mr. Louis White, the tonsorial artist at Lyceum Hall, is one of the finest in the city. Everything is kept in first class order and his razors are as sharp as the hone can make them. Especial attention paid to the cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Our New Postmaster.

Arthur B. Wyman, nominated by President Harrison for postmaster at Woburn, is a son of Captain Walter Wyman, one of Woburn's oldest and most respected citizens. The son is also much esteemed by those who know him, but he is not generally known to the citizens personally, as he is of a retiring disposition. He was a soldier in the civil war, saw active service, and was also a prisoner. He was endorsed for the position by several leading Republicans, including ex-Congressman F. D. Hayden and Hon. John Cummings.—Boston Herald.

The appointment of Mr. Wyman gives universal satisfaction. He is a man liked by everyone acquainted with him for his personal qualities, and therefore everyone rejoices at his good fortune in getting a nibble at the public crib.

Mr. Wyman was a soldier, on which score, to say nothing of other merits, he deserved the appointment. He received a good education at the Woburn public schools; is an intelligent man; is orderly and methodical; and there is no doubt at all but that he will make a worthy successor to Mr. Lawrence Reade.

Soaping a Railroad.

Once a western railroad company laid a rail over a widow's farm at quite a grade, and did not compensate her as she thought they should have done. About once a month she soaped the rails, checking the trains, and finally in this way brought the company to terms. Soap is a power in the world, and the monarch of all soap is Brussels soap. It delighteth the heart and is a foe to uncleanliness. It's economical.

The Infallible Deacon.

Infallible Republican Deacon George A. Hobbs says in his Woburn (Mass.) JOURNAL: "It is evident that there is quite a good many Republican Senators who do not regard the Bayonet Elections' bill as a panacea for all the political ills which the South are afflicted with; and not a few Republicans go so far as to express the belief that Senator Hoar's course and an everlasting agitation of the political affairs of the South are not well calculated to lessen the race difficulties down there. If let severely alone there would soon be two parties in the South, and matters would speedily settle themselves in good shape."—Genoa Junction (Wis.) Journal.

Oh, no, sir, the JOURNAL didn't say "Bayonet Elections" bill. Talk straight, Luther.

An Exceptional Legislator.

Woburn boasts of an exceptional legislator in the person of Senator E F. Wyer, who is said to have returned to the railroad company the free pass that was sent to him. Such action ought not to be rare. We look forward to a time when the State will pay the railroad fare of its legislators and leave them free and unbiased, in this respect at least to look after the interests of the whole people as distinguished from those of greedy and unscrupulous corporations. There have been times when the latter have got all they wanted regardless of the rights of the people. —Lynn Transcript.

Lower Street Car Fares.

After examining the question in all its bearings the Directors of the East Middlesex Street Railroad Company have decided to reduce the fare between Woburn and Stoneham to five cents, as has been several times suggested it would be profitable for them to do by the JOURNAL. Some of the Board doubted whether the step could be safely taken at present; but the weight of opinion and ballots was in favor of the reduction and consequently the same was ordered last week.

We have no doubt but that the Company have done a wise thing for themselves while doing justice to the public. There will be a large increase of travel between Woburn and Stoneham which will be for the advantage of the stockholders of the line as well as for the places named. Too high fares operate against the interests of those who exact them more severely, if anything, than against those who have to pay them. The public need not travel unless they want to, but the Company must keep up their property, run their road, and be to large expense whether they get anything for it or not.

There can be no question but that the East Middlesex Co. will increase their revenues by the step they have taken. Reductions of fares and prices have always worked that way and always will, providing they are not reduced below a living point. If the Boston & Maine RR. Company would give Woburn a 10-cent fare between here and Boston they would make more money than they now do on the passenger traffic at the Woburn station. It is just so with every kind of business—low prices, cheap fares, small single profits but big in the aggregate—that is the order of the day, and in the JOURNAL's opinion not many weeks will elapse before the E. M. St. RR. Co. will begin to realize the wisdom of their course.

Meeting of School Board.

The members of the Woburn School Board have been assigned to the following committees:

Buildings and Hygiene, Carter and Mrs. Adams; Text Books and Course of Study, Mrs. Bean and Mrs. Adams; Rules and Regulations, Mrs. Cummings, Mr. Dodge; Music and Drawing, Mrs. Dow, Mr. Cummings; Physical Training and Military Drill, Mrs. Adams, Mr. Kenney.

The members of the Board have been assigned to the schools as follows:

Adams—High, Plympton. Bean—Union street, Morse street, Highland, Lawrence. Carter—High, Union street, Cambridge street. Mr. Cummings—Johnson, Rumford, Morse street, Cedar street. Cummings—Rumford, Cummings, Plympton. Dodge—Highland, Cummings, Montvale, Cambridge street. Dow—Lawrence, Montvale, Main street. Kenney—Cummings, Johnson, Hudson, Cedar street. Smith—Cummings, Plympton, Main street, Hudson.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

At the regular meeting of the Board held on Thursday evening, January 15, Hon. Edward F. Johnson, at the request and on the nomination of Mayor Bean, in the absence of the regular incumbent, was elected City Clerk pro tem and discharged the duties thereof. It was a courteous thing for the Mayor to do, and the compliment was deserved. It was also indicative of a desire on the part of the new city government to be on good terms with the one recently retired from authority.

Committee on Rules reported the State Aid Committee should be hereafter an Aldermanic Committee solely and not a Joint Standing Committee as formerly. Adopted. The Mayor then announced the following list of committees:

ALDERMENS.

On Elections—Ham, Dearborn.
On Enrolled Ordinances—Walsh, Ham.
On Erection of Buildings—Pushee, Fowle.
On License—Committee of the whole.
On Police—The Mayor, Davis, Finn.
On State Aid—The Mayor, Pushee, Fowle.

JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES.

On Accounts—Fowle, Walsh.
On Almshouse—Finn, Finn.
On Assessment and Collection of Taxes—Pushee.
On Claims—The Mayor, Pushee, Walsh.
On Finance—The Mayor, Davis, Dearborn.
On Fire Department—Pushee, Davis.
On Fuel—Ham, Fowle.
On Health—Walsh, Fowle.
On Highways—Fowle, Pushee.
On Ordinances—Dearborn, Finn.
On Printing—Dearborn.
On Public Property—Davis, Walsh.
On Salaries—Finn, Pushee.
On Sewerage—Davis, Finn.
On Street Lights—Finn, Dearborn.
On Water—Dearborn, Ham.

Then petitions were presented for coasting privileges on the easterly portion of Fowle street, on Lexington Street hill or Fox hill and on Sturgis street from Warren street to Horn Pond. These were about to be referred to the committee on Police when Alderman Dearborn, Ward 6, moved in view of the questionable duration of coasting chances that they be granted. Allowed.——For the right to attach wires of the Postal Telegraph company to such of the Fire Department poles as would enable that company to connect with F. B. Leed's drug store. Referred to committee on Fire Department.——For an increase of $100 per annum in the pay of the Police Officers, prayed for by members of the force. Referred to committee on Police.

Hugh Martin was elected Assistant Superintendent of Street.——John Connolly was elected Janitor of Municipal Building in concurrence.——F. P. Curran, Esq., was elected City Solicitor 4 to 3.

Vote read approving of a special committee to oversee completion of the Highland school house. Concurred and committee ordered. The Mayor named Davis, Ward 1, and Ham, Ward 2, as members on the part of the Board.

Reports of the Cemetery Commissioners, City Treasurer, Board of Health and Overseers of the Poor received and placed on file.

The bond of the City Treasurer ($50,000, Messrs. Joseph Buck, Griffin Place and John Johnson, guarantors) read and approved.

Adjourned to Jan. 22 7.45 P. M.

COMMON COUNCIL.

At a meeting of the Woburn Common Council last Friday evening, Hugh Martin was chosen Assistant Superintendent of Streets, in concurrence.

The vote for City Solicitor was: Francis P. Curran, 3; John W. Johnson, 7. Mr. Johnson was chosen in non-concurrence. Mr. Curran was the choice of the Aldermen. President Waldron made the following appointments of committees:

COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

Elections—Littlefield, Bowers, Weafer.
Enrolled Ordinances—Hanson, Larkin, Bowers.

JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES.

Accounts—Littlefield, McAvoy, Hanson.
Almshouse and Poor—Larkin, Cutler, Weafer.
Assessments and Collection of Taxes—Kendrick, Littlefield.
Claims—President, Bowers, Weafer, Littlefield.
Finance—President, Littlefield, O'Donnell, McAvoy, Kendrick.
Fire Department—O'Donnell, Cutler, Bowers.
Fuel—McAvoy, Littlefield, O'Donnell.
Health—Bowers, Cutler, Martin.
Highways—O'Donnell, Simonds, Cutler.
Ordinances—Larkin, Weafer, Bowers.
Printing—Littlefield, Simonds.
Public Property—Cutler, Simonds, Kendrick.
Salaries—Cutler, Kendrick, McAvoy.
Sewerage—McAvoy, Hanson, Simonds.
Street Lights—Kendrick, Weafer, Hanson.
Water—Hanson, O'Donnell, Kendrick.
Special: Highland School—Simonds, Kendrick, O'Donnell.

Church Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the First Congregational church in this city after the reports of the Clerk, Treasurer and Auditor had been accepted, business as follows was transacted:

J. G. Pollard was elected Clerk. Dea. E. E. Thompson made the statement that Dea. G. R. Gage wished him to say to the meeting that on account of his serious illness he would be unable to longer serve the church as Treasurer, whereupon Mr. Thompson nominated Mr. F. B. Richardson as a candidate for this office and he was unanimously elected.

Dea. J. G. Pollard in brief introductory remarks expressive of the regret felt by all at the enforced absence of one who took the deepest interest in all pertaining to the church, presented the following resolution which was seconded by Mr. F. B. Richardson and unanimously adopted;

WHEREAS, Dea. G. R. Gage has held the office of Treasurer of this church for forty years, and during the whole time has fulfilled the duties of the office with unwearied constancy and fidelity, and

WHEREAS, He now feels constrained by long continued sickness to decline a re-election, therefore

Resolved, That the church put on record a grateful testimonial to the constancy and generosity with which Dea. Gage has devoted himself to the interests of the church in his office as Treasurer, and in all other responsibilities which he has undertaken in behalf of the church these forty years, and we unite in the prayer and hope that he may be sustained and comforted with all Christian faith and consolation in his present sickness.

Deacons Alvah Buckman and Charles E. Richardson were re-elected for the term of four years.

Brothers F. J. Brown, J. K. Murdock, E. P. Fox and M. H. Cotton were elected to constitute, with the Board of Deacons, the Standing Committee of the church for the ensuing year.

Directors of the Sunday School were chosen as follows:

J. G. Pollard, R. H. Chamberlin, W. W. Hill, M. H. Cotton and W. P. Symonds.

L. L. Whitney, Esq., was elected Secretary, Treasurer and Librarian of the Religious Charitable Library, and C. A. Smith and J. G. Pollard were chosen Directors of said Library, and these were appointed a committee to devise some plan by which the books contained in this library, now unused, may be of greater service in the community.

Adjourned sine die.

Jan. 19, 1891.

Vick's Floral Guide for 1891.

No lover of a fine plant or garden can afford to be without a copy. It is an elegant book of over 100 pages 8¼x10½ inches, beautiful colored illustrations of Sunrise Amaranthus, Hydrangea and Potatoes. Instructions for planting, cultivating, etc. Full list of everything that can be desired in the way of Vegetable and Flower Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, etc. Also full particulars regarding the cash prizes of $1,000 and $800. The novelties have been tested and found worthy of cultivation. We hope it will be our good luck to see the Nellie Lewis Carnation and taste the Grand Rapids Lettuce. It costs nothing because the 10 cents you send for it can be deducted from the first order forwarded. We advise our friends to secure a copy of James Vick Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y.

Consult

Cooper & Rand for anything in the Real Estate Line.

Boston Theatres.

Charles T. Ellis and a strong supporting company will appear next Monday evening at the Grand Opera House in Casper the Yodler. The usual matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons and every evening next week.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 30 Congress Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

MILLINERY.

All the latest styles in TRIMMED BONNETS and HATS and MILLINERY GOODS.

Mrs. C. PACKARD, 419 Main St., Woburn.

Obituary.

Mr. Charles Bradley Stevens, youngest son of the late Col. Atherton H. Stevens, Fourth Massachusetts Cavalry, and brother of Col. Stevens, Commander of the Massachusetts Division of the Sons of Veterans, died Monday at Chelsea, after a week's illness from typhoid pneumonia. He was a young man of much promise.

He was the youngest brother of Mrs. Sanborn, wife of Dr. S. H. Sanborn, the dentist of this city, and frequently came here to visit the family. Between Mrs. Sanborn and the deceased the ties of consanguinity were unusually strong. Besides numerous relatives a large circle of friends and acquaintances deeply lament and sincerely mourn his sudden and unlooked for death just as he had reached the threshhold of active life. Mrs. Sanborn and family have the sympathy of this community in their sad bereavement.

On last Saturday, Jan. 17, Mr. George Frank Ellis died at his home on Pleasant street of rheumatism, from which he had been a great sufferer for many years. He was born at Clinton, Kennebec County, Maine, on Jan. 17, 1841, and therefore died on the 50th anniversary of his birthday. He was a nephew of Mr. Alexander Ellis, merchant of this city, a cousin of Miss Josephine Ellis of Bennett street and her sister of Winchester, also of Mr. Wilbur F. Brown, besides having other relatives here.

Mr. Ellis possessed fine literary, musical and art tastes, and was well versed in the English classics. His judgment on literary productions was sound, and his taste elevated and clean. For several years he was at the head of the wholesale department of Lee and Shepard's great book publishing establishment in Boston, and had been for some time, until laid up with his last sickness, with the well known house of Louis Wolfe & Co., Boston.

The deceased, besides the relatives named, left a wife and one daughter, the latter the wife of Mr. H. B. Clewley, who in their bereavement have the sympathy of this community.

MRS. EDITH DOW BROWN, whose death is announced in another column, was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Dow of this city. Born and educated in Woburn, she endeared herself to a large circle of friends by her sweet disposition and great charm of manner, and when, a little more than two years ago, she became the wife of Mr. William T. Brown of Stoneham, a future as happy as the best wishes of her friends could desire seemed in store for her. But the day which dawned so brightly was soon to close in clouds; the cruel hand of disease was laid upon her; and though she struggled bravely against the foe and bore with firmness the sufferings which were sapping her young life, the contest was too unequal and in the peace of the Sabbath she passed quietly away.

Her funeral took place at her late residence in Stoneham on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Parker officiating. The musical selections were given by the Mendelssohn Quartet of Boston. The arrangement of the flowers, which were choice and delicate, was particularly beautiful. A large piece, "Gates Ajar," was presented by the employees of Mr. Brown. The remains were brought to this city and will be interred in her father's lot in the Salem street cemetery.—COM.

On Saturday, January 3d, 1891, Ammi C. Teel, aged 74 years, died at his home, five miles north of this place, from the effects of a throat trouble, after a very short sickness, commencing about eight o'clock the evening before his death. He realized his end was near and so expressed himself. He was a member of the Universalist church for a number of years, retaining membership in a church in Illinois, where he had previously lived. He had read extensively and retained much useful information; was an entertaining talker. He was born at Cambridge, Massachusetts. He leaves a wife and seven children, all grown:

Charles A., Ammi C., Norman R., Frank E., Oscar C., Mrs. Sarah Hanthorn, and Mrs. Lucy A. Wyant, five of whom were present. The services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Roberts, and was one of the largest funerals ever in this part of the county. His remains were interred in the Indianola cemetery.—Indianola (Neb.) Paper.

Many relatives of the deceased live in No. Cambridge, Woburn and elsewhere about here, among whom are Mr. Levi C. Teel of Cambridge street in this city, the oldest of the family; Charles J. Teel of Stoneham; Albert Teel of No. Cambridge; and John and another brother at Lewiston, Maine.

In 1838 Levi C. and Amme C. emigrated in horse teams to Illinois, then in the extreme "Far West," and settled in Sangamon County near Springfield, the present Capital of the State, where the former remained five years and then with his wife and children returned to their Massachusetts home. Ammi remained, and after a few years he induced Levi to return to Macoupin county, Illinois, where the brothers farmed together for a couple of years, at the expiration of which Levi rejoined his family at Cambridge.

The subject of this notice invented two or three agricultural implements which were pecuniarily profitable to him. He was also successful in his purchases of real estate, and being able to afford it, he moved to Galesburg, Illinois, where the Congregationalists and Universalists each had a College, for the purpose of giving his children a better education than they could get at Macoupin.

Subsequently he moved to Nebraska and settled at Indianola. There he was an extensive and successful farmer, and enjoyed the happiness of seeing all his children settled around him on broad, rich farms, each having a fair prospect for the future, and all contented and happy.

The deceased always made good friends wherever he went. He was honest, courteous, and of a happy, genial temperament, and when the last summons came it found him all already and perfectly willing to go.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Corporation and Managers of the Home for Aged Women will be held at the Savings Bank Building Tuesday, Feb. 3, at half past two P. M.

S. S. HOVEY, Secretary.

Y. M. C. A.

A conference will be held in this city this week beginning to-day by the Massachusetts and Rhode Island District of Y. M. C. A. It will be composed of delegates (probably 150 or more in number), but the bulk of the attendance, it is more than likely, will be by people holding no credentials except their interest in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. cause.

For this important meeting the officers of the Woburn Association (W. W. Hill, President; J. P. Bailey, General Secretary; Thomas Heartz, Treasurer) have made

Remnants. Remnants. Remnants.

Our Annual Sale of Remnants and Shop-worn Goods, remnants of Dress Goods, Cloakings, Linings, Flannels, Cotton Cloths, Table Linens, Towelings, Ginghams, Calico, etc.

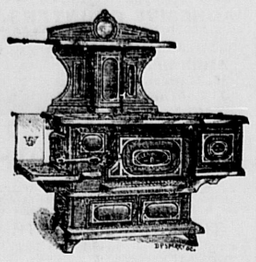
Shop-worn Blankets, Comforters, Underwear, Men's Laundered Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Neckwear.

Ladies' and Misses' Garments at one-half their former price.

Felt Goods such as Table Covers, Tidies, Scarfs, etc., all at greatly reduced prices.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Annual Reception and Banquet of the Woman's Club.

The Woburn Woman's Club held their annual Reception and Supper in Music Hall on Friday evening, Jan. 16. In an adjoining hall, which was prettily decorated with ferns, palms, and potted plants, the President and Vice-President, and those ladies from out of town who were invited to address the Club, received the members of the Club and their invited guests.

After more than an hour had been agreeably spent in conversation and the introduction of members of the Club and their friends to the guests of the evening the way was taken to Music Hall proper where supper was served for over two hundred and fifty guests. The hall presented a pleasing appearance with its many long tables of snowy linen spread with appetizing dishes and decorated with flowers, ferns and smilax. Mr. Hicks of Boston was the caterer and he furnished a variety of delicacies, and everything was done to add to the comfort of the large assemblage. The table for the officers, speakers and the guests was placed lengthwise and faced the wide hall.

Among the guests were our newly elected Mayor, Mr. Bean, and Ex-Mayor Johnson, Mrs. Folsom, President of the Winchester Fortnightly, Mr. Folsom and Judge Converse, Dr. Mary E. Jones of Boston, and Miss Tannatt of Walla-Walla.

Silver candelabra festooned with smilax and silver vases of flowers gave a pleasing effect to the President's table. It each plate was placed a dainty dinner card the work of a committee of five members of the Club who showed much delicacy of taste and skill in decoration in the water-color designs on these souvenirs.

After the supper was over the President, Mrs. Lucy E. B. Converse, called the meeting to order, and after her address of welcome filled with witty allusions so pleasingly delivered, the "Saint Cecilias" (the well known quartette of Woburn ladies) filled the hall with melodious tones.

Mrs. Kate Tannatt Woods of Salem, the distinguished novelist and poetess, then spoke for the New England Woman's Press Association. She traced the progress of women in journalism from the early days when women dared not sign their own name to their own writings lest they should be ostracized, to the present time when women hold a high place among journalists and authors.

Then Miss How of Boston sang exquisitely a solo called "Mara" and an encore, "A Winter Lullaby."

The next speaker was Dr. Alice G. Bryant of this city, a graduate of Vassar College, and of the Woman's Medical College of the New York Infirmary, who spoke of "Woman in Medicine," mentioning especially the pioneers in the profession, Drs. Elizabeth and Emily Blackwell, and Dean Rachel Bodley.

Again the white-robed "Saint Cecilia's" charmed our senses with an exquisite "Waltz Song," and hardly had the sweet refrain died away when Mrs. Gregory, Vice-President of the "Fortnightly" of Winchester, recited an original and entertaining poem. Miss How then sang "When the House is Still," and the house was indeed still while her exquisite tones filled the hall.

The next to speak was Mrs. Birnard Whitman, who the Club especially remember as delivering to them a memorable lecture on the life in Bogota. She spoke of the "Lend a Hand," a society whose motto is

"Look up and not down:—
Look forward and not back:—
Look out and not in,
And Lend a Hand,"

and for other philanthropic societies.

Mrs. Whitman is associated with Edward Everett Hale, D. D., in the editing of the monthly magazine Lend a Hand.

One more song by Miss How followed; and then Rev. Ada C. Bowles, who had previous to the supper asked the blessing, spoke, taking for her text two of the dinner cards—one, pansies for thoughts; the other, the crab-apple, which being the original apple of Eden reminded her of the apple mentioned in Genesis.

After some more amusing remarks Rev. Mrs. Bowles spoke of "Woman in the Ministry." The Quartette sang once more, then bade us "good night" in a song so bright! and the meeting was adjourned.

Much praise is due the President who presided so perfectly and introduced each speaker so appropriately.

Many thanks were due the speakers who so generously responded to the Club's invitations to speak; many thanks were due also the various committees whose efforts resulted so successfully; to Miss How and the Saintly Cecilia's, whose singing was a delight; to Miss Bancroft, whose accompaniments on the piano were so charmingly rendered; to Mrs. Eugenie Hovey, whose flowers and ferns brightened the rooms—to all these was the Club deeply indebted for the successful carrying out of its programme.—G. M. B.

To Nervous Debilitated Men.

If you will send your address, we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belt and Appliances, and their charming effects upon the nervous debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor and manhood. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Belt and Appliances on a trial. Pamphlet free.

VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

Iron Hall.

The Order of the Iron Hall is a co-operative fraternity, offering pecuniary aid and protection to all acceptable persons, by a method that is extremely simple, and at a cost that is so economical as to be within the reach of all.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Indiana in 1881, in the nine years of success it has made an enviable record, which other organizations have used, thereby recognizing the Iron Hall as the leader and founder of the system.

Branch 428, of this city, closed the fourth year of its existence at the meeting held January 7, having been organized Jan. 24, 1887, during which period seventy-five assessments have been called, or an average of eighteen each year, making a cost of but $45 per $1000, with the privilege of drawing $25 per week in cases of sickness or accident, without paying interest for the same during the balance of the time before the certificate matures.

Deputy Supreme Justice, George M. Stevens, of Somerville visited the Branch on the above evening and installed the following officers for the term ending Dec. 31, 1891:—Chief Justice, H. M. Blanchard; Vice Justice, W. Henry Huber; Accountant, E. C. Leathe; Cashier, B. A. Tripp; Adjuster, S. Patterson; Watchman, T. S. Casey and Vedette, S. D. Samson. One candidate was initiated.

The Iron Hall offers you an opportunity to make a profitable investment of small amounts of money that you might otherwise waste or squander. The cost of joining is membership fee, $5.00; Registration fee, $1.00, and dues in advance, $1.25. Information or blank applications may be procured of any of the officers.—X.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

"Black Beauty."

To attempt to tell the public that "Black Beauty" is a book, a book about a horse, a most fascinating book written by an English lady in behalf the whole horse family, and especially for the benefit of horses situated as was the hero of the tale, "Black Beauty"—to tell all this to people who read would seem to be the quint-essence of superfluity.

It is a wonderfully popular book too. Everybody reads it, and everybody is delighted with it.

Mr. Angell, publisher of Our Dumb Animals in Boston, owns the American copyright of "Black Beauty," and finds it the hardest kind of a task to supply the public demand for it. This is what he said in the last number of O. D. A. about "B. B."

"So far as I am at present informed, no other book issued by the American press has ever gone up to two hundred and sixteen thousand within the first eight months of its publication. I am now having it translated into Italian, French, German, Spanish, and Volapuk."

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

AGENT FOR

Woburn and Winchester

—FOR THE—

Jenness-Miller System Patterns

—AND—

MADE-UP UNDERGARMENTS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods & Carpets

Hosiery, Underwear, Small Wares, Cottons, Flannels, Blankets.

Large Stock! Low Prices!

North Woburn.

Some men with a plenty of capital have leased the Water-proof factory here for the purpose of manufacturing varnish on a big scale.

Correspondence received too late for use this week. Will the JOURNAL's correspondent please send as early as Wednesday afternoon?

The social at the vestry of the North Congregational church last Thursday evening took the form of a spelling match, and great interest was manifested in it, particularly by the young people, and the vestry was filled. Sides were chosen, Mrs. D. W. Danforth selecting one and Dr. Josiah P. Bixby the other. The words were put by Orville T. Curtis. Rev. Mr. Murphy was scorer. There were about 30 on each side, mostly quite young people with a sprinkling of older ones. The booby prize was Munroe's Chart Primer, and was awarded to the first to fail, Miss Blanchard. The prize for the one who remained the longest, and, of course, spelled the most words correctly, was a book of engravings, entitled "Log-Book Notes." This was awarded to Mrs. Danforth. In accepting the prize, Mrs. Danforth, in a few words stated that on account of the fact that Miss Ruby Kenty stood next in rank to her, and also because the speaker was one of the originators of the affair, she thought the prize really belonged to Miss Kenty, and begged her to accept it, which she did in a very pleasant way.

Awful Accident.

Mr. Charles E. Eaton Struck by Descending Elevator.

A most distressing calamity yesterday afternoon befell Mr. Charles E. Eaton, President of the Eaton Shoe Manufacturing Company, which has just located in the Simonds building. It appears that Mr. Eaton, while standing at the entrance of the elevator shaft on the ground floor of the factory, was violently struck upon the back of the head by a descending heavily loaded elevator platform. It was at first thought that he had been killed outright. Medical assistance was promptly summoned, including Drs. Conway, Chalmers and Graves, and every surgical attention was devoted to the case. But there is grave reason to fear that his injuries will prove fatal. He was removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Burlington.

The new barn on the town farm is to be finished this week.

The selectmen are busy with the settlement of the town accounts.

Rev. Dr. Torrey preached at the church, Sunday morning. On account of the bad weather the attendance was not large.

The ball given by the Agricultural Society, Friday evening, is reported to have been a marked financial and social success. A large number attended.

The woods of Burlington looked very beautiful in their crystal dress deposited by the ice storm but the risk of damage to the trees was too great to allow us to really enjoy the spectacle.

Wanted

More tenements to rent by Cooper & Rand, 388 Main street.

Starts Off, Etc.

The State Legislature starts off very amicably this year and Speaker Barrett is re-elected without opposition. This was due to the great improvement of his last years record over that of the year before. Mr. Henry H. Sprague was re-elected president of the Senate, in spite of that body's being a tie politically. There are some hopeful people who are predicting a short and business like session, and this is possible but not probable.—Newton Graphic.

A married man once said: "I would rather hold a curry-comb argument with the heels of a mule than to beat my wife three straight games of euchre, or say a word against Brussels soap."

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, Jan. 17, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

A. C., Woburn P. O., Edward Boile, Mr. John Kearns, Miss Katie Murphy, Windsor Hotel, Mr. Patrick O'Brien.

LAWRENCE READE, P. M.

If "cleanliness is next to godliness," the surest way to attain it is b(u)y Brussels soap.

"Finally, I prevailed on my wife to use Mellin's Food, which she did; to-day our baby is one of the nicest and healthiest in our city. Mellin's Food is the best we have ever used, or I have ever sold. J. W. H., Newton, Kan.

WINCHESTER.

Mr. S. W. Twombly is getting well again.

The W. V. I. A. talking of "passing" their annual banquet and entertainment this winter.

The Ladies Friendly Society will give a Dickens Carnival at the Town House on Feb. 5 and 6.

Mr. Charles Starke recently shot a moose down in the Provinces which weighed 1000 pounds. He is a great hunter.

The 80th birthday of Mrs. Joshua B. Rea was celebrated on the 14th inst. Quite a large company of relatives and friends were present by whom a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

The W. V. I. A. have talked the question of Winchester taxes, over which there has been any amount of growling of late. The Association is equal to any emergency. Let me say right here to the growlers: if you want "modern improvements" for your town you've got to pay for them.

S. W. McCall is entirely out of the postoffice race in Boston. He is one of the young men that should have been placed in a leading official position by this administration, and he may be so placed. He represents that for which the Republican party of the nation must stand in Massachusetts.—Boston Evening Traveller.

The following are the officers of the Congregational Society recently elected for the current year: Clerk, F. B. Browning; Treasurer, C. E. Conant; Standing Committee, G. H. Gilbert, W. H. Herrick, Harrison Parker; Collector, T. H. Stinson; Auditors, E. H. Stone C. E. Sweett. The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Harvey Small of Charleston, Maine, father of S. C. Small and Mrs. E. A. Smith, is making a visit here. He is 79 years old and as hale and hearty as any of his children. His mother died three years ago, aged one hundred four and a half years. So that two of our families belong to a long lived race.—Star.

There is one thing I like in the Star's correspondent "H. F. J."—he don't seem to "fear the face of clay." Although our town authorities do not deserve his criticisms and condemnations, I like to see him assail them, because he does it with such a sharp, bitter pen. I think it tickles the authorities as much as it does anybody, and if at any time they happen to feel officially ennuied it is when "H. F. J." is not "going for" them.

The following officers of the Mission Union were lately elected: Mrs. J. E. Nickerson, President; Miss Abbie Dunham, Mrs. Preston Pond, Vice-Presidents; Mrs. Arthur W. Hale, Secretary; Mrs. William Belcher, Mrs. Lewis Maxwell, Treasurers; Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Fred Belcher, Mrs. W. D. Middleton, Mrs. William Herrick, Directors of Home Work; Miss Helen Pressey, Mrs. D. A. Newton, Mrs. M. H. Lombard. Miss Cora Quimby, Directors of Foreign Work.

The following are the officers of A. D. Weld Post, No. 148, G. A. R., installed last week: Commander Edwin Robinson; Senior Vice Commander, A. J. Edwards; Junior Vice Commander, H. Parker, 2d; Adjutant, S. C. Small; Surgeon, G. A. Hall; Quartermaster, Henry Smalley; Chaplain John T. Wilson; Officer of the Day, M. E. Lyon; Officer of the Guard, Phillip Maher; Sergt. Major, Daniel Rooney; Quartermaster Sergt., Sorrell Gove. At the same time the following officers of the Winchester Woman's Relief Corps, No. 129 were duly installed: President, Mrs. P. C. Wilson; Vice President, Mrs. Mary Shepard; Junior Vice, Mrs. C. O. Coffin; Secretary, Mrs. Ellen A. Smalley; Treasuer, Mrs. L. M. Moseley: Chaplain, Mrs. A. E. Rowe; Conductor, Mrs. E. Holton; Asst. Conductor, Mrs. Addie Stone; Guard, Mrs. Emma Hall; Asst. Guard, Mrs. Susie Moulton.

FRESH IDEAS IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it. Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom:

Washington Street, cor. Elm, BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

TEN TONS OF PAPER.

It takes ten tons of white paper for a single edition of the

BOSTON HERALD.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

To the Public.

We have this day been authorized to announce to the people of the City of Woburn and vicinity, that we have had placed in our hands to sell a limited number of shares of the

Johnston Electric Train Signal Co.'s Stock,

At a surprisingly low figure, or will EXCHANGE it for REAL ESTATE in your vicinity.

COOPER & RAND,

388 Main Street, corner of Park, WOBURN, MASS.

TO LET.

By the 1st of February, a NEW SINGLE HOUSE of 9 rooms, within 5 minutes of Churches, Schools, Depot or Horse Cars.

For particulars see C. GREENWOOD, No. 7 Fairmount street, Woburn.

DEATH COMES

To THOUSANDS as a result of neglected Coughs and Colds. Consumption is curable if promptly and wisely treated. I specially treat all diseases of the LUNGS and HEART. Medicines furnished. Examination thorough.

E. S. DODGE, M. D.,

62 Boylston St., cor. Tremont, BOSTON.

Hours, 11 to 3.

FOUND.

A sum of money which the owner can have by calling at the JOURNAL office, proving property and paying for this advertisement.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of David G. Converse, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Oliver F. Bryant of said Woburn, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLETEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Ella G. Richardson, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Theodore M. Parker, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, no executor being named in said will;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of January instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Eli Cooper, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Alva S. Wood, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William H. Walker, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Fred F. Walker and John W. Johnson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Hannah Chamberlain, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lewis L. Whitney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

If First-class Goods at half price is any object to you, call at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

And inspect the following articles:—

Light Blue Cashmere, 30c. worth 62½c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 75c. worth $1.75.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 70c. worth $1.25.

Striped French Beige in Blue and Brown, 35c., 62½c.

50 doz. Napkins, slightly soiled, at 60c. on the dollar.

This is a dull month, and to induce you to buy we will give you a big benefit.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

Christian Science Healing.

MISS M. C. MESSER,

12 Franklin St., Woburn.

(Except Fridays.)

CONSULTATION FREE.

Will also be glad to talk (at their homes if desired) with all who wish to know how to help themselves.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 135 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

Also, bargains in houses on Pearson, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED. Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

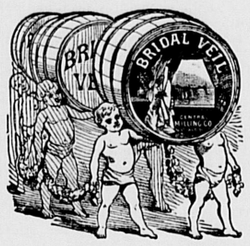
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

Another Reduction

IN THE PRICE OF

FLOUR



The Perfect Flour,	$6.75 Bbl.
Corrugated Flour,	6.50 "
Pillsbury's Best Flour,	6.50 "

All other Brands equally low. A discount of 25c. per bbl. made on Flour taken at the store.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

CONCERT.

A Concert will be given in the Town Hall, Winchester,

— ON —

Monday Evening, Jan. 26, 1891.

ARTISTS:

Miss Hattie W. Clark, Soprano,
Miss Helen Louise Woodbury, Contralto,
Mr. Geo. J. Parker, Tenor,
Mr. Robt. C. Whitten, Baritone,
Mr. H. G. Tucker, Pianist,
Mr. Heinrich Schaecker, Harpist.

Tickets, 50 and 75 Cents.

At Brown's Drug Store.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

THE SELF-RESTORER

FREE to every man, young, middle aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 581 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,
388 Main St. cor. Park St.
Woburn, Mass.

5,000 YDS.

Standard Prints, Fast Colors,

4 1-2 Cents.

4,000 YDS.

40 inch Brown Cotton.

BEST QUALITY MADE.

7 CENTS A YARD.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

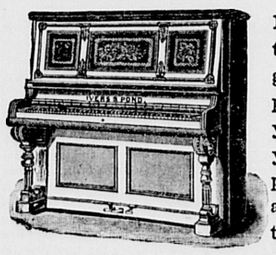
All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

DO YOU WANT A NEW PIANO?



Don't say you cannot afford to get one till you have given us a trial. Ask by postal card and we will send you free, a Catalogue, tell you our prices, explain our plan of EASY PAYMENTS, and generally post you on the Piano question.

You may save $50. by writing us a postal card.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO.

183 Tremont St., Boston.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

THE PROPHETS OF BAAL.

LESSON IV, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JAN. 25.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xviii, 25-39. Commit Verses, 38, 39—Golden Text, I Kings xviii, 21—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

25. "And Elijah said unto the prophets of Baal, Choose you one bullock for yourselves, and dress it first, for ye are many, and call on the name of your God, but put no fire under."

At Cherith (cutting) and Zarephath (refining) Elijah had been cut off from all human resources, and refined in the school of poverty and close communion with God, and thus qualified for the contest now before him. He who had been so much alone with God had no fear of King Ahab nor of the hundreds of prophets of Baal.

26. "Oh, Baal, hear us. But there was no voice nor any that answered."

Baal signifies lord or master, and is found in Num. xxii, 41, as the god of the Moabites. Israel worshiped Baal-peor, and 24,000 were slain by a plague (Num. xxv, 3, 9). In the days of the Judges they again and again forsook the Lord and worshiped Baal (Judg. ii, 11, 13; iii, 7; vi, 31; viii, 33; x, 6, 10); but this King Ahab had led them more astray than they had ever been before (I Kings xvi, 30-33).

27. "And it came to pass that at noon Elijah mocked them and said, Cry aloud, for he is a God."

28. "And they cried aloud, and cut themselves, after their manner * * * till the blood gushed out upon them."

Fancy hundreds of men leaping up and down (verse 26, margin), and shouting and cutting their bodies till the blood streamed from them, and all to make the god whom they worshiped hear them. Central Africa could not produce anything worse.

29. "There was neither voice nor any to answer, nor any that regarded."

30. "And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him."

In calmness he had waited, his soul doubtless communing with his God, but now the decisive moment had come; 450 men had failed—what could this one man do? He was one of those of whom it is written, "One shall chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight."

"And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down."

One of the first acts of Noah on leaving the ark was to build an altar unto the Lord, and so also did Abram when he entered the land of Canaan (Gen. viii, 20; xii, 8). From the days of Adam and Abel the altar and the sacrifice were typical of Him who was to come as the great sinbearer.

31. "And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob."

See twelve stones in the same connection in Ex. xxiv, 4; xxviii, 21; Josh. iv, 3, 8, 9, 20. Although the twelve tribes were divided into ten and two, making two nations, yet they were only one nation before God, and He has ever before Him the time when they shall be reunited under one King (Ezek. xxxvii, 21, 22). All Israel had at this time become idolaters, and hence the necessity of a testimony to the twelve tribes concerning the true God.

32. "And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord."

33. "And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood."

A bullock was used both as a sin offering and as a burnt offering (Lev. i and iv), and in these chapters full instructions are found as to the manner of offering. The sin offering was a type of Christ bearing our sins; the burnt offering was a type of Christ offering himself without spot to God.

34, 35. "The water ran round about the altar, and he filled the trench also with water."

Once, twice, thrice was the sacrifice, and the wood and the altar drenched with water. There was to be no deception here, no fire hidden somewhere about, which might be secretly used.

36. "Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel and that I am thy servant."

By this title God revealed Himself to Moses at the burning bush and said, "This is my name forever, and this is my memorial unto all generations" (Ex. iii, 6, 15, 16). Observe that the prophet's whole aim is that God may be magnified.

"And that I have done all these things at thy word."

Then the altar and sacrifice and wood and water and answer by fire were no mere thoughts of Elijah, but simple commands of God which he had only to obey, trusting God for all results.

37. "Hear me, O Lord, hear me; that this people may know that Thou art the Lord God, and that Thou hast turned their heart back again."

"If we know that He hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him" (I John v, 15). So that Elijah's one desire now was for God to hear him. "And this is the confidence that we have in Him, that, if we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us" (I John v, 14). Elijah having done just what God told him, must then have had the assurance in his heart that God heard him.

38. "Then the fire of the Lord fell."

Picture to yourself the multitude gazing on this lone man as he stands calmly before them beside his drenched and dripping altar and sacrifice and trench full of water, conscious of the presence and favor of the Lord God of Israel. He does not cry aloud nor leap up and down, but quietly looks up to heaven, and with his whole heart utters these few words (just thirty-four in the Hebrew) unto his God in the hearing of all the people.

"And consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench."

Just as at the dedication of the tabernacle, and the temple, and the offerings of Gideon and David, supernatural fire consumed the sacrifice (Lev. ix, 24; II Chron. vii, 1; Judg. vi, 21; I Chron. xxi, 26), so it happened now. I have no doubt but the offering of Abel was accepted in the same way. But notice how this fire acts; it does not go from earth upward, but coming from heaven takes the nearest first, the sacrifice, then the wood and so on to the very water in the trench.

39. "And when all the people saw it they fell on their faces. And they said, The Lord He is the God; the Lord He is the God."

So well they might, for the God of Moses and Aaron, of Gideon and David and Solomon, God, who is a consuming fire (Deut. iv, 24; ix, 3), had again declared Himself by the unfailing but awful sign, telling them of the wrath that would fall on them unless they came to Him in true penitence and by way of true sacrifice, as He had appointed.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shrout, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My Lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 26 lbs. in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousand friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at H. L. Flanders & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c. and $1.00.

The empress of Russia, a victim to nervous prostration, is intensely frightened when in a railroad car. By way of amusement she prints the emperor's letters for him on a typewriter.

Queen Victoria has a large hand and takes a 7 1-2 glove. She wears about two dozen pairs during the year.

TODAY AND YESTERDAY.

Life is not lived by days nor yet by years;
These come and go, or, haply, sometimes stay,
As Time his changes rings; and if Today
Lingers relentlessly when fraught with fears,
If perfect harmonies and smiles it hears
In one short moment—Lo! 'tis Yesterday.
And reverently the joy or pain we lay
Safe in the Past's dear shrine—with unshed tears.

So, when the deepest chords of Life vibrate
And quiver 'neath the master hand of Pain
Or Ecstacy, our quickened breath we bate,
And listen, hoping that perchance some strain
Of heaven's own music soothe, ere 'tis too late,
The troubled waters of Life's boundless main.
—Chamber's Journal.

A College Boy's Retort.

Ex-Congressman White, an old graduate of Knox college, says: "The reminiscence of the Rev. Dr. Jonathan Blanchard recalls to me another scene to which I was witness. Dr. Blanchard was lecturing to the students one night. His remarks were never brief. On this particular evening he seemed longer winded than usual. We fidgeted about and wished frequently for the end. There were two doors leading out of the lecture room, one on each side of the platform on which the doctor stood. If the doors had been at the rear we would have slipped out, but to get away it was necessary to walk directly toward and then past the doctor.

"At length one of the older students could sit it no longer. He got up, tiptoed along with his head bowed down and his hat held in front of him. The doctor stopped his discourse short off and looked at the approaching figure. The student kept on. Just as the student was about to pass the platform the doctor raised his long finger and thundered, "Young man, the way out of that door leads to hell." The student stopped quick, hesitated a moment, and then said in the mildest tone: "Does it? Then I'll take the other door." And he did."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Mammoth Spring.

The largest and most wonderful spring of fresh water in the world is on the Gulf coast of Florida, in Hernando county. The Wekowechee river, a stream large enough to float a small steamer, is made entirely of water spouted from this gigantic natural well, which is 60 feet in diameter and about 70 or 80 feet deep. Chemists who have analyzed the water say that there is not a trace of organic matter in its composition, and that it is the most pure and fresh of any spring in America. A dime tossed into the spring can be seen lying on the bottom as plainly as it could in a glass of common well water. The steamer which makes regular excursion trips up and down the Wekowechee is often floated into the cavity of the spring, but cannot be made to stay in the center, as the force of the rising water forces it to the sides of the basin. The spring and 2,000 acres of land adjoining belong to two Chicago capitalists.—St. Louis Republic.

Horse Versus Mule.

Some people say that a mule can be fed cheaper than a horse, but they are not posted on the subject. A horse will eat more grain than a mule, but the latter will devour twice as much hay, and will need it, too, to keep him in proper condition. A mule can stand more hardship than a horse, but more work and better service will be rendered by a horse than a mule. A mule rarely becomes overheated to such an extent as to fall, for when he finds himself becoming uncomfortably warm he will poke along, and all the whipping you can do will not induce him to mend his pace. A mule will stand more neglect than a horse, and still be able to do some work; but if properly cared for and tended as he should be he will cost every cent as much as a horse, and render no more effective service.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

To Speak Distinctly.

A very good way to begin the study of oratory by one's self is to choose several very difficult words, and, dividing them into syllables, pronounce each syllable clearly and with the distinct sound of each letter intended to be heard. Pronounce as if with the lips alone. This will bring the tones to the front of the mouth and aid in focusing the sounds of the voice correctly for rich and musical speech, besides which it will establish the habit, if practiced long enough, of giving the full value, and, as a consequence, the full meaning of each word spoken to the ear of a listener.—Jenness-Miller Magazine.

Happened So.

A Missouri farmer set a trap on the edge of a pond for a muskrat. A goose got its foot in it, and then an eagle dropped down and seized the goose and couldn't carry her away. The man was near by, of course, and all he had to do was to grab the eagle and run him into a coop and sell him for $25.—Detroit Free Press.

M. Vielle, prominent as an inventor of smokeless powder, by means of a delicate process of registration finds that the pressures at the moment of burning the powder do not shed themselves uniformly over the gun throughout its length, but that a wave of pressure starts at the seat of the powder and transmits itself.

Potato growing experiments in France show that the crop from whole seed is about 700 weight per acre more than that from cut seed, allowing for the difference in weight between the two sorts.

One of the best known reliefs for asthma, and at the same time a sure one, is to soak blotting paper in strong saltpetre water and burn it in the room at night.

Card of Thanks.

I hereby desire to extend to all of my friends my thanks for the many kindnesses extended to me during my past illness of over three months from rheumatism, and I especially desire to tell them that but for Sulphur Bitters I should have been suffering still. May you never suffer what I have, is the wish of your friend,

B. H. Tayleur.

A tin mine has been discovered in the Barker district of Montana, and if it continues according to the surface indications it is one of the largest tin mines in the world. It is further stated that 900,000 tons of ore now on the dump of the Harvey Polk tin mine in Montana averages 3 per cent, and the Etta ore averages 7 per cent. The Cornwall mines average but 2 per cent.

Queen Natalie is writing her memoirs, but as she is only 30 years of age they do not spread over a very extensive period.

ONLY A GOLDEN WIG.

What Made the Heart of the Engineer Stand Still and the Boys Laugh.

"It is a sad story," said an old railroad man as he coughed two or three times. The group of his listeners, who had been hilariously telling some funny experiences a few moments before, quieted down.

"I was runnin' old 142," he continued, "and Bill Sykes—you all know Bill—was firin'. We was takin' the flyer west, and had orders to run clear through, 'less we were signaled. I think the roadmaster was aboard, and we all knew that if we should pull up without a rattlin' good reason he'd be after us.

"We was runnin' almost full head, I guess, for I know the breeze just hummed when I jogged the cab winder a little. The old engine rocked just like as if it was on the briny deep, only faster. Well, we was goin' likety split up through the northern part of that town that used to stand by the bend. Bill was shovelin' coal like a good one, and I gave the whistle a toot now and then to let folks know we was comin'.

"As I was sayin', boys, we was just scootin'; goin' round the curve, too. Just then I cast my eyes as far up the track as I could see, and right then I saw something that brought my heart right up in my mouth. I shook all over. Bill saw the thing as soon as I did, and Bill's eyes bulged and his hair stood right up.

"There was something on the track. I could just see a little white sun bonnet and a calicker dress and a little red ribbon peepin' out from a bunch of as pretty golden curls as I ever see."

The old man stopped. He swallowed mysteriously a number of times and drew his horny palm across his eyes. The group of listeners only moved forward a little and held their breath.

"I couldn't stop, boys. It was no use. The flyer was heavy, and we was goin' nearly sixty an hour. When I got strength enough to push in that throttle and slap on the air we'd struck. We stopped. Bill and me jumped out and shuddered as we did."

The group of listeners turned away sick at heart. The old engineer went on:

"I picked up a wig of golden hair, and Bill two or three pieces of straw and an old sun bonnet. Just then a gang of ragged imps stuck their heads from behind an old barn and howled. 'Did you ever, ever, ever git left?'"

The group who had listened in horror to the old engineer's sad story looked tired and faded away.—Albany Argus.

A Most Obliging Neighbor.

There is a clerk in one of the departments named—well, call him Smithe, but that's not his name—who is notoriously close fisted, and was never known to pay a debt unless actually forced to do so. Seeing a neighbor the other morning going downtown, Smithe hailed him:

"Say, George, as you'll be on the avenue today, would you mind looking in at the express office and see if there is a small package there for me?"

"Not at all. I'll be glad to oblige you."

So George called and found a small box for Smithe, on which there was due twenty-five cents. It struck him at once that his economical neighbor would probably be short a quarter when he handed him the package, and he might then perform the feat known as whistling for it, so he left the box and went home. Passing Smithe's house, that worthy was waiting for him.

"Well, George, did you find anything at the express office?"

"Oh, yes," said George. "There was a package for you marked C. O. D., twenty-five cents, so I gave them your address and it'll be along directly. Fine weather we're having."—Washington Post.

The Mania for Fast Travel.

The anxiety of the public to travel at headlong speed is doubtless at the bottom of many of the railroad accidents now of daily occurrence in all parts of the country. Travelers are not content with thirty and forty miles an hour, and seek for trains that will make fifty and sixty. The schedule time is accordingly shortened and the engineer ordered to run on time or seek employment elsewhere. The brave engineer lets her go accordingly, and if the train remains on the track and there is no obstruction all goes well. Otherwise the dead are hastily buried, the wounded hustled off to the hospital, the wrecking cars ordered to be quick and get that debris out of the way, and new schemes are hurriedly devised to run trains seventy miles an hour.—Pottstown Ledger.

Portable Desk Clamp.

A most handy desk clamp is being used for holding incandescent lamps. By its means a lamp may be adjusted to any desired position over the desk, or on the walls, and by slipping it on the back of a reading chair the full light of the lamp is made to fall on the book or paper in hand.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Absolutely Changeless.

Sceptical Maiden—Dear Tom, shall I really find you changeless?

Impecunious Lover—Most assuredly, dearest, since I have found myself without change all my life.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Kept His Word.

"That will cost this road $20,000!" said a tramp who was kicked by a Union Pacific freight conductor, and he kept his word by starting a fire in a big coal pile.—Detroit Free Press.

Coffee in Earthenware.

The Lancet reports a lecture on tea and coffee, in which the people are advised to put the coffee for breakfast in an earthenware vessel, pour cold water over it, let it stand over night, and bring it to the boiling point by placing it in a water bath or double boiler in the morning, thus preserving all the aroma. As the editor pronounces the lecture as being "perhaps the most brilliant since its series was begun," the writer has no doubt tried the plan.

"A God-send is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your balm has cured me."—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

HUMAN INTELLIGENCE IN A DOG.

He Knew Enough to Buy Food and to Accept an Invitation to Dinner.

My first acquaintance with Jet was his begging of me one day in the street. I stopped and talked to him and asked him what he wanted. He immediately started to the baker's shop and sat up and begged at the door. I opened it and asked the baker what the dog meant. On learning I told him to come home with me and I would give him a penny. This he did promptly, and trotted off highly pleased.

Some days afterward I saw him sitting up at the baker's door with a penny in his mouth. Just before I opened the door for him I said: "Why do you not bring me your pence, old fellow, and I will give you some meat?"

The dog hesitated when the door was opened, and looked down the street toward my house, but finally entered and bought his bun. The next morning I found him sitting at my doorstep with a penny in his mouth, which he deposited at my feet, smiled graciously at me and sat down patiently. I gave him the meat, but as I did not wish either to take the dog's money or to cheat the baker, I returned him the penny, which he would not take for some time, till I told him to take it to the baker. He did so, but put it down in the shop and ran out without his bun, at least so the baker told me afterward. After that Jet would sometimes come to me and sometimes to the baker with his money, I suppose just as he desired meat or bread.

One morning I met him close to my gate; he had no money, but I asked him in, and he came and sat with me for an hour. As he was departing I said, "Come and dine with me to-night at 7 o'clock sharp, and you shall have a good feed." I forgot all about the circumstance and was sitting down to dinner with a friend who had dropped in when there was a deep, prolonged howl at the gate. I never thought anything about the invitation, but went to see what was up. The moment I opened the gate the dog raced in, instead of his usual solemn stalk, and went straight into the dining room. I had a chair placed for him and a plate by my side, and he ate what I gave him in the most correct and gentlemanly manner, leaving soon after dinner was ended. Many times after that I asked him to dine. I never knew him to come without an invitation or fail to accept one, except once when he was long-stopping.—Scientific Education of Dogs for the Gun.

Instruction in Railroad Management.

C. Frank Allen attests the importance of the relation of railroads to the state, which is becoming more evident almost day by day, as a reason why a regular course of instruction in railroad management should be looked upon as a useful part of a liberal training in colleges where instruction in technical engineering finds no place. Railroad administration furnishes abundant opportunities for any well educated young man to exercise all the ability which nature and training have placed at his disposal, and a technical training is without doubt the best foundation upon which to build in anticipation of entering the service of any of our successful railroads. In the proposed course this requirement would be fully provided for.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Watching the Movements of a Dog's Heart.

The opponents of vivisection will be disgusted to hear of an experiment which took place at the hospital in Professor Stricker's class. A little dog was made insensible, fastened to a board, and when his heart had been laid bare an instrument called the episcope was applied, which threw the magnified picture of the dog's heart on a wall opposite, revealing to the eyes of all present every movement of the heart. The experiment lasted half an hour. According to the professor, the successful demonstration of the movements of a living heart is of the greatest value to the student of medicine.—London Tit-Bits.

Suffering from Brown Gaiters.

In the county of Surrey, or at least in a certain part of it, we have two remarkable diseases, to wit, "St. Vipers, his dance," and the "brown gaiters." The terms need no explanation, but I may casually observe that the "brown gaiters" are known to ordinary persons as bronchitis.—Notes and Queries.

A drop of oil of cinnamon on a lump of sugar, allowed to dissolve in the mouth, will stop the most violent hiccough. Any one who has been dashed at from behind corners, slapped suddenly on the back and nearly frightened out of their wits in order to stop the cough will welcome a cure.

In Germany iodoform is being made by use of the electric current. An alcoholic solution of iodide of potassium traversed by a current of carbonic acid is subjected to the electric current, and iodoform is produced in the shape of small yellow capsules.

Mr. Gladstone is the owner of the largest lead pencil in the world. It is the gift of a pencilmaker of Keswick, and is thirty-nine inches in length. In place of the customary rubber cap it has a gold cap. Its distinguished owner uses it for a walking stick.

The best pictures so far taken of the moon show that the parallel walls, whose tops are no more than 200 yards or so in width, and which are not more than 1,000 or 1,200 yards apart, are plainly visible.

What Lincoln Thought.

Two of his friends were once gossiping together in Lincoln's presence upon what they considered the proper length of a man's legs, and finally appealed to him for an opinion. "Abe, what do you think about it?" Mr. Lincoln had a far-away look, as he sat with one leg twisted around the other, but he responded to the question, "Think of what?" "Well, we're talking about the proper length of a man's legs. We think yours are too long and Douglas's too short, and we liked to know what you think is the proper length?" "Well," said Mr. Lincoln, "that's a matter that I've never given any thought to, so, of course, I may be mistaken, but my first impression is that a man's legs ought to be long enough to reach from his body to the ground."

Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla to effect a cure.

Tumble Weeds Stopped the Train.

Probably most readers have seen or heard of the tumble weed, but for the benefit of any who has not it may be said that it is a bushy plant growing eighteen inches to two feet in height, having a small root and the branches all curving inward at the top, giving the full grown weed a globular shape. These weeds grow and flourish on summer fallowed lands in parts of eastern Oregon, and especially along the line of the Oregon and Washington Territory railroad between Hunt's Junction and Pendleton. In the fall, when the summer fallow is seeded, the harrows tear up these weeds, but as they are tough and wiry and are not broken up much they lie around on the fields like balls.

The first wind starts the balls rolling, and away they go for the first fence or railroad cut. The line above mentioned is not fenced, and some time ago these weeds piled into the cuts on it about Helix, in some places as high as the headlight of the engine, and on account of their being crushed under the wheels and "greasing" the track they held a train loaded with stock all night on the line. A gentleman who was on the train says that the weeds coming skipping over the banks into a cut in the dusk of evening looked for all the world like a band of sheep following their leader into the cut.—Portland Oregonian.

When Bagpipes Had No Charms.

An amusing episode recorded of the Peninsular war seems to prove that even the charms of our beautiful national bagpipes fail to soothe these savage beasts! It happened that, while one of the Highland regiments was marching across a desolate part of Spain, one of the pipers for some inexplicable reason found himself separated from his comrades. Halting on a lonely plain, he sat down to eat his breakfast, when to his horror he saw wolves approaching. When they came very near he flung them all the food he had with him, fully conscious, however, that his meager meal would not stay their advance for many seconds.

With the calmness of desperation he then said, "As ye've had the meat ye'll hae the music, too," and thereupon he proceeded to "blow up his chanter." No sooner did his unwelcome guests hear the first "skirl" of the pipes than they turned in wild terror and fled as fast as their long legs would carry them. "De'il hae ye!" said the piper; "had I thocht ye were so fond o' the music ye wad hae gotten it afore meat instead o' after!" Then hungrily he went his way, not forgetting from time to time to blow a blast so wild and shrill as might effectually scare any prowling foes.—Temple Bar.

Juggling Is Easy.

"These things are really very easy," said a juggler in an uptown museum to a reporter. "Practice alone makes them perfect. I always juggle with common things of everyday use, because then the people go home and try to do it themselves. In this way they realize how very difficult an apparently easy trick really is. When you make your first attempt use small brass balls, and start them with your left hand. This is because the left hand is naturally the clumsier of the two, and it takes longer practice to make it perfect. When you learn to keep two or three balls in the air at once try knives. Now, this is the way I keep the knives going. If I have, say, ten, I throw one with just sufficient force to give it a half turn; the next one turns completely over, the third takes a turn and a half, the fourth two turns, the fifth two and a half, and so on. It's very easy when you know how."—New York Times.

Grandpa's Dear Girls.

Grandpa is nearly 78, and is getting feeble, and never goes out without leaning on his umbrella for support. The thought struck me, How delighted the dear old soul would be with a nice heavy cane! I priced them, but could not get any that I thought would hold his weight for less than seventy-five cents. I could not give that, for it is nearly one-sixth of all I had, so sister and I went out, taking a saw with us, and after much hunting found a cherry tree with a nice straight limb, which we sawed off. I scraped off all the bark, and as soon as it is dry I am going to stain it and have steel knobs put on the ends; they will cost but fifteen cents, the stain five cents—twenty cents. I know grandpa will be delighted, and all the more because I made it myself.—Cor. Housekeeper's Weekly.

In Place of Grubbing.

If a boy 15 years of age should be left ten acres of land in Michigan, and his guardian should cover it with hickory trees, the income of the boy, when he came to be 30 years old, would be from $9,000 to $11,000 clean cash off his little farm. If in the south, and the trees were pecan, his income would be a third more.—Detroit Free Press.

How Names Are Secured.

The names of some of the counties in the state of Washington are Skagit, Snohomish, Klickitat, Yakima, Skamania, Chehalis, Wahkikum, Kittetas and Asotin. These names are made by the simple process of shaking the letters of the alphabet in a sack and emptying them out on the floor.—Chicago Tribune.

Waiting for Points.

Mrs. De Style.—Have you decided on the pattern for your coat?

Miss De Style—No, mother, I am waiting for this month's number of The Gentlemen's Magazine.—New York Weekly.

A Valuable Discovery

Dr. Brown Sequard's elixir of youth may be an important discovery, but every one knows that Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure certainly is. It has given thousands afflicted with serious heart disease a New Lease of Life. Druggists who can observe its effects on many customers everywhere speak very highly of it. Mr. John Weaver, of Knightstown, Ind., says: "I have sold much of Dr. Miles' New Cure and have received many good reports." O. Monroe, of Dunkirk, N. Y., reports large sales. "And the best part of it is every bottle has given satisfaction. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

King Leopold of Belgium is described as a long man, with a long nose and a long beard—handsome enough in a hawklike fashion—and a king who, having nothing to do, does it with admirable grace.

"Carmen Sylvia," otherwise her majesty of Roumania, is 47 years old. When at home she affects the picturesque costume of the Roumanian peasant.

Woman's Column.

Vermont Legislators.

In a previous issue it was stated that the failure of the municipal woman suffrage bill in Vermont was due to the fact that a majority of the members did not comprehend the fundamental principle of representative government. They understood about maple sugar, oleo, saw-dust and fowls, and legislated promptly on these subjects; but they failed utterly to see the gravity and importance of permitting those who pay taxes to vote for the persons who will have the spending of their money. They even refused to incorporate the Vermont Woman Suffrage Association, on the ground that this "would lead on to woman suffrage, and it was better to put a foot on it now."

The truth of our former statement seems fully verified by the report of the closing session of the Vermont Legislature, as given in the Rutland Herald. It says:

"It was the wildest night the Vermont House ever had, but few men showed the influence of liquor. The height of clamor was reached at about three o'clock, when a recess was voted to permit Mr. Prouty, of Franklin, to read an original poem. Mr. Prouty took the speaker's desk, and the din for five minutes was such as fairly to raise the roof. Mr. Kinerson, of Peacham, a two hundred-pound man with white hair, who looks as if he had been a deacon of a church for a generation, got up and waved his arms, fairly danced and shouted with the full power of his tremendous lungs, and yet the noise was such that he could hardly be heard twenty feet away. Mr. Pollard, of Chester, got the gavel and a tin plate, and pounded and shouted. Somebody got Mr. Moloney's rubbers, and they were thrown all over the room for twenty minutes. Men making ridiculous speeches were 'bonneted' from behind with waste-paper baskets full of scraps of paper, and then the baskets were thrown right and left. Mr. Marshall, of Brattleboro, got a resounding wooden box, and with some instruments drummed upon it until everything jingled, and shouted an accompaniment. Everybody shouted and laughed, except for momentary stops to throw paper wads and other missiles. Mr. Prouty took it in perfectly good part at first, and managed to read a stanza or two, but was soon drowned out, and left the desk disgusted. Then Reporter Mimms sang a song, and during the actual singing there came absolutely the only quiet known after the first outbreak of paper wads in the evening. Then Mr. Pollard took the chair and conducted a mock session, in which everything was done that could be thought of, either absurd or noisy. When everything else had been tried, the old trick of slamming desk covers was started, and everybody pounded and shouted and laughed. The demon of noise had full sway, and the white heads were as bad as any of the boys. All hands seemed intoxicated with uproar, and wanted more and more, until they were actually tired out with yelling and laughing at nothing in particular."

Now, from legislators who make such an exhibition of themselves as this, can any one expect serious treatment of a great principle like that of representative government?

Lucy Stone.

W. C. T. U. Press Bulletin.

A fund is growing with a view to the preparation of colored temperance evangelists for work in the United States and in Africa.

One of the newest departments of the W. C. T. U. is that of work among miners, designed to sink light and air shafts, for communicating temperance and gospel truths to the 300,000 men engaged in mining in this country. It is found that coal mining is carried on to some extent in thirty-one States and territories. Last year 135,000 pages of tracts were distributed among the miners.

The headquarters of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union have been removed to Evanston, the leading suburb of Chicago, where they will remain until the completion of the Woman's Temperance Temple, when it is expected that the officers of the National W. C. T. U., the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, the Illinois W. C. T. U., and the Chicago local Union will there find ample accommodations.

The W. C. T. U. is now organized in thirty-four different nations. Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt, of Boston, the pioneer white ribbon missionary, is at present in Italy, and from there goes to South America. Miss Jessie Ackerman, of California, is following in Mrs. Leavitt's footsteps, while Mrs. J. H. Barney, of Providence, R. I., superintendent of Prison and Jail Work in the world's W. C. T. U., Dr. Kate C. Bushnell, evangelist in the Social Purity department, and Mrs. E. W. Andrew, former associate editor of the Union Signal, will visit the world's auxiliaries this year.

It was voted at the convention of the National W. C. T. U. in Atlanta, Ga., to suggest to all the auxiliaries of the World's W. C. T. U., the desirableness of holding a session of that society next November in Boston, when the next session of the National W. C. T. U. is held. Lady Henry Somerset, president of the British Woman's Temperance Association, is expected to visit the United States in order to attend the convention. Lady Somerset is the eldest daughter of Earl and Countess Somers of Eastnor Castle, Ledbury, Herefordshire, Eng., and was married in 1872 to Lord Henry Somerset, second son of the Duke of Beaufort. Having no brother, Lady Somerset succeeded to the inheritance of the vast estate of her father. She has large possessions in the heart of London, as well as in the beautiful hill country of Herefordshire, her tenants there numbering nearly one hundred thousand. At the very threshold of her philanthropic work for her tenants, she was confronted with the terrible drink problem, which has made her an ardent advocate of total abstinence.

That eight out of ten girls of the period now study fall and winter fashions.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.
A CURE FOR CATARRH, COLD IN HEAD, HAYFEVER, DEAFNESS, HEADACHE. ELY'S CREAM BALM 50¢

The Prodigal Son.

The teacher of a Sunday school class of colored children expounded to them the parable of the prodigal son. She described in as graphic a manner as she could the young man eating husks while the swine fed on the corn. In the midst of her description one attentive boy held up his hand and said "Missus, I think that white boy was a fool." "Why do you think so?" "'Case if I had been him I would 'a' stole one o' dem hogs an' had a good dinner."—Christian Advocate.

"Oh, there's no danger," say most persons suffering from catarrh. But we say there is, great danger, and unless one uses Old Saul's Catarrh Cure in time, the disease may become chronic.

"Baby is king" all the world over. As its rule should be, as quiet as possible, fail not to provide it with Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup for all the ailments incident to its condition. It is a safe remedy.

That impecunious families ought never to start housekeeping in New York.

Deformity from Bright's Disease.

S. D. VanBuskirk, of Demarest, N. J., says: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., has cured our daughter of Bright's Disease, after all other means had failed. She was so swollen that she measured 45 inches around the waist, and 18 inches below the knee. To say that we feel thankful for such a boon as Favorite Remedy is but a poor expression."

That the man who has travelled abroad never grumbles at American hotels.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE GREAT
German Remedy.
TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and workshops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities burst-ing through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS FOOD
THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
Dr. Karl Wesselhoeft's German Catarrh Cure
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass

Rooms To Let.
Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let Enquire at
Journal Office.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
RAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the Woburn Journal with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the Woburn Journal.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address Woburn Journal, Woburn, Mass.

H

Public Library Danvers

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1891. NO. 7.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sonapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M, 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.00, 5.50, 6.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.40, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, s7.45, s8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburnfor Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.50, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9 10, *9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10.20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

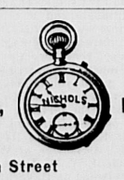
CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE !
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Central House, Woburn, Mass.
SIDE ENTRANCE.
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

JOSEPH P. SHIELDS,
Prescription Druggist,
WOBURN, MASS.
Has removed to Corner of Main and Walnut Streets, formerly Post Office.
N. B.—Shields's Cough Syrup IS guaranteed.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

THE RUM FIEND'S SONG.

I dashed along through the thoughtless throng,
With my banner of flame unfurled;
My poisonous breath is scattering death,
As I rush o'er a ruined world.

I snatched the bread from the child unfed,
I mock at the mother's tear;
My mirth rings out with the widow's shout,
As I dance on the father's bier.

I bind with a chain the statesman's brain,
I murder the patriot's hope;
I burn out reason, I smile on treason,
And play with the hangman's rope.

I spread my pinions o'er Christ's dominions,
And ministers quail with dread;
While rum and slaughter, my son and daughter,
Are smiling wherever I tread.

With a sneer or frown, I am tearing down,
Whatever the good men prize;
While my light-house, the prison, has higher risen;
Till it pierces the blood red skies.

Then, hail to the world! my banner's unfurled,
Emblazoned with "death" and "woe;"
Will you join my throng as we rush along
To the bottomless haunts below?

'TILDA'S KNIGHTS.

BY RAY LEDYARD.

A pretty American girl and an English cathedral!

She stood under the great north window and looked up and down. It seemed very dark and quiet after the bright sunlight on the grass of the close outside. She waited a moment, winking a little harder than usual until her eyes grew accustomed to the dim light.

"Ah, this is better than that stuffy little hole of an inn!" she thought, and continued her explorations of the cathedral together with her remarks to her very companionable self.

"Hum! 'The purest example of early English architecture.' That's what the 'A B C' of architecture said, any way, and although I know nothing about it, it certainly sounds well. Looks well, too, I declare!"

She stood for some time under the east window, looking down the middle aisle. On each side the grand pillars seemed to grow misty and dim as they reached upward. Far down shone the gilding on the choir-screen, and the faint light from the stained windows fell in long slants across the stone floor.

"Well, this will never do. I am actually beginning to feel a reverence for the place. Absurd sentimentality! I will see if the choir is open."

It wasn't, and she turned back down the middle aisle. Long rows of chairs, with kneeling attachments behind, and little boxes for prayer book and hymnal underneath. 'Tilda dropped into one.

"I think I should like to be here at evening service," she said. "Let's see,"—consulting a very small watch—"that's not until 4. It is now 3.30. What can I do? Oh, I know; I'll look at all these old knights. How quiet they are, one between each pillar." The click of her heels sounded on the stones as she walked across to the first. "Now, why in the world don't they have bigger waists? Every one of them with a chest as big as a German officer's, and a waist as small as a Frenchwoman's. How uncomfortable? So straight he lies, too. Head back, toes up, hands down at each side. No; you're no better,"—to the next one—"even if you have your dog at your feet. Oh, for a knight with a waist that doesn't look as if it would break in two! Now, how on earth could you ever sit a horse, with all that armor on, and no more waist? If I find him I'll fall in love with him on the spot; I'll even look him up in the guide book, which is much more to the point."

She strolled along, her nose rather in the air, and one hand in the pocket of her short jacket. Knight after knight passed under her inspection. Some had been to the Holy Land, as shown by the crossed knees. Some had died there; but all had small waists. 'Tilda reached the last space, near the door, and stopped short. A broad ray from a window fell on the effigy lying there, and softened the gray stone with tender lights and shades. A half-smile seemed to play on the battered lips. The head was turned easily to the right, the left hand thrown across the breast, while the right grasped a heavy sword resting at his side.

Very worn, and crumbling in some parts, but the memory of a brave and valiant man lived in the stone so many centuries old, and, "Oh," thought 'Tilda, "here's my man! The only one with a respectable waist."

Then she sat down beside him and studied the worn inscription. She could make nothing of it, not even his name. So she sat and dreamed. The sweet, calm face seemed turned to her, and the sunlight shifted and included her in its shaft. A sudden clatter, and a procession of school-boys in quaint ruffles marched by, very much out of step, soon to be transformed into cherubs in cassocks. 'Tilda shook off her dream, took up a prayer-book, and presently followed the stately service with the most laudable procession.

But when the white-robed procession had fluttered itself through the stone gateway, and the few old women and lingering black-veiled ladies had departed, she hesitated, and laying her hand tenderly on the stone one of the old effigy, said, softly: "Good-bye, Sir Knight!"

* * * * * * *

"Whatever is the matter with 'Tilda? She's reading the guide-book!"

"'Tilda, dear, do you feel ill?"

"How does your brain stand it?"

To which irrelevant remarks 'Tilda raised a pair of perfectly calm brown eyes and coolly surveyed her brothers.

"The matter with me," Thomas, exists in your own uncertain brain. I'm quite well, I thank you, Jem; only while you were all off on that long, hot walk, I had an adventure!"

Mrs. Turner looked across the table at her daughter with a little anxious movement. Sometimes this same pretty daughter gave her cause for nervousness, simply from her extremely picturesque way of looking at things. This time, however, she said:

"Nothing to bother you, mamma," and proceeded to the boys. "You would never guess in the world, so I'll just tell you." Solemnly she laid a hand on the shoulder of each. "I have fallen in love!"

"Huh! Just as if everybody didn't know that before, with that William Grayson fellow hanging around at Leamington and Stratford—and—pretty nearly everywhere we've been, and the fat letters—"

"My dear boys, do you think it likely that I should have met him in the cathedral this afternoon, when we left him quietly settled for a month at least at Stratford? And you know very well that he forwards and incloses all my letters, so, of course they are fat. Why don't you venture into the realms of possibility, Jem?"

Nevertheless, there was a small flush during this gallant defense, which fortunately escaped the usually sharp eyes of the two boys.

"Well, who was it, then?" in a surly tone from Jem. Jem was eighteen, and a year younger than 'Tilda, whom he thought he managed, but who really ruled him with the utmost tyranny. As for Tom, only, fourteen, he looked in simple and adoring admiration on his pretty sister, and was her abject slave. He now laid down his books and fixed his eyes, very bright with interest, on 'Tilda's face.

"Oh, 'Tilda! did you really? Who was it?"

"That is what I am trying to find out, but I appear to be interrupted. You see he's a splendid old knight in the cathedral. He looks like a fine nobleman," and then she held forth as regards waists. Tom wiggled about as evidence that his jacket wasn't tight, and Jem furtively stuck his thumb through his belt. "A fellow has to wear his belt tight with flannel shirts, to keep his trousers up," he growled.

"Perhaps my knight always wore suspenders and boiled shirts," suggested 'Tilda, "and didn't have to lace like young men nowadays."

"Oh, I say! read your guide-book, will you, and find out about him."

"Oh, I will; and when I find him I'll offer him my heart and hand, and all the rest that is necessary for an effect and a climax. His name—what is his name? Not that it makes any difference. At last—here he is—now I'll——"

"Well, what's the matter?"—for 'Tilda had suddenly become absolutely silent. She was poring over the guide-book with a red face and more interest than the occasion warranted.

"Why on earth don't you read about him?"

Whereupon 'Tilda began in a very small voice:

"This is quoted from an old book: 'He was in all things brave and honorable, a knighte moste royale to hys ladie, and fightynge for the true religion in Palestine, whither he journeyed in the years——' Bother dates. Then there is a lot about his father and grandfather, who seem to have been of doubtful character, and that's all."

'Tilda turned innocently to her bit of sewing, and apparently ended the matter. This, considering her former enthusiasm, seemed a little sudden.

"'Tilda," remarked Tom, presently, "what did you say his name was?"

Mrs. Truner, who had been looking at the guide-book in her turn, seemed to find something to amuse her there. Her daughter folded up her work and yawned.

"Oh, I'm tired," she said. "Good-night, everybody."

It was very quiet for a few minutes in the little circle, then came an exclamation from Tom—a long-drawn "Oh-ooo-ooo!"

"What's up?" from Jem.

"Just look here."

Jem leaned over the much-consulted book.

"By Jingo! if that old codger's name isn't William of something or other, and if she did'nt skin out of letting us know, and cut and run when Tom sprung it on her. Whew! if I don't make her remember that. Offer her hand and heart, will she? I'll bet she will—not. Just let her wait until to-morrow."

* * * * * * *

Another long June day passed in the quiet of the cathedral. Again 'Tilda wandered across the smooth grass to the evening service. For some reason she kept her hand in her pocket, and when she reached the cathedral she walked straight to Sir William's side. For an instant she smiled down at him, then pulled her hand out of her pocket with a very corpulent envelope in its clasp. On opening, several letters fell out, some in the slanting, angular writing of the modern girl graduate, one in an old-fashioned copper-plate hand—"That's grandpa's"—and one in a strong, black scrawl—"From brother Carl. Hum! how nice of—him to forward them. Let's see what he says," opening a small note in the same writing as the direction. "So proper! Oh, yes. 'This is to let you know that I have read none of the enclosed, but have forwarded them sans envelopes as more convenient.' Well? 'His regards to my mother.' Ah? now I proceed to investigate. Thought so!"

Carefully fitted inside one letter was a tiny sketch; in another a few verses; another held a sheet of finely written foreign paper and—

"So this is your knight, is it?" sounded Jem's voice. "He does look a good sort of fellow. Got a black eye in the Holy Land, didn't you, old chap? Wonder how your namesake, nee Greyson, is feeling? Pretty lively, I guess, with those pretty English girls next door. How they can play tennis. By Jove!"

"Jem," remarked 'Tilda, a little coldly, "the service is about to begin. If you are going to stay, here is a prayerbook and hymnel. It is the seventeeth day of the month, and——"

But Jem was gone. 'Tilda slipped her letter into a prayer-book and read it all through the first lesson. "Couldn't have heard him, anyway," she said. Again she lingered after service. Again she laid her hand oh the stone knight's.

"Thank you," she whispered. "You write very nice letters, although you are rather of expressing yourself. You sketch well, too. I should like to go sketching with you some day—William;" which remark seemed somewhat inappropriate when addressed to a stone effigy some centuries old. 'Tilda suddenly pulled a rosebud from her belt and pushed it under the stone hand. "There!" she said. "There's to your memory and mine, too, and don't let anybody take it away unless he bears your name. Sir Knight, I bid you farewell?"

The next day they went to Paris. Dressmakers, sight-seeing, and the usual American round of Parisian pleasure. 'Tilda bought gloves at the Louvre, mouchoirs at the Bon Marche, ate the light waffles fried in the open air, drank the very mild syrups, and declared them a travesty on soda water. All these things she did, besides wishing herself back in England. Letters could no longer be inclosed, for the bankers now had a permanent address, and woe unto 'Tilda if an epistle bearing a certain postmark fell into the hands of Tom or Jem. 'Tilda didn't care for Paris. 'Tilda couldn't bear the chatty boulevards, and the belligerent cocher with his snapping whip. 'Tilda looked for letters, and received news that a friend had migrated to the self-same cathedral town for sketching.

'Tilda's eyes grew big with a newly-found idea, and she glanced cautiously at Jem, who was reading at the window. Then she rested her chin on both hands, and considered.

"He almost 'said so,' the day we went on the walk. In fact he did, but I made a face or something, and I suppose he thought I didn't care one snap. Oh, but I do, though? I found that out as soon as he was out of sight. Queer, wasn't it? 'Out of sight, in mind.' But I have no time to moralize—not I—so here goes," and 'Tilda wrote a letter. Today came the following:

"You will find a friend of mine in the cathedral. He lies in the first space to the right of the choir. I liked him first because he was more natural than the others. Then I found out his name, and as it was yours, too, perhaps liked him none the less."

So far so good. Here 'Tilda bit her pen.

"I left a flower in his hand," she wrote on, rapidly. "I dare say no one has placed one there for a long time. Perhaps if he knew you bore his name he would not mind your taking it. We shall reach Dover on Tuesday by the packet."

With a very red face 'Tilda sealed her letter and posted it herself. There was no time for an answer, but there was a young man at Dover to meet the packet, and Jem pinched his sister enthusiastically.

Very sweet and quiet was 'Tilda. Not a gleam of mischief in her eyes, not a trace of embarrassment in her manner. Poor Greyson had been in Dover for two rainy days, with only a very dusty and dilapidated rosebud in his pocket for compensation. 'Tilda's usual quiet and calmness he thought rather worse than the rainy weather, and when she delared herself tired to death and left the hotel parlor at nine o'clock, his discomfiture was complete. Could there be some fellow in Paris?

In the morning all was changed, and 'Tilda descended to breakfast in a fresh gown and her most impudent manner. Everything pleased her, and when Greyson proposed a walk with the boys, she assented with apparent enthusiasm. All went well until Jem became possessed with a most unruly spirit.

"Tom," he remarked with solemnity, "I have always heard that the Dover shops are partiularly celebrated for the pretty girls behind the counters. Tom! it is our duty to investigate."

"Jem," remarked 'Tilda, "it is certainly uncomplimentary to your sister's small pretensions at beauty to be forced to resort to shop-girls."

"'Tilda, my dear sister, our admiration is quite superfluous, and we will bid you fond farewell." With which very pretentious leave-taking, Jem dragged Tom away.

'Tilda looked as she felt, a little blank. Greyson looked at 'Tilda. Then that young lady rallied her forces. "Boys are rather amusing sometimes," she remarked." "They always tease me in some way, but this is a new direction. Nothing like variety, you know."

"Yes," he admitted; "variety in some things, but not in others."

"Oh! the exception proves the rule, of course—or tries to. Do you consider me the rule, the exception or the variety—show?"

"Now, Miss 'Tilda, what do you mean when you talk so?"

"Mean? I'm sure I doh't know. Nothing much, I suppose. A woman seldom means what she says or says what she means."

Greyson felt a queer dazed feeling about his head. Then a sudden, quick little motion on 'Tilda's part suggested a new idea. Was she nervous? Did she feel in as many contrary ways as he did? In short, was she consistent, after all, and not as she said, a "variety show?" It was amazing how much temporary bravado this gave him. He took a dusty and crumpled bud from his pocketbook without a word.

"Oh!" remarked 'Tilda with great indifference, "you found it, didn't you? thought it might amuse you. How did you like your namesake—I mean—that is—his—your—at least you are his namesake, of course—"

"Yes," interrupted Greyson, with no indifference at all; "I found it, and I was wondering"—his courage began to vanish into thin air—"I was wondering if I had found anything else."

"Anything else?"—with very much wide-eyed surprise and much assurance.

"Yes, 'anything else.' You know perfectly well—look around at me—that I am good for nothing and all that sort of thing"—'Tilda nodded with spirit—"and that I care a lot more for you than I do about myself or anything else." Poor Greyson stumbled on, regardless of 'Tilda's supreme compose.

"If you did, by any chance, say you cared more than a snap of your fingers for me, I couldn't believe it. You never mean what you say, you told me just now. Oh! why can't a woman allow a man to understand her a little?"—and Greyson turned away as if to seek strength in the blue stretch of sky and sea.

No sooner had he turned than he felt his sleeve plucked. 'Tilda was holding a very small portion of said sleeve between her thumb and forefinger.

"I should have to care a great deal if I cared more than a snap of my finger, because I can't snap my fingers."

This was begun impudently, but ended with a little lowering of her voice.

"And as for meaning what I say—Oh!"—a pause—"I think—a man is so stupid!"—with a little stamp. "Of course I never mean what I say—never, and I say now that I don't care a bit about you. There!"—Frank Leslie's.

Munroe's . Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN
—IN—
Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prizes will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd "	$500 in Gold
3rd "	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th "	$500 Piano
5th "	$300 Organ
6th "	Ticket to England and return.
7th "	Lady's Gold Watch
8th "	Gent's Gold Watch
9th "	China Tea Set
10th "	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th "	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently the paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

Marvellous Endurance.

The vast amount of labor performed by the heart in keeping all portions of the body supplied with blood is not generally known. It beats 100,000 times, and forces the blood at the rate of 168 miles a day, which is 3,000,000,000 times and 5,150,880 miles in a life time. No wonder there are so many heart failures. The first symptoms are shortness of breath when exercising, pain in the side or stomach, fluttering, choking in throat, oppression, then follow weak, hungry or smothering spells, swollen ankles, etc. Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure is the only reliable remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

"Are Mr. and Mrs. Green at home?" was asked of the little girl who answered the bell. "Yes." "Are they engaged?" The small girl looked horrified as she answered: "Why, they are married."

The Engineer

Of the Wakefield, Mass., Rattan Works, C. N. Young, says: In all cases of biliousness accompanied with these terrible sick headaches, I have found no other medicine that seems to take hold and do the good that your Sulphur Bitters does. It is the best family medicine made.

Professor:—Which teeth come last? Pupil:—The false one, sir.

Eupepsy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it, to fully enjoy life. Thousands are searching for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 30, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 105 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

"GREATER BOSTON."

The Boston Sunday Herald of Jan. 25, contained an article with the above caption of over 10 columns in length, accompanied with a map and several cuts of public buildings, which it is safe to say was read with interest by more people than any other production that has appeared in a Boston daily for a long time. It contained a scheme in general and particular for the consolidation of Boston and all the cities and towns within 10 miles of the State House under one municipal government, the same to be the Boston of the future. The plan is a feasible one, and it will have to be practically worked out sooner or later.

A circle extending out 10 miles from the State House, the writer says, would include Boston, Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, Cambridge, Somerville, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester, Woburn, Arlington, Belmont, Watertown, Waltham, Newton, Brookline, Hyde Park, Milton, Quincy, Lynn, Saugus, Swampscott, Nahant, the population of which was on June 1, 1890, 884,815, which is considerably more than one-third of the whole population of the State.

Nineteen of these cities and towns, with a population of 750,143, comprise the Boston Metropolitan Sewerage District, the towns and cities within the circle and not included in Sewage District being Lynn, Swampscott, Saugus, Wakefield, Nahant, Quincy, Hyde Park, Milton.

The writer has evidently bestowed a great deal of study and labor on his scheme, all of the details of which are given showing not only its feasibility but the utility and benefits which would accrue from such consolidation. The proposition is not to annex all these municipalties to Boston, but to unite them into one body politic and to create a government for the new geographical Boston something after the style of the present government of London.

Of course it would be impossible to even so much as to allude to the many advantages to Boston and its suburbs which the proposed arrangement would secure in a brief notice like the present, and therefore we would counsel the readers of the JOURNAL to hunt up the article and read it for themselves.

Among the illustrations are very good views of the Woburn Public Library, the Winchester Town Hall, Malden Public Library, the old Powder-house at Somerville, and others.

The writer says: "It is worthy of remark that Brookline, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop were formerly parts of Boston, while Somerville, Winchester and Woburn were originally parts of Charlestown. Therefore to make them portions of metropolitan Boston would be simply their restoration to their first political allegience."

BARRETT IS A GOOD REPUBLICAN.

Hon. W. P. Barrett, Speaker of the Massachusetts House, made a speech before the Norfolk Club one evening last week which kicked up quite a commotion. From the way it was reported and printed in the Boston dailies no other conclusion could be reached than that he had taken leave of the Republican party and his senses at the same time, and the Herald even went so far as to make the report of the speech a text from which to preach a long political sermon to show that the Republicans were all rushing over to the Mugwump camp and the party crumbling to pieces. It was the manner of reporting the speech that raised the rumpus. Taking parts of sentences, divorcing paragraphs from their true and intended relations, picking out a sentence here and there and putting them together—in this way it was made out that Mr. Barrett was opposed to nearly all the cardinal tenets of the Republican party, and had strayed from the true fold in the most lamentable manner. He went back on McKinley's tariff, the Federal Election bill, had a good word for free coinage, and maintained that the public school question was to be the great political issue in the future.

Last Tuesday Mr. Barrett caused to be published in the Evening Traveller a letter in which he tells the public just what he did say at the Norfolk Club dinner, pointed out the errors of the reporters, and then went on to explain his views on the live issues of the day.

Mr. Barrett's explanation was perfectly satisfactory. There never ought to have been any misunderstanding as to his position on the tariff and elections bills and other party measures, or on the silver question, because he is a stalwart Republican, a dyed-in-the-wool one, and on all questions of party principles and policies he is and always has been as sound as a nut.

The only trouble about Barrett is, that he is in advance of his party, or of some of its old moss-backed leaders, and when he hints at a new gospel, or a new presentation of an old one, they hold up their hands in holy horror and cry treason.

Nobody can read Mr. Barrett's letter in the Evening Traveller without being forced to the conclusion that he is a Republican of the strictest sect.

INGALLS OUT.

The Kansas Legislature knocked Senator Ingalls out in one round last Tuesday. If that had been done before he made his last foolish speech in the Senate we should have had some pity for him in his defeat; but a man who can talk as he did on that occasion had better be made to stay at home.

Nevertheless, it is more than probable that Kansas will get very sick of her new Senator before a great while and regret exceedingly that she made the change.

Unless the Alliance goes to pieces sooner than most people suspect, the State of Kansas is bound in the near future to be afflicted with the worst lot of demagogues she has ever harbored within her fair borders, and Kansas has had, one time and another, some pretty tough customers in that line.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Caswell—Stetson.
Advertiser—For Sale.
Fitz & Stanley—Groceries.
F. Schwartz—Upholsterer.
P. O. Box 1684—Incubator.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
Horace Dodd—N. E. I. Co.
Jas. Skinner & Co.—For Sale.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Bak. Pow.

— The Common Council will hold a meeting this evening.

— Smoke "Old Hundred" cigar at Kelley's drugstore, 417 Main street.

— See what Box 1684, Woburn Postoffice has to say about matters and things.

— Mr. Amos Cummings is going to have a great gingham sale. Read his announcement.

— Mr. Blank has got his Wilmington drugstore pretty nearly into good running trim.

— Anybody can get a good overcoat at Mr. C. M. Munroe's Clothing store very cheap just now.

— We call particular attention to the change in the advertisement of the Boston Bunch in the JOURNAL.

— If things move on as smoothly as at present the Eaton Shoe factory will be ready for business next week.

— Gowing's Orchestra will furnish music for the ball of True Blue Lodge, L. O. I., at Music Hall this evening.

— The managers of the W. F. R. A. will please accept thanks for complimentary tickets to their ball to-night.

— Read the new advertisements in the JOURNAL this week carefully. As usual they are interesting and generally profitable reading.

— It is reported that the Young Mens Association, organized a year or so ago, at their meeting held last week voted to adjourn sine die.

— Mr. George W. West has been elected Superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday School in place of Mr. William E. Blodgett, resigned.

— It is a perfect luxury to have Mr. David Ronco do up ones beard, whiskers, mustache and hair. Dave does it as neat as a whistle and prompt too.

— At a meeting of the South Middlesex Unitarian Club held last week Mr. H. M. Aldrich of this city was chosen a member of the Executive Committee.

— The Woburn Co-operative Bank will have $3000 to sell at their meeting to be held on Feb. 12. It behooves those who want money to be on hand at that meeting promptly.

— The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will take place in Concert Hall on Friday, Feb. 6, at 3 P. M., when Rev. Edward G. Porter, of Lexington will lecture on Japan.

— Street Superintendent Jones had his highwaymen out in full force as soon as it ceased snowing on Sunday afternoon and very shortly the sidewalks were in apple-pie condition.

— Dr. Springer has taken rooms at 42 Pleasant street, opposite the Public Library. A large increase of professional business necessitated the change. He has a fine suite of rooms now.

— The American Mechanics will hold a Grand Bazaar in their new hall [illegible]—21.—A Sachem's regalia to be voted for is displayed in the window of Mr. Munroe's clothing store.

— Rev. C. H. Leonard, D. D., who was not able to preach last Sunday at Concert Hall, will be present and preach next Sunday. Rev. W. A. Start will also be present and aid in organizing the parish.

— Mr. J. E. Jenks, a Boston broker, formerly of Woburn, fell on the ice three weeks ago and broke one of his arms. We had a short call from him last Monday when his arm was an object requiring considerable care.

— A fellow by the name of W. H. Ginnis has been swindling the people of this city by getting orders for crayon portrait work. He worked his game very shrewdly and pulled in a good many dollars from unsuspecting victims.

— Organist W. H. Clarke has prepared a fine service of music for next Sunday morning at the First Congregational church, to wit:

Organ Prelude. "Priere in D flat." Lefebure Wely
Venite in G. Antiphonal Chant.
Choir Anthem. "The Lord is my Light." Reichardt
Organ Postlude. Fugue in G. Wesley

— Mr. C. Francis, an elderly and very estimable citizen of this place, fell on the ice near the Cook shoe factory last Tuesday and broke his hip. In his trouble he has many friends whose sympathy he will have in full measure.

— Last Tuesday afternoon 30 or 40 members of Burbank Womans Relief Corps, No. 84, took a sleigh ride to Lynn to visit their former President, Mrs. Anna L. Randall. They went in a big sleigh and had a very pleasant time of it.

— It snowed again yesterday. We told Sewell the other day when he ventured the remark that he guessed there wouldn't be much more snow this winter, that he'd see all he wanted to of it before the top of "March Hill" is reached. And he will.

— The JOURNAL is in a position to state positively that no application has been made to the Comptroller of the Currency for a charter for another National Bank in this city unless it was made some days later than the last issue of this paper.

— Mr. John Connolly, City Janitor, has bought the Charles A. Wood residence on Bennett street and Church Ave. Possibly the papers have not been made out but the bargain for it is completed. Gregory, the wideawake real estate dealer, made the sale.

— Mr. S. B. Goddard advertises the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, an elaborated idea of which was set forth in these columns not long ago. Mr. Goddard is doing a large business here with this concern for the simple reason that employers of workmen see at a glance its utility and are anxious to avail themselves of its benefits. It is a sound and popular insurance company, and Mr. Goddard manages its business here to the satisfaction of its numerous patrons.

— A large shoe manufacturing company of Dover, N. H., want to come to this city and establish a factory. They employ 150 hands and pay out about $2500 a week. Mr. Amos Cummings is trying to get Woburn capitalists interested in the enterprise and thus secure the business.

— Mrs. Martha Sewall Curtis made her report as State Lecturer at the 22d annual meeting of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association held in Boston Tuesday and subsequent days. It was interesting and showed that she has been faithful to her trust and done a great deal of work during the year.

— The Red Men will give their grand annual concert and ball on next Wednesday evening. Brigham's Orchestra of Marlboro are to furnish the music. Unless Col. O. J. Hart, one of the Chiefs and Past Sachem of the Tribe, is very very much out of the way the affair will be a splendid one.

— Doctor Daniel W. Kelley, who studied and mastered the profession of pharmacist with Mr. W. W. Hill, and who has been carrying on a drug establishment of his own in Malden, has bought out Doctor Joe P. Shields, in Mechanic Building, where he will carry on the business in the future. Success to him.

— Mr. Frank Schwartz has opened upholstering rooms at 404 Main St. where after Feb. 2 he will be glad to meet the people of Woburn and consult with them about business. As an upholsterer, draper, trimmer, etc. Mr. Schwartz is an artist and cannot fail to satisfy our people on that point. Give him a call.

— A note from Mr. H. M. Aldrich informs us that the course of Sunday evening lectures at the Unitarian church will commence next Sunday evening. The opening lecture will be given by Rev. E. A. Horton of Boston. The course promises to be one of great interest and will probably attract large audiences.

— Probably no house in this or any other country of the old world has reduced to a system the manufacture and sale of furniture to a more advanced stage of perfection than can be found at Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal St., Boston. It is marvellous how such fine goods can be produced at so little cost.

— We learn with pleasure that Mr. Holman, business manager of the Daily City Press, and wife seriously contemplate taking up their residence in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Holman would be a valuable acquisition to the best Woburn society and it is to be hoped they will conclude to make this their future home.

— The High School pupils have opened the ball in good shape. The burning question is graduating exercises, or no graduating exercises, and so far the nos seem to have it by a large majority. Plausible arguments can be adduced pro and con, and what the upshot of the movement will be nobody can just now say.

— There was an alarm from box 61 early Wednesday morning for a fire in McCue's fruit store and street car reception room 471 Main street. It originated among the rubbish in the cellar, as one or two former fires have done, but how is something of mystery. Spontaneous combustion is the most plausible idea of the fire's origin.

— The Equal Suffrage League will hold its annual meeting, Monday evening, Feb. 2, at 7.45 o'clock in Concert Hall. Its members have thought it appropriate at that time to pay a fitting memorial tribute to the life and work of its founder and first president, Mrs. Emma Putnam Kelley. Such friends as so desire are cordially invited to be present.

— Dr. Ephraim Cutter's Sanitarium on Mott Avenue and 165th street in New York City was opened to the public recently and struck a paying basis at once. Dr. Cutter is eminent in New York as a physician as well as all over the world as a scientist and any institution of the above description is bound to flourish under his auspices and personal management.

— Capron, who mysteriously disappeared from Boston the other day after writing a letter to his wife informing her of his comtemplated suicide, was a member of the Johnston Electric Signal Co., of this city and was engaged in conducting the same at one time, and perhaps up to his strange disappearance.

— Mr. John I. Munroe, the enterprising real estate dealer of this city, is negotiating with a big shoe firm to get them to settle in this city with good prospect of success. Reading held a public meeting the other day with a view of getting the same company there, and it is probably there will be a gathering of Woburn business men soon to discuss and act on the matter.

— It was stated in last week's JOURNAL that Mr. William P. Symonds had become connected with the General Secretaryship of the Lynn Y. M. C. A. which was an error. He has not been connected with any Y. M. C. A. in any capacity for the last two years, but has been engaged in newspaper work in Boston, where and at which he expects to continue for some time to come.

— Sunday evening service at the Unitarian church: The following well known clergymen are expected to preach: Revs. E. A. Horton, James DeNormandie, E. L. Rexford, D. D., of the Universalist Church, and others. The pastor Rev. H. C. Parker will also give four lectures on Belief in God. 1, Evidence of God's existence; 2, How God reveals himself; 3, Is God good?; 4, May we believe that God is our Father.

— Last Wednesday the Boston Secretary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York gave the agents of the Company a dinner in Boston which report says was a swell affair. The big corps of lightning talkers and vital statistics figurers enjoyed the feast very much, and the Secretary was happy while surrounded by his jovial aids. Mr. Webster Woodman, the popular Woburn agent for the Company, and Ex-Professor Herbert B. Dow of this city, also an agent, were among the favored of the generous Secretary's guests and returned with hunger appeased and praises on their lips.

— Members of the Pine Tree Club are requested to meet at the residence of Mr. J. H. Nason, No. 323 Main street, at 7.30 o'clock on next Wednesday evening to canvass the matter of the annual meeting, banquet, etc. A full and prompt attendance is earnestly desired.

— Mr. and Mrs. William S. York and their daughter have decided to visit California as members of the Raymond excursion party that will leave Boston on next Wednesday, Feb. 4, and are making preparations for the same. The visit will include all points of interest in California—Los Angeles, San Diego, Monteray, San Francisco, etc. —and in going or coming New Orleans, Cincinnati and other large cities will be visited. Mr. York and his family contemplate a pleasant trip, and we trust they will not be disappointed.

— Mr. Edward Simonds generously remembered his many friends in this city last Wednesday—the 71st anniversary of his birthday—nor did he forget his old friend the JOURNAL. He has been connected with public matters in Woburn ever since 1844, well towards 50 years, and if there is a spryer, more active, or better preserved man among us than he is we do not know who he is. His 71st birthday found Mr. Simonds in good health and happy, and may he live to celebrate many more anniversaries of it in peace and plenty.

— Mr. Charles Eaton, who met with what came so near proving a fatal accident on Thursday afternoon of last week, was not taken to the hospital in Boston as the JOURNAL in the hurry of making the announcement of the affair stated, but was taken to Mrs. Sherburne's, his mother-in-law, on Main street, where he soon revived and was pronounced by his attending physicians to be out of danger. It was one of the narrowest escapes from an instant and terrible death that ever occurred in this place.

— The Christian Endeavor Society held a meeting last Tuesday evening at which Chester R. Smith, Miss Lutie Carter, Edwin C. Cotton and Miss Mary D. Prior were chosen delegates to the Park Street church, Boston, anniversary, which took place Thursday evening. Walter Marion and Edwin C. Cotton were chosen a committee to collect funds for Rev. James L. Fowle, the missionary. Rev. James L. Fowle has been a faithful missionary in foreign lands for a good many years and ought not to be hampered in his noble work by lack of funds.

— There was a heavy snow storm last Sunday. It was an old fashioned New England one such as our forefathers delighted to tell the wonders of, and being what is known as a "damp" one it renewed the sleighing which recent rains had about destroyed. Several inches of snow fell, and on Monday the sleigh-bells jingled merrily in our streets, where many fine turnouts were seen. The sun was warm and so was the southwest wind and the snow melted quite rapidly all day Monday. But there was a little more snow on Tuesday just to even up things.

— Last Monday was the 72d anniversary of the birth of Deacon Gawin R. Gage of this city and, as has been his custom for years, although quite ill at present, he celebrated it by giving a little party. The affair—neat but not gaudy—took the shape of a family dinner which was attended by Mr. Frank B. Richardson and wife (the latter the daughter of Dea. Gage) and children, Rev. Dr. March, Rev. F. W. March (the Doctor's son), Mr. and Geo. A. Bean, Mr. Frederic A. Flint (of the firm of G. R. Gage & Co.), Mrs. Daniel Ramsey of New Hampshire, a sister of Mrs. Gage. In the morning Mrs. Gage fell on the ice and so severely injured herself that she was unable to discharge the duties of hostess, while the Deacon of course was not well enough to play the host. In his absence and by his command Mr. Flint sat at the head of the well-laden table, and everything passed off in the most agreeable manner. The dinner, as well as the social intercourse, was highly enjoyed.

— The annual meeting of the First Parish in this city was held last Monday evening and the customary business transacted. Dr. John M. Harlow was chosen Moderator and presided over the meeting. Mr. C. Willard Smith was elected Clerk; E. E. Thompson, Collector and Treasurer; Frederic A. Flint, Auditor; and Joseph G. Pollard, Oliver F. Bryant and Luke Warren Fowle was elected the Parish Committee. The annual reports of the Parish Committee, Treasurer and Auditor for 1890 were submitted by those officers and accepted by the meeting. These reports showed that the receipts of the Parish for the year had been $4,793.35; and the expenditures, $4,782.48; leaving a balance of $10.87 in the treasury. A committee consisting of Messrs. L. L. Whitney, J. G. Pollard and O. F. Bryant were appointed to prepare a set of resolutions expressive of the Parish's appreciation of the valuable services rendered by Deacon G. R. Gage during the 11 years in which he was an active member of the Parish Committee.

— The Firemen's Relief Association will give their fourth annual ball and concert this evening for which Calnan's popular Orchestra will furnish the music. Caterer Reed of Boston has been engaged to provide the supper. Chief Engineer Ferrin will have charge of the floor, assisted by Assistant Engineer Ames, and the following named will be aids: Bernard H. Folan, Joseph C. Larock, Charles H. Nichols, James E. Eaton, John Kenney, James L. McNulty, Cyrus B. Fetridge, Luman C. Gott, James E. Boutwell, Cornelius Driscoll, William R. Greenleaf, William J. Brown, Patrick H. Greeney, Patrick H. Doherty. The following named will constitute the reception committee: Charles A. Wood, Charles Stewart, Thomas F. Ryan, Charles E. Eaton, Fred E. Perkins, Charles B. Green, Lawrence Martin, Thomas Flynn, Thomas Marlow, John H. Bates, Alfred K. Fetridge, Edward F. Tibbetts, George H. Newcomb, George A. Boutwell, Griffin Durga, Edward E. Stowers, Amos Langell, George H. Brauer, James H. Doherty, John Madden, Neil Noon.

— The present Chairman, Mr. W. F. Kenney, has been a member of the Woburn School Board some seven years and has proved himself a worthy occupant of a responsible and honorable public position. He has accomplished a good many much-needed reforms in the Board, and a great many old fogy notions have been dropped and others more in consonence with modern educational progress adopted in their stead. Mr. Kenney's ideas are practical, and although the most harmonious relations have always existed between him and his fellow-members he has managed to carry out many measures beneficial to our schools. We find this passage in the report of the proceedings of last Tuesday evenings meeting of the Board; "At Chairman Kenney's suggestion it was voted to provide suitable accommodations at the meetings for members of the Press." That is in line with what Mr. Kenney's position has always been on the question of "executive sessions" from the very first of his official career. The JOURNAL acknowledges with pleasure the courtesy which the Board, by Chairman Kenney's suggestion, has extended to the reporters. It is understood that the abolition of the great annual display of the graduating class is one of Mr. Kenney's ideas—but enough for the present. More Anon.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a meeting on last Thursday evening which was attended by all the members. Petitions were received as follows: Patrick McCarthy for State aid; Hans Anderson and others for extension of water pipe on Middle street; H. Perley and others for street light in Ward 6. All referred.——The bond of John G. Maguire, as Collector of taxes, indorsed by Thomas Salmon, Thomas Moore, Leonard Thompson and John R. Carter in the sum of $30,000, was approved.——Francis P. Curran was chosen City Solicitor, in non-concurrence, the Council having chosen John Warren Johnson.——Concurred with Common Council in the order to print 2500 copies of the record of marriages. ——Alderman Davis offered an order providing for a portrait of the first Mayor of Woburn, Edward F. Johnson. The rules were suspended, and the order was passed unanimously.—— The report of the Water Commissioners was read and ordered printed.—— The petition of the police asking increased pay, which was referred to the committee on police, was recalled and sent to the Committee on Salaries.

On Land and Sea.

The fashions of washing are many. Some nations pound the clothing: some dip them into boiling springs; woodsmen hang theirs in running brooks, while sailors stow their clothing behind sailing ships, after covering it with salt water soap. None of these methods are really effective. A cleanly and easy wash can best be had with Brussels soap, which is a foe to dirt.

The Poultry Show.

A very interesting exhibition by the Woburn Fanciers Club closed at Lyceum Hall last Friday after a three days session. The chief promoters of the exhibition, which included President E. F. Wyer of the Club, Secretary M. W. True, and many prominent citizens, were highly pleased with its success, and were also strongly encouraged to go on with their plans for making the Club's show in Woburn a fixed and permanent thing. The result of this year's effort would seem to justify such a step.

The exhibition was made up of a very large number of splendid birds of all kinds. The judges, old and experienced fowl fanciers, said it was the best they had seen both as to numbers and quality of individuals. The breeders from abroad, too, a large number of whom were present, were unanimous in their praise of it, and it seems as though a good foundation was laid for an annual show here by the Club.

There was a large continuous attendance at Lyceum Hall all through the exhibition although a part of the time the weather was very bad and streets nasty, and the crowds were composed of the first ladies and gentlemen of this city and vicinity. It is apparent that a lively interest in poultry breeding prevails all through the community, and it is, no doubt, greatly strengthened by the influence of the poultry Clubs which are enjoying successful careers hereabouts. Should an annual show be established here by the Woburn Club the interest in this pleasant and profitable occupation will increase.

Several well-known breeders from away took prizes for superior fowls at the exhibition, as well as many Woburn owners of fancy chickens whose stock was unexcelled. Among the chief prize winners were Mitchell of Hyde Park; Geo. F Hosmer, W. P. Cutler, F. W. Legg, Capt. E. F. Wyer, E. A. Holbrook of Winchester; W. H. Wilson of Shirley Village; John C. Jodfrey of Salem; Joseph T. Davis, Charles McLachy, F. A. Johnson, C. F. A. Smith, of Waltham; Howard M. Munroe of Lexington; Austin A. Fish, Frank B. Richardson, Chester Fowle, Patrick Morgan, M. J. Clancy, James E. Darmody, N. B. Tilton of Savanah, Georgia, who took a prize for "Old Fashioned Games;" N. A. Knapp of Winchester; D. F. McIntosh, Ernest A. Legg, Smith Brothers of Worcester; Tenney & Harrington, N. B. Hartford of Watertown, and many others.

It may as well be taken for granted that an annual poultry show by the Woburn Fanciers Club is a fixed fact. The interest and enthusiasm of exhibitors and visitors was a guarantee of that.

The Terrible Indian War!

Now in progress, excites universal attention, and a history of the thrilling events connected with it will be eagerly sought after. The enterprising publishers, S. S. SCRANTON & Co., Hartford, Conn., have in preparation and will issue as soon as possible after the decisive battle, a work of about 500 pages, by W. Fletcher Johnson, author of "Johnstown's Flood," giving a graphic sketch of Sitting Bull, the Medicine Man, and the leading chiefs, and a complete richly illustrated history of the whole terrific struggle.

Agents should write at once to the publishers, who give liberal terms and pay freight.

Primary Teachers' Institution.

The Boston Primary Union of Sunday-school Teachers will hold an Institute at Berkeley Temple, Boston, commencing Monday, February 2, at 2.30 o'clock. Interesting and helpful addresses on the best methods of teaching and training the younger scholars will be delivered by practical, progressive teachers. Supper will be served at 6 oclock, under the auspices of the Congregational Superintendents' Union, followed by addresses at 7 P. M., by Dr. Gumbart of Roxbury, and lesson teaching by Miss Harlow of Lowell. The public are cordially invited to attend both services.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Corporation and Managers of the Home for Aged Women will be held at the Savings Bank Building Tuesday, Feb. 3, at half past two P. M.

S. S. HOVEY, Secretary.

It's economical—Brussels soap.

Meeting of the School Board.

The Woburn School Committee held a regular meeting at their rooms last Tuesday evening with a good attendance of members.

Chairman William F. Kenney presided.

Appropriations to the amount of $40,751.79, which included unexpended balances, were reported by the commitee and adopted.

Miss Jameson was chosen music teacher to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation or Mr. Russell, with a salary of $800.

The following were received:

WOBURN, Jan. 1, 1891.

To the Honorable the School Committee of Woburn:

We, the undersigned, members of the graduating class of '91 of the Woburn high school, respectfully request the school committee to grant that the usual public exercises of graduation be omitted next year, for the following reasons:

First—The expense necessary for the occasion is too great for some of the class.

Second—The amount of time spent in preparing for graduation might be more profitably spent.

Third—The essays read on graduation are not representative of the work done in school.

Fourth—Owing to the size of the class, all are not entitled to take part.

The above is signed by Blanche L. True, Mary H. Eaton, Alice K. Linscott, Clara L. Nichols, Carrie A. Bram, Ada M. Munroe, Cecil A. Wyman, Caroline B. Crane, C. Adaline Richards, Nellie C. Doyle, F. Mabel Ferguson, Florence M. Styles, Helen F. Ordway, Sadie L. Fosdick, Abbie Winn, Mary C. Melendy, E. Haggerty, Bertha R. Richardson, Chester L. Fish, Edwin K. Porter, Elizabeth West, Elsie A. Francis, Mary C. Goode, Redmond Walsh, Irving R. Bancroft, Hattie L. Dodge, Amelia E. Bland, Parker C. Fowle, Frederick T. Hovey, P. D. Carney.

The following-named parents or guardians of the scholars approve the same: Moses W. True, Marcus Eaton, Andrew R. Linscott, Benjamin H. Nichols, H. L. Brown, George J. Munroe, Arthur B. Wyman, John P. Crane, Daniel H. Richards, M. Doyle, John Ferguson, Mrs. S. S. Ordway, George F. Fosdick, John Winn, N. E. Melendy, J. H. Haggerty, M. L. Richardson, George W. Fish, Huntington Porter, M. M. Francis, Patrick Goode, P. Walsh, Ambrose Bancroft, Frank B. Dodge, James Bland, George E. Fowle.

The remonstrance was as follows:

To the Honorable the School Committee of Woburn:

We, members of the graduating class, understand that your body is to receive a petition signed by certain pupils of the high school, to abolish the customary public graduation.

Therefore, we beg leave to express some reasons why this request should not be granted.

First—That the public is interested in this official statement on the part of the teachers of the merits of their schools, is attested by the large audience which is annually drawn together on this occasion.

But it is contended that the writing of an essay is not a true example of one's ability, as it is said to be largely the work of the teachers, but the falsity of this claim can be proved easily by a large number of past graduates; but that the writing and delivery of an essay is the best example of the ability of the author is evident from the fact that it is the course pursued by the leading colleges and schools of this land.

It has also been brought forward that the many individual expenses for a graduation can be used to better advantage, but we have ascertained from past graduates that the outlay, outside of class photographs, need be but little more than would ordinarily be spent at that time of the year.

Furthemore, it is urged that the time spent in preparing for a graduation might be better employed, but we know, from three years experience, that the regular recitations are held to the last day, and that in previous years not only have graduations been held but also all wishing to enter colleges have successfully passed their examinations, occurring within a few days of the graduation.

Finally, it is claimed that it is unfair that all should not be permitted to take part if they wished, but, that it is natural that those who, through indifference and poor scholarship, have failed to reach the necessary standard, should wish to avoid a public exposure of the fact, it is but justice to the others that the public should have an opportunity to see how well they have made use of the advantages or education offered by this city.

Therefore we pray that our honorable body will decide that the class of '91 hold graduating exercises, and that you will give instructions and make the appropriations customary for such an occasion.

Signed by J. Chester Hanson, Franklin S. Ellard, Lutie Carter, Elliot F. Trull, George G. Barker, Florence Royce.

The matter was discussed and a decided difference of opinion developed, when, upon motion of Mrs. Adams, it was voted to refer the matter to a special committee, to report at the next meeting. Chairman Kenney appointed Mrs. Adams and W. W. Cummings.

The matter of remunerating Miss Hevey and Miss Larkin, for expense of travel to and from the Johnson school, developed so much opposition that it was dropped. Thomas Mulkeen was reappointed truant officer.

At Chairman Kenney's suggestion it was voted to provide suitable accommodations at the meetings for members of the press.

After Forty Years.

At the annual meeting of the First Congregational church of this city held on Monday evening, Jan. 19, Deacon Gawin R. Gage, on account of continued illness, resigned the office of church Treasurer which he had held for 40 consecutive years. What followed the receipt of the resignation may be learned by referring to an official report of the meeting published in this paper last week from the pen of Secretary Pollard. The action was appropriate and well deserved.

This record of office bearing by Dea. Gage is one that any person might will be proud of. It is remarkable not only as respects its duration, but when the books were closed and handed over to his successor they told the story of his honesty and efficiency as a servant of the church. The debtor side of the ledgers showed the money received; the credit side, where every penny of it had gone to. Thousands and thousands of dollars were handled by him as Church Treasurer during his 40 years of faithful service, and not a farthing ever went wrong. There was not a false figure in his books. Every dollar was accounted for.

In 1846 Deacon Gage was elected Town Treasurer and served faithfully and efficiently for a period of 32 years, which covered a considerable share of the time he was Treasurer of the Congregational church. His incumbency of that responsible public post was characterized by the same care, honesty and intelligence that won for him the confidence and esteem of the church he served, and but for the introduction of politics into town affairs there can be no doubt but that his resignations of Town and Church Treasurer would have been simultaneous.

Dea. Gage has not only served the First Congregational church faithfully and honestly for the long period named, but during that time he has been the church's most conspicuous representative both in temporal and spiritual affairs. In the public mind he has for many years stood for the church, has been associated with it, and recognized as the head of its affairs. One can hardly think of Dea. Gage without at the same time being reminded of the Congregational church; nor of the church without thinking of him. With the secular affairs of life—with the progress and promotion of the best interests of Woburn—he has for more than 40 years been closely identified. In fact, with everything kind, generous, true, and honorable, whether in connection with the church or the worldly good of the town, the name of Dea. Gage has always held a conspicuous place—held the rank of leader in works calculated to promote both the spiritual and temporal welfare of his fellow-men.

A tramp who stole a box of Brussels soap concealed his identity by washing himself with a cake of it.

Installation.

Last Wednesday evening the newly elected officers of Woburn Lodge, No. 57, Order of Ægis, were duly installed at their Lodge in Fox building by Officer O. M. Wade and suite. As usual the ceremonies were impressive.

The Order of Ægis is a Benefit Order which pays its members $25 per week in case of sickness, and $1000 at the end of 7 years. Hence it is known as the 7-year benefit Order.

Thirty-three people were present at the installation, who about 10 o'clock sat down to the annual dinner, which was a superb one. Hardy of Arlington was the carterer, and he strengthened his hold on the affections of Woburn's good livers wonderfully last Wednesday night. The dinner was greatly enjoyed.

After dinner speeches were made by: O. M. Wade, G. P. Hartshorn, C. W. Ames, C. H Stevens, J. M. Wallace, C. E. Conn, E. A. Pierce, J. H. Wetherell. With these the meeting closed.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

The subject of the proper food for infants is one that claims the attention of all. The best food for an infant, whether sick or well, is that which closely resembles mother's milk. Mellin's Food exactly meets that requirement; it is prepared for use by simply dissolving it in hot water and milk.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 30 Congress Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY ASSURANCE CORPORATION LIMITED LONDON, E.C.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

The District Conference of Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. Associations of the Third District of Massachusetts and Rhode Island held their conference in this city on last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, for the carrying out of which in approved style the local Association put in a great deal of time and work. The District comprises the following Associations: Boston, Brockton, Charlestown, Cambridge, Harvard University, Hyde Park, Natick, Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Winchester, Woburn. A. H. Whitford of Cambridge was Chairman of District Committee, and Geo. S. Avery, Secretary.

It was said by those who claimed to know about it that it was the largest conference ever held in the District, and the opinion prevailed quite generally among delegates and visitors that it was the most enthusiastic. Several of the "great guns" in the work were present and participated in the various exercises, among whom were Chairman Whitford of the District Committee; the eminent Evangelist L. W. Munhall of Philadelphia; J. W. Cook, Assistant State Secretary, of Boston; J. L. Gordon of Boston, and others. Several resident and outside clergymen were also active in the numerous sessions of the conference.

The conference opened with a reception of delegates followed forthwith by a collation which some 80 persons sat down to and keenly relished. It was in every sense of the word what is popularly known as a "square meal." Notwithstanding the veneration all feel for baked beans as a New England and particularly a Boston institution, it was decided by the Committee of Arrangements that at this banquet baked beans should be religiously tabood, and the consequence was that, so far as the eye extended, not a single solitary bean raised its defiant head over the tables. It was an innovation which is regarded by some as fraught with danger to the esculent bean—perhaps its complete and permanent relegation to a back seat at future banquets. The salad, that wonderful cullinary composition, it is feared by the older members of society, is crowding the bean to the wall, but there are people outside of Boston as well as thousands in it who will make a desperate fight for their old-timed favorite fruit.

The collation had been prepared with care and there was enough of it to satisfy every hungry body who drew his chair up to the boards. There were meats, oysters, salads, bread, cake, and an abundance of coffee, thanks to the judgment and liberality of the committee on supper.

At the banqueting tables brief but pleasing addresses were made by Mayor Bean, Rev. D. D. Winn, Rev. Mr. Murphy, and perhaps others. Filled with the good things of the table the company adjourned to the First Baptist church where religious exercises were held consisting of a praise service. It was presided over by A. H. Whitford, General Secretary of the Cambridge Association, and at 7 45 the opening exercises of the conference took place. The rest of the evening was taken up with a Boys meeting by the Junior Department of the Cambridge Association, addresses, etc.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday forenoon there was a Bible Reading conducted by L. W. Munhall, the Evangelist, and in the afternoon many sessions of great interest were held. Rev. J. E. Fielden of Winchester discussed "Can the work of the Y. M. C. A. be done by a single church?" Reports, addresses, music and boys meetings filled up the time on Saturday. At the praise service on Saturday evening Miss Katherine Spear sang very sweetly indeed a solo which the meeting appeared to highly enjoy. The same gifted young lady gave a solo on Sunday evening also which added much to the interest of the service. In the Saturday meetings Messrs. Whitford, C. L. Pitkin of Boston, O. E. Ryther of Hyde Park, R. C. Gordon, E. McAllister of Waltham, Evangelist Munhall, W. W. Lyman of Brockton, T. T. Hazelwood of Haverhill, J. W. Cook, Ass't State Secretary, Geo. S. Avery of Boston, J. L. Gordon of Boston, took prominent parts.

The conference closed on Sunday evening. Everything had run smoothly and satisfactorily from the start and delegates, visitors, and the home management were well pleased with its success. Sunday was an interesting day to all concerned. The meetings were well attended—much better than was expected considering the heavy snow storm in the forenoon. The city pulpits were generally filled by delegates, and well filled, and good music was furnished by the city choirs. At the Mens Meeting was one of the largest ever held by the District conference, and at 7.30 P. M. the Mass Meeting held at the First Congregational church attracted a very large assembly of people. The exercises, in which many delegates and others participated, were highly interesting and were appropriate as a close to a successful series of excellent religious meetings. With the Mass Meeting closed the conference.

The Woburn Association managed their part of the programme admirable. Their Remnants. Remnants. Remnants.

Our Annual Sale of Remnants and Shop-worn Goods, remnants of Dress Goods, Clonkings, Linings, Flannels, Cotton Cloths, Table Linens, Towelings, Ginghams, Calico, etc.

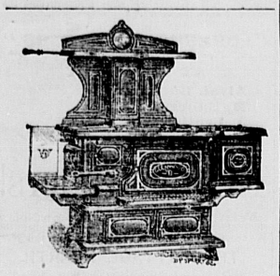
Shop-worn Blankets, Comforters, Underwear, Men's Laundered Shirts, Collars, Cuffs and Neckwear.

Ladies' and Misses' Garments at one-half their former price.

Felt Goods such as Table Covers, Tidies, Scarfs, etc., all at greatly reduced prices.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

An Interesting Document.

Sherman Converse, Esq., of Salem street, in this city, took the Federal census of Woburn, Stoneham, Reading, No. Reading and So. Reading (now Wakefield) in 1860, and devoted to the discharge of its duties five months of continuous work. From his report to the Department at the close of his official services Mr. Converse lately furnished us some facts which, we have no doubt, will prove of interest to the people of Woburn and the other places named.

We would remark by the way that Mr. Converse is a native of Woburn, his ancestor being one of the original seven pioneers from the Charlestown church who settled the town, and is held in high esteem by his fellow citizens. He was born in 1810, and there are are only eight natives of this city whose age exceeds his. These are: Mr. Jonathan Tidd, Mr. Rufus Poole, Mr. Henry Thompson, Mr. Walter Wyman, Mr. Elijah Wyman, Mr. J. G. Flagg, and Mr. Jacob Wright.

Some of the interesting items from Mr. Converse's census report are these: In Woburn there were, in that year (1860) 1148 dwelling houses; 1432 families; 6288 inhabitants, 3082 of whom were males, 3206 were females, being 126 more females than males, and an average of 5 5-11 individuals to each house, while the average in the three Readings and Stoneham was 5½ to eace house.

There were on June 1 (1860) 1469 foreign residents in Woburn. Mr. Converse found that the ratio of children born of foreigners was about 9 to 16, which gave for the foreigners and their children in Woburn a population of 2300, being a little over one-third of the whole number.

The number of deaths in the three Readings, Stoneham and Woburn during the year ending Jan. 1, 1860, was 193, viz.: No. Reading, 11; Reading, 49; So. Reading, 49; Stoneham, 33; Woburn, 51. This gave

No. Reading	1 death for every	109	inhabitants.
Reading	" " "	54	"
So. Reading	" " "	65	"
Stoneham	" " "	97	"
Woburn	" " "	123	"

Average deaths in the five towns, one for every 86 inhabitants.

There were 42 oxen, 382 cows and 50 horses in Woburn on Jan. 1, of that year.

The oldest male inhabitant was Jesse Converse, who was 95 on Feb. 9, 1765. The oldest female was Molly Richardson who was 96 years old. There was but one old maid in Woburn and she owned up fair and square to the "soft impeachment." She was 63 when the census-taker made his official call on her, but was not pressed to tell the month she was born in. All the other maidens of the town being less than 60 years of age did not come within category of "old maids."

There were six twin daughters in one family in Woburn. In Stoneham, Mr. Converse says in his report, he found one child deaf, dumb and foolish; in No. Reading, a girl who had but one eye; and a cousin of hers of the same age, a boy leaving only a few roads from her, with two thumbs on one hand.

The town of Woburn, Mr. Converse found, had gained in the preceding 10 years, since 1850, 2334 inhabitants, and was still in a progressive way.

This census was taken 30 years ago, since which date great changes have come about in the towns comprising Mr. Converse's census district.

Y. M. C. A.

Monday Song Class.

Boys meeting at 2 p. m. Sunday.

At 8 o'clock on Saturday evening Prayer and Bible study.

At 4 p. m. Sunday, one of our young business men will have charge of the meeting.

Tuesday evening at 7.30, First Practical Talk of this season. C. Irving Fisher, M. D., Superintendent of the State Almshouse, will give his lecture on "Our Bodies." Free to members. The admission will be 25 cents.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Burlington.

Daniel A. Foster, a son of Mr. D. A. Foster was quite badly hurt while coasting, Saturday.

The Daughters of Rebekah had a social dancing party at the Town Hall, Friday evening.

The mother of Mrs. Charles E. Marion, an aged lady, recently had a severe fall on the ice. Her hip was broken and serious consequences are feared.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn.

AGENT FOR

Woburn and Winchester

—FOR THE—

Jenness-Miller System Patterns

—AND—

MADE-UP UNDERGARMENTS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods & Carpets

Hosiery, Underwear, Small Wares, Cottons, Flannels, Blankets.

Large Stock! Low Prices!

He Has Lost It.

Lawrence Reade, formerly of Milford, where he was always an active, prominent Democrat, under the Cleveland administration was made postmaster of Woburn, his commission expiring the 22d of next month, and has been at work for some time to secure a re-appointment under a Republican administration, for whose policy he has about as much love as a cat entertains for hot soup.

He found some Republicans carried away by the Mugwumpian sophistry that Democrats ought to stand equal with Republicans under a Republican administration, to endorse his papers, and recently made the customary pilgrimage to Washington. But it was of no avail. General Banks and other prominent Republicans thought a Republican good enough to administer the duties of the Woburn postoffice, and Arthur B. Wyman, a true-blue Republican, gets the place—an eminently proper disposition of the case. It must call for a good deal of what the boys term "pure gall," for a bitter Democrat like Lawrence Reade to even as much as ask a Republican administration to retain him in a lucrative position like the postmastership of Woburn.—Milford Daily Journal, Jan. 19.

As a general rule the political notions of our brisk little Milford contemporary are orthodox. It is sensible on the "spoils" question. It believes that Democrats should not be allowed to hold office under a Republican administration a minute longer than is necessary for them to pick up their duds and get. That's business. There's no "snivel service" about the Milford Journal.

But the case of Mr. Reade was different. It was not he who started the movement for his reappointment, but leading Republicans who appreciated the fact that he had made a firstclass postmaster. The business of the office has been administered in the very best manner by Mr. Reade and his employees for the last four years, on which score long petitions signed by many leading Republicans were sent in praying for his reappointment. He did not "even as much as ask a Republican administration to retain him," nor did he make the "customary pilgrimage to Washington." Mr. Reade went to Washington on entirely different business. If it was to be made a question of politics Mr. Reade did not expect to stay in the office and did not ask any favors of that sort: if the community wanted him for P. M., he was agreeable. That's all.

Will the Milford Journal please make the correction which truth demands?

The Census of Massachusetts.

The Census Bureau has issued a bulletin giving in detail the population of Massachusetts by counties, cities, towns and wards, according to the official count of the returns of the eleventh census as finally determined. The population as returned in 1880 is also given for purposes of comparison. The population of the State for 1890 is 2,238,943, an increase of 455,853, or 26.57 per cent since 1880, the population at that time being 7,783,085. The following summary by counties is presented, showing in addition the population for 1890 the number and percentage of increase during the decade. The largest percentages of increase are shown in the counties of Middlesex, Bristol and Hampden, the percentages being 35.66, 34.11 and 30.32 respectively. The counties of Barnstable and Nantucket show a decrease, while the increase in Dukes county has been very slight.

Barnstable, 29,172; decrease, 2725, or 8.54 per cent.

Berkshire, 81,108; increase, 12 076, or 17.49 per cent.

Bristol, 186,465; increase, 47,425, or 34.11.

Dukes, 4369; increase, 69 or 1.60.

Essex, 299,995; increase, 55,460, or 22.68.

Franklin, 38,610; increase, 2699, or 7.25.

Hampden, 135,713; increase, 31,571, or 30.32.

Hampshire, 51,859; increase, 4627, or 9.80.

Middlesex, 431,167; increase, 113,337 or 35.66.

Nantucket, 3268; decrease, 459, or 12.32.

Norfolk, 118,950; increase, 22,443, or 23.26.

Plymouth, 92,700; increase, 22,443, or 25.24.

Suffolk, 384,780; increase, 96,853, or 24 97.

Worcester, 280,787; increase, 53,890, or 23.75.

The State, 2,238,943; increase, 455,858, or 25 57.

There are 47 cities and towns in the State which had a population in 1890 of 8000 and over. These cities and towns have an aggregate population of 1,564,931 as against 1,191,990 in 1890. The increase during the decade for these 47 cities and towns is therefore 403,941, or 34.68 per cent., the percentage of increase for the entire State being 25 57, as previously stated. The population of the twenty-five cities of the Commonwealth is 1,327,164, the population in 1880 being 989,024, and the increase during the decade 338,140, or 34.19 per cent.

Mark ye the model citizen. There are no holes in his sidewalks, nor loose planks. His chickens scratch not the garden of his neighbors, and he suppyeth his home with an abundance of the economical Brussels soap. The end of that man is peace.

Beloit College, Wis., has been given $25,000 for a new dormitory.

North Woburn.

Miss Flora Greenleaf entertained friends at her home on Friday evening, Jan. 23.

Some of the talented singers of this village gave a few of their selections at a concert given in the Congregational Church at Wilmington on Thursday evening, Jan. 22.

On last Friday evening some of the friends of Mrs. George S. Holt gave her a very pleasant surprise party. A fine collation was served and games of all sorts were enjoyed.

The dance given at the Vidette hall on last Friday evening, under the management of the Knights of Labor, was very well attended and also a financial success. Music was furnished by Calnan's orchestra.

A party of four of our citizens visited the Concord river on last Tuesday in hopes of catching a fiue strap of the finny tribe; but the fish did not bite well and so they came back weary and cold, and bringing but five little pickerel about the size of ordinary smelts. It was indeed hard luck for there were no fish markets along the route.

Montvale.

EDITOR WOBURN JOURNAL:—How is it that $1,000 is paid for police in Montvale when $200 would do and have an unexpended balance at the end of the year? We have no stores here except two little groceries and the schoolhouse to be watched during the day. The proprietors are in their stores, and the teachers are capable of taking care of themselves. Perhaps this money is paid for political work done; or it may be paid to watch a few old women who walk on the streets during the day. One thing is certain, the horse cars are well watched, although no citizen ever thought they were dangerous. It may be the free ride is the object. And nothing can be more certain than the rumsellers get the best of protection. As a sample I might give story of a hog killed here last week. I'll keep it for another time. No person has paid the expressman.

And yet the Aldermen want to give the policemen more pay!! But the tax-payers ought to watch the "Budget." TAX-PAYER.

Boston Theatres.

Rose Coghlan will offer for her reentrance next Monday at the Globe her new comedy, written by her brother Charles, entitled "Lady Barter." This play is founded upon an actual incident of the Zulu war, and deals with the unbridled love of a young British officer for an adventuress. It is pronounced a very strong play and one that gives the actress unusually fine and varied opportunities. Miss Coghlan never lacks a warm welcome in Boston. "Masks and Faces" will be acted at the Wednesday matinee. For all the rest of the week "Lady Barter."

Boston is ever ready to welcome her favorite sons, and James B. Mackie, a Boston boy, who holds a good share of his townspeople's generous regards, will receive a worthy greeting when he appears at the Grand Opera House next Monday evening. He will appear in his new and successful musical comedy by Mr. Thomas Addison, entitled "Grimes' Cellar Door." Mr. Mackie has made the biggest hit of his life in the character of Billy Grimes, who owns the Cellar Door, and Miss Sanford is also credited with very clever work.

WINCHESTER.

The Winchester C. T. A. Society will soon produce the drama, "The Turn of the Tide," in the Town Hall.

Charles H. Herrick will act as best man at the wedding of his brother, Rufus Frost Herrick and Miss Kinsley of Rutland, Vt.

On next Monday evening, Feb. 2, a dramatic entertainment will be given in Rangeley Hall for the benefit of the coffee houses in Boston.

Robert C. Whitten, barytone, of this town, assisted by Miss Hattie W. Clarke, soprano; Miss Nellie Louise Woodbury, contralto; George J. Parkre, tenor; H. G. Tucker, pianist, and Heinrich Schnecker, harpist, gave an excellent concert in the Town Hall last Monday evening.

The Winchester and Chelsea clubs of the Interclub Billiard, Pool and Whist league played in Chelsea last Wednesday evening. The billiard and pool games were one sided, Chelsea winning the four. The first and third whist sets Chelsea also won, and the second was forfeited by Winchester on account of non-appearance.

The pastor of the Congregational church has begun a series of Sunday evening lectures the order for which is as follows: Feb. 1, Missionary Concert, Feb, 8, address by Rev. S. V. Cole of Taunton; Feb. 15, "Adam's Sons"; Feb. 22, "Eve's Daughters"; March 1, Missionary concert; 8th, "Wanted! Men!" 15th, (to be announced); 22nd, "Woman, the Queen"; 28th, Easter concert; April 5, Missionary concert; 12th, "The Fair Havens."

The West Side Land Syndicate is an accomplished fact—a living knowso—and the property has been bought. W. F. Forsythe is at the head of the movement, which is an assurance that the scheme for building up Winchester will be a success. The large property will soon be laid out into streets, avenues and squares, and early in the spring building operations will begin in good earnest. It will be a big thing for the West Side and Winchester.

At the annual meeting of the First Congregational Church, Winchester, these officers were elected: Moderator, Hon. James F. Dwinell; Clerk, F. B. Browning; Treasurer, Dea. C. E. Conant; Standing Committee, George H. Gilbert, William H. Herrick, Harrison Parker, 2d.: Auditors, E. H. Stone, Charles E. Swett. The customary appropriations were made. Rev. Joshua Colt, I. S. Palmer and A. C. Vinton were appointed a committee to consider the matter of enlarging the seating compacity of the church edifice. The standing committee were empowered to receive and solicit subscriptions for a new organ.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Twombly will start on Monday afternoon, Feb. 4, on a Raymond excursion train from Boston for a California trip and visit of several weeks duration. A large party are going, many from this vacinity, and from Woburn, Mr. William S. York, wife and daughter. They will go via and stop at Cincinnati, New Orleans, and all the notable points in Southern Calfornia, etc. Mrs. Twombly at first did not think she would go with her husband, but when she saw him fairly beseiged and overrun by squads of beautiful young damsels and no inferior force of moderately young and awfully gay and festive widows for permission to accompany him, why she very naturally thought that the safest thing for her to do was just to put on her things and go along. So Dame Twombly is to take the trip. May both enjoy it and return safe and sound to their pleasant home on Wildwood Ave., West Side, Winchester, Mass.

FRESH IDEAS IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it. Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom: Washington Street, cor. Elm, BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

500 MILES OF WIRE.

The two special telegraph wires running from the

BOSTON HERALD

Office to its New York correspondent used up five hundred miles of wire.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

WE offer Five Year FIRST MORTGAGE bonds on Real Estate in Sioux City, Iowa, in denominations of $100 and $500, with interest at SEVEN per cent., payable quarterly in Boston. The security is worth five times the value of bonds issued. Further information in pamphlet free.

New England Investment Co.,

C. W. BALDWIN & CO., Agents,

33 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

FOR SALE.

INCUBATOR CHICKS. Land and water fowls' One Plymouth Incubator for one hundred eggs. Address Box 1684, Woburn, P. O.

Rooms To Let.

Furnished Rooms with Furnace Heat, To Let. Enquire at JOURNAL OFFICE.

THE SELF-RESTORER

FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 351 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tracments To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND,

388 Main St. cor. Park St., Woburn, Mass.

Safe For Sale.

A good SECOND-HAND SAFE for sale. Apply to BUEL & SON, Buel's Court, Woburn, Mass.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Eli Cooper, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Alva S. Wood, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William H. Walker, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Fred F. Walker and John W. Johnson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Hannah Chamberlain, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lewis L. Whitney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

FRANK SWARTZ,

UPHOLSTERER

—AND—

Furniture Repaired,

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

Will occupy from February 2, 1891, the Upholstery Department formerly occupied F. M. Frye, where he will be ready to any kind of work in the upholstery line.

Furniture Upholstered and Repaired.

Carpet and Mattress Work a specialty.

Cushion, Drapery, Curtain, Shade, and Yacht work in first-class style at reasonable prices.

Do not forget the address.

404 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

If First-class Goods at half price is any object to you, call at

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

And inspect the following articles:—

Light Blue Cashmere, 30c. worth 62½c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 75c. worth $1.75.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 46 inches wide, 70c. worth $1.25.

Striped French Beige in Blue and Brown, 35c., 62½c.

50 doz. Napkins, slightly soiled, at 60c. on the dollar.

This is a dull month, and to induce you to buy we will give you a big benefit.

To the Public.

We have this day been authorized to announce to the people of the City of Woburn and vicinity, that we have had placed in our hands to sell a limited number of shares of the

Johnston Electric Train Signal Co.'s Stock,

At a surprisingly low figure, or will EXCHANGE it for REAL ESTATE in your vicinity.

COOPER & RAND,

388 Main Street, corner of Park, WOBURN, MASS.

Christian Science Healing.

MISS M. C. MESSER,

12 Franklin St., Woburn.

(Except Fridays.)

CONSULTATION FREE.

Will also be glad to talk at their homes if desired) with all who wish to know how to help themselves.

DEATH COMES

To THOUSANDS as a result of neglected Coughs and Colds. Consumption is curable if promptly and wisely treated. I specially treat all diseases of the LUNGS and HEART. Medicines furnished. Examination thorough.

E. S. DODGE, M. D.,

62 Boylston St., cor. Tremont, BOSTON.

HOURS, 11 TO 3.

ROLLER MILL

FOR SALE. Enquire of JAMES SKINNER & CO., Green Street, Woburn, Mass.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

ANNUAL Canned Goods Sale!

Now is the time to buy your Canned Goods, and the Boston Branch is the place to buy them.

Tomatoes, Bacon's	8c.,	95c.	per doz.
Tomatoes, Cidar,	10c.,	$1.05	" "
Tomatoes, F. & S. Imperial,	13c.,	1.50	" "
Corn,	10c.,	1.20	" "
Corn, Sandy River,	12c.,	1.40	" "
Corn, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65	" "
Peas, Standard Marrowfats,	10c.,	1.20	" "
Peas, Booth's Marrowfats,	13c.,	1.50	" "
Succotash, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65	" "
Squash, Richardson's,	14c.,	1.65	" "
String Beans,	8c.,	.90	" "
Asparagus Tips,	25c.,	2.85	" "
Peaches, California,	25c.,	2.85	" "
" "	35c.,	4.00	" "
Bartlett Pears, Richardson's,	30c.,	3.50	" "
Sliced Pineapple,	23c.,	2.65	" "
Grated Pineapple,	25c.,	3.00	" "
Pres. Strawberries,	25c.,	3.00	" "
Blueberries,	14c.,	1.65	" "
White Cherries, California,	35c.,	4.00	" "
Apricots, California,	22c.,	2.60	" "
Apricots, Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50	" "
Plums, California,	25c.,	2.85	" "
" Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50	" "
Salmon, Alaska,	10c.,	1.20	" "
Salmon, Booth's,	15c.,	1.80	" "
Salmon Steak,	18c.,	2.10	" "

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

12 1-2 Ct. Zephyr Gingham for 8 1-2 Cts.

— AT —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

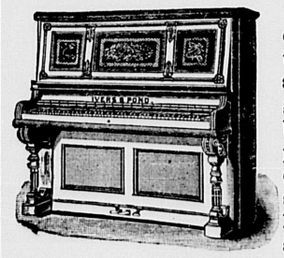
Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

WE TAKE

Old Pianos in Exchange.



Mail us a postal, and a competent man will be sent to value your instrument, and tell you how far it will go toward a new one. The balance can be in monthly payments, running thro' two or even three years. Don't say you can't afford a New Piano till you have given us a trial. Write us TO-DAY.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO.

183 Tremont St., Boston.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

ELIJAH GOES TO HOREB.

LESSON V, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, FEB. 1.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xix, 1-18. Commit Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text, Gen. xxvi, 24—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "And Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done."

The whole story of the vain efforts of the prophets of Baal, the calmness of Elijah, the fire from Heaven, and the shouts of the people that "The Lord He is the God," the slaughter of the prophets and the great storm of wind and rain, were all rehearsed to this wicked woman, who had doubtless waited eagerly to know the result. Fail not to observe Elijah's importunate and expectant prayer as he waited before God and again sent his servant to see if the answer had come (xviii, 42-44).

2. "Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Elijah."

Whether she was in the least affected by the record of the manifest power of the true God in sending fire and rain we are not told, but the death of her 450 prophets did mightily move her, and she promises Elijah that by to-morrow he shall be as one of them.

3. "And when he saw that he arose, and went for his life, and came to Beersheba."

4. "It is enough. Now, O Lord, take away my life, for I am not better than my fathers."

Having left his servant at Beersheba he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and sat down under a juniper tree and made this request of God. The juniper was the broom tree common in the deserts, and the roots of which, though bitter, were used as food by the poorest of the people (Job xxx, 4). It is suggestive of the poverty and bitterness of his soul just at this time. But consider his request and the glorious translation that awaited him, and see how foolish he was not to have confidence in God and wait patiently for Him.

5. "An angel touched him and said unto him, Arise and eat."

6. "Behold a cake baken on the coals, and a cruse of water at his head."

Can God furnish a table in the wilderness (Ps. lxxviii, 19)? Yes, He who fed millions for forty years can surely take care of one poor disconsolate. But was ever mortal man ministered unto as this man?

7. "And the angel of the Lord came again the second time."

After having eaten he laid him down again. God knew his need, and rested him with sufficient sleep. He also knew his need in the way of food, and would have him eat again.

8. "He went in the strength of that meat forty days and forty nights unto Horeb, the mount of God."

Obedient to the angels' touch he again arose, and again did eat and drink, and went forty days and nights in the strength of that food. We are reminded of one who, 500 years before, on the same Horeb, on two different occasions went forty days and nights without eating and drinking (Deut. ix, 9, 18). And also of our Lord Jesus Christ, who fasted forty days and forty nights (Matt. iv, 2).

9. "What doest thou here, Elijah?"

In due time he arrived at Horeb and lodged in a cave, and there the word of the Lord came unto him with this question.

10. "And he said, I have been very jealous for the Lord God of Hosts."

That was all right, and what follows was too sadly true, but "I only am left, and they seek my life," lets us into the man's heart.

11. "Go forth and stand upon the mount before the Lord."

Go forth from the coldness and darkness of doubt and despair, and from considering the preciousness of your own life, your zeal for God and the necessity of your continuance, and be persuaded that God lives, and that He, and He only, is the necessity, and that it matters not whether you live or die.

"And behold the Lord passed by."

His power is seen in His messengers, wind, earthquake and fire, rending the mountains and breaking in pieces the rocks before the Lord, but He was not in wind, earthquake or fire. Such was not His way at this time.

12. "After the fire a still small voice."

Judgment is His strange work (Isa. xxviii, 21). Ordinarily He speaks and it is done (Ps. xxxiii, 6, 9). Jesus did not come as a mighty fire or tempest, but as a helpless babe. John said He was the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Paul was not a mighty man physically, but in bodily presence weak, and in speech contemptible (II Cor. x, 10). What was David, and how much noise did he make when compared with Goliath? What was Israel before her enemies? God is everything, we are nothing. "No flesh shall glory in His presence" (I Cor. i, 29).

13. "What doest thou here, Elijah?"

Again the searching question comes as in the case of Peter (John xxi, 15-17). It would seem from this verse that Elijah had not gone forth as commanded (verse 11) until he heard this voice; but now he stands at the entrance to the cave with his face wrapped in his mantle, and once more has to reply to this question.

14. "I only am left, and they seek my life to take it away."

Just the same answer as before (v. 10). He is God's only witness and his life is very precious. We are told in Rev. xii, 11, of those who loved not their lives unto the death. Jesus told the twelve as He sent them forth not to fear the death of the body (Matt. x, 28). Paul's aim was to glorify God either by life or death.

15. "And the Lord said unto him, Go, return on thy way to the wilderness of Damascus."

The Lord graciously has yet something for His servant to do. He did not tell him to flee into the wilderness from Jezebel, but He does now tell him to return.

16. "Elisha, the son of Shaphat, of Abel-Meholah, shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room."

He is to anoint a king of Syria and a king of Israel, and another man to be a prophet in his stead. While sought out and forgiven he has evidently disqualified himself for future service, as he is told to appoint another in his stead.

17. "Him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay."

The enemies of the Lord must be slain; it will never do to make any league with them, nor even tolerate them, as Israel so often did. And even though the offending ones be our own flesh, the sentence is the same (Ex. xxxii, 26-29; Judg. ii, 2; Mark ix, 43-48).

18. "Yet I have left me seven thousand in Israel."

And Elijah thought he was the only one. How blind we are! How self important! How seemingly jealous for the Lord God of Hosts, when really it is our own life or honor or reputation which we are so anxious to save.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd of Groten, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me and thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at H. L. Flanders & Co's Drugstore, regular size, 50c. and $1.00.

To check burglaries and robberies, which have of late devastated the villages of the Caucasus, the Communal Assembly of Peasants of the district of Alexandropolsk adopted a resolution to indemnify every peasant whose property may be stolen by levying a tax on the peasants of his village or neighborhood. This measure has proved very effective.

I LOVED MY HOME THE BEST.

Ah, dear New England, wherein lies the spell
That draws me ever back again to thee?
Is it thy streams that flow through wooded dell—
Or gleaming strand engirdled by the sea?
Is it the calm of verdant wood and hill
That causes all this longing in my breast?
Or is it that no other place can fill
His heart who loves his native land the best?

I've wandered far, my fevered heart to calm,
In other lands, 'mid joyous scenes and fair;
I've dallied 'neath the orange and the palm,
And breathed the sweet magnolia's perfume rare;
Yet when those distant scenes that seemed so sweet
I'd gained, my heart still throbbed with sad unrest,
And home again I've turned my weary feet
To seek the home and friends I loved the best.

I've climbed the winding path on mountain side
To gaze upon earth's glories from the skies.
Yet still my heart surged as the ocean's tide—
Unbidden tears suffused my aching eyes.
The moon's soft splendor breaking o'er the sea,
Where southern twilight soothed the world to rest,
Brought never peace or solace unto me,
For oh, I loved my own dear home the best.
—Emile Pickhardt in Boston Globe.

Laziness the Foe of Originality.

The great enemy to individualism is laziness, and those who know anything of human frailties will, I am sure, bear me out when I say that "mental" laziness is far more common and far more difficult to overcome than that of the body. It is so much easier to accept dogmatic teaching, and to shift the responsibility of our views on to others, rather than to concentrate our thoughts and work out the lessons of our own observations; it is more pleasant to butterfly from theory to theory than to seek truth with patient tenacity; why trouble ourselves to learn self reliance when natural indolence protests against the sacrifice?

It is easier to imitate than to originate; plagiarism and mimiery are such prominent features in our lives that their presence might almost be quoted as an argument in favor of our evolution in past ages from simian ancestry. How plausible are the excuses we make for our want of this individualism! We are so dreadfully afraid of being thought bumptious, we are so delightfully humble, we really do not wish to intrude our opinion, and yet all the brightest lights of our profession have been men of strong individualism.—M. Handfield-Jones, M. D., in Popular Science.

A Misleading Signal to the Engineer.

"In the early days of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad," said a railroad man, "stock was so frequently killed on the road that Manager Clark found it necessary to require the locomotive engineers to make a note of whatever they killed. The engineers had to fill out a form stating when, where and what kind of animal had been killed, and turn the report in to the superintendent of stock claims.

"One day a complaint from a farmer was received by Manager Clark, in which the killing of a valuable cow by the Santa Fe engine was related. The letter was referred to the stock claim department, but no report from the engineer of the train in question could be found. Mr. Clark sent for the engineer, an old employe of the road named John Norton, and asked him why he had not reported the collision with the cow.

"'Didn't know I hurt the cow,' said Norton.

"'You remember hitting the cow?'

"'Certainly—and I slowed up when she rolled over on her back, but she waved her feet for me to go ahead, and I concluded she was all right.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Little Curious Things.

The longest name in the Bible is Marharshalal-hash-baz. It occurs in Isaiah viii, 3.

The first newspaper in Virginia was printed in 1780 at $50 per annum.

Fishes have no eyelids, and necessarily sleep with their eyes open.

Frogs, toads and serpents never take food but that which they are satisfied is alive.

Sir John Lubbock kept a queen bee for fifteen years, a test proving her eggs to be just as fertile at that age as they were twelve years before.—St. Louis Republic.

Jeames in the States.

"Well, James," observed the gentleman, "I hear you got a situation as a valet recently?"

"I did, sir," replied James, "but it was too blamed much for my self respect. What do you think the boss asked me to do the very first morning! Wanted me to help him dress."—American Grocer.

For hundreds, perhaps thousands, of years the gas wells of Tsien Luon Tsing district in China have supplied cheap fuel and light to the dwellers in their vicinity. It is said that these wells are 3,000 feet deep. The gas is distributed through bamboo pipes, terminating in rude burners made of clay.

M. Faye, member of the French Academy of Science, thinks that it is feasible to predict storms twelve hours in advance of their coming by the sounds which the changing atmospheric conditions produce and which the telephone will transmit.

Taking all the departments at Washington together, with their branches, it is probable that they consume about 24,000 pounds of ice daily, averaging the year around. This makes a total annual consumption of a good deal over 4,000 tons.

To fasten a steel blade which has come out of the handle, fill the cavity with rosin, then warm the part to be adjusted, and insert slowly, pressing it in firmly. Hold till it gets cold.

Fifty Spasms a Day.

Had Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., lived two thousand years ago she would have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits. She was subject to nervous prostration, headaches, dizziness, backache, palpitation and forty to fifty spasms a day. Though having been treated by eight physicians for years without success, she was permanently cured by one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. A trial bottle of this new and wonderful medicine and a finely illustrated treatise free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Widow Casey—Ah, Mr. Dolan, when my ould man died it left a big hole in my heart. Mr. Dolan—Mrs. Casey, would ye moind patchin' it wid a bit out of mine?

All Broken Down.

Is it not sad to see so many young men every day of whom this can be said? Young man, take my advice. Stop all indiscretions which you have practiced, keep good hours, retire early, and build up your shattered system by using Sulphur Bitters, which will cure you.—Old Physician.

A PSEUDO EX-CONVICT.

Curious Experience of a Clergyman with an Alleged Jailbird.

I am going to reveal to my indulgent reader a little experience I had. I don't know if it will interest him, but it has been the subject of considerable questioning with me ever since it occurred. I was sitting in this study Thursday morning; Augusta came to the door, saying, "There is a man downstairs who wants to see you." "Ask him up here," I said. In walked a man, medium height, shabby clothes, face rather keen, alert, hair black, mixed with gray; eye sharp, with restless look, having in his whole makeup a combination of sheeplike timidity, hangdogness and rather pious pity.

"Good morning; what can I do for you?"

"I come to you," he answered, "in rather a strange time and on a strange errand. I have been out of Joliet prison three months; I have been in this city the larger part of this time; I have been sick; I have been sleeping in the stations, railroad and police; I have been trying to make an honest living. I saw your face, and I said you are a man who will help me."

Moved of course by this touch of flattery, I entered into the case with some degree of warmth. "What can you do?" I asked. "I learned in Joliet to paint, but I will do anything." "Are you a good painter?" "Yes, sir." "All right, I think I can get you some work." "You may like to write to Joliet about me; I became a Christian there; the chaplain was ——. My number was 34,856." "Yes, I shall be very glad to know all about you. I will write at once. I'll get you some work at once. You come to me day after to-morrow, and I think I can help you," I said, and bade him good morning.

The second day after he appeared. I took him into the livery stable where I hire my parochial assistants in pastoral visitation and said to the proprietor, "Mr. G——, don't you want to hire this man to help you in various ways, and you give him his board and lodging?" "Certainly I do." The man, whose name, by the way, was Frederick J. Dubuque, seemed very grateful. "Now," I said to Mr. Dubuque, "let's go to the carriage man and see if we cannot get you some regular work at painting." The carriage man finally consented to give him work, and he was to come round next Monday for it.

That afternoon I was going to make some parish calls, and I said to the man, "Come out with me and hold my horse." We had a good chance to talk during this ride. He told me the story of his life. He ran away from home at 14, fell into bad company, began to steal in a small way and then became a shop breaker. Never, he said, had he broken into a house. This he said with a good deal of pride. He had friends living in Williamsburg, N. Y., and also in Walpole, Mass.; had a son about 18 years old. His wife died several years before. He told me about his life in Joliet, the cell fever, etc., and his temptations to steal since coming to the city.

After a while we came to the end of the list of visits, and I bade him good night, handing him a quarter in payment of his services, against receiving which he manifested a proper degree of diffidence. I asked him to take the horse back to the stable. "I shall come round Monday to see how you are getting on." The last word he said to me was, "You have not heard from Joliet yet about me." I said, "No."

The second day following I stepped in to see how the work was coming on. They said the man had brought the horse back, but they had not seen him since. Thus vanished my friend into the unknown. Two days after I heard from Joliet that never had there been a man of the name of Frederick J. Dubuque confined in that prison.

I want to ask a question. What was the purpose of the man in coming to me?—Clergyman in Chicago Advance.

Velocity of the Wind.

Wind velocities differ greatly according to locality, even on the land, where they are usually lower than at sea. They are higher at Sandy Hook, for instance, than on the Equitable building in this city. They are greater, too, at an elevation than on the earth's surface; greater, normally, in the winter than in summer, and greater in early afternoon hours than in the early morning. The mean hourly velocity at the signal service station in New York city for about fourteen years was reported in 1885 to be 9.4 miles, while at Hatteras it was 14.6. Probably the severest blast recorded by the signal service in this city was experienced on Feb. 26, 1886, when for a few minutes a speed was attained computed to be at the rate of eighty-four miles an hour.—New York Tribune.

Big, if Possible.

There comes a day, near the last of November, when diners at a well spread table may feel inclined to repeat the remarks of a new recruit at West Point some years ago.

The young man was a rough diamond, a recent importation from rural districts, and when the carver was ready to serve him he asked:

"And now, Mr. C——, what part will you take?"

The answer was at once forthcoming.

"Imparticular," said Mr. C——. "Big piece, anywhar!"—Youth's Companion.

Not the Place.

Attendant (in railroad waiting room)—Say, mister, no going to sleep here. This ain't no church.—Life.

Would you care to have a word of advice worth a great deal? Never tamper with your baby's health by using opiates to quiet its troubles, but use Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup instead.

Almost every season has its drawback. At present our citizens seem to be troubled with an attack of catarrh, which however can be easily overcome by Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

Misunderstood.

A deaf old lady riding in an electric car became much alarmed because of a blockade, and asked a young woman next to her what had happened.

"There is no danger," replied the young woman. "Remember that a kind heaven bends over all."

The old lady turned to her companion and inquired in a vexed tone, "Mary Ellen, what's that young woman saying to me about men's overall's?"

The right way to cure catarrh is to eradicate the poisonous taint which causes the disease, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

He Was "Deliciously" Sad.

A friend of mine, the younger members of whose family are given to using senseless phrases much affected by the youth of this good old town, tells me that, after many futile efforts, he succeeded in so forcibly bringing the absurdity of the habit to their attention that they have in a measure dropped it. With them every new thing was "awfully" sweet, every social gathering they attended was "awfully" jolly. One evening he came home with a budget of news. A friend of his had failed in business. He spoke of the incident as "deliciously" sad. He had ridden uptown in the car with a noted raconteur and wit, whom he described as "horribly" entertaining, and to cap the climax, he spoke of some butter that was set before him at a country hotel as "divinely" rancid.

"I should think, papa," said the eldest daughter, "that you were out of your head." "Not the least, my dear," he said pleasantly. "I am merely trying to follow the fashion. I worked out 'divinely rancid' with a good deal of labor. It sees 'awfully sweet' and goes it one better. You will find me 'in the swim' hereafter. And now," he added, "let me help you to a piece of this deliciously tough beef." Adverbs are not as much misused in his family as they were, at least not in his hearing.—Boston Post.

Parsons and Guide Posts.

In the winter of 1866 or 1867, I am not sure which, my friend the Rev. John Russell and myself were returning after a long day's hunting across Dartmoor (not Exmoor), and found ourselves in the neighborhood of the little village of Widdecombe-in-the-Moor. Mr. Russell proposed that we should call on his old friend Mr. Mason, the rector of Widdecombe, and a well known eccentric. Being somewhat uncertain of the road, we inquired of a rustic the way to Mr. Mason's. "Be ye going to measter's?" was the reply; "go to vore, and ye'll see measter stan'ing at t' corner of t' road." "He might have been there when you left," replied Russell, "but not now."

"Oh, yes he be. Stop, measter, I be goin' that way; wait till I shut this gate, and I'll show 'ee." With this he trudged along by our side till we came to a cross road, and pointing to the guide post said, "There he be," and upon Russell inquiring his meaning, he replied, "Lor', measter! don't 'ee know —allers pointing t' way ye should go, and never goin' hissel'." When we arrived at Mr. Mason's Jack Russell repeated the story. "Dang him!" quoth the parson, "that's my man Jan; I'll give it him."—Thomas Fisher in London Spectator.

Prince Napoleon in Exile.

As to Prince Napoleon's daily life in his Prangins retreat, he rises with the sun, lounges or works in his studio and receives visitors, if any there be, until Luncheon, which is announced for 11:45 a. m. and never lasts more than half an hour. Immediately afterward, and no matter what the weather may be, he takes a long walk beyond the confines of his park, and returns between 2 and 3 p. m. to open his mail correspondence, which comes to hand during his afternoon stroll, and which is always voluminous and very regular.

This occupies him until the dinner hour. In the evening he plays chess with neighbors or with faithful Parisian friends, such as M. Adelon, Baron Brunet and one or two others who arrive in turn. Each shares his exile for a few days. He prides himself upon being a great player, but shows himself a very bad one, especially with M. Adelon, who vies with him in the wittiest and most comical manner imaginable. He retires toward 11 o'clock.—Paris Gaulois.

A Self Boring Well.

An artesian well, now partly completed, at Pesth, Hungary, has reached a depth of 1,400 yards, and by the time it is finished will be the deepest of its kind in the world. It is intended to supply hot water for a great bath house connected with a large hotel; at present that which is obtained has a temperature of 164 degs. Fahrenheit, and it is expected that 1,500 yards will raise the temperature to 180 degs. or 200 degs. The most curious feature about this well is the adaptation to it of automatic machinery for boring, the water power for which is supplied by the well itself. By this means the boring has been conducted at double its previous rate. Surely this is a great age when water spurting from a well can be so harnessed as to increase the depth of the well from which it comes.—St. Louis Republic.

Any Excuse Welcome.

His Nurse—You are to be discharged to-morrow as cured.

Dorrington (who has fallen desperately in love)—My own, would it be presumptuous for me to ask you to give me an overdose of morphine or something, so that I could stay a day or two longer?—Judge.

A Fatherly Feeling.

Mr. Greatheart (capitalist)—I trust, Mr. Squeezem, that you deal kindly with my tenants.

Mr. Squeezem (agent)—Just like a father, my dear sir. In fact I have nothing but a pay rental feeling for them all.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

No Danger.

Maude—I'm so afraid our engagement will find its way into the papers.

Gawge—Never mind, darling; if it does our names will be so misspelled that no one will be any the wiser.—Puck.

"A God-send is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your balm has cured me."—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

Social changes that are going on at the South are indicted by the following item from the Covington(Ga.) Star: "The colored cook is fast passing a way, and will soon become a lost art, so to speak. The kindhearted and reliable old 'auntie' of the past is already gone, and her successor, the 'colored girl,' is fast going—to school and the cotton patch. The 'white help' have not yet arrived, but they are surely coming; and so there is no other remedy in sight but self-reliance and self-independence."

Boys Weaving Carpets in India.

We passed through an archway into a large, deserted inclosure full of rubbish heaps, and having a deep colonnade of mud bricks running all round. Under this were erected rude looms, of which there must have been over fifty, but only six were being worked, owing to trade being slack.

The carpets were most beautiful in color and design, all intended for the London market. We saw one, measuring 12 feet by 10, which was nearly finished. Six little boys, varying in age from 8 to 11 years, were working it, while one of them read out the pattern from a slip of paper. Their small, brown fingers worked so nimbly, knotting on the various colored wools and cutting off the ends with a knife, that one could hardly see what they were doing. It seemed amazing that such young boys could have attained such dexterity. Their pay is from eight to twelve shillings a month.

We were told that they could make a carpet of the size they were then working in one month, so that the actual cost of the making would be about £3, and as the carpet would sell for over £13, there must be a handsome profit over and above the cost of the wool and the interest on capital sunk. —Mrs. King's Letter.

Children's Queer Talk.

A friend sends word of what he regards as a discovery of his own in a Boston suburb about children's language. "Nearly all children," he says, "seem to have a tendency to use 'dog' or 'hog' Latin (a survival of baby talk perhaps). It used to be common for children to talk thus: 'Whatvus didvus youvus sayvus?' adding the syllable vus to every word. But the children of the suburb alluded to add the syllable ay to words and remove the first letter of each word to its close, prefixing it to the ay; thus, 'Ilway ouyay ogay otay Ostonbay odaytay?' means 'Will you go to Boston today?'

"I am informed by one of these children that many of them have acquired the power of speaking this curious language with great rapidity. They also have, or a clique of them, a kind of cipher or Free Mason language. My young informant was amazed and stupefied one day to hear a little girl say to a boy, 'B W W A.' The boy thereupon replied, 'No, he has gone down the hill.' Verily there are curious things going on about us, oh, learned Effendi mine!"—Boston Transcript.

Use for Refuse Tin.

For years and years I have been accustomed to the sight of carts loaded high up with scrap or refuse tin, on their way to the southern part of the city. When I was a boy and played about dumps these irregular pieces of the shiny metal were always thrown there. I supposed that this was still the case, but feeling curious the other day I stopped the driver and asked him where he was taking his load. He mentioned the name of a South St. Louis manufactory. "But what do they do with it? It is no good."

"Do with it?" he replied. "Why, this stuff is put into a heavy machine while hot and pounded into sash weights for windows. It is cheaper, of course, than iron, and answers the purpose better, I am told, as when the weight comes out of the molds it is heavier than a piece of cast iron of the same size, and the saving of space in the window sash is a big thing." I left the driver, and recalled my old schoolday lessons about the indestructibility of matter.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Obliging Merchants.

Not only will any merchant in Brooklyn change any piece of goods any length of time after it has been purchased, but cases have been known in which women have even been kindly received bringing back tablecloths that had been laundered and napkins after they had been hemmed, and a single case is reported where one salesman, who had emigrated from New York and was rash enough to bring its untoward business methods with him, was promptly discharged by a proprietor who found him refusing to take back a toothbrush because the temporary purchaser had found it "too large."

Here is a state of things which it may profit our enterprising merchants who are wont to consider a sale as a final transaction to ponder upon. It is just possible that the truest business enterprise may consist in not being so tormentedly enterprising after all.—New York Evening Sun.

A Purchase for Mother.

Mother—Are you going out, my dear?

Daughter—Yes, ma; the Physical Improvement society meets this afternoon.

Mother—Well, I wish you would stop in somewhere and buy me a broom. —New York Weekly.

The first watermill every built was erected on the river Tiber, at Rome, A.D. 50. Windmills were in original use in the Twelfth century. Tidemills were operated in Venice about 1708. Sawmills are said to have been in use at Augsburg, Germany, about 1332.

Halibut is growing scarcer year by year, while lobsters are becoming so few and small that the canneries find it difficult to obtain supplies, and shad and salmon are only kept up by the propagating efforts of the fish commission.

Experiments made in Austria make it appear that the addition of soda to Portland cement enables it to withstand the action of frost.

The hands of the clock pointed to 11.25 P. M., but the young man had not yet reached for his hat. "What is that noise, Miss Gertie?" he asked with some trepidation. "I think," replied the Senator's daughter, listening a moment, "it's papa opening the front door. He will apply the closure in about five minutes." The young man immediately went into executive session and shortly afterward adjourned.

The other day a newspaper contained the head lines, "General Miles ordered to capture the hostiles without harming them." Somebody immediately started the report that Miles had ordered from the department three barrels of chloroform, 1000 sponges and an equal number of long poles.

Little girls have the choice between a wide brimmed felt hat trimmed with feathers and the large English bonnet.

Woman's Column.

They Settled the Pin-Money Question.

He was a young man who had been a few years married. In answer to a question about pin-money, he said: "I get my wages every Saturday night. I carry the money home and give every cent of it to my wife. If I want any, I ask her for it. She buys what we want, and she puts in the bank all we can spare. It is as much her interest as it is mine to save all we can. If she is fit to be my wife and to bring up the children, she is fit to be trusted with the money; and I never ask her what she does with it."

Another man, who receives monthly was, said: "When I am paid, I hand over to my wife as much money as she earned before we were married, and that was four dollars a week."

There is peace in both these houses.

Lucy Stone.

Mrs. Edison, wife of the inventor, is a good musician, and she and her step-children constantly practice together.

Bessie Benton Fremont's Christmas gift was the cottage at Los Angeles where she has long lived, now presented to her, with receipts for old debts, by the women of California. The total cost was $10,000.

If I thought politics were necessarily dirty,—the unholy scramble for power into which, too often, they degenerate, —I should never wish my boys to become voters. If not fit for my girls, politics are not fit for my boys.—Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace.

Mrs. Charity Hathaway, of Beemer Hill, Sullivan County, Pa., is said to be the only woman in the country who is by profession a trapper and dealer in raw furs Last season she cleared nearly $450 from the sale of furs and ginseng root. Most of the furs were obtained by herself.

Nellie Farjeon, the nine-year-old child of the English novelist B. L. Farjeon, and his American wife, who was a daughter of the actor Joe Jefferson, is said to show remarkable ability as a composer of music. It is not an uncommon thing for the little girl to sit down at the piano and improvise a song, both words and music. Her father is editing a book of her compositions.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in a leading editorial on "Municipal Government," calls attention to the fact that in London every person, man or woman, who owns or rents quarters, however humble, even to a room in a cellar or an attic, within five miles of the city limit, is entitled to vote for all municipal officers, and adds: "We assume that the franchise cannot be restricted, but can it not be extended on the London plan?"

Emma Abbott has just died of pneumonia in Salt Lake City. The whole musical world will regret her. She had not only a beautiful voice, but sound principle. Many persons still remember how she once gave up a lucrative engagement rather than sing in an opera which she regarded as having a demoralizing tendency. This action brought upon her much ridicule from the frivolous, but won her the lasting esteem of the upright.

General Spinner, who secured the admission of women as clerks in the U. S. Treasury, was a strong believer in equal rights for women in every respect. He said of himself with pride: "In the first Congress of which I was a member, I voted for Lucretia Mott for Chaplain to the House of Representatives. In the next Congress, my vote was cast for Lucy Stone. In the next Congress, I voted for a man for chaplain; so I stand recorded twice for women, to only once for a man. That is about the way I feel now. My sympathies have always been on the side of the weak. So I have always been in favor of, as the Englishman expresses it 'the under dog.'"

A much larger number of the members of the M. E. Church have voted for the eligibility of women to the General Conference, than voted for lay representation twenty years ago.

Mrs. George Huye, who lately died in New Orleans, was a woman of considerable business prominence. She had for many years successfully managed the large box manufactory left her at her husband's death.

It is impossible to study the story of labor without a certainty that the vote for women would carry an education and a power for justice hitherto unknown. For this, if for no other reason, I count myself hereafter a worker for the cause.—Mrs. Helen Campbell.

Misses Kate and Carie Mann, recent graduates of the Iowa Agricultural College, will put their knowledge to practical use. They are starting a small fruit farm in Kossuth county, and will also experiment in raising sugar beets. They propose to do the work themselves.

The Drunkard's Catechism.

Who is it that loafs at ease while you toil from morning till night?

The saloon-keeper.

Who is it that buys houses and lands and struts in fine clothes with the money which might have kept your family from being turned into the street and from going in rags?

The saloon-keeper.

Who is it takes your last cent for his poisonous drinks, and shuts the door in the face of your wife when she asks credit for a five cent loaf of bread?

The saloon-keeper.

Who is it, when your money and reputation is gone, and you have no friend left to pay for your drink, will take you by the coat-collar and kick you into the gutter?

The saloon-keeper.

Who is it that robs you of sense and reason, puts you lower than beasts, drives you into jails and penetentiaries, and sends you to the gallows?

The saloon-keeper.

Is he the man who lives by crushing human hearts? Yes; then throw his chain off your neck, and shake his clutch from off your soul.—Zion's Watchman.

Four and six button gloves are in favor for street wear. The one and two button lengths have not become popular.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Deformity from Bright's Disease.

S. D. VanBuskirk, of Demarest, N. J., says: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., has cured our daughter of Bright's Disease, after all other means had failed. She was so swollen that she measured 45 inches around the waist, and 18 inches below the knee. To say that we feel thankful for such a boon as Favorite Remedy is but a poor expression."

Chenille is to be restored to favor for dress trimmings, and manufacturers have made it less fragile than formerly.

A beautiful novelty is a brooch on which are five semi-transparent, white grapes upon a shallow bar set with diamonds.

The fashion for doing without the foundation skirt in heavy cloth dresses is on the increase, and is a very sensible change.

A beautiful new material for evening gowns is a black net, liberally embroidered and fringed with turquoise, shell and jet.

Velvet ribbons—narrow ones tied under the chin or hanging down the back in floating streamers—are worn by young girls.

Carved leather work is now used in frames for screens, the leather being softened by a special process, and tooled by hand.

Mrs. Sanso—Are these diamonds real? Jeweler—Oh, yes. We can guarantee them, (absently) for they are our own make.

Invalid (chronic)—Tell me, doctor, what feature of my complaint do you find it hardest to overcome? Doctor—That tired feeling!

"Yes, I once failed for a hundred thousand," he remarked. "You see, the girl was worth that in her own right and refused me."

De Fer—I feel like a new man this morning. Waiter (anxiously)—Do you feel anything like the kind of a man that would be apt to pay a debt of $5? He paid it.

Artillery Lieutenant (by way of compliment)—Ah, my dear young lady, but your looks, your glances, go right home. Every one's a bull's eye.

Six Months After—(She bitterly)—If you had been frank in the first place, you might have avoided this unhappiness." He (thinking of unsuccessful rival)—"That's so. Frank had a narrow escape."

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS

Dyspeptic? Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow, Dangerous! Try a Bottle To-Day! PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the foot.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the Woburn Journal with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the Woburn Journal.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Pub., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address Woburn Journal, Woburn, Mass.

Hallett & Cumston

Have a beautiful assortment of Upright Pianos, in a great variety of figured woods, such as English Oak, Mahogany, Blister Walnut and Magnolia. They sell on easy monthly instalments, as well as for cash, and will take second-hand pianos, of any manufacture, in exchange. They have also a large number of entirely new Pianos to rent. Please call and examine before buying elsewhere.

200 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON.

CUT RATES!

—AT—

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR W. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYL

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1891. NO. 8.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.29, 4.35, 8.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M, 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, s8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.50, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9.10, s9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10.20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

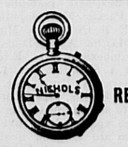
CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial o the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 2 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

ONLY A TRAMP.

The slouching figure of a man moved slowly along a dim prairie road. His garments were threadbare, and his general appearance presented a picture of wretchedness and waut.

A cold March wind was blowing through the dry, dead grass, and patches of shadow and sunlight were chasing each other over an unbroken waste of prairie.

The man drew his thin coat more closely about him, and shivered as a keener blast than usual swept around him.

"H'it's a perty pass yer come to, Jim Skinner," said the figure in the road. "Ye have been trampin' all day without a bit ter eat, an' if yer git any thing, yer goin' ter hafter bag—yas, bag!"

And he threw out his hand with a gesture of disdain, and quickened his pace, a flush of shame and humiliation mounting his thin, pale face.

"Who'd a-thought ye'd ever come ter this?" he exclaimed, almost fiercely.

"What did yer ever come West fer? Ter git land!—cheap land—land for almost nothin'! 'Rich land'—that's what they said"—he laughed a sort of choking laugh—"cheap land—rich land—buffalo-wallers—alkaly water an' ager!"

There was a look of vexation and infinite disgust pictured on his face as he strode onward.

For six months Jim Skinner had "holding" a claim, and had battled with all the hardships and privations that fall to the lot of the poor who seek to make a home in the "Great American Desert."

He had lived in a dug-out, worked hard and half starved himself—spent all the money he had, took the ague, and lived in his hut helpless, till at last starvation had driven him forth, weak, half sick and and afoot, to look for some kind of work among the cattlemen to gain his daily bread.

Mile after mile he had trudged along with no sign of habitation to break the monotony, save now and then the rude cabin or dug-out of some poor claimholder, who, like himself was struggling with misfortunes and battling with want.

It was near the middle of the afternoon. He was now nearing that part of prairie country monopolized by the great cattle-men, and called the "range."

A mile further on was a small cattle ranch. He felt weak and sick, and knew he could not continue his journey much further without rest and something to eat.

If he could not get work at the first place—he could not go further—he must have something to eat—would he be compelled to beg? He had no money—nothing to give but his clothes. A bitter smile stole over his face. There were no ragmen on the range——

He quickened his pace, and hurried. A few minutes later, he paused in front of a large frame building, surrounded by numerous barb-wire corrals. He stood for a moment in the road, irresolute. If he failed to get work, should he ask for a lodging and something to eat? His face flushed at the thought. Work? What could he do in his present weak condition? Nothing. He turned toward the building.

Dave Foster, the owner of the cattle ranch came out of the building and saw the the slouching figure standing in the road.

"What are you prowling around here for?" he demanded, casting a look of distrust on the forlorn creature before him.

"I—I'm lookin' fer work," stammered Jim Skinner, hardly knowing how to answer the harsh question.

"A likely story," was the answer. "I guess you are one of those fellows that look for work in the day-time, and other people's cattle by night. Clear out! I've had enough of such as you already."

A hot flush mantled Jim Skinner's face for an instant, and then disappeared, leaving him as pale as death. He tried to speak, but the words stuck in his throat. He mastered his emotion, with a great effort. He turned upon the speaker, his eyes flashing, his breath coming in gasps.

"An' ye dare ter say that ter me—ter me!"—he spoke with a great effort. "Some time—no, now—I'll make you repent this——"

The words died on his lips.

"Move on!" commanded the cattleman, gruffly; "and mind how you threaten me, or I may put a bullet thro' you now."

Jim Skinner turned away, sick and dizzy—tumult of anger and and mortification surging through his breast.

"An' this is the way I'm treated, is it?" he muttered. "A tramp—an outcast—branded as a thief—a thief!"

His eyes flashed—his bosom heaved—his breathing became heavy and labored. He shut his hands tightly, and trudged on.

Dave Foster stood for several moments watching the figure of the stranger moving down the road.

"Blast me," he muttered, "if I don't believe I made a mistake in that felllow, after all. He looks seedy enough, although, for anything; and how's a fellow to tell the genuine from the bogus? I've had so many cattle stolen of late, that I've begun to suspect every stranger I see."

He turned and re-entered the house.

Nearly a mile further on, Jim Skinner came to a small frame house. He felt that he could not go much further. He must stop somewhere soon, or fall by the road-side. He would make one more effort—one more trial—and if he failed——

His faced paled—a look of despair came into his eyes. He approached the door of the house and knocked. A man came to the door with a book in his hand.

"I am weak and—and—hungry," he faltered. "I must stop somewhere. I have no money——"

"This is a school house," answered the man at the door, shortly, and then closed the door in Jim's

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 6, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Judging from the daily reports found in the public press of its proceedings it is safe to say that the Legislature of this State is making good progress in the work set before them. A month of the session has expired and only the most favorable kind of intelligence comes from either branch.

It is understood that much important legislation is in preparation for final action farther on, among which are several resolutions for submitting constitutional amendments to the people. The biennial election resolve has been before several successive Legislatures and ought to be adopted, but Boston's grip on the rural member is still too strong to afford much grounds for hope that the measure will be adopted this year. The servants still persist in considering themselves superior to their masters, and so long as that idea prevails and Boston baked beans are as liberally dealt out to members as they have been in former years, biennial elections and sessions of the Legislature will not be likely to come.

The abolition of the poll-tax as an obstacle to a free ballot, and other but little less important matters are under consideration, it is said, and in due time the work of the session will speak for itself and creditably for the legislators.

THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS BILL.

Washington newspaper correspondents announce the demise of the Federal Elections, or Force, bill and add the important information that there is no sort of a chance for its resurrection, at least not in this Congress. Senator Hoar of this State, the champion of the measure in the Senate, is reported as feeling greatly chagrined over its failure and cherishes anything but amiable feelings towards the Republican Senators to whose party disloyalty its defeat was due. Senator Hoar has worked very hard for the success of the bill but many of his Republican fellow-members who ostensibly favored and supported it had less heart in their work, and in fact there was a lukewarmness towards it which from the start seemed to bode the measure no good.

We deeply sympathize with Senator Hoar in his hour of defeat and trouble.

☞ The Editor of the Marlboro Times isn't indulging in quite so much bluster and braggadocio as was his wont before the religious community over there sat down on him so hard. He is "singing small" now days and will be likely to keep right on doing so while Rev. F. McKenna has him under discipline.

☞ The Lynn Bee is fully equal to the best Democratic papers in Eastern Massachusetts, Boston not excepted. It is a bright, lively, fearless daily, and the only thing about it to regret is its Democracy.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Caswell—Stetson.
G. A. Bean—To Let.
Main Street—For Sale.
Paine Fur Co.—Furniture.
D. W. Kelley—Pharmacist.
Miss Bancroft.—Pianoforte.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Baking Powder.

— Big bargains at Bonelli's this week.

— The days have increased in length 1 hour and 8 minutes.

— Attention is called to the card of Mr. Daniel W. Kelley, druggist in this paper.

— The Grand Bazaar of O. U. A. M. will begin on Feb. 17 and continue 4 days.

— Can't really count on much sleighing in this section of country summer or winter.

— It looks a little as though the Police would fail to get an increase of pay this year.

— Mr. E. N. Blake, who has been quite sick, is better, so Dr. Harlow informs the JOURNAL.

— Mr. Willard Smith, the dry goods merchant, makes a new declaration in the JOURNAL this week.

— Everett C. Place, son of Mr. Griffin Place, is a Director in the Boston Leather Association.

— If anyone wants a good Democratic wagon or nice Pheaton please call at 120 Main street in this city.

— The people of Central Square want an arc light at the corner of Main and Lowell streets and ought to have it.

— Copeland has decorated another of his store windows with white fluted columns which is unique and beautiful.

— There was a big rain last Tuesday and the little remaining snow and ice disappeared like dew before the summer sun.

— Mr. G. A. Bean, the real estate dealer of this city, advertises a desirable tenement to let in this issue of the JOURNAL.

—It is expected that the new M. E. church on Main street will be dedicated about the 16th of this month. The exercises will be interesting.

— Ex-Representative Hayden is in Washington for a few days. This visit is purely social, and has no connection with politics.—Boston Traveller.

— Rev. G. H. Emerson, D. D., Editor of the Christian Leader, will preach in Concert Hall for the Universalists at 2.30 P. M. next Sunday.

— The engineer's Wagon at Jones's stable has had added to it a Berry swing harness and we shall now look for quick hitches by Driver Al Hoskins.

— The Cash Market keeps the wherewithal for as complete a dinner as can be scared up in these regions. Sylvester is a tiptop proprietor to trade with.

— The big rain storm of Tuesday cleared off cold in the night and on Wednesday everything was frozen up tighter than a brick. It seemed real winter-like and bracing.

— Please observe the change in the advertisement of Mr. Schwartz, the new upholsterer, in this paper. He is getting his rooms put into the best of shape for spring business.

— Mr. City Janitor Connolly has moved into the Wood house on Bennett street and Church Ave. recently purchased by him. It will make Mr. and Mrs. Connolly a nice pleasant home.

— Chief McIntosh and his trusty policemen made a successful liquor raid on the store of J. H. Garvey last Tuesday noon. We are glad to see the Chief following up the violators of the laws.

— Roger S. Spaulding, formaerly a hackman in this city and jobber, had one of his thumbs sawed off at the shop of Arthur Dalzeil in whose employ Mr. Spaulding was. Dr. Chalmers was called and dressed the wound.

— Mr. Amos Cummings, a public spirited citizen, with other gentlemen bearing like good will towards our city, is active in getting men of means to take hold of the proposed new shoe factory here and meets with considerable encouragement.

— Six of the 8 male members of the H. S. graduating class of 1861, served in the War of the Rebellion, namely: J. Webster Colcord, George H. Dennett, John A. Meade, Charles E. Richardson, John K. Richardson, Arthur B. Wyman.

— Nearly one hundred exquisite specimens of Parisian Furniture, representing famous pieces in the Paris Exposition last summer, have been imported and are now on exhibition and for sale at Paine's Furniture Warerooms, 48 Canal street, Boston.

—Rev. Dr. March has been doing missionary work in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine recently by way of lecturing in behalf of the cause. Which, considering the weather, shows that he has zeal and courage, and must be in pretty good physical condition.

— Mayor Bean has more sense and therefore don't put on so many airs as Mayor Mathews of Boston does. Take it one day with another, inside and out, there isn't a much better thing to be found in a community than "good horse sense," nor a much scarcer one.

— The members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in the Legislature of 1863 held their annual reunion in Boston last Tuesday and partook of their annual banquet. E. E. Thompson, Esq., as one of the surviving members, attended and had a grand time.

— Next Friday is St. Valentine's Day. We thought we would mention it here and now lest the boys and girls should forget it and fail to send love missives back and forth between each other and set hearts to palpitating beneath manly waistcoats and fair, maidenly bodices.

— Natives of the State of Maine residing in Woburn, whether they belong to the Pine Tree Club or not, are requested to meet at the Gymnasium Room, Y. M. C. A., Bank Block, tomorrow evening, Feb. 7, at 7.30 o'clock, to arrange for a general meeting and supper.

— Organist Clarke has arranged the following organ music for the morning services at the First Congregational church next Sunday:

Organ Prelude. "Offertoire in G." C. Collin.
(Organist of the Cathedral of St. Brieuc, France.)
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite in D flat."
Choir Anthem. "Look unto me, and be ye saved." Clarke.
Organ Postlude. "Postlude in C." Collin.

— The electric cars of Boston, says The Home, are unequalled for convenience, amplitude, fine upholstering and general equipment by those of any other city in the country. That's pretty near the bullseye, but wait until we get electrics on the East Middlesex and No. Woburn roads.

— At a meeting of the Innitou Canoe Club, Monday, Feb. 2, the following officers were elected for one year: Commodore, Stillman Shaw; Vice Commodore, W. W. Wade; Secretary, E. T. Brigham, 6 Court street; Treasurer, F. S. Ellard; Regatta Committee, E. T. Brigham, Stillman Shaw, E. F. Wyer.

— When the body of Rufus A. Lovering, Jr., who was drowned in a river some 50 or 60 miles from Seattle, Wash., on Jan 24, ult., is recovered it will be brought to this city for interment. He was the son of Rufus and Maria Lovering of this city and was 23 years, 2 mouths and 21 days old at the time of his death.

— Mr. Levi Cooper called at the JOURNAL office the other day for the first time since he broke his arm by falling on the ice. He is stopping for the present with Mrs. Pindar, his daughter, at West Chester Square, Boston, and will resume his residence here as soon as his arm gets well and the repairs on his several houses are finished.

— Mr. Henry Cummings, a venerable and very highly esteemed citizen of Cummingsville, died at his home on last Monday night after a brief sickness of pneumonia. He was one of the old residents, a descendent of one of the early immigrants, and a man well esteemed and very much liked by everybody. Many friends and relatives are left to mourn his loss.

— Supervisor Wadlin betrays a fine sense of appreciation when he observes that there is no finer place in which to live in this country than in the suburbs of Boston. It is an impressive fact.—Boston Herald. Mr. Wadlin has the reputation of being one of the clearest headed men in the country and the above is a strong piece of evidence in support of such a reputation.

— "Clams R Ripe" was the unique heading of the neat complimentary invite which the JOURNAL received from Foreman John H. Bates, and Clerk Henry L. Andrews to take a "bite and sup" with Highland Hose Co. No. 5, last evening at a bit of a celebration which the boys held over the reception of the Boston Globe souvenir at their House on Prospect St. Steamed clams were the principal dish, hence the legend on the cards—"Clams R Ripe." Accept our thanks, boys.

— Mr. Arthur Wyman is making preparations to step into Mr. Lawrence Reade's shoes at the postoffice. Mr. Reade's term will expire on Feb. 22 on which date or the day after Mr. Wyman will be in shape to take the office and continue to do business at the old stand. If the JOURNAL is any judge of such things Mr. Wyman is going to make a No. 1 postmaster.

— Yesterday morning was the coldest of the season. At 6 o'clock, A. M., at Mr. Waterman Brown's observatory near the Church Ave. crossing, it was 1 degree below zero, nearly 10 degrees lower than on any other morning this winter. One year ago yesterday morning, at the same hour and at the same point of observation, it was 52 degrees above zero—a big difference in the weather!

— We wish that as many young men as the church will hold would go and hear Dr. March's sermon on "Safeguards for Young Men—A Good Profession" next Sunday morning. They would certainly hear something to their advantage. Dr. March has a happy faculty of interesting young people in his lectures and sermons and always makes the listening to them a delight rather than an irksome task.

— Chief of Police McIntosh has recently made some changes in the disposition of a few of his men, namely: Officer McKenna has been transferred from Montvale to Station 1, and Officer Kean has been transferred from Station 1 to Montvale, Officer John A. Walsh has been brought to the Centre, and Officer Henchey has been given the Highlands district to look after. A regular officer is wanted in Ward 6.

— Miss M. L. Bancroft, the well-known and very popular teacher of the pianoforte, has a new card in the JOURNAL this week to which we call especial attention. We need not inform the readers of the JOURNAL that Miss Bancroft is a thoroughly educated and highly accomplished pianoforte player and one of the most popular and successful teachers in this city, for these facts are too well known by the public to need repetition here. But we direct public attention to Miss Bancroft's card, and let the case rest there.

— Music Master F. H. Lewis, head of the Lewis Music School of this city, and Mrs. Lewis gave a fine concert at their rooms in Dow Block last Tuesday evening. It was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were assisted by former pupils and others. These concerts, given at brief intervals, have been a pleasing and attractive feature of the Lewis Music School for several years past, and are highly appreciated by the public.

— Division No. 1, A. O. H., Board of Erin, have decided to celebrate St. Patrick's Day in grand style. The affair has been put into the hands of a competent committee who will see to it that everything is carried out in the best of shape. The officers of the Division are: President, Joseph Green; Vice-President, Richard Terrett; Recording Secretary, Patrick Brown; Financial Secretary, John Dooley; Treasurer, Michael Graham; Sergeant-at-Arms, John Cogan; County Delegate for Middlesex County, Thos. Costello.

— Dr. —— of Winchester has made up his mind, if the local papers tell the truth, that the people of Woburn are the greatest gormandizers in America. He says it is nothing but supper, supper, supper; banquet, banquet, banquet; lunch, lunch, luuch; from one week's end to another, and all the year round. He never heard of such people for eating as the Woburn people are in all his born days. As compared with Winchester's gastronomic habits it certainly must seem to a resident of that village as though Woburn people were feasting on the fat of the land continually.

— Chester W. Smith left last Monday for Portland, Maine, to attend the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the organization of the Christian Endeavor Society as a delegate from the Woburn Society. The idea of the Christian Endeavor movement was first put into shape at Portland and the first society in the world was organized there ten years ago. It started with 32 members and there are now in the world over 700,000—the most remarkable growth of a religious organization ever before known. A special train took the delegates from Boston and neighborhood to Portland at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

— The 5-cent fair rule between here and Stoneham went into operation last Sunday. Supt. Wentworth, while strongly in favor of the system of low fares everywhere, doubts if the population between Woburn and Stoneham is hardly large enough to justify the East Middlesex Company in reducing the fair from 8 to 5 cents. He hopes the change will prove a blooming success and will do all in his power to make it so, but doubts arise as to his ability to bring it about. Just as soon as summer with its fine warm evenings come again Supt. Wentworth will see a great increase of travel between here and Stoneham, else we miss our guess.

— The lecture by Rev. E. A. Horton of Boston in the Unitarian church on last Sunday evening was one of the ablest essays ever read in that venerable church. It was likewise an eloquent production and was highly enjoyed by an audience which for intelligence and culture it would be hard to match in the vicinity of Boston. Rev. Mr. Horton is one of the chief ministerial pillars of the Unitarian denomination in this section and is esteemed very highly by his fellow-gentlemen of the cloth. He is a learned man, sound headed, eloquent, and a good deal more stable in his views and utterances than some Unitarian clergymen of Boston we wot of.

— Mr. E. G. Barker, President of the Woburn Lumber Company, Charlie A. Jones, Esq., of the Five Cents Savings Bank, and others had great success fishing through the ice on a certain pond at No. Woburn last Monday. They caught over 50 handsome pickerel and pearch, some of which weighed 2 1-2 pounds apiece, and the whole lot was of extraordinary size. The fishermen were immensely pleased with their catch, and the suppers which they made on their return home in the afternoon off the great handsome fellows well larded, rolled in meal, and browned to a turn, were fit for kings. There was no "fish story" in what these gentlemen had to say about their catch, and besides that, the fish showed for themselves.

— Ground-hog day was full of the brightest sunshine, or at least the forepart of it was, and at noon when the groundhog and bear came forth from their winter homes to take midwinter observations it was so clear and bright that they could see their shadows without being to the trouble of turning their heads. That meant six more weeks of real winter weather, knowing which, the groundhog and bear returned to their dens where they will indulge in another long sleep nor emerge for good and all until well into March. Groundhog, or Candlemas, day is supposed to divide winter into two equal parts, hence the old saw says the farmer should have on "Candlemas Day half his wood and half his hay," which is only one of many old sayings of similar import. The report of President Teel of the Iowa Groundhog Society is now in order.

— The annual ball of the Order of Red Men last Wednesday evening was the most brilliant social affair of the season. A delightful concert of 60 minutes duration was given by Brigham's celebrated Orchestra of Marlboro which was enjoyed immensely by the large throng of listeners. The dancing set in immediately after the close of the concert, Col. O. J. Hart, Chief Medicine Man, leading. The large party of elegantly dressed ladies and gentlemen continued to "trip the light fantastic toe" until well towards morning and if a night of genuine pleasure was ever enjoyed by anybody it was enjoyed by the Red Men and their friends last Wednesday night. The company exceeded in numbers the most sanguine expectations of the most hopeful, and the whole brilliant affair was a complete and perfect success from start to finish.

— On Jan. 23 the last quarterly conference of the Methodist church of this city was held—the final one before the annual conference takes place—when it was voted, without a dissenting voice, to ask for the reappointment of Rev. Hugh Montgomery, making, if the request is granted, his third year as pastor of the Woburn church—the limit of service under the M. E. govermental policy. We are not at all surprised at this action of the quarterly conference for Mr. Montgomery is not only extremely popular with his own church people and well liked and highly respected as a citizen, but it is the general belief that but for his efforts and prime executive ability the Woburn society would have had to wait some years longer for a new meeting-house. He has been the head and front of the work and the result is one of the neatest, handsomest and best churches in the suburbs of Boston. Mr. Montgomery is a great worker in secular affairs as well as a bold temperance champion and faithful pastor.

— The annual ball of the Firemen's Relief Association given at Lyceum Hall on last Tuesday evening was one of the most brilliant and every way enjoyable that the Association has yet given. The attendance was very large and everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner. The music by Calnan's popular Orchestra was very fine and the dancing was kept up to a late hour. The supper by a professional Boston caterer was a feature of the festive occasion and will not soon be forgotten. The floor was in charge of Chief Engineer Albert A. Ferrin as floor director, and Assistant Engineer Charles W. Ames was his assistant, with the following named aids; Bernard H. Folan, Joseph C. Larock, Charles H. Nichols, James E. Eaton, John Kenney, James McNulty, Cyrus P. Fetridge, Luman C. Gott, James Boutwell, Cornelius Driscoll, William R. Greenleaf, William J. Brown, Patrick H. Graney, P. H. Doherty. The following named were the reception committee: Charles A. Wood, Charles Stewart, Thomas F. Ryan, Charles E. Eaton, Charles B. Green, Fred E. Perkins, Thomas Flynn, Thomas Marlow, John H. Bates, Lawrence Martin, Edward F. Tebbetts, Alfred K. Fetridge, George H. Newcomb, George A. Bountwell, Griffin Durga, Edward E. Stowers, Amos Langill, George H. Brauer, James H. Doherty, Neil Noon, John Madden. On the platform were Mayor Bean and many of the City Council and among others from out of town were: Engineer Hopkins of Somerville, Engineers Symmes of Winchester and Jackson of Medford, and many others.

P. O. Business.

Miss Celia Reade, Chief Clerk in the Woburn Centre postoffice, kindly furnishes the following figures of business done by the letter carriers during the months of December and January:

DECEMBER, 1890.

Registered letters delivered,	53
Letters delivered,	25,593
Postal cards delivered,	4,622
2d, 3d, and 4th-class, delivered,	17,711
Local letters collected,	1,325
Mail letters collected,	9,748
Local postal cards collected,	883
Mail postal cards collected,	1,835
2d, 3d, and 2th-class, collected,	688
Total number of pieces handled,	62,168

JANUARY, 1891.

Registered letters delivered,	41
Letters delivered,	26,322
Postal cards delivered,	9,847
2d, 3d, and 4th-class, delivered,	18,528
Local letters collected,	1,747
Mail letters collected,	9,623
Local postal cards collected,	1,558
Mail postal cards collected,	1,655
2d, 3d, and 4th-class, collected,	465
Total number of pieces handled,	69,286

These figures show an increase of postal business over last year when there was more done than the year before. This goes to show that the city is growing in population and trade, in which light it is a gratifying exhibit.

The amount of business is large when all the circumstances are considered. It represents only Woburn Centre, and hardly that, for nearly all of our manufacturers have their officers and salesrooms in Boston and buy their postoffice supplies in that city. There are in Woburn three postoffices besides the main one at the Centre—one at Montvale, 1 mile distant; one at No. Woburn, 2½ miles distant; one at Cummingsville, 2 miles distant. Then there is the Winchester office, 2 miles away; Stoneham, 2½ miles away; Burlington, 2 miles; and within a radius of 5 miles their name is Legion. The wonder is that any of them do any business at all.

Considering these facts, the Woburn Centre office has reason to feel proud of its current business and its annual increase.

The washboard is a piano upon which women can play a tune of happiness with a cake of Brussels soap.

The Woburn Equal Suffrage League.

One of the most important meetings which the above named associations has ever held was that of last Monday evening at Concert Hall. It was one of great interest to all present, for it was a service lovingly rendered to the memory of Mrs. Emma Putnam Kelley, a prominent member of the League and for a long time its honored President, whose death occurred on March 14, 1890, at her home in this city. A large assembly of people witnessed and listened to the literary and musical exercises, and it is safe to say that many eyes were moistened with tears at one stage or another of the services that night.

It was the fourth anniversary of the organization of the League, the existence of which was largely due to the interest of Mrs. Kelley in the subject of female suffrage and her efforts to bring into useful activity the quite widely defused sentiment in favor of that worthy cause among the higher and more intelligent classes of ladies in this community. There were misgivings on the part of some of the less courageous that the League might prove a failure in a community which, like ones, was so generally given to conservative thought and methods; but there were brave spirits among them in whose vocabulary no such word as fail could be found, and by these a permanent organization was perfected something over four years ago and has been kept in a flourishing condition ever since.

Always hopeful and brave, Mrs. Kelley led the van in the work of organization, and was made the League's first President, a position which she filled, by the unanimous voice of the members, continuously from the day on which the association was launched to the day of her death. She possessed characteristics which fitted her in a happy and peculiar manner for the honorable and responsible position of chief officer of the League, a fact which the members fully appreciated and were swift to recognize by repeatedly and unanimously re-electing her to fill it as long as she lived. Her manner and way of dealing with things always inspired confidence in others, and in every moral, intellectual or political movement in which she engaged while in life and vigorous health she was always brought to the front by the necessities of the situation and proclaimed a leader into whose service it was always safe to enlist, and under whose guidance and direction the success of any good cause was assured.

The League were loyal to their President always. Her ideas and schemes for the advancement of the cause of female suffrage were adopted with alacrity and without dissent. Her's was the master mind, and her high intellectual gifts, her culture, her sweet amiability of temper, her deep conscientiousness and love of truth and honesty, her clear perceptions and rare judgment, her fine executive ability and impartial treatment of those under her command—these are a few of the many graces of intellect and heart which so amply and peculiarly fitted Mrs. Kelley for the head of movements for the political amelioration of her sex, and made her the leading, guiding spirit in such reforms.

So, naturally, Mrs. Kelley was elected first President of the Woburn Suffrage League, and just as naturally no other member was thought of to take her place while she lived. She believed in the cause of female suffrage with her whole heart. She was its enthusiastic and honest champion whenever its principles were assailed in her presence or were in danger of being abused. She did not fear to stand by her colors, although, being modest, naturally retiring, and possessed of good sense, she would be the last to thrust her opinions into unwilling ears, and had she possessed the assurance of some of her co-workers, and as little modesty, she would, as an advocate of female suffrage, in point of intellect, culture, refinement—as an orator, poet and literary champion—have stood head and shoulders above many of the most noted of her sex engaged in the work. But Mrs. Kelley was modest, unassuming, self-forgetting, and that was one of the reasons why she was loved so warmly and truly by all who knew her, and especially by the Suffrage League of this city.

It had been the intention of the League since the death of their worthy and greatly beloved President to hold a special meeting at which to do honor to her memory. At first an early day for such memorial services was thought best, but subsequent reflection seemed to favor the date of the anniversary of the organization of the League for them, and such was the final decision. The members were all of one mind in this, that the services should be made worthy of the occasion, and an honor to the memory of the cherished dead. It should be a formal memorial meeting, to be participated in by the best talents of the society, and to constitute the fairest page in its history. The occasion and subject were worth the best intellectual efforts of the many gifted ladies of the League, and no pains should be spared in making it an occasion worthy of long remembrance by all concerned, as well as by the friends and family of the subject of the memorial offerings.

To this end parts were assigned in such a way that a programme similar to the following was the outcome. Each part, although finished, complete, perfect as a single composition, was really a portion of the whole piece of fine mosaic into which it fitted with the exactness of the most labored design and careful workmanship. The essayists wielded their pens freely and without regard to the character of the compositions of others—with but slight knowledge of them even—and yet there was an appropriateness about each and a blending of the whole that was really remarkable, and greatly enhanced the pleasure of the hundreds of delighted listeners present. It was indeed strange that in treating the subject from so many different standpoints, in discussing so many and varied human characteristics, in dealing with facts and fancies and emotions so liberally, there should have been produced such an harmonious whole, one in which no jarring or discordant notes were heard, a perfect production seemingly the work of a single hand and brain.

The programme, or order of memorial ceremonies, was: Her Life Work by Martha Sewall Curtis; Her First interest in Equal Suffrage by Mrs. B. A. Stearns; Hymn, "O, Arm of Strength" (music written by Mrs. Kelley), sung by Mrs. Eva L. Baker, Mrs. Ella C. Luce, Mr. William H. Clarke, Mr. George S. Cutler; Christian Women in Politics, Mrs. Kelley, by Miss Ida A. C. Jacobs; Personal Tributes by Miss Susan Edgell, Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Delia A. Clarke; Hymn, "Sleep Not, Soldier of the Cross" (music written by Mrs. Kelley) sung by Mrs. Eva L. Baker, Mrs. Delia A. Clarke, Mr. William H. Clarke, Mr. George S. Cutter; Original Poem by Miss Hannah R. Hudson; A Woman Among Women by Miss Jennie E. Skinner; Her Work in the Woman's Club by Mrs. Lucy E. B. Converse; The Lesson of Her Life and Death by Mrs. Frances W. Hill; Hymn, "Immortal Love, Forever Full" (music by Mrs. Kelley) sung by Mrs. Ella C. Luce; Her Favorite Poem read by Miss C. Isabelle Livingstone.

Concert Hall was beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion. It was the work of Mrs. Hovey, the well known and popular florist of this city, and her best skill and taste were displayed in the choice and arrangements of flowers and plants for beautifying the scene of the important event. A perfect and exquisitely finished crayon portrait of Mrs. Kelley (to honor whose memory and to pay tributes to her superior worth the League's meeting was held) by Albert Thompson, the eminent painter, hung on the wall in a pure white frame from one corner of which depended a large bunch of what one lady called heavenly roses and ground and over the whole were spread the most delicate vines and feathery foliage. Never were such roses seen before, and the vines were a marvel of beauty. But the face that looked out from its white frame from beneath these floral and leafy adornments was far fairer and sweeter than the roses and vines that entwined it. It was a perfect likeness of Mrs. Kelley as she looked in life and blooming health and it may well be imagined that it attracted a great deal of notice from those who knew the original and especially if she was counted among their list of friends. On the stage and around the speaker's desk were profusely scattered ferns and flowers, and the decorations of the whole interior gave evidence of care, fine taste, and excellent judgment.

Martha Sewall Curtis presided at the meeting and was the leader in making the memorial addresses, as will be seen by the skeleton programme printed above. Her theme was Mrs. Kelley, Her Life Work, and more eloquent utterances were seldom if ever delivered to the memory of any one, certainly not to the memory of anyone not of national or world-wide celebrity. The silence that pervaded the room while the speaker poured out her burning words and impassioned periods was almost perceptible to the touch. There was a solemn hush that could be felt while every eye was turned on the eloquent speaker and every ear turned to catch her ringing words of love and praise and devotion to the memory of the dead friend and leader whose name they have all met together to honor. Martha Sewall Curtis is the State Lecturer of the State Equal Suffrage League and most happily is she adapted to that kind of work. No tribute to Mrs. Kelley's memory left a deeper impression on the minds of the hearers than hers.

Mrs. B. A. Stearns was the next lady to present her offerings of love to the memory of the former President of the League. Her subject was Mrs. Kelley's First Interest in Equal Suffrage, in which her mind's workings on the subject of female suffrage from the early period in her life when her thoughts first turned in that direction up to her latest hour in which she was permitted to serve the cause she cherished so warmly were calmly and intelligently discussed. Mrs. Steans's fine presence on the platform commands attention and her fresh, original thoughts, clothed in language at once, simple, pure and eloquent, rivetted the attention of the audience and commanded warm and universal approval. Mrs. Stearns is a lady who would hide her talents in a napkin rather than let her light shine out in the face of the world, but she has rich literary gifts, a well cultivated mind, and is regarded as one of the main pillars of the female suffrage cause in this city.

A thoughtful essay was Christian Women in Politics by Miss Ida A. C Jacobs, Assistant Principal of the Woburn High School, who followed Mrs. Stearns in paying heartfelt tribute to the worth of the late lamented President of the League. It was a composition which commanded the undivided attention of the meeting, and deserved a prominent place among the many able and eloquent productions listened to from the platform during the evening.

Then there were personal tributes—that is to say tributes to the charming personal characteristics of the dear woman whom everybody loved so well. Miss Susan E. Edgell, a warm intimate friend of the deceased, said: "Ladies, our friend, Mrs. Kelley, had her faults. She was human, and all humanity have them. But, although Mrs. Kelley had faults they were so microscopic that her most intimate associates even failed to discover them." That sentiment, spoken in Miss Edgell's peculiarly dignified and graceful manner, was cordially assented to by all who heard it. Another personal tribute of rare merit was embodied in a carefully composed paper by Mrs. Samuel Leeds which was read in impressive style and voice by Mrs. Delia A. Clarke, and was received by the audience with unmistakable tokens of approval.

Miss Hannah R. Hudson's contribution to the literary exercises of the evening was a beautiful original poem written expressly for the time and the occasion. Miss Hudson's poetical productions in leading magazines of the country have given her a literary standing of which the people here in her home may well be proud. But we prefer to let Miss Hudson's memorial poem speak for itself:

Not yet we see the promise of the spring
On greening sod and tree,
Not yet we hear the murmuring of the streams
From winter's fetters free;
Not yet for us the thrill of hope and joy,
But tears and memory.

Not yet for us the wisdom that may read
The riddle of the years,
The gladness that may triumph over grief,
The faith that conquers fears;
For us the patience that is kin to pain,
And memory and tears:

Kind memory that can shield from time and death
The treasures of her choice;
Can hoard through years the beauty of a smile,
The music of a voice;
And with the semblance of a lost content
Bid us again rejoice.

We may not seek to pierce the mists of doubt
In which the future hides;
We can but follow over ways unknown
The hopes we make our guides;
And ever, as our courage faints and fails,
The faith we strive for, chides:—

"Life lived aright shall surely find its most
And best in higher spheres.
Poor coward, clinging blindly to the past
While the glad future nears,
No longer thus profane the peace of death
With weak and selfish tears.

"Be brave; and if you cannot learn to hope,
Learn only to be still;
Nor strive to measure thus with human thought
The workings of God's will;
Wait; though the dawn be dim and far away,
Its light the skies shall fill."—

What can we answer, we who purchase faith
At such a price of pain,—
Whose joys lie dead, like last year's withered leaves
Beneath the winter rain;—
How shall we learn to count our bitter loss
As an immortal gain?

Alas, it is not for the mystic heaven,
But the fair earth, we yearn;
So let us weep such tears as mortals shed
Beside a funeral urn.
We only know the future seems a void,
The past cannot return.

Weep, till at last the questionings and fears
With which our thought is rife,
The haunting doubt, the burden of despair,
The stress and pain of life,
Shall seem to touch on those eternal calms
That bound earth's grief and strife.

Miss Jennie E. Skinner was the next member of the League to ascend the platform and bear tender, loving testimony to the vigor and integrity of Mrs. Kelley's character, her strong, purifying influence in the community, her high ideals of feminine duty and privilege, and many kindred traits. Miss Skinner's theme was A Woman among Women, the merest glance at which furnishes a clue to the germ thought of the contribution. It was a warm tribute which she paid to the memory of her intimate and very dear friend. The thoughts and the language in which they were clothed were a credit to the head and heart of the talented and eloquent speaker.

Mrs. Lucy B. Converse, wife of Judge P. L. Converse, spoke of "Her Work in the Woman's Club," and paid a glowing tribute to the intellectual and moral worth of her friend, whose place in society, the clubs, or in the reform movements of the day it would be difficult to fill. Mrs. Converse has a stately presence on the rostrum and is a most pleasing speaker, which, coupled with the unusual excellence of her composition, gave her work a great and lasting value. Mrs. Converse closed her address with the following lines:

THE TWO MYSTERIES.

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep
And still,
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale
And chill;
The lids that will not lift again, though we may call
And call,
The strange white solitude of peace that settles
over all.
We know not what it means, dear, this desolate heart pain,
The dread to take our daily way and walk in it again.
We know not to what sphere the loved who leave us go,
Nor why we're left to wonder still, nor why we do not know.
But this we know: Our loved and lost, if they should come this day—
Should come and ask us, "What is life?" not one of us could say.
Life is a mystery, as deep as ever death can be;
Yet, oh! how sweet it is to us—this life we live and see!
Then might they say,—these vanished ones,—and blessed is the thought,
"So death is sweet to us, beloved! though we may tell you naught;
We may not tell it to the quick, this mystery of death.—
Ye may not tell us, if ye would, the mystery of breath."
The child who enters life comes not with knowledge or intent,
So those who enter death must go as little children sent.
Nothing is known. But I believe that God is over head,
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.

At this point Mrs. Frances W. Hill, wife of Mr. W. W. Hill, read a poem which was Mrs. Kelley's favorite when in life and health. It was listened to in breathless stillness and deep reverence. Although making no pretensions Mrs. Hill is an entertaining elocutionist and her recitation of the beautiful poem which her friend loved so well was a source of great gratification to the audience. Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Hill were very intimate friends for years prior to the decease of the former and an affection existed between them such is seldom found outside of family circles. With Mrs. Hill's love for Mrs. Kelley was mingled a high degree of esteem and admiration for her brilliant intellectual traits, and the sentiment was returned in full measure.

After the poem Mrs. Hill gave an essay called "The Lesson of Her Life and Death," which was a carefully prepared and finely finished piece of literary work. The title of her theme is a key to the character of the story and to say that its delivery produced a profound impression on her hearers would be but a partial utterance of the the truth. She was happy in the choice of language as a vehicle in which to convey her thoughts to the enraptured listeners, and from no lips did a more eloquent tribute to the worth of her dead friend and daily companion fall than from those of Mrs. Hill. She was cool, calm (as usual), moderate in delivery of the eloquent paragraphs which her notes contained, but underneath was perceptible a current of feelings and emotions which testified more strongly than language could do to the love she bore the dear one whose memory the League had gathered to honor. Mrs. Hill's was an affectionate and beautiful memorial tribute, the delivery of which commanded the respectful and tearful attention of the whole meeting which was pervaded by a breathless hush while she spoke.

Miss C. Isabelle Livingstone gave "Her Favorite Poem," which was an eminently worthy finale to the memorial progamme. Like all the other productions from the pens of the intellectual and cultured ladies who participated in the exercises, this of Miss Livingstone's fitted into its place and finished the piece of mosaic with one of the rarest gems of the evening.

In this way a remarkable meeting closed. Everything was carried out according to the programme arranged for it; there were no unpleasant hitches in its execution; and the large audience, which included Dr. S. W. Kelley, the husband, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Putnam, father and mother of Emma Putnam-Kelley, felt on separating that a long evening had been most advantageously and profitably spent.

W. H. A. W.

The annual meeting of the corporation and management of the Home for Aged Women, took place last Tuesday, when the following officers were elected: President, Miss Susan E. Edgell; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Abigail M. Winn, Mrs. Mary Shaw; Secretary, Mrs. Sophia L. Hovey; Treasurer, Mrs. Lucy M. Cole; Collector, Mrs. Sarah L. Simonds; Auditors, Charlie A. Jones, Mrs. Harriet H. Chamberlain; Managers, Mrs. Mary Shaw, Mrs. Lydia G. Choate, Mrs. Mary H. Cummings, Mrs. Minerva Bryant, Mrs. Almira W. Brown, Mrs. Martha A. Tidd, Miss Eliza Eager, Mrs. Deborah G. Trull, Mrs. Lavinia A. Hartwell, Mrs. Lucy E. B. Converse, Mrs. Louisa L. Taylor, Mrs. Caroline G. Johnson, Mrs. Abbie W. Watson, Mrs. Abigail M. Winn, Miss Susan E. Edgell, Mrs. Sarah L. Simonds, Mrs. Maria L. Thompson, Mrs. Ede A. Wood, Miss Rosanna B. Tidd, Mrs. Rebecca P. Flagg, Mrs. Frances W. Eames, Mrs. Isabella Ward, Mrs. M. Abbie Parker, Mrs. Sophia L. Hovey, Mrs. Lucy E. B. Cole, Mrs. Mary H. Hayward, Mrs. Martha A. McDonald, Mrs. Harriet H. Chamberlain, Mrs. Ellen T. Ellis, Mrs. Melina A. Skinner, Mrs. Lucretia T. True, Mrs. Sarah A. Trull, Mrs. Maria Fox, Mrs. Mary E. Cutter, Mrs. Florence Crosby.

There are 10 inmates in the home whose average age is a little over 70 years. All but two are in good health. During the past year Samuel H. Leathe made a proposition to the managers to pay the legacy left by his sister, Miss Ruth M. Leathe, provided they would take an estate on Plympton St. at a valuation of $3000.

The proposition was accepted on a compromise of $4500, beside which they receive $15.500, the income only to be used for the home. Nothing has been heard of the legacy of Mr. Simonds. The drama "School" realized $67; the annual fair $704; another entertainment was given under the auspices of Dr. and Mrs. Bartlett, and every year Mr. Winship of Wakefield has sent a handsome sum. Mrs. M. F. Winn bequeathed $2000; David Gould Converse $500.

Found a Seat.

"Listener" found a seat in an "Upper Room" in the Bank Building, Saturday afternoon, and was very much interested in the explanation of Christian Science Healing. With the Bible as text book the free informal talk was carried on, and the truth of the position maintained was not questioned by the philosophical mind who wants a basis to rest upon, while the religous thinker seemed to be truly enlightened, spiritually. Spirit is the only reality in life, they claim, and the natural result of right thinking is shown in healthy bodies.

The growing interest in this great thought is apparent

HAMBURGS
— AND —
LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

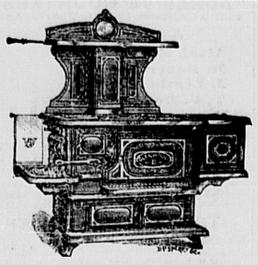
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Y. M. C. A.

Sunday 3.30, Prayer service.

Sunday 9 o'clock, Boys meeting.

Men's meeting at 4. It is expected the Christian clerks of our stores will be present and have charge of our meeting.

On Tuesday the Direction of the Association are to give the Junior Branch an evening. The Boys are on the anxious seat at present to know what they will do, but mum is the word.

Monday evening the Singing Class at 7.30. At the close of the season, a concert will be given under the direction of Mr. Marshall, which will be one of the best we have ever given. Prominent soloist of Boston will assist. Everyone will want to attend.

Last Tuesday our first lecture by Dr. C. I. Fisher of Tewksbury, Mass. was given. All who listened to it, as far as we have heard, were well pleased, and some expressed the wish that he could come again and repeat it. We hope to have our next lecture before many weeks and the subject and speaker will be one who all want to hear.

At the 40th Anniversary of the Boston Y. M. C. A., 20 churches gave their edifices and on finances in the hands of the Association last Sunday evening and prominent speakers from all over the country occupied the different pulpits. Rev. Phillip Brooks at the Old South said: "The Y. M. C. A. had been a revelation to the churches of larger life and larger fields of usefulness. Many works that used to seem entirely out of the Christian's sphere are proving to be instrumentalities for Christ.

"The young men have done much to teach that religion is not some stranger dropped out of heaven, but something real, developed from man by God.

"The great question of what Christianity is is being solved to a large extent by such institutions as the one the churches have cause to thank on the occasion of its 40th anniversary. There are many things to thank it for, but greatest is the simplest and deepest —that it has saved a multitude of young men."

Settle It Right Here.

Some people have a system, and through it are enabled to avoid many vexations in this world. When they see a good thing which must need enter into their daily life, they adopt it, and ever after cling to it. All desire that which is best, yet cheapest, and many a good housewife, by settling on Brussels soap, for household use, finds her every need supplied in this direction. Brussels soap has as yet no successful competitor. It's economical.

Course of Entertainments.

A course of first class entertainments for the benefit of the Methodest Episcopal church of this city has been decided on. They will be good and the object is a worthy one, therefore the course ought to be handsomely patronized.

Feb. 20. Musical Entertainment under charge of F. H. Lewis, assisted by Male Quartette of Boston University Theological School.

Feb. 26. Lecture by Chaplain George A. Crawford of Boston. Subject: China.

Mar. 5. Concert by Boston University Glee and Banjo Club.

Last Lecture is to be given by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore (date to be announced later). Subject: Twenty-five years on the lecture platform. (This is a new lecture).

The services of the above are given for the benefit of the Church.

Tickets for whole Course, $1.00. Single Ticket, 35c.

The invalid must be fed in order that the resisting and recuperative powers be sustained. But this does not mean that ordinary food should be given. The most nutritious and easily digestible food must be used. Mellin's Food possesses both these requirements.

USEFUL
Bargains!

Russia Crash 10c. A Bargain. It is worth 12½ cents.

One Lot Damask Towels 19c.

One Lot Linen Damask and Huckabut Towels, 13c.

One Lot Linen Towels, 10c.

A Good 50 cent Corset for 37 cents.

Calcutta Rugs 3 feet by 5 feet, only 29 cents.

NEW FLOOR OIL CLOTHS

Extra Value 25 cents a square yard.

We have them in all widths.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

North Woburn.

Miss Lena Page is visiting friends in Malden.

Some very fine displays of flowers may be seen in the windows of some of our citizens homes.

Mr. Arthur Linscott has returned from the South where he has been travelling on business.

Quite a large delegation from this village attended the dance given under the auspices of the I. O. R. M. at the Lyceum hall on last Wednesday evening.

Attention should be paid to the drainage of some of the streets in this part of the city. They are covered with ice and water, the latter in many places hindering travel on foot very much.

The monthly sociable of the Unitarian society took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Tidd on last Thursday evening. There was a large attendance and the evening was passed in a very pleasant manner.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

The Harvard University Catalogue.

This annual publication for 1890-91 is a bulky volume and contains a great amount of information concerning the largest and principal American University which cannot but interest everyone in anyway connected with it either in the past, present, or prospectively. The book contains almost 450 pages printed in small type, and the Table of its Contents occupies four and a half pages, and the Index as many more. Naturally a person wants to be endowed with a "liberal education" in order to understand a good deal of these contents, but to Harvard men no doubt their perusal is perfectly plain sailing. There is a Directory Calendar, and many other useful features about the volume, for a copy of which we return thanks to the University authorities.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Attention

Is called to the advertisement in another column, of the "Globe Dental Parlors," No. 227 Tremont Street, Boston. In an interview with the wide-awake managers of this office, we were pleased to learn that their experiment of giving Nitrous Oxide Gas free for the painless extraction of teeth has proved a grand success, as the hundreds who have, during the months of November, December and January availed themselves of their generous offer, can testify. Drs. Bills and Crossman cordially invite all who are thinking of having dental operations of any kind performed, to call upon them, and they will give them their best advice, free of charge, and they also guarantee that all work done by them will be done in the best possible manner.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.'

The Newsy Weekly.

The Somerville Citizen says truly and with force, that most communities don't half appreciate what a help a good local paper is in any neighborhood. If weekly papers were blotted from existence for a year and people had to run hither and thither to get the information they contain, each family using their own legs instead of the reporter's as now, they would have a higher appreciation of the work done by newspaper workers and of the importance of the weekly messenger of information.

The Secretary of the Association of Massachusetts Sons of the Revolution is Luther L. Tarbell of the Boston Custom House.

Literary Notices.

THE MUSICAL RECORD, published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, puts in an early mid-winter appearance and brings with it many good things in the musical line. It contains new pieces of music and much fresh and interesting reading matter.

The February number of OUR LITTLE ONES is very handsome and sprightly and the small people of country will enjoy its pictures, stories and poetry hugely. No juvenile magazine in the country is more popular than OUR LITTLE ONES. Published by the Russell Publishing Company, Boston.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for January 31, and February 7, contain Shakespeare's Ghosts, Witches and Fairies, Alexander Vinet, and Home Rule and Home Rulers, Birds, Velasquez and his King, and Shut up in the African Forest, A Secret Religion, Two Treatises on the Sublime, and The Republic of San Marino, Lord Melbourne, Bess of Hardwick, Frost and Fog, and Mr. Kinglake, The Origin of the Great Lakes of North America, with instalments of Eight Days, Christmas Eve at Warwingie, and poetry.

THE DOLL'S DRESSMAKER, a magazine for girls, is the latest periodical to come to our notice. It is brimful of entertaining and instructive reading and illustrations for our little women, and will be welcomed in every household which possesses a little girl. We feel sure the little magazine will be popular with mothers and prove a monthly delight to their young daughters. The price is only 50 cents per year. We recommend parents to send and subscribe. It is published at 35 East Seventy-seventh street, New York city. Send for a sample copy anyhow.

The February WIDE AWAKE opens with a ballad of heroism. When the brave Crusader ancestor of the present British Minister at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, was captured by the Saracens, they demanded his wife's hand in ransom, and the brave lady so saved her lord. Sir Julian Pauncefote supplied the author, Mary Branley, with authentic facts. Mr. E. H. Garrett's pictures for the ballad are finely dramatic. Other poems are by Elizabeth W. Bellamy and Mary E. Wilkins. The interesting illustrated articles of the number include Lieut. Fremont's timely account of Life at Frontier Forts, and as a sort of military pendant a curious account of A Fish Army. The short stories are unusually clever, from the ingenious plot of Aunt Dolly's Two Robbers, to the laughter and tears of A Hungry Boy. Mrs. Burton Harrison's story, Diamonds and Toads, is concluded. Kirk Munroe's railroading serial develops a startling situation, and the doings of Margaret Sidney's Peppers are as delightful as ever. Mr. Bridgman's funny pictorial skit, Through the Dark Continent, drops the curtain to the laughter of the audience. WIDE AWAKE is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston, Mass.

A portrait of Talleyrand in his youth is the appropriate frontispiece of the February CENTURY, in which is given a very full and interesting instalment of extracts from the Talleyrand Memoirs (begun in the January number). Napoleon is almost the sole subject of the extract in this number. The instalment opens with Talleyrand's apology for taking office under the Directory. A most striking description is next given of Bonaparte in the first flush of his victories. These extracts are full of plots. The first described is that between Bonaparte and Talleyrand himself, just before Napoleon overthrew the Directory and made himself ruler of France. Then comes Talleyrand's apology for supporting Bonaparte, followed by a number of anecdotes of Bonaparte, and including an account of his meeting with Goethe and Wieland.

The California series reaches the discovery of gold, an account of which is given by John S. Hittell, Esq., accompanied by attractive illustrations —among them a facsimile of an entry in the diary of H. W. Bigler (one of the party of discovery), which fixes beyond peradventure the date of the discovery as the 24th of January, 1848, instead of the 19th, as still celebrated by the pioneer society. There are also a view of Sutter's Mill, a map of the Placer Regions of California, portraits of Marshall the discoverer, and interesting caricatures of the rush of the diggings. In the department of California, is given Marshall's own account of the gold discovery as taken down from his lips in '49 at Coloma. A third paper by General John Bidwell completes the narrative of events before the gold discovery, and deals with Fremont in the Conquest of California setting forth a view of those events somewhat in conflict with that of General Fremont. Among the illustrations of this article is a striking full-page engraving of Kit Carson.

The stories are Edward Eggleston's new one, "Sister Dolorosa," Col. Carter of Cartersville, and others. The number is unusually interesting.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, Jan. 31, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mr. Thomas Criley, Miss Annie Cogan, 212 Main street, J. Macy, Miss Hattie E. Tuttle, 17 Prospect street, Mr. W. C. Kimball & Co, morocco dresser.

LAWRENCE READE, P. M.

Miss Burdy—"Yes, I will be yours on one condition." Jack Junior—"That's all right. I entered Yale with six."

It is reported that a farmer in Holt county, Kansas, has 26 living children, all of whom are unmarried and live at the homestead.

A pair of Texas cattle horns were found in Scott Bluffs county, Neb., the other day, that measured 5 feet 9 inches from tip to tip.

Philadelphia has a Blue Book, but many of the most fashionable people do not appear in it, having made a point not to be included.

"Why do you call these cigars Flora Debutante?" "Because they cost like the mischief, and are all the time going out," said patertamilias, ruefully.

The Agusta(Ga) Chronicle says Gen. Lee never executed a spy. He used to say: "Poor fellows, we have got them, and they can't do us any harm. What is the use of killing them?"

WINCHESTER.

The Episcopalians are going to have a boy choir.

Mrs. James Houston fell and sprained her arm very badly.

Beggs & Cobb are preparing for business at the Loring & Avery tannery.

Mrs. Gulick will lecture before the Womans Missionary Society next month.

Walter D. Middleton has been elected a Deacon of the Congregational church.

The system of free seats was permanently adopted by the Baptist church last Sunday.

Dea. Charles Conant and wife are visiting at Washington, D. C., where their son Charles is.

Mr. Samuel J. Elder spoke before the Jamaica Club, at Jamaica Plain, on Wednesday evening, his topic being "Jury Trials."

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Twombly started for California last Wednesday with the Boston Fruit and Produce Club's excursion in great spirits.

"The political pot begins to boil." Candidates for Selectmen are springing up all over the town and among them excellent ones have been "mentioned."

It is announced in society circles that Miss May L. Maxwell, daughter of our well known citizen and founder of Pell City, Ala., John Maxwell, and Benjamin W. Barrows are soon to be united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The houses of T. L. Ripley and H. N. Bailey were entered by burglars last night and considerable silverware was stolen. In one case an entrance was effected by forcing a window and in the other by going through a bulkhead. No clew to the thieves was found.

It is rather a backset not to have any banquet and entertainment by the W. V. I. A. this year. This wouldn't have been thus if Mr. Twombly had been President. If ever the W. V. I. A. needed to be lively, wideawake and active it is just now when the town is on the eve of a big boom.

The following are the newly elected officers of the Winchester Union: President, Mrs. John C. Mason; Secretary, Miss Mary Chaffee; Treasurer, Mrs. Frank Wills; Directors, Mrs. S. G. Pierce, Mrs. John Symmes, Mrs. J. T. Underhill, Mrs. H. L. Richards, Mrs. N. T. Apollonio, Mrs. W. F. Fitch.

John R. Freeman of this town has just been awarded the Norman medal of the American Society of Civil Engineers. This is a gold medal given for the best technical paper contributed during the year, and was awarded on his paper "Experiments relating to the Hydrants of Fire Streams." The medal is intrinsically valuable, but the honor which goes with it is very highly prized by engineers.—Star.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society recently held at the residence of Mrs. Harrison Parker the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Harrison Parker; Vice Presidents, Mrs. L. Pierce, Mrs. Moses Herrick; Treasurer, Mrs. Holt; Directors, Mrs. D. A. Newton, Mrs. Joshua Coit, Mrs. I. S. Palmer, Miss. S. C. Varney.

Young Doctor—I prescribed for my first patient yesterday. Young Lawyer (anxiously)—Has he made his will yet?

Two sugar plantations in Louisiana have produced the past season 4,700,000 and 4,463,000 pounds of sugar respectively.

The London Lancet says the best authorities estimate that the average duration of human life has increased ten years in the last century.

The soda lakes of Natrona county, Wy., have been sold to English capitalists for $2,000,000. They contain deposits of solid soda twenty feet deep.

Women are eligible for office in Roumania, and in 1888 Mme. Anna Jonesco was elected Mayoress of Maugala, which position she held for two years.

A gardener at Alexandria, La., had growing in the open air Jan. 17 8000 fine cabbages, Irish potatoes as large as a man's fist, lettuce, beets, carrots and fine ripe strawberries.

There is a hospital at Munich which is wholly supported by the sale of old steel pen nibs, collected from all parts of Germany. They are made into watch springs, knives and razors.

A Ruston (La.) man, who owed a debt to a lawyer, gathered up all the copper cents he could find to pay it. He did not get quite enough, but tendered what he had, and gave a greenback bill for the balance. The lawyer took the money, paid back the copper cents in change, and kept the bill. Moral: Don't fool with a lawyer.

THIS WEEK AT
BONELLI'S
22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Big Bargain in all wool Blankets 11-4, at $4.50 worth $6.50. 12-4, at $5.50 worth $7.50.

Fancy Border and Plain White Tea Cloths with and without Doylies to match, at 25 per cent less than retail prices.

Turkey Red and Cardinal Doylies from 50c. up. These Doylies are dirt cheap.

Brown and Bleached Sheeting 2¼ yards wide, slightly soiled, at considerable less than regular prices.

Give us a call and save money.

TO LET.

A TENEMENT of 8 rooms, 2 minutes from Post Office. Apply to G. A. BEAN, Trustee.

Woburn, Feb. 5, 1891.

FOR SALE.

1 Democratic Wagon. 1 Phaeton. Apply to 120 MAIN ST., WOBURN MASS.

Safe For Sale.

A good SECOND-HAND SAFE for sale. Apply to BUEL & SON, Buel's Court, Woburn, Mass.

FRESH IDEAS
IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it.

Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom:
Washington Street, cor. Elm, BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

TWO TONS OF LEAD.

The plates on the new mammoth presses of the

BOSTON HERALD

Will weigh nearly two tons.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

404 Main St.,
WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop.

Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

To the Public.

We have this day been authorized to announce to the people of the City of Woburn and vicinity, that we have had placed in our hands to sell a limited number of shares of the

Johnston Electric Train Signal Co.'s Stock,

At a surprisingly low figure, or will EXCHANGE it for REAL ESTATE in your vicinity.

COOPER & RAND,

388 Main Street, corner of Park, WOBURN, MASS.

WE offer Five Year FIRST MORTGAGE bonds on Real Estate in Sioux City, Iowa, in denominations of $100 and $500, with interest at SEVEN per cent., payable quarterly in Boston. The security is worth five times the value of bonds issued. Further information in pamphlet free.

New England Investment Co.,

C. W. BALDWIN & CO., Agents,

33 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass.

DEATH COMES

To THOUSANDS as a result of neglected Coughs and Colds. Consumption is curable if promptly and wisely treated. I specially treat all diseases of the LUNGS and HEART. Medicines furnished. Examination thorough.

E. S. DODGE, M. D.,

62 Boylston St., cor. Tremont, BOSTON.

HOURS, 11 TO 3.

ROLLER MILL

FOR SALE. Enquire of JAMES SKINNER & CO., Green Street, Woburn, Mass.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

ANNUAL
Canned Goods
Sale!

Now is the time to buy your Canned Goods, and the Boston Branch is the place to buy them.

Tomatoes, Bacon's	8c.,	95c. per doz.
Tomatoes, Cidar,	10c.,	$1.15 " "
Tomatoes, F. & S. Imperial,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Corn,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Corn, Sandy River,	12c.,	1.40 " "
Corn, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Peas, Standard Marrowfats,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Peas, Booth's Marrowfats,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Succotash, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Squash, Richardson's,	14c.,	1.65 " "
String Beans,	8c.,	.90 " "
Asparagus Tips,	25c.,	2.85 " "
Peaches, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" "	35c.,	4.00 " "
Bartlett Pears, Richardson's,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Sliced Pineapple,	23c.,	2.65 " "
Grated Pineapple,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Pres. Strawberries,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Blueberries,	14c.,	1.65 " "
White Cherries, California,	35c.,	4.00 " "
Apricots, California,	22c.,	2.60 " "
Apricots, Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Plums, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Salmon, Alaska,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Salmon, Booth's,	15c.,	1.80 " "
Salmon Steak,	18c.,	2.10 " "

Boston Branch
Tea and Grocery House,
327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William H. Walker, late of Burlington, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Fred F. Walker and John W. Johnson, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Hannah Chamberlain, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lewis L. Whitney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Christian Science Healing.
MISS M. C. MESSER,

12 Franklin St., Woburn.

(Except Fridays.)

CONSULTATION FREE.

Will also be glad to talk (at their homes if desired) with all who wish to know how to help themselves.

12 1-2 Ct.
Zephyr Gingham for 8 1-2 Cts.

— AT —

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,
FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

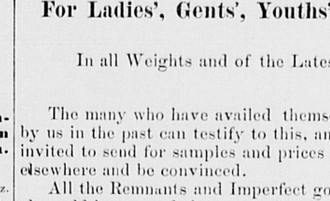
FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.



Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan
MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

AHAB'S COVETOUSNESS.

LESSON VI, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, FEB. 8.

Text of the Lesson, I Kings xxi, 1-16. Commit Verses, 15, 16—Golden Text, Luke xii, 15—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "And it came to pass after these things."

The previous chapter gives a record of two remarkable victories of Ahab and his army over the king of Syria and his army; the army of Ahab being like two little flocks of kids before the Syrians, who filled the country (xx, 27); but it was all the work of God, that Ahab might know that God was Jehovah (xx, 13, 28), and act accordingly. Ahab is, however, so little in sympathy with God that he after all made friends with the king of Syria, and let him escape. For this he was rebuked by a prophet, and went to his house heavy and displeased (xx, 42, 43).

"Naboth the Jezreelite."

We are now introduced to a man who is mentioned only in this chapter and in II Kings ix. His name is given here nineteen times, and six times it is Naboth the Jezreelite.

2. "Give me thy vineyard * * * because it is near unto my house."

A righteous life is a constant rebuke to unrighteousness and cannot be tolerated, especially when the spirit of God is striving with the impenitent.

3. "The Lord forbid it me that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee."

Although Ahab offered him a better vineyard or its full value in money, this is his reply. Naboth fears Jehovah, but does not fear Ahab, and the inheritance of his fathers is more to him than money or than any other inheritance. Had he been like Esau he would have sold it cheap.

4. "And Ahab came into his house heavy and displeased."

In the last chapter we saw him in his house, heavy and displeased because the Lord by the prophet had rebuked him; and now he is in the same place and in the same state of mind because the Lord has again rebuked him through Naboth. Had he frequented the house of the Lord and in his trouble gone like Elijah into the sanctuary (Ps. lxxiii, 17) he would have found a cure for his sadness; but he was not that kind of a man.

5. "Why is thy spirit so sad?"

"Sad" is just the same word as "heavy" in verse 4 and xx, 43, and it is only found these three times in the Bible. This is his wife's question to him.

6. "I will not give thee my vineyard."

He rehearses to her his request of Naboth and this, Naboth's reply. Thank God for all who say to the world, the flesh and the devil: I am the Lord's property, you cannot have me or anything belonging to me; and no money nor any other inducement can persuade me to give to any but my Lord that which is truly and only His.

7. "I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."

Thus speaks this woman of Satan, this defier of the true God and His servants.

8. "So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seal."

Thus did Haman, another adversary of the people of God (Esth. iii, 12). Thus will the beast and the false prophet act in the power of the dragon, that old serpent, the devil, in the last days before Jesus comes in His glory (Rev. xiii, 4, 7, 15, etc.).

9. "Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people."

Or as in R. V. margin, "at the head of the people." A child of God may conclude that something is wrong when the enemies of God do him an honor or in any way set him on high.

10. "And set two men, sons of Belial, before him to bear witness against him."

"Sons of Belial" signify worthless, reckless, lawless fellows. They abound everywhere, and are ready to every evil work.

11, 12. "And the men of his city * * * did as Jezebel had sent unto them."

Were the servants of Christ only half as ready and obedient as the servants of the adversary, how the name of Christ would be magnified, God glorified, the elect church called out and the kingdom hastened. These men did just what Jezebel said—took her to mean what she said and went about it.

13. "Naboth did blaspheme God and the king."

This is the lie which these false witnesses give utterance to. Naboth could say with David and with Jesus: "False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not. They hate me without a cause" (Ps. xxxv, 11; lxix, 4; Matt. xxvi, 59-61; John xv, 25). Naboth is accused of blasphemy because he loved his inheritance more than the favor of Ahab. James was accused of blasphemy because he declared himself the Son of God, fearing not the wrath of the rulers.

"They stoned him with stones that he died."

It would seem from II Kings ix, 26, that his sons also were murdered. Thus in later days they stoned Stephen and Paul.

14. "Naboth is stoned, and is dead."

Or as in the next verse, "Naboth is not alive, but dead." Satan had done his worst. Jesus taught His disciples not to fear those who could only kill the body. The Spirit, through Paul, says that "to die is gain," "to depart and be with Christ is far better." Jesus tells us that when Lazarus died the angels carried him—not his poor, corrupting body, but himself, apart from the frail tabernacle in which he had been sojourning—to Abraham's bosom; and He said to the thief on the cross, "To-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise" (Matt. x, 28; Phil. i, 21, 23; Luke xvi, 22; xxiii, 43). So while Naboth's body was overcome by the cruel stones, Naboth himself had gone off in glorious company, forever beyond the reach of all persecutors.

15. "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite which he refused to give thee for money."

Thus speaks Jezebel to her heavy and displeased husband. The prominent seed of God is no longer in his way as a rebuke to him, and the coveted vineyard is now his without money. Compare with this the gifts and merry making of Rev. xi, 10, because of the death by violence of two servants of God who tormented the people by their testimony to the truth. But their joy and seeming victory will be as short lived (for that event is still future) as was that of Ahab. God permits a great deal which we cannot understand, but He always holds the reins.

16. "Ahab rose up to go down to the vineyard * * * to take possession of it."

But he is not prepared to hear the fearful tidings which await him from the Lord by the mouth of him whom he is pleased to term his enemy. The Lord has seen it all. "Dogs shall lick thy blood," "dogs shall eat Jezebel" (verses 19, 23); fearful words, but fulfilled in due time most literally (xxii, 38; II Kings ix, 35,36).

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle at H. L. Flanders & Co. Drugstore.

Will You Chip In?

A whaling vessel which lately arrived at San Francisco reports that the native of Lapland are ready to leave that country in a body if the people of the United States will chip in to bring them over. If you want an oily, pudgy, good natured pet, here's your chance to get one cheap.—Detroit Free Press.

THE RAGGEDY MAN.

Oh, the Raggedy Man! He works for pa;
An' he's the goodest man ever you saw!
He comes to our house every day,
An' waters the horses an' feeds 'em hay;
An' he opens the shed—an' we all ist laugh
When he drives out our little old wobble-ly calf!
An' nen, ef our hired girl says he can,
He milks the cow fer 'Lizabuth Ann.
Ain't he a' awful good Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

W'y, the Raggedy Man—he's ist so good
He splits the kindlin' an' chops the wood;
An' nen he spades in our garden, too,
An' does most things 'at boys can't do.
He clumbed clean up in our big tree
An' shook a' apple down fer me!
An' 'nother 'n', too, fer 'Lizabuth Ann!
An' 'nother 'n', too, fer the Raggedy Man!
Ain't he a' awful kind Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

An' the Raggedy Man he knows most rhymes
An' tells 'em, ef I be good, sometimes—
Knows about giunts an' griffuns an' elves,
An' the squidgicum squees 'at swallers themselves!
An' wite by the pump in our pasture lot
He showed me the hole 'at the wunks is got
'At lives 'way deep in the ground, an' can Turn into me—er, 'Lizabuth Ann!
Ain't he a funny old Raggedy Man?
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!

The Raggedy Man—one time, when he
Was makin' a little bow 'n' 'arry fer me,
Says, "When you're big like your pa is,
Air you go' to keep a fine store like his,
An' be a rich merchunt an' wear fine clothes?
Er what air you go' to be, goodness knows?"
An' nen he laughed at 'Lizabuth Ann.
An' I says, "'m go' to be a Raggedy Man—
I'm 'ist go' to be a Raggedy Man!"
Raggedy! Raggedy! Raggedy Man!
—James Whitcomb Riley

What's in a Yawn?

Have you ever noticed how if one person chances to yawn in a car or omnibus every other passenger who sees him sooner or later follows suit? There appears to be something contagious in the act—something that no one can escape. The other day, coming down town in an elevated railroad car, a friend who was with me yawned, and hadn't more than shut his mouth when a stout man on the opposite seat took up the performance. He was followed by a pretty girl across the aisle, and then all the passengers whose faces we could see soon began it. The effect was so immediate and general that we both remarked it, and even several of the passengers smiled as they repeated the act.

After we were well down town and the passenger list of the car had considerably changed my friend remarked that he would see if he could compel all the passengers to yawn by feigning a yawn himself. He succeeded admirably in his counterfeit, and in a few moments every passenger in sight again was yawning. As we left the car at Park place the guard yawned as he opened the gate for us.—New York Sun.

Haste and Leisure.

"When I was in London," said Col. Cody, "I was going to dinner one night and told my driver to get me there as quickly as possible. As my carriage clattered along over the cobblestones of a narrow street we overtook a funeral procession. Immediately my driver got into a dispute with the driver of the hearse over the right of way. I told my driver to keep straight on the trail, and not cut through the funeral, showing my deep religious inclination, and he said he wouldn't. He said he'd beat the hearse if it took a year. Well, we rattled on. The race was growing interesting and exciting. My driver, I feared, was getting the worst of it. Presently, however, they stopped to argue the matter, and I heard my man say to the cheerful driver of the hearse:

"'Here, my man's in a hurry; yours isn't.'"—Chicago Tribune.

Misunderstood.

The Young Rector (in evident embarrassment)—My dear Miss Clara, I—(trying to leave his chair)—I believe I have formed an—attachment, and—

Miss Clara (blushing furiously)—Oh! Arthur—I mean Mr. Greene—this is so unexpected. I must—

The Young Rector (frantically)—Beg pardon, Miss Clara, but I was about to say that I have formed an attachment for this chair, due to the presence of a bit of shoemaker's wax, placed here by that unregenerate younger brother of yours.

(Intense delight of the small boy in ambush.)—Pittsburg Bulletin.

It is a curious reflection on the intelligence of mankind that while animals easily learn our language, we make no advance at all in learning theirs. One cannot help hoping that some future generation of men may be sufficiently kind and patient and large hearted to believe that what these dependent creatures have to say to us may sometimes be as important as what we have to say to them, and to act accordingly.

In China a girl who is partaking of the last meal she is to eat in her father's house previous to marriage sits at the table with her father and brothers only, but she must not eat over one-half of the bowl of rice set before her, otherwise her departure will be followed by continued scarcity in the domicile she is leaving.

The Geographical institute in Weimar estimates that German Africa contains 935,000 square kilometers. All European Germany contains approximately 540,000 square kilometers.

Stanley traveled 5,400 miles in the interior of Africa on his last expedition, all but 1,000 miles of it on foot. Three hundred persons were rescued in the three years.

To prevent that shine to the skin with which so many are annoyed, especially in warm weather, use a little camphor in the water when bathing the face.

Everything Has Its Uses.

"Gracious, Miss Bickton," exclaimed young Spriggins, who is a lingerer, "I hope you won't cough again in that way. You made me start."

"Perhaps," she murmured, "I may be convinced that even coughs were not made in vain."—Washington Post.

All Broken Down.

Is it not sad to see so many young men every day of whom this can be said? Young man, take my advice. Stop all indiscretions which you have practiced, keep good hours, retire early, and build up your shattered system by using Sulphur Bitters, which will cure you.—OLD PHYSICIAN.

Feline Fun.

Montaigne says: "When I play with my cat how do I know whether she does not make a pastime of me, just as I do of her? We entertain ourselves with mutual antics, and if I have my own times of beginning or refusing, she, too, has hers."

SCIENTIFIC MAIL ROBBERY.

Ingenious Scheme of a Shrewd Thief That Puzzled a Skilled Inspector.

"We get some pretty tough cases," said an old postoffice inspector, "but it has been my fortune to run down every case on which I was set to work."

"What was the most difficult case you ever handled?" asked the reporter.

"It happened while I was stationed at Utica, N. Y., about seven years ago," replied the inspector. "Many letters containing valuables had been missed, and by dint of hard work we managed to trace the job down to one clerk, a shaven faced young fellow of about 22 years. He was a clerk who distributed the letters into the boxes of the carriers.

"As I said, we managed to get this far on the case and then I set my trap. I had a decoy letter containing a $20 gold piece mailed from a country town in Connecticut to a prominent stove dealer in Utica. The letter failed to reach the carrier promptly, and I felt we had our man solid at last.

"I waited for him until the dinner hour, and as he was leaving the office accosted him. He came with me, and look as closely as I might I failed to detect any signs of uneasiness in his features; they were perfectly immobile. He walked with me into the office of the postmaster and submitted to a thorough search, but no trace of the letter or $20 gold piece was found on his person.

"To say I was dumfounded is drawing it mildly. He appeared to be very indignant. But whether I was right or wrong at the time, the petty robberies came to a sudden stop. No more complaints were heard for a month. Then they began again. This time I was bound I would not fail, so I set a watch on my man.

"One day when I was about to give up the case in despair, I noticed the fellow tearing up an envelope and dropping it to the floor. When he had gone I picked up the scraps of paper, and after a hard job managed to piece it. I was disheartened when I saw that the envelope had been addressed to himself. I was about to walk away, when a thought struck me.

"I came down the next morning before the young clerk came to work and stationed myself behind a letter rack, free from observation, but in such a position that I could see the fellow's every action. I saw him take several stamped and addressed envelopes from his pocket and walk over to the stamping table and cancel the stamps. During the course of the morning I saw the fellow slip four letters inside of as many envelopes and seal the envelopes. Then I knew my suspicions were correct. I went to the carrier who conveyed the letters to the man's home and secured the four letters addressed to the fellow himself.

"'Have you carried many letters like this?' I asked him.

"'Yes, sir,' the carrier said. 'I carry four or five a day.'

"I then called the fellow into my office and told him we had determined to have the mail of all clerks delivered at the office to lighten the duties of the carriers. I then told him that I had four letters for him, and handed him the missives I had received from the postman. The fellow turned pale and was on the verge of fainting when I asked him to open and read the letters in my presence.

"With trembling hands he did so, and inside the envelopes, directed to himself, I found four valuable letters addressed to a big wholesale house. He broke down and confessed that he had been stealing for about six months, and that during that time he had abstracted nearly $1,500 from business letters He had spent the money.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Big House.

The largest building on the globe is said to be the Freihaus, or free house, an apartment house in Vienna. There are 1,500 rooms arranged in 400 dwelling apartments. The house has thirty-one staircases, and 2,112 persons, enough to make a small town, are now living under its one great roof. As may be imagined, it is difficult to find a particular person in this great caravansary, and one visitor testifies to looking for an occupant for more than two hours. The postman sometimes delivers 1,000 pieces of mail matter in a day at this one house.—New York Ledger.

Use of the Tooth Brush.

The use of the tooth brush in connection with powders, washes or other treatment of the teeth should be gentle. Bleeding of the gums is always a danger signal. It shows that the skin has been broken, inviting the absorption into the system of any poisonous or foreign matters which may be present in the mouth. If the gums are very tender, a soft brush should be used, and used very gently, till they have hardened sufficiently to withstand more vigorous treatment.—Herald of Health.

Tucson is one of the oldest as well as largest and best known towns in Arizona. In fact it is so old that there is no record showing when it was first settled. When the first Spanish explorers visited this country, about 1530, they found an old Mexican village there, and it was then said to have been inhabited for centuries.

A trade journal has just published some statistics concerning poultry in France. It states that there are in the country 45,000,000 of hens, which, at an average price of 2 francs 50 centimes per head, represent a value of 112,050,000 francs.

Catarrh in New England.

Ely's Cream Balm gives satisfaction to every one using it for catarrhal troubles.—G. K. Mellor, Druggist, Worcester, Mass.

I believe Ely's Cream Balm is the best article for catarrh ever offered the public.—Bush & Co., Druggists, Worcester, Mass

An article of real merit.—C. P. Alden, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

Those who use it speak highly of it.—Geo. A. Hill, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

Cream Balm has given satisfactory results.—W. P. Draper, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

A Difference.

Mother—Ella, you have been playing all the afternoon with those toy soldiers. That's not a proper amusement for a big girl like you.

Daughter—But, mamma, I am not playing with the soldiers. I picked out the officers and played with them.—Texas Siftings.

If you suffer from catarrh why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the common sense remedy? It has cured many people.

WHY HE IS BLOOMIN' TOM."

He Waited Long and Wearily for His Girl—Too Long He Found.

He is very old and very grizzled and not a little wrinkled. On casual observation one would not pick him out as the subject of a love story full of blasted hopes, slow music and the accessories of the last scene of a melodrama. His very name seems paradoxical. It is "Bloomin' Tom." The name given by a pretty girl on the spur of the moment still clings to his weatherbeaten hulk, and is the only thing left him that bears any trace of the girlish giver.

It happened this way and quite a while ago: Tommy when quite a young lad came here from the banks of the Thames. He was bred and came very near being born in a boat owned, manned and navigated by his father, a typical Thames waterman. Tommy left behind him a rosy cheeked girl who had promised to come to him as soon as he could send for her. But times were hard, competition strong, and Tommy's little pile did not gain rapidly, and the scrawled, badly spelled letters from the girl he left behind him grew less and less frequent. After three years Tom owned a boat, but he had no money to support a wife, much less to bring one from old England.

One afternoon Tom—then quite a man—was down near the Battery waiting for a chance to make a dollar or two, when an immigrant barge from a big Atlantic liner came to the Castle Garden dock. Listlessly Tom looked at the crowd of embryo Americans. Something familiar about one of the women caught his eye, and as his heart began to thump against his ribs he recognized his "girl from home." Somehow Tom's boat flew to the landing and seemed to make herself fast, while Tom rushed to the gates of the Garden to meet his peri.

Half an hour later she came out, but instead of the affectionate rush Tom expected she turned to a stalwart young fellow next to her and said, "Well, I never; if there h'ain't bloomin' Tom!" And then as a lot of watermen gathered around who knew Tom the girl added, "Tom, me boy, Hi couldn't wait no longer fur ye, so I tied to this man. Good-by, Tommy; yer look bloomin'."

That was all, but it broke Tom's heart and he did not seem to hear his fellow watermen crying "Hello, Bloomin' Tom!" as he walked with his head hanging down back to where he had left his boat. After that Tom saved no more money. Discouragement followed, and today he hangs around the docks picking up pieces of old junk and selling them for what he can get, and he is called "Bloomin' Tom" all along the river, though he is sadly faded now.—New York Telegram.

How to Make Aluminum.

There is probably no other metal the usefulness of which is so extensive as aluminum, and yet its practical utility has been successfully demonstrated only very recently. As a matter of fact, the metal was known long ago; but, although its advantages have been realized, the great cost of its production has always prevented its coming into general use. Electricity has, however, come to the rescue in this, as in so many other departments of industry, and by its agency aluminum is now produced at such a low cost that it bids fair to supersede iron and steel in many instances.

Aluminum exists in nature in the form of an oxide so refractory in its character as to make reduction in any ordinary furnace impossible, and the only means which have been found available for its reduction on a commercial scale is electrolysis. The passage of the electric current has the effect of separating the pure metal from its surrounding impurities, and the economy of the process compared with the methods heretofore employed is remarkable.—New York Telegram.

How High Can Man Live.

Mr. Webber, the traveler, states that in Thibet he has lived for months together at a height of more than 15,000 feet above sea level, and that the result was as follows: His pulse, at the normal heights only 63 beats per minute, seldom fell below 100 beats per minute during the whole time he resided at that level. His respirations were often twice as numerous in the minute as they were in the ordinary levels. A run of 100 yards would quicken both pulse and respiration more than a run of 1,000 yards at sea level, and he found that the higher the level the greater the difficulty of running or walking fast. He crossed the Gurla Mandhata mountain at a height of 20,000 feet, and found that he had the utmost difficulty in getting his breath fast enough. Webber also says that the native guides of the mountains suffered equally as much, if not more, than he.—St. Louis Republic.

Killed While Fighting a Rattler.

A southern exchange narrates how Richard Pugh, colored, met death by a singular mishap. Discovering a big rattlesnake under his bed he seized a big cudgel and attacked the intruder. In the fight Pugh struck a loaded gun in the corner of the room. The gun was knocked down, thereby being discharged, the whole load entering Pugh's body just above the hips. He died within an hour.

An Innocent Amusement.

Husband—What have you been doing all day?

Wife—Shopping.

Husband—Oh! Only shopping. I was afraid you'd been buying.—Good News.

A Fortunate Woman.

Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., has reason to be very thankful. She was a great sufferer from heart disease for years. Was short of breath, had hungry spells, pain in her side, fluttering, faintness, etc. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, she says, "I am better than for 20 years. My mind and eyesight have improved wonderfully. I advise all peasons thus afflicted to use this great remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss druggist. Dr. Miles' work on Heart Disease, containing marvelous testimonials, free.

Formerly the great Arctic or snowy owl was rarely found in Central or Northern New York, but during the present winter the species has been numerously represented and numbers have been killed. This is thought to be due to the fact that rabbits, on which the birds feed, have been uncommonly plenty this season and have attracted them.

The ship of matrimony has a companionway, but there be many husbands and wives who never find it.

Old Fashioned Harvesting.

Harvesting with the rude implements was a scene. Imagine three or four hundred wild Indians in a grain field armed, some with sickles, some with butcher knives, some with pieces of hoop iron roughly fashioned into shapes like sickles, but many having only their hands with which to gather by small handfuls the dry and brittle grain; and, as their hands would soon become sore, they resorted to dry willow sticks, which were split to afford a sharper edge with which to sever the straw. But the wildest part was the threshing. The harvest of weeks, sometimes of a month, was piled up in the straw in the form of a huge mound in the middle of a high, strong, round corral; then three or four hundred wild horses were turned in to thresh it, the Indians whooping to make them run faster.

Suddenly they would dash in before the band at full speed, when the motion became reversed, with the effect of plowing up the trampled straw to the very bottom. In an hour the grain would be thoroughly threshed and the dry straw broken almost into chaff. In this manner I have seen 2,000 bushels of wheat threshed in a single hour. Next came the winnowing, which would often take another month. It could only be done when the wind was blowing, by throwing high into the air shovelfuls of grain, straw and chaff, the lighter materials being wafted to one side, while the grain, comparatively clean, would descend and form a heap by itself. In this manner all the grain in California was cleaned. At that day no such thing as a fanning mill had ever been brought to this coast.—Gen. Bidwell in Century.

Excessively Quiet.

A young woman married and went to live at the country residence of her husband. Her health was not good, and it was decided that she should spend a year in strict retirement. At the end of six months, however, she returned to town, declaring that so quiet a life was more than she could endure.

It appeared that during that time she had had thirty-seven different servants, one of whom was discharged for an attempt to set the house on fire and one for an attempt to rob the plate closet, while half a dozen more were sent away for violent quarrels in their part of the establishment.

Her mother-in-law had been thrown from a carriage at the foot of the lawn and injured fatally; her sister-in-law had come to make a visit and had improved the opportunity to run away with a man whom she had been forbidden to marry.

The time had further been broken in upon by visits from the six bridesmaids of the hostess, who invited them in pairs for two weeks each, and then asked a few men to meet them, lest it should be dull. A gale had blown down an oak so near the house that its branches dashed in the drawing room windows and the stables had been struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

"And such a quiet life," the young lady said, concluding her account, "was too much for me."—Youth's Companion.

The Reason She Was Glad.

A Virginia girl who went to Washington, D. C., recently for a visit tells a story of her old negro "mammy," Aunt Malindy, who accompanied her to town in the capacity of maid. It seems that they went through the Corcoran Art Gallery during their stay, and every step of the way the elderly and provincial colored woman grew more and more scandalized by what she saw. Not one word was said, but by eloquent grunts and sighs her disapproval was manifested, until they entered the hall of sculpture, where her feelings grew too deep for words.

When they faced the Venus of Medici's naked loveliness and viewed the statesque beauty of the Apollo Belvedere, Malindy took on an ashy hue. So thoughtfully was she polishing her silver rimmed spectacles as they left the building her mistress was moved to inquire whether she liked it all. "Yes, 'um," Aunt Malindy responded cheerfully; "liked it well 'nough, only I'se powerful glad dar ain't none er my color in dar."—Illustrated American.

His Duty.

When Chief Justice Chase chose to unbend himself he could be witty as well as wise. At a social gathering at his house when he was secretary of war, the subject of taxation having been mooted, a distinguished naval officer present said he had paid all his taxes except the income tax. "I have a little property," said he, "which brings me in a yearly rental, but the tax gatherers have not spotted it. I do not know whether I ought to let the thing go on that way or not. What would you do if you were in my place, Mr. Chase?" There was a merry twinkle in the eyes of Mr. Chase as he answered: "I think it is the duty of every man to live unspotted as long as he can."—San Francisco Argonant.

Unpleasantly Conspicuous.

One uptown little schoolgirl to another about a third: "I think she's an awful thing. She gets 'meritorious' or 'perfect,' or something every week. I ain't going to play with her after this."—Philadelphia Record.

One Quite Sufficient.

Cholly—Just to think! They have a hundred kinds of soup in France.

Defeated Candidate (drearily)—Ninety-nine too many. One's enough—when you're in it.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Liver Complaint.

Being subject to liver troubles, I have tried many medicines, but have never found an equal to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. It stimulates the stomach and liver, regulates the bowels, and has proved of such value that I would not be without it.—Mrs. Fred Sheldon, cor. Bridge and Division streets, W. Catskill, N. Y.

A curious phenomenon was recently observed on the sea at Folkestone, Eng. A ship laden with oil sunk in collision and the water was covered with oil. This produced a strange effect on the wild fowl, which are plentiful there. Wild ducks, teal and other birds were easily caught, as they seemed unable to fly on account of their feathers being saturated with oil.

A Florida paper says that alligator meat, properly smoked, resembles halibut so closely that it cannot be told from that fish.

South Carolina and Georgia farmers are said to be in better condition than they have been since the war.

Increasing the Speed of Railroad Trains.

There seems no serious difficulty, on the engineering side, in securing and maintaining a speed of 100 miles an hour, or probably more; but the capitalist is here intimidated. Higher speeds cost money for initial and operative expenses in vastly higher ratio than either increase of speed or the returns to be expected on capital so invested. Our fastest trains do not directly pay, even now, when the wear and tear of engines, cars, roadbed and bridges, to say nothing of flesh and blood, nerves and health, are considered. When the people want higher speeds, and need them so badly as to be able and willing to pay for them, the engineers will construct and the railroads will furnish trains of still higher velocity and still greater safety.—Professor R. H. Thurston in Forum.

A California Opera House.

General Vallejo's readiness of apt anecdote was always remarkable. Patti once dined with him, and asked the old soldier if he enjoyed the first opera he ever heard.

"Why, no," said Vallejo; "and yet I confess I shall never forget it."

This reply aroused Patti's curiosity, and she demanded when and where the event took place.

"In 1828, on the site of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco."

"Indeed! And who was the prima donna so long ago as that?"

"Well, I can't say," was the smiling answer; "but there were at least five hundred coyotes in the chorus."—Century.

Slighted.

It is hard for us, whether we are old or young, to see our best efforts pass unappreciated: and what older people feel, younger people say.

Little Mary, who is only four years old, had a new hat given to her, of which she felt very proud. On the follwing Sunday she wore it to church, but her pleasure in the event was greatly lessened by the fact that a certain lad, on whom her childish affections were just then set, appeared not to notice her splendid adornment.

Monday morning she saw him going by the house, driving a cow, and at once she clambered upon the fence.

"Oh, Ed," she called, "that was me to church yesterday, with a new hat on."

Half Man, Half Lion.

Old man Aristotle, who is even now regarded with great respect, was a whistler when it came to turning in interesting yarns about animals and men in foreign parts. He says there is a beast in India that has three rows of teeth in each jaw, is as big as a lion, but has ears and a face like a man's. Its eyes are gray and its body is red. It has a tail like a scorpion with a stinger in it. Its voice is like a pipe and a trumpet. It is not less swift of foot than a stag, and is wild and devours men.—John Ashton in Curious Creatures in Zoology.

According to the division of class of 1889, the first which has been raised under the new military law in France, the forces of the republic since the first of 1890 have been as follows: The active army and its reserves, 1,510,290; territorial army, 994,615; reserve of territorial army, 1,266,290; officers, 25,000; gendarmes, officers and troop, 27,000. This will give to the French republic, in case of war, 4,000,000 of men. Heretofore the relation of the effective army, according to the number of inhabitants in each nation, has been about 1 per cent in time of peace and 2 per cent in time of war. To-day the per cent. will be five times this at the moment of mobilization. At no period in her history has France had an assemblage of military forces to compare with this.

France is suffering from an overcrowding of the learned professions. The statement is made that 15,000 schoolmistresses, 700 primary schoolmasters and 500 high school instructors are looking in vain for employment. There are 27,000 French physicians, that is about 6000 or 7000 more than there are in Germany, with her 10,000,000 more inhabitants. Two thousand lawyers in Paris cannot make livings in their profession. Civil and mining engineers are so numerous that hundreds of them are seeking eagerly petty positions in mines and factories.

Whist was never more popular in Boston than it is to-day. The ladies have their morning whist parties, and the gentlemen hold their afternoon and evening parties with great regularity. In London they have recently lost Mr. Robert Wheble, the first whist player of the day. Since 1841 he has played whist every day, Sundays excepted, at the Reform Club.

An auxiliary to the Farmer's Alliance has been formed in Southwestern Kansas to prevent farmers from being evicted by loan companies. In two cases it has thus interfered and evicted families were restored to their homes. Persons who buy foreclosed property are bulldozed into abandoning their purchases.

The weather in Paris has been so severe that the flower market was suspended. One florist at Ivry lost a hundred thousand rose bushes, and the total loss to rose growers is estimated at several million of francs.

"You advertise that you are selling wine at original prices, and yet you are charging double what any one else is asking." "That is what there is original about it."

A number of wealthy New York ladies propose to establish a sort of club house which will receive women at all hours of the night and keep them as long as they behave with propriety.

An Italian at Pittsburg, Pa., sold his daughter for $120, and then the young woman fled with another and more desirable suitor.

Strange to say, the actor does not relish the idea that there is always somebody to take his part.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.
THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

Better off than He Knew.

A man who was eating a large, raw carrot stopped a woman on Duffield street and said:

"Madam, could you give me ten cents to buy food with?"

"Why, you seem to have plenty," she answered.

"Raw carrot—see?" he said as he extended it.

"Yes, but don't you know that raw carrot contains 93 per cent. of clear nutriment, against only 33 in mince pie or plum pudding. You ought to be thankful, sir—very thankful."—Detroit Free Press.

All our city fathers say "use Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain." It costs only 25 cts.

Since Mrs. Brown has taken to using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup she has saved an independent fortune in doctors' bills. You can do the same.

The cost to the State of printing and distributing one million of ballots at the election in November last was only $8953.39.

Prayer books cased in silver covers artistically wrought are carried at the wedding by the bride in place of the time-honored bouquet.

The watermelon crop in Southwestern Georgia will be larger than last year. In one locality in Thomas county 700 acres will be planted.

Horseshoes of compressed paper have been introduced in the German army. The shoe is made of sheets of parchment paper cemented together.

A bill has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature for the punishment of people who impose upon newspapers untrue statements that are libelous.

A census of the Province of Quebec, compared with the return of 1881, shows a great exodus of population from almost every county in the province.

The long mantles are mostly circular in form, but both they and the paletots depend for the effect on their elaborate trimming, which is a particular feature of this season's productions.

"Ever had your life insured, old fellow?" "No. Companies won't take me. Heart action too feeble. Nobody to insure for, anyhow." "Ain't you married?" "No. Heart action too feeble for that, too."

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.
Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, cloudy, or high-colored?
IT IS The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day! PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.
Don't Wait Your Kidneys are out of order? Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get to use at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is Dyspepsia!
A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE GREAT LONDON TRADE MARK.
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth, Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga.,

Public Library Woburn

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1891. NO. 9.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8 15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.03, 8.10, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, s6.45, s7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, s11.35, A. M., s12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, s3.45, s4.45, s5.35, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, s8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburnfor Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, s8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10 40, 11.20, A. M., s12 M., s1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, s4.10, 5.10, s6.00, 6.50, s7.10, 7.40, s8.10, s9.10, 9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.20, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at s8.15, 9.15, s10.00, s10.45, 11.45, A. M., s12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, s2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, s4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, s6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, s8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at s8.40, 9.40, s10.20, s11.10, A. M., 12.10, s1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, s3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, s5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, s7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, s9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 2.10, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. O. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 120 Main St., opp. Postoffice. Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stock kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,

—DEALER IN—

Drugs and Medicines,

And Druggist's Sundries,

WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE!

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

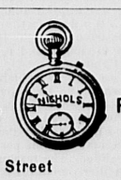
N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines

—AT—

417 Main St., Old Post Office.

D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,

Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M,

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

THE WILD WHITE BULL.

Along the great "staked plains" of northern Texas no cattle-owner was better known than Floyd Denzer. Although he had started with little or nothing his herds had so increased that they were numbered by the thousand head. So, when it was rumored that he would send a big "drive" to the little railway station for shipment, there was considerable excitement.

So occupied were we that we were the last to hear the latest news regarding the coming herd—that there had been a stampede, and that the cattle were scattered, nobody knew where.

But that was not all. In the stampede a white bull, which the owner of the herd intended to ship east to some exhibition, and which had been kept carefully shackled and guarded, had escaped.

Wild with joy at having its liberty, it had charged upon a herder and borne him and his horse to the ground, killing the latter; and, not content with that, had entered an emigrant camp and done much damage, severely injuring a little child.

Denzer, who had preceded the herd, and was in town, was furious.

"How could these herders be so careless?" he fumed. "They should have guarded against such breaks.

"But it was a new country around here for drives," remarked our assistant, or "rounder"—Paul Buxton. "This is the first big drove ever brought here, and the lay of the land isn't right for it."

"I brought 'em here because the regular shipping town on the trail is so crowded, and a fellow can't get his cattle off. And then I was in a hurry to get that big beauty of a bull shipped."

"Will the men get the cattle together?"

"Not for days, and some of 'em never. And I'm in a hurry too. I'd give $100 to have that white bull alive and sound here in town."

Paul said no more to Denzer, but came back to the ticket office, where I was at work.

"Can you let me off this afternoon?" he asked.

"Why?"

"I'm going after the white bull. Of course, it may not do any good," he went on, as he saw the look of surprise on my face, "but the money will help me, and its worth trying for."

I could not induce him to give up his plans, and so allowed him to take a half day's leave of absence.

Paul Buxton had stepped off a westbound train a year before, pale, slight and narrow-chested.

The pure Texas air, the outdoor exercise, the free and easy life, all had combined to make him robust and active.

His duties as a "rounder" had been to assist in "rounding up" and driving into the car-chutes such cattle as were shipped there; hence he was as familiar with the handling of the pony, lariat and cattle-whip as any other eighteen-year-old lad of my acquaintance.

I felt so much interest in his welfare that I concluded to accompany him on his search, there being no one else to do so.

After an early dinner we mounted our ponies, and set out on a swinging gallop toward the main stream of the Cimarron, in which direction the bull had gone.

"He's along the river somewhere," said Paul, eagerly, when we halted on a height to look for our prize.

"Let's go farther up-stream," was my suggestion.

And for half an hour our ponies' hoofs beat a muffled tattoo on the prairie.

Hark! exclaimed Paul. "Hear him bellow!"

There was a deep bass sound floating on the air—just where it came from I could not determine.

We rode to the river bank, and following the stream, which was here quite crooked, found that the banks rose to bluffs, and then to canyon sides, while the sound evidently was nearer, and its source just ahead.

Tying our ponies to a scrubby cotton wood tree, we crept carefully forward, and rounding a turn in the canyon, saw the object of our search.

I did not much blame Denzer for wanting to exhibit the animal. As he stood, knee-deep in the clear, smooth-flowing river, he looked like some fabulous creature dropped from the pages of a classic poem.

Perfectly white, with long-spreading horns curved in beauty-lines, sleek sides, clean-cut legs, and expanded nostrils, he made a handsome picture.

At intervals that roaring, bass sound was sent forth as if to call some army of which he thought himself the leader. His eyes were dilated to their fullest measure, and he seemed gazing intently at a sand-hill owl digging its nest or hole in the side of the bluff.

"You can't never catch him," I whispered to my companion. "Let me shoot."

"No, no," he urged, as I raised my rifle. "Give me a chance."

In a few words he outlined to me his plan for the animal's capture.

"There is a rock island at the other end of the canyon—I saw it from the bluff. I will go around the hill and station myself on the island. You scare the bull, and, as he comes by, I'll lasso him, and then we'll tie him up somewhere."

It seemed feasible and I nodded my head in acceptance of the proposition.

In a twinkling Paul was off, and I was left watching the white bull alone.

The animal stood for awhile in the water, lashing his sides occasionally with a tail, the silken hairs of which made a magnificent brush. As he waded out and began feeding on the bank I noticed that they swept the ground for twelve inches or more.

Whether his nostrils told him of my presence, or whether the unwonted excitement of the day had made him suspicious, for some reason the bull raised his head at short intervals, and took a look around with his wild, piercing eyes.

The same action was repeated with more intensity, when a sharp whistle that I knew to be Paul's signal pierced the air.

In answer I stepped out from my cover and in a moment occupied a position almost in the middle of the canyon, the river having its bed at one side, near the opposite bluff.

Imperiously the animal fixed his eyes upon me, and pawed the turf with one white-hoofed foot, like a startled sheep or deer.

I advanced toward him, not sure whether he would retreat or come at me.

Finally he did the former, though with many nervous turnings and angry dashes, and we had gone perhaps forty rods before I saw Paul.

The bull was well in advance of me, and saw his other foe at the same instant.

Paul was standing upon a jagged table-rock, about six by eight feet, lariation hand, and blouse and cowboy hat fluttering in the breeze.

The bull hesitated for a moment, not certain which was his safer course—to charge on me, who was on land, or to attempt to pass Paul, who was separated from him by water.

The latter was chosen, and, with another impatient stamp of his forefoot he pranced rather than trotted forward.

As he neared a point opposite Paul's station I saw the gleaming coils of the rawhide lariat swing in three quickening circles about the boy's head, and then the long loop sail away over the waters toward the bank.

The bull was there at the same time, and so well had the throw been calculated that the rope settled down directly over those spreading horns, and tightened with a snap that I heard distinctly, though many rods away.

Paul had prepared for the tightening of the lariat, and fastened the other end to a large stone.

He supposed the bull would, animal-like, stand still and tug at his bonds, never dreaming of loosening them by going forward.

It was an unsuccessful theory.

No sooner did the maddened creature realize that he was held by a rope from the rock island then he rushed into the stream and splashed vigorously toward it.

Paul was too much astonished by this action to decamp, and, indeed, as the water was very deep on the other side, there was little for him to do but hold his ground.

In a moment, and before I, who was yet some distance away, could realize what had taken place, the bull was upon the island and preparing to impale his adversary.

It was not a promising situation.

Paul had no weapons, and the furious eyes of the savage beast were not reassuring.

With a roar the bull bounded forward, his feet sliping a little upon the wet rock.

His uncertain footing gave Paul some advantage, and nerving himself for the ordeal he waited until the animal was almost upon him, when he seized, with all the force his muscles could exert, the shining, tapering horns, which were his antagonist's chief weapons of attack.

The bull pressed forward, and Paul, slipping, fell upon the rock, the two horns forming an arch over his body, as he held their points to the ground.

Bellowing with anger, the bull jerked back and Paul was on his feet.

Again a charge, and again the long-spreading horns struck the rock and kept the hard skull from injuring the lighter and more agile form.

Retreat the bull could not without tumbling into the water; to advance was equally out of the question on that slippery rock; but for the inequality of strength and endurance the youth was master of the situation.

I reached the opposite bank and raised my rifle to shoot, when I remembered that it would be a miracle if I succeeded in killing the bull instantly; and if he was wounded his wrath and strength would be doubled, and Paul would certainly be killed.

With a splash I was through the shallow stream, and stood beside the duelists, if so they might be called.

Like a flash, then, came to my mind an old trick that we boys used to practise with unruly cattle when it was necessary to brand them or saw off their horns.

Loosening the lariat from the stone to which it had been tied, I whirled it around the bull's hind legs, and drew upon the end.

His head, which was pinning poor Paul to the rock, was switched sideways, and, the feet being at the same time pulled from beneath him, the animal fell upon his side.

Paul leaped to his feet, and, still holding the horns, bore them to the surface of the rock, when we had our prize at our mercy.

We then wended our way homeward, arriving after nightfall.

Next morning we turned him over to Denzer.

He handed Paul two $50 bills, and offered him a position as manager of the bull on his way to the live-stock show, to take him there and see that he was placed properly on exhibition.

The offer was accepted, and after an absence of two months, during which Paul made many acquaintances among the stock dealers of the city, the young man was made the great rancher's eastern representative, selling all his cattle for him in the city markets.

The start thus obtained was improved, until, while not among the wealthiest or the most notable dealers of the lake city he became one of the most successful and prosperous, and he has often related how the whole current of his life was changed by his encounter with a wild Texas Bull.—Weekly.

Failures In Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause of failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc.; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigestion, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congestion, etc. Paine in the left side, shoulder and stomach is caused by heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miles' New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

An Episcopal clergyman of Chicago is reported to have been helped out of a bad break the other day by the quick wit of his wife. On the day in question he saw a lady about to call whom he was anxious not to meet. So he said to his wife: "Now I'm off, my dear. I'll run up stairs and escape till she goes away." After about an hour he quietly tiptoed to the stair landing and listened. All was quiet below. Reassured, he began to descend, and while doing so he thoughtlessly but emphatically called out over the baluster: "Well, my dear, has that old bore gone at last?" The next instant a voice from below caused the cold perspiration to bedew his ministerial brow and rooted him to the spot. There came a response which sounded inexpressibly sweet to him just then. It was the voice of his wife, who with womanly tact replied: "Yes, darling, she went away over an hour ago; but here is our good friend Mrs. Blank, whom I am sure you want to meet."

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. E Lovell's Drugstore.

Some of our Kentucky mountaineers are as polite as can be. A few days ago one of them made a mistake and shot the wrong man, and immediately on discovering his mistake he apologized to the dead man as to wit: "Beg pardon, sir. I thought you was another fellow."

Woman's Column.

Women's Political Superiors.

Like the poor, the political superiors of women are always with us. But they make themselves more conspicuous at some times than at others. Just now they are particularly visible in Nebraska, where three men are claiming the right to be governor, and the militia, with stacked arms, are waiting in the State House to prevent bloodshed. New York has seven senators contending (under the never-to-be-forgotten ceiling) as to which of them has the right to be senator, while the men in the Legislature of New Hampshire have been by the ears for some time past. In Connecticut, two sets of State officers are claiming to be elected, and there is a deadlock in the General Assembly. In Colorado, two candidates claim the speakership, and the followers of both have appealed to arms. An officer has just been shot dead in the Assembly chamber while trying to keep order, and the capitol is surrounded by a cordon of police. In several other State Legislatures, the members are making an exhibition of themselves. But nevertheless, women are still permitted to look up to them.

LUCY STONE.

London possesses one lady stock-broker, one lady landscape gardener, and two lady dentists.

In his inaugural, Gov. Tillman of South Carolina made a strong plea for an industrial and normal school for girls.

Mrs. Mary Hartwell Catherwood has accepted an editorial position on the Chicago Graphic, and will henceforth reside in that city.

The admission of women to the medical examinations at Oxford University, England, has been defeated by only four votes. This narrow majority is regarded by the progressive party as an assurance of speedy success in the future.

Miss Alice Longfellow, daughter of the poet, is a fine amateur photographer, and has made a speciality of storm pictures taken along the Massachusetts coast. They will be used to illustrate a new book of sea songs soon to be issued.

An organization of women in Middletown, N. Y., known as the Hospital Association, is trying to found a General Hospital. They aim to open the hospital free of debt, and as soon as possible to establish a training-school for nurses.

We ask for suffrage that we may stand side by side with our fathers, husbands, brothers and sons, working with them in purity and truth for a noble political life for the country's weal. Not for man's place do we ask, but for the fulness of woman's.—Mrs. Jean Brooks Greenleaf.

Mrs. Lorraine J. Pitkin, of Chicago, whose husband was Capt. Pitkin, of the volunteer service in the late war, has just been elected postmistress of the Illinois Senate. This is an endorsement of the good service which she rendered in the same capacity to the last General Assembly and during the special session last summer.

A party of fifty young Englishwomen will start at once for Western Australia, under the auspices of the British Women's Emigration Association. The colony is as large as France, the climate healthy, and the colonists prosperous; but there is such a lack of women that the Government has taken pity on the housekeepers who can get no help and the bachelors who can find no wives, and the passages of the women emigrants are to be paid.

Mrs. Drake, the wife of a Congregational minister in Iroquois, S. D., has been ordained to preach the gospel by the largest council of Congregational ministers ever assembled in the State. There was only one negative vote. Mrs. H. M. Barker writes: "Mrs. Drake has for six years assisted her husband, who has the oversight of five churches, preaching with as much ability and acceptance as he; and it is a credit to the intelligence of the large number of Congregational ministers, including the presidents of Redfield and Yankton Colleges, that they had the courage to sanction the work that the Lord has so greatly blessed. The world does move."

The baby has its preference as well as anybody, and the taste of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup renders it acceptable to every infant. Price 25 cts.

It is a mean thing to be suffering from catarrh, still many people go on torturing themselves, when they might find almost instant relief by using Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

Aleck Vonein of Napa City, Cal., who went abroad some months ago with plenty of money and letters of introduction to prominent merchants, was attacked in the streets of Genoa one night and robbed of all his money and valuables. Suddenly reduced to absolute penury, after futile endeavors to recover his property, he tramped to Nice, begging on the way. None would give him money, and but few listened to his appeals for food. When he arrived at Nice he was seized by the police and thrown into jail as a vagrant, and after serving out his sentence started for Marseills. There he called on the American Consul, who placed him aboard a steamer for New York as steerage passenger, and he arrived here on Friday. Collector Erhardt will send him home.

When the average man says frankly, "I can't afford it," you will usually find on investigation that it is something his wife wants instead of something that he wants himself.

Munroe's Clothing House.

CREAT MARK DOWN

—IN—

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.

FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

$5,000 in Prizes.

386 Prizes to be Given Away by the Canadian Agriculturist—A Splendid Prize List.

The third great Word Competition for the "Canadian Agriculturist and Home Magazine," Canada's great and popular Home and Farm Journal, will close on the 25th of February next. The following magnificent prizes will be given free to the persons sending in the greatest number of words made up out of the letters contained in the two words, "The Agriculturist:"

1st	Prize,	$1,000 in Gold
2nd	"	$500 in Gold
3rd	"	$1,000 Grand Piano
4th	"	$500 Piano
5th	"	$300 Organ
6th	"	Ticket to England and return.
7th	"	Lady's Gold Watch
8th	"	Gent's Gold Watch
9th	"	China Tea Set
10th	"	Hunting Case Silver Watch
11th	"	Boy's Silver Watch

25 prizes of $10 each. 50 prizes of $5 each. 100 prizes of $2 each. 200 prizes of $1 each.

Making a total of 386 prizes, the value of which will aggregate $5,000. This Grand Word-Making Competition is open to everybody, everywhere, subject to the following conditions: The words must be constructed from the two words, "The Agriculturist." The words must be written in ink on one side of the paper only, and numbered in rotation, 1, 2, 3 and so on to the end of the list, for facilitating in deciding the winners. The list containing the largest number of words will be awarded first prize, and so on in the order of merit. Each list as it is received at the office of the "Canadian Agriculturist" will be numbered, and if two or more tie on the largest list, the first received will be awarded the first prize, the next second and so on. Therefore the benefit of sending in early will readily be seen. Each list must be accompanied by $1 for six month's subscription to the "Canadian Agriculturist." One person can send in one or more lists, accompanying each list with $1, for which the paper will be sent to any address for six months. The best family paper in Canada. It is eminently THE paper for the home circle, and at $2 a year is the cheapest and best paper in the market. Remember, you are paying $1 for six month's subscription to one of the best home papers in Canada, and at the same time run a good chance of winning a valuable prize.

The following gentlemen have consented to act as judges, and their decisions will be final: COMMODORE CALCUTT, Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers, Peterborough; A. V. R. Young, United States Consul, Peterborough; D. O. Frye, General Manager Ontario Telephone Company.

The object of the publisher of the "Canadian Agriculturist" in giving away these amounts in cash, is to extend the circulation of the paper, and a number of agents are required in every locality, to whom liberal pay will be offered. Send three cent stamp for full particulars as to clubbing rates, etc. Address, THE CANADIAN AGRICULTURIST, Peterborough, Ont.

See What

The well known manager of excursions to Washington, California, and the White Mountains, I. A. Whitcomb, says: I have never had anything do me so much good as your Sulphur Bitters. It is the best spring medicine I ever used. I would advise all who suffer from biliousness and dyspepsia to use Sulphur Bitters, for I know they cured me.

The Atlanta Contitution thinks Ellaville, Schley county, deserves to rank as the model town of Georgia. It says: "There is not a young man in Ellaville who gets drunk. There is not a young lady in the place who dips snuff or indulges in other bad habits. There is not a family in the place who lives by buying on credit and beating the merchant out of his bill. There is not a bar-room in the place; not a pool or billiard room; not a gambling house; not disreputable house of any kind; not a leafer; not a gambler; not a professional thief; not a bully; not a beggar."

A Bird Sixteen feet High.

In the museum of Christ Church, New Zealand, there is on exhibition the remarkable skeleton of a bird known as the moa, which was indigenous to that country, but is believed to have been extinct for 2000 years. Even the traditions of the natives fail to give us any account of this gigantic bird while it lived, though their own tribal existence is traced back for hundreds of years. The head of the skeleton stands sixteen feet high from the ground, and its various proportions are such as to harmonize with the extraordinary height. This bird must have been six feet taller when standing erect than the average camelopard. Its bones are still found in various parts of the country, and especially in caves where they have been protected from the distintegrating forces of the weather.

The moa skeleton at Christ Church forms the greatest ornithological wonder in the world. What Niagara is to ordinary waterfalls, the moa was to the bird tribe. It belonged to the Totans who dwelt upon the earth perhaps in the days of the mastodon and the dodo. The extravagances of Baron Munchausen and Jules Verne can hardly exceed the fact of the moa's existence. It was a long time before incredulous naturalists could be induced to admit of the existence of such a bird upon the earth at any period, but the writer has seen and measured this skeleton in the museum of the thriving New Zealand city referred to, while scientists have lately made voyages from Europe solely to examine and report upon this marvelous object, which so vividly recalls prehistoric times.—Courier-Journal.

Personal Liberty vs. Physical

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 13, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

JUDGE JOHNSON.

The appointment of Hon. Edward F. Johnson to the Bench of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex meets with the warm and general approval not only of the citizens of Woburn but also that of the other towns which comprise the District. A more popular act could hardly have been done by Governor Russell, for Mr. Johnson is well and favorably known by the people who will practice in his Court, and is generally regarded as most excellent gentleman to make a firstclass Judge of.

In the words of the statute qualification for candidates for the Bench, Mr. Johnson is a man "of sobriety of manners and learned in the law," which characteristics are accompanied with sound practical sense, impartial judgment, and a disposition to treat everyone well.

Governor Russell's act will command the hearty sanction of the leading Republicans of the Fourth District, and will greatly strengthen him with that portion of the Democratic party whose approval, from their standing and influence, is worth having.

We sincerely congratulate Mr. Johnson on his promotion to the Bench. That he will make a Judge that the District will be proud of admits of no doubt.

BIENNIAL ELECTIONS.

Last Monday Mr. Fernald of Middlesex county, member of the Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendments, reported to the Senate a resolve and article of amendment in favor of biennial elections in this State. Thus at last the ice is broken and a movement made in the right direction.

The measure will doubtless meet with more opposition in the House than it will be likely to in the Senate for of late years that branch of the Legislature which has had the reputation of being the slowest and most conservative has taken the lead in law-making reforms and gone ahead of the House in carrying out the wishes of the people. Somehow the House is more susceptible to the deleterious influences of their Boston surroundings than the Senate, and so it has come to pass that it is safer to appeal to the latter branch for remedies for public evils than to the former.

But in this matter of biennial elections a good beginning has been made, and it is earnestly to be hoped that the resolutions for a constitutional amendment will go through without a halt.

THE POLL TAX AMENDMENT.

The Committee on Constitutional Amendments early this week reported a resolve in favor of submitting to the people an amendment of our State constitution to abolish the payment of a poll tax as a condition to the exercise of the right to vote. Whatever may be thought of the question, the voters of the Commonwealth ought to be allowed the privilege of expressing their opinion on it at the ballot-box, and therefore the resolve should be given a free and speedy passage through bothbranches.

☞ One of the happiest speeches that has for a long time been made in the House of Representatives was that of Congressman Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts on January 13. It seems that George Cabot, President of the famous (or *in*famous, as most men in modern days persist in regarding it) "Hartford Convention," was the great grandfather of Congressman Lodge, and his speech was a reply to insinuations of some Southern Democratic fire-eaters respecting that convention and the connection of one of Mr. Lodge's ancestors with it. It was not only a neat speech but it cut like a two-edged sword.

☞ The Milford Journal virtually "stands corrected" on the Postmaster Reade matter. We would not insinuate that our Esteemed Contemporary has crawfished but he would probably confess if enquired of that the light shed abroad in his mind from the columns of the WOBURN JOURNAL concerning Mr. Reade, the Woburn postoffice, and the Republicans of this city, operated somewhat in the nature of an eye-opener, hence his change of base on the question and the awakening of a desire on his part to do Mr. Reade justice.

☞ The Supreme Judicial Court of this Commonwealth are inclined to put on style. We saw it stated somewhere a few days ago that they had issued an order making it obligatory on the executive officers in attendance to wear a Court uniform—at least the order said, Deputy Sheriffs in attendance must sport them. A very good idea.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Caswell—Stetson.
O. U. A. M.—Fair.
S. Whitney—Old Chairs.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
W. S. McGregor—Florist.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Baking Powder.

— Read "Old Chairs" in this paper.

— The Firemen's annual ball yielded about $150 net.

— There is to be a mission at St. Charles (R. C.) church, to begin next Sunday.

— Mr. Thomas H. Hill of Alabama is, or has recently been, here visiting his family.

— Real estate dealer Gregory has something worth reading in the JOURNAL this week.

— The next meeting of the Friday Night Club will be held on Feb. 20. It will be a "Social."

— The pews having arrived for the new M. E. Church the dedication will take place February 23.

— Mrs. Packard makes a rich display of millinery goods in her windows and glass cases at 419 Main street.

— A large leather factory is about to be built on Eastern Avenue by Mr. Theodore Boutelle, the manufacturer.

— Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gregory will please accept the hearty congratulations of the JOURNAL. Wednesday: bouncing boy.

— It was about as sloppy and disagreeable getting around last Tuesday after the storm cleared off as it well could be.

— Day before yesterday was Ash Wednesday, the begining of Lent, which comes one week earlier this year than last.

— Mr. Elmore A. Pierce, City Editor of the City Press, has been under the weather this week, but is better now.

— The pupils of the Cummings school, thanks to the kindness of their teachers, had a splendid sleighride last Tuesday evening.

— To-morrow is St. Valentine's Day. Also Cupid's day which he devotes to hearts and darts and things. Prior has Valentines by the acre.

— Mrs. Mary Shaw and her son, J. Warner Shaw, left here last Friday for a six weeks tour in the South and California with the Pennsylvania Railroad Excursion.

— S. B. Goddard, insurance, has moved his Boston office, which he occupies every forenoon, from 30 Congress to 93 Water street. Woburn patrons will please take notice.

— Mrs. Frances Heckbert, an estimable lady, the wife of Mr. John Heckbert, died in this city last Sunday of typhoid fever. Her loss will be deeply felt by many relatives and friends.

— A sunlight assembly will be given in Armory Hall, Stoneham, on the afternoon of Feb. 23, under an able and liberal management. The best of music will be furnished. Dancing from 2 to 6, P. M.

— At Brown's Observatory near the railroad crossing on Church Avenue, a well regulated and entirely reliable thermometer showed the state of the temperature to be at 6 A. M., just 20 degrees above zero.

— Mr. Amos Cummings has a change in his business announcement this week. He is beginning to test the public pulse on home business, and the JOURNAL's idea is that he intends to "boom" things this spring.

— Hon. Edward D. Hayden and Edward F. Johnson are the only two Woburn gentlemen who belong to the Republican Club of Massachusetts. The latter is Vice President for the Fifth Congressional District.

— Mr. Levi W. Cooper has filed a claim against the city for just the amount he paid out for medical services and supplies on account of breaking his arm by a fall on a slippery sidewalk. His demand is a modest one.

— The Universalist services at Concert Hall at 2.30 P. M. next Sunday will be conducted by Rev. W. A. Start. If the day is pleasant he hopes to meet all Universalists in the city who are interested in this new society.

— Prof. Churchill of Andover is probably to read in Woburn early in March. People must watch for the date of his coming and secure their tickets early as the number will necessarily be limited. "A Word to the Wise is Sufficient."

— The following programme of music has been arranged by Organist Clarke for next Sunday morning, Feb. 15, at the Congregational Church:

Organ Prelude. "Allegretto in C." Neils W. Gade
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite in B flat."
Choir Anthem. "This is the day." Rev. J. Sewell
Organ Postlude. "Postludium in F." Gade

— The assembly given at Lyceum Hall, Woburn, under the auspices of Shawsheen Tribe 49, I. O. R. Men, proved a success financially and socially. Among the familiar faces noticed were those of Asst.-Station Agent Hayes and lady of this town.—Winchester Star.

— Mr. W. S. McGregor of the Dow greenhouses is one of the best and most successful florists in this city. He raises splendid flowers of all kinds and in getting up decorations, memorial pieces, etc., there is no one that surpasses him. Read his card in this paper.

— The Lounge has been in all ages and for all nations the piece of furniture which represents REST. An interesting collection of Lounges of all styles and all nations can be seen at Paine's Furniture Warerooms, 48 Canal street, Boston. You can purchase one there for very little money.

— The police undertook to raid a certain club in this city last Saturday night where it was suspected that gambling was going on in high feather. The officers were unable to gain admittance so securely had the inmates of the rooms fortified them and an unsuccessful raid had to be reported.

— S. C. Small & Co., furniture makers of Winchester and Boston, are making the pulpit furniture for the new M. E. Church in this city and also fitting up the Mechanics Hall in the old church for a Lodge room. The furniture will cost in the vicinity of $1,000 and will include one of the handsomest outfits ever made by this house.

— Their advertisement in another column sets forth the time, nature, duration and other particulars of the Grand Fair to be held by the O. U. A. M. commencing on next Tuesday, to last 4 days, and end on Saturday evening, Feb. 21. Preparations are all completed for having the biggest thing of the kind ever held in Woburn. Read the notice.

— The ball given by True Blue Lodge, No. 119, L. O. L., in Music Hall, last Friday evening, was a fine affair. Gowin's celebrated Orchestra furnished music which was prime: William G. Graham had charge of the floor, J. H. Newman was Assistant, and J. R. Graham, John Given, R. H. Perry, George Stanley were Aids, and James Graham, Henry Barrett, George Erwin and William Hammond Reception Committee.

— Mr. Call, whose home is at No. Woburn, has set up a job printing office in Mechanic Building and is ready for business. He is a thorough book and job printer and will no doubt make a success of it. For six years past he has been with the New England Organ Company and will continue to do their printing here, and also that of the New England News Company.

— Thomas, the Singer sewing machine agent here is, we think, a young man who can be trusted. He is a member of the Cambridge Y. M. C. A., of which our esteemed townsman Mr. Whitford is General Secretary, and if he succeeds in establishing a business in this city he will join the Woburn Y. M. C. A. Nothing could tell more favorably for him than that.

— Last Friday night Quealy Court, No. 32, Mass. Cath. O. of F., held their 10th anniversary celebration, which was attended by a very large party of ladies and gentlemen. Addresses were made by Chief Ranger James Dolan, Trustee Lawrence Reade and John C. Meehan. Supper was served, after which there was dancing and singing. Calnan's orchestra supplied the instrumental music.

— Thomas P. Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Hill who died on Monday at the age of 18 and was buried on Wednesday, was a very bright and intelligent lad, a fine scholar, an affectionate son, and one well liked by his school and every-day associates. When taken ill he was, we believe, a student at the Boston College. His father was summoned from Tennessee where he is engaged in business, and where he will take his family on returning next week. This community deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Hill in their sad bereavement.

— Miss Emma Fosdick, the popular teacher of the guitar and banjo, will give a concert on the evening of March 19 in this city, the particulars of which to be given in due season. Besides a chorus of 20 banjos and guitars, duetts, solos and quartets on the same instruments, composed of Miss Fosdick's pupils, such other musical and literary talent has been engaged as will make the entertainment one of the best and most enjoyable ever given in this city. A reader has been secured from Colby University, Waterville, Maine; a popular soprano singer from Medford; a well known Boston violinist; and other firstclass talent. In the course of 2 or 3 weeks a regular announcement of the concert will be made.

— Tanners and Curriers Assemblies 2956 and 325, Knights of Labor gave their 6th annual ball in Lyceum Hall on last Friday evening. It was a very gay and vestive affair and one of the largest ever given by the Knights of Woburn. The music was very fine, jewels and rich dresses were numerous, and gaiety ruled supreme. About 175 couples were in the grand march, which was led by Floor Director Dennis J. Sullivan, who was accompanied by Miss Mary Ellen Greany, who was dressed in white. Charles J. Billinsly was first, and Dennis D. Begley, second assistant. Among the city officials present were Mayor Bean, Alderman Walsh, Park Commissioner Joseph F. DeLoriea, Clerk Lounsbury, Auditor Preston and City Solicitor Curran.

— It is not generally known, but true nevertheless, that the North Woburn Street Railroad, after coming into its present hands, paid from 3 to 6 per cent annual dividends up to the time of its extension to Medford, when it ceased to pay. If the road ran only from North Woburn to Winchester, 4 1-2 miles, it would be yielding on a 5-cent fare a handsome per cent to the stockholders to-day—not less than 6 per cent per annum free and clear from all incumberances—and within a year or two, even with the Medford load of dead wood to carry, it will develop into a good dividend paying route. We have these facts from a stockholder whose word is unimpeachable. If the North Woburn Street Railway can pay a 6 per cent annual dividend on a 5-cent fare, the distance run being 4 1-2 miles, the motive power being horseflesh, why could not the Boston & Maine corporation, or an elevated road company, just coin money on a 10-cent fare between Woburn and Boston? They could.

— It would be hard to find two happier men than Supt. J. E. Sewell of the No. Woburn St. R. Co., and Mr. Rufus Poole (both of No. Woburn) were last Saturday evening when they drove up in front of Tabor's fish market and proudly displayed their afternoon's catch of pickerel in Horn Pond. It was very evident that this pair of estimable gentlemen were very vain of their piscatorial abilities and unprecedented good fortune. Not so much of the good fortune perhaps as for the other thing for they claimed that instead of that it was pure science and dexterity in handling the bait to which their handsome catch was due. They were more particularly elated because a week or two before there had been uncomplimentary whisperings in the community at N. W. about the luck of certain respectable people who went on a fishing excursion to New Hampshire not long ago. But they certainly had great luck Saturday, and had reason to feel elated. Their string consisted of 13 of as handsome specimens of "the finny tribe" as ever swam. One bouncing pickerel weighed 5 1 2 pounds plus and no picture was ever prettier to gaze upon. Others were nearly as large and quite as captivating to the eye of your true-born fisherman. Messrs. Sewell and Poole indulged in no "fish stories." They were happy but modest. Hardly anyone doubted that they caught the fish although several parties were fishing for revenue on the pond at the same time — The famous Western Massachusetts weather prophet predicted that the heaviest snow storm of the season in Eastern Massachusetts and along the northern Atlantic coast would take place between Feb. 5 and 8, 1891, which prophecy was published in the JOURNAL last fall. Now as to the verification of it: on last Saturday evening, Feb. 7, a snow storm set in which bore all the car-marks of becoming one of the old-fashioned kind—another just such a storm as all of us have heard our grandparents talk (and some graceless people say, lie) and brag about, and the result came pretty well up to the manifesto, for the storm was a good one—that is to say, it was a good one for a storm—lasting all Saturday night and through Sunday. The output of "beautiful" on a level was about 8 inches—light, feathery and, for sleighing, unsatisfactory stuff, but enough to make pedestrianism unpleasant and to give people, non-religiously inclined, an excuse for staying away from church. Supt. Sewell of the North Woburn St. R. Co., and his men, also Supt. Wentworth of the East Middlesex Co. and all the employees he could muster, worked their snow-plows nearly all of Saturday night and until late Sunday and thus managed, by tough pulling, to keep the tracks free from snow and the machinery on the move from first to last. Street Supt. Jones had men ploughing out the sidewalks as early as 7 o'clock on Sunday morning and the streets were kept in the best of order all day. It was pretty big fall of snow, but there was little or no wind to pile it into drifts, the weather was very mild, and things were not so disagreeable as they might have been.

— William Winn, Esq., one of the oldest men in Woburn and one of the most highly esteemed, brought to the JOURNAL office last week an account-book which belonged to and contained the charges of Jonathan Bowers against the customers of his tavern in Billerica from 1797 to 1819, which is something of a curiosity. The old book, which was given to Mr. Winn by his father many years ago, is in excellent condition, the leather covers showing but few signs of extreme age; the leaves, which are of thick, rough paper, are firm, strong, and unruled, except longitudinally in red to mark the places for the dollars and fractions thereof. It is a good, substantial piece of book-making mechanically and every page attests to the good care that has been taken of it by Mr. William Winn and its owners before him. A very large share of the charges made by landlord Bowers in this ancient ledger are "flip" and "tode" bought by the traveling public, the townsfolk, and especially by the "selectmen of Billerica," who, it seems, had a strong propensity for this tipple all through his tavern-keeping days. It is nearly all charged in "mugs" and "half mugs" whether it be "flip" or "tode", and the price was 10 cents a "mug" for the former, and 25 cents a "mug" for the latter. There occurs now and then on the pages of charges one for "punch" or for "rum", and here and there is an item for pork, corn, "entertainment for man and beast" etc. to be found. But it is perfectly surprising to see how numerous the charges for intoxicating drinks are, and especially to note the strength of the "Selectmen of Billerica's" appetite for "tode." Mr. Winn says he was, when a lad, many times a guest of Mr. Bowers's tavern with his father, and that it was a famous place with the traveling public at the time of his birth in 1808. The old book is worth taking pains to examine.

The Spot for A Hospital.

There has been considerable talk of late respecting the founding of a hospital in this city and no small degree of interest has been engendered by the discussion. The weight of opinion appears to be largely in favor of the plan and also for action on it at an early day.

In view of the strong probability of opening a hospital here in the near future, perhaps the JOURNAL will be pardoned for suggesting a site for it in advance of others. Looking the matter all over, and after consulting with some prominent gentlemen of the city, the JOURNAL has settled, by a large majority, in favor of the homestead of Mrs. Susan T. Converse on Sherman Place, on the eastern outskirt of Woburn Centre. The place contains about 12 acres—none too much—and can be bought, so report says, at a fair price. The buildings might easily be remodelled for hospital purposes and make good ones.

The location is one of the most elevated and beautiful, and commands the widest and most varied views, of any spot in the city. Reading, Stoneham, No. Woburn are seen from the windows of Mrs. Converse's residence, and the finest glimpses of the Centre are gathered from the grounds around the buildings.

A street might be extended from the present terminus of the one running from Montvale Ave. nearly to the home of Mrs. Converse, to Salem St., near Mr. O. F. Bryant's, thus giving patients for the hospital the benefit of the street cars in going to it.

In every respect the site is an admirable one for hospital purposes. We shall have more to say about it by and bye.

Concert.

A very delightful concert was given Wednesday evening, Feb. 11, at the Congregational Church, Waverly, Mass., under the management of the Schumann Quartette of Woburn assisted by the following artists also of Woburn: Prof. Orville T. Curtis, Reader; Mr. John E. Brauer, Clarionetist; Miss Nellie Platts, Piano Accompanist; and Prof. Heffermann of Boston, Guitar Accompanist. The audience was composed of some of the best citizens of Belmont, Watertown and Waverly, filling the auditorium to overflowing. The appreciative people showed a wise discrimination in their applause, some of the choicest selections being encored. Among the encores were, Quartette, "A Donkey Cart" by Buck; Clarinet solo, "Comin' Thro' the Rye," by Thornton; and Recitation, "From the Sublime to the Ridiculous."

The Schumann Quartette as an organization is but in its infancy, yet its prospects are bright, and we believe that in the near future it will prove to be a source of honor to our city, and of delight to the public in general.—C.

A Change.

We are compelled to make a change in our course of entertainments. The disappointment is owing to our pews not coming. The lecture by Chaplain George A. Crawford of Boston will be given on Friday, Feb. 20, 1891. Subject: "China."

The musical entertainment given by Mr. F. H. Lewis on Feb. 26, 1890.

HUGH MONTGOMERY.

The fame of Brussels soap does not consist of mere suds. It's economical.

HON. EDWARD F. JOHNSON

Promoted to the Bench.

He Was Strongly Endorsed.

Last Wednesday Governor Russell appointed Hon. Edward F. Johnson of this city Judge of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex as the successor of Judge P. L. Converse, who had held the position during the existence of the Court, which was first opened on July 3, 1882. Under the circumstances the resignation in favor of Mr. Johnson of Judge Converse was a very graceful act, for which the District has cause to extend to him hearty thanks. Judge Converse has always wanted Mr. Johnson for his successor in consideration of which the present arrangement was brought about. Its particulars need not be stated.

JUDGE EDWARD F. JOHNSON.

In the appointment of Mr. Johnson Governor Russell did the very best thing possible. It meets the cordial approbation of the people of the Fourth District, and in an especial manner are the Republicans, although it was the work of the Democrats, highly pleased.

There was no opposition to the appointment from any source—Republicans and Democrats alike giving it their hearty approval.

The business was easily and quickly done, and in this wisdom was displayed. The whole Democratic party in the District, and all the Democratic organizations, the leading Democrats, all united in support of the appointment of Mr. Johnson, and the thing went through with a rush.

The JOURNAL need not state its personal gratification over the appointment of Mr. Johnson to a seat on the Bench. That the choice is the very best that could possibly have been made no one doubts. We can congratulate Woburn's first Mayor on his good fortune, and equally are the people of the Fourth District to be congratulated on Gov. Russell's admirable choice of a successor to Judge Converse.

STRONG INDORSEMENT.

Hon. Edward F. Johnson, ex-Mayor of Woburn, was nominated by Gov. Russell last Wednesday for Judge of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex, vice Judge Converse, resigned, was born in Woburn, Oct. 22, 1856. He is descended from the famous Capt. Edward Johnson, who was chairman of the first Board of Selectmen of Woburn. With the exception of Capt. Edward and his son, all of Judge Johnson's ancestors were born, lived and died in Woburn. Mr. Johnson attended the public schools of Woburn, graduating from the High school in 1874. He was graduated from Harvard in 1878, and spent nearly a year travelling in Europe. Entering Harvard Law School in 1879, he was graduated in 1882, having been admitted to the Suffolk bar a year previously. In 1882 he was appointed Clerk of the Fourth District Court, which position he held six years. In 1887 he was elected Town Treasurer and was re-elected to the same position in 1888.

Woburn held its first Municipal election under a city form of government in December, 1888, and Mr. Johnson was elected its first Mayor by a majority of 597 over the regular Democratic candidate. This is remarkable because of the fact that Woburn is, and has been for years, Democratic. Mr. Johnson received the nomination of both parties for Mayor in 1889, and was elected practically without any opposition. The Democratic indorsements secured by Mr. Johnson for the judgeship were the strongest that could possibly be presented to the Governor. On his petition were 18 members of the Democratic City Committee, all the members of the Democratic Town Committees of Winchester and Stoneham, which towns are within the jurisdiction of this court; seven Democratic ex-members of the Legislature from Woburn, the present members, and the Democratic Aldermen of 1889, 1890 and 1891. In addition to the above he received the indorsement of Samuel W. Mendum, President of the Woburn Tariff Reform Club and Secretary of the Question Club of Massachusetts, and the Democratic City Solicitor, City Physician, Clerk of the Assessors, Tax Collector and City Clerk.

On his petition, also, were the Democratic nominees for Mayor in 1889 and 1890. As a fitting testimonial to his great popularity among the laboring men, came the indorsement of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Leather Workers' National Trades Assembly, No. 240, and the Master-workman of the Tanners' and Curriers' Assembly, K. of L., of Woburn. Judge Johnson is essentially a man of the people. His careful administration of the city's affairs for two successive years won for him the esteem of all classes. Gov. Russell's selection will be thoroughly satisfactory to the people of the entire district.

PARKER L. CONVERSE

Who has resigned the judgeship of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex, which was established and opened on July 3, 1882, was born in Woburn, February 14, 1822. He is a direct descendent of Edward Ichabod Parker, one of the seven first settlers of the town, and grandson of Ichabod Parker, first postmaster of the town.

After leaving the public schools he took a full four years' course at Warren Academy, Woburn, then a noted institution of learning, after which he entered the law office of Nelson & Converse as a student, this in 1852, and served the usual course of three years. September 21, 1854, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace, a position he holds at the present time, having received six appointments.

He was first commissioned as a Trial Justice May 7, 1858, receiving nine such, and May 31, 1882, was commissioned Justice of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex when that Court was established.

Twice he has been commissioned Trial Justice of juvenile offenders previous to holding his present position.

His Trial Justice Court was always held, from 1858 to 1882, in his office in Wade's block.

After the decease of Judge Albert H. Nelson the office was conducted by his partner, Joshua P. Converse, and at his decease by Parker L. Converse, and he until his appointment as Justice of the new Court.

During all the period he was Trial Justice and Justice of the Court, a period of thirty-three years, he has never been absent or one minute late at the times of opening the Court.

During this period there had been before him, to date, eleven thousand nine hundred and fifty-seven criminal cases.

Judge Converse has had an extensive practice as a conveyancer and in the Probate Court.

He has held a great number of trusts, and was one of the Executors and Trustees of the will of Charles B. Winn, under whose direction the Public Library building was erected.

He has been an extensive traveller, having been on business or pleasure through twenty-two States and Territories, including California, twice, Oregon, Washington Territory, and in the hunting grounds of the West; was acquainted and travelled with Ben Halliday, the celebrated hunter, Indian fighter and originator and contractor of the far famed money express across the plains before the building of the Pacific Railroad.

Within the past 23 years he has been 20,000 miles on the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and has recently made a six months tour, with his wife, through Europe.

He never gave his note to anyone; nor ever ran an account, but always paid cash down.

He has always been a steady, consistant Democrat of the olden school, and just before the war, was one of only 14 who cast the Democratic vote in Woburn. He has been Chairman of the Board of Selectmen; served several terms as one of the School Committee; now is and for many years past has been one of the Cemetery Commissioners; was one of the 11, in 1854, and is the only surviving one, of the incorporators of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank, and is now one of its Trustees and Investing Committee.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a regular meeting at Municipal Building on Thursday evening, Feb. 5, at which all the members put in an appearance.

Elijah Rollins et als. petitioned for electric light at Pearl and West streets; George A. Pearsons et als. for same on Cleveland; others for same on New Boston and Beach street. Referred.——Applications for State aid referred.——Fred E. Perkins et al. of Ward 6 petitioned for regular police officer there. Referred to Committee of the whole for immediate action.——Petition of Jacob M. Ellis to water the streets referred to Highways.——L. W. Armstrong's application for pool and billiard license referred to Police Committee.——Daniel W. Kelley for druggists license referred to Committee of the whole and ordered advertised. Petition of W. P. Adams et als. for change from incandescent to arc light referred.——Bridget F. McCarthy put in a claim for pay for injuries received by a fall on the highway. Referred.——John Ferguson was elected Assessor for 3 years; Jacob M. Ellis was elected Overseer of the Poor; Edward E. Thompson was elected Sinking Fund Commissioner.——A motion to lay on the table a motion to proceed to vote for City Solicitor was carried the ballot standing: Yes, Dearborn, Fowle, Finn, Walsh; No, Davis, Ham, Pushee.——Rev. Matthew F. McDonnell was chosen a Trustee of the Public Library for 3 years. Dr. John M. Harlow was chosen Cemetery Commissioner for 5 years. Edward B. Parkhurst was chosen Water Commissioner for 3 years.——Concurred with the Common Council on the reference about Central Square school house and Armory; Mayor empowered to appoint said committees and to be a member of each.——The Joint Standing committee on Fire Department reported back the matter referred to them relating to the use of the fire alarm poles by the Postal Telegraph Company, as it should have been referred to the committee of the whole. On motion of Alderman Davis it was voted that a hearing be granted for Saturday evening next, at 8 o'clock, and that the City Clerk be instructed to notify all the parties controling poles.——Report of committees: State aid—Patrick McCarthy leave to withdraw.——Street lights—Ordering lights as follows: Corner of Dartmouth and Chester Avenues, Chester and Dexter Avenues, as petitioned for by E. H. Perley and others. Alderman Davis moved that the report be laid upon the table, pending reference to the committee on appropriations.——The report was accepted, and the order adopted by a vote of 4 to 3.——The Committee on Salaries reported $200 for Clerk of the Council, and $400 Clerk of Committee.——The City Treasurer was authorized to hire a sum not exceeding $120,000 in anticipation of taxes.——The annual report of the City Auditor was received and ordered printed.——The Chief of Police reported 18 arrests and 207 lodgers.——W. C. Foster petitioned for a street light on Vernon street; referred. Adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Board held their semi-monthly meeting on last Friday evening. Members all present.

The order of the Aldermen for 6 electric lights in Ward 6 came up. A ballot was taken on the motion to lay on the table, and resulted as follows: Yeas, Bowers, Hanson, Larkin, Littlefield, Simonds, 5; Nays, Cutler, Kendall, McAvoy, O'Donnell, Weater, 5. The Chair, Waldron, voted no, and then announced that the motion to lay on the table was defeated. The order was then passed by a vote of 6 to 5.——An order on the salary of Clerk of Council and Committees came up. Littlefield of Ward 3 moved to lay on table, which was lost.——Councilman Cutler for the Joint Standing Committee on Salaries reported in favor of increasing the salaries of Police to $900. Littlefield moved to lay on table. Lost.——The following named were elected in concurrence with the Aldermen: Edward B. Parkhurst, Water Commissioner for 3 years, unanimously. Jacob M. Ellis was chosen Overseer of the Poor for 3 years, the vote being, Hugh D. Murray, 1; Lawrence Reade, 3, and Mr. Ellis, 8. Edward E. Thompson was chosen Sinking Fund Commissioner for 3 years, receiving all but one vote. The vote for Cemetery Commissioner for five years resulted in all the votes being cast for Dr. John M. Harlow. John Ferguson was chosen Assessor for 3 years. Rev. Matthew F. McDonnell was chosen Trustee of the Public Library for 3 years.——O'Donnell of Ward 1 offered an order providing that the meetings of the Council be held on the 2nd and 4th Thursday of each month. Carried 6 to 5.——An order was passed directing that the public flags be hoisted on Feb. 22.——The following was read: That section 1, chapter 16, of the City Ordinances be rescinded, and the following substitute be adopted in its place: Section 1. The Fire Department shall consist of a Chief, who shall receive $350 for his services; one Assistant, who shall also act as Clerk, at $200; all other members of the Fire Department may be nominated by the Chief Engineer and shall be appointed by the Mayor and Aldermen; that vacancies may be filled at any time by the Mayor and Aldermen, who may at any time remove any or all of said officers or members. No person shall be nominated, elected or appointed a member of the Fire Department who does not sustain a good moral character and who is not a citizen of Woburn, and who does not both reside or do business within a reasonable distance of the fire apparatus to which he is attached, except as herein provided. The members of the fire department shall receive such compensation as the City Council may from time to time determine.

Pine Tree Club.

Sons and Daughters of Maine are wide awake for the annual dinner of the P. T. C. A preliminary and well attended meeting was held in Y. M. C. A hall last Saturday evening to take the proper steps for celebrating the return of the anniversary of the Club's organization. Mr. Charles W. Dorr called it to order with appropriate remarks. On proceeding to officer the meeting William N. Titus, Esq., was chosen to take the Chair, and J. Howard Nason was elected Secretary.

Next in order was the election of officers for 1891-2, which was proceeded with without any delay. The following officers were chosen: President, Seth W. Kelley, M. D.; Vice-President, J. Howard Nason; Secretary, F. A. Partridge; Treasurer, Mrs. Frances Eames; Executive Committee, William N. Titus, Charles W. Dorr, Mrs. James Partridge, Mrs. George A. Hobbs, Edward Gurney, Charles M. Strout, Mrs. William B. Smith.

Then came up for discussion and action the matter of the annual dinner of the Club in which nearly all the ladies and gentlemen present participated with interest and animation. To the proposition of Titus, Dorr, Nason, Mr. Partridge and others to hold an annual feast there were no dissenting voices—all were agreed as one man on the point that it must be held—and the near neighborhood of March 1 was the time fixed for having it. So, the annual banquet of the P. T. C. is a fixed fact.

Questions concerning the By-laws of the Club were broached and referred to the Executive Committee.

Now, Sons and Daughters resident of Woburn, what the Executive Committee want is, that every one of you come forward and sign your names to the Book of Constitution and By-laws that the organization of the Club may become perfected just as soon as possible. The reason why a call is made for further signatures is that owing to the death of Mr. Frank S. Burgess, President, a list containing nearly all the names was lost and it is impossible to tell who the members are unless they come forward and sign over again the books, or originally, where they have not already done so.

TUESDAY EVENING.

On Tuesday evening the executive Committee met at the residence of Mr. J. H. Nason to canvass the matter of the annual supper. It was decided to hold it on March 4. Arrangements will be completed at a meeting to be held at Mr. Nason's on this, Friday evening.

SUB COMMITTEES.

The Executive Committee appointed the following sub committees on the supper and things connected therewith: Invitations, Dr. Seth W Kelley, J. Howard Nason, William N. Titus; entertainment, Charles M. Strout, Jr., Howard Nason; supper and hall, Charles W. Dorr, Edward W. Gurney.

Scandinavian.

The Scandinavians of this city will have an auction sale in the Y. M. C. A. Hall next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, the income to go towards their church building now in progress. Any one having something for this sale table will please not forget to send it to the Hall on Saturday afternoon. All are invited to come to the sale. Admission free.

Rev. O. G. Tinglof, Missionary among the Scandinavians in Massachusetts, preached in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last Sunday morning and evening. Quite a number turned out in the storm to hear him and they were well paid for their pains.

The Scandinavian Church of this city is in a healthy spiritual condition. New members are added to the church each month and the good work is very satisfactory. It is hoped that it will be still better after they have moved into their new church. If the good people in and around Woburn will respond with their help financially the vestry can in few weeks be ready for occupancy. Please to do something to help it along.

CHAS. R. ROSENQUIST.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

North Woburn.

Sickness is prevailing throughout the village.

Mr. W. S. Watson has been seriously ill but is now slowly recovering.

Miss Mabel Rollins and Miss Mary Nichols are confined to their homes with fever.

Mr. Enoch Curtis has at last ventured out. He has had a very long and tiresome siege.

Be sure and see the laughable "Mock Trial" which is to be given in the Unitarian chapel on next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Charles H. Nichols of Woburn Centre fell while descending the stairs leading to the wood-shed in the rear of his house and broke one of his ribs.

Electric lights along the thoroughfares of the Woburn City Land and Improvement Co. will make their land much more desirable for building purposes.

The party of fishermen that experienced such sad luck at the Concord river turned the tables by catching a fine strap at Horn pond on last Saturday, one of the pickerel weighing five pounds. "No-Fish-Markets."

This Is a "Solid."

This world is made of solidity and fluidity. There are "solid" men and women, "solid" banks and institutions, "solid" hills and mountains and "solid" merchandise. Then there are thin and vapory men and women, watered stocks and "wishy-washy" goods, which are blown away by the breath of public opinion. Of all the solid, substantial combinations of economy and effectiveness, Brussels soap stands in the front rank in all well regulated communities.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 A. M. Subject: The Religion of the Bible. Lecture by the pastor at 7 P. M. Subject: Evidence of God's existence.

BAPTIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: Final Interview between Good Men. Christian Endeavor Society meeting at 6 p. m. Short sermon at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. the pastor will preach; at 6 p. m. Young Peoples' meeting; at 7 p. m. preaching by the pastor. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evenings.

METHODIST—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "Joy and Rejoicing." Epworth League meeting at 6 p. m.; at 7 p. m. preaching by Pastor: Subject: "Confession and Absolution." Wednesday evening prayer meeting. Thursday evening Class meeting.

Boots and Shoes.

What you have been looking for and can find at Stetson's, a Ladies First Class Boot in every respect that will fit your slim feet, and will cost just $2.00, A and B Widths.

Also a Boot that will button right up over your full ankle without obliging you to move a button; $2.00 will buy a pair of these at Stetson's well known store 158 Hanover street, corner Blackstone.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, Feb. 2, John Donahue, aged 6 months, 23 days.
In this city, Feb. 4, Mary Whalen, aged 60 years.
In this city, Feb. 4, Converse Maxim, aged 75 years, 9 months.
In this city, Feb 5, Mary Ann L. Carroll, aged 75 years.
In this city, Mrs. Frances E. Heckbert, aged 45 years, 9 months.
In Winchester, Feb. 8, Alice E. Swan, aged 25 years, 7 months.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where

HAMBURGS
— AND —
LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

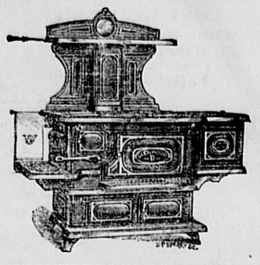
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Carland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Annual Report of the Woburn Home for Aged Women.

The year has just closed must be regarded as one which has brought to the Home great peace, with present and prospective prosperity. And first in regard to the inmates for whom we labor, and whose welfare and happiness is the sole reason for our existance as an Institution, we can report to the public who sustains them, a year of almost uninterrupted health of body and mind. There are at present in the Home ten ladies whose average age is seventy-nine and four fifths years, and yet who have, with two exceptions, been able to come to the table nearly every day in the year, the exceptions being two ladies who have suffered from difficulties they have been subject to, and who are now comparatively well. Such a record of health can, I think, hardly be equalled in any family of that size, at any age in the city. To our faithful Matron is largely due the peace and quietness which prevails, and to her consideration for their infirmaties, and the care and attenion which such infirmities require, is to a great extent the reason of their health and contentment. We would not forget to mention the faithful Assistant who is always to kind and attentive in illness and so patient and trustworthy at all times. In visiting and hearing reports from other Homes there is seldom one where all the conditions are so satisfactory as with us. We are very sorry to report the loss from the Board of Trustees of our faithful adviser and friend Mr. E. W. Hudson, whose resignation was received in June. We have also to record with sorrow the death of one of our most devoted friends and one of the Managers of the Home, Mrs. Celende T. Dow, who passed away after a long tedious illness November 1st. Though confined to her room for many months she never forgot the Home, and looked forward with interest to every monthly meeting of which she always desired a full report. During her life she enriched the Home with many valuable gifts and left it in her will the handsome legacy of two thousand dollars. The same officers have served another year.

The vacancies caused by the death of Mrs. Wyman, and the resignation of Mrs. Goddard were filled by the choice of Mrs. L. T. True and Mrs. S. A. Trull.

Early in the year Mr. Samuel H. Leathe of St. Louis communicated to the Trustees his willingness to pay to them the legacy left by his sister Miss Ruth M. Leathe if they would take the Pierce property, so called, on Plympton street at a valuation of five thousand dollars. After some consideration it was decided to take it, calling the real estate four thousand five hundred and the compromise being accepted, the property, fifteen thousand five hundred dollars in cash, and the house above mentioned was transferred to the Trustees, the income to be used for the benefit of the Home. Nothing has as yet been heard from the legacy left by Mr. Simonds. In April the Treasurer received from Mr. H. B. Clewley the sum of sixty-seven dollars and twenty-five cents, the net proceeds of the drama, School. A vote of thanks was sent to Mr. Clewley and his assistants for this very graceful act reflecting so much credit upon our young people. The annual Fair which occurred as usual in April brought into the treasury, thanks to the liberality of our people, the handsome sum of seven hundred and four dollars. In the month of May a fine entertainment was given for the benefit of the Home under the auspices of Dr. and Mrs. Bartlett to whom we are much indebted for valuable services rendered both in this, and past years. Nearly every year we receive from Mr. Winship of Wakefield a donation which is expended in furniture or something of permanent use to the Home. We learn that the late Mrs. M. F. Winn of North Woburn who has always shown much interest in this work has bequeathed to it the generous sum of two thousand dollars. Mr. D. G. Converse lately deceased kindly remembered us with a gift of five hundred dollars. It is perhaps proper to say as two of the above mentioned wills are subjects of litigation what the result may be to us is yet unknown. We have also received $100 from the estate of the late Mrs. Wyman. A small box which was placed in the hall for the purpose of receiving any little offering visitors might chose to deposit was opened last month and the amount about twelve dollars, was divided among there sidents giving them each a little pin money. At Thanksgiving and Christmas liberal gifts from the churches and private individuals assured abundant good cheer and brought to all hearts a realization of the true spirit of the days, thankfulness and good will. The kind and thoughtful spirit exhibited by the teachers and pupils at Rumford School in their Christmas visit brightening the hours with their songs and recitations and filling the hearts of all with gratitude by their pretty gifts will not soon be forgotten. There is nothing more attractive in the young than attention and respect shown the aged, and this kindly act on the part of the scholars gives evidence that the teachers understand true education to be the cultivation of a symmetrical character heart as well as head. The clergymen of the city and the Societies of Christian Endeavor have been faithful in their ministrations to the spiritual needs of our friends, religious services being held one Sunday in each month as most of them are able to attend church, this is thought sufficient.

The physicians of the city have always responded most willingly to all calls made upon their time, giving their best services without money and without price.

It may seem that I have entered into too much detail in this report, but I think those who generously aid in the support of this work, should know how their benefactions are administered, and with what grateful hearts they are received and appreciated, by all connected with this Institution, which can enjoy no higher reputation than to be in the best sense a Home!

SOPHIA L. HOVEY, Secretary.

USEFUL
Bargains!

Russia Crash 10c. A Bargain. It is worth 12½ cents.

One Lot Damask Towels 19c.

One Lot Linen Damask and Huckabut Towels, 13c.

One Lot Linen Towels, 10c.

A Good 50 cent Corset for 37 cents.

Calcutta Rugs 3 feet by 5 feet, only 29 cents.

NEW FLOOR OIL CLOTHS

Extra Value 25 cents a square yard.

We have them in all widths.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

W. H. A. W. Treasurers Report, 1890.

CASH RECEIVED.

Balance from last year,	$ 28 85
Collections,	125 55
Trust Fund,	574 66
Rent,	34 00
Donations,	255 00
Drama,	67 25
Fair,	704 05
Entertainment,	23 38
Admissions,	200 00
Board,	85 00
Sundries,	10 20
	$2,108 03

CASH PAID.

Groceries,	$235 84
Provisions,	222 57
Milk,	165 03
Fuel,	238 69
Matron and Domestic,	338 00
Advertising,	2 75
Carpenter,	14 60
Stationery,	3 00
Dry Goods,	18 20
Teaming,	2 90
Hardware,	29 46
Water Tax,	38 25
Medicine,	14 96
Labor,	75 41
Nurse,	11 00
Deposited in Savings Bank,	442 05
Sundries,	89 66
Balance to new account,	225 86
	$2,108 03

Expenses of the Home, $1,440 11.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.'

Woman's Club.

A special meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club was held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 4.

The speaker in whose honor the meeting had been called was Mrs. Helen Campbell the author of many books illustrative of the life of working girls and women. The "Prisoners of Poverty" and the "Prisoners of Poverty Abroad" are among the most generally known of her works.

From 2.30 until 3 an informal reception was held that the members might take by the hand one who has worked so arduously and nobly for the amelioration of the condition of the poor and laboring classes of girls and women.

Mrs. Campbell's paper, proper, began with the condition of working women, and their relation to the business world fifty years ago.

She traced women's growth in the struggle for independent maintenance and the increase of occupations and trades for women from 1840 to the present time; and she gave many statistics from the labor bureaus of our country. After the close of the paper, Mrs. Campbell continued by giving us the history of the "Consumer's League" of New York whose constitution was adopted only four weeks ago, and which is an outgrowth of a society of the same name in London, England.

We learned many interesting facts concerning the Century Club Guild of Philadelphia and the work it is accomplishing for women.

The last regular meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club was held on Friday, Feb. 6, when Rev. E. G. Porter of Lexington gave a most delightful account of his recent travels in Japan. This talk had all the delight of vivid personal impressions. The many amusing incidents of travel, the customs which impress a stranger as ludicrous because unfamiliar, the simple yet unique mode of life, the characteristics of the people and scenery, the forms of religion and the system of education were all most graphically treated.

One felt as though one had, in reality, beheld the sights and heard the sounds which Mr. Porter so vividly depicted. Mr. Porter brought for our inspection several dainty Japanese booklets, artistically illustrated in colors, printed in English type and written in the English language; also two little tortoise shell models of the old and new style of vehicle, several kinds of chopsticks, a large gold coin for which some one has offered a thousand dollars and other interesting articles.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Concert Hall on Thursday, Feb. 10, at 3 P. M. when Louise Chandler Moulton will give a talk on London. Mrs. Moulton is too well known by the readers of the Sunday Herald, as a writer of prose and poems, and as a reviewer of books to need further introduction.

G. M. B.

The results of both chemical analysis and of physiological experiments prove that Mellin's Food, when added to diluted cow's milk forms the only perfect substitute mother's milk that has ever been produced; further proof is also found in the health and good nature of the children who are reared upon it.

WINCHESTER.

B. M. Lindsley has gone to York State to visit hig parents.

The South Reservoir is done—or so near done there is no fun in it.

The Ladies Mission Circle will give an entertainment in the near future.

Some of our people feel mighty sore over the result of the Swanton Bridge suit.

If Bro. Miller would remove the unsightly parts around his lot on Church and Center streets he would add greatly to the looks of the lot and please the passers by.

Capt. Nickerson's new house, corner Church and Bacon Sts., is up and boarded in and makes a fine appearance The location is a desirable one. It will be a great addition to that section.

Miss Jennie Sanderson read a paper on "Tokio" at the last meeting of the Fortnightly Club, Feb. 9. Miss Young gave a talk on "the People, their Habits, and Customs"—of Japan. Both were able and interesting.

The family of the late Col. Winchester, for whom the town was named, has offered to the selectmen a handsome marble bust of Col. Winchester, which will undoubtedly be accepted and placed in the town hall.

K. W. Baker formerly of this town, died at Somerville last week. He was prominently identified with the temperance movement and one of the original members of the Reform Club. He left Winchester almost ten years ago.

The Calumet Club has at last decided on the location of its clubhouse. It has closed a bargain for 60,000 feet of land on the shores of Wedge Pond, back of the Congregational church. Ground will probably be broken in the spring, and already there are signs of a largely increased membership.

A meeting of the executive board of the Interclub Tournament was held at the Kenwood Club, Malden, on Tuesday evening. The last game will be played at Melrose, Feb. 14, between the Melrose Athletic and Winchester Club. It was decided to celebrate the tournament by a dinner at Young's Hotel. At this dinner prizes valued at about $100 will be awarded the victors.—Star.

Charles Bradlaugh, who has just died in England, known as the "great agitator" and in favor of a Republican form of government in England, will be remembered by many of our citizens as having lectured in the G. A. R. course several years ago. He was a remarkably fine looking man and very agreeable in conversation. He was the guest of Mr. S. C. Small at that time and spent the night here.

The Universalist Church of Everett, invited Mr. S. C. Small to deliver his lecture on the "Yosemite Valley: The Big Trees: and The Yellowstone National Park." It was listened to with great satisfaction so the Everett paper says. Any society wishing to hear this instructive and interesting lecture, which is illustrated by charcoal sketches, can do so at a nominal price (simply enough to cover the expenses) by addressing Mr. Small.

Joseph L. Sharon, an old and highly esteemed citizen of this town, died Monday morning. He has been ill for some time past, and his death was not entirely unexpected. He was well known, having lived here since his early youth. For a number of years he was town sexton, and carried on the undertaking business until last year, He was a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M., the Grand Army, and was an attendant of the Unitarian church.

It is the general opinion in this town that Judge George S. Littlefield should have been successor to Judge Converse instead of Ex-Mayor Johnson of Woburn. He stood next in succession and his promotion would have been a happy instance of the practical working of Civil Service Reform. Mayor Johnson will make an able and impartial Judge —no doubt of that. He is a sound lawyer, posseses a large share of good practical sense, and has excellent judgment.

The Winchester C. T. A. Society presented the drama "The Turn of the Tide," in the Town Hall last Tuesday evening. There was quite a large attendance, and a very pleasing performance was given. In the cast were: Messrs. Edward McKenzie, William T. Holland, J. T. Clark, George H. Fidler, M. S. Nelson, J. Sullivan, James H. Noonan, Miss M. A. McCarthy, Miss M. J. Flynn, Miss Alice McDermott, and Miss Minnie Smytherman. During the waits the Coleman children and Frank F. Bassick gave interesting specialties.

Lawyer McCall was not a very devoted admirer of Lodge's Elections Bill that Senator Hoar tried so hard to get through the Senate. In political matters Esquire McCall has a happy faculty of "hitting the bullseye." In this matter, as in the matter of the abolition of the polltax as a condition precedent to the exercise of the right of suffrage, and some others, he had the popular sentiment of the North on his side while Lodge and Hoar did not. The fact is, Esq. McCall is a clear-headed, practical-minded man.

The Methodist Church of Woburn are having their pulpit furniture made by S. C. Small & Co., a handsome suit in quartersd oak with crimson blush coverings. This firm is also making the lodge room furniture for the Mechanics Hall in the old church building in Woburn, which will cost about one thousand dollars. Besides this order they are at work on a $1,500 order for the Elks Lodge of Lynn; $1000 order for Masonic Lodge at Ansonia, and $600 outfit for United Workingmen at Leominister. Smaller orders in this line have been shipped the past week to Hiawather. Kansas, Odd Fellows, K. of P. at Opelika, Ala., Elks, at Savannah Ga.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

A western editor lost ten subscribers by saying: "Many of our readers require an effective soap, and Brussels is just the thing they needed for a long time."

Burlington.

The father of Mr. George D. Getchell is seriously ill at the home of his son in this town.

Rev. A. A. Childs of Lyndeboro', N. H., preached at the church Sunday. Owing to the storm there was a very small attendance.

The snow storm of Saturday night and Sunday gave us a little sleighing. The old saying,

"Candlemas Day, fair and bright
Winter will have another flight," proved true this year before the end of the week.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

N. E. C. A.

The New England Chautauquan Association will observe "Founders Day" by a C. L. S. C. Reunion and Banquet, at the United States Hotel, Boston, Feb. 23, 6.30 P. M. Later announcements will be made through the Boston daily papers.

Tickets, $1.25, may be obtained of the Treasurer, Miss M. E. Evans, 44 Hawthorn street, Chelsea, and of Mr. Lunt, Congregational Book Store, Beacon street, until Feb. 19.—J. E. S.

It's economical Brussels soap.

The Democrats in the New York Legislature, by a solid party vote, have passed through one branch, and have nearly passed through the other, a bill which will permit every low dance house and every saloon which advertises a social dance as one of its features to sell liquor all night. It is an infamous measure, calculated to result in any amount of debauchery, yet the so-called respectable Democrats have voted for it as subserviently as those whose affiliations with the dives are notorious.

These are days when our Government will do well to keep a sharp watch over Hawaii. The great Powers of Europe are casting jealous glances in that direction. As the Springfield Republican (Dem.) remarks: "Great Britian is now offering special inducements in the way of subsidized steamship lines, and the like, for closer commertial relations with these islands." Britian hopes to follow up a commercial conquest with a political conquest.

John Greenleaf Whittier says he doesn't see how the Republican party can help selecting Mr. Blaine for its Presidential candidate in 1892, and he adds that if Mr. Cleveland opposes him there can be no doubt that the Republican candidate would be elected. Mr. Blaine, he considers, "a great man, head and shoulders abouve other leaders."

O. U. A. M.
FAIR!
Feb. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21.

Liberty Council, No. 38, O. U. A. M., assisted by Martha Washington Council, Fe. 14, D. of L., will hold a grand fair in

Mechanics Building

Cor. Main and Walnut Streets,

WOBURN.

☞ First-class talent has been secured for each evening's entertainment. Admission to this feature 15 cents. Entertainment Matinee for Children Saturday afternoon, Feb. 21. General admission at Matinee 5 cents: Matinee entertainment tickets 10 cents.

SPECIAL DISPLAYS.

The various offices in the newly-fitted building will be occupied by displays of merchandise kindly contributed by local dealers.

VOTING CONTESTS.

Past Sachem's Regalia for the most popular Past Sachem of Shawsheen Tribe, No. 49, I. O. R. M.

Ex-Councillor's Regalia for the most popular Ex-Councillor of Liberty Council, No. 38, O. U. A. M.

Fireman's Badge for the most popular Foreman of Company, Woburn Fire Department.

Chief of Police Badge for the most popular Chief of Police, (Woburn, Winchester or Stoneham.)

Whip for the most popular Driver.

Lady's Gold Ring for the most popular Lady.

ADMISSION TO THE FAIR:

Single Tickets, 15 Cents.
Season " 50 Cents.

SUPPER

will be served the first four evenings of the Fair Tickets, 25 cents.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

OLD CHAIRS.

Have your Old Chairs recaned and made good as new only 50 cents!

Address S. WHITNEY,
Woburn P. O.

FRESH IDEAS
IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it. Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom:
Washington Street, cor. Elm,
BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

Next Sunday, Feb. 15, The Light Of the World.

—BY—

Sir Edwin Arnold.

—IN—

The Boston Sunday Herald.

404 Main St.,

WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop. Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

THIS WEEK AT

BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Big Bargain in all wool Blankets 11-4, at $4.50 worth $6.50. 12-4, at $5.50 worth $7.50.

Fancy Border and Plain White Tea Cloths with and without Doylies to match, at 25 per cent less than retail prices.

Turkey Red and Cardinal Doylies from 50c. up. These Doylies are dirt cheap.

Brown and Bleached Sheeting 2¼ yards wide, slightly soiled, at considerable less than regular prices.

Give us a call and save money.

To the Public.

We have this day been authorized to announce to the people of the City of Woburn and vicinity, that we have had placed in our hands to sell a limited number of shares of the

Johnston Electric Train Signal Co.'s Stock,

At a surprisingly low figure, or will EXCHANGE it for REAL ESTATE in your vicinity.

COOPER & RAND,

388 Main Street, corner of Park,

WOBURN, MASS.

WE offer Five Year FIRST MORTGAGE bonds on Real Estate in Sioux City, Iowa, in denominations of $100 and $500, with interest at SEVEN per cent., payable quarterly in Boston. The security is worth five times the value of bonds issued. Further information in pamphlet free.

New England Investment Co.,

C. W. BALDWIN & CO., Agents,

33 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass.

TO LET.

A TENEMENT of 8 rooms, 2 minutes from Post Office. Apply to

G. A. BEAN, Trustee.

Woburn, Feb. 5, 1891.

Safe For Sale.

A good SECOND-HAND SAFE for sale. Apply to BUEL & SON, Buel's Court, Woburn, Mass.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

☞ Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

ANNUAL Canned Goods
Sale!

Now is the time to buy your Canned Goods, and the Boston Branch is the place to buy them.

Tomatoes, Bacon's	8c.,	95c. per doz.
Tomatoes, Cidar,	10c.,	$1.15 " "
Tomatoes, F. & S. Imperial,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Corn,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Corn, Sandy River,	12c.,	1.40 " "
Corn, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Peas, Standard Marrowfats,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Peas, Booth's Marrowfats,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Succotash, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Squash, Richardson's,	14c.,	1.65 " "
String Beans,	8c.,	.90 " "
Asparagus Tips,	25c.,	2.85 " "
Peaches, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" "	35c.,	4.00 " "
Bartlett Pears, Richardson's,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Sliced Pineapple,	23c.,	2.65 " "
Grated Pineapple,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Pres. Strawberries,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Blueberries,	14c.,	1.65 " "
White Cherries, California,	35c.,	4.00 " "
Apricots, California,	22c.,	2.60 " "
Apricots, Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Plums, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Salmon, Alaska,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Salmon, Booth's,	15c.,	1.80 " "
Salmon Steak,	18c.,	2.10 " "

Boston Branch
Tea and Grocery House,
327 & 329 Main St.
FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William Bradley late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Francis Bellew, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this tenth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Hannah Chamberlain, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Lewis L. Whitney, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth Tuesday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

DEATH COMES

To THOUSANDS as a result of neglected Coughs and Colds. Consumption is curable if promptly and wisely treated. I specially treat all diseases of the LUNGS and HEART. Medicines furnished. Examination thorough.

E. S. DODGE, M. D.,

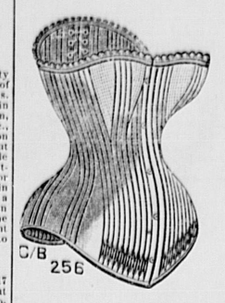
62 Boylston St., cor. Tremont, BOSTON.

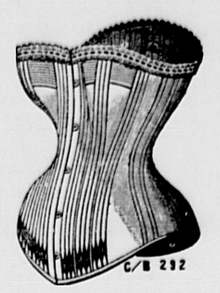
HOURS, 11 TO 3.

Second-hand Sole Leather

ROLLING MACHINE FOR SALE.

Enquire of JAMES SKINNER CO., Green St., Woburn, Mass.





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO.,
FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. F. SMITH, 429 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan

MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

Christian Science Healing.

MISS M. C. MESSER,

12 Franklin St., Woburn.

(Except Fridays.)

CONSULTATION FREE.

Will also be glad to talk (at their homes if desired) with all who wish to know how to help themselves.

ELIJAH IS TRANSLATED.

LESSON VII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, FEB. 15.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings ii, 1-11. Commit Verses, 9-11—Golden Text, Gen. v, 24—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

After the story of Ahab and Naboth, as in the last lesson, we have the record of Ahab's repentance, the league of Jehoshaphat and Ahab, the death of Ahab in battle according to the word of the Lord (I Kings xxii, 38), and also the death of Jehoshaphat. In II Kings i we have the record of the death, by fire from heaven at the word of Elijah, of two captains and their fifties, whom Ahaziah, the wicked son of Ahab, sent to Elijah; and also the death of Ahaziah, because of a fall which he had in his own house.

1. "And it came to pass when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind."

We have now come to the record of Elijah's last day on earth in a mortal body. Suddenly he appears before us in I Kings, xvii, 1, and now as suddenly he is to be taken from us. Like Aaron and Moses, he is to be taken away in perfect health (Num. xx, 28; Deut. xxxiv, 7); and like Enoch, he is to be taken without dying.

"Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal."

2. "And Elijah said unto Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Bethel."

By comparing Gen. xii, 6, and Deut. xi, 30, it would seem that Abram's first altar in the land was not far from Gilgal. In Gen. xii, 8, we see his second altar at Bethel. Here also Jacob saw the ladder set up on the earth whose top reached unto heaven (Gen. xxviii, 12, 19).

"As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Bethel."

This is the steadfastness of purpose which has something in view and gets it. See chapter iv, 30; Ruth i, 16, 17; II Sam. xv, 21; Phil. iii, 13, 14. There is nothing like indifference here, but on the contrary a wholeheartedness which indicates intense desire.

3. "Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head today?"

This was the question of the sons of the prophets at Bethel. We will find more of them and a similar question at Jericho.

"And he said, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace."

Elisha was well aware that Elijah was to leave him, and like Jacob with the angel, he was in his heart clinging and saying, "I will not let thee go except thou bless me!" (Gen. xxxii, 26). There would be more of the spirit and power of God in believers today if there were more turning away from man, and eager waiting upon God such as is seen in Jacob, Elisha, Paul and others.

4. "And Elijah said unto Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Jericho."

This is met by the same refusal as at Gilgal, and is followed (vs. 5) by the same question from the sons of the prophets at Jericho as that asked at Bethel. He heeds not Elijah's request, nor is he moved by the repeated reminders that Elijah is about to leave him.

6. "And Elijah said unto him, Tarry, I pray thee, here; for the Lord hath sent me to Jordan."

If a redeemed soul will stay at Gilgal (reproach rolled away, salvation obtained) there they may stay and be saved as by fire; if they will go farther to Bethel (house of God and realizations of glory) and consent to tarry there, thinking and talking of their future happiness, they may still, though saved, be without much reward; if they press on to the city of palm trees (Deut. xxxiv, 3), pleasant but barren (vs. 19), they may rejoice in being blessed with all spiritual blessings, and the good things which He will not withhold from them that walk uprightly, and yet live largely a selfish life and bear little fruit.

7. "And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood to view afar off; and they two stood by Jordan."

Fifty afar off looking on, only two really in the business on hand, one of them about to be taken and the other eager for one thing, desiring it most earnestly; and yet all the fifty-two are among the prophets.

8. "And Elijah took his mantle and wrapped it together, and smote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, so that they two went over on dry ground."

The last we heard of this mantle it was covering Elijah's face as God talked with him at Horeb in the still small voice, and a little later it was thrown upon Elisha as he was plowing (I Kings xix, 13, 19). Now it is like Moses' rod stretched out over the Red sea, or like the Ark of the Covenant on the shoulders of the priests at this same Jordan five hundred years before.

9. "Ask what I shall do for thee before I be taken away from thee."

Jordan, the river of judgment, has been crossed; Elisha would not tarry at any delightful experience, but on, and on, and now in the power of resurrection he stands with Elijah on the verge of separation from him and hears this great question. It is as if Elijah said, Why have you clung to me? Why have you so perseveringly followed on? What is it that you so earnestly desire? Ask it now that you may receive it.

"And Elisha said, I pray thee let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me."

10. "And he said, Thou hast asked a hard thing; nevertheless if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so."

A hard thing for Elisha, and perhaps he knew not what he asked. Elijah knew what it had cost him to obtain the measure of the Spirit which he had; what separation, what loneliness, what death to the flesh, what trials, what persecutions, and if Elisha is to receive a double portion of the Spirit will it not be a hard thing for him? Has he counted the cost?

11. "And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder."

Can you imagine the subject of their conversation, as the one knew that any moment his companion might be gone, and the other knew that any moment he might cease to be a mortal man? We are sure that nothing trifling would be spoken, but only things concerning the awful realities of time and eternity. Elijah would surely speak of the necessity of standing in everything with God and for God, and would warn his companion against the sins into which he himself had fallen.

"And Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven."

See God in the whirlwind in Job xxxviii, 1; xl, 6; Ezek. i, 4; Nah. i, 3; Zech. ix, 14. The whirlwinds with which we are familiar dash all things earthly to pieces, but if we are heavenly people nothing can harm us, not even a cyclone. It may take us to heaven, and that will be a great gain.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. E. Lovell, Druggist.

Our Artist—"Well, how do you like the portraits, Miss Bunny? The sitters are old friends of yours, I believe?" Miss Bunny (triumphantly)—"Yes; and, only think, I've actually managed to guess them all!"

Austin Corbin, the railroad millionaire magnate, is a bald headed, nervous man of 55 who possesses indomitable energy. He has been called the Dictator of Long Island. Fifteen years ago he was unheard of.

AMBITION.

The German emperor and I
Within the self same year were born,
Beneath the self same sky,
Upon the self same morn;
A kaiser he, of high estate,
And I the usual chance of fate.

His father was a prince, and mine—
Why, just a farmer—that is all.
Stars still a e stars, although some shine,
And some roll hid in midnight's pall;
But argue, cavil all you can,
My sire was just as good a man.

The German emperor and I,
Eat, drink and sleep the self same way,
For bread is bread, and pie is pie,
And kings can eat but thrice a day.
And sleep will only come to those Whose mouths and stomachs are not foes.

I rise at six and go to work,
And he at five, and does the same.
We both have cares we cannot shirk;
Mine are for love t ones; his for fame.
He may live best, I cannot tell;
I'm sure I wish the kaiser well.

I have a wife, and so has he;
And yet, if pictures do not err,
As far as human sight can see,
Mine is by long odds twice as fair.
Say, would I trade those eyes dark brown?
Not for an empress and her crown.

And so the emperor and I
On this one point could ne'er agree;
Moreover, we will never try.
His frau suits him and mine suits me.
And though his sons one day may rule,
Mine stand A1 in the public school.

So let the kaiser have his sway,
Bid kings and nations tumble down;
I have my freedom and my say,
And fear no ruler and his crown;
For I, unknown to fame or war,
Live where each man is emperor.
—Fred Warner Shibley in Boston Globe.

Played the Music Backward.

While sauntering through one of the courts the other day two members of the musical profession heard strange, weird sounds, which seemed to have some sort of connection with a pianoforte. Turning a corner they came upon a gentleman who was in the act of stowing away a strip of the perforated paper used in mechanical pianos.

Curious to hear the instrument, a request was made that he should run it through again. The piece selected was the "March from Tannhauser," but at the first turn of the handle the sounds produced were very unlike anything Wagner ever wrote.

By the time the handle had made half a dozen revolutions the cacophony was simply awful. The "performer," who continued to work with increasing vigor, was tapped on the shoulder and assured that there was something seriously wrong, but he merely smiled and continued to grind for dear life.

At length the end came, and it was then discovered that the "Tannhauser March" had been played backward.

In reply to his auditors as to why he continued to play when such horrible sounds were produced the attendant gave a childlike and bland smile and said, "Me no English; me German!"—Edinburgh Dispatch.

She Married Another.

Everybody in Anderson knows Sam V——, and he is the last person on earth any one would suspect of having a romance. He is a plain, straightforward, every day kind of a man. Yet there is a romance in his history. When the war broke out Sam shouldered a musket and went to the front. He, like many others, left a sweetheart, who kissed him good-by at the depot, and bade him think of his country first and her next.

She wrote to him frequently, and he carried her letters in the inside pocket of his soldier jacket until there was quite a bundle of them. One day in battle a bullet struck Sam in the breast. It plowed through his coat and tore a hole in the bundle of precious letters and made a big bruise over his heart. The letters saved his life.

"Of course Sam married the writer of the letters?" guesses a romantic young miss.

Of course Sam didn't, but some one else did. He has a son in the employ of a well known corporation at Anderson, and his sweetheart "during the war" lives in this city the happy wife of a popular railroad man.—Bangor News.

A Dog with a Memory.

The following, remarkable at all events as a feat of memory, was told me by the owner of an Irish water spaniel, the only dog I ever knew who would perform tricks and was good to shoot over at the same time. His master was out walking with him at the beginning of the long frost in the year 1855, which set in about the middle of January. He went on a frozen mill dam, where the water was of course very deep, and accidentally dropped his snuff box through a little round hole in the ice. The dog was dreadfully distressed at not being able to get it, but was obliged to go home with its owner, who thought no more about the matter. Two months afterward, when the frost had gone, he and the dog passed by the same place. The dog paused opposite the spot where the box had disappeared, seemed to think intently for a minute, then plunged in, dived to the bottom, and returned with the snuff box in his mouth.—Quarterly Review.

The Platinum from Electric Lamps.

It is singular that while this remarkable reduction is going on in the price of aluminum the price of platinum should be going up. Platinum is one of the essential metals in the construction of successful incandescent lamps; in fact, it is said that it is now one of the largest items, there being eight cents' worth of platinum in each lamp. So well is this fact recognized that of late some of the lamp manufacturers have collected the butts of old lamps that had done service and have recovered the platinum by smashing the glass and plaster, etc., and extracting the leading-in wires.—Safety Valve.

Not One in Ten

Of the people you meet from day to day has perfectly pure, healthy blood. The hereditary scrofulous taint afflicts the large majority of people, while many others acquire diseases from impure air, improper food and wrong indulgences. Hence the imperative necessity for a reliable blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eradicates every impurity, and gives to the blood vitality and health. It cures scrofula, saltrheum, humors, boils, pimples, and all other afflictions caused by impurities or poisonous germs in the blood. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial.

A singular accident occurred to Luther Woods of Richland, Ga. He was driving in a narrow lane, accompanied by a young lady, when a drove of loose mules came running up behind him. He was afraid to leave his buggy to drive them back, for fear his horse would run away, and they actually ran over his buggy and broke it to pieces. Fortunately neither of the occupants was hurt.

AN ELECTRIC CENSUS.

We Have the Most Miles of Wire and Send the Most Messages.

In 1837 the first practical telegraph was worked in England, after a crude attempt made in 1835, on a line of thirteen miles between Paddington and Drayton. In 1844 a telegraph line was opened between Washington and Baltimore. In 1850 a copper wire, insulated in gutta percha, was submerged between Dover and Calais, and the first submarine telegraph was laid by the late T. R. Crampton.

There are now 942 submarine cables, exclusive of the seven Atlantic cables, with an aggregate of 112,740 nautical miles. The overland telegraph is already a world wide institution, in which there is a total of 1,680,900 miles of wire, enough of the attenuated metal to go around the equatorial belt of the globe just thirty times. The number of words transmitted, the miles traveled and the cash changing hands would tax the enumeration table.

The United States has 776,500 miles of wire, and in 1889 no less than 56,000,000 messages were sent through the country. France has 220,890 miles of wire, on which in 1889 were transmitted 30,050,000 dispatches. Great Britain has 180,000 miles of metal line, and in 1889 sent 50,000,000 messages. Russia has spun out 170,500 miles, and in 1889 gave the operators 10,280,780 messages to dispatch. Australia has strung no fewer than 105,360 miles of wire across its surface and transmitted in one year 12,000,000 messages. Italy has 19,500 miles and has made an annual record of about 7,000,000 electric messages. Canada has 58,500 miles of wire and did a business in 1889 of 4,027,581 dispatches.

Egypt has 5,500 miles, and is in connection with India and England by submarine cables on which in 1889 1,600,205 communications were carried from one end of the world to the other. China has 5,500 miles of wire across Mongolia, and Japan owns no less than 16,500 miles, over which 5,000,000 messages were sent in one year. New Zealand has strung itself with 11,375 miles of metal cord, and dispatched 1,835,394 messages. Tasmania has 2,500 miles of telegraph wires. Persia claims, in partnership with European wires, about 6,124 miles. South Africa has a credit of 4,310 miles, and even St. Helena, the island prison of the great Corsican, has 13 miles of the universal wire cobwebbing its rocks.

The telegraph systems of the world have unrolled the wire reel without stint, and if we add to the 1,688,900 miles used for telegraph purposes the wholesale appropriation by the telephone system the sum total would be enormous.—Iron.

The Early Residents of California.

The early foreign residents of California were largely runaway sailors. Many if not most would change their names. For instance, Gilroy's ranch where the town of Gilroy is now located was owned by an old resident under the assumed appellation of Gilroy. Of course vessels touching upon this coast were liable, as they were everywhere, to lose men by desertion, especially if the men were maltreated. Such things have been so common that it is not difficult to believe that those who left their vessels in early days on this then distant course had cause for so doing.

To be known as a runaway sailor was no stain upon a man's character. It was no uncommon thing after my arrival here for sailors to be skulking and hiding about from ranch to ranch till the vessel they had left should leave the coast. Californians would catch and return sailors to get the reward which, I believe, captains of vessels invariably offered. After the vessels had sailed and there was no chance of the reward the native Californians gave the fugitives no further trouble.—Gen. Bidwell in Century.

Shot a Deer with Marbles.

An 11-year-old Missouri lad has executed a remarkable feat in hunting. The boy's father had bought him a cheap single barreled shotgun, and in a few days the boy had shot at everything in sight.

One morning he began to load his gun for a hunt, and after ramming down a charge of powder found that his shotbag was empty. With the readiness of a boy to try experiments he thought of his marbles. Finding a smooth "taw" that would just fill the bore of his gun he rammed it down, and started out in search of game.

He had not gone far before a full grown deer was seen running through the woods about sixty yards away. The boy had never shot at a deer before, but he was too much of a hunter to miss a chance, and he banged away. The deer gave one great jump and fell, with a marble through his heart.

When the boy came running into the house with the news his father was tempted to thrash him for his rashness, but he was finally forgiven, and the venison eaten with a relish.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Cow Tree.

The cow tree, the sap of which closely resembles milk, is a native of South and Central America. It is a species of evergreen, and grows only in mountain regions. A hole bored in the wood or even a wound made in the bark of this remarkable tree is almost immediately filled with a lacteal like fluid. Alexander von Humboldt was the first traveler to describe this tree and bring it to the notice of Europeans.—St. Louis Republic.

Catarrh in New England.

Ely's Cream Balm gives satisfaction to every one using it for catarrhal troubles.—G. K. Mellor, Druggist, Worcester, Mass.

I believe Ely's Cream Balm is the best article for catarrh ever offered the public.—Bush & Co., Druggists, Worcester, Mass

An article of real merit.—C. P. Alden, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

Those who use it speak highly of it.—Geo. A. Hill, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

Cream Balm has given satisfactory results.—W. P. Draper, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

A correspondent notices that the majority of literary ladies seem to affect certain colors for their gowns. It is also thought that they mostly work in brown studies, and prefer their books to be read. A superstition likewise exists that they affect blue stockings.

During the recent severe weather in England sea gulls were fed from the windows of houses on the Marine Parade. Wild fowl were found on the beach half frozen and nearly starved.

Expensive Chivalry.

Georgie Drew Barrymore has been telling some of her eastern friends a good story on a well known manager of a Chicago theatre. The manager is noted for his gallantry, and many a pretty actress can testify that he is almost without a rival as an entertainer. One Saturday night, when the company with which Mrs. Barrymore was playing had completed its Chicago engagement, this young manager met the lady as she was leaving the theatre, and getting into her carriage escorted her to the depot, where she was to take a train for the east.

As she was about to dismiss the carriage her gallant escort told her not to pay the driver, for he would ride home in the same carriage and settle with the driver himself. "Oh, you'll settle with him, will you?" said Mrs. Barrymore naively, without a suggestion of mischief in her quizzical eyes. "Very well; thank you. Good-by!" She took the train and the manager was driven home. "How much?" he asked the driver, taking a $2 bill from his pocket. "Twenty-eight dollars," was the reply. "What—for two blocks, you robber!—what do you mean?" "Twenty-eight dollars is what I mean. I've been taking that lady to and from the theatre all the week, and that's what it amounts to. You told her you'd settle." The manager settled.—Chicago Herald.

What He Was Worth.

Absolute monarchs are given to teaching their subjects practical lessons in ways which are more salutary than amusing to the objects of such instruction. A traveler in Morocco tells the following story of a monarch's method of playing schoolmaster:

The sultan discovered that one of his viziers was becoming too powerful. He therefore summoned him to tea, and complimented him on his great wealth. The vizier becoming vain boasted of the number of his houses, horses, wives and slaves, and the sultan rebuked him, saying that he was too rich and thought too much of himself.

To show the man exactly what he was worth his majesty had him taken by soldiers to the slave market, where he was put up for sale, and received only one bid, of eightpence. He was then taken back to the sultan, who said to him, "Now you know your proper value—eightpence. Go home and ponder over it."

When the man reached home, however, he found that nearly all his property had been taken away by order of the sultan. Only one small residence, one wife, one horse and one slave had been left him.

A Diplomatic Story.

One day in 1886, while I was secretary of the United States legation at Peking, I took to the minister a dispatch for the secretary of state, requesting him to indorse it favorably. It was to ask for an eight months' leave of absence, without pay, to travel in western China and Thibet. The minister read it over and turning to me said: "I cannot give my approval to this. If you absent yourself from the legation I must have some one to take your place and do your work. But I tell you what I will do; since you are so anxious to see Thibet I will use my influence at Washington to have you appointed minister resident and consul general there." I timidly asked him if he knew where Thibet was. "No," he answered; "but it makes no difference. I'll do what I said."

What better illustration could I give of the ignorance in which we are concerning Thibet? The minister of the United States to China did not know that it was an integral part of the empire to the court of which he was accredited!—Cor. Century.

Three Men of Great Wealth.

Andrew Carnegie is the richest Scotchman in the world and he does not care who knows it. He began work at $3 a week and his income in one year exceeds $1,000,000. He gives freely to charity and to public enterprises, but personally is inclined to enjoy life while he lives and to take coaching tours through Scotland rather than to leave a fortune for some one else to spend after he is gone.

John D. Rockefeller was also poor, but was lucky enough to secure good situations early in life. He stepped into the oil business from a position as bookkeeper at $100 a month. Now he probably is the richest man in the world, and the company with which he is identified employs an army of perhaps 40,000 men. Although John D. Rockefeller's name alone is always associated with the Standard Oil company, he has two brothers—William and Frank—each of whom has many millions which the Standard has made.—Chicago Mail.

Surprised.

A man who has the engaging habit of fumbling the watch chains of his acquaintances when talking with them, occasionally pulling out the timepiece to note the time of day, received a surprise recently; and so did the other fellow. He was fingering the expensive chain of a friend, whose clothes were a model of the tailor's art, when he gave it a little jerk, and out from the watch pocket leaped—a lump of coal.—Springfield Homestead.

His Books Matched the Carpet.

I have a curious customer, a wealthy man, who has bought a lot of handsome books of me, choosing them entirely by their bindings so as to match in color his furniture and carpets, and regardless of their contents.—Interview in New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and medicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambery & Murphy, of Battle Creek, Mich.; C. B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly, or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at Charles H. Buss.

A French writer says that the asp used by Bernhardt in Cleopatra is so proud of his performance in the role that he has demanded his name "M. Viper" put upon the play bills.

It does no good to weep over the mistakes that we have made, and yet most of us do it when we have meant to take a mouthful of potato and discover that we have taken a mouthful of horseradish instead.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilder.

Richard Watson Gilder, editor of The Century, is thin and slight, with long gray hair, a piping, reedy voice, delicate features and a manner of nervous modesty. He looks the last man alive to have won such a very great prize as the editorship of The Century, which came about in this wise: When quite young Mr. Gilder started a small publication, Golden Days, or something of the sort. It was bought by The Century company, and its editor, who had had the good luck to win Dr. Holland's approval, was made that gentleman's assistant. A few years later Dr. Holland died, and the directors of the enterprise honored his memory by putting young Gilder in his place.

Mr. Gilder's sanctum is the handsomest in New York—in fact, altogether æsthetic. It has an open fireplace, brass andirons, with rugs, hangings, draperies and pictures in the highest style of art. It is full of greens at Christmas, of flowers at Easter. In it Mr. Gilder is altogether charming. His wife is much more substantial looking than he is. She is a cousin of Mrs. Grover Cleveland—hence the intimacy between the two families. Mrs. Gilder is also much given to art, and spends much time at the brush, especially in summer, when she is at Marion, Mass., where her husband has had built for her a studio of big granite blocks which is said to be the most unique in America.—Epoch.

An Army Electrical Corps.

The New York Electrical Review, in commenting on the suggestion recently advanced by Lieut. Fiske, and now under consideration, that an electrical corps be established in the army and navy to take charge of electrical appliances in time of war, refers to the fact that a few months ago it advanced some ideas on the same subject. It suggested that electrical men might, profitably to themselves, enroll themselves as members of the New York naval militia, and thus in a certain degree return the obligation the electrical profession owes the navy, from the ranks of which many of its most distinguished workers have been recruited.

The Electrical Review is inclined to think that some of the officers and men now in the service could be advantageously detailed to such work. In case of emergency a fair supply of competent engineers could be made available, but if civilians were pressed hurriedly into action their lack of military training might prove a serious embarrassment, so that a much higher standard of efficiency would be attained by having such a corps equipped with men skilled in the tactics of warfare.

Plea for Cosmetics.

One can't in the least blame American women if they do spend, as Kate Field says they do, $62,000,000 a year for cosmetics. Mighty sum indeed for women to spend in keeping their persons sweet and attractive, considering how many million women there are to spend it, and the women don't spend it nearly all, either! Who buys the expensive French tooth washes, essences and pomades but gentlemen? Who uses the finest face powders but the men who patronize first class barbers? Take it any way you please, send in the whole bill to the women, and it comes to about $3 a year for toilet necessaries, not by any means all white lead or calomel. Please remember that the cosmetic art is older than that of medicine and was a science before the latter was anything better than conjuring.—Shirley Dare.

Chance for Argument.

Cultured Mother—Did you write to the tailor about that suit of clothes?

Small Son—Yes, ma; here's the letter.

C. M.—Mercy! you've spelled suit s-o-o-t.

S. S.—Isn't that right?

C. M.—Of course not. Soot is the black stuff.

S. S.—These clothes are of black stuff.

C. M.—But soot is the black stuff that gathers in a chimney. The word you should use is s-u-i-t. It comes from the French and means set."

S. S.—But these clothes don't set. That's why we're sending 'em back.—Good News.

Mr. Gloer's Large Family.

Mr. Isaac D. Gloer is a man of ordinary size, weighing about 160 pounds, but he is the head of a family that weighs in aggregate numbers 1,500 pounds, and there are only four children and six in family. Mr. Gloer lives in Bowman, Ga., and is consequently a near neighbor.

Here is the way it comes about: Mr. I. D. Gloer, the old man, weighs about 160 pounds; his wife weighs 300 pounds, while his children come as follows: his son Isham weighs 190 pounds; Joseph weighs 300 pounds; Mary, 300 pounds; David, 300 pounds, which makes a total of 1,500 pounds for a family of six persons.—Athens Ledger.

An Esthetic Arab.

It was on a Back Bay street. A ragamuffin picked up a faded chrysanthemum from the sidewalk. He ran up to a gentleman passing by. "Got a pin, mister?" The gentleman saw the Arab's ambition to get the flower on the lapel of his coat, and obligingly pinned it on for him.—Boston Transcript.

A beautifying wash: Take equal parts of white tansey and rhubarb water, and to every half pint add two drams of sal ammoniac. The fluid is applied with a feather or hair pencil three or four times a day to pimples or tetters on any part of the body.

Liver Complaint.

Being subject to liver troubles, I have tried many medicines, but have never found an equal to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. It stimulates the stomach and liver, regulates the bowels, and has proved of such value that I would not be without it.—Mrs. Fred Sheldon, cor. Bridge and Division streets, W. Catskill, N. Y.

An old colonial statute was recently unearthed at Atlanta, Ga., which requires every minister to "read from his pulpit, at least four times a year, the public laws, so that the public may understand them."

Be Your Own Doctor.

It won't cost you one half as much. Do not delay. Send three cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

A man never realizes why it is called a Wagner sleeper until he has spent a night in one that is hitched next to the locomotive. Then the noise makes him understand.

Too Literal.

Young men who play football on the college elevens generally have an extra incentive to strive for championship honors in the shape of souvenirs of the precious metals given to the team at the head of the list. It isn't that these medals are needed to bring the athletes up to the proper stage of enthusiasm, but it is the custom to give them, and very nice trinkets they are to have. A great deal of care is taken in their designing and preparation, of course, for after a man has attended a few social reunions on the football field he has a fancy for the artistic in life. Recently a victorious team were to be presented with trophies, and a noted New York jeweler was retained to turn out the lot. Included in the set was one for the manager of the eleven, who, as it happened, did not play on the eleven.

It had been arranged that each player was to have his position on the team engraved under his name on his medal. Perhaps the letter explaining this had been a trifle too explicit in its directions, for when the trophies were delivered the manager was surprised to find that carefully inscribed on his under his name was this: "No position; did nothing at all." As this manager was rather a hard worker for the success of his team, he was far from pleased with the result that had followed his little explanatory note to the engraver that he had not taken part in any of the bloody battles on the white-wash lined field.—New York Times.

Gold Dust and Nuggets.

The mines of the far west are well illustrated in the government collection, and in some of the specimens nuggets of gold are seen. In a great safe of steel, behind glass doors, there are dozens of little boxes containing gold dust, and other boxes on which there are nuggets of pure gold of all sizes from the head of a pin to the size of your fist. On a shelf over all are two round pieces of gold as thick as your wrist and about two inches long. They came from the vaults of the treasury, and no one knows how they ever got there.

The most valuable of the jewels of Uncle Sam, however, are those which are found in the relics of great men near the entrance to the museum. They are worth tens of thousands of dollars in the intrinsic value of the gold and jewels of which they are made up, to say nothing of their workmanship. There are swords by the dozens set with diamonds, guns inlaid with precious stones and canes which have heads of gold, in which are imbedded jewels which would shine at any White House reception. These jewels are so valuable that a guard is detailed to watch them night and day. Each case has a burglar alarm.—Washington Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

It Is Good Reading.

It has occasionally been remarked in a half reproachful way that most of the reading of the people is newspaper reading. Grant it, and there is no reason to find fault. The average good newspaper contains less fustian and untenable matter than a large percentage of books. It is bound to keep pace with the level headed common sense of the people.

The well equipped daily of our time covers a wide field. It embraces science, literature, social economy, pastimes and a host of other themes that are interesting and instructive, as well as news and politics. Any one can well afford to be ignorant of many books. No one can afford to ignore the newspaper and be thereby excluded from a survey of the globe and its activities.

The newspapers have steadily improved in every particular. The most scholarly men and men deepest engrossed in business are persevering newspaper readers. In reality there is not an institution of the age more potent and more useful than the press.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Oddest Hotel Man.

"I met the oddest hotel man in the business two weeks ago," said a young commercial traveler at the Astor house. "He lives in Bellaire, Ohio, and runs the Globe hotel there. His name is 'Zeke' Morris, and he is a little, stoop shouldered man, with a gray mustache and eyes, who tells all his guests who stop with him for the first time that his rates are $2 a day regular, $2.25 if you spit on the floor. He has no bar in his house, nor does he ever sell cigars to help his revenue. Still, I am told that he measure out every bit of food that goes into his dining room.

"He had a fight with one of his guests once, owing to his peculiar rules, and came out second best with a big black eye. After the fracas was over he shook hands with his antagonist, and informed him that since he was a better man than he was he would not charge him any board. He treated me all right, however, and I didn't have to whip him either," said the commercial man reflectively. "But then I did not expectorate inside of his threshold."—New York Telegram.

Why She Was So Called.

"How did you come to name your little daughter Mildred?" asked the judge. "No one in your family bears that name." "It was this way," replied the major. "We were a long time choosing a name for her. One day she was playing near a millrace and fell in. Although we rescued her she was badly frightened and can't be induced to go near the place since. Her dread of the mill has supplied her with her name."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Nothing but superlative merit can account for the phenomenal reputation achieved by Salvation Oil. It kills pain. Price 25 cents

The Darwinian theory perplexes the multitude. They object to descendants from monkeys. But not even a baby objects to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

It is thought that the National Academy of Design may be induced to reconsider its decision against taking part in an effort to create an American Salon. The criticism which the members of that venerable body have received since their decision is not calculated, however, to improve their tempers or render them more likely to concede a point. It is certain that whether or not there is a combined exhibition of retrospective or contemporary art in New York in 1892 there will be a number of small ones.

Popularly called the king of medicines—Hood's Sarsaparilla. It conquers scrofula, salt rheum and all other blood diseases.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

A Chicago man disappeared and several detectives couldn't find him in nine weeks. But a shrewd politician got the Mayor to appoint the man to office, and two hours later he came in on the run to be sworn in.

Two ladies are strolling out of a down town church—"I didn't see you at the funeral," says one; "there was lovely singing!" "No, I didn't go," said the other abstractedly; "I think it's wicked to enjoy yourself too much."

If it be unlawful for a newspaper to publish the name of a person who drew a prize doll at a church fair, one wonders if newspapers containing marriage notices will not also be declared unmailable, considering that "marriage is a lottery."

A woman at St. Joseph, Mo., the other day obtained a verdict of $10 damages for the ruin of a dress owing to the rear car of a train on the Hannibal Railroad not being pulled up to the front of the depot on a very rainy night, whereby she was obliged to alight in the mud, and her dress was spoiled. She sued for $100.

Count de Vermicelli, an Italian nobleman, now in New York, is engaged to be married to Miss Maud Snobberly on Fifth avenue. One of the guests at a recent social gathering at the Snobberly mansion asked old Mrs. Snobberly—she used to be a servant girl—how she liked her prospective son-in-law. "Me and Mr. Snobberly are both tickled to death with Count de Vermicelli, and the way he is stuck on Maud is a sin. You can't have any idea of how the Count dotes on that girl. Everything in the world that he imagines she wants, he makes us buy for her."

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,
SULPHUR BITTERS.
Why suffer with Headache? Why Dizzy? Why have Rheumatism? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain with Neuralgia? What makes you trouble so? Your nerves are all out of order. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap whiskey drink, to be taken by the unstrung and need a tonic soothing to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass like other preparations which stimulate only TO DESTROY. It is composed of stimulate only Roots, Barks and Berries, combined with the best TRACT OF SULPHUR in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT NERVINE.
SULPHUR Bitters
The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist.
DON'T WAIT, GET IT AT ONCE
A. P. ORDWAY & Co., Chemists, Boston, Mass.
Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Dr BULL'S COUGH SYRUP
THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY. PRICE 25¢
Salvation Oil "Kills all Pain." Try it! Only 25c.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office. 434 Main Street, Woburn.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the foot.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, &c., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memph

PublicLibrary Idaho

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1891. NO. 10.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P. M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.47, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.55, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M, 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

On and after December 1, 1890, cars will run as follows:

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 8.6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 8.7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 8.6.00, 6.30, 8.7.10, 7.40, 8.8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Symmes' Corner at 7.30, 8.30, A. M., 12.29, 1.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.29, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Symmes' Corner for Winchester and Woburn at 7.38, 8.38, A. M., 12.25, 1.38, 4.38, 5.35, 6.25, 7.38, 8.38, 9.38, P. M.

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.15, 7.45, 8.00, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.29, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.20, 9.10, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 8.10.00, 8.10.45, 11.45, A. M., 8.12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 8.2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 8.4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 8.6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.8.40, 9.40, 8.10.20, 8.11.10, A. M., 12.10, 8.1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 8.3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 8.5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 8.7.10, 7.40, 8.10. 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.45, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.45, 6.00, 6.45, 7.00, 7.45, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.45, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.40, 10.20, 11.29, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 2.10, 2.50, 3.20, 4.10, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 6.10, 6.20, 7.10, 7.20, 8.10, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 10.05, 10.25, P. M.

s Symmes' Corner.
Subject to change and correction without notice.
J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.
WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queeley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.
, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.
Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS.
Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Chuach.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS
Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston,
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

DAISIES.

Golden rod and Neptune's trident grew thick along the old stone wall, and many a daisy lingered in the grass of the big meadow. Ned Egbert sat under his great white umbrella with all the impedimenta which a very young artist thinks necessary scattered about him, and sketched the distant pines and the old thatched barn, and put in Jim, the handy man, for the sake of the bit of color furnished by his red shirt.

Bessie Beck looked over his shoulder in mute admiration.

"How perfectly splendid it must be to paint," she said. "I'd give millions of dollars if I could just do one of those daisies."

This was a liberal offer from a girl whose private fortune was twenty-five cents in silver and an old copper penny with a hole in it, but Bessie was of an enthusiastic nature.

"Yes, just one of those daisies," she repeated.

Young Egbert laughed.

"That is easy enough," he said; "I'll teach you to paint a daisy."

"Oh, no, you couldn't. I haven't a bit of genius," said Bessie.

"You don't know until you try," said Ned. "But it don't need genius to paint daisies."

"Don't it?" asked Bessie.

"No," said Ned, "it's only a trick of the brush. Sit down here, and I'll show you how to do it."

Bessie looked at her dress and smoothed down her calico apron with her pretty hands, now undeniably pink from long immersion in hot suds, for it was washday.

Surely a painting lesson ought to be a full dress occasion, she thought.

"Oh, how I look to paint," she faltered.

"As sweet as you always do," said Ned. "There, sit down."

He twitched away the landscape which stood upon the easel, and substituted a clean mill board and knelt down behind Bessie's chair.

"Take the palette—so," he said. "Now hold the mahlstick—so. I suppose I'll have to guide your hand for a while." And as mothers teach their babies to make their first great A's and crooked S's he taught the girl to set the petals in a circle and touch in the yellow centre, until after a while she caught the trick and could do it herself. Three or four queer little straggling attempts, three or four better ones, and then with slow precision and eager, anxious eyes she watched what seemed to her a very perfect flower form itself under the tip of her brush.

"Is it good?" she asked Ned.

"Very," said Ned. "Wonderful, considering."

"I cannot believe I did it," said Bessie. And after that she made another with greater ease.

"Oh!" she said at last, with the long drawn sound with which children hail the ascent of a skyrocket. "Oh!"

"Bessie!" screamed a voice in the distance, "Bessie—Bess-ee!"

"There's aunty calling me!" cried the girl, between tears and laughter. "I had forgotten all about her." And thrusting mahlstick, palette and brushes into the young artist's hands she flew toward the house, leaving Ned staring after her in all the blushing rapture of a boy in love, for those few moments had given Cupid a chance to drive an arrow straight to his heart. He had always thought Bessie a very pretty girl. Now she was a divinity, and it seemed to him quite shocking that her aunt, the fat farmer's wife with whom she boarded, should have the right to call her to peel potatoes or stew pumpkin, or that any household service should be required of her.

Ned Egbert had just received the paternal consent to become a professional artist.

It had been his father's hope that he would take business, and the old gentleman had held out for a long time, but at last he had relented. Ned was to study seriously that winter and go to Europe in the spring. Now he was sketching from nature among the Catskills, and, as we see, teaching his landlady's niece to paint daisies.

He gave her many lessons after that. He taught her those simple rules of perspective that astonish those ignorant of drawing. He showed her how to draw a street, and a house, and a room, but though she worked as diligently as she could, considering her multitudinous duties, and ruled myriads of straight lines toward a point of sight and fillep a drawing book with a hundred vistas, the only thing she really seemed to succeed with was the daisy. She grew quite clever at this, and painted them in her friends' albums on the panels of her garret bedroom door, and at the corner of her note paper, and felt great satisfaction in gazing at them after they were finished.

Meanwhile Ned Egbert wrote to his father that he was diligently "studying from nature," and that his gratitude for the paternal clemency was still undiminished.

Autumn had come. The sketches Ned sent home for inspection were all of bare boughs and paths carpeted with yellow leaves and fields of stubble. The summer boarders had vanished like thistledown, and it was pleasant to set up his easel in the warm kitchen, and paint Bessie cleaning spoons, or Bessie paring apples, or Bessie beating eggs.

One day by accident he placed one of these sketches in the parcel he regularly sent home for his father's inspection. The mill board had slipped under the stretcher of a large canvas. When the box was opened his Aunt Penelope pounced on it in a second, and her eyes sparkled as she said:

"Ah, ha!"

"A figure piece," said old Egbert. "And by Jove, the best of the bunch!"

"From nature evidently," said Miss Penelope, "and a very pretty girl." After a few moments' inspection she added, "Brother, I think you might as well let Ned go to Europe this winter."

"Yes, yes; I think I will," answered the old gentleman, regarding the girl making pies" with great satisfaction.

The next evening but one Miss Penelope alighted from the Prattsville stage at Mrs. Beck's door. She had traveled many hours, as on a matter of life and death. Indeed it seemed to her to be one. Her heart was full of anxiety, but she was a woman who knew how to control the expression of her feelings.

She beamed upon the farmer's wife; she beamed upon Bessie, who was decorating a pie plate plate with daisies by the light of a kerosene lamp.

"I know you will put me somewhere for the night," she said to Mrs. Beck, "and I am going to carry Ned away with me to-morrow. Your father was so delighted with your sketches, especially the figure piece, that he thinks you might as well go to Europe at once. Mr. Brush is going and will introduce you to the proper people. Really I think figures are your forte. This young lady must have been your original for the pie baker."

Bessie blushed violently.

"Quite an artist herself," said Miss Penelope, putting up her eyeglass to inspect the pie plate. "Daisies! How pretty! Now, tell me me you are delighted, Ned, to be so near Europe."

But Ned could not speak cheerfully. He was miserable at the thought of being sent away from Bessie—of being divided by the ocean. Fears that Si Hawkins, the dapper clerk at the store, would cut him out troubled him.

He could scarcely have hoped to linger at Bessie's side making sketches of her forever; but Aunt Penelepe's arrival and the news she gave him came like the shock of an earthquake.

It was quite impossible, however, for him to do anything about it. He was swept away by the early stage, with no opportunity to bid Bessie any adieu more tender than might be offered amid the assembled family in the front hall.

His eyes were full of tears; so were Bessie's. What! not one whisper, not one kiss—to tell the truth it would not be the first he had stolen—no, not even one long pressure of the hand. He was in the stage; they were away. Aunt Penelope was talking of art, and he was wishing that he dared cover his face and cry.

"Bessie!" his heart cried out, "Bessie!" but his lips dared not utter a word. And still, when he had reached home and Mr. Brush had been asked to dine with them, and all the talk was of Europe and great painters, and the old masters, and his future prospects, he began to glow again with the old hopes—to dream of the great pictures he would paint. But he did not carry out his resolution of telling his father that he would go in for business in order that he might remain near Bessie, but he sat down and wrote the girl a letter—a long, tender letter—telling her that wherever he should go her image would go with him, and asking her to be his wife one day, and giving her his address in Paris, where he would go first, begging her to write soon.

"And until I get your answer I shall know no peace," he wrote; "though I hope you do not care for Silas Hawkins."

And he drew a little daisy in the corner, and told her that he had kissed it, and begged her to put her lips to it also.

It was a foolish boy's foolish letter, if you will; but he felt very near heaven when he wrote it. Just as he had sealed it his Aunt Penelope popped into the room. Perhaps she had peeped in before.

"I am going to post my letters," she said. "Shall I take any for you?"

Aunt Penelope had beamed so sweetly upon Bessie that the boy had persuaded himself that she secretly sympathized with his love affair. Now she gave him a little arch look, and he returned a grateful glance, and as she opened her reticule dropped his missive into its maw and heard the crisp snap with which it swallowed it up without a misgiving.

Miss Penlope loved her nephew truly, and when she burned the letter in the kitchen range she said to herself:

"I know what is for the poor boy's good far better than he knows himself. That girl is no mate for him and I've no doubt she will be much happier with Silas Hawkins."

You see, she had read the letter before she consigned it to the flames.

Shortly after Ned Egbert left America in company with Mr. Brush, and through the winter evenings Bessie sat painting daisies and thinking of Ned, but no word came to her.

On Sundays Silas Hawkins came and made himself as agreeable as possible, but Ned had no reason to be jealous of him, for when he offered his hand and heart and a prospective grocery business Bessie gently but decisively declined them.

She began to think that the young man had forgotten her, but she knew that she should never forget him. Meanwhile he, with all the novelty of Paris occupying his mind, with his studies, with all Europe before him, still remembered. Nothing could make him forget—not modern art, nor the old masters, nor the bright eyes that often beamed upon him. In time he came to believe that the love had all been on his side, but he should never find any one like Bessie, he said to himself, in all the world.

When he came home a full fledged painter, and opened a studio and had receptions and was spoken of favorably by the critics he had not forgotten her. His life had not been without romance nor had he escaped adventure. He had met woman so beautiful that Bessie could in no wise compare with them; but when he thought of the woman who should one day share his fireside and be the mother of his children, none of these rare beauties arose before him, but instead a simple American face, honest eyes that knew no arts of coquetry—Bessie's face. Bessie's eyes—none other.

At least he thought he must see her once again; he must banish his illusion, if it was one; he must know what Bessie had become; and he went up to Prattsville very shortly and found the Beck homestead where it had been. No Becks were there, however. Mrs. Beck had gone to live with a married son "somewhere west." A new man had the store; he barely remembered Si Hawkins, who had married and "set up in New York." Five years seemed to have changed everything completely, and Ned returned to his studio convinced that it was Bessie whom Hawkins had married.

He mentioned his visit to nobody. A sense of blight and disappointment lay upon him for some days—a feeling that he had lost life's best good. Then he shut the doors of the past behind him and began life in earnest. And now Aunt Penelope, still at the helm and active as ever, began to steer his bark toward the happy isles of matrimony.

It is quite the thing nowadays for æsthetic heiresses to marry fashionable young artists. For an elegant heiress of this sort Aunt Penelope kept sharp lookout, and soon described her in the person of Miss Edna Vale. The spinster had not been quite free of self accusation in that matter of Ned's first love affair. She felt that she should never absolve herself entirely until she saw him in love again, and she constantly pointed out Miss Vale's perfections—her classical features, her graceful movements, her swanlike neck, her low voice, her costumes, now Grecian, now Venetian. Ned could not refuse to acknowledge her beautiful, and at last Aunt Penelope felt that her efforts had not been in vain.

The Vales had given a musicale. Ned and Edna had been together all the evening, and now she had spoken of a rare flower that had just bloomed in the conservatory, and he had asked her to let him see it.

"He will propose there, I am sure," Miss Penelope thought, as they walked away. "I see it in his eye."

She was right. Ned had deliberately made up his mind to ask Miss Vale to be his wife, but no such happy thrills as those which had come to him when he held Bessie's little pink wrist and taught her to paint her first daisy moved him as he offered his arm to Edna.

"I am no longer a boy," he thought; "that sort of thing is over. I suppose it is with every man at 30—I suppose it ought to be."

A soft opal light filled the conservatory. The air was laden with perfume. A sort of soft mist seemed to hover over the plants, and in it he saw a vision—Bessie's face, her hand, a daisy between the fingers. He uttered an inarticulate exclamation. It was gone!

"I beg pardon," he said. "Really, is your conservatory haunted? I thought I saw a ghost behind the roses."

"Oh, that was only Bessie!" said Miss Vale.

"Bessie!" he gasped, "only Bessie!"

"My little sister's maid," said Edna. "She is always gliding about in that ghostly way. She comes here to smell the flowers, and sometimes to get a daisy to copy."

"A daisy?" he repeated, as if in a dream.

Edna was familiar with the fact that a man on the verge of proposing often becomes semi-idiotic. Rather in order to torment him than because she had any interest in her sister's maid she went on:

"Oh, I assure you she is artistic! When she has a holiday, instead of going out in a green frock and a red bonnet to enjoy herself, she shuts herself up and paints daisies. Some one—some sign painter, I presume—taught her to do it once upon a time, and she came from her native wilds to New York with the view of becoming a decorator, I believe. The Church charity found her starving in an empty hall room and persuaded her to go out to service, and mamma tried her in the nursery. She is quite faithful, but such an idiot. The butler wanted to marry her, and mamma tried to talk her into it. Such an opportunity for the girl! But she said she had 'loved once, and never could like any one again.' Mamma feels sure that she was thinking of the sign painter. Of course she has read romances and fancies herself a heroine. Now do look at this flower; is it not splendid?"

Egbert muttered something unintelligible.

Edna saw that he was staring at vacancy across the roses.

"I wonder whether he will drop on his knees, as Capt. McAllister did?" she asked herself as she hid a smile behind her fan and waited for what she thought was coming. But nothing came, and in a moment it flashed upon Edna that the gentleman had either forgotten or repented of his purpose in leading her to the conservatory. What could pique a woman more? Her heart was full of wrath, but she was equal to the emergency. "Why, there is Mrs. Lester," she cried. "I must speak to her!" and away she sped, following a blue satin train that swept past the conservatory door, and leaving Egbert as she hoped to anger and mortification.

For his part, however, Ned felt no such emotions. Beyond the mass of foliage and blossom he saw an open door, and in the passage beyond it he fancied that a woman's figure lingered. Another moment and he had entered the passage. A shadowy figure fled. With two long strides he overtook it, peered into its face and clasped it to his heart; and all those sweet emotions, those tender heart throbs, those enchanting thrills that he thought dead with his lost boyhood returned to him as he whispered:

"Oh, Bessie! I have found you at last, and we must never part again!"

—Mary Kyle Dallas in Fireside Companion.

The World's Fair.

The excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equaled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr. Miles—the Restorative Nervine. It speedily cures nervous prostration, change of life, pain, dullness and confusion in head, fits sleeplessness, the blues, neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. C. W. Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbot & Moss, of Greensburg, Ind., and A. Blackburn of Wooster, O., say that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold, and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and trial bottle free at Charles H. Buss's drug store.

The furniture made for the "Grant room" in the Stewart palace, New York city has been sold at auction. The inlaid and carved pieces in the set which, of course, were made to order, cost Stewart from $2000 to $3000 a piece. Under the hammer the bedstead brought $240; the bureau, $30; the French dresser, $166, and the wardrobe with mirror doors, $200. The figures for the other furniture from the mansion were very low.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c, a bottle, at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

The Pillars of Hercules was the name given in ancient time to the mountains of Calpe and Abyla, standing opposite to each other, the one on the European, the other on the African shore of the straits, which connect the Mediterranean with the Atlantic. These mountains are now called, one the Rock of Gibraltar, the other Jebel Zatout.

Happy Meeting of Two Friends.

John M. Allen, of Charlotte, N. Y. said to his friend, "Parsons, I am about dead with the Gravel, and cannot find help." Mr. Parsons induced Mr. Allen to give Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., a trial. Weeks went by and the friends met. Mr. Allen said, "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has saved my life. It is a sure cure for Gravel."

Cowboys and cavalrymen are usually bow-legged.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN
—IN—
Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS
We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.
C. M. MUNROE. 423 Main Street, Woburn.

Woman's Column.

Mrs. Schliemann means to continue the excavations at Sissurlik, carrying them out in conformity with Dr. Schliemann's plans.

The Princess of Wales has given orders that nothing need be submitted for her inspection, or that of her daughters, in which birds are used as trimming. She sets a good example.

Mrs. Sarah O. Marsh of Quincy, Mich., has been appointed by Gov. Luce a member of the industrial board, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Judge Cooley. Mrs. Marsh is a graduate of Albion College, and is eminently qualified to discharge the duties of the office.

Mrs. Mary C. Shaw, of Pittsburg, Pa., has left her fortune to promote the study of American Archæology and Ethnology. The will provides that the income of the property, about $1,500 a year, shall go to Miss Alice C. Fletcher as long as she lives, to assist her in her researches among the Indians. This is an excellent bequest.

During the past year, the Madison Avenue Depository and Woman's Exchange in New York has paid depositors over $14,000. One woman has received $1,200 during the year from pies alone. The only depositors in this exchange are self-supporting women who otherwise might not find any way to put their work before the public.

The Kansas House of Representatives elected Miss Anna McChord of Herington assistant clerk, and Mrs. Ada C. Runner assistant postmistress, and by resolution appointed Miss Anna Cherry chief enrolling clerk, with seven assistants, all women. Miss McChord is the only officer of the last house re-elected. The Senate elected Miss Netra G. McLaughlin chief enrolling clerk, and she has appointed eleven women enrolling clerks.

Mrs. Catherine Banville, of Washington, D. C., has, since the death of her husband five years ago, carried on his business of horse-shoeing, and is thus supporting and educating her four little boys. Mrs. Banville is said to be a thoroughly practical woman. She has done work for some of the finest stables in Washington, including that of Senator Leland Stanford; and the Sergeant-at-Arms, Capt. Valentine, lately awarded her the contract for this class of work for the U. S. Senate.

Gov. Thayer, of Nebraska, has gone insane through the fatigue and excitement attendant upon the contest over the election. If a woman had lot her mind under such circumstances, or if any assembly of women had behaved as the Legislatures of Nebraska and several other States have lately been doing, it would have been quoted everywhere as a proof that women are not fit for legislators. We shall not say that of the men who have so misbehaved. But it is evident that they need the civilizinfi influence of the "help meet for them."—Woman's Journal.

See What

The well known manager of excursions to Washington, California, and the White Mountains, I. A. Whitcomb, says: I have never had anything do me so much good as your Sulphur Bitters. It is the best spring medicine I ever used. I would advise all who suffer from biliousness and dyspepsia to use Sulphur Bitters, for I know they cured me.

Don't Feel Well,

And yet you are not sick enough to consult a doctor, or you refrain from so doing for fear you will alarm yourself and friends—we will tell you just what you need. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will lift you out of that uncertain, uncomfortable, dangerous condition, into a state of good health, confidence and cheerfulness. You've no idea how potent this peculiar medicine is in cases like yours.

Speaking of American shipbuilders, the Boston Post remarks: "Why not try the simpler and less costly experiment of allowing them to go ahead under more liberal tariff and navigation laws, with other large customers than the Government to work for?" If the Post were less of a Rip Van Winkle it would know by this time that under the McKinley tariff our ship

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 20, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

MAYOR BEAN'S VETOES.

We print in this issue of the JOURNAL the vetoes which Mayor Bean delivered to the Aldermen at a special meeting last Saturday evening in order that the people may read and judge for themselves of their merits. As they have given rise to a great deal of comment, favorable and unfavorable, it is only fair to the Mayor that the public should be put in possession of his reasons, as given in his own language, for rejecting the orders, hence their appearance verbatim in these columns.

The Mayor's veto of the salary order will, we think, command general approbation. Considering the very friendly relations which exist between Clerk Lounsbury and Mayor Bean the veto should be regarded in the light of a heroic act.

But the city's expenses must be kept down, and the rate of taxation must not be increased.

As to the veto of the Ward 6 street light order we are not in a condition to express an intelligent opinion, not having given the matter any serious thought.

This we would remark: if the friction which has already begun to show itself between Mayor Bean and his friends in the City Council on one side, and a majority of the Council on the other, is not soon overcome it will be all the worse for the people.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

General William Tecumseh Sherman died at his home in New York City at half past one o'clock last Saturday afternoon aged 71 years. The news reached Washington immediately and deep sorrow was expressed over the death of the great military chieftain by everybody at the Capital of the Nation where he was loved and honored as one of the great heroes of the late War of the Rebellion.

The whole Nation is in mourning for the loss of General Sherman. He was not only the hero of the War next after General Grant but since its close he has been equally the hero of Washington and New York Society which he loved and in which he shone with a brilliancy unequalled by any, and an idol of the whole country. He was a favorite everywhere and with everybody, and the tears that were shed over his bier came from the heart.

The three greatest Union warriers in the Rebellion—Grant, Sherman and Sheridan—are dead. The first died some six years ago; the "gallant Phil" two or three later; and now comes Sherman, whose "March to the Sea" was one of the most brilliant military campaigns that has been recorded in the history of modern times, and he too has surrendered his sword into the hands of a more powerful enemy than he ever met before. They are all gone, and no one of the three noble warriors will be missed more than Gen. Sherman.

☞ We regret to learn that the Lynn Bee, after a struggle of 10 years, has been obliged to succumb to financial embarrasments and give up the fight. It was the only Democratic daily outside of Boston in this part of Massachusetts and perhaps its bad politics may have had something to do with its demise. The Bee was a bright, ably edited paper, and we are sorry to be obliged to record its decease.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Main St.—For Sale.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.
W. Woodman—Insurance.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
Mrs. F. W. Hill—Prof. Churchill.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Baking Powder.

— Mr. Ward Wyman, an old resident, is quite ill.

— It is hoped that Mr. E. N. Blake will get out again soon.

— There was another heavy rain storm on last Tuesday night.

— C. M. Munroe is selling overcoats at wonderfully cheap figures so people say.

— At 6 A. M. Sunday the mercury was two degrees above zero at Brown's gatehouse.

— The Board of Trade held an important business meeting last Tuesday evening.

— Anyone wishing to buy a "democrat" wagon will do well to read ad. in our business columns.

— Mr. C. Willard Smith makes an important business announcement in the JOURNAL this week.

— The church bells in this city tolled for General Sherman's funeral from 2 to 3.00 yesterday afternoon.

— It is proposed to ask the Railroad authorities to change the name of Central Square station to Park station.

— Mr. Alexander Ellis was seriously threatened with pneumonia last week, but we are glad to hear that he is better.

— Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mentzer of Lexington street are visiting the parents of the former at Northboro, this State, and enjoying life.

— A sunlight assembly will be held in Armory Hall, Stoneham, next Monday afternoon. Street car fare to Stoneham is only 5 cents.

— Thomas H. Hill, Esq., and family started for their new home at Sequachee, Tenn., last Wednesday afternoon. May they prosper and be happy.

— A warm, heavy rain storm prevailed on Monday night. On Monday morning the mercury stood 41 above—39 degrees warmer than on Sunday morning.

— Mr. Charles A. Wood, who succeeded his father as a merchant in this city, talks strongly of seeking in the West a business location and probably a future home.

— The Woburn Co-operative Bank sold at its meeting last week $2,950 at 5 per cent premium. At its next meeting it will have between $3,000 and $4,000 to sell.

— Supt. Sewell has issued a new schedule for the arrival and departure of cars on the No. Woburn Street Railroad which will appear in the next issue of the JOURNAL.

— Yesterday was a gloomy sort of a day. It was neither a February nor a March day, but a little of both—windy, dusty, sunshiny, cold, and generally disagreeable.

— Mr. Charles H. Nichols, who was injured by a fall at his stable at No. Woburn early this month, has got well enough to be out again, for which his many friends will be glad.

— Charles R. Rosenquist of Greenwood Ave. in this city has a calla lily which has 7 blooms and one bud on it. Such a large number of flowers at one time on a calla lily is unusual.

— Miss M. C. Messer of this city has accepted a call from the authorities of Evelyn College for Young Women at Princeton, N. J., to superintend the health of the pupils in that institution.

— Judge P. L. Converse was 69 years old last Saturday, and no one would take him for older than about 57. His step is as elastic as ever and not a faculty is in the least degree impaired.

— Hall & Jaquith keep the old grain mill buzzing in the liveliest kind of a manner. It is gratifying to be informed that the firm are doing a firstclass grain and feed business for it is a square-toed house.

— Mr. Webster Woodman at Mr. C. M. Munroe's clothing store, represents the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York in this city to the entire satisfaction of every firm doing business with it.

— Auctioneer Gregory tells in another place in this paper all about his approaching vendue of what remains of the stock in trade of Mr. Charles A. Wood, to which announcement particular attention is called.

— Music at the First Congregational church for Sunday A. M., Feb. 22, 1891, will be:

Organ Prelude. "Communion in E minor." E. Batiste.
Antiphonal Chant. "Venite in A flat."
Choir Anthem. "Come unto me."
Organ Postlude. "Marcia Religioso". E. Silas.

— Rev. W. A. Start will preach at Concert Hall at 3 p. m. next Sunday instead of 2.30. Please notice the change of time. Mr. Start's subject will be 'The Universalist view of the Doctrine of Repentance, Conversion and Regeneration."

— By invitation of Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor of the M. E. Church, Crystal Fount Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F., will attend services at that church Sunday evening, March 1. The pastor will preach a sermon appropriate to the visit of the Lodge.

— C. Roose, A. Soderberg and C. G. Josephson from Cambridge had charge of the Scandinavian meetings last Sunday, the first as preacher and the other two as leaders of the singing. They are very good guitar players, and played and sung many new hymns during the two meetings.

— It is a fact that nowhere in this country can furniture be purchased at such low prices as at Paine's Furniture Warerooms, on Canal street, in Boston. This is the reason why in the last twelve years this establishment has steadily grown until it is now the largest of its kind on this continent.

— On Tuesday evening the Salvation Army will give a temperance entertainment in Y. M. C. A. Hall, which will be worth attending. First-rate musical talent has been engaged for it. There will also be "swearing in of recruits." The Army is gaining ground here and is already quite a strong religious organization.

— Officials of the East Middlesex Street Railroad Company are considering the advisability of adopting electricity on their line from Chelsea to Woburn. When this has been done, then the North Woburn cars will be next in order, and away we'll whirl to Medford or Woburn propelled by this powerful agency.—Winchester Star.

— Chairman W. F. Kenney of the School Board ordered flags to be hoisted and float at half-mast over all the school houses in this city yesterday as a token of respect to the memory of General Sherman. Flags from Municipal Building, the postoffice, flagstaff, and other places waived at half-mast during the funeral of the old hero yesterday.

— Mr. Lawrence Reade will surrender the Woburn Centre postoffice, that has been so well conducted by him for the last four years, to his successor, Mr. Arthur Wyman, on Saturday, Feb. 28. Mr. Reade and his efficient assistants will be greatly missed. They will retire with the best wishes of this community for their future prosperity and happiness.

— The postmaster of Quincy visited this town last week for the purpose of inspecting the postoffice to enable him to prepare plans for a new office in that city. After looking it over a visit was made to the Woburn office which is claimed to be a model of perfection. The visitors, we understand, preferred the Winchester office to all others visited.—Winchester Star. As an exhibition of boiled down, concentrated, unadulterated gall the forgoing "takes the cake."

— The twelfth annual report of the State Board of Lunacy and Charity of Massachusetts contains a highly complimentary notice of the condition and management of Woburn Almshouse, of which Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Brown are the efficient and popular Master and Matron. The institution was visited on May 26 last by the Board's visitor and the following is the report as printed: "This almshouse has had many additions from time to time, is in good repair, and thoroughly well managed," and then goes on to describe the rooms, inmates, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have received flattering notices of their management from the Board every year they have been at their present post. No better people for it could possibly be secured.

— At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen called by Mayor Bean and held on last Saturday evening the Mayor submitted his veto message on the orders of the Board for additional electric street lights in Ward 6, and for an increase of salery of the Clerk of the Common Council and Committees. The Mayor objected to additional lights because they were not needed; and to the salaries of the Clerk because he thinks they are high enough already. No action was taken on the veto, and the meeting was adjourned.

— Mr. John Ferguson has resigned the office of Overseer of the Poor after a service of 8 years. He was first elected in 1882 and with the exception of one year has served continuously ever since. He has filled the position with ability, impartially, and kindly, and it is believed that his resignation will be regretted by all classes. During all these years Mr. Ferguson has virtually been at the head of the Poor Department and his administration of its affairs has been profitable and satisfactory to all concerned. He will continue to fill the office of City Assessor.

— We recommend this community to read the following complimentary endorsement of Mr. Battis as an elocutionist: "To the Public: In addition to the certificate of graduation issued to Mr. Battis, we wish to say that, as a student, he is certainly unsurpassed; and, as a reader, he is excelled by few. All who hear him unite in pronouncing him one of the most pleasing readers on the rostrum.—PROFESSOR AND MRS. H. P. ROUNTREE, Principals of Chicago School of Oratory." Do fail to take the opportunity of hearing Mr. Battis at Miss Fosdick's Banjo and Guitar Concert on March 19.

— A civil service examination of candidates for positions on the Police force will be held in this city at 4 P. M. on next Tuesday, Feb. 24. Citizens who have been residents of Woburn for six months past have the right to apply. Blank applications may be obtained of the City Clerk. Applicants must be between 22 and 40 years of age, 5 feet, 8 inches in height, and weigh at least 140 pounds. Applicants should apply on or before Feb. 19. The age limitation does not apply to persons who served in the U. S. army or navy during the rebellion and received an honorable discharge. Chief Examiner Henry Sherwin will be present.

— In 1857 the late Mr. Dwight F. Eager was appointed Chief of Police of Woburn, and Judge Converse was first commissioned a Trial Justice in 1858. He has served as such and as Judge of the Fourth District Court ever since, and the Chiefs who, after Mr. Eager, have been his contemporaries were: Samuel R. Dolliver, Harris Johnson, Horace Collamore, John W. Day, Elisha F. Mann, John E. Tidd, Ambrose Bancroft, Charles K. Conn, Wilmot D. Nelson and William R. McIntosh. The one holding the office the greatest number of years was John W. Day, whose term was 9 years, and Charles K. Conn came next with a record of 6 years.

— The Scandinavian sale table and auction in Y. M. C. A. Hall last Saturday night was not as well patronized as it should have been. Over 100 Scandinavians were present and did the best they could by bidding off the different articles at a good deal higher price than the same could be bought for in the stores. About one half of the articles sold had been given by Scandinavians, and the other half by the merchants and a few other kind friends. The whole netted about $165, which amount goes towards the Scandinavian church now being erected in this city. Although this sale had been freely advertised, invitation to all, and free admission, not a single sale was made to any but Scandinavians.

— Several people in this city, so we are told, have recently lost considerable money by the collapse of "Investment" societies or companies, into joining which they had been cajoled by the promise of "big interest" on their "investments." Any scheme that promises 25, 50, and 100 percent interest to the shareholders, especially where they cannot show sound financial backing or basis, as not one in a hundred of these "Investment" companies can, should be given a wide birth and severely let alone. Some of them are bursting every little while and it looks as though all of them would finally kick the bucket. They are on the "Mrs. Howe's Bank" principle, and it is thought the present Legislature will provide measures for the suppression of most if not all of them. A good deal of anxiety is, we hear, felt by numbers of people in this city who have got into "Investment" companies a good deal deeper than they wish they had.

— The Woburn public may not realize to what extent it is indebted to Wellesley College for its many liberally educated young women. Since the opening of the College in 1875, twenty-five or more Woburn girls have received a partial or complete collegiate education there. Wellesley is no exception to nearly all similar institutions in needing to call occasionally upon her graduates for substantial pecuniary assistance. At the present time her alumnæ all over the U. S. are combining in an effort to pay a debt incurred in the erection of a much needed building. Woburn girls who have been students at Wellesley feel loyally bound to help their Alma Mater, and they ask their Woburn friends who have a common interest in forwarding the cause of higher education for women, to co-operate with them. Prof. Churchill of Andover will give an evening of readings in Music Hall, Woburn, Friday evening, March 6, under the auspices of Wellesley Alumnæ, the avails of which will contribute towards lessening the afore-mentioned debt. For further particulars see advertisement in this paper.

— The ladies of the Industrial Society of the Baptist church held a reception for the members of the Sunday School connected with the church Thursday evening, Feb. 12, at half past seven o'clock. Mrs. D. D. Winn, President, and Mrs. P. E. Bancroft, Vice-President, of the Society received their guests in the Ladies Parlor and after a social hour adjourned to the Lecture Room to be again cordially welcomed by Mrs. Winn and entertained with vocal and instrumental music. Mr. Mendum, Principal of the High School, kindly contributed to the enjoyment of the occasion by his very efficient rendering of selections, both pathetic and humorous. We understand a larger programme was intended but illness prevented the accomplishment of their plans. Ice cream, cake, and coffee were served with the usual liberality of the Industrial Society. Their kindness was fully appreciated, judging from the large attendance and the hearty and prolonged applause which greeted their efforts in behalf of the school. After another social hour they separated, thanking them for gracious reception, and hoping that the Ladies who had commenced this good work for the schools might be spared many years to continue to do likewise.—ONE OF THE SCHOOL.

Great Bazaar and Fair.

Liberty Council, No. 39, O. U. A. M., and Martha Washington Council, No. 14, D. of L., of this city, opened their grand 5-days Bazaar and Fair in Mechanics Hall corner of Main and Walnut streets (old M. E. meeting-house) last Tuesday evening with interesting public ceremonies and an eclat unsurpassed. It was accomplished under the happiest of auspices and most encouraging of omens. There was martial music of the best quality by the Woburn Brass Band, and street marching, and very fine orchestral music by the Woburn Orchestra, a popular organization of this city.

At 6.45 the Woburn Brass Band headed a procession of Stoneham and Woburn members of the Order to the station to receive State Councillor Joseph H. Simonds of Boston and staff. At the hall the Fair was formally opened by Chairman Orin Stevens, Jr., who was followed by State Councillor Joseph H. Simonds, Mayor George F. Bean, State Councillor's Secretary C. C. Littlefield, and members of the Staff in appropriate remarks.

At the hall the JOURNAL reporter found the display of goods, wares and merchandise a large and excellent one. The merchants and manufacturers had contributed handsomely to it, and a finer showing could hardly be conceived of. A unique and creditable display of Electric supplies is shown by the Johnston Electric Train Signal Co., who occupy Mr. Horace N. Conn's office. Here are goods made in Woburn, made carefully and with a knowledge of the most modern demands. It has taken upward of $20,000 to reach the condition by which such work could be turned out and the examples shown on their screen ought to gratify the stockholders of the Company as to the Company's efficiency, and sooth the anxious minds of those who never invested.

The Engine and Car with the signal attached, also the big glass push button, attract the attention of the visitor. Following is a partial list of the objects shown in this room; large, medium and small push buttons; bronze, brass and enamel front door push buttons; dust proof, skeleton, plain armature and iron box bells; burglar alarms, floor pushes, coppers, levers, couplers and fancy buzzers.

Two stories of the large building are used for purposes of the Fair and the contents of the various rooms attract much attention. It would require the space of a moderate sized volume to contain the names of the principal features of the exhibition. The entertainment on the opening night was furnished by the Campbell family, James Darmody in his lightning drill, Miss Marguerite B. Dorr, reader, and the Woburn Orchestra, and was of the very best kind.

The Fair, like wine, grows better as it grows older, and rare inducements are offered for attendance on this and tomorrow evenings. It closes on Saturday night. The entertainments which are given every evening are worth a great deal more than the cost of tickets, to say nothing of the splendid display of mechanical and other products which are open to inspection of the visitor.

Several special featurs add interest to the Fair. Medals are offered for the best shots in the W. H. S. B.; there is a set of Past Sachem's Regalia, I. O. R. M., to be voted for; ex-Councillor's Regalia, O. U. A. M.; gold badge for the most popular foreman of the Woburn Fire Department; a gold badge for the most populas Chief of Police of Woburn, Winchester and Stoneham; guessing contests and other lively things.

As remarked, this and tomorrow evenings will witness the capsheaf of interest at this great Bazaar and Fair, and, as the cause for which it is held is worthy one, everybody ought to patronize it.

Dedication of New M. E. Church.

Arrangements have been perfected for the dedication of the new Methodist Episcopal church in this city to take place on Monday next, Feb. 23. It is expected to be an occasion of deep interest.

At 10.30 a. m. a Ministers' Meeting will be held in the new edifice, and at 12.30 p. m. a collation will be served by the ladies of the church to visitors and invited guests.

At 2.30, p. m. will be carried out the following:

ORDER OF SERVICE.

1. Organ Voluntary.
   George H. Ryder.
2. Anthem.
3. Prayer.
4. Opening Service.
5. Duet.
   Mr. D. E. Page and Mrs. F. A. Partridge.
6. First Scripture Lesson.
7. Solo.
   Mrs. F. A. Partridge.
8. Second Scripture Lesson.
9. Hymn No. 770. Tune, Dennis.
10. Sermon.
    Rev. O. A. Curtis, D.D.
11. Address.
    Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D.D.
12. Psalm.
13. Dedication Hymn.
    By Rev. Mark Trafton, D. D.
14. Presentation of building by Trustees
15. Declaration.
16. Dedicatory Prayer.
17. Benediction.

In the evening a sermon will be preached by Prof. Townsend of Boston University.

A gentleman at Newnan, Ga., who was married about ten years ago, got such a good wife that on each Christmas morning since he has presented a $10 gold piece to the minister who officiated.

Two Vetoes.

At a called meeting of the Board of Aldermen held last Saturday evening the following vetoes, which speak for themselves, were handed in by Mayor Bean:

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN: On the fifth instant the following order passed your Honorable Board:

"Be it ordered that the salary of the Clerk of the Common Council and of the Clerk of Committees be established at the rate of two hundred dollars and four hundred dollars respectfully per annum."

This order was adopted by the Common Council on February sixth.

I return it herewith without my approval. If there were no question involved except whether the salaries now attached to these positions were fully commensurate with the duties performed by the incumbent thereof I should be ready to agree with the City Council in providing for an increase. The time occupied in attending to the duties of the positions is very considerable and the amount of detail large, and both are, I think, beyond what was anticipated when the present salaries were fixed. I, however, regard the present as an inopportune time to take the first steps in a course, the result of which would be to materially increase the annual cost of supporting the city government. We should be just to the taxpayers before we are generous to salaried officials. The emolument attached to the position here involved as well as others is now sufficient to render competent men ready to seek and occupy them. We shall be justified in raising by taxation, during the current year, only such an amount as will serve to conduct the city's affairs on an economical basis. Present unavoidable demands on the city treasury are heavy and until they are reduced or the source of income increased so that the funds at our disposals are sufficient to warrant an increase in current expenses we must proceed with caution and practice economy.

I feel constrained to object to this order as not in line with the policy which it seems to me we are bound at present to follow.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) GEORGE F. BEAN,
Mayor.

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN: I return herewith, without my approval, an order providing for the erection of six incandescent electric lights in accordance with the petition of E. H. Perley and others, which order originated in your Honorable Board and has been adopted by both branches of the City Council and reached me on the seventh instant.

I am led to this action by both special and general considerations. I have personally visited the section where the order prescribes that the lights shall be erected and after careful inspection I am convinced that the public good and convenience does not, at this time, call for or justify the action proposed. All the locations named in the order are within the limits of the territory recently opened by the North Woburn Land and Inprovement Company. Upon this section there are now about twelve residences whose occupants and owners would evidently be benefited by the introduction of the lights. They are the petitioners, I understand, whose request you have so favorably considered. While the benefit to accrue directly to those who ask the city council to take action involving public expense is an element to be considered in all cases, and while this benefit may be in some instances so great and the call for it so imperative as to afford ground in itself for an affirmative response, yet it must be admitted that we ought to consider in each case whether there is an apparent public need coupled with the admitted private advantage which the petitioners seek.

I do not regard the case in question as one presenting an imperative private need or supported by any consideration of public necessity.

The streets named in order are in a new section and have been recently laid out. There is no through travel upon them and I am informed, and judge from the appearance of the streets, that there is very little travel of any kind, except on foot, and even this is practically confined to the few residents of the section and those having occasion to call at their houses. This is an outlying district of North Woburn, which itself is an outlying ward of the city. It lies one side from frequently travelled highways. If it be claimed that there is a prospect of building to any considerable extent in the near future in this section it should be said in reply that the time to put in these lights will be when a more extensive occupation and use of these streets presents a better claim for the service than is now put forward.

But I object to this measure on more general and broader grounds than those already suggested. Within the last six years the expense of lighting our streets has increased more than 75 per cent and at present we expend annually in the vicinity of $7,000 in this department. I do not wish to be understood as intimating that I regard this increase in cost of street lighting as not on the whole quite necessary, nor do I think that the great improvement which the electric system has introduced is not to be viewed with satisfaction. I certainly would not advocate reducing the number of lights now in use. I am convinced, however, that no additional lights should be contracted for and the annual expense of lighting should not be increased at present unless cases are presented upon some much travelled street, or in a thickly settled section, where the darkness is a recognized inconvenience both to those residing in the vicinity and to the public generally and is also an evident source of danger to travellers. There are, I have no doubt, numerous locations in the city where electric lights could be placed so as to be of decided advantage to many people; but if we were to attempt to put a light in every place of this sort and to illuminate our highways from one end of the city to the other, we should find ourselves involved in an undertaking and the city involved by us in an outlay beyond the capacity of either to support.

I do not consider that the petitioners in this case present any stronger claim than might be offered by residents in many other sections. Indeed my observation satisfies me that in other parts of the city much stronger claims for additional lights could be presented. Several petitions are now in the hands of the committee on street lights and the experience of your predecessors indicates that other like requests will continue to come in. In the present condition of our finances, with the difficult problem before us of confining our appropriations within such bounds as will make the burden of taxation lighter and at the same time properly provide for our schools, our police, fire, water and other important departments, with an absolute uncertainty existing as to whether we can give to the street light department more than present contracts require to be appropriated with imperative demands upon us, which alone place our tax rate higher than the rate in nearly every other city in the Commonwealth, I feel compelled to veto the measure which, while it will benefit a few individuals, does not appear to me in any sense a public necessity. It is, to be sure, not a large sum which will be required to meet the annual cost of these six lights but the expense involved does not affect the question whether there is justification for it, and besides I cannot discover the point where we could logically stop in our favorable action on petitions of this and similar nature if we pass this order.

I do not take the position that no petition or measure involving a public work and outlay should be granted or passed. On the contrary I maintain that we are bound to carefully consider each case as it arises and in cases like the present one I regard it essential that the proper committee should inspect the location affected. Such investigation may develope facts which will satisfy us that our duty as public servants will be performed if we do what is asked of us.

In this case I have endeavored to investigate fully and decide honestly. I shall pursue the same course hereafter. I regret that my conclusions do not agree with the opinions expressed by the votes of a majority of the members of the two branches of the City Council. I shall be glad if the reasons which I have given for the position I have taken shall commend themselves to your consideration.

Respectfully submitted,
GEO. F. BEAN, Mayor.
Woburn, Feb. 14, 1891.

Y. P. S. C. E.

To the efforts of Mr. Chester R. Smith, President of the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor of the First Congregational Church of Woburn, was largely due the notable religious-temperance meeting held at that church on last Friday evening at which Hon. J. G. Woolley, the great Temperance Evangelist, next to Moody one of the most wonderfully successful preachers of modern times, was the principal speaker. He has been associated with Moody in his series of great Boston revival meetings and is one of the most eloquent and captivating men engaged in evangelistic work. The Society and public felt they owed Mr. Smith a large debt of gratitude for his successful efforts in getting the distinguished preacher to come to Woburn, for they were charmed with his eloquence and warmly welcomed the good he must have accomplished.

The church was filled with representatives of our best society. Would that it might have been filled with a class who do not stand so high in the world's regards but whose souls are just as dear to God as are those of the others, for the sick only need a physician. When such a rare opportunity is offered there ought to be more going out into the highways and byways and ditches for attendants and listeners and subjects for salvation. It is the sinners that need saving.

Introductory to the preaching there was a praise service given by a chorus of over fifty voices, conducted by Prof. William H. Clarke, who also presided at the organ. It lasted 15 minutes and was a delightful part of the order of exercises. A charming feature of the song service was the singing by Mrs. Walter C. Bailey who has been contributing a share with her beautiful voice to the deep interest ot the Moody meetings in Boston of late. During the meeting she sang "The Ninety and Nine," "Calvary," "A Sinner Like Me," and in each her full, sweet, melodious voice held her listeners spellbound and brought tears to many eyes unused to them. This praise service was truly a delightful part of the meeting.

After reading of the Scriptures and Invocation by Rev. Dr. March, Rev. Hugh Montgomery introduced Mr. Woolley in brief but appropriate words, when the eloquent Evangelist came to the front and gave an address which those who heard it will not soon forget. It was eloquent. It appealed to the head and heart alike. His words took right hold of the understanding as well as the emotions; it was a strong, earnest, honest appeal for a better life, and its effect on the listeners, judging by the attention they gave, must have been deep and salutary.

Fourth District Court Judgeship.

As will be seen in another column, the Governor has nominated Ex-Mayor Johnson of Woburn to be Trial Justice of the Fourth District Court at Woburn, to succeed Judge Converse. It appears from all that can be learned, that the resignation papers and also the petition favoring Mr. Johnson were forwarded to the Governor simultaneously. This was the first the public had heard of the resignation, which caused surprise, but not so much as did the petition following so closely at its heels, the suddenness of which was most bewildering and startling.

Judge Littlefield, who for the past seven years has acted in Mr. Converse's absence, was rather taken aback when he learned of the resignation and petition. His friends say that inasmuch as Mr. Littlefield has most acceptably filled this office, at times too when cases of the utmost importance were before it, requiring unusual care, that it would have been but just had he been given an opportunity to present his claims for the position.

But it was all done so slick. Even before Judge Converse's papers had gone forward, it is said, Mr. Johnson's friends were actively at work procuring the signatures of the Democratic committee of Woburn, Stoneham and Winchester, effectively barring out all climants. It was shrewdly done. Mr. Johnson will without doubt most acceptably fill the position and his numerous friends in Winchester tender him their congratulations.—Winchester Star.

Wealth crowds poverty off the grand stand at the horse race, but Brussels soap, through merit alone, is crowding all other soaps out of washtub society.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

MISS M. L. BANCROFT,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

A Grand Society Event.

The second annual Officers ball of the W. H. S. B. was given in Lyceum Hall last Friday evening under the personal direction of an efficient management and proved to be a party that will not be forgotten very soon by the large assembly of ladies and gentlemen who participated in it. It was an evening dress event in which Woburn "society" shone and sparkled and scintillated more brilliantly than on any similar occasion this season; where youth, beauty and gallentry, and mellow years and manners, fair maids, stately matrons, and manly grace and chivalry, met and mingled and enjoyed together the rare pleasures of the evening. The ladies showed many beautiful dresses and exquisite taste in arranging them. There were rich silks, satins, costly laces, all gotten up a la mode, in which feminine charms were most attractively displayed; jewels and gems of the first water sparkled throughout the hall; the air was redolent with sweet perfumes of rare bloom; and joy and gladness and high spirits reigned in all hearts, animated the faces, and enhanced the personal lovliness of all.

Not less than 75 couples participated in the terpsichorean delights and the gathering of spectators was very large and in style the most fashionable which can be found in our city.

The Hall was splendidly decorated for the party and presented a very gay appearance. The stage contained plants, vines, and a profusion of choice flowers which greatly enhanced the beauty of the scene.

Carter's famous Boston Orchestra, the best in New England and unsurpassed by any, furnished choicest music for the dancers and for the pleasure of those ladies and gentlemen who were there to see, listen and enjoy. The Orchestra was warmly complimented for its admirable musical work.

A superb supper was served by Caterer Holdsworth.

The grand march was led by Major Irving R. Bancroft of the Battalion, and Miss Carrie Crane, daughter of Capt. John P. Crane of Academy Hill—a fair couple to look upon and graceful in ball-room deportment. The Major appeared of course in full military uniform, while his fair partner was elegantly attired in a rich cream-colored dress trimmed with gold, and with a bunch of white flowers in her hair she looked very lovely.

Major Bancroft was floor director, with Captain J. Chester Hanson, assistant, and the following acting as aids; Captain Edwin K. Porter, Adjutant Elliot F. Trull, Quartermaster George G. Barker, Lieutenant Patrick D. Carney, Lieutenant Walter L. Dodge, and Sergeant Major Redmond E. Walsh, Lieut. F. W. Hovey.

The reception committee was composed of past officers of the Battalion, viz: Capts. Homer B. Grant, Harry Brown, J. Henry Parker, Jr., Arthur C. Wyer and John E. Gilcreast, Lieutenants William W. Crosby, J. Lambton Skinner, Peter Caulfield, Fred W. Prior, and Leonard W. Buchanan and Adjutant G. W. Buchanan.

Among the visitors from neighboring High School Battalions were: Colonel Morton Aldrich, English High School, Boston; Capt. Osborne H. Pitcher, East Boston High School; Lieut. David F. Savage, East Boston High School; Capt. George E. Breckenridge, Dorchester High School; Capt. Fred H. Hird, Dorchester High School; Sergeant Major Harry G. Hamlet, Dorchester High School; Capt. L. G. Bent, Reading High School; Lieut. Edward Cummings, Mitchell School, Billerica; Sergeant Major Jerry N. Bowlby, Drum Major, Albert D. Berry, and Albert S. Keen, Malden High School; Captain C. Marshall Forest, Lieutenant C. D. Starbird, Jr., of Co. A, Lieutenant Timothy Halloran, of Co. B, Lieutenant Donald Campbell, of Co. C, Captain Fred Shepard, of Co. D, Adjutant George A. Brothers and Sergeant Major Arthur S. Coburn, all of the Lowell Battalion: Captain W. E. Chick, Lieutenant T. W. Wyman, Lieutenant W. H. Belcher, Drum Major E. B. Conant.

The Woburn Mechanic Phalanx was worthily represented by Captain William C. Parker, Lieutenant Joseph C. Larock, Sergeant George S. Cutler, Corporal Homer B. Grant, Corporal George W. Buchanan, Corporal Edward F. Wyer, Private Clarence E. Littlefield, Private Arthur C. Wyer.

Among the prominent ladies and gentlemen who were guests of the Battalion may be mentioned: Mayor George F. Bean and wife, Alderman Wm. F. Davis and wife, Captain John P. Crane, Military Instructor Samuel W. Mendum, Mr. James Skinner and wife, Mr. Herbert B. Dow, Senator Edwin F. Wyer, Major Ambrose Bancroft and wife, Captain William R. Bennett, Charles D. Adams Esq. and wife, Mr. Henry M. Aldrich and wife, Auditor Elwyn G. Preston, Mr. S. Franksford Trull and wife, Mr. Frank B. Dodge and wife, Mr. Horace Bailey and wife, of Winchester, Mr. Willard F. Sawyer and wife, Mr. Frank E. Wetherell and wife, Mrs. Edith Crowell, of Cambridge, Water Commissioner E. B. Parkhurst, Mr. Edwin B. Blanchard and wife, Mr. Joseph H. Parker and wife, Mr. Charles L. Grammer and wife, Mr. W. S. Cobb and wife, Mr. John M. Wallace and wife, Mr. Edward L. Shaw and wife, Mr. Winthrop Hammond and wife, Mr. Elmore A. Pierce and wife, Mr. Bonnelli and wife, Mrs. Lottie Woodman Ham, Mrs. Alonzo T. Young, Mrs. Frank F. Dodge, Mrs. William C. Parker, Miss Katie Ramsdell, Miss Flora Parkhurst, Miss Mary H. Eaton, Miss Bertha Cummings, Miss Stella Lincoln, Miss Mary Moore, Miss Ada Munroe, Miss Grace Parkhurst, Miss Flora Nichols, Miss Fannie Menchin, Miss Lizzie Caulfield, Miss Annie Caulfield, Miss Alice Ruggles, Miss Mabel Ruggles, Fannie Ruggles, Miss Mary Waters, Miss Evelyn Simonds, Miss Helen L. Nichols, Miss Whitman, Miss Edith Davis, Miss Mabel Skinner, Miss Victoria Maxwell, Miss Edith Ramsdell, Miss Florine York, Miss Abbie Richards, Miss Florence Ferguson, Miss Helen Ordway, Miss Alice Champney, Miss Alice Grammer, Miss Blanche Rogers, Miss Madeline Bartlett, Miss Bertha Remick, Miss Bicknell, of Melrose, Miss Maud Wood, Miss Ella Cardinal, Miss Mary Parker, Miss Mabel Moore, Miss Mamie Maxwell, Miss Porter, Dr. Wilbur A. Reynolds, Mr. Clarence A. Pierce, Mr. Herbert W. Munn, Mr. Wallace Davis, Mr. Harry H. Young, Mr. Frank Menchin, Mr. Charles G. Lund, Mr. Eugene Brooks, Mr. George J. Munroe, Mr. John Buck, Mr. Samuel Bartlett, Mr. Thomas Henry, Mr. Wm. Russell, Mr. Warren Menchin, Mr. George Russell, Mr. Frank Sprague, Mr. E. Q. Brackett, Mr. A. W. Parker, Mr. Harry Davis, Mr. George Barber, Mr. E. D. Berry, Mr. Grafton Murdock, Mr. Oliver M. Wade, Jr., Mr. DeLoriea, Mr. Buss, Mr. Bert Maguire, Mr. Harry Hartwell, Mr. Charles O'Brien, Mr. F. Parker, Mr. Joseph Callahan, Mr. George H. Taylor, Mr. Frank Sawyer, Mr. Alfonzo P. Tabor, Mr. Patrick B. Hickey, Mr. E. A. Maguire, Mr. L. Eugene Brown, Mr. Fred Seaver, Mr. John Cardinal, Mr. George Ferguson, Mr. James Ordway, Mr. Leon Parkhurst, Mr. John Andrews and Mr. W. R. Sawyer.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Mr. Johnson Has to Wait.

The Governor's nomination of E. F. Johnson of Woburn as Justice of the Fourth District Court of eastern Middlesex was not confirmed by the Executive Council. This was not, however, due to opposition to the appointment, but to the fact that Judge Converse, the present incumbent of the office, has resigned to take effect July 1, and the law governing appointments requires a Judge to take the oath of office within three months after his confirmation. In consequence of this, Judge Johnson will have to wait until after March 1 before being confirmed.—Boston Globe.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: The Inspiration of the Bible: How God reveals himself. Lecture by the pastor at 7 p. m.

BAPTIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: Salvation. Christian Endeavor at 6 p. m. Service of song followed by a short Bible Reading at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Church Covenant meeting on Friday evening.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m

HAMBURGS

— AND —

LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

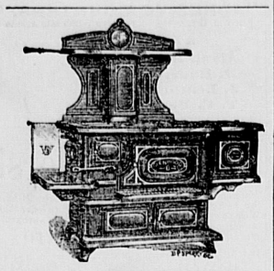
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

[From Saturdry Evening Mercury.]

A Warning to Investors.

THE DANGEROUS GROWTH OF RUSHLIGHT "INVESTMENT" COMPANIES IN MASSACHUSETTS.

In view of the numerous "investment" companies which have recently sprung up here in Massachusetts, particularly within the past month or two, we are prompted to give a warning to those most likely to be drawn into the meshes of their well-spread net, as such as they seek to entrap are those of the poorer classes, who have, by hard struggling, saved a few dollars against the time of need and are anxious to increase the amount of their saving as much as possible.

These people are not of necessity what might be termed ignorant by any means, but their condition in life has been such that they know comparatively little about investments and are too apt to part with their money without making proper investigation as to the responsibility of those with whom they propose to invest their spare funds.

Apropos of this subject, we are reminded of an anecdote related of John Randolph, the great statesman, who one day visited a fair where a horse race was in progress. He was approached by a sharper and importuned to stake something on the result of the race, the sharper adding, "My friend here, Mr. Brown, will hold the stakes." "Yes," replied the Roanoke statesman, in his squeaking voice, "but who'll hold Brown?"

If those who contemplate investing would consult experienced financiers in regard to the number of concerns which are considered reliable, and in which they (the financiers) would be willing to risk their funds, the inexperienced investor would be thunderstruck with the small number which are considered safe. To aid those who have misgivings as to whom to entrust their money, we have but this advice: First, ascertain if there is any one to "hold Brown," but even then it may be necessary to find out if those back of him are not equally irresponsible.

But, unquestionably, the better way would be to select a concern offering chances for small investments which has some tangible proof that it possesses the means wherewith to meet its obligation at maturity, and does not offer returns on your money out of all proportion to its earning power in these times of low interest. Such an institution is the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York and we mention the fact simply because we know that we are discharging a duty which should be regarded as imperative by every conscientious journalist who has the interest of the wage-earners at heart.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York is the strongest financial institution in the world and owns enough real estate in Boston and New York to mount up into the millions, to say nothing of its other assets and the profits from its great business annually.

Now this company writes policies for the greatest financiers in the world, but recognizing that it could be of great benefit to another class who constitute the great majority of our people, it issues what are termed "Consul Bonds." These bonds can be purchased by persons of limited means, because the company sells them on the instalment plan.

They pay a better rate of interest than a United States bond and are just as safe, incidentally provide insurance under certain conditions, and secure a large annuity for old age. If the small investor will investigate his chances for returns with the Mutual Life Insurance Company's plans and is not satisfied that they are the best in every respect offered for his or her consideration, such information we will gladly use for the benefit of our readers at the earliest day.

If Not, Why Not?

In soap, as in every other article of merchandise, the profits are largest on the inferior articles, and it is but human nature for the groceryman to put those latter out whenever he can. A good and economical housekeeper, knowing this, does not content herself with ordering up "some soap," but she says: "Mr. Allspice, put me up half dozen of Brussels soap, and if you have not got it—get it. I don't care for other than Brussels. It's economical."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Nearly forty years ago $40 was stolen from a citizen of Lancaster, Pa. Recently he received a letter inclosing $40, the sum lost, and $10 for interest. He does not know sent it.

GENTLEMEN!

DO YOU WEAR THE

"EIGHMIE" SHIRT?

If you do we cannot tell you anything about it for you know it is the best.

If you do not we want to tell you

It is the Best Fitting Shirt Made.

Made of the Best Wamsetta Cotton. Laundered and Unlaundered.

Prices of Unlaundered: 1st quality $1.00, 3 for $2.75. 2nd quality 75 cents each.

Try them and you will wear no other.

C. Hillard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

New Books.

HISTORY OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY, MASSACHUSETTS, WITH BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES ILLUSTRATED WITH PORTRAITS, ETC., 3 Vols, 4to; Edited by D. Hamilton Hurd. Philadelphia: J. W. Lewis & Co., 1890.

Strictly speaking these three large handsomely printed and elegantly bound volumes do not, as the name of the work indicates, contain a history of the county of Middlesex, but, on the other hand, barring a brief sketch of it, the contents consist of histories of the great number of towns which comprise this county, with pen and steel-plate pictures of some of their prominent citizens, and further illustrated by scenes of historic interest and more than local fame.

Mechanically the work has been admirably done by its publishers, and although the volumes are somewhat ponderous (each containing some 700 or 800 pages) and rather unwieldly for constant use, still they are well calculated to adorn and set off the shelves of a bookcase or a parlor centre table and in their black and gold covering they make an attractive appearance. The portraits of eminent men, mostly steel-plate, executed by the best of workmen, which are profusely scattered through the three heavy tomes, and other illustrations, greatly enhance the attractiveness of the work and will add materially to the interest which the citizens of Middlesex county will doubtless take in it.

The editor seems to have discharged his duty with fidelity and ability so far as we are able to judge. His selection of local historians to perform the literary labor furnished evidence of his fitness for the responsible position, for "the right man for the right place" seems to have been selected for such duty in every instance.

To furnish the History of Woburn for the work Editor Hurd certainly made no mistake. Mr. William L. Cutter, Librarian of the Woburn Public Library, was the gentleman chosen and the choice was a judicious one in every particular. Mr. Cutter is a natural historical writer. Historical research has occupied much of his time in the past. He is a careful, painstaking reader and reporter of past events, and is conscientious to a degree in the statement of facts. The same remarks hold equally good in respect to Rev. Leander Thompson of this city who wrote the Ecclesiastical History of the town, and to a great extent as to Hon. Edward F. Johnson, author of the chapter on "Woburn as a City."

The contributions of these gentlemen to the work cover about 125 pages which, put into the usual type and size of page, would make a book of at least 400 pages, and perhaps 500. Much of it is set in the smallest type used, and yet it is clear and easily mastered by the eye. The publishers treated Mr. Cutter generously as to space, for which they are entitled to the hearty thanks of the people of Woburn. In a very liberal spirit they gave him carte blanche and thus enabled him to go into the subject with such particularity and detail as to greatly enhance the value of the work. He was not hampered by want of room, hence he and his colaborers have turned out a complete, full and finished history of Woburn which is a credit to himself, the publishers, and the place. That it is reliable history (which a great deal of so-called history is far from being) no one acquainted with the writers of it will doubt for a moment. Mr. Cutter is always strong on his facts, and no statements are allowed to go into a production of his of this character until its truth has been verified and established beyond a doubt. That is what makes history worth anything. And it is by the careful exercise of these mental characteristics that he has given to the public, a complete and reliable civil, military and ecclesiastic, history of old and new Woburn.

For the same work Mr. Cutter wrote the history of Winchester; greatly assisted in producing the history of Burlington; and the completeness of that of Arlington was partly due to his knowledge and supervision; so that, virtually, Mr. Cutter was the author of three of the historical productions that go to make up these volumes of "The History of Middlesex County."

Burlington.

The Agricultural Society are preparing to give the second of their series of social dancing parties, at an early date.

Miss Hattie A. Bishop, an elocutionist of celebrity, gives an entertainment in the church Thursday evening. A full report will be given next week.

Rev. A. A. Childs preached at the church, Sunday morning, and also conducted the evening service. Rev. A. K. Gleason of Westport, Mass., is expected to preach next Sunday.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, Feb. 14, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Charles H. Day, Mr. Albert C. Furnald, Medford street, Mr. G. W. Gillis, Mrs. H. T. Lord, Mrs. Moor, 151 Main street, J. M. Thomas, Mrs. Ellen E. White, Green street.

LAWRENCE READE, P. M.

All authorities agree that the milk of a healthy mother is the best food for an infant. Next to this is Mellin's Food. It contains all the elements for perfect nutrition, and corresponds physiologically with mother's milk.

Obituary.

DIED at her home on Church Avenue in this city, Feb. 13, 1891, Mrs. JULIA F. ALLEN, wife of Montressor T. Allen, Esq., aged 48 years, 2 months, and 7 days.

The deceased was a native of Salisbury, N. H., but had resided in Woburn many years, the last twenty-five of which were passed in pleasant, happy wedlock with her now deeply bereaved companion in it. She had many warm friends who sincerely lament her death. Possessing strong intellectual characteristics and great integrity of purpose she wielded a more potent influence among her associates than most women, and her husband's success at the Bar and in public life can be attributed in no little degree to the encouraging influence exerted by her over him.

For some years Mrs. Allen's physical condition had not been satisfactory, but up to two years ago she conducted her domestic affairs as usual and engaged in public duties with her accustomed vigor, good sense and success. Since that time her health has failed steadily, and in the last year, rapidly. She passed away quietly and peacefully in the presence of an affectionate husband and loving friends just before the midnight hour was struck that ushered in the holy Sabbath morning.

Mrs. Allen has been a prominent member of Woburn Women's Relief Corps, No. 83, and two years ago was Senior Vice President of the Corps and at the next election was tendered the office of President, which she declined. She has also been active in the Ladies Charitable Reading Society of the Congregational Church. By these societies, although she was with them but seldom during the last two years, Mrs. Allen's death will be deeply mourned.

The deceased was a true-hearted woman. She was intelligent, practical, and courageous. She possessed too more than ordinary accomplishments; her influence was strong on those with whom she associated, and it was always exerted in behalf of humanity and for upholding the right. Her disposition was amiable. She was kind to every body. Her sympathies went out in full measure to all in sorrow and want. Those who knew her best will miss her most.

The people of this city deeply sympathize with Mr. Allen in his great grief.

The funeral was held at the residence of Mr. Allen on Church Avenue under the direction of Undertaker Tripp. Rev. Dr. March conducted religious services.

As the village urchin wages war against the domestic Tom cat, so does Brussels soap wage war against dirt.

North Woburn.

Miss Grace E. Bond is convalescing after a severe sickness.

Miss Mary B. Anderson of Malden is visiting friends in this village.

On Wednesday, Feb. 11, Mr. Austin Hall of Wilmington was severely burned by the explosion of a tank containing sulphuric acid at the Merrimac Chemical Works.

The Conundrum Party in connection with sociable held in the vestry of the Congregational church on last Friday evening was largely attended and enjoyed by old and young.

The death of Mr. George S. Holt was a severe shock to the people of this village where he has been a respected citizen for many years. The deceased was a member of Post 161 of the G. A. R. and also member of the O. U. A. M.

The "Mock Trial" which took place at the Unitarian Chapel on last Tuesday evening, drew a large audience although the weather was not what was hoped for. The trial went off in a very satisfactory manner and the vocal selections rendered by Miss Bruce of Boston were thoroughly appreciated.

The mock trial held here last Tuesday evening was a very humorous affair. There was a large crowd of spectators present and everybody enjoyed it. The case on trial was Sheldon versus Eames brought to recover damages for breach of promise of marriage, and the parties, witnesses, jurors, etc., were all from Wilmington, except Orville T. Curtis of this place who was Master of Ceremonies and also Attorney for the plaintiff. In both characters he was eminently successful. The singing by Miss S. Louise Bruce of Boston, member of the Harvard Glee Club, was exceedingly fine and one of the most pleasing features of the affair. Miss Bruce stands away up in the pictures as a contralto singer, and richly she deserved the applause accorded to her on this occasion The verdict was for the plaintiff.—X.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.

Literary Notices.

A glance at the contents of PETERSON for March will prove that it deserves the above title. The new Fashion plate is an immense improvement on the old style one and will be a welcome change to all the ladies. The opening article, Housekeeping in India, is admirably illustrated and written by one who had personal knowledge of the information which she gives so pleasantly. A Snow Shoe Tramp, by W. Blackburn Harte, is an intensely interesting tale of a Canadian winter. Miss Alice Bowman's serial, The Mystery of Dulce Domum, begins charmingly, and the Queen of Diamonds, by Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper, reaches a happy and effective conclusion. The short stories are all capital; Alice Maude Ewell's Tale of an Old Town deserves special mention. The Little Queen of Holland is a seasonable sketch with a series of good pictures, and A Page of French History is both entertaining and instructive. The household, needlework and fashion departments could not be fresher and more complete. Terms Two Dollars a year. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Youngstown (O.) Telegram has this note: "The other day one of the clerks at the Tod House remarked, as a frequent visitor to that hotel inscribed his name on the hotel register, "I will assign you room 13." The commercial man almost grasped for breath as he exclaimed, 'No, you won't. I'll sleep on the office floor or in the wash room rather than retire in room 13.' The clerk, with a merry twinkle in the eye, rang the bell boy and, handing him a key, said, 'Show the gentleman to No 72.' Afterwards the clerk said: 'it's a fact not generally known to the outside world that there are but few hotels in the country that have rooms numbered either 13 or 113. Half the time they would be unoccupied, so superstitious are the traveling public'."

WINCHESTER.

The Highland Bethany S.S. have a library of 300 Vols.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. and Alice Pattee have gone to California.

How about the Australian voting system, good citizens all?

Several distinguished Winchester politicians are members of the Massachusetts Republican Club.

The women have organized a Womens Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. Officers will be chosen soon.

I wonder if Br'er R., who scorns to read a local paper, will be asked to serve the town many more years?

Calumet Club (the boss) have decided to build a Club-house on the shore of beautiful and romantic Wedgemere Lake. It will doubtless be an elegant one.

The signs of a political earthquake here are abundant. Any quantity of excellent gentlemen — all able and worthy—want seats on the Board and to get them there is going to be a hot scramble.

The funeral of Sexton Sharon whose death occured on the 10th, was largely attended by our citizens who held him in high esteem, by the Free Masons, Knights of Pythias, and others, at the Unitarian church. His remains were intered in Wildwood.

At the meeting of the Mystic Valley Club, held Tuesday evening, Edward H. Rice was elected one of the vice-presidents, W. D. Middleton treasurer, Alfred C. Vinton on the executive committee, and E. N. Lovering on the reception committee. Winchester is therefore well represented among the officers of this club.—Star.

The following are reliable statistics of the Congregational Church; present membership of the church (including 90 non-resident) is 456; members of Sunday School 329. During the year 13 have been received on profession of faith, 39 by letter. Ten members have died during the year, viz:—Mrs. Lovisa Hanks Boone, Mrs. Persis Clark, John Reed Cobb, Joseph Huse, Edward Payson Johnson, Harrison Parker, Henry Stone, Mrs. Adeline Matilda Symmes, Herman Vasseur, Salem Towne Ward. Thirteen infants and two adults were baptised.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

Last August there was a fall of manna in Asia Minor, which was baked for bread after the manner of the Biblical tradition. It has been examined by Frenchmen of science and identified as lichen.

Jake Jimson (after the engagement) "Shall I name the day, dear?" Cora Bellows— "Oh, dear, no!" "Why not, darling?" "You are too procrastinating, Jake!"

Olive culture is becoming one of the staple industries of California. The olive has always flourished there, but only of late years has it been adopted as an article of extended cultivation. It yields handsome returns, and groves are multiplying rapidly.

New York has had a literary renaissance. Col. Whitelaw Reid is editing Talleyrand and Col Daly is editing Shakespeare. If Chicago doesn't hump herself she will lose what in polite packing circles is termed her "praystarzhe".

A plague of locusts recently visited Northwestern India, and such immense heaps of them settled on the railway lines that trains could not pass. They darkened the air like a thunderstorm and when they settled on trees strong branches broke under their weight.

Volapuk is threatened with extinction, owing to the action of its originators in altering its forms so that it may be used as the universal literary as well as commertial tongue of the world. These changes the Volapuk Academy refuses to accept, causing a split in Volapuk circles.

Aunt Rachel—"Yes, I like him well enough, Jerusha, but how did you ever happen to marry a man a head shorter than you are?" Neice—"I had to choose, auntie, between a little man with a big salary and a big man with a little salary."

A Western knight of the shears says barbers are not anxious to see ladies enter the shop to get their hair cut, for no matter how pretty the dear creatures look after having their hair cut, they never look as well as they did before, and their first look in the glass makes the fact apparent to them, and they invariably blame the barber for it.

Foxes have other enemies than a man with a gun, says the Bangor Commercial. Two boys were returning from the Post Office in Penobscot county one evening and were badly frightened by a noise they heard in the woods near by. Next day on examination it was found that there had been a fight to the death between a fox and a fisher cat. The fox was literally torn to pieces. The fisher cat was known by his track, and as he was not found it is supposed that he escaped alive.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

FRESH IDEAS IN FURNITURE, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES.

An artistic atmosphere may easily be produced where there are artistic things to create it. Everything marked in plain figures—One Price Cash.

Keeler & Co.

Salesroom: Washington Street, cor. Elm, BOSTON.

Factory, East Cambridge.

CLEAN HANDS DENOTE A CLEAN HEART.

The pages of the BOSTON HERALD,

Both news and advertising, are clean. It is a family newspaper.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

404 Main St., WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop. Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London. I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing, Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed. Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

A RARE TREAT!

Prof. J. W. Churchill

Will give an Evening of Readings under the auspices of the WOBURN WELLESLEY ALUMNÆ in

MUSIC HALL, WOBURN,

— ON —

Friday Evening, March 6, At 8 o'clock

Tickets, 35 Cents.

To be obtained at the stores of C H. Russ and G. R. Gage & Co., or from former Wellesley Students. Number of tickets limited to the seating capacity of the hall.

WE offer Five Year FIRST MORTGAGE bonds on Real Estate in Sioux City, Iowa, in denominations of $100 and $500, with interest at SEVEN per cent., payable quarterly in Boston. The security is worth five times the value of bonds issued. Further information in pamphlet free.

New England Investment Co.,

C. W. BALDWIN & CO., Agents,

33 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

AUCTION SALE

— OF —

Boots and Shoes

— ON —

Tuesday, Feb. 24 1891

At 2 o'clock, P. M.

— AT —

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN, MASS.

The old stand of the late A. Wood, established 40 years ago. The stock consists principally of Gent's, Ladies', Children's and Misses shoes of all kinds; Rubber Boots, Over-shoes, Slippers, Derby Hats, Scotch and Woolen Caps, Gloves, Undershirts and Drawers, Overalls, Knit Jackets, Hosiery, Suspenders, etc., also, Parlor Stove, Settees, Mirror, Mat, Desk, Clock, Table, Chairs, Screen Door, Carpenters Tools and Chest, Shoe Nails, French Dressing, Argand Gas Burner, etc., also, 1 Well's Shoemakers Repairing Knit. The stock will be offered in whole or in part to suit purchasers. Sale positive, Rain or Shine. Terms cash.

Ladies, don't forget the date and day of the Auction Sale.

Per order, CHARLES A. WOOD.

E. J. GREGORY Auctioneer.

ANNUAL

Canned Goods Sale!

Now is the time to buy your Canned Goods, and the Boston Branch is the place to buy them.

Tomatoes, Bacon's	8c.,	95c. per doz.
Tomatoes, Cedar,	10c.,	$1.15 " "
Tomatoes, F. & S. Imperial,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Corn,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Corn, Sandy River,	12c.,	1.40 " "
Corn, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Peas, Standard Marrowfats,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Peas, Booth's Marrowfats,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Succotash, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Squash, Richardson's,	14c.,	1.65 " "
String Beans,	8c.,	.90 " "
Asparagus Tips,	25c.,	2.85 " "
Peaches, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" "	35c.,	4.00 " "
Bartlett Pears, Richardson's,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Sliced Pineapple,	23c.,	2.65 " "
Grated Pineapple,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Pres. Strawberries,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Blueberries,	14c.,	1.65 " "
White Cherries, California,	35c.,	4.00 " "
Apricots, California,	22c.,	2.60 " "
Apricots, Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Plums, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Salmon, Alaska,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Salmon, Booth's,	15c.,	1.80 " "
Salmon Steak,	18c.,	2.10 " "

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Helen B. Cook, of Woburn, in said County, minor,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Rebekah J. Brooks, the Guardian of said minor, has presented her petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified of her said ward for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Lowell, in said County, on the third Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William Bradley late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Francis Bellew, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Mary Ann Carroll, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William L. Carroll who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statue;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

THIS WEEK AT BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

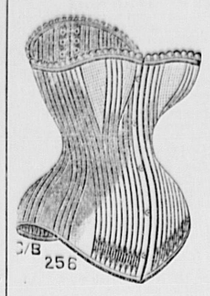
Big Bargain in all wool Blankets 11-4, at $4.50 worth $6.50. 12-4, at $5.50 worth $7.50.

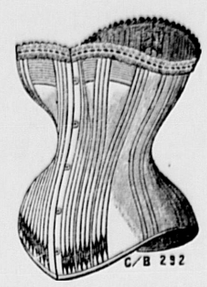
Fancy Border and Plain White Tea Cloths with and without Doylies to match, at 25 per cent less than retail prices.

Turkey Red and Cardinal Doylies from 50c. up. These Doylies are dirt cheap.

Brown and Bleached Sheeting 2¼ yards wide, slightly soiled, at considerable less than regular prices.

Give us a call and save money.





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton

Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper, 5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper, 10c.
Gilt Papers, 8 & 10c.
Best Gilt, 15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

For the Holidays.

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

FOR SALE.

1 Democratic Wagon. 1 Phaeton. Apply to

120 MAIN ST., WOBURN MASS.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 404 Main Street, Woburn.

ELISHA THE SUCCESSOR.

LESSON VIII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, FEB. 22.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings ii, 12-22. Commit Verses, 12-14—Golden Text, Zech. iv, 6—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helps for Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

12. "And Elisha saw it."

He had asked for a double portion of the spirit of Elijah, and the reply was, "If thou see me taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee" (vs. 10). Now we are told that he saw the chariot and horses of fire, and the whirlwind which took Elijah to heaven, and we will expect, therefore, to see in him the spirit of Elijah.

"And he cried, My father, my father! the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof."

12, 13. "And he took hold of his own clothes and rent them in two pieces. He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back and stood by the bank of Jordan."

Thus he discards himself, puts himself off and puts on Elijah. Jesus our Master has ascended, and has left on earth many who believe in Him to be His witnesses. He has also sent down the Holy Spirit to live in us, and be in us the power for service and testimony, and the work can be done only as our golden text tells us.

14. "And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the waters and said, Where is the Lord God of Elijah?"

He now acts in the name of Elijah, using the mantle of Elijah, and looking to the Lord God of Elijah. So did Peter and John when they said to the lame man, "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk" (Acts iii, 6). Or to take an older illustration, so did David when he said to Goliath, "I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel" (I Sam. xvii, 45).

"And when he also had smitten the waters, they parted hither and thither, and Elisha went over."

The same power that had been manifested on behalf of millions, and so recently on behalf of two men, is now put forth on behalf of Elisha only. God will lavish His omnipotence on one man who is willing to stand for Him; but it was not simply for the sake of one man, but for the sake of many that He might be glorified.

15. "The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elisha."

Thus testified the sons of the prophets who from Jericho had witnessed the dividing of the waters.

"And they came to meet him, and bowed themselves to the ground before him."

They worshiped God in Elisha, or as Paul says, "They glorified God in me" (Gal. i, 24). Thus Potiphar saw God in Joseph, and so also did the keeper of the prison and Pharaoh the king (Gen. xxxix, 2, 3, 23; xli, 38). Thus the king of Babylon saw God in Daniel and his companions (Dan. ii, 47; iii, 28). And the time is coming when all nations of the earth shall see God in Israel, and bow down to Him and worship Him (Jer. iii, 17; Ezek. xxxvi, 23; Zech. viii, 23).

16. "Let them go, we pray thee, and seek thy master; lest peradventure the Spirit of the Lord hath taken him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley."

The sons of the prophets request that fifty strong men should go and rescue Elijah from possible difficulties in which the Spirit of the Lord might have left him.

17. "They sent him, therefore, fifty men, and they sought three days, but found him not."

At first Elisha refused to allow them to go, but when they urged and insisted he finally consented, and this is the result.

18. "And when they came again to him (for he tarried at Jericho) he said unto them, Did I not say unto you, Go not?"

The energy of the flesh can only be shown its folly by allowing it to prove its helplessness. These fifty were sure that they knew better than Elisha, but their vain efforts have now done for them what they would not let his words do, that is, convince them of their folly.

19. "Behold, I pray thee, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my Lord seeth; but the water is naught and the ground barren."

Pleasant to the eyes, but unfruitfulness and death was in it; how like the tree of the knowledge of good and evil in the garden of Eden. There is only life and fruitfulness where the Spirit of God is, and however pleasant or attractive a person or a work may appear, without the Spirit all is death and barrenness. Observe how the people of the city see in Elisha one whom they believe can help them, because the Spirit of God was in him. People seldom go to those who live far from God for help.

20. "And he said, Bring me a new cruse, and put salt therein. And they brought it to him."

In Deut. xxix, 23; Jer. xvii, 6; Zeph. ii, 9, salt is associated with desolation and barrenness, and every Bible reader is familiar with the Salt sea (Gen. xiv, 3; Josh. iii, 16, etc.), in which it is said nothing can live. But in Lev. ii, 13, we read that every offering to the Lord required salt; in Num. xviii, 19, we read of a covenant of salt, and in Matt. v, 13, believers are called the salt of the earth, while in Col. iv, 6, we are told that our conversation should be seasoned with salt. We need not stumble over these seeming contradictions when we remember that Jesus Himself is to some a savor of death unto death and to others a savor of life unto life (II Cor. ii, 15, 16). "Salt is good" (Mark ix, 50; Luke xiv, 34), but neither land nor water is always blessed thereby. "God is good" (Luke xviii, 19), but not all are blessed by Him.

21. "And he went forth unto the spring of the waters and cast the salt in there."

Not the stream, but the fountain whence the stream flows must be healed. The sinner cannot be healed by any mere reformation of conduct; he must be born again, or have placed in him an entirely new fountain, born from above (John iii, 7, margin).

"Thus saith the Lord, I have healed these waters."

Not Elisha, not the salt, but "Jehovah that healeth thee" (Ex. xv, 26). The salt was the symbol, Elisha the instrument, but the worker, the healer, the power, was Jehovah Himself. From the throne of God and of the Lamb flows the river of the water of life (Rev. xxii, 1). "They have forsaken Me, the fountain of living waters" (Jer. ii, 13), He complains of His people; and "If any man thirst let him come unto Me and drink" (John vii, 37), said Jesus on the last day of the feast.

21, 22. "There shall not be from thence any more death or barren land. So the waters were healed."

All earthly streams produce only barrenness and death, but when the waters issue forth from the sanctuary then everything shall live whither the river cometh (Ez. xlvii, 9, 12). Happy the soul that can say, "All my springs are in thee."

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after results. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any Throat, Chest or Lung Trouble. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

One of the great Buddhist temples at Kioto, Japan, is the centre of a big embezzlement. Some priests forged the seal of the temple in 1887 and secured $86,000 from a national bank, which the temples of the Jodo sect afterwards refunded.

A copy of "Paradise Lost" recently sold in England for $337. This is more than Milton received for the manuscript of his poem.

WAKING FROM A DREAMLESS SLEEP.

I waked: the sun was in the sky,
The face of heaven was fair,
The silence all about me lay
Of morning in the air.

I said: Where hast thou been, my soul,
Since the moon set in the west?
I know not where thy feet have trod,
Nor what has been thy quest.

Where wert thou when Orion passed
Below the dark blue sea?
His glittering, silent stars are gone—
Didst follow them for me?

Where wert thou in that awful hour
When first the night wind heard
The faint breath of the coming dawn,
And fled before the word?

Where hast thou been, my spirit,
Since the long wave on the shore
Tenderly rocked my sense asleep
And I heard thee no more?

Thou hast shown me no fair cities,
No glories once I knew,
Nor those my fancy paints for me
Where skies are ever blue.

My limbs, like breathing marble,
Have lain in the warm down;
No heavenly chant, no earthly care,
Has wakened smile or frown.

I wake: thy kiss is on my lips;
Thou art my day, my sun;
But where, O spirit, were wert thou
While sands of night have run?

—Annie Fields in Harper's.

Popping by Evolution.

A man in California was in the habit, after the occasional manner of men, of writing to his cousin in Maine. He had a friend who would frequently send a word of greeting to his fair correspondent. This word soon became a sentence, then a page, next a letter and ultimately a match, the work of evolution going on in the smoothest and most natural manner. At a certain stage photographs were exchanged and the features of each were imprinted with such effect upon the heart of the other that the recognition was mutual when the hitherto unseen lovers met inside the Golden Gate, she having gone to California to meet her future spouse.

The matrimonial knot was tied in San Francisco, after which this romantic couple sped to the mountains, where for a long time the heroine of my story was the only white woman. It is only fair to say that "they were happy ever after," notwithstanding their very irregular and hazardous mode of procedure, a mode, by the way, which is not recommended as the "grand model" in general codes.—Lewiston Journal.

Hard to Live on $20,000 a Year.

"If any man with an income of less than $20,000 a year," said the spendthrift, "means to lay up any money, he must confine himself to cheap society and steer clear of costly clubs. Giving French dinners is a high priced enjoyment, and club life is apt to be expensive if you get the full benefit of it. I am not given to extravagance, but a dinner for ten often costs one $10 a plate, besides as much more for the wines, and it is but a second class dinner at that. If you give such a dinner once a week, where are your $20,000? What have you left for ordinary household expenses, and for the garments of your family and for things in general? A man can live respectably and quietly, of course, on less money than I have spoken of, but if he attempts to flourish in any kind of style or to put on frills he will have to pay high for the pleasure."—New York Sun.

Where They Pinched.

There are a good many people who prefer old things to new things, sometimes, perhaps, without as good reason for the preference as an old beggar once showed in the matter of shoes.

This man called at the house of a lady and begged for a pair of shoes. She gave him a nearly new pair of her husband's which he had laid aside for some reason. A day or two afterward the beggar returned.

"Mum," he said, "can't you give me a pair of shoes—some old ragged ones?"

"But," said the lady, "I have just given you an entirely new pair; you have them on now."

"Yes'm," he said, "but there's the trouble. They're so new, ye see, that they hurt my business."—Youth's Companion.

Good for Elocutionists.

Here are some sentences which test the agility of the tongue:

Gaze on the gay gray brigade.
The sea ceaseth and it sufficeth us.
Say, should such a shapely sash shabby stitches show?
Strange strategic statistics.
Give Grimes Jim's gilt gig whip.
Sarah in a shawl shoveled soft snow softly.
She sells seashells.
Smith's spirit flask split Philip's sixth sister's fifth squirrel's skull.—New York Ledger.

A unique but useful present to a lady who writes many letters is this. A little silver tray, upon which should stand a cut glass bottle filled with water, and by its side a silver handled brush like those used for mucilage. This obviates the necessity of moistening the gummed flap of envelopes with the tongue.

The gross earnings of our railroads in a year are about $964,000,000, and the operating expenses $644,000,000, leaving an excess of $320,000,000. The income from other sources amounts to $125,000,000, making a total excess of $445,000,000 for charges over operating expenses.

There are few such common sense proverbs as "every man is the architect of his own fortune." Appius Claudius, a Roman censor, used it in a speech delivered by him 450 years before the Christian era.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. W. Willard, Druggist, Joliet, Ill.

I have been troubled with catarrh for ten years and have tried a number of remedies, but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochawntaug, R. I.

There seems to be no scheme too petty to be practiced by the Democrats. In Rhode Island, their reason for pitching upon a Saturday for the special election in the Second district was a hope of virtually disfranchising a considerable number of Seventh Day Baptists and Seventh Day Adventists living in the district, who, keeping Saturday sacred instead of Sunday, would not go to the polls on that day.

A Pennsylvania church has a pastor only nineteen years old.

THE HEAT OF THE SUN.

Comparisons and Facts About Our Big Luminary That Are Interesting.

We can measure the quantity of heat that the sun constantly emits, because we can measure the amount received by our earth, which intercepts about the 2,300,000,000th part of all the light and heat given out by the sun. Thus we find that in every second of time the sun emits as much heat as would result from the combustion of 11,600,000,000,000 tons of coal. It may be interesting to the reader to know that each portion of the sun's surface as large as our earth emits as much heat per second as would 1,000,000,000 tons of coal instantly transformed into heat—a relative amount easily remembered.

Now it is easily calculated from this that if the sun's whole mass consisted of coal, and could burn up until the time when the very last ton were consumed, maintaining until then the rate of emission now kept up, the supply could not possibly last over 5,000 years. As the sun has most certainly been emitting light and heat for a period many—I will not say how many—times longer than this, the idea that the great solar fire is kept up by any such fuel as coal is of course untenable.

There are many other reasons for rejecting the idea that the sun is composed of burning matter, using the word "burning" in its proper sense, meaning thereby anything that is being consumed, according to which a piece of coal in a fire would be burning, whereas a piece of iron which is red hot is not burning, though burning hot. In like manner we find ourselves compelled to discard the belief that the sun may be a body raised at some remote epoch to an intense heat throughout its entire mass, and now gradually cooling. That it would not be possible for any known metal or material to be wrought up to such a terrible heat has been proven by an astronomer who visited a rolling mill for the purpose of making experiments.

He turned his instrument upon the white hot steel as it came from the furnace, and then upon the sun. The result was that the sun's heat was found to be 88 times hotter than the melted steel and 5,300 times as bright! If the sun were a "burning" mass in the course of a few thousand years it would have cooled far more than the sun has, providing it has; but it has not been proven that it has cooled at all. We have evidence that he has poured his heat upon the worlds during periods compared with which the duration of the human race is but a second amid centuries, while the duration of the historic race is utterly lost by comparison.—St. Louis Republic.

A Distinguished Oshkosh Greek.

In the days when Lord Byron was calling on Greece to awake and was doing several other fool things over there an American drummer from Vermont was doing the country. He was near the battle of Missolonghi in 1824. When the fight was over the American wandered over the battlefield in search of relics. He came upon a live infant playing among the slain. The glory of Greece was in the face of the child. It was a curious find in such a place. Whose was it? Whence came it? No one answered the queries of the American. It needed attention and the Vermonter picked it up, cared for it, brought to America, reared and educated the waif of the field of Missolonghi. The name of the Vermonter was Miller. The child of Greece was given his name. This child of Greece is the member of congress from the Oshkosh district—Leonidas M. Miller.—Chicago Tribune.

Bathing on the Road.

Bathing in a Pullman is delightful in the east, where the railroads are rock ballasted and railed with heavy steel, but out west you are apt to get more fun than bath when you take a tub in the course of an average journey. The coach swings and jolts along, and you feel your way unsteadily to the tiny bathroom. The porter fills the tub, which is narrow and deep and more like a barrel than the vessels we use in our houses. Ten to one, as you sit beside the apparatus to undress the car will strike a sharp curve, and all the water in the tub will leap out and deluge you from head to foot. If you escape that luck and get into the tub the curve and the car are certain to meet, and in an instant you find yourself in an empty receptacle, while your shoes and stockings are floating around in the lake that has covered the floor.—New York Sun.

No Regard for the Afflicted.

"That little boy of yours is not adapted for the undertaker's business," explained an undertaker to the boy's mother, who inquired why he had been discharged.

"What's the matter with him?"

"He hasn't a realizing sense of what is due the afflicted. Day before yesterday Mrs. B—— buried her fourth husband. I sent your son up to learn what hour she wished the ceremony to take place, and he asked what her regular time of day was for burying husbands. I expect to lose her custom entirely."—London Tit-Bits.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

Wealthy Wooer (vehemently)—And you will be mine, dear girl?

Dear Girl—I will; and——

Detrimental Younger Sister (entering suddenly)—Come right into the parlor, sis; Charlie Poorboye is there with your engagement ring! The loveliest thing you ever saw!—Pittsburg Bulletin.

When will the average citizen stop spending his hard earnings on cigars and tobacco? Give it up? Well, when he finds he can do without tobacco and cigars but not without Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Salvation Oil, the greatest pain-cure on earth, is compounded of purest drugs. It is guaranteed to contain nothing of a poisonous character. Only 25 cents a bottle.

Anastasius, the chief of the brigands who captured the son of the Sultan is described as a very handsome and well informed man, who speaks four languages and behaves like a born gentleman. He preserves strict military order among his followers, and treated his prisoner in a manner befitting his rank.

Judge Crisp of Georgia, who is one of the most prominent of the younger generation of Southern Congressmen, is a descendant of a family of actors. For twenty years prior to the War his immediate relatives formed a band of strolling players who travelled through the South.

POLLY MADE A MATCH.

A Bashful Youth Helped Out in the Nick of Time by a Bird That Spoke Up.

"A parrot is usually regarded, I know, as a very mischievous, meddlesome bird, and all the stories are of their interference and trouble making, but I have always believed that I owe my life's happiness to one of them," remarked Mr. M. C——, of this place, a day or two ago to a friend. The story being entreated Mr. C—— continued:

"I was the most bashful youth you ever saw, the very shyest imaginable, especially where ladies were concerned. I was fond of their society, enjoying it so that I sought it as often as I could, and yet at the same time in a perfect agony of bashfulness if required to answer the simplest question or to express an opinion on any subject, while to be asked to button a glove or any such little service would throw me into such a state of nervous excitement that I usually ended in making an awkward dunce of myself.

"I visited at one house where the girls, or rather, two of them, romping, high spirited misses, took the keenest delight in playing upon this bashfulness of mine; but, secretly adoring the other sister—the eldest—I bore this patiently, for, while she could not always refrain from laughing at her sisters' pranks, and the confusion they threw me into, she herself never teased me.

"But to get to Miss Polly. She was a green bird with a yellow head and a wicked eye and a habit of walking in the flower garden, where in a little summer house fitted up as a parlor the girls were fond of entertaining their company during the pleasant months. This bird was sitting one day on a trellis near by, when in a state of the greatest excitement I came to this summer parlor, and meeting a servant, sent Miss Nellie word to please meet me there. I had heard that a rival had appeared on the scene and that it was thought that the girl I had loved so long in silence was favoring the new comer, but I had made up my mind to find out the truth of the report by speaking at last in my own cause.

"I had fully determined in doing this, which seemed an easy task, till I caught sight of her sweet face as she advanced toward me, then my courage fled and in abject terror I waited for her. I stammered out some foolish speech intended for an apology and sat looking at her, dismayed to see how unusually quiet and depressed she seemed, while Polly, walking up and down the trellis, watched us both suspiciously. At last, just as I decided to put it off, as I had decided a hundred times before, that parrot paused in her strutting and, leaning over, urged, 'Kiss her! kiss her, quick! you goose!' My heart stopped beating and I scarcely dared steal a glance at Miss Nellie, but when I did she was blushing so divinely, her lips were so tempting and—well, there was a look in her eyes that told me a delicious secret; so, with sudden courage, I leaned forward and with a 'May I, Nell?' followed Poll's sage advice.

"Yes, my wife's name is Nellie, and Poll, now gone the way of all flesh, now stands upon our mantel beautifully stuffed and prized most highly. In all probability I would have allowed the treasure I coveted to slip through my fingers had she not helped me out, for my wife has since told me she had just decided it was lost time to continue to love a man so bashful that he would not take his own, and that she would try and like the other fellow."—Attica (N. Y.) Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Original Three Card Monte Man.

I have found a man in my rounds who was well acquainted with "Canada Bill," the original three card monte man, now dead.

"The three card monte game," he said, "was first worked by 'Canada Bill' in 1869. Bill was a Canadian, as his name indicated, and he was as stupid a looking man as one could easily find. Bill worked his game on the trains usually, passing himself off as a cattleman from Texas. In 1873, after making a vast sum of money at his trick, 'Canada Bill' conceived the idea of organizing all the men inclined to be 'crooked' in the various points about which he plied his vocation. He called it, as all men of his calling now do, 'squaring the head'—that is, 'fixing' the head officials of a town if possible, establishing a fence, having a 'fixed' lawyer and ready 'straw bail property holders.' At one time he had working for him 1,600 men on the trains and in various towns and cities."—Kansas City Times.

Expensive Manufacturing.

"This bit of aluminum," said Col. L. C. Weir, of Cincinnati, the other day, pointing to a small bit of the metal on his desk, "cost me just $10,000. Yes, that's rather dear for aluminum, I admit, but still," with a smile, "we must have it, you know. I became interested in a man who had a 'perfect process' for making aluminum. A company was formed and the stock subscribed. The process looked very well on paper, but this is all I have to show for my $10,000, the amount of my stock. I'm rather curious to see how successful these newer processes of making aluminum will be."—New York Tribune.

Requirements of Steamboat Captains.

Four boys, all under 20 years of age, are captains of steamers on the Mississippi river. A New Orleans steamboat owner says: "Any boy who can talk and write can captain a steamboat as well as a man. The pilot and engineer take all the responsibility."—Detroit Free Press.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searles, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Charles H. Buss's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

Catnip, or catmint, is so called because cats have a great fondness for it, and are often seen eating the leaves of itr It grows abundantly about old buildings and fences. The plant is covered with a soft, hoary down.

Most of the province of Uralsk, in southeastern Russia, having an area of 141,174 square miles and a population of over five hundred thousand, is below sea level.

FLAGS AND FUNNELS OF STEAMERS.

How the Owners of the Ocean Palaces Mark Their Vessels with Colors.

The various lines of transatlantic steamers sailing from this port have, as is generally known, each a distinctive flag and a distinctive manner of painting their smokestacks. Comparatively few know, however, what these distinguishing signs of the great ocean steamers are. When you see a steamer with her funnels painted red, with a deep black band around the top and two narrow black bands below, that is a Cunarder.

The funnels of the ships of the French line to Havre are exactly like those of the Cunard line, except the two narrow black bands, which the French steamers do not have. The White Star steamers have yellow funnels with a black band around the top, and the Guion line steamers black funnels with a red band some distance below the top. The plain yellow funnels are among the distinguishing features of the North German Lloyd steamers, and the Red Star line has funnels painted exactly like those of the White Star steamers, except that the former have a red star just below the black band at the top.

On the Inman line the funnels are painted black, with a white band some distance below the top. The Anchor line and the Hamburg line both have funnels painted entirely black, but the practiced eye readily distinguishes them.

Over the Cunard steamers floats a square red flag on which is a golden lion rampant holding the "orb of empire" in its paws. The Inman line's flag is red with a white field, and in the field is a black diamond. A red swallowtail with a white star in it is the flag of the White Star line, and the Red Star steamers fly a white swallowtail charged with a red star. The Guion line's flag is blue with a large white diamond in the center in which is a black star.

A white flag on which is a red anchor is the one flown by ships of the Anchor line, and the North German Lloyd ships fly a white flag on which in blue are a key and anchor crossed and wreath of oak leaves. The French line to Havre flies a white flag bearing the name of the company in red. These are only a few of the many flags which fly over incoming and outgoing steamers in the waters of the bay, and of the various paintings of smokestacks which serve to distinguish the ships of one line from another.

At night when these distinguishing features cannot be seen a vessel announces her line by burning lights of a peculiar kind, a certain set of colors and pyrotechnics being adopted by each line. Thus if a Cunard steamer should meet another at night and wish to exchange signals she would burn a blue light and fire off two Roman candles, each discharging six blue balls. If the ship she signaled was an Inman steamer she would show a blue light forward and aft and a red light on the bridge and fire a variegated rocket.—New York Tribune.

The Chinese Idea.

A thinking Mongolian of this city gave a new notion when he spoke in this wise:

You Americans often say that the Chinese face has an unpleasant look, and that you do not like its shape or its expression; but perhaps you do not know that we Chinese think the American face has a very obnoxious shape and expression. Our broad Mongolian features are not to your liking, and your narrow features are not to our liking. You do not laugh at the queer looks of Chinese babies any more than we laugh at the queer looks of your babies.

You do not like the Chinese style of dress, and we dislike the way in which American women and men dress themselves. You say your religion is better than ours; but tell us how it is better. You think American belles are prettier and more pleasing than Chinese belles, but we think just the opposite of that. We believe that things in China are better than things in America, and that the people there are happier than the people here. We come to this country to get money, which is hard to get in our country; but we all want to get back to China while alive or to be taken back after death.—New York Sun.

Oysters with False Teeth.

Mr. William H. Dexter, an oysterman, exhibits quite a curiosity which he took from New river, near Cedar Point, in Onslow county. It is two oysters fastened together at right angles, with a set of false teeth adhering to them at the intersection of the shells. The upper roof of the teeth is next to the shell, while the teeth are pointed outward.

The teeth and gums are in a perfect state of preservation, although it is conjectured that they must have been in the bottom of the river for many years. We are told by oystermen that the oysters to which they are attached are of about three years' growth, and a dentist tells us that the teeth are of a style made about thirty years ago, although a few of the same style are yet made by some dentists.—Wilmington Messenger.

Often the Case.

Old Fuddy—George, just look in the dictionary and see what the meaning of syzygy is?

George—Oh, bother! Why not write to the editor of the Sunbeam and ask him? It will save labor, and besides it will make him think that we are literary lights.

Old Fuddy—George, you're a genius, that's what you are.—Boston Transcript.

Liver Complaint.

Being subject to liver troubles, I have tried many medicines, but have never found an equal to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. It stimulates the stomach and liver, regulates the bowels, and has proved of such value that I would not be without it.—Mrs. Fred Sheldon, cor. Bridge and Division streets, W. Catskill, N. Y.

A Russian peasant named Namischeff entered the barn of a usurer to whom he owed money and hanged himself on the door, writing upon it with calk the words: "This pays off my indebtedness to you."

Be Your Own Doctor.

It won't cost you one half as much. Do not delay. Send three cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Animals are kept on the roofs of the houses in Lima, Peru, and it frequently happens that a cow passes her whole life on a roof, being taken there as a calf and brought down finally as fresh beef.

A Shark Tries to Eat a Model Yacht.

"Speaking of the peculiarities of sharks," remarked Rev. Dr. Luther, "when I was staying at Ocean Beach, Conn., I witnessed a most remarkable occurrence. The Connecticut Model Yacht club were sailing a race on the Sound, and the custom there is to follow the models in rowboats. The models are from 4 to 5 feet long, carrying from 40 to 50 pounds of lead on their keels, with sail spread in proportion. Of course in a strong breeze it requires a powerfully manned boat to keep up with them.

"Well, on the occasion referred to, the Rev. Dr. Pullman's boat was leading, and we were following along her lee in a regular double banked yawl, having all we knew to keep near her in the short, choppy seas. Suddenly some one called out, 'Look at that big fish!' Sure enough the head of an enormous shark appeared out of the water astern of the little craft.

"The shark actually snapped at the boat four times in spite of all our shouting and splashing with oars to frighten him away. Every time he just missed her stern by about six inches, as the fish did not make sufficient allowance for the speed of the model. The supposition was that the boat being painted white attracted the tiger of the sea, and perhaps he thought it was some sort of bird skipping over the water. I was told it was not the first time that the boats had been followed by a shark, but none had ever attempted to make a meal of one before."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Fatal Vegetable Poisons.

People who advertise patent medicines are very fond of saying that their preparations are of a purely vegetable nature, confiding in the popular ignorance of the fact that the most deadly poisons in the world are vegetable poisons. For example, there is the "woorari" plant from South America, which is used by the savage natives for poisoning their arrows. Introduced into the circulation, the juice of this vegetable immediately paralyzes the muscular system and soon produces death. Physicians experimenting in vivisection employ this poison to paralyze the muscles of frogs and other animals in order that the subject treated may not move under the knife.

It should be mentioned that the arrows envenomed with this powerful agent of destruction are propelled through blowguns of bamboo with astonishing accuracy of aim, birds and other game being captured in this way. Strychnine is a vegetable product obtained from the nux vomica plant of India. The seeds supply this active principle, which is used in medicine to act upon the nervous system as a tonic. Too much of it is a deadly poison, paralyzing the nerve centers and occasioning convulsions that soon end in death.—Washington Star.

Rest the Best Medicine.

Many times rest is the only medicine needed by the sick. If a dog is ailing he rolls himself into a ball in a warm corner and eats little or nothing till he is well. Quiet and warmth are the medicine of the four footed philosopher. The biped loses the instinct of the animal; fumes, frets, takes stimulants and medicaments and gives no chance to the recuperative forces of nature. If he, too, would retire to his chamber, keep warm and eat next to nothing those waste and poisonous matters which produced the disorder would be expelled in due time through the organs of secretion. That machinery which carries on involuntary motion when the body is at rest pushes out of it from two to eight pounds of waste material in every twenty-four hours. The physician of experience says so. He also says that with bathing and half fasting the system, in ordinary cases, will take care of itself.—Good Housekeeping.

Doing Well.

As it was in Emerson's youth so it is now; the best things that a boy learns at school are those which the master does not teach. Such, at all events, is the boy's opinion.

"Well, Tommy," said a visitor, "how are you getting on at school?"

"First rate," answered Tommy. "I ain't doing as well as some of the other boys, though. I can stand on my head, but I have to put my feet against the fence. I want to do it without being anywhere near the fence, and I guess I can after a while."—Jewish Messenger.

Next to It.

"We had such a scare last night!" she said as she got seated.

"Fire?"

"No."

"Accident?"

"No."

"Burglars?"

"Not quite, but the very next thing to it. A policeman tried our back door, and we all got up and sat up for two hours."—Detroit Free Press.

Department of Religion.

Polite Stranger—I wish to see the religious editor, if you have one on this paper.

Office Boy (cautiously)—The—the man wot runs th' religious column is in fust room to th' right.—Good News.

Incurable.

Officer—He's pretty wild, sir. Thinks he owns th' world.

Justice—What's his business?

Officer—He's been janitor of a down town office building.—Judge.

A Meeting.

Ague—Ah, Fever!
Fever—Ah, Ague!
Both—Shake!—Puck.

There is talk of naming a new park in New Haven after Donald G. Mitchell, who is not only a literary man, in whose work the City of Elms takes great pride, but also an authority in landscape gardening.

Among the unpublished Thackeray manuscript offered for sale in London are a note-book containing 1,200 fragments of unpublished verses, a scrapbook with 400 tracings and sketchings, and an album of sketches.

The letters of Hans Christian Andersen, the celebrated writer of fairy tales, are soon to be published, and are said to be of unusual interest. They will include his correspondence with Charles Dickens and other celebrities.

In France, from 1827 to 1880 about 200,000 persons committed suicide. Of these, over 15,000 men and 1100 women were inebriates and intoxicated at the time of death.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

The men in Lapland have dressed in the same style for a thousand years.

There are three recognized schools of Italian architecture: The Florentine, Roman and Venetian.

The Persian New Year resembles our Easter Sunday in the respect that every one is expected to put on a new suit of clothes.

The last lineal decendant of Christopher Columbus is the Duke of Veragua, known to the Spaniards chiefly as a breeder of fighting bulls.

General Trei, who has just been elected a member of the Federal Council of Switzerland, was formerly a private in an Illinois regiment and spent many months in Libby Prison.

Lord Wolseley seems to be preparing for a vigorous campaign in Ireland. He has inspected all the barracks, is strengthening all the defenses and fresh troops are re-enforcing many places.

John Ross, the present Treasurer of the Cherokee Nation, Bushyhead, Boudinot, and others of them are college graduates, or have been educated in the East, and don't indulge in the Sioux ballet.

Mr. Stanley's expedition has brought to light some curious specimen's of pipes from equatorial Africa. Surgeon Park has made careful drawings of them. The simplest specimen of a rough and ready pipe is that used by the natives of the Aruwimi and Utiri forests. Its tem is perforated banana stock. The bowl is a banana leaf rolled up into a funne, like a grocer's paper, and inserted into a hole cut into the stem and the apparatus is complete.

There is danger in impure blood. There is safety in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. 100 doses one dollar.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE
It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Dollar Wily rave with that terrible Headache? Why let that bad cough run on that way? Your nerves are all in a tangle, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which has been caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink to be taken by the glass like other preparations which stimulate only to DESTROY. It is composed of the choicest roots, barks and herbs, combined with the Extract of Sulphur in such proportion as to make it a perfect Curative Nervine.
Sulphur Bitters
The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied.
Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.
A. P. ORDWAY & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids. MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL"—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION
RONDOUT, N. Y.

SALVATION OIL
TRADE MARK
KILLS ALL PAIN. 25 & A BOTTLE
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25 c.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 391 Main Street, Woburn.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester."
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers of the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine for years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! W

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1891. NO. 11.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL, at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M, 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.00, 8.01, 9.51, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.30, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.10, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.50, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5-2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST.. - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Lawrence Reade, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residence, No. 35 Green Street, Woburn. Wholesale or retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal.

THE POWER OF LOVE.

That I was unhappily married did not concern my friends. They did not choose to believe me. That my husband's love was of an intensely selfish kind was, however, well known. He was proud of me in his way, and there his love ended. After we had been married a few years I discovered that he was absolutely unfaithful to me. When I ventured to speak to him on the subject he laughed me to scorn, said all husbands were unfaithful, that honor was at a premium, and so on. I stood this because—I had to! Vain had been my appeal to parents, friends and relations. They told me a separation was not to be thought of; if I was unhappy it was my own fault.

After this I became benumbed with sorrow. Indignity after indignity was showered upon me until indeed life was not worth living; but I had been religiously brought up, told to "submit to God's will," etc., and I bore all this for five years. Finally one day the thought came to me, "Is this God's will?" I found my faith in human nature gradually disappearing until I was actually calling even my Maker to account.

To the world I was a mere butterfly of society. We were rich and had a good position in the social world, but my heart and soul were starved. My body belonged to the man I had married, or so he said, but my soul was my own, and even that was in a muddled state. For years I had been living with a thoroughly bad man, and I began to fear that my high ideas of honor, right and wrong, good and evil, were not what they should be. One day I was quite ill. The doctor was called in. He said I was not strong, was losing tone, and must go away for a time.

He did not like the white look around my lips. He denoted heart trouble, which might end in something serious. So, after a little further talk and some coarse remarks from my husband, it was finally decided that I should take a journey to some near place. I will not say what city I visit. Sufficient to remark that it was a beautiful one. I found a quiet boarding house kept by a lady. Two other boarders were there. They were quiet young fellows, plain men of business. I had refused to go to a hotel. I wanted a chance to think, to settle, if possible, upon some plan of life that would bring me freedom, a chance to once more respect myself, if possible. This, I thought would be "God's will."

I never shall forget the first I came into the dining room. The three young men were seated at the table. I saw at one glance that two of them were handsome, one particularly so—a great large blonde. The third young man was rather plain. He had beautiful teeth, fine eyes, a low voice and gentle manner. He, too, was a blonde and of medium height. He was polite to me, but he had little to say and did not look well. The next few days passed in a peaceful manner. In the meantime we all became better acquainted. Finally, one evening he did not come to tea, and, on my asking why, the landlady said he was ill with a severe headache, but would be so glad if we would look in on him during the evening. We did so. We found him lying on the sofa, quiet and pale; spoke a few moments, and as I turned to go he asked me if I would remain and read to him, as he thought it might put him, as he thought it might put him to sleep. Of course my answer was "Yes," and the others going out of the room I drew a chair to his side and read for some time. Once I ceased for a moment and looking up saw him regarding me intently. He flushed to the roots of his hair. I flushed, too, and—I knew I loved him.

This may seem silly, but I am only stating facts. I knew also that he loved me. How did I know it? I cannot tell. I felt I could go on reading to him forever. A look of rapt content was on his face. He said nothing. I knew he held my hand and that was all. Soon he fell asleep, and I sat with him, reviewing my life. I even laughed out loud at the absurdity of the thing. Here was a man I had only known three weeks, and I was so in love with him that everything else became nothing. I knew according to the code of honor and religion it was a fearful sin I was committing, but I felt no chill of horror, no repugnance such as I always felt at my husbands touch. Instead, kind, tender thoughts came to me and life seemed to have something in it once more. I knew I was loved and respected, and I knew I loved, and in vain. Slowly I rose from my seat and sought my room, where I poured out my soul in prayer.

I met him again the next evening, when he was feeling well, and he told me then in very plain language how he had learned to love me. "I never loved before dear, I have thought myself interested in you—very much so—but the feeling I bear you is one I cannot describe. You are so sweet, so loving, but yu have the saddest face I ever saw. What is it, dear? Tell me." And he placed his arm gently around my form.

If he had been one shade less refined or courteous I would have repulsed him, but he was all that a woman of the most sensitive nature could wish for, and—I loved him. His gentle inquiry required an answer, and I told him all. I can see his face now pale with suppressed emotion as I went over certain portions of my married life. "The brute, for he must be that, to treat any one so lovely as you in such a manner. Oh my own loved one, what are we to do? You have every reason for a divorce. Get one and let me make you my own loved and honored wife."

How I was tempted in that hour no one will ever know. I told him it was impossible. How could I tear up all my home life, at my age, and start out afresh and new? Things went on for several days until finally one evening he pleaded with me as I never heard him plead before—as I did not think a human being could plead. This pleading went on for a long time. It was terrible.

On one side the man you loved more than life, more than all else, and on the other the training of a lifetime, old faiths, old habits to be uprooted, all beliefs given up, custom and society trampled on alike. What was I to do? He did not force his opinions on me, but he was pleading for his life, his all, and I knew it! Finally I told him I would think it all over and let him know in the morning. In that hour I more than loved him. As I left him I looked in his dear eyes and then—well, I gave him a kiss such as I never thought to give any man living. My soul was in it, for I almost felt it would be our final parting. His face flushed, he trembled violently and gently pushed me away, saying: "Go, my darling; leave me now, and in the morning tell me you will be my own cherished wife as soon as you can." And I left him and went to my room.

No human soul will ever know what I suffered that night. My dual nature was at war. On one side every fiber of my being shrank in abhorrance from the man the law called my husband, I knew if I tried to be divorced society would raise its hand against me as something too bad to be allowed to enter its sacred portals. I was a proud woman. I loved the world. I revered its customs. I knew its laws were as unalterable as that of the Medes and Persians. If I married this man I knew it meant ostracism complete and entire. Then I tried to reason out why I loved the man. He was far from handsome, slightly pale, of medium height, not very talkative, and still I loved him. That was the sum total of all my reasoning. That was all I could make out. Suddenly, without any warning, I felt the blood rush to my head, I could feel it begin at my feet and rush up, as if in waves, to my head. The pain was terrible. As the agony became unbearable I fell prostrate on the floor and became unconscious.

* * * * *

I was aroused by hearing voices and the remark: "Is she not beautiful as she lies there? How sad that she should have died so suddenly, and worst of all her husband away from her. We have telegraphed to him at several places. In the meantime, however, she had to be prepared for her long rest."

The whole thing rushed over me; I had been found to all intents and purposes, lifeless on the floor after that night of suffering, and they were now robing me for the tomb. I tried to cry out, but my voice was dumb. I tried to speak, to stir, but in vain. I was indeed dead. For a moment I thought my brain would turn, and then I grew calm. I thought of him. I knew how he would sorrow for me. That seemed to be my greatest grief. After a while, after they had decently composed my limbs, drawn down the blinds and placed a few sweet flowers in my folded hands, they left me alone in my anguish. It grew dark and I knew I had been dead a night and a day. Slowly the shadows fell over the tired world, and strange to say, instead of feeling wild with horror, I grew calm and lay there thinking of him.

I thought over my past life, regretted bitterly that I had ever spoken an unkind word to my husband—regretted, as all of us must do, that I had been unkind to any one; but, perhaps, now that I had died so suddenly, they would forgive me. I think then I must have lost myself in sleep, for I was aroused by hearing voices—horror stricken voices—saying to each other that on returning home and hearing the fatal news of my death my poor husband had fallen with a stroke of apoplexy.

My husband dead! Thank God, he was spared this living death. And then it all rushed over me how I soon would be placed in the casket, the lid fastened down, and then—then I almost groaned in my agony, but—I did not. I could hear the happy birds singing to each other outside the window, the rustle of the leaves as they whispered together, and the swaying of the branches. Presently the door opened and four men came into the room. I could distinguish them by their voices. They bore with them my last resting couch. I think that again I must have fallen asleep, for when I came to I heard some one say:

"But the gentleman insists upon seeing her, says he is an old friend, but here he is himself." There was a slight disturbance at the door, and with the exclamation, "My God, it is she!" he had pushed his way past the several people gathered in the room. It was he. I could feel his kisses raining down on my face, and his great sobs as he called me by every endearing name. He clasped me to his heart. I made a tremendous struggle, gave a slight moan and became lifeless to myself.

I will not weary my readers with an account of my long illness, or how I finally regained all my old health and strength. I mourned for my husband's death, and for two years I wore widow's weeds, nor during that time did I ever once see my lover, but at last at the end of that period of mourning he came to me. He did not say much. He never was a man of many words. He only took my hands and covered them with tender kisses, and now in closing I can only say I have been his dear and honored wife ten years. Little faces gather around my desk as I write this story of one life that was saved, and only "through the power of love."—N. Y. Press.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters curee him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

How Pa Says It.

For the sake of convenience, we will say the place was Amsterdam and the street East Main. 'Tis the hour of two in the afternoon, and a number of guests were seated at the dinner table of Mr. B. Among the number is Mr. B's little daughter, aged five, and Rev. Mr. X. At the request of Mr. B. the reverend guest is politely asked to say grace. "That's a pretty grace you said Mr. X," remarked the daughter, as the latter finished, "but that ain't the way papa says it." "How does papa say it?" asked the proud Mr. X, expecting to hear another of her bright replies for which she, so her father averred, was so famous. "Yes," chimed in the rest of the guests "tell us how papa says grace." "Why, when he comes in to dinner, he looks at the table and then at mamma, and then says, 'Well, this is a great meal to set before a white man.'" Mr. B. subsided.

Thousands Poisoned.

In a recent work on Heart Disease, Dr. Franklin Miles—the noted specialist—gives many new and startling facts. Thousands of people are slowly poisoning themselves, weakening their hearts by the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol. These are Heart Whips, causing it to beat rapidly, thus gradually wearing it out, producing shortness of breath when exercising, pains in side and shoulder, hungry and faint spells. Finally heart failure and sudden death. For weakened and irritated hearts the press everywhere highly recommend the New Heart Cure discovered by Dr. Franklin Miles, which is for sale by Charles H. Buss.

Francis II, the last King of Naples, whom Garibadi overthrew, is living in exile in Paris. He is a plain-looking man of medium height, whose eyes always have a mournful look in them and who never smiles. His sole occupation seem to be to walk once a day from his furnished apartment to the Church of St. Phillippe du Roul, prayer-book under arm, to pass an hour in devotion.

Tea and Coffee.

What a shocking amount of ignorance is displayed in our kitchens regarding the most simple and common things! A lady the other day in relating her grievances against her boarding place said:

"We get plenty to eat, and have a good variety, cooked fairly well, but it seems impossible to get a cup of real tea or coffee. For my part I could get along better with fewer dainties if there were only served with our food a fragrant cup of tea or coffee made in the right way."

Such is often found to be the case not only in boarding houses, hotels and restaurants, but in private residences as well. The table may be furnished with every variety of eatables prepared in a dainty manner, and yet through carelessness the tea or coffee is spoiled. Some cooks will persist in making tea or coffee quite a while before it is needed on the table, and then let it simmer away at the back of the stove, while they see to the cooking of the other materials for the meal. This is a great mistake. When every thing else is about cooked, then is the time to think of making the tea or coffee, for they must be fresh in order to taste good. Drinking boiled tea, or tea that has been steeped too long, is really dangerous to health if the habit is continued, as the tannin is extracted from the herb, and the effect on the coat of the stomach is to render it leathery. One cannot have a good digestion if strong tea full of tannin, is one's daily drink. The doctors often forbid the use of tea to dyspeptic persons, who, if they had only been more careful and drank the liquid of proper strength, and made in the right manner, would have been spared much suffering. Unless the best tea or coffee is obtained it will be impossible to have a delicious cup of either. It is better to save on something else and have these luxuries on the table. One cup of strong, rich coffee will do one more good than half a dozen cups of weak chiccory slops, and how refreshing it is to sit down to a cup of fragrant tea with the steam rising from the water just poured on it! That certainly is the "cup which cheers but not inebriates." The true aroma soon evaporates from the tea or coffee that is left standing. This is a simple matter and yet one which all housekeepers should be particular about.—Albany Journal.

Everybody Knows

That it this season the blood is filled with impurities, the accummulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated stores, workshops and tenements. All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other diseases may be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

Englishmen Seek American Wives.

The popular taste over on the other side of the water appears to be growing more and more warm toward America and Americans. The wealthy and titled men of the Old World are seeking with increased earnestness American brides, and it is erroneous to suppose that all they are after is the parental boodle. There is a charm about American girls that the English do not have. The women of Great Britain are brought up from their earliest infancy to maintain a submissive and meek regard for the other sex. They are taught that the only thing in life for them is to marry comfortably and go into a sort of serfdom for the rest of their lives. No American girl goes into matrimony with any such idea. She is bound to get the upper hand if she can, and she has a sweet and brisk independence about her that is most attractive to men who have met with nothing but the other sort of thing. So it is that American girls, who at first shocked foreign society, are in great demand in Europe nowadays as ornaments in salons and drawing rooms and as prospective wives to nabob natives.

Is it Safe

To neglect yourself if troubled with any disease of the kidneys? No, it is dangerous; and if you are so afflicted, attend to yourself now. Do not wait, but use Sulphur Bitters at once. They cured me when I was given up to die by several physicians.—JONATHAN HAM, Boston.

Bechuanaland.

Bechuanaland, South Africa, is the paradise of the workingman, says a writer in the Fortnightly Review. In the course of our sojourn we never saw a begger or a starving person. Masons in Bechuanaland were getting wages of $4 to $5 per diem, and this with meat at ten cents a pound. Natives in the coal pits were getting $1.25 a day. When we consider that a Kaffir's food, consisting of Boer meal pap, costs ten cents a day, there is a good margin for saving. We had Baralongs and Basutos working for us. The former we found clever with their fingers but very poor in physique, with a great disinclination for hard work. The Basutos are a fine race, magnificently proportioned and excellent workers, willing and intelligent. The superiority of the Basuto and the Zulu is shown indisputably by the fact that from them are recruited the police and the searchers of the diamond fields. Some think it probable that the native races of South Africa came originally from the South Sea Islands, but be that as it may, it is certain that Jewish customs obtain among them.

Happy Meeting of Two Friends.

John M. Allen, of Charlotte, N. Y. said to his friend, "Parsons, I am about dead with the Gravel, and cannot find help." Mr. Parsons induced Mr. Allen to give Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Roudout, N. Y., a trial. Weeks went by and the friends met. Mr. Allen said, "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has saved my life. It is a sure cure for Gravel."

The pumice stone was a writing material of the ancients; they used it to smooth the roughness of the parchment or to sharpen their reeds.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN
—IN—
Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

The Only Way to Become a Capitalist.

Somebody must save money; and the people who save it will be the capitalists, and they will control the organization of industry and receive the larger share of the profits. If the workingmen will save their money the may not only be sharers of profits, but owners of stock and receivers of dividends. And the workingmen can save their money, if they will. It is the only way in which they can permanently and surely improve their condition. Legislative reforms, improved industrial methods, may make the way easier for them, but there is no road to comfort and independence, after all, but the plain old path of steady work and sober saving.

If the working people of this country would save, for the next five years, the money that they spend on beer and tobacco and base ball, they could control a pretty large share of the capital employed in the industries by which they get their living; and they could turn the dividends of this capital from the pockets of the money-lenders into their own. There is no other way of checking the congestion of wealth and of promoting its diffusion, so expeditious, so certain and so beneficent as this: I wish the working people would try it!—Washington Glidden in the Sept. Forum.

Recipes.

Cream Pie—Beat the whites of four eggs until they will remain on an inverted spoon, then add four tablespoonfuls of white sugar. Beat all together in a basin or dish holding a quart; fill the dish with cream, or very rich milk if you have no cream, and flavor with lemon, vanilla, or any extract you prefer to use. Bake with one crust.

Black Pudding—Use for this one cupful of warm water, one cupful of molasses, one and a half cupfuls of stoned raisins, one teaspoonful of soda, two and one half cupfuls of flour. Mix all the ingredients together and boil in a pudding-bag. Add a little more flour if the pudding seems too thin as you put it in the bag. Boil it three hours.

Potato Soup—Peel three medium sized potatoes and boil them until they can be pressed through a colander, then stir in one cup of cream or rich milk and return to the water the potatoes were boiled in. Beat an egg and stir it into a pint of flour; then sprinkle this into the boiling soup. Add butter, salt and pepper to taste and let the small egg dumplings boil about fifteen minutes, then serve very hot.

What Sort of Girls are Lovable.

"What kind of girls are lovable?" asks an old bachelor sternly, in the Boston Globe. "That, good sir, depends a great deal upon what kind of a person is going to love them." Here is a rather pretty summing up from the thought—and experience—of a person who has pride in being in some sort a connoisseur of lovability: "The gifts that are lovable," says he, "are these: Girls without an undesirable love of liberty and craze for individualism; girls who will let themselves be guided; girls who have the filial sentiment well developed, and who feel the love of a daughter for the woman who acts as their mother; girls who know that every day and all day long cannot be devoted to holiday making without the intervention of duties more or less irksome; girls who, when they can gather them, accept their roses with frank and girlish sincerity of pleasure, and when they are denied, submit without repining to the inevitable hardships of circumstances—these are the girls whose companionship gladdens and does not oppress or distract the old, whose sweetness and ready submission to the reasonable control of authority make life so pleasant and their charge so light to those whose care they are."

A Spanish potato raised at Clarksville, Ga., this season was four feet and eight inches in length.

To Restore the Freshness of Worn Clothing.

The mystery to many people how the scourers of old clothes can make them look almost as good as new is explained in the American Analyst as follows: Take, for instance, a shabby old coat, vest or pair of pants, of broadcloth, cassimere or diagonal. The scourer makes a strong, warm soapsuds and plunges the garment into it, souses it up and down, rubs the dirty places, if necessary puts it through a second suds, then rinses it through several waters, and hangs it to dry on the line. When nearly dry, he takes it in, rolls it up for an hour or two, and then presses it. An old cotton cloth is laid on the outside of the coat, and the iron passed over that until the wrinkles are out; but the iron is removed before the steam ceases to rise from the goods, else they would be shiny. Wrinkles that are obstinate are removed by laying a wet cloth over them, and passing the iron over that. If any shiny places are seen, they are treated as the wrinkles are; the iron is lifted, while the full cloud of steam rises, and brings the nap up with it. Cloth should always have a suds made specially for it, as in that which has been used for white cotton or woolen clothes, lint will be left in the water, and cling to the cloth. In this manner we have known the same coat and pantaloons to be renewed time and again, and have all the look and feel of new garments. Good broadclo

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 27, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 795 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

ABOUT INSURANCE.

If we mistake not there is a bill before the present Legislature, or an application for one pending before some of the legislative committees, in favor of changing the present insurance laws in such a manner that when a person has his house insured for a certain amount and it burns down he can find out by his policy just how much insurance money he is entitled to and how much he will receive. The bill ought to become a law.

As things now stand if a man procures an insurance of $1000 on his house and it is totally consumed by fire he can't tell how much money he will get from the company until the loss is "adjusted" and a report sent in. It is hardly ever the case that he receives the full sum of $1,000 notwithstanding his payments are all based on that amount of insurance.

There is, according to the way we look at it, nothing equitable or fair in the way fire insurance business is conducted as it regards the payment of losses.

MR. HAYDEN MEANS WHAT HE SAYS.

There has been considerable talk of late about making Hon. E. D. Hayden of this city the next Governor of Massachusetts. But to the proposal Mr. Hayden gives an emphatic nay. The following needs no explanation:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Ex-Congressman Hayden was on the floor of the House to-day and a member of the Massachusetts delegation jokingly saluted him as "Governor."

"Don't call me that," said Mr. Hayden. "Most men when they decline something which has not yet been tendered to them are as a rule insincere, and really want what they profess they do not. I am perfectly honest in saying that I would not accept the nomination. I have no further political ambitions, and least of all do I want to be governor of Massachusetts.

"I appreciate the kindness in mentioning my name, but really I am not a candidate either now or at any other time."

THE BIENNIAL ELECTIONS.

When the question of biennial elections came up for a final vote in the Senate last week the Senator from this District, Capt. E. F. Wyer, recorded his name on the affirmative side of it as its friends had good reason to suppose he would.

In any case where it is shown that there is a considerable popular demand for a modification of the organic law of the Commonwealth there ought never to be any hesitation on the part of the General Court about putting the necessary machinery into operation for testing the question by submitting it to a vote of the people and it was probably in this light that Senator Wyer looked at it when he voted last week in favor of allowing the citizens of the State to express an opinion on it at the ballot-box.

A GOOD SELECTION.

The appointment of ex-Governor Foster of Ohio to the office of Secretary of the Treasury to fill the vacancy made by the death of Secretary Windom meets with cordial approval from men of all parties. He is regarded as a man of excellent financial ability; it is known that he has achieved success in his business pursuits through life; his ideas as to public finances are sound and conservative; and he is in full accord with the President on all matters appertaining to the affairs of his Department.

RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS.

If anyone can tell why towns and cities have not the natural right to establish gas and electric plants and sell the products of them to their own inhabitants we should like to hear it.

The idea is absurd, and yet it is doubtful if the petitions for the exercise of such right now before the Legislature will be granted.

☞ Washington despatches of Tuesday last include ex-Congressman Hayden of this city in a delegation of distinguished Boston gentlemen who, headed by Senator Hoar, called on President Harrison that day in behalf of the reappointment of General Corse to the Boston Postoffice. It was also said in the despatch that Gen. Corse's prospects were brightening up again.

☞ Within a few days we have received valuable documents from the Census Bureau of the Interior Department, Division of Mining Statistics, at the head of which is David T. Day namely: Census Bulletin Nos. 26 and 27, the first containing a treatise on "Maryland Coal," and the other a treatise on "Alabama Coal."

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

T. H. Cahill—Brine.
Ayer & Son—Morgan.
A. Cummings—Opening.
J. G. Maguire—Citation.
L. L. Whitney—Probate.
L. L. Whitney—Citation.
Barlow Bros.—Minstrels.
Emma Fosdick—Concert.
W. Co-op. Bank—Meeting.
Paine Fur. Co.—Furniture.
S. F. Trull—Parish Meeting.
G. R. Gage & Co.—Dissolution.
Good Will Club—Entertainment.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Baking Powder.

— Tuesday was almost like a summer day.

— Another big rain storm on Wednesday night.

— Judge Johnson's confirmation will take place on April 1.

— There has been some pleasant spring-like weather here this week.

— The Boston Branch has an important announcement in this paper.

— Josie Littlefield of No. Berwick, Maine, is visiting relatives in this city.

— Episcopalians will be interested in the notice for a Parish meeting published in this paper.

— Mr. Austin Hall who was so badly burned is getting along as well as could be expected.

— There were 12 applicants for police civil service examination before the Board last Tuesday.

— Barlow Bros. famous minstrel troupe will give a entertainment at Lyceum Hall to-morrow evening.

— The Central Square Rod and Gun Club had a shoot last Monday. The next one will be held on Fast Day.

— The rain and drizzle of Saturday and Saturday night swept away what little snow there was and made slushy walking.

— A meeting of the Woburn High School Graduates Association will be held Friday evening, March 13, 1891. All are invited.

— Please read the announcement of an entertainment to be given by the Good Will Club at No. Woburn next Friday evening.

— Mr. J. L. Smith of Winchester, near Locke's Hill, was in this city last Tuesday to attend the funeral of a relative on Montvale Ave.

— Brewster Colony, No. 19, U. O. P. F., will give an entertainment at the close of its meeting on March 5 to the members and their wives.

— We announce the death of Mrs. Brooks, mother of Mrs. Col. Hayes, at the age of nearly 96 years—the oldest person in the city probably.

— The alarm from box 38 last Wednesday afternoon was for a small fire at Calnan's shoe stock factory on Winn street. The damage was slight.

— Crystal Fount Lodge, I. O. O. F., by invitation of Rev. Hugh Montgomery, the pastor, will attend divine services at the M. E. Church next Sunday.

— Burbank W. R. C. No. 84, have elected Mrs. Sarah A. Woodside, President of the Corps, a delegate to the National Convention to be held in Detroit next Aug.

— Particular attention is called to the notice of Miss Fosdick's banjo concert in another column. It will be seen that a fine array of talent has been engaged for it.

— Mr. H. Olson who fell into a vat of tanning liquor last week and was terribly burned, is rapidly recovering. He had a narrow escape from an awful death.

— Remember the readings by Prof. Churchill, Friday evening, March 6. The tickets are selling rapidly and we think it safe to prophesy that few, if any, will be on sale that evening.

— The State Inspector of Buildings, after another examination, pronounces the heating apparatus of the Union Street school which has given so much trouble this winter still unsatisfactory.

— Mrs. S. K. Ellis and her daughter Josie of Bennett street left here last Friday for Boston where they took a Raymond excursion train for a trip to and several days visit at Washington, D. C.

— Read full programme, etc., of the annual meeting and banquet of the Pine Tree Club in another column in this paper. The affair is to come off on Wednesday evening, March 4, and will be a notable one.

— The great meeting of the Salvation Army at Concert Hall last Tuesday evening was a success. The Chelsea Brass Band of the Army furnished music, and many prominent Army officers delivered addresses.

— The expressions of approval of the Mrs. Converse property on Sherman Place for a City Hospital, first suggested by the JOURNAL, are general and warm. There is no other spot in the city so good for the purpose as it is.

— Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond have been taking a great deal of pleasure at Winter Park, Florida, where they went some weeks ago. The genial Southern climate agrees with the health and spirits of both of them.

— Mr. F. H. Lewis, Principal of the Lewis Music School in this city, and other popular talent gave a concert last evening for the benefit of the M. E. Church and Society. The JOURNAL goes to press too early to give an account of.

— Albert Thompson, the painter, has had a busy and profitable year of it. He has had all the orders for pictures (principally cattle pieces which are his specialty) that he could execute and still has a satisfactory number on hand.

— Every house needs a good Dining Table. There is no comfort in the old style oval table. The legs are in the way, the leaves are never level and the table creaks constantly. Oak and Cherry Pillar Extension Tables can be bought as low as $10 at Paine's Furniture Warerooms, 48 Canal street, Boston.

— "Bradley's American Farmer," published in Boston by the famous Bradley Fertilizer Co. of 30 years standing, is not only a neat and prettily illustrated publication but likewise a useful one, as farmers, gardeners, horticulturists and other soil-workers will see by a careful examination of the same.

— A despatch has been received from Mr. George W. Copp who went to search for the body of Rufus W. Lovering, Jr., of this city who was drowned on Jan. 24th last at a place about 50 miles from Seattle, Wash., saying that he had recovered it and would reach Woburn with it by due course of railroad conveyance.

— Miss M. M. Jameson, Musical Instructor in the public schools of this city, is a lady of rare musical accomplishments and is giving entire satisfaction to our school authorities. This was not an easy thing to do coming to the position as the successor of Prof. Emory P. Russell whose administration of its affairs were signally successful all through his engagement. He is a musical teacher of great merit, and his incumbency of the post of Musical Instructor in Woburn's public schools was in the highest degree satisfactory to all concerned. It is believed that Miss Jameson will prove a worthy successor to him.

— Organist Clarke has arranged the following music for the morning services at the First Congregational church next Sunday:

Organ Prelude. "Elevation in A flat." A. Guilmant.
Chant. "Lord, we come before thee, now."
Anthem. "Cast thy burden on the Lord." De Lange.
Solo at the Collection. "Your mission."
Organ Postlude. "Marche Pontificale." Lemmens.

— Mr. William Woods, the machinist in the Train Signal building, has sold out to Mr. Charles Tuttle of Lowell who is now, or will be soon, on the spot. The new proprietor has a plenty of capital and will take measures at once to materially enlarge the plant and increase the business. Mr. Woods will remain in the shop in the employ fo Mr. Tuttle.

— Mr. Robert C. Whitten, the well-known and popular baritone of Winchester, will sing at the services at the Unitarian church next Sunday evening. This announcement will have the effect to attract a large audience from among those who know Mr. Whitten and admire him as a vocalist. Rev. Mr. Parker is to lecture, and what with the music and oratory something like a "field day" is anticipated.

— Mr. W. B. Ward of 145 Montvale Avenue, formerly a saw-maker in the Montvale saw factory but now a saw, knife, scissors and axe grinder on wheels, has invented and manufactures and sells a steel tool for scraping out pots, kettles, sinks, etc., which every housekeeper in the country ought to have. It will be found "as handy as a pocket in a shirt," and as it comes cheap every woman can afford to have one.

— Mr. Amos Cummings is investing in printer's ink in a manner which indicates a determination on his part to launch a business boom at his great dry goods and millinery establishment this spring. No one knows or appreciates the value of printers ink better than Mr. Cummings. He has made it pay in the past and always speaks well of the bridge that carries him over safely. Read his little card on page 4.

— Saturday evening, for one night only, the much talked of Barlow Brothers' Minstrels appear at Lyceum Hall. This organization comes here flushed with the success of its recent Philadelphia engagement at the Arch Street Theatre, where it packed the house night after night. By the Philadelphia press the aggregation is unanimously indorsed as one of the strongest ever combined under one management, and as giving a most enjoyable and varied entertainment.

— It is too early to comment on the stories in the Boston papers concerning the condition of the Middlesex Investment Company of this city. We prefer to wait until further light is shed on the matter. This however is true: there are no honester men in this State than the officers of that company, viz: B. A. Tripp, President; C. E. Tripp, Vice President; C. H. Kimball, Treasurer; H. N. Conn, Clerk. They are all upright, square, honest men, and highly respected citizens of this place.

— The Equal Suffrage League will hold its next regular meeting Monday evening, March 2, at 7.30, in the Y. M. C. A. parlor. The first half hour is usually devoted to business including reports of what men and women are doing in the philanthropic and political world. At 8 o'clock members of the League and any others who choose, study from "Citizen and Neighbor," a book on Political Economy by Rev. Chas. F. Dole. The purpose of the book as set forth by Mr. Dole is not only to set people to reading but if possible to thinking and acting.

— The Water Board of Boston have been interfering again with the leather making business of Stephen Dow & Co., at their tannery on Meadow Brook in this city. For years Boston's Water Board have been an almost constant annoyance to the tanners of Woburn and at last the Dows propose to try titles with them. An injunction has lately been served on the firm of Dow & Co. to prevent the alleged pollution of Horn Pond by drainage from their works and the Dow brothers, proprietors, have made up their minds to fight. They have money and pluck enough to give Boston all they want of courts, and it will be a tough fight unless the matter is compromised.

— Mr. Amos Cummings's opening of underwear and corsets began yesterday and will close on to-morrow evening. It is a rare event in mid-winter dry goods trade and we have reason to believe it has been, so far, satisfactory to Mr. Cummings and profitable to his patrons. It is well and widely known that he is showing in this opening a stock of ladies underwear and corsets of great extent, variety, and genuine value. His goods are of superior style, fabric and workmanship. He buys and sells "the best"; and as the prices are all low the ladies are "picking up" these bargains with avidity. Remember that the opening will continue to-day and close to-morrow evening.

— Last Monday was Washington's Birthday, a legal holiday in this and all other States. A very fair article of weather prevailed but it was not utilized for celebrating purposes to any great extent in this city. In the forenoon business was carried on as usual and no attempt was made by anybody to do anything towards honoring the day except at the postoffice and the unfurling of flags from the various mastheads in the community. In the afternoon and evening nearly all the stores, shops and other business houses were closed up and the proprietors generally speaking went somewhere. There were hardly any entertainments, little or no dancing, and the same was true of feasting. On the whole Washington's Birthday was a quiet one in this city.

— A terrible accident occurred at the residence of Dr. James Madigan on Warren St. last Monday afternoon while the doctor and wife were in Boston which resulted in the instant death of their youngest child, Willie, whose age was about two years. As is usually the case different versions of the sad affair are current, but the real facts are about these: While the parents were away the eldest son, about 14 years old, went gunning. He returned about 2.30 and took his gun to one of the rooms of the house, placing it in a corner. He then went out. There were in the house four other children, the eldest 10 years, and others five and two years and an infant. Some of them got the gun, and in playing with it it was discharged, the contents striking the two year old child in the head and killing him instantly.

— Last week we received a good sized specimen of gold-bearing gravel from somewhere in California but from just where we were unable at the time to determine. A note from a former fellow-citizen, Mr. H. L. Parker, once book-keeper for the Woburn Coal Company, posted at his home, Forest Hill, Cal., contained the information that the specimen received was taken from his gold mining claim on American river in Placer county, and known in that country as the "Golden Eldorado." The specimen received is rich in the precious metal, and Mr. Parker's claim from which it was taken is said to be a very valuable piece of mining property. He is now meeting with excellent success in organizing a company to work the mine and expects to get to digging in a very short time. From present indications it is safe to say that friend Parker has "struck it rich."

— Messrs. J. W. Hammond & Son have begun the manufacture of pantaloons on a considerable scale in this city and propose, if proper encouragement is received, to enlarge the business in the near future. They have leased the upper hall in Lyceum Hall building where they have already set some 6 or 8 girls and an experienced cutter to work turning out a better 3-dollar article of working trousers than can be at present found anywhere in the market. Mr. Winthrop Hammond has no doubt but that the enterprise will speedily prove to be a complete success and that within a short time the firm will have a large number of sewing girls at work on the manufacture of these goods in their rooms in Lyceum Hall block. We see no reason why it should not be a success for it is proposed to make and sell a better pair of trousers for $3.00 than can now anywhere be bought for that price. Furthermore, as it promises to give a pleasant and profitable employment to many girls who now find it difficult to obtain work without going out of town for it, the scheme deserves the hearty endorsement, best wishes, and encouragement of our people.

— The musicale given at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs Robert J. W. Phinney on Academy Hill one evening last week was participated in by some of the ablest musicians in Boston, not to mention Mrs. Phinney who is a lady of rare natural gifts and acquirements in music. She has been an apt student of the best masters on both sides of the Atlantic and stands high as a vocalist in musical circles. A delightful evening was spent by an assembly composed of the cream of Woburn society, the size of which was just equal to the capacity of Mrs. Phinney's parlors and drawing-rooms to accommodate. A choice selection of songs, airs, etc, was rendered by Miss Mary How and Mr. Charles R. Adams who fill conspicuous places in the highest musical society of musical Boston; Miss Gardner, a sweet singer from Chicago; the Saint Cecelias of which Mrs. Phinney is a member; Mrs. H. T. Remick, and the hostess, of this city; the pleasure of which was greatly enhanced by piano solos artistically performed by Miss. Mertena Bancroft and Miss Maggie Thompson. An elegant repast added to the pleasures of the evening.

— We notice that a former citizen of Woburn, William V. Kellen, Esq., State Reporter of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court decisions, took an active part in the annual meeting of "The Sons of Brown," meaning graduates of Brown University at Providence, R. I., which was held in Boston on Thursday evening of last week. He was chosen one of the Vice-Presidents of the association, and made a speech which of course was good, for Lawyer Kellen never used to make any other kind and we suppose he does not now. He was otherwise prominent in the meeting. Mr. Kellen graduated from Brown in 1872, and afterwards read law and was admitted to the Bar of this Commonwealth. For several years past he has been engaged in legal authorship and compilation, his work being done mostly for Little & Brown who enjoy a widespread and enviable reputation as publishers of works on law. Mr. Kellen's Digest and Index published by that house is pronounced by the Bar the best thing of the kind ever written. A half dozen years or so ago he was appointed Reporter of Decisions, for the proper discharge of the duties of which office no man in this State is better, and very few as well, fitted by study and bent of intellect as Mr. Kellen is.

— Mr. M. S. Prescott of Montvale, is one of the most extensive and successful poultry raisers in this part of Massachusetts. He makes a business of it, and a paying one. At the present time he has between 1500 and 2000 fowl of the best breeds for eggs and eating, for the accommodation of which his arrangements are according to the latest and most improved plans. The houses are seemingly perfect in design and finish, affording every comfort for the fowl and convenience for their keepers. The methods for feeding and watering are the best that ingenuity could devise and were adopted with the view solely of promoting the cleanliness, comfort and health of the birds. Mr. Prescott eschews the incubator and insists that his chickens shall be brought into the world in the natural way. He prefers nature's plans of doing such things to the mechanism of inventors however perfect they may seem to be. Mr. P. makes his money by selling eggs and chickens for the table. He understands the business thoroughly and is noted for always securing the best results from its prosecution. We have an impression that his henneries are the largest in this section of the State and that the annual products of them exceed those of any other breeder.

— Mr. Lawrence Reade will vacate the Centre postoffice on tomorrow evening and on Monday morning Mr. Arthur B. Wyman with his force of clerks, etc., will open the office and go to work in Mr. Reade's place. The new personnel of the establishment will be as follows: Postmaster, Arthur B. Wyman.; Assistant Postmaster, Clarabel D. Flinn; Clerks, Nellie J. McCarthy, Lizzie Callahan, Charles O'Brien, Frank Smith. There will be no change in the corps of letter-carriers. Of the new force Miss Flinn served in responsible positions under Nathan Wyman, W. T. Grammer, and Lawrence Reade, her services commencing fifteen years ago at the least. The public will be glad to see her back at her old post after an absence, caused by illness, of a year or two, for she was always popular with everybody having business at the postoffice by reason of her courtesy and kindness to all. Miss Nellie J. McCarthy was wisely retained by Mr. Wyman, for she has been one of the most patient, prompt and accommodating of Mr. Reade's corps of excellent employees. She is thoroughly posted in the duties of the office and will prove a valuable assistant in the future as she has in the past. Miss Lizzie Callahan has also been a clerk in the office long enough to have learned the ropes and to make hosts of friends among the patrons of the establishment. She is pleasant, willing and ready to oblige, quick, and a general favorite. The young gentlemen are steady-paced and will make good clerks we have no doubt. We opine our readers will agree with us in thinking that Postmaster Wyman has done firstrate in selecting his corps of aids for service at the Centre office.

— The Sunday papers of Boston, or some of them at least, contained sensational accounts of a railroad accident to an esteemed citizen of Woburn well and very favorable known by the name of Daniel McCarthy by the 5.12 P. M. inbound train last Saturday. These stories were not true—our old friend McCarthy was not hit by that or any other train that day and therefore received no injury from such source. True, Daniel had a close shave from the engine of the 5.12 train that afternoon; he came very near being struck; it looked for a moment or two as though he had set out on his journey for the great Beyond; but a plucky, cool-headed engineer saved him, and Mr. Daniel McC. is alive and kicking to-day. The engineer brought his locomotive to a dead standstill just before our esteemed fellow-citizen was reached, and that is the reason why good mistress McCarthy is not sitting and sighing in widowhood at this hour. Some of the papers say that Mr. McCarthy claims that he has been struck and toppled over 12 times by locomotives and was never very seriously hurt by any of them. Whether 12 or 20, he is a terror to engineers on the road, not one of whom but knows Dan and expects some day to be the death of him. But Mr. McCarthy still pursues the even tenor of his way; conscientiously he discharges his daily duties; he walks the railroad track without fear or trembling; he feels no concern for his personal safety, and Biddy has got so used to it that even she don't mind his frequent contests with belligerent cow-catchers and all that sort of thing. So Dan stoutly maintains that if engineers and traveling people don't like his style of getting over town they must do the next thing.

Schumann Ladies' Quartette.

A large and select audience assembled in the Waverley Congregational church last Wednesday and witnessed the finest concert given thus far this season. The audience was so large that chairs had to be procured, while many could hardly find standing room. It was the first visit to Waverley of the Ladies' Schumann Quartette of Woburn but our readers are assured that it will not be the last.

The following artists of the occasion are well known: Schumann Quartette: Mrs. Annie E. T. Strout, first soprano; Mrs. Mary L. E. Seaver, second soprano; Mrs. Mary E. A. Fulton, first alto; Miss Anna C. W. Bond, second alto; Prof. Curtis, reader; Mr. John E. Braur, clarinetist.

The program was excellently rendered, the artists being frequently encored. Prof. Curtis's clever witticism provoked much mirth, and he was called out again and again. His readings were well delivered and contained many good hits. The Quartette captivated the audience with its fine renderings, their voices blended exceedingly well.

Mr. Braur made a hit by his sweet clarinet solos, and that his playing was far above the average was evident by the hearty encore he received, especially from the musical critics that were in the audience. —Belmont (Mass.) Bulletin.

Annual Banquet of Pine Tree Club.

Arrangements are complete for the annual meeting and supper of the Pine Tree Club.

They will take place in Concert Hall on next Wednesday evening, March 4.

Rev. Geo. A. Crawford, formerly Chaplain of the Navy and now Pastor over the Bromfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church, and Major H. M. Daggett of the Regular Army, of Boston, will be the speakers. Mrs. Ada Louise Carey Sturgiss, sister of Annie Louise Carey, assisted by Mrs. F. A. Partridge and Mrs. C. M. Strout, will furnish the music for the evenings entertainment.

The price of tickets is 75 cents: Samuel H. Patten will be the caterer on the occasion.

Natives of Maine now residents of Winchester will be, or have been, invited to participate in the festivities of the evening.

The Secretary has the names and addresses of 144 Sons and Daughters of Maine in this city, and believes that there are twice that number living in Woburn. Sign now!

School Meeting.

The School Board of this city held a meeting on last Tuesday evening.

Communications were received from Miss Annie F. Carpenter of the High School graduating class of '89, for a position as trainer in the public schools; received and placed on file. A. P. Howard, Superintendent of the Chemical Works, called attention to the fact that the vehicle which carries children to school does not run regularly, and is often not large enough to carry all. Referred to Superintendent. Voted, that the Truant Officer be chosen in June instead of January. The Superintendent's monthly report was made and accepted. The matter of High School graduating exercises was discussed at some length and referred to the Board as a committee of the whole, to be decided next Monday evening.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

The Board held a regular and very animated meeting on Thursday evening, Feb. 19, at which there was a good attendance. The records referring to the special meeting of Saturday evening were expunged, as there was no quorum. Edward Simonds was appointed Keeper of the Lockup. The following were appointed and confirmed as Constables: Thomas Mulkeen, Thomas Quinn, Edward Simonds, John Maguire, Wm. T. Kendall, James Mack and Terence Maguire. Mayor Bean's vetoes of the orders to increase the salaries of Clerk of Committees and Common Council and erect six electric lights at North Woburn were laid on the table.

Dr. John M. Harlow declined the election as Cemetery Commissioner. Two petitions were received from the Postal Telegraph Company, one for permission to erect poles, the other for permission to string wires on poles already erected. Referred to Highway Committee. The order to elect a City Solicitor was taken from the table and Francis P. Curran was elected by a vote of 4 to 3.

The order to increase the salaries of Police Officers was amended, making the salary $850, instead of $900. Thomas D. Hevey was elected Overseer of the Poor to fill the unexpired term of John Ferguson. Six dollars a month State Aid was recommended for Wm. A. Preston and $7 a month for Luke Estabrook. The appointment of the following officers was also confirmed: Pound Keeper, Thomas C. Boyce; Fence Viewers, Wm. H. Cummings, Joseph B. McDonald and James H. Doherty; Field Drivers, Oliver Sevrens, George F. Hosmer and Wm. A. Colegate; Surveyors of Lumber, Clarence Littlefield, John I. Munroe, George E. Fowle, Cyrus H. Menizer, James McFeeley and Cyrus N. Richardson; Measurers of Wood and Bark, David W. Brown, John P. Delaney, Clarence Littlefield, Edward F. Cassidy, Joseph M. Eaton, Cyrus N. Richardson and Alva S. Wood; Measurers of Mason Work, George F. Hartshorne and Wm. H. Cummings; Measurers of Upper Leather, J. Otis Cummings, Arthur T. Nichols, Otis Bacon, Edward J. Phillips, William H. Bowers, Thomas G. Beggs, John H. Hovey, Robert Turnbull, Daniel W. Bond, Patrick H. Murphy and Joseph M. Eaton; Measurers of Grains, Henry C. Hall, George E Waters, Joseph Bailey, Jacob A. Ham and Albion P. Chute; Undertakers, Lawrence Reade, Benjamin A. Tripp, Charles E. Tripp, Edward E. Lynch and John McLaughlin; Examiners of Charcoal Measures, Fred W. McDonald and John R. Carter; Weighers of Coal, Elmer C. Claffy, Oliver M. Wade and Herbert E. Lord; Public Weigher, Charles T. Dearborn.

The following were elected as Assistant Assessors: Ward 1, John Lynch, Ward 2, James Dolan, Ward 3, Dennis D. Begley, Ward 4, J. Fred Leslie, Ward 5, James Cogan, Ward 6, B. Frank Kimball, Ward 7, Franklin Flint.

Monthly reports of City Auditor, Overseer of the Poor, Inspector of Milk and Vinegar, etc., received and filed.

[NOTE. Ald. Fowle moved to lay the Mayor's vetoes on the table, in opposition to which Ald. Davis said: "The public business should be disposed of and not piled up for action at some indefinite period. They were there to attend to the public business and it seemed to him it should be done. The spectacle of two members of this Board being in the hall not two minutes before a meeting was held and then going away without attending to the business of the Board he was satisfied did not meet with public approval and it would be condemned by the citizens." Ald. Davis was entirely right. The public will not tolerate tomfoolery on the part of their servants and if the public business is not attended to as it should be, this city government, when the day of reckoning comes, will find themselves most grievously left. Neither side is free from blame. Personal animosities are cutting too big a figure in the action of the Boards and the tax-payers will not abide it longer than they can help.—EDITOR.

The O. U. A. M. Fair.

The grand Bazaar and Fair of the American Mechanics which commenced on Tuesday and closed on Saturday evening last week netted Liberty Council just about $1500. It was one of the most successful ever held in this city.

The public generally took a lively interest in it, and its management was of such a character that failure was out of the question. Mechanic Building was thronged every night during the continuance of the Fair. Its patrons were not confined to Woburn but came from all the neighboring towns and cities, and the visitors without exception enjoyed the exhibition, the entertainments, the contests, and other means adopted by the management to give them pleasure.

There was great rivalry for the prizes, and the voting on them was brisk from start to finish. The contests were carried on in a pleasant and friendly spirit, but they were sharp. The Police Officers gold badge was won by Chief of Police William R. McIntosh of this city, that official having received 2020 votes, against 1125 for Chief Newton of Stoneham. Charles H. Nichols secured the whip, Orlando J. Hart the past Sachem's Regalia, and Foreman Edward E. Stowers the Fireman's badge. The prizes found the right keepers. No candidate for the Officers badge had more friends and earnest workers than Chief McIntosh of this city, and no one deserved the honor more than he. Medicine Man O. J. Hart carried off the Past Sachem's regalia of the Order of Red Men in triumph and no one will stand up and dispute his title to it. The vote showed that he is a popular gentleman for he distanced all competitors. Neither did the Fireman's badge go astray when it fell into the hands, by an overwhelming majority, of Edward E. Stowers, and the same holds true as to the various other prizes.

Quilt, Miss May Hunting, 625; Miss Hattie Story, 120; Miss Carrie Stevens, 65. Lady's Gold Ring, Miss Abbie Cummings, 609; Miss Mamie Perry, 530. Plush Easy Chair, Woburn Woman's Relief Corps, 138, the only competing society entered. O. U. A. M. ex-Councillor Regalia, Orin W. Stevens, Jr., 2124; Alonzo J. Haynes, 155. Set of "Handy Volume" of Shakespeare, Miss Emma F. Hovey, the only teacher who was in the contest, 55 votes. Bow and Arrows for the Indian Queens in the Archery, Miss Amelia Bland, 225; Miss Lizzie Whitcomb, 179; Miss Lottie Carter, 179.

The large amount of money raised at the Fair will go far towards furnishing the Council's hall in their building and to defraying other expenses incurred in changing over the old Methodist meeting-house into a fine business block.

Liberty Council, having good business talent at the helm, is reported to be in a prosperous condition.

Penny Wise but Pound Foolish.

Once a merchant, who had an eye single to great profits and regarded not the wants of his patrons, undertook to induce a customer to take some of Dusenbury's soap. "What you say may be all true," said the customer, "but my wife does not want that soap, and as you have not got Brussels soap I'll step in next door and get it," which he did. And ever after he traded at the place where could be found the economical Brussels soap and other desirable household articles.

A Minstrel Show.

Harris Bijou Theatre was crowded yesterday afternoon and evening to see the first performance of Barlow Bros.' minstrels, and such delighted audiences have never before been seen within the Bijou Theatre. The entertainment, as a whole, is one of the best seen here, and elicited round after round of applause for their artistic specialties and acts. The Barlow brothers made a great team of fun-maker, and the performances throughout was new, refined and artistic.— Washington, (D. C.) Post.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

A Pleasant Party.

On last Monday evening the First Parish Committee consisting of Messrs. Joseph G. Pollard, Luke Warren Fowle and Oliver F. Bryant gave a supper to the choir of that church and their friends which everyone present said was a very pleasant affair.

The choir is what is called a voluntary one and for several years have furnished the best of sacred music for public enjoyment in that place of worship without money and without price. Their efficiency as vocalists is due chiefly to the intelligent and skilful training of organist Clarke who has accomplished so much in the way of elevating the character of the music of the church. In the nature of a return for such valuable services, although regarded as altogether inadequate, it was deemed fitting by the Parish Committee to give the choir a reception and supper, which was accomplished on last Monday evening in a very successful manner.

The Committee, Dr. March, members of the Choir and their friends, and some invited guests, assembled in the church parlor early in the evening, where the enjoyment of a social good time was indulged in. This was brought to a close by the company, in response to a cordial call, repairing to the small vestry where they found tables set for 60 persons, which was just the number present to surround and occupy them.

Hon. J. G. Pollard of the Committee presided and on taking the Chair entertained the company with some appropriate remarks. Dr. March invoked divine blessing after which the company fell to and gave an hour or so to gastronomic pleasures. The meal was pronounced an excellent one by everybody, which was true, for the Committee had been generous in their providing.

There was after-supper speech-making, as is the fashion of the times. Chairman Pollard first called on Dr. March, the pastor, who expressed the gratitude of the church to the choir for their valuable contributions to the Sabbath services and accompanied the same with warm thanks.

Next, Chairman Pollard in a felicitous manner, introduced Mayor George F. Bean, who for a year and a half was a member of the choir, who responded in a bright, breezy and very appropriate speech. It was a spicy one and everybody enjoyed it. Mr. E. H. Lounsbury, a present member of the choir, made a neat, pleasing speech in response to the Chairman's call; and Mr. Frank B. Richardson, Superintendent of the Sunday School, in fitting terms expressed the regrets sent by Deacon G. R. Gage over his inability to be present and participate in the pleasures of the evening. Besides this Mr. Richardson had some kind words of thanks for organist Clarke and the choir.

Chairman Pollard made especial reference to the services and sacrifices of Mr. Charles H. Lyford, Superintendent of the Primary Department of the Sunday School, and called particular attention to the valuable aid he had rendered organist Clarke in keeping and looking after the juvenile end of the choir Sunday after Sunday. Mr. Pollard spoke in warm terms of the value of such services and his remarks were appreciated and heartily endorsed by the company present.

At the close of the speech-making at the festive boards, the company returned to the parlor where they were pleasantly regaled by the rendition of a humorous poem by organist Clarke; cornet solos by Mr. William W. Crosby; vocal solos by Mr. W. P. Fox, Mr. Mark H. Cotton, and congregational singing of hymns.

At a seasonable hour the party broke up, and in view of the honors paid them it is expected that the choir will hereafter more than heretofore (if possible) sing "with the spirit and the understanding also."

"John," said a wife to her husband, "what a goose you are. I really believe you cannot tell a yard of gingham from a cargo of brick. Here you have brought me ten cakes of that nasty, yellow, rosin soap when I told you to be sure and bring Brussels. Don't you believe in economy?"

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Sample free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

The man who yet votes for General Jackson never heard of Brussels soap.

North Woburn.

Miss Edith Wyman passed the holidays at her home in this village.

Mr. Harry G. Carter, a student at Amherst College, is at home on a short vacation.

Mr. Albert Warren spent Washington's birthday at his home. He is employed in the Waltham watch factory and is meeting with great success.

Mr. F. D. Cook and Mr. J. W. Studley, both of Ward Six, arrived home on Feb. 20 from a very pleasant 3-months trip to and visit in the "Sunny South." After staying a month in the Lake region of the interior of Florida, where the alligators were very plenty, the rest of the visit was spent at Ocala, the most enterprising city in Florida, and Mr. Cooks says his land there is just the right sort to grow oranges on.

The members of the Good-Will Club of North Woburn will give a musical and dramatic entertainment in the Unitarian Chapel on Friday evening, March 6th, under the direction of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the Sunday Schools to which the members belong. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to help by their presence and thus give encouragment to the children in so laudable an undertaking.

On last Tuesday evening Mr. W. P. Sevrens was surprised at his home by a large delegation of his friends. It was about seven-thirty P. M. when the party, about thirty in number, marched into the house in solemn Indian file and took seats ready to seize their prey, which soon appeared. After a most hearty welcome had been given Mr. Sevrens the usual jollification was indulged in, which only stopped while a bounteous collation was being served. It was a late hour before the party broke up and wended their way towards home.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, Feb. 21, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mr. J. Flynn, Chas. A. Gould, Mr. John Harris, John H. Maxwell, Miss R. E. McPherson, Highland Ave., Mrs. J. W. Rushton, 139 Fair Oaks St., Luther Thompson, Miss Maggie Sturley, 12 Court St., (Package.)

LAWRENCE READE, P. M.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

BAPTIST—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Communion at 2.30 p. m. Christian Endeavor at 6 p. m. Missionary Concert 7 p. m. Wednesday evening, prayer meeting.

UNITARIAN—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. Subject: The Right and Wrong Uses of the Bible. At 7 p. m., Lecture by the pastor. Subject: The Divine Goodness.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. Rev. F. W. March will preach. Communion service at 2.30 p. m. Young people's meeting at 6 p. m. Monthly Concert. Mission Reports at 7 p. m. The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evening.

METHODIST.—At 10.30 a. m. brief memorial service followed by Holy Communion. At 6 p. m. Epworth League prayer meeting. At 7 p. m. preaching by the pastor before organizations of I. O. O

HAMBURGS
— AND —
LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

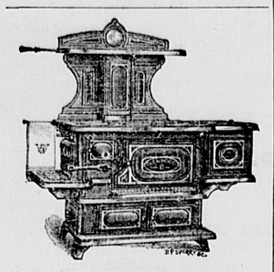
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Dedication of the Woburn M. E. Church.

The Methodists of this city could not have had a fairer, brighter or better day on which to dedicate their new and beautiful church than that of last Monday, on the afternoon of which the dedicatory exercises were held. It was clear, cloudless, sunshiny, with a breath of spring in the air, a welcome harbinger of vernal delights, and everybody enjoyed it, or at least appeared to. Such beautiful weather was a happy omen and our good Methodists seemed so to regard and accept it.

The customary Boston Monday morning Minister's Meeting was held in the new church here instead of in Boston which fact brought many clergymen and laymen with their wives to town quite early in the forenoon and gave our streets somewhat the appearance of a Theological Seminary town. Many people also were present from adjacent towns and cities to witness the interesting ceremonies of dedicating the handsome new church, whose erection was largely due to the energy, devotion, and hard work of its able and devout Christian pastor, Rev. Hugh Montgomery, to the worship of Almighty God. These met with a cordial welcome and were carefully cared for by resident members of the Church. There were 75 attendants at the Ministers Meeting which was presided over by Rev. W. N. Brodbeck of Boston, and Rev. C. H. Hannaford of East Cambridge was Secretary. Rev. J. W. Adams of the New Hampshire Conference delivered an interesting lecture on "Palestine." After the meeting the clergymen and others, to the number of over 150, sat down to an excellent dinner, provided by the ladies of the society. Much credit was given the ladies for providing a repast so worthy of the important occasion and as the viands was discussed the praises bestowed on their handiwork were neither stinted nor few.

The exercises of dedication began at 2 P. M., and were as follows: Organ voluntary, by George H Ryder; anthem by the choir; prayer, Rev. L. B. Bates of East Boston; opening service, read by the Presiding Elder, Rev. John W. Lindsay, D. D., of West Newton; duet, "Peace to This Dwelling," by Mrs. F. A. Partridge and Mr. D. C. Page; first Scripture lesson, read by Rev. W. J. Ponfret of West Medford; soprano solo, "The Resurrection Song," music by Harry Rowe Shelley, sung by Mrs. F. A. Partridge; second Scripture lesson, read by Rev. C. A. Merrill of Maynard; hymn, read by Rev. H. C. Parker of the Unitarian Church, Woburn, and sung by the congregation. Rev. Olin A. Curtis of the Boston University School of Technology then delivered an able sermon on "Basal Elements of Strength in the Church."

A short address by Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D. D., of Boston, followed, and he then proceeded to raise from those present the balance of the debt due on the church, some $2,700. For an hour or more he worked diligently, and succeeded in getting over $1,500 subscribed; and at the evening meeting he succeeded in raising all of the money necessary to free the church of debt. At the afternoon and evening services Mr. Hamilton obtained subscriptions for over $2,700. His success was deemed extraordinary, and there was deep and hearty rejoicing in the hearts of all good Methodists of this city when Mr. Hamilton's success had been announced. During the exercises Rev. Hugh Montgomery stated that when he came to Woburn he found the church with a debt of $17,000; the old church, which was partly a business block, was sold, and after paying all indebtedness they had $10,000 with which to begin the new church. This had cost $23,088, and there was a debt of $4,666—with uncollected subscriptions of $1,735. This left a balance of about $2,900 to be raised. Two verses of a dedication hymn, written by Rev. Mark Trafton, D. D., of Somerville, were then read by Rev. W. H. Meredith, and sung by the choir and congregation. Mr. E. G. Clough, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the church, then presented the church to be dedicated to the service of Almighty God, the other members of the board standing with Mr. Clough in front of the pulpit while he made the presentation. Presiding Elder J. W. Lindsay then made the declaration that the church was so dedicated. The dedicatory prayer was then read by Rev. J. H. Mansfield, D. D., Presiding Elder of the Lynn District, the Doxology was sung by the choir and congregation, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. H. Hannaford.

While the audience was dispersing Mr. George H. Ryder played "Gloria" from Mozart's Twelfth Mass.

The new edifice is a handsome one and admirably adapted to church purposes. It is of wood, 65x92 feet, with organ recess in the rear. The basement, which is nine feet in the clear, contains at the main street end a commodious kitchen and banquet hall. The front shows four feet of granite facing. The building has two spires, 90 feet high. Entrance is had through the towers.

Within, on the first floor, and between the towers, are double parlors; back of these the vestry, and in the rear the floor is raised 16 inches for use as the primary department converted into one by a system of rising doors. The vestry finishes 12 feet in the clear.

The auditorium has side walls of 16 feet, and is finished open nearly to the ridgepole, a distance of 56 feet. The choir gallery is at the rear of the pulpit. The seating capacity is as follows: Vestry proper, 390; primary department, 200; auditorium, 686; gallery, 200.

The society has been steadily growing for several years and numbers on its rolls many of the most prominent business and society people in this city. In financial strength it is also increasing, and in its beautiful new home it will increase much more rapidly no doubt.

The first conference preacher was Rev. J. G. Cary, stationed there in 1853. A year later the society removed their chapel to the corner of Main and Mann streets. In 1864 the society purchased the Unitarian Church building at the corner of Main and Walnut streets, and it was dedicated as a Methodist church May 17, 1865. In 1868 the edifice was remodelled and improved at an expense of $4,000. In 1872 a parsonage was built in the rear of the church. Fire destroyed both in the spring of 1873. The church was rebuilt the following year, incurring a heavy debt, which has ever since been an embarrassment to the society. The Walnut street property was sold in April, 1890, for $26,000. The present membership is 265, in full connection with 37 probationers. The Sabbath School numbers 380. The officers of the church are:

Stewards, James Atwood, Jr., James Given, Don C. Page, Andrew Dobbins, Thomas Heartz, James Partridge, M. Wesley True, Herbert S. Dickinson, Thomas Wilson, James Greydon, James Knowlton, James Frazier, Fort Staples; Trustees, E. G. Clough, John D. Finn, Warren P. Adams, Amos Knowlton, Thomas R. Corbett, Frank W. Legg, Frank Greydon, M. Wesley True.

Epworth League—President, C. H. Kimball; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. J. P. Bailey, W. P. Adams, Helen Montgomery, Mrs. H. Copeland; Secretary, C. W. French; Treasurer, Miss Lulu Davenport.

Sunday School—Superintendent, H. Copeland; Assistants, Thomas Wilson, Mrs. Fort Staples; Secretary, E. E. Heckbert; Treasurer, Miss Annie R. Atwood; Librarian, Fort Staples; Superintendent Infant Department, Mrs. Susie A. Wilson.

Ladies' Aid Society—President, Mrs. H. Montgomery; Secretary, Mrs. James Fowle; Treasurer, Mrs. T. Heartz.

Building Committee—Edward G. Clough, Warren P. Adams, C. H. Kimball, Thomas Wilson, M. Wesley True, H. Copeland, Hugh Montgomery, Thomas R. Corbett, Frank W. Legg, Fort Staples.

The evening meeting was a large and enthusiastic one. A spirit of benevolence pervaded it and money to pay off the church debt was quickly raised, on which score the church are to be warmly congratulated. No church debt!

The church and society have done nobly, and so has their beloved pastor, Mr. Montgomery. They have secured a new house of worship, large, convenient, admirably situated, handsome, and it is all paid for!

The Woburn Woman's Club

Had the rare opportunity and pleasure of listening to Louise Chandler Moulton on the afternoon of Thursday, Feb. 19. Mrs. Moulton has an engaging manner, a pleasing voice, a sweet smile and a pretty way of expressing her thoughts, and these attractions enhanced the charm of her breezy, sparkling notes of London Society. The ultra fashionable set, and the literary and artistic set, both have their characteristic charms, and of both has Mrs. Moulton made a study from life. She sketched in words their features from those of the dear duchess herself to those of the humblest and most silent devotees at the shrine of fashion.

London society, with its lofty aims or its pitiful ambitions; its foibles; its idiosyncrasies; its Londonism; its utter subservience to weath, power and royalty; its blind worship of genius and beauty—as depicted by Mrs. Moulton—is an interesting study. The London cabby—his astuteness, his bravado and impertinence—made a deep and lasting impression on Mrs. Moulton's mind, and very amusing were her recitals of her experiences with this aggravating class of necessary individuals. Mrs. Moulton kindly responded to the Club's wishes and recited three poems of her own composing:

"The Dead Men's Holiday,"
"The Way to Arcady," and
"The Name on a Door."

The first of these poems has never been in print, and it was written after seeing Vereschagin painting of Skobeleff at Shipka—a poem worthy the work that was its inspiration.

The widespread interest in Mrs. Moulton was shown by the presence of seventy-five non-members and a large attendance of members.

The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall, the Dow Building, on the afternoon of Friday, March 6, at 3 P. M. It will be the Annual meeting devoted to the transaction of business, and the election of officers. No papers will be read other than the annual reports. It is hoped that the business will be finished in time to allow the members to mingle socially for half an hour.—G. M. B.

GENTLEMEN!

DO YOU WEAR THE

"EIGHMIE" SHIRT?

If you do we cannot tell you anything about it for you know it is the best.

If you do not we want to tell you

It is the Best Fitting Shirt Made.

Made of the Best Wamsetta Cotton. Laundered and Unlaundered.

Prices of Unlaundered: 1st quality $1.00, 3 for $2.75. 2nd quality 75 cents each.

Try them and you will wear no other.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

WINCHESTER.

Aberjona Council, R. A. is growing rapidly.

Mr. T. W. Lawson has returned from Kentucky.

Miss Helen Pressey has been elected President of the Mission Union.

Mrs. Sallie Libby is going to visit England and the continent soon.

When are the W. V. I. A. going to get together to talk over tax matters?

Miss Alice Howmans and Mr. W. C. Gregory are engaged to be married.

A fancy sale and "Welsh bidding" was held in G. A. R. Hall last evening under the auspices of the Congregational society.

E. A. Holbrook is one of the Vice-Presidents of the Middlesex Poultry Association, and N. A. Knapp is a member of the Board of Directors.

A good many of our people are firing up terribly over the approaching annual Town Meeting. It will all come out right as usual.

Voters, remember that there is to be a special Town Meeting held on next Monday evening March 2, to see if the town will accept the Australian system of voting. There ought to be no opposition to it.

A special town meeting will be held Monday evening. Action is to be taken on the question of adopting the Australian ballot system of voting for town officers, and what officers are to be so chosen will be decided. The question of appointing a committee to consider the appropriations for the ensuing year will also be discussed.

For my part I fail to appreciate the force of the argument that Judge Littlefield had no show for succeeding Judge Converse for the simple reason that he does not live in Woburn. Although located in that city it is not a Woburn Court any more than it is a Winchester Court, or a Stoneham or Burlington Court. Neither of the towns composing the District has any absolute right to the Judgeship, so all the talk about Littlefield's being barred out of the succession on account of locality is bosh. I hear that there is to be a contest over the confirmation of Mr. Johnson.

On the 18th inst. a Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was organized here and the following Directors were elected: Miss Kate Pond, Mrs. W. F. Forsyth, Miss Emily Rolie, Mrs. E. H. Mason, Mrs. Wm. F. Fitch, Mrs. G. H. Perkins, Mrs. R. M. Armstrong, Mrs. J. E. Rice, Miss M. A. Emerson, Miss Carrie Duncklee, Mrs. E. H. Rice, Mrs. N. T. Apollonio, Mrs. W. A. Perry, and Mrs. J. E. Lyons. In addition to the above list, two directors will be elected later on. After transacting other business, the meeting adjourned. The newly elected board of directors will meet, elect officers and organize for work some day this week, and the various committee of the auxiliary will be appointed as soon as possible.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chiblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Burlington.

Rev. Avery K. Gleason of Westport supplied the pulpit of the church last Sunday. The time of holding the service has been changed from afternoon to half past ten o'clock in the morning.

The Ladies Benevolent Society held their regular monthly meeting and supper in the church parlor Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance of members and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Those who attended the entertainment given by Miss Hattie A. Bishop in the church last Thursday night, passed a very pleasant evening. Among the selections given by the popular elocutionist were "The Inventor's Wife," "A Telphonic Conversation," "Kentucky Belle," "What the Train Brought," and "Rescued."

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Washington News.

At Mrs. Spofford's reception at the Riggs House, before the opening of the Womans Council an opportunity was given to meet with many famous women. Mrs. Spofford was assisted by Miss Frances Willard, President of the N. W. C. S. U.; Mrs. M. Louise Thomas, Treasurer of the Woman's Council; Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Secretary of the Council; Miss Clara Barton, President of the Society of the Red Cross; Miss Susan B. Anthony, Vice-President of the Woman's Suffrage Association; Mrs. Ella Dietz Clymer, President of Sorosis; Mrs. Edward Roby of Chicago; Mrs. Estelle M. Merrill, President of the Woman's Press Club of Boston; Rev. Anna Shaw; Mrs. Isabel Beecher Hooker; Mrs. C. H. Bond, Cliftondale, Mass.; Mrs. Bottome, Philadelphia; Miss Jennie Smith; Mrs. Ama Garlin Spencer, Providence; Miss Alice Blackwell; Miss Helen Winslow, Secretary of the Press Club, and Miss Flora Vining, Treasurer of the same, Boston.—H.

Reapportionment.

The Traveller for... favors action at this session of the Legislature upon the Reapportionment bill because it is the straightforward thing to do, but it is the greatest folly for Josiah Quincy or any body else to expect the Legislature to cut up the fourth district and distribute it among the second, third, fifth, sixth and ninth districts. The fourth district is what it is by nature. These Democrats live together because they enjoy each other's company, and a series of shoe-string districts for the accomodation of Mr. Quincy and his aspiring friends is an impossibility. Let the Republicans make a sensible reapportionment, and the political result will take care of its self. There should be the least possible disturbance of the districts as they now are. —Boston Traveller.

Dyspeptics will obtain much relief from the use of Mellin's Food as it is well borne by an enfeebled or irritable stomach. It is a food, not a medicine, and the stomach receives the nourishment it demands for its daily needs.

"Chipman's Liver Pills the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

It's economical—Brussels soap.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT

IS INVALUABLE FOR

Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.

35c. and $1 at all Druggists.

E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

SATURDAY, FEB. 28.

Original and Only

Barlow Bros. MINSTRELS!

UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF

Mr. J. H. Arthur.

25 MINSTREL MONARCHS 25

In grand Carnival Minstrelsy. Spectacular, Operatic, First part, American, European and Australian Novelties.

☞ Street parade at 12 m. on the day of performance, weather permitting.

Regular Prices 25, 50 and 75 Cents.

Seats now on sale at Horton's Book Store, 419 Main street.

Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar CONCERT, At Music Hall, Woburn.

Miss M. Emma Fosdick has the pleasure to announce that she will give her second annual concert on Thursday Eve'ng, March 19, '91.

ASSISTED BY THE FOLLOWING ARTISTS:

Miss ANNABEL CLARKE of Medford, Soprano Soloist.

Mr. W. S. BATTIS, of Colby University, Waterville, Maine, Reader and Impersonater.

Mr. W. L. RICE, of Winchester, Violin Soloist.

Royal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club, of Lowell.

Miss MERTENA L. BANCROFT, Accompanist.

Together with Banjo and Guitar Orchestra of 25 pieces, Quartette, Duett, Solos and Guitar Orchestra.

The above talent will offer one of the most attractive and select entertainments given in Woburn this season.

Admission	25 Cents,
Reserved Seats	35 "

Tickets will be for sale at C. H. Buss's Drug Store, commencing at 7 o'clock,

Tuesday Eve'ng, March 3,

where a plan of the Hall can be seen.

Secure your ticket early to prevent disappointment.

Doors Open at 7.15. Concert Commences at 7.45.

ENTERTAINMENT.

THE GOOD WILL CLUB

Will give a Literary and Musical entertainment under the direction of the W. C. T. U. in the Unitarian Chapel in North Woburn on

FRIDAY, MARCH 6,

At 7.45 P. M. The proceeds to go towards replenishing the Libraries of the North Cong. and Unitarian Sabbath Schools.

Admission	15 Cents.
Children under 12,	10 Cents.

WOBURN Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

A meeting of the Shareholders will be held in the Board of Trade rooms on

Thursday, March 12,

at 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of nominating Officers and Auditors for the ensuing fiscal year.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses

DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE

$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the will of Hannah Chamberlain late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachusetts, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Exec'r.

Woburn, Mass., Feb. 24, 1891.

Dissolution of Co-partnership.

The Co-partnership heretofore existing between Gawin R. Gage and Frederic A. Flint, both of Woburn, Mass., under the style of G. R. Gage & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. It is agreed that the said Flint shall have power to collect the debts now due said firm in the name of the firm to his own use and shall pay and discharge all the debts and liabilities of said firm and forever hold said Gage and his Executors harmless therefrom.

(Signed.) GAWIN R. GAGE, [L. S.]
FREDERIC A. FLINT [L. S.]

Woburn, Feb. 23, 1891.

Mr. Frederic A. Flint will continue, under the same firm name, the business at its present location, No. 399 Main Street.

NOTICE.

A Special Parish Meeting of Trinity Parish, Woburn, will be held at Room No. 5 in Dow's Block, Woburn, on Thursday, March 5, 1891, at 7.30 o'clock, P. M., to consider and act upon the proposed sale of the Church property, and to transact any other business that may come before the meeting.

NATHAN W. BROWN,
ROBERT B. EATON,
Wardens.

CHARLES A. SWEETSER, Clerk.

Woburn, Feb. 27, 1891.

W. H. Brine

1 and 3 Tremont Street., Cor. Pemberton Square. BOSTON.

Only Place of Business.

"When the stranger is in your MELON PATCH," said Confucius, "observe him not too closely; inattention is often the truest form of politeness."

CURTAINS

Serve not only as a screen from outside observation, but also as a means of artistic decoration.

What lends a greater air of refinement than good lace window-hangings?

We have an almost infinite variety of such goods, but those you should see, by all means, are included in a new importation of

FINE BRUSSELS

Modern and Antique Irish Points.

A positive feast is in store for those who can appreciate the artistic effects of these marvelous productions.

Right here let us say that you can get little idea of the finer grades of lace curtains from what are usually shown in dry goods establishments.

The selection and importation of these goods is a matter of study with us.

Keeler & Co.

Fine Furniture and Draperies,

Washington Street, cor. Elm,

BOSTON.

39,480 LBS. OF METAL.

It takes thirty-nine thousand four hundred and eighty pounds of stereotype metal to make the plates for the

SUNDAY HERALD

When all the new presses are running.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

404 Main St., WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop.

Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

G. McGREGOR FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Josiah Richardson late of Woburn in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Edwin Richardson,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lewis L. Whitney, the trustee under said will, has presented for allowance the fifteenth and final account of his trusteeship:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Mary A., Patrick H., and Catherine McGrath of Woburn, in said County, minors,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lawrence McGrath, the Guardian of said minors, has presented his petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified, of his said wards for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County on the third Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

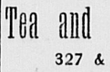
For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.



Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $25 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED. Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

Come
— AND —
SEE US

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY FEB. 27 AND 28,

AND TRY SOME

Wheatena

Made by the Health Food Company.

Served free to everyone day and evening.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of William Bradley late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Francis Bellew, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this tenth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Mary Ann Carroll, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William L. Carroll who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

THIS WEEK AT BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

English Tamise Cloth, a regular $1.00 quality, only 65 cents per yard. This is a big bargain.

Langdon 42-inch Bleached Cotton at only 10 cents a yard. Think of it! only 10 cents, the price of ordinary yard wide cotton.

Give us a call and save money.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

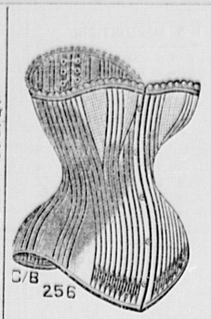
For the Holidays.

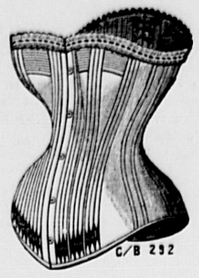
Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

Examine our Elysian and Melton Overcoatings for $25.

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S., } Managers.
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. }

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

A RARE TREAT!

Prof. J. W. Churchill

Will give an Evening of Readings under the auspices of the WOBURN WELLESLEY ALUMNÆ in

MUSIC HALL, WOBURN,

— ON —

Friday Evening, March 6, At 8 o'clock

Tickets, 35 Cents.

To be obtained at the stores of C. H. Buss and G. R. Gage & Co., or from former Wellesley Students. Number of tickets limited to the seating capacity of the hall.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 15 Main Street, Woburn.

THE SHUNAMMITE'S SON.

LESSON IX, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 1.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings iv, 25-37. Commit Verses, 32-34.—Golden Text, John v, 21—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

After the dividing of the Jordan to allow Elisha to recross it and the healing of the waters of Jericho, both of which events were in last week's lesson, another miracle in connection with water is recorded in chapter iii. In the beginning of chapter iv we have the record of a miracle in connection with oil; and these three miracles of the spring healed, the ditches filled and the oil multiplied were all wrought by God through Elisha on behalf of the perishing, the troubled and the needy. The God of Elisha is our God, and of Him it is written, "My God shall supply all your need" (Phil. iv, 19.

25. "So she went and came unto the man of God to Mount Carmel."

Our lesson begins in the midst of the story of this woman who dwelt at Shunem, a village a few miles south of Mount Tabor and southeast from Mount Carmel.

26. "Run now, I pray thee, to meet her; and say unto her, Is it well with thee?"

The man of God saw her afar off and thus commanded his servant to meet her and make inquiry for the health of herself, her husband and her child. The meaning of the word "well," as used in this story, is seen in the margin of verse 23, and also the margin of chapter v, 21—Is there peace? See also the text and margin of Gen. xxix, 6; xliii, 27; Ex. xviii, 7; Judg. vi, 24.

And she answered, It is well. The soul in which the Prince of Peace rules shall have peace at all times, even in tribulation (Isa. ix, 6, 7; xxvi. 3; Jer. xxix, 11; John xvi, 33).

27. "And when she came to the man of God to the hill she caught him by the feet."

"Let her alone, for her soul is vexed within her, and the Lord hath hid it from me."

Gehazi would have thrust her away as did the disciples of Jesus many a time (Matt. xiv, 15; xv, 23; xix, 13); Gehazi had so little of the spirit of his master, the disciples so little of the Spirit of Christ. And what shall we say of ourselves?

28. "Then she said, Did I desire a son of my lord? Did I not say, Do not deceive me?"

29. "Then he said to Gehazi, Gird up thy loins, and take my staff in thine hand and go thy way, and lay my staff upon the face of the child."

The prophet seems to understand that the child is dead, and with these words he sends his servant. Better if he had at once done as Elijah did in a similar case (I Kings xvii, 21). If the disciples of Jesus could not cast out the demon from the boy (Matt. xvii, 19, 20), much less could Gehazi with the prophet's staff do anything for this dead child.

30. "And the mother of the child said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee."

Thus did Elisha say to Elijah three different times, and he is now reminded of his own earnest desire to obtain a blessing.

31. "And Gehazi passed on before them, and laid the staff upon the face of the child, but there was neither voice nor hearing."

It is one thing to hold the truth and quite another to be held by it. The prophet's staff in the hand of Gehazi was very unlike the presence of the prophet himself. Preachers and teachers and all Christian workers must be possessed and controlled by the truth if they would be used of God, and truth that does not possess and control us and affect our daily life is not really held by us.

32. "And when Elisha was come into the house, behold the child was dead and laid upon his bed."

The child was in the prophet's bed (vs. 21)—a use of it that the woman never dreamed of when she prepared it for Elisha. When we are blessing others we are often unconsciously preparing a resting place for our own sorrows, a comfort for ourselves in time of trouble.

33. "He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord."

It is no formal servant and staff business now, but hand to hand and heart to heart work with the dead child and the living God. Now he does as Elijah did. He sees and realizes that the child is dead, and he prepares to take hold of God with as much earnestness as when he sought the double portion of Elijah's spirit.

34. "And he went up and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands."

"And he stretched himself upon the child, and the flesh of the child waxed warm."

Spurgeon says that there is no stretching that is harder than to stretch one's self to a child. (I am indebted to him for many other thoughts in this lesson.) When we do this, however, in honest reliance upon God, there will surely be a response, the flesh of the child will wax warm. Here is a token of returning life.

35. "Then he returned and walked in the house to and fro, and went up and stretched himself upon him."

Not in a moment, nor in a day, does the fullness of life come. We must take as our motto, "Patient continuance in well doing" (Rom. ii, 7), and remember that "In due season we shall reap if we faint not" (Gal. vi, 9). It is not stretching ourselves to the child once only, but repeatedly, and always in sincere reliance upon God.

"And the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes."

So we must rest not till there is very manifest life. We must cover the children with our compassion, take them to our hearts, work with them and pray for them, in wholehearted reliance upon God, until they can say, "I see Jesus as my own dear Saviour."

36. "So he called her, and when she was come in unto him he said, Take up thy son."

Elisha called his servant, and Gehazi called the woman, and thus Elisha spake to her. She was not deceived, but only tried. God is able to raise up even from the dead. Jesus gave the little girl back to her parents, the son to his mother, and Lazarus to his sisters. He is the resurrection and the life; and the time is coming when all that are in their graves shall hear His voice and come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of Life and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of Judgment (John v, 28, 29). In Rev. xx it is clear that there shall be a thousand years between these two judgments.

37. "Then she went in and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son and went out."

Her soul is no longer vexed within her, but full of gratitude and adoration.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

Dom Pedro's name in exile is plain Pedro d'Alcantara. He is rich enough to satisfy all ordinary wants, even those of an exiled Emperor, and engrossed as he is in his studies it is believed that he is getting more real enjoyment out of life in his old age than he did when governing his turbulent subjects in Brazil.

"A stitch in time saves nine," and if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla now it may save months of future possible sickness.

SAVING HIS AMMUNITION.

Why a United States Marshal Did Not Return the Fire of Desperadoes.

In the year of the last yellow fever epidemic in the south one of the first men to catch the disease at a summer resort on the Gulf was a tall, rather heavily built man, whose eye was dark and keen and who wore a fine gray imperial. He was a strikingly handsome man, with his military carriage and his strong face. But his manner was grave and chilling and he made few acquaintances. Staying at the big hotel was a man who in his early life had lived in the west, but who shortly after the war had married a southern widow who owned a sugar plantation on the Mississippi river. He knew Maj. Wells, the stranger, and on the evening when the major died told the following story to a group of men who sat on one of the hotel verandas:

"When I first saw Wells he was a deputy United States marshal in Nevada. He was so cool and daring that he seemed absolutely indifferent as to death. He would calmly walk into a barroom filled with reckless gamblers and desperate outlaws, pick out his man, scarcely saying a word, and march him out the door without placing his hand on a weapon or holding himself in readiness for an attack.

"Coming down the street one day I heard rapid firing, and looking up saw Wells standing behind the stump of a tree (the stumps still stood in the streets where the trees had been felled) and three men blazing away at him. Wells was as rigid as a statue, his face a little white, but unmoved. He was a sure shot with a revolver, and I expected to see him draw his six shooter and drop his men in one, two, three order; but he did not stir.

For a moment the bullets rained around there, and then the sound of the shooting suddenly ceased. The three men had emptied their revolvers. At that instant, quick as a flash and with a tiger bound, Wells leaped before the three men, and whipping out his revolver with a swift stroke of his arm covered them. They all stood stock still. The whole thing took less time than it does to draw a good long breath. Then he grimly walked the three of them off and saw them securely locked up.

"I met him a few hours later as easy and unconcerned as if he had never heard the crack of a six shooter.

"'Good heavens, Wells,' I said to him, 'why did you let those fellows blaze away at you without returning a shot? The chances were fifty to one against you.'

"There was a quiet smile on his lips when he answered that words cannot describe, and in his eye was the twinkle of a man who loved a good joke.

"'There was just one ball in the chamber of my revolver,' he said, 'and I thought I might need it later.'

"And there is a man," added the speaker, after a slight pause, "who defied the bullets of desperadoes for years, and who went down like a child before the fever."—New York Tribune.

The Skin as a Medium of Sight.

A Russian physician has invented an instrument by which persons totally blind are able to perceive light through the sense of touch. The instrument consists of an apparatus which converts light rays into a thermo-electric current, which is perceived by the nerves of the skin covering the forehead, when the instrument is placed upon this part of the body. The sensations produced by the instrument are thus described by the inventor:

The presence of a light giving or of an illuminated object is manifested in the perceptive field as a sensation of warmth. A light object on a dark background is perceived as a peripherally warm sensation, with a sensationless center. The degree of the sensation of warmth increases with the approach of the illuminating object, and vice versa. A movement of the feeling of warmth toward the right shows that the light has moved to the left, and vice versa. If the warm area moves downward the illuminating object is moving upward, and vice versa.—Good Health.

An Awkward Predicament.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from Birkenhead, who had been to Hawarden castle in a four wheeled carriage, experienced a remarkable accident one evening in crossing the Dee at Queen's Ferry, a mile below Hawarden. The ferryboat could not be brought to the side of the stream, it being low water, and, the party leaving the carriage, the coachman arranged to drive across, refusing the assistance of the ferryman to guide him. In midstream the horse sank into a deep pit, and the carriage followed and began to settle down in the sands. The coachman was in a perilous position, and the boatman rowed to his assistance and brought him off. The horse was also cut away from the shafts and brought to land. The carriage remained in the water, the tide rolling over it till it again receded, when ropes were attached and it was eventually dragged out.—Birmingham Post.

Electric Cattle Killing.

One of the beneficial results of the various experiments which have been made with a view to determine the value of electricity for killing purposes is the establishment of the fact that not only can cattle be dispatched by the electric current without the least pain, but that the meat of the animal is actually improved by the passage of the current and will keep longer than by any other method.—New York Journal.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. W. Willard, Druggist, Joliet, Ill.

I have been troubled with catarrh for ten years and have tried a number of remedies, but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most relible preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochawntaug, R. I.

Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthday, Jan. 19th, is now a legal holiday in Virginia. The proper celebration of the day is now under discussion among the Confederate veterans of Richmond, who expect to have a military parade on the anniversary and make the occasion an imposing one generally.

Reports from the Carolina and Georgia rice fields are far more encouraging than those of some weeks ago. The crop on the whole has turned out much better than was expected.

VERY ODD DINNERS.

Castor Oil for the Dressing of Salad and Chewed Garlics for Flavoring.

"The funniest bachelor dinner I ever partook of," said a well known club man the other evening, "I ate one evening with a married friend of mine in the suburbs, whose wife was away. My host, knowing that I was something of a gourmet, spread himself for the occasion, as I plainly could see. The repast furnished was evidently of unusual elaborateness, and it went fairly well until the salad came on. I could not eat any of that after the first mouthful, which I managed with difficulty to swallow. Observing that I refrained from the dish my entertainer said:

"'I'm afraid you don't find this first rate.'

"'It has a peculiar flavor,' I admitted reluctantly.

"'Ah,' replied my friend, who had finished with apparent gusto his own help of the salad, 'I was afraid that it might not prove satisfactory. You see, there was no olive oil in the house, and having nothing better on hand for the purpose I used castor oil for the dressing.'

"He did not appear at all embarrassed at making this statement, but what broke him up entirely for the moment was the appearance at dessert of a hunk of ordinary grocer's cheese.

"'Why!' he exclaimed, addressing the servant, 'where is the Roquefort that I ordered sent home today?'

"'Begorra, sir,' responded the handmaid, 'if you mane the chase that come this afternoon from the store, it was that moldy it had to be thrown away, and I sent back to the grocery for this, that is nice and fresh.'

The other men in the little party at the club window smiled languidly at this story, but the bald headed member said:

"Speaking of dining out reminds me of a repast that I enjoyed very much the other day in a small but very excellent restaurant here in town. What struck me particularly on the occasion I speak of was the exceptional quality of the lobster salad. There was evidently garlic in it, but that estimable vegetable was so artistically infused that, instead of communicating an actual taste of garlic, it simply contributed an indescribable and undefined accentuation to the flavor of the dish. I asked that the chef be summoned and demanded of him how he was able to use garlic with such marvelous delicacy and effectiveness. He replied:

"'The way I do is to chew up a small bulb of garlic, and when the dish is being stirred I breathe very gently upon the mixture. That gives the suggestion of flavor which you speak of, sir.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Lions in a Hotel.

New York hotels and apartment houses have usually gone to England for their names. The Victoria, the Windsor, the Brunswick, all serve to illustrate how fond Americans are of a name which carries with it a suggestion of the mother country. The new Plaza hotel, however, has varied the programme by choosing a name associated with Venice, and has heightened the effect by taking as a symbol the lion of St. Mark's. He shakes his shaggy mane at the guest from every possible place in the furniture and decoration of the house.

He crouches under the stairway, is woven into the window curtains, and even looks out with good natured ferocity from the center of every piece of the Limoges dinner service. The king of beasts might not take kindly to serving as the device of an ordinary house of entertainment, but he cannot surely feel it a sacrifice to his dignity to preside over such splendor as surrounds him on every side at the Plaza.—Kate Field's Washington.

Gas and Glass.

There is a good deal in the way you turn up an ordinary every day (or night) gas jet with a glass shade or globe over it. Those small jets that are like penciled rays of light, directed suddenly against the globe, cause unequal expansion, and the globe cracks. Still more remarkable results attend the too swift illumination of the best room when the young daughter of the house is bidding her lover good night, and has left the light very low while she stands in the shadow, and while her beau is satisfying himself which side of his hat he ought to turn to the front. The expansion and contraction noticeable in true lovers discounts glass all hollow.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

How Steam Has Helped Man.

A steam "horse power" is equal to three actual horses' power; and a living horse's strength is equal to that of seven men. The steam engines of the world represent, approximately, the working power of 1,000,000,000 of men, or more than double the working population of the world, the total population of which is usually estimated at 1,455,923,000 inhabitants. Steam has accordingly enabled man to treble his working power, making it possible for him to economize his physical strength while attending to his intellectual development.—St. Louis Republic.

A Necessity.

He—How carelessly happy Miss Humpkins looks!

She—Yes. When any one is 30 and has never been engaged, one has to look carelessly happy.—Munsey's Weekly.

No Objection to That.

Mr. Mushy—I love you, Miss Ada.

Miss Ada Mant—That's right. The Scriptures tell us to love our enemies.—Puck.

Nobody Knows

What I suffered for years with those terrible racking sick headaches. Life was only a torment to me; if you are so troubled, I would advise you to use Sulphur Bitters, for they cured me.—Clara Belle.

Go West.

Mother—Now that you have become a chiropodist, where are you going to settle?

Ambitious Youth—I think, mother, I will go to Nebraska. All the papers say that it is a great corn State.

If you want to have your baby healthy and beautiful, four things are necessary: Fresh air, good food, bright sunshine and Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.

With the greatest confidence we can say, there is no better remedy for catarrh, than Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. Price only 25c.

The sun is tremendously large. It is equal to $1,300,000 earths, but owing to its small density its weight equals that of only 332,000 earths.

WE DON'T ALL SMOKE HAVANAS.

The Number of People in the Country Who Smoke Imported Cigars.

"As near as we can get at it," said the cigar dealer, "we calculate that there are 12,000,000 smokers in the United States. We haven't been able to get it down fine enough yet to estimate how many of these smoke cigars, what proportion the pipe, or the number of those who inhale the delusive cigarette, but we can get pretty close to the number who go in for imported cigars. And that number surprised me when I figured it out. Not one person in a thousand would be able to guess anywhere near it, after knowing the total number of smokers in the country. Now out of those 13,000,000 smokers how many indulge in Havanas?"

"About 4,000,000," replied the reporter.

"That's the nearest to the number of any guess I've had, and I have a standing offer of a box of the best Perfectos to the man who guesses within half a million of the actual figure. I'm sorry, but near as you came you have not won the box. You're out of the way, though, only about 4,000,000 in your guess. Now, then, if you'll tell me whether you are too high or too low I'll give you the Perfectos."

"Too low, of course."

"Exactly. That's what they all think. I'm sorry, young man, but you don't get the box. You're just 3,234,000 smokers too high in your estimate. Hardly believe it, would you? Nobody would. But it's so, and there's no getting around it. Why, if there were 4,000,000 consumers of Havana cigars in this country, how often do you suppose each one would get a Havana to smoke? Just about three a month. That is, if all the cigars imported from Cuba into the United States were equally divided among 4,000,000 smokers, each smoker would have twenty-five cigars and a piece of one. At the outside we take from Cuba 110,000,000 cigars a year. That is all the demand calls for. Consequently we smoke in round numbers 330,000 of them every day.

"I think it is fair to give five cigars as each smoker's daily average. So we see by easy figuring that just 66,000 persons are all that are required to get away with all the imported cigars that the United States consumes annually. Astonishing, isn't it? Out of an army of 13,000,000 people in this country who smoke only 66,000 indulge in the luxury of imported cigars, but that 66,000 pay not less than an average of $1 apiece every day for the privilege, which makes the snug little sum of $22,000,000 a year which goes up in the fragrant smoke of the Havana in this great and glorious land."—New York Sun.

Truth in a Fable.

A story hailing from the orient is to the effect that one day as a pious mollah was riding into Smyrna on a donkey he met the Cholera specter, who told him that he was going into the city by command of Allah to kill 700 faithful. The mollah invited him to ride on his donkey, and as they neared the gates the holy man said, "I conjure you, in the name of Allah, and by the pure faith of a Moslem, that thou wilt not slay one more than the Lord has commanded."

The Cholera took the oath, alighted from the donkey and at once set about his commission of slaughter. Instead of 700, however, 7,000 of the faithful died during the period of the Cholera's visitation.

When the Cholera had finished his appointed work and was about to depart from Smyrna the mollah again met him. "How is it" demanded he, "that thou hast committed so great a perjury, and violated thy oath to Allah that thou wouldst not slay more than 700?" "I have slain the 700," answered the Cholera, "neither more nor less. All the others have been slain by panic, and not by me, blessed be Allah!"—Chicago Herald.

He Waited in Line.

A delegation came from Chicopee and Chicopee Falls one Saturday night to attend George Kenman's lecture. Most of them had already purchased tickets, but one sorry mortal from the Falls had gone unprovided; so on coming into the lower city hall he beheld a long serpentine line of people, and promptly falling into line he patiently waited for his turn. He thought the tickets were being sold rather slowly, but not until he was pretty near the head of the line did he discover that the people were paying their tax bills. The doctor was made to feel very tired while going home on the cars that night, but he knows now where the tax collector's office is.—Springfield Homestead.

The Mouse Ran Up His Sleeve.

As George Humphreville was seated in a car going to Lancaster a few days ago a mouse sprang from the back of a seat in front of him and landed beneath the collar of his coat. In a twinkling the rodent was in the sleeve of Mr. Humphreville's coat, and then there was considerable commotion in the car. The mouse was finally expelled from the undesirable hiding place, but none too soon for the peace of mind of his victim.—Philadelphia Record.

Justin H. McCarthy is just 30 years old. He has published eleven books and seven plays. He is tall and thin, with a very small head. He has traveled much in Persia, and has an intimate acquaintance with the literature of that country.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world is Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high. But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. This wonderful nerve medicine builds up worn out systems, cures fits, sparms, headache, nervous prostration, dizziness, sleeplessness, monthly pains, sexual troubles, etc. Mrs. John R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., gained 20 pounds a month while taking it. Finely illustrated treatise on "Nervous Diseases," and a sample bottle of the Restorative Nervine, free at Charles H. Buss's.

Fishermen over a large part of Europe always kill the fish as soon as they take them out of the water, and do so upon the ground that it is better for the flesh of the fish that it be killed at once.

Montfancon notices a very ancient book of eight linden leaves, which on the back had rings fastened by a small linden rod to keep them together.

The Musicians in Battle.

In connection with his army experience Col. Pat Gilmore, the famous musician, tells this story: "You see we musicians who march to battle are really the only ones who are unprotected. We, of course, can handle no weapons and are at the mercy of bullets. To our duty of furnishing the inspiring strains to the marching soldiers we have another one, that of carrying off the wounded from the field on stretchers. In one of the battles we were on our way to the scene of action when we met a soldier running away from the field.

"'What is the matter?' I inquired in chorus with several other of the musicians. The man hurriedly replied: 'Oh, nothing at all. I'm only wounded in one of the fingers of my left hand. I'm off to have it dressed and will return again.'

"But the light of inspiration had come to us. No unprotected march for us when our angels had thrown such a good chance in our way. We seized the man and said, 'Get on the stretcher.' 'No, no,' he answered; 'only one of my fingers is hurt. I can get on faster myself. Why should I be carried? Do I walk with my hand? Let me go.'

"We merely repeated the order, 'Get on the stretcher.' He didn't heed us and again we said more emphatically, 'Get on the stretcher.' Seeing he was obdurate, we made a bodily seizure of him and put him forcibly on the waiting stretcher.

"Then we beat a hasty retreat with our burden. We carried him down a long hill to a place of safety, and we took good care to place our wounded soldier in a distant place of security. How were we to help it if the battle was nearly over when we returned to the field? I always tell the generals with whom I fought that I was always in advance of them—in the rear."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Proposed Use of the Smokeball in War.

In the sham fight at Portsmouth in honor of the Emperor William an advancing column was so affected by the fumes of the smokeball, which was used to raise a cloud of impenetrable obscurity under which they could advance, that the men had to keep their hands to their noses to avoid suffocation. It is now proposed that the smokeball shall receive a further development. It has occurred to some military men that instead of half suffocating their own troops, it would be better to follow the example of the Chinese pirates with their stinkpots and asphyxiate the enemy.

A Vienna scientist has accordingly invented a bomb of such power and virulence that every one who is within a certain radius of it when it explodes is rendered unconscious. Devices such as these would soon modify the art of war, and probably the next development will be an anti-asphyxiating bomb, whose fumes will neutralize those of the other. It is said that many years ago a scheme based on the throwing of poisonous gases over a tract of country was put before the war office in England, for the purpose of devastating the country in the face of an invading army, but the agency employed was so terrible in its effects that it was not made public, and was consigned to the secret records of the war office.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Surnames and Their Origin.

Surnames in France began about 987, when barons used to designate themselves by the names of their estates; and that has been the general practice of deriving surnames, though by no means the origin of the names of all the nobility of Europe. Names were taken from badges, cognizances and nicknames applied to individuals. Among the commonalty surnames are said not to have been general before the reign of Edward II.

It will be found, upon examination, that many of them originated in the still older custom of adding to the son's Christian name that of the father; many more from the names of trades, and many from accidental distinction in size and color, probably originally applied to the founder of the family. Many who display crests and arms nowadays would be reluctant to emblazon them upon linen and silver, carriage door and livery, if they knew the true origin of their now vaunted display.—New York Ledger.

Two Opinions of Chrysanthemums.

Two gorgeously attired young ladies and two grimy faced urchins met before the show window of a florist on Broadway who makes a specialty of chrysanthemums and always makes a fine display of them. "Oh, Carrie!" gurgled one of the girls, "aren't those white chrysanthemums just too deliciously lovely? They look like the down on a baby angel's wings."

"I'm'm," said Carrie in delighted acquiescence.

"Yah," observed the grimier youngster to his mate, "dat makes me tired. Dey looks a sight more like 'er lot 'er coldslaw."—New York Times.

At first the savings bank attracted so little attention in Japan that at the end of 1875 there were only 2,000 depositors, with £3,000 lodged. Thenceforth, however, the figures increased at a remarkable rate. In 1876 the deposits amounted to £8,000, in 1882 to £250,000, in 1885 to £2,000,000 and in 1889 to £4,100,000.

Nearsightedness is overrunning the French people as much as the Germans. Among the senior boys in the different French colleges more than 46 per cent. are near sighted.

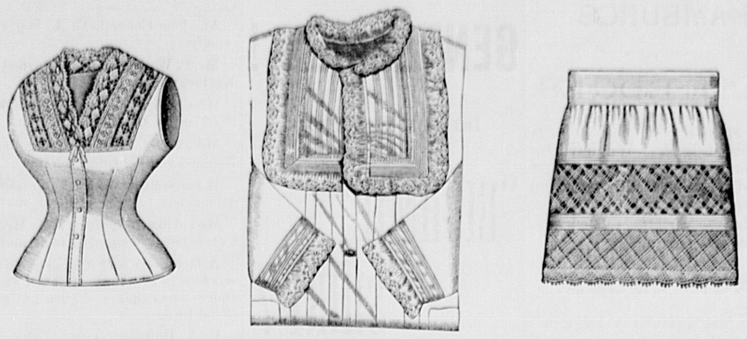
Liver Complaint.

Being subject to liver troubles, I have tried many medicines, but have never found an equal to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. It stimulates the stomach and liver, regulates the bowels, and has proved of such value that I would not be without it.—Mrs. Fred Sheldon, cor. Bridge and Division streets, W. Catskill, N. Y.

Prof. William James, of Harvard, who is becoming almost as famous out of college as in because of his intesest in psychology and in societies for psychical research, is a brother of Henry James, Jr., the novelist. The father of these two famous sons is a preacher.

Father Time seems to be constantly casting flowers along Jean Ingelow's path in life. The great authoress at sixty years of age is described as cheerful and happy, with cheeks as round and rosy as a milkmaid.

Sir John Lubbock kept a queen bee for fifteen years, a test proving her eggs to be just as fertile at that age as they were twelve years before.



OPENING!

Something Unusual and New!

IN WOBURN.

Feeling confident that I have in stock a line of Ladies' Lingerie and Corsets of a finer quality, more beautiful styles, and a larger variety than has ever been seen in this city, I desire very much that Ladies who appreciate excellent workmanship and elegant designs should see these goods. The demand for finer grades of Ladies' underwear is very much on the increase. Ladies are more particular than they have ever been in respect to this class of garments. They find to have a perfect fitting outergarment they must begin with the undergarment.

Now Don't Forget!

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26, 27 & 28,

I WILL GIVE (IN MY CLOAK ROOM) AN

Exhibition of Ladies' White Underwear and Corsets

That will attract special attention and I am sure will be much admired. Please consider this a special invitation TO YOU, and don't fail to be present.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings,

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

"The Old and Reliable Stand."

The last bank failure in Baltimore was in 1837—fifty-three years ago. No city in the country can beat the record.

Bodemanche and John Davenport, two Indians of the Cœur d'Alene, Washington reservation, this season raised and sold for cash 5,000 bushels of oats.

An Indianapolis man has constructed a bicycle of steel tubing and aluminum, which, though exceptionally light, is claimed to be practically unbreakable.

Oregon has the name of raining twelve months in the year, but Grandma Vandhorn dried six bushels of apples in the sun this week, says the Sheridan Courier.

Of 700 boys and girls who drew books from the library of the College Settlement in Rivington street, New York, last year only two had American parents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT

German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and workshops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic. Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS

when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.

$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.

"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)

DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Dr BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY. PRICE 25C

Salvation Oil "Kills all Pain." Try it Only 25c.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAYFEVER DEAFNESS HEADACHE ELYS CREAM BALM 50c

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

MELLIN'S FOOD

FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.

A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.

Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.

A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.

REQUIRES NO COOKING.

OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"

Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.

DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Coal and Wood,

291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR

M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN

COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED FOR SALE BY

POPULAR PRICES $2.99 $4.00 $2.00

M. BANCROFT, Agent.

BAY STATE MANDOLINS GUITARS & BANJOS

BEST & CHEAPEST

ILLUST'D CATALOGUE OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS FREE

J. CHAYNES & CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,

TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE

Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 403 Main street, Woburn.

Terms reasonable.

THE SELF-RESTORER

FREE to every man, young, middle-aged, and old; postage paid. Address Dr. H. Du Mont, 351 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

E. PRIOR,

AUCTIONEER.

Personal attention given to the sale of Real and Personal Estates in Woburn and vicinity.

Office: 393 Main St., Woburn.

Woburn Real Estate Exchange.

FOR SALE. A large assortment of Farms, Houses, House Lots, and Land by the foot or acre. Tenements To Let and Rents Collected. Mortgages negotiated on Real Estate and Personal Property at short notice.

COOPER & RAND, 388 Main St. cor. Park St. Woburn, Mass.

No more of this!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the foot.

THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.

make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.

Call for the "Colchester"

"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."

SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.

AT RETAIL BY

Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!

We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH

Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.

This Beautifully Illustrated

Monthly Magazine has among its many

CONTRIBUTORS

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.

It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its

Price $1.50 a Year

is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year

Free To Any One

who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.

Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!

— AT —

Leeds's Drug Store.

Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Pajne.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.

The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.

IVERS & POND PIANO CO. 181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1891. NO. 12.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.09, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.05, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 3.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.59, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.55, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 6.52, 6.55, 8.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.23, 10.21, 11.28 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10 40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.15, 10.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.35, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.25, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn. Rev. C. H. Washburn, pastor.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.
☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave., opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5 2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
1—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS
Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE!
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER,  REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

HOW JOE LOST HIS ARM.

On the Tombigbee river so bright, I was born,
In a hut made of husks of the bright yellow corn,
And 'twas there that I first met my Julia so true,
And I rowed her about in my gumtree canoe,
Singing, row away, row o'er the waters so blue,
Like a feather we'll float in my gumtree canoe.

The clerk of the Pretty Jane had a mellow voice, and blended sweetly with it was little Jennie's childish treble.

He sat upon the deck of the little steamboat gazing around on the bright waters of the Tombigbee as the sun danced on them, gazing intently, and smiling absently to himself.

He was a man of about thirty, and his right coat sleeve was empty and pinned upon his heart.

Little Jennie leaned upon his knee, staring him intently in the face in a way that children have. She pushed her broad brimmed hat back from her eyes so that she might stare the better. The hat was a queerly shaped palmetto structure, for this was in '63, and clothes were at a premium. She was the child of one of the passengers, and between her and the clerk quite a friendship had sprung up.

"And did you sure enough meet your Julia here on the Tombigbee?" asked the child, stroking the empty sleeve with a pitying touch.

"Yes," said the clerk, roused from his reverie and smiling down on the eager little face; "I have often taken her rowing on the Tombigbee before the war, when I had my other arm."

"How nice!" said Jennie. "How nice! And in a gumtree canoe?"

"Well, I wasn't particular as to the kind of canoe, so it was a canoe," said he, smiling.

"And your Julia ain't named Julia, but Mary Jane, after all," said the child.

"Yes," said he, "but she's just as sweet as if her name was Julia, though 'twouldn't fit in the song so well."

"No, you couldn't say, 'I rowed my Mary Jane so true.' 'Twould make the song too long legged."

"True," said he, laughing, "but that makes no difference. I think of her while I sing it, so that it seems as if it was her name."

"Well, Mr. Perkins," said Jennie, "tell me why haven't you married your Julia, if you've been rowing her around in your gumtree canoe these ever so many years?"

"You see," said the mate smiling, "my Julia couldn't make up her mind that she loved me till the war broke out and I volunteered; then she said directly she'd marry me, but 'twas too late then; I had to go off to fight."

"You had both of your arms then!" interrupted Jennie; "you was born with 'em?"

"Of course, child. Did you ever hear of any one born with one arm? Nature don't ever make no such cobbled, lopsided work as that."

"Well, if you had both of your arms then, I don't see why she wouldn't have you."

"Bless you, child, everybody had plenty of arms then; that was no inducement to take a fellow. But, as I was saying, when she found I was going off to the war and might get killed, then she found that she loved me."

"She'd rather marry you than that you should get killed," said Jennie.

"Yes, I think she ought, after you rowed her around in the canoe."

"You are right," said Perkins, laughing; "but 'twas too late to marry her then. We agreed that if ever I got back safely, when the war was over, we'd marry."

"Tell me now, how you came to lose your arm," said Jennie.

"'Twas in one of the great battles around Richmond that year. I had been in many fights before, but this was about the hottest. The enemy were bound to get the hill on which we stood, and we were holding on desperately. But at last we began to waver and give way. Then our colonel came out to the front, and the rest of our officers followed him, and they ran up and down the lines cheering up the men.

"'Steady, my boys,' said the old colonel; 'keep pouring it into them. Steady! Re-enforcements will soon be here! Never let it be said that the line broke where the Alabamians stood!'

"The whole air seemed black with shot and shell. A piece of one grazed the colonel's cheek, and the blood kept trickling down his face, but he didn't seem to feel it. The firing grew so hot that the men seemed fairly mowed down, and the line began to waver and break. Suddenly, clear on our right, there arose a tremendous yell. It grew louder and louder, and ran down the line toward us. Then, at last, we saw a courier galloping down the line. I shall never forget how he looked. His black horse was all white with foam and its flanks were bloody from his spur. He rode bare headed down the line as if he bore a charmed life, and he kept waving his cap around his head and shouting something to the men, and as they heard him the wavering line rallied and sent up deafening cheers. Then he galloped by where we were and yelled:

"'Rally, men! rally! Stonewall Jackson is in their rear, and giving 'em sut?'

"Then we cheered, too, until we were hoarse. The courier galloped on, and presently our officer shouted:

"'Forward men; charge!'

"And away we went, down the hill and across a field, right 4oward the Yankee lines, yelling like Indians.

"I held the colors in my hand, and I ran ahead. I didn't seem to have any feet; I seemed to fly, and the men followed me. Right toward the blazing line we ran.

"All at once I saw the colonel, who was riding by me, grasp the colors, for they were falling. I looked and saw that my hand, my whole arm was gone, and I hadn't felt it! I grabbed the flag in my left hand.

"'I can carry the colors yet, colonel,' I said. 'I don't feel any pain.'

"I ran on some fifty steps, when the blood began spouting my from shoulder. I dropped. Joe Ashe, one of the color guards, snatched the flag, and they all rushed on.

"I fell senseless. I never knew another thing till weeks after, when I woke up one day in Chimborazo hospital and found some fanny looking ladies in black bonnets, that the boys called 'the sisters,' bending over me. If it hadn't been for their good nursing I should have died."

Perkins ceased. He had been so carried away by the interest he felt in his own narrative that he had gone quite beyond his auditor.

"But tell me, Joe," Jennie eagerly asked—she had been impatiently waiting for an opportunity for some minutes—"tell me, did you ever find your arm that you dropped?"

"No; to be sure not. I never went to look for it."

"You couldn't fasten it on again, then?"

"Of course not, child. I am not a jointed doll."

"What a pity you couldn't," said the child. "What a pity! And how do you manage to dress yourself and tie your cravat and shoes?" she asked, for she had been burning to make these inquiries ever since she had seen the one armed confederate.

"'Twas awkward at first, but I learned at last to do it with the help of my teeth."

"But how when you get old and lose 'em?" said Jennie, who was of an investigating mind.

"Providence will raise me up some other way," he said with a pathetic smile. "I'll have my wife to wait on me."

"To be sure, I forgot; Miss Mary Jane will. What did she say?"

"I got one of the sisters to write her for me, and I set her free. I said I wouldn't bind her to a poor cripple like me."

"And she said no, sir-ree! I 'spose," cried Jennie, full of fiery zeal for her new friend.

"Something to that effect," said Joe, smiling.

"She wrote me that she loved me more with one arm than she ever had done with two. And whenever I could get home she was ready." Here Joe's eyes filled and he gazed steadily in the water.

"Well, now, Joe," said Jennie, who was suddenly struck with a bright idea, "maybe if you would lose both arms she'd love you betterer and betterer."

"I believe I'm satisfied with what she feels now," said Joe, laughing.

"But why hain't you married?" continued Jennie, pursuing her investigations.

"Because I first had to get well, and then I had to get something to do. I had been a mechanic, and I couldn't work at my trade with my left hand. So Capt. Ramsey gave me a place on his boat, and I've been trying to learn how to write, so that I can keep his books. I think I'm doing pretty well. See."

He drew from his pocket a little blank book in which were scrawled divers hieroglyphics, at which he gazed complacently.

"Why, yes," said Jennie approving. "There's a t with the cross mark, and there is k with his broken back, and that's an i. I know him by his eyebrow. You see I can read a little," she said proudly.

"So I see," said he, laughing and putting up his book. "Now I must go. The sun has set. It is time for me to see after things for the night."

He stroked Jennie's curly head with his left hand, and walked away, softly singing in his mellow voice, "My Own Mary Ann."—Paul Grant in Atlanta Constitution.

Character vs. Environment.

A human will, firmly set on a life of holiness, may make the most untoward environment only a means of progress onward and upward. In short, in spite of environment we find that man is what he wills to be; that outward circumstance determines character only so far as it is permitted to determine it by impelling a man on in that course that he has more or less consciously determined to pursue. The more we consider the teaching of experience and the conclusions of science, the more we discover the Scripture to be profoundly true that says, "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." It is the deepest current of man's nature, far below the surface, and unaffected by outward circumstance, that determines the essential character. To the development of this self-determined nature environment powerfully contributes, and to one unacquainted with the hidden springs of action its effect may well seem to be omnipotent. But by one who knows that underneath surface currents the tide of man's nature is setting from or toward God and good the effect of those things that merely touch the surface will not be exagerated. Man is what he in the depths of his heart wills to be, not what his surroundings make him. This, science, experience and the Word of God unite in testifying.—Golden Censor.

Guaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertissd druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with La Grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer, because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store. Large size 50 cents and $1.00.

He Liked Things Orderly.

It would seem a most natural thing for an American entering Westminster Abbey for the first time, to fall upon his knees in adoration and reverence as he recalls here, as in no other place, the dealings of Providence with this great nation of which we are but an offshoot, though destined perhaps, as I heard an Englishman say, "to yet be the greater England." But let such an one beware how he indulges in this act of worship out of stated time, should the good verger of whom Dean Stanley delighted to relate the following anecdote still wield his authority there.

One day as the beloved Dean was rambling in accordance with his daily custom about the precincts of his beloved Abbey, he observed a man enter and kneel. Presently this verger went up and spoke to him and the man went out. Directly after a second came in and knelt. To him also the verger spoke and he, too, arose from his knees and went out. The Dean called the verger to him and remonstrated against his action. "Why," exclaimed the verger "If I didn't send 'em away they'd soon be praying all over the place!"—July Wide Awake.

Great Discoverers.

What Bell and Edison are to the telephone and electricity, says the Pittsburg News, Dr. Franklin Miles, the well-known specialist in nervous diseases, is to the nervous system and nerve fluid. Among his numerous discoveries the Restorative Nervine is undoubtedly one of the greatest. It is unsurpassed in nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, epilepsy, neuralgia, backache, melancholly, sleeplessness, change of life, etc. Free trial bottles of it may be had of Charles H. Bass, Druggist. All should read his "New and Startling Facts for the Afflicted," a very able, interesting, and finely illustrated book. Free to all.

Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson said recently: "The State of Washington has more coal than Pennsylvania, more pine than Maine and more fish than Massachusetts."

Stand Your Ground.

When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation instead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's," and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled. Therefore have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building-up medicine.

The speech of Claudius, engraved on plates of bronze, is yet preserved in the town hall of Lyons, France. It was discovered in 1528 on the heights of St. Sebastian above the town.

Literary Notices.

HARPER'S MONTHLY for February is a number which lovers of good literature and fine art work will greatly prize. It is one of extraordinary merit. Seven of its papers are illustrated by between 40 and 50 pictures by the best of artists. A few of the articles are on Literary Landmarks of Edenburgh, Wessex Folk, The Argentine Capital, The Chinese Leak, In the Vestibule Limited, etc.

HARPER'S is sold by the New England News Company, Franklin St., Boston; and by Horton at the Old Woburn Bookstore.

THE COTTAGE HEARTH for March has found its way to our Book Table and has had an examination bestowed upon it. We have no hesitation in pronouncing it an extraordinary good number, and we think its many Woburn patrons will cordially endorse our verdict. Its numerous illustrations are unusually fine, while its literary contents, both prose and verse, is excelled in downright merit by no magazine in America. The reader of this will oblige us by keeping in mind the fact that we give THE WOBURN JOURNAL ($2.00) and THE COTTAGE HEARTH ($1.50 a year) for $2.00 paid in ADVANCE.

The numbers of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for February 14th and 21st contain The Letters and Journals of Lady Mary Coke, Lord Houghton, Findland, Labor Colonies in Germany, Winter in the Country of the Passion Play, Statesmen of Europe, and A Musical Village in Yorkshire, The Sham Fight at Ruddiford, A Tour in Burmah, The Responsibility of Reading, Ladies' Whist, An Adventure in the Dark, and A Crisis in the City, Concerning Inns and Taverns, The Applications of Geometry to Practicel Life, with instalments of Madeleine's Story and Messer Antonio's Revenge and poetry. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

It is not difficult to see the reason for ST. NICHOLAS'S growing subscription-list if one will but examine the pages of the successive numbers with the eye of a child-reader. From the picture of cozy comfort which Mr. J. H. Dolph has furnished for a frontispiece to the naive idea contained in the last bit of verse, Her Little Shetland Shawl, there is nothing that an intelligent boy or girl cannot understand and appreciate, and yet all the contents are unbackneyed and, in the best sense of the word, artistic. Some of the papers (all fresh and very entertaining) are Cæsar and Pompey, The Fortunes of Toby Trafford, Jingle, Good-Bye, Huz and Buz, The Turtle and the Katydid, What and Where, My Autograph Book, The Boy Settlers, A Polar Bear for a Jailor, The Alligator's Funeral, Cause and Effect, The Midnight Sun, Pauline and the Policeman, and others, each one splendidly illustrated by well known artists.

A wide variety of interesting topics is discussed in THE POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY for March. First, one of the great questions of the day is treated in an article on Supposed Tendencies to Socialism, by Prof. William Graham, of Belfast. This writer gives reasons for expecting a progressive improvement in the condition of society, but no sudden social transformation. There is an account of Iron-working with Machine Tools, by William F. Durfee, in the Monthly's illustrated series on American Industries since Columbus. Mr. Durfee will conclude this division of the series with a sketch of the steel manufacture. Some of the other papers, all of which are timely and interesting, are Hypocracy as a Social Elevator, Cultivation of Sisal in the Bahamas, Dr. Koch's Method of treating Consumption. The Tyranny of the State, Greeting by Gesture, Non-Conductors of Heat. The Relative Value of Cements, Government Among the Lower Animals, and many others.

New York: D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents a number: $5 a year.

The March issue of THE CENTURY contains a third instalment of the famous Tallyrand Memoirs. The California series takes up the Fremont explorations, first with a paper giving a resume of the five explorations; second, with a paper by Mrs. Fremont; third, with a posthumous narrative of the terrible experiences of the fourth expedition under the title of Rough Times in Rough Places, it being a personal record of Micajah McGehee of Mississippi. Included are portraits of Thomas H. Benton, George Bancroft, Mrs. Fremont, besides other illustrative material. To the department of California Professor Royce of Harvard College contributes some new documents on the Bear Flag affair. General J. F. B. Marshall makes record of How California Gold was sent to Boston in 1841. The First California Gold in Australia, and The First California Gold in Wall Street. The frontispiece is a new portrait of Bryant without the familiar beard. General Crook in the Indian Country is a paper that has been profusely illustrated with pictures typical of soldier life in the Indian country. A charming feature of this number is a curious story by Edith Robinson called Penhallow, with two full-page pictures by Will H. Low. Among the poets of this number are Celia Thaxter, Edgar Fawcett, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, and the late Charles Henry Luders.

The reappearance of la grippe in Europe should warn Americans to be in readiness, in case the epidemic returns to our shores. Catarrh, the forerunner of the disease can easily be cured by the use of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure.

If your baby is sick, suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, soothe it with Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. It is safe. Price 25 cents.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN
—IN—
Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.
FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

One Stitch at a Time.

What is the secret by which you do your work so beautifully?" The questioner held in her hand an exquisite piece of crochet work, wrought by the lady to whom the question was addressed.

"There is no secret about it," replied the lady: "I only make every stitch as perfect as I can, and am careful to put it exactly in the right place. There isn't one wrong or careless stitch in all that work. If I make a mistake I ravel it out and correct it."

One perfect stitch at a time! So the marvelous fabrics of lace at fabulous prices are made. So the intricate and exquisite embroideries are wrought. So the costly garments of men and women are put together. One perfect stitch at a time.

The noblest lives are lived—one moment at a time. No moments wasted; no moments carelessly spent; no moments viciously spent. Wrong stitches in crochet can be picked out and put in again right. But who can reverse the tide of time, and undo a wrong act, and make it right?

Some unknown friend left a card on our desk on which was printed this: "I shall pass through this world but once! Any good thing, therefore, that I can do or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it, now, in His name, and for His sake! Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Is there a better secret than that for making the whole fabric of life perfect? "Any good thing that I can do;" that covers all our duty to God and to ourselves. "Any kindness that I can show to any human being;" that covers all our duty to our neighbor. Love to God and to our neighbor is the fulfilling of the law.

One stitch at a time! Sometimes we allow ourselves to become confused with the thought or feeling that we have a dozen things to do at once. But this is a mistake. We can do but one thing at a time, think one thing at a time, speak one word at a time, see one thing at a time. For every duty really required of us, we have time given to do it in. We may pass rapidly from one task to another, we may construct enginery by which much of our work may be done simultaneously, and we thus multiply our executive power, but to live two minutes at once no mortal can do any more than we can recall one act or one moment of the past.

"Let us then be up and doing,
Heart within and God o'erhead."

Temperance News and Notes.

Nearly 30,000,000 barrels of beer were brewed in the United States last year.

The education department of South Australia has issued a Temperance Pledge Book for use in the schools.

In connection with the British Women's Temperance Association a Temperance Home for Women has been established.

The widow of John B. Gough, who lives in Worcester, Mass., is the victim of progressive paralysis and is in a helpless condition.

Dr. Parker, of London, in his recent address on "Individualism," stated his own plan for making General Booth's scheme an almost perfect success. It was to "shut up the public houses," for permanent reformation is impossible while the present state of things exists in this respect.

They Died Sober.

Apropos of General Cutcheon's remarks on social drinking in Washington, the general was led to tell the story of an army experience of his with whisky. It was in the trenches before Petersburg. As colonel of the regiment he had prohibited the sale of liquor save on a doctor's order, and in that case prohibited.

The division commander, however, issued orders that a ration of whisky should be served to each man in the trenches and the liquor for the twenty-eth Michigan was brought in two great iron kettles. As the men clustered around with their tin cups some one cried out:

"Boys, if I'm going to be shot today, I want to die sober!"

The cry was taken up by the regiment. The kettles were seized by willing hands and the whiskey was poured on the ground. Fifty-two out of 110 of the brave Michigan boys of the twentieth were shot that day and every who died, died sober.—Detroit Tribune.

Is it Safe

To neglect yourself if troubled with any disease of the kidneys? No, it is dangerous; and if you are so afflicted, attend to yourself now. Do not wait, but use Sulphur Bitters at once. They cured me when I was given up to die by several physicians.—JONATHAN HAM, Boston.

Theories Will Not Work.

A friend of mine told me that he had the grandest theories about the training of children that any man could desire. But when the Lord sent him seven children not two were alike, and they smashed his theories all to pieces

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE BOSTON POSTOFFICE.

The quarrel over an appointee to the Boston postoffice in place of Gen. Corse, whose time was out, assumed such large proportions at last that interest in it was stirred up all over the State. It was a long hot fight and a good deal of bad blood was stirred up among Republicans which, however, it is hoped will disappear before another election takes place.

Postmaster Corse (Democrat) and Supt. of Mails Thomas (Republican) were the principal applicants for the place, their candidature also involving the important question whether the appointee should be a Republican or not. Senators Hoar and Dawes recommended Gen. Corse for reappointment; the Representatives were divided in opinion as to the man but a majority of them favored the appointment of a Republican; and President Harrison and Postmaster-General Wannamaker were decidedly opposed to continuing a Democrat in the office in the person of Gen. Corse.

On Saturday the President settled the knotty question by appointing ex-Mayor Hart of Boston, a representative Republican whose name had been mentioned for the place; the appointment was promptly confirmed; everybody was satisfied; and everything is serene and lovely again.

REDISTRICTING THE STATE.

There is a conflict of opinion among the Republicans in the Legislature as to when it will be best to cut the State into new Congressional Districts under the census of 1890. Some favor doing it now, while others want to wait until next year. The latter advocate postment as a matter of policy.

Policy is a bad motive in politics as well as in the affairs of private life. It is selfish and seldom successful in the long run. The redistricting of the State should be done honestly and with a due regard to the rights of all parties. There should be no gerrymandering by by Republicans whatever the Democrats might do if they were in power.

There is only one way this business should be carried out and that is, the right way. It always pays to be fair in politics, as well as in everything else. Remember too that when things are done otherwise chickens are apt to come home to roost.

"Honesty is the best policy."

EXPIRED.

The 51st Congress of the U. S. came to an end at noon last Wednesday, since which date the papers have been filled with notices, good, bad and indifferent, of its demise and character.

How the Congress whose existence closed last Wednesday noon compared in ability and efficiency with its immediate predecessors is more than we know. The presumption however is that it was an average Congress and that its labors will prove a lasting blessing to the country. The Tariff Bill, for instance, will stand as a high and perpetual credit to it. The Subsidy act was almost equally important and beneficial. Other wholesome legislation occurs to the mind but need not be particularized.

The word is that there is to be no extra session.

BIENNIAL ELECTIONS

Was killed in the House on Wednesday: 96 Republicans voted for it, 29 against it: 20 Democrats voted for it, 74 against it.

☞ Hon. E. D. Hayden of this city returned from Washington last Saturday evening where, in company with Senators Hoar and Dawes, Representatives Lodge, Chandler and others, and many leading Boston business men, he made a square, stand-up fight for the reappointment of General Corse to the Boston postoffice, but did not quite win the battle. President Harrison looked at the case in a little different light from what these gentlemen did and appointed ex-Mayor Hart of Boston as a compromise. Mr. Hayden expressed himself to a JOURNAL man as willing to acquiesce in the President's choice although he believed that the reappointment of Gen. Corse would have been for the best interests of the Republican party in this State.

☞ There was not very much Civi Service in the refusal to promote Superintendent of Mails Thomas of the Boston office and picking up an outsider to take Gen. Corse's place. But there was as much of it as one could reasonably expect to see when self-interest or party policy interferes with its operations. Civil Service stands a poor show even with those who profess to be its warmest friends when it stands in the way of promoting party or personal interests.

☞ General N. P. Banks, late Representative in Congress from this District, has got his pension and everybody is glad of it. His Waltham fellow citizens propose to give a great party and reception in his honor at an early day. Which would be an eminently proper thing to do.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

J. E. Tidd—Sheriff Sale.
G. R. Gage & Co.—Card.
Friday Night Club—Lecture.
R. B. P. Co.—Royal Baking Powder.

— March came in like a lion.

— Mr. L. F. Bond will settle with his creditors in insolvency.

— Durward's market is counted among the best there is going.

— Mr. E. N. Blake is very low and his death is looked for at any hour.

— Mrs. Packard's display windows contain a good deal of very fine millinery goods.

— Business is slack in the tanneries just now and a good many men are out of work. This is not a pleasant state of affairs to contemplate in midwinter.

— G. A. R. Post, No. 161, are agitating the subject of holding a big fair pretty soon.

— Good people at the Centre, don't forget the entertainment at No. Woburn this evening.

— There were no school sessions on Wednesday afternoon. The storm was too severe for that.

— Members and their wives of Brewster Colony, U. O. P. F., of this city held an artist party last night.

— Mr. Moses Bancroft has been selling rubber boots of late at a great rate. He has a big stock and a good one.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomry preached a powerful temperance sermon to a big house at Medway one night last week.

— Our Washington letter came to hand "a day after the fair" and was not therefore available for these columns this week.

— Supt. Jones did the best he could to keep the sidewalks in a walkable condition last Wednesday but he had his hands full.

— When the Stoneham steam fire gong signalled for no school on Wednesday it could be heard here almost as distinctly as our own.

— The Board of Assessors have elected Col. William T. Grammer Chairman, and Mr. John Ferguson Clerk of the 1891 organization.

— Cashier George A. Day of the First National Bank has been wrestling with the grip of late. He will please accept the JOURNAL's sympathy.

— Supt. Richardson has the silver medal awarded by the French Republic to the Woburn Schools for their exhibition at the Paris Exposition.

— It was 10 above at 6 A. M., on Tuesday, and two hours afterwards it was 25 above. There were snow squalls with easterly winds all day.

— Efforts are being put forth to get purchasers of certificates in another "investment" company here. But gudgeons don't bite very sharp just now.

— The O. U. A. M. are highly pleased with their new Hall in Mechanic Building as well as with its furnishings. They occupied it this week for the first time.

— Peter Olson, who fell into the vat of boiling hot tanning liquid at Eustice Cummings's tannery a fortnight ago, has been a great sufferer but is now getting better.

— On account of the demand for tickets Miss Fosdick's Banjo concert will take place in Lyceum Hall instead of Music Hall.

— A company have leased the waterproof plant in this city for the purpose of manufacturing varnish. They are about to erect another building to accommodate their business.

— A baby was born at the Unitarian parsonage at 1.30 Thursday morning, an hour prior to which good domine Parker had to paddle through the snow for a doctor. It was tough!

— The funeral services of Rufus A. Lovering, who was drowned near Seattle, Wash., on Jan. 25, last, will take place at the Unitarian church on Sunday, March 8, at 1.30 P. M.

— Crews of men and horses worked all Wednesday night until 6 o'clock Thursday morning on both street railroad lines in this city to keep the tracks clear. And they made "the riffles."

— After a severe tussle of several days duration with an uncommonly severe cold Mr. F. A. Flint got back to his business again early this week and is now improving in health every day.

— The No. Woburn street cars made every trip last Wednesday on time and the East Middlesex came close to it. It was a big thing to do in the worst snow storm that has prevailed here for years.

— Mr. James L. Fowle, General Superintendent at Gage & Co.'s merchant tailoring establishment, has been suffering with the influenza, cold, grip, or by whatever name the prevailing sickness may be known.

— Mr. Michael Hevey, father of Representative Hevey of this city, dropped dead at his home last Saturday morning. He was an intelligent, well-informed, clean-handed man, and well respected by all who knew him.

— Prof. Churchill's readings will be given this evening in Music Hall. Those who would hear something very fine in the line of elocution should remember that this is the evening on which Prof. Churchill will read.

— At a meeting of the School Board last Tuesday evening it was voted that the graduating exercises of Class '91 should consist of an address by a speaker from out of town and music by the class. Thus ended the big fight.

— Talk about a bazaar and a Dickens "curiosity shop!" all you have got to do to see one is to step into Prior's, 421 Main street. We'll venture to say there is nothing equal to it in the way of variety of goods in Massachusetts.

— The meeting and supper of the Pine Tree Club was postponed from Wednesday to last evening on account of the terrible snow storm. We go to press too soon after the close of the notable affair to publish any account of it this week.

— Kind hearted people threw out crumbs of bread and cake to the poor little sparrows during the big snow storm. The sparrows, not the least one of which is suffered to fall to the ground unnoticed by its Maker, deserve to be kindly looked after.

— Judge Charles D. Adams had some votes for City Solicitor at the last meeting of the Common Council. If the deadlock between Johnson and Curran cannot be broken by the election of Johnson it both branches why not compromise on Judge Adams?

— Last Monday morning the mercury ranged from 2 below to 1 above—the coldest of the season. At Waterman Brown's, it was 1 above; at Mr. George Buchanan's 2 below; at the residence of Commodore Ferguson 1 above; the average all over town about zero.

— Capt. Horace N. Conn, the insurance agent in this city, is proud of his new office in Mechanic Building and well he may be. The location for business and pleasure is unexcelled by any in this city, and the rooms are high and dry, airy, sunny, and easy of access.

— John W. Johnson, Esq., is Attorney for the six Middlesex Investment shareholders who are red hot for their $200 apiece, and M. T. Allen, Esq., is Attorney for the 200 or 300 who are trying to get a division prorata of the money in the Treasurer's hands.

— Considerable Woburn leather manufactured by James Skinner & Co. and Beggs & Cobb went down in mid-ocean on the ice wrecked steamer Iowa of the Warren line on Feb. 22. The leather had been sold to English customers of these firms on whom the loss will fall.

— A sort of epidemic of colds is prevailing here. The complaint is not a common cold but a species of "the grip," or influenza, but it takes a sharp hold of its victims and is by no means a pleasant illness to endure. We have heard of no deaths from it, but the doctors are kept busy.

— Mr. Gregory is selling at auction in the A. Wood store No. 406 Main street, C. A. Bradley's stock of cigars, tobacco and gent's furnishing goods and will continue the sale on this (Friday) and to-morrow evenings. It is a good place to secure some big bargains in the above named goods.

— Postmaster Wyman is doing business at the old stand in Dow Block recently vacated by Mr. Lawrence Reade and has gathered about him a corps of assistants who, with the boss, will maintain the popularity of the office to its full height. We congratulate postmaster Wyman.

— Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hackett of St. Paul, Minn., are visiting with E. E. Thompson, Esq., on Montvale Ave., whose wife is a sister of Mr. Hackett. The gentleman is a prominent merchant and citizen of St. Paul where Mr. and Mrs. Thompson visited him and his family late last fall.

— Rabbi Solomon Schindler of Boston, one of the most eloquent orators in this country and prominent as one of Boston's great men, will deliver a lecture on "Why I am a Jew" at the Unitarian church on Friday evening, March 13, under the auspices of the Friday Night Club. Everybody will want to hear this eminent Jewish Rabbi.

— The new hall of the American Mechanics in Mechanics Building has been handsomely furnished and is one of the best which are occupied by the secret orders of the city. The furniture is made of antique oak, heavy, massive and solid; a handsome brussels carpet covers the floor and adds much to the pleasure of the members; and a fine upright piano has been put in. The hall is comfortable and attractive. The furnishings cost the Council about $2000.

— There is quite a display of Mr. Legg's art work in Call's job printing office in Mechanic Building, where they attract a good deal of attention. The photographic exhibition at his rooms over Dodge's jewelry store corner of Main street and Montvale Ave. is also a fine one, and comprises portraits in cabinets and otherwise of many of the first people in Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham, and other neighboring places. Legg is a skilled artist.

— Mr. Schwartz is an upholsterer on whom our people can depend for the best kind of jobs at the lowest prices. He is a thorough workman. He understands every phase of the business and we have personal knowledge of the thoroughness of his work and the fine taste he displays in doing it. Mr. Schwartz ought to be liberally patronized for Woburn needs a first-class upholsterer and in him they have one. He also cleanses and lays down carpets and does all other kind of work in his line.

— Last Saturday morning Patrick F. Kerrigan and William McDonough were put through a course of chopped feed in the Fourth District Court, the former to the tune of $150, and the latter $200. We are glad to see Chief of Police McIntosh going for the violators of the liquor laws. If one will persist in unlawfully selling rum and producing all the misery in the world that he is capable of, nothing does our soul so much good as to see him followed up and punished according to his deserts.

— English violets are all the rage in Boston and we esteem the fad an exhibition of good taste in floral matters, which cannot always be truthfully said of "Boston Notions." English violets are sweet and pretty, and to enjoy them in their perfection one should visit Mr. William S. McGregor's (Dow) hot houses just off Church Ave. and take a walk through the long house of his devoted to the cultivation of these flowers. It's a picture. Mr. McGregor takes quantities of them, with other choice flowers, into Boston every morning and sells them to the florists there for handsome prices.

— It should be borne in mind that Rev. Thomas Dixon, who is to lecture in the First Parish church in this city on next Monday evening, March 9, occupies the front ranks of platform orators. He stands with the most popular of them and deservedly so. Of his brilliant talents as a lecturer our citizens are not entirely ignorant for he has occupied a Woburn rostrum before now to the pleasure of a large assembly of cultivated people who know a good thing in literature and oratory when they hear it. The price of tickets has, very considerately, been put at the low figure of 25 cents that thus everyone who wants to listen to a really fine lecture can afford to go and hear Thomas Dixon next Monday evening.

— Dr. Stevens G. Cowdrey, Surgeon in the United States Army, died in New York city Feb. 22. Dr. Cowdrey was born in Plymouth, N. H., June 13, 1838, was graduated from Harvard College, class of 1861, and practiced medicine for a time in Carlisle, Pa., where he married a daughter of Charles Hall. In 1868 he was appointed Surgeon in the regular army, and last year was given the rank of Major.—Boston Journal.—The subject of the foregoing notice graduated from the Woburn High School in the Class '57, and taught in our public schools in 1860 and 1861. Only recently he visited this city and dined with Doctor and Mrs. J. M. Harlow, to whom the news of his death was a great surprise.

— The great evangelist Moody, the attendance on whose noon meetings in Tremont Temple, Boston, is the wonder and surprise of the city, is expected to hold meetings here some time during this month. Mr. Munhall, another great revivalist, is looked for some time in April. There is need enough of the labors of these two great evangelical preachers in Woburn, mercy knows, and we hope they will not disappoint us.

— Business at the tannery of Stephen Dow & Co. is hung up and will remain so during the pendency of the present legal proceedings by the city of Boston against them, and many men are thrown out of employment at a season of the year the worst in which to put up with forced idleness and loss of income. For this however the Dows are in no way responsible as they have been enjoined by the Supreme Court and of course have been obliged to suspend operations. It is hoped legal proceedings will come to an end soon and that operations at the factory may be speedily resumed.

— The following applicants for police positions secured the required percent at the Civil Service examination in this city last week: Frank E. Tracy, 59 Prospect st.; John Maguire, 32 Highland st.; Patrick H. Greany, 59 Bedford st.; John J. Roche, 22 Wright st.; James E. Boutwell, 9 Clinton st.; Dennis C. Walsh, 6 Buckman st.; James W. Marrinan, 20 Union st.; James Donahey, 17 Vining ct.; Owen Kerrigan, 66 Washington st.; John J. Hayden, 10 Poole st.; Donald K. Colegate, 72 Sheridan st.; James H. Henchey, 122 Winn st. The average percentage was 85 3-10.

— By courtesy of Miss Hattie Kenney we had the pleasure of examining some copies of the Bunker-Hill Aurora and Boston Mirror a few days since of date Feb. 1837—54 years ago. They were of Vol. 3 of the paper, so it was probably founded in 1834. It was a 6-column weekly sheet published by W. W. Wheilden at Charlestown Square and Edited by C. W. Moore. The numbers examined contained Woburn death and Probate notices, and of the subscribers here one was Mr. Jesse Converse, father of Mr. D. Gould Converse, lately deceased, by whom the files had been preserved and from which the copies examined by us were taken by Miss Kenney.

— The financial article in Wednesday's Boston Advertiser contained words encouraging to the leather manufacturers of this city and their employees although the application of the article was meant of course to be general. It was supplemented by an Editorial of the same encouraging import. The Editor thinks an era of money-making for the leather manufacturer has set in, which, if true, would mean easier times for the laboring men, and better business conditions for the merchant and all others dependent on leather for their support. We truly hope that the predictions of the Advertiser writers may be borne out by the facts, for the tanners and curriers have had a hard time of it for half a year past, while their employees and general business interests have suffered proportionately.

— Miss Emma Fosdick of Woburn, the popular teacher of the guitar and banjo, will give a concert on the evening of March 19 in that city. Besides a chorus of 20 banjos and guitars, duets, solos and quartets on the same instruments, composed of Miss Fosdick's pupils, such other musical and literary talent has been engaged as will make the entertainment one of the best and most enjoyable ever given in that city. Mr. Battis of Colby University will give readings and impersonations. Several of Miss Fosdick's Winchester pupils will take part.—Winchester Star. From all we hear about it we feel justified in saying that the concert above mentioned will be one of the very best ever given in this city. There can be no question but that the talent which will take part in it is of the highest quality and a plenty of it has been engaged by Miss Fosdick to give a No. 1 concert. Read advertisement of it in this paper.

— Mr. George S. Haskell, of Marlboro, Mass., and Miss Lucille Soule, of Alton, were yesterday afternoon united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Peter Folsom, in this city by Rev. H. A. Westall. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Soule, the bride's mother, and a few relatives. Mr. Haskell is a merchant at Marlboro, near Boston, and is a nephew of Miss Haskell, the well-known principal of the Monticello Seminary at Godfrey. The bride has often visited in Bloomington where she has many friends. She is a handsome and talented young lady and has chosen a most worthy young man for a life companion. They will depart for their eastern home in about a week.—Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph. A few years ago Mr. Haskell, the groom, was a very popular society and business man in Woburn. He was proprietor of the the Globe Clothing Store in Windsor Hotel block, and left here for Marlboro. The officiating clergyman, Rev. Mr. Westall, was also once an esteemed Woburn gentleman. A few years back he was pastor of the Unitarian church here, in which he had many warm friends as well as among the citizens of the place. The bride was a native prairie flower, and she and the groom and Rev. Westall have the best wishes and warmest congratulations of the JOURNAL and its people.

— The trouble just now in the Middlesex Investment Company lies between the six holders whose certificates have matured and on which the owners are by the laws of the Company entitled to a full payment of $200 each, and the certificate holders of shares not yet matured. The former have made a legal demand for their money, and the latter have got out an injunction from a New Hampshire Court procured last Saturday by Col. Henry B. Hayes who went to Manchester for that purpose. The writ of injunction was served on the officers of the Company late on Saturday evening by Deputy Sheriff Capt. John E. Tidd of this city and a hearing will be had on it to-morrow at Manchester, N. H., and on the decision there rendered will, it is presumed, depend the future action of the officers. If all stories are true the position in which the officers find themselves is far from being an enviable one, for no matter what course they may pursue one side or the other is bound to hold them responsible and get back their money if there is any law that will enable them to do so. If the Treasurer pays over the $200 apiece to the 6 matured certificate-holders, as by the charter of the Company (obtained under the laws of New Hampshire by citizens of Massachusetts) they are bound to do, then the other and less fortunate holders will sue the officers (so it is said) and compel them to disgorge if there is any legal way of doing it. So, on the other hand, if the officers refuse to pay the $200 to each of the matured certificate-holders, whether restrained by a decision of the New Hampshire court before which the hearing is to be held to-morrow or not, then suits will follow against the officers. It is a muddle of considerable dimensions and bids fair to prove an expensive one all round. No one claims or insinuates that the officers are not entirely honest and desire to do just what is right in the premises.

— The severest snow storm that has visited this part of New England for a great many years set in about 4 o'clock on last Wednesday morning and continued without intermission and in the most furious manner until near 2 o'clock yesterday morning. During that period of 24 hours 15 inches of damp, heavy snow fell on a level, which body would have made a depth of at least 4 feet had it been of the usual light weight and feathery. It was about the heaviest article of snow that we ever saw anybody try to shovel and it stuck to everything it touched like pitch. A pretty stiff gale blew all the time. The street car people had a siege of it during the whole 24 hours and at times it looked as though they would have to give up the fight. But they stuck her out and won the battle at last. Snow-plows drawn by 4 and 6 horses were industriously worked on both lines all the while the storm lasted and by this means the tracks were kept open and trips were made all day although sometimes they were a bit irregular. But Superintendents Sewell and Wentworth did well and were entitled to much praise for keeping their lines open as well as they did. The railroad trains made tolerable good time until towards night when they began to lag behind and by the time the last one from Boston was due here (11.30 p. m.) they appeared to have been a good deal rattled. Several times in the evening trains got stalled at the Church Ave. crossing, and even big old "Pegasus," gateman Brown's favorite locomotive, had to "back and fid" a good many times before she conquered the drifts there and succeeded in getting a final sendoff for Boston. There was but very little going about the streets in sleighs, and as little as possible on foot. The storm was too severe for outdoor recreations, and business was very nearly or quite suspended. "The Oldest Inhabitant" says it has been a good while, according to his memory, since a snow storm of such severity occurred in these parts and during which so much snow fell. On yesterday morning the Shovel Brigade went to work and they had a busy day of it.

Change in an Old Mercantile Firm.

The name of G. R. Gage & Co., Merchant Tailors, has been a familiar one in Woburn for the last 25 years. The firm was composed of Mr. Gawin R. Gage and Mr. Frederic A. Flint who would probably have remained together much longer but for the state of Mr. Gage's health. It has always maintained a high standing in mercantile circles and enjoyed an enviable popularity at home.

Mr. Gage was a New Hampshire boy. He came to Woburn 50 years ago and went to work for Tallman Seeley, father of the late Montresser S. Seeley, as a journeyman tailor. In 1842 he and Mr. James L. Fowle bought out Mr. Seeley; the firm was Gage & Fowle, and by them the business was carried on until 1853, when the partnership was dissolved. Mr. Gage prosecuted the business alone very successfully until Oct. 1, 1866, when Mr. Frederic A. Flint, who had been for some time a clerk and salesman in the store, formed a copartnership with him, which union has continued up to Feb. 13 ult. when it was dissolved by mutual consent.

The house has been a leading one in this part of Middlesex county for many years. Carefully and liberally conducted it has always been a prosperous house, and at no period during the 25 years of its existence has it ever been more so than during the last twelvemonth. Under Mr. Flint's sole management it will no doubt continue to flourish.

Mr. James L. Fowle, mentioned above, has continued in the employ of Mr. Gage and G. R. Gage & Co., ever since their dissolution in 1853, and Mr. Atwood, who has been with the firm several years, is very popular with the young men of our city who stick for the most fashionably cut and best made suits.

Go and Hear Dixon.

"The typical Southerner, born comedian, and genuine dramatist."

Have you heard Dixon? Haven't? Well, go and hear him on March 9, in the Congregational Church. Rev. Thomas Dixon comes the second time to our city by invitation of the Young Men's Missionary Club. His lecture on "Backbone" delivered last year in the Y. M. C. A. course was an introduction to our people not to be forgotten. He has the largest Sabbath audience that assembles regularly in New York City. The building cannot hold the crowds that struggle to hear him.

The lecture on "Fools" is divided under eight heads, and the wisest Fools have been made wiser by listening to Mr. Dixon's fun, language, imagination, passion and ridicule. He is positively the most interesting lecturer of the forum in our time.

Change your plans in some way, so as to be sure to hear him March 9.—X.

All Others Fall Short.

None can imitate Shakespeare or Milton with success; Edison has no duplicate on earth; American push and individuality have no peer. In other words there are things in this world that cannot be successfully counterfeited. And among them must be counted Brussels soap. Though destined to work about the dirt of earth, yet there it fulfils its mission to perfection and with ease. It's economical.

City Finances.

The Joint Standing Committee on Finance submit the following estimate of amount of money necessary to be raised the ensuing financial year; City of Woburn, in Common Council, February 28, 1891. Order laying a specific tax.

Ordered,—That for the purpose of defraying the current expenses of the city of Woburn for the year 1891, the following named sums of money be and they are hereby respectively appropriated to the accounts and for the objects and purposes as hereinafter stated and explained, that is to say:

ESTIMATE OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

	DEPARTMENT.	Appropriation to be raised by taxation.
1.	Abatements and Overlayings,
2.	Almshouse,	$3,539 93
3.	Armory,
4.	Election Expenses,	895 65
5.	Fire,	9,000 00
6.	Gravel Lots,
7.	Health,
8.	Highways,	13,000 00
9.	Lockup,
10.	Memorial Day,	100 00
11.	Military Aid Ch. 279 Acts 1889, city,	450 12
12.	Miscellaneous Department,
13.	Municipal Building,	946 68
14.	Outside Relief,	2,996 98
15.	Police,	6,492 28
16.	Printing and Stationery,	1,726 03
17.	Repairs on Public Buildings,	780 94
18.	Salaries,	5,820 05
19.	Schools—Evening,	616 02
20.	Schools—New Highland Building,
21.	Schools—Incidentals,	1,500 00
22.	Schools—Instruction, Fuel and Care of Rooms,	36,500 00
23.	Schools—Text Books,	1,762 81
24.	Soldiers Relief, Ch. 447, Acts 1890,	271 81
25.	Street Lights,	6,747 42
26.	Support of Criminals,
27.	Support of Insane,	1,579 41
28.	Ventilation Union St. Schoolhouse,
29.	Water Works Construction,	1,250 00
30.	Woburn Public Library,	1,696 67
		$96,622 68

And it is hereby provided and ordered,—That the unexpended balances above set forth amounting to $15,890.39 and the dog tax amounting to $1,281.20 hereby are applied towards the payment of the appropriations above enumerated.

And it is further ordered, that the balance of appropriations herein enumerated, amounting to $96,622 68, together with the amounts required by law to be raised on account of the city debt, namely:

For Sinking Fund of 1874,		$8,500 00
For Sinking Fund of 1881-2, Municipal,		800 00
For Water Loan of 1886,		2,000 00
For Municipal Loan of 1883,		4,000 00
For Municipal Loan of 1886,		1,250 00
For Municipal Loan of 1887,		6,266 67
For Municipal Loan of 1888,		2,000 00
For Interest on Municipal Debt,		4,250 00
For Interest on Water Debt, (Hydrant Service),		6,160 00
For Public Park Loan,		700 00
For Conduit Loan,		600 00
For Highland Schoolhouse Loan,		1,400 00
		$37,926 67

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION.		Total Appropriation.
Unexpended balance of	$302 81	$ 302 81
Unexpended balance of	210 17	3,750 00
Unexpended balance of	44 60	44 60
Unexpended balance of	4 35	900 00
Unexpended balance of	557 82
and from Mis. Dept.,	1,000 00	10,557 82
Unexpended balance	115 25	115 25
Unex. bal. of $82.99 and from Mis. Dept.,	517 01	600 00
Unexpended balance of	506 37
and from Mis. Dept.,	1,493 63	15,000 00
Unex. bal. of $50.93 and from Unex. bal of Armory Department,	200 00	250 93
Unex. bal. of $9.38 and from Unex. bal. of Abatements and Overlayings,	290 62	400 00
Unexpended balance of	40 99	500 00
Unexpended balance of	121 57	121 57
Unexpended balance of	53 32	1,000 00
Unex. bal. of $2.00 and from Mis. Dept.,	1,000 00	4,000 00
Unexpended balance of	207 72	6,700 00
Unexpended balance of	23 97	1,750 00
Unexpended balance of	419 06	1,200 00
Unexpended balance of	1,179 97	7,000 00
Unexpended balance of	133 98	650 00
Unexpended balance of	7,787 05	7,787 05
Unexpended balance of	12 39	1,512 39
Unexpended balance of	289 40	36,789 40
Unexpended balance of	37 19	1,800 00
Unexpended balance of	128 19	700 00
Unexpended balance of	292 58	7,000 00
Unexpended balance of	201 89	201 89
Unex. bal. of $420,59 and from Mis. Dept.,	1,500 00	3,500 00
Unexpended balance	1,390 00	1,390 00
Unex. bal. of $47.78 and from unexpended balance of Water Works Reservoir Main,	755 55	2,500 00
From Miscellaneous Dept. and Dog Tax of	1,800 00 1,281 26	3,081 20
		$121,104 91

And also the sums which will be required as the City's proportion of State and County taxes, be raised on the Polls, Property and Estates taxable in the City, according to the provisions of law.

And it is further ordered, that the sum of $30.57, being the unexpended balance to the credit of the Department of interest on Municipal debt at the close of the last fiscal year, be placed to the credit of that department.

And it is further ordered, that the receipts of each department be placed to the credit of their respective accounts, and be considered and used as part of the annual appropriation and that the bank and corporation tax when received from the State be placed to the credit of the Miscellaneous Department.

And it is further ordered, that interest at the rate of six per cent per annum shall be charged from the fifteenth day of October, 1891, upon all taxes to be assessed the present year, remaining unpaid on that date, and until the same shall have been paid.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

This branch of the City Council held a meeting last Thursday evening week at which considerable important business was done.

Wilbur E. Cummings and others petitioned for an electric light on Main street, between Warren and Hudson streets. Referred.——The resignation of Dr. John M Harlow as a member of the Cemetery Commission was accepted.——Ordered, that an arc electric light be placed on Salem street, opposite Winn Park, and that the incandescent lamps be removed.——The order of the Aldermen making the pay of the police $850 per annum was concurred in by the following vote:

Yeas—Cutler, O'Donnell, Weafer, Kendrick, McAvoy, Waldron.

Nays—Bowers, Larkin, Littlefield, Simonds, Hanson.

The order making the annual appropriations was read, when Councilman Cutler moved to increase the police item $1200, stating that an extra officer was to be appointed and it would become necessary. Councilman O'Donnell said the matter of increasing the pay of all the police had not been considered and he favored it being sent back to the committee, and it was so voted. The rest of the appropriation Order was passed.

Thomas D. Hevey was chosen Overseer of the Poor, receiving 10 votes to one for C. A. Jones.——C. A. Jones was chosen Cemetery Commissioner for five years, receiving six votes to five for F. M. Pushee.——Four ballots were taken for City Solicitor, the last one electing John Warren Johnson, receiving six votes, Francis P. Curran four, and Charles D. Adams one, thus non-concurring with the upper branch.——The order referring the item regarding police back to the committee was reconsidered and then passed.——The following assistant Assessors were chosen in concurrence: John Lynch, Dennis D. Begley, J. Fred Leslie, James Cogan, B. Frank Kimball, Franklin Flint, while Edward C. Collamore in Ward 2 was chosen in nonconcurrence, the Aldermen having chosen James Dolan.

A Card.

The Co-partnership which has existed for nearly twenty-five years between G. R. Gage and myself having been dissolved, I desire to express gratitude to the citizens of Woburn and vicinity for the interest they have manifested in the past, and wish to assure them that I shall continue to keep abreast of the times (furnishing the best goods at fair prices) and solicit a continuance of patronage from old friends, and orders from a large number of the general public.

FREDERIC A. FLINT,
G. R. GAGE & CO.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brussels.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.
Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.
Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

The Employers' Liability ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,
12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

(For the Woburn Journal.)

Among the Books.

The last two months have witnessed a lively call for books at the beautiful stone building, 12,963 volumes having been issued during this time, and on Saturday, Feb. 28, nearly 600 books were sent to the homes throughout the city. Of the new books added:

"The New Senior at Andover," by Herbert D. Ward, is a story of school life with its interests, hopes and ambitions. The hero is an ideal one in his sturdy and manly qualities, his high conceptions of duty, and his persistence in overcoming obstacles. It will not fail to be read with great profit by all boys, especially those who are making a struggle for an education against adverse circumstances.

"Inside the White House in War Times" is the title of a book by William O. Stoddard, Private Secretary to President Lincoln from 1861-1864. His position made him acquainted with much that was unknown to the world at large and gave him opportunities of seeing behind the scenes and estimating the influences that were at work shaping the course of the administration. It is principally with the details of the White House business life that Mr. Stoddard deals, but one gets glimpses into Lincoln's life and ways which present him in a very interesting and pleasing light and tend to ennoble his character.

"Life of Petrach" by May Alden Ward who, it will be remembered, received much favorable notice a few months since for her life of Dante. The Author says that Petrach will always be associated in the mind of the student as the apostle of Culture, the instigator of the revival of Letters, and the precursor of the Renaissance. It was he who first saw the value of public libraries and took steps to found one. He urged and entreated his countrymen to preserve their ancient ruins as reminders of the past and as aids in the study of history. He was greatly interested in collecting manuscripts, of recovering the lost treasures of classic literature from the monastic libraries in which they were buried; in fact, Petrach is the first instance in the modern world of a genuine man of letters, a devotee of literature for its own sake. He lived in the past rather than in the present, being more familiar with ancient Rome than with the Rome of his day. Livy, Seneca and Cicero were his constant companions. "Every day he studied the inscriptions on the marbles with which Rome abounded." "Where are now these great men?' he was often heard to exclaim; "would that I could have lived when such men did." His title to fame rests chiefly on his Latin writings. He wrote: "Freedom is an uncertain possession, for there is no real freedom except in the grave. Nobility of birth is not a blessing, for true nobility cannot be inherited, it comes only from ones own deeds."

One of the most charming books that has recently appeared is Mrs. Oliphant's "Royal Edinburgh." The first part is devoted to Margaret of Scotland and is an exquisite portraiture of this saintly woman, whose influence on Scotish life and character has come down through all these centuries. The Stewarts of Scotland and the five Jameses are described in the second part. The volume is a graphic sketch of the growth of Edinburgh and its romantic history, portraying vividly the men and women who for 500 years lived and acted on its stage.

"Anne Bradstreet and Her Time," by Helen Campbell, is a book that claims the careful attention of readers, being the history of the first woman whose work has come down to us from that troublous Colonial time, and who, "if not the mother, is at least the grandmother of American literature," in that her direct descendants number some of our most distinguished men of letters. The direct ancestress of the Danas, of Dr. O. W. Holmes, Wendell Phillips, and the Channings, Anne Bradstreet stands alone and is represented only by a volume of moral reflections, and the often stilted and unnatural verse, but she tells the story of a woman whose conditions in life hindered and hampered her complete development, but who in the midst of obstacles spoke such words as her limitations allowed.

"Records of Later Life" by Frances Ann Kemble is the third volume of her autobiography and is full of interest in matters pertaining to England and this country. Born in England in the early part of the century of German parentage she often refers to the delightful home of her grandmother where could be seen the great Jungfrau range of the Alps, and she often wondered in later life if it were not the blood in her veins that made her always love and long for these supremely beautiful mountains. Her long experience of life in America with an English woman's ideas of duties and occupations are all pleasantly referred to. Her impressions of America; the homes and peculiarities of the people; her confidence in this grand experiment of free government; and her letters referring to her acquaintance with the prominent men of her time, are well worth reading.

"A Woman's Trip to Alaska" by Mrs. General Collis is finely illustrated, while the mountain-walled channels of British Columbia, the ocean canyons of the Sitkan Archipelago, the snow peaks of the beautiful Fair Weather range, the gigantic and appalling Muir Glacier, are vividly described.

"The Light of Asia" by Sir Edwin Arnold is now followed by "The Light of the World." From the higher significance of its subject, the greater power and reverence of its handling, it will be read more widely by all lovers of English verse. It was much to have written "The Light of Asia": it was infinitely more to have written "The Light of the World."—E. F. P.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

A Good Suggestion.

WOBURN, February 28, 1891.

WOBURN JOURNAL: As there are in your city many able expounders of the Scriptures, those who are

HAMBURGS

— AND —

LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

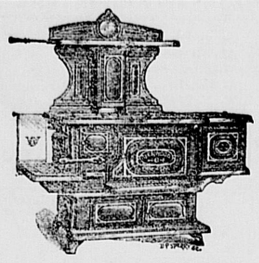
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds.
Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Abstract of a Sermon

Delivered by the Pastor, Rev. Hugh Montgomery, in the M. E. Church, Woburn, Sunday, Mar. 1, 1891, before a Body of visiting Odd Fellows.

Any body of men or women that draws closer the ties of mutual sympathy and strengthens the bonds of brotherhood between man and man, is not only worthy of approbation out of admiration. I have learned such is the object of Odd Fellowship.

We learn that "as members of one great family, we feel a deep interest in the well being of each other, and are bound by all means to promote it."

"Is a brother in need of our counsel? He gets such as we can give."

"Has Poverty laid her hand upon him? He comes to us with the assurance that he will not be sent empty away."

"Has sickness laid him on a bed of pain? Brotherhood stands by to the last. If a stranger they provide for his burial; his widow and orphan children are cared for."

As Odd Fellows they promise to revere the name of Almighty God and never to pronounce it except with that reverence due from a creature to his Creator. They regard His Holy Word as the only guide which points out the path to happiness and peace. Again we read, "Our order is the hand-maid of virtue and religion." They are instructed to avoid intemperance, and to do unto others as they would wish them to do unto them.

Let "Union be our motto; and Onward our watch-word. Let virtue be our defence and friendship our aim." Friendship, Love and Truth; on these pillars rests the order. It does not interfere with a man's religion or politics. Their favorite passage of Scripture is the parable of the Good Samaritan. Luke 10 30-37. The same Bible is the foundation of this order; they look at it as the test of truth, the fountain of peace, the source of blessedness. Newton says:

> Precious Bible! what a treasure
> Does the word of God afford!
> All I want for life or pleasure,
> Food and medicine, shield and sword;
> Let the world account me poor,
> Having this I need no more.

Sir Isaac Newton said: "We account the Scriptures of God the most sublime philosophy." So this order take the Book as their chart. II Pet. 1-16: "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables."

You as Odd Fellows have taken this Book as your guide. You believe it must be hid in the heart as seed in the ground, as leaven in the meal, as treasure in the cabinet, as the soul in the body. You have taught that this book is a directory, showing the evil to be avoided, and the requirements of God. You have been taught to believe that God's works are perfect. That whatever methods of thought may be put forth, still without a revelation it can neither know truly of God, or his will concerning his creatures.

You admit that a man may expand his powers and increase his knowledge by its study; he may form some estimate of the greatness and grandeur of the Deity; some ideas of his power, wisdom and goodness; but he can learn nothing as to his moral character, or his infinite counsel and will. He can learn nothing of the law of morals, or of duty, of disobedience, of rewards, or of punishment; nothing as to man's immortality and responsibility. Hence the founder of this Order believed that man without divine assistance can never find out God, or attain to the knowledge of his will. The fathers and brothers of this Order found that where a revelation has not been enjoyed the people were poor and ignorant. More than five thousand years has surely been sufficient to test the ability of the human mind to discover the Supreme Being and a knowledge of his will concerning mankind.

The metaphysicians of the East, the priests of China, at this day have not taken a step beyond the ancients as to moral knowledge. They knew this did not come by learning. The Philosophers of old were learned yet royally benighted. The character and mind of God form a part of no language, or system of metaphysics, or mathematics. It is to be met in no scheme of jurisprudence, or legislation. The wisdom of the world, however profound and extensive or sublime, does not involve the knowledge of God and his will. Athens was the seat of science, yet her streets were crowded with false gods.

The Odd Fellows came to the conclusion that if man is to know ought of God correctly; or if he is to know himself and his destination; it must be revealed to him by God.

And this is why they have taken the Bible for their guide. The Bible must be one of two things: either an invention of good men or good angels; of bad men or bad angels; or a revelation from God. But it could not be the invention of good men or angels for they could not make a book of lies, saying "thus saith the Lord" when it was their invention. It could not be the invention of wicked men or devils, for they could not make a book which commands duty, which forbids sin. There is only one conclusion: the Bible is God's Book.

The Bible was written in fragments during fifteen centuries, in different languages, by persons of opposite tempers, talent, learned and unlearned, prince and peasant, bond and free. Yet its authors are not found contradicting one another but are at harmony in their sublime scheme. St. Peter denies that he is following cunningly devised fables. Peter was the leader of the apostolic band and knew all the facts in the case. He is a good witness.

The enemies of the Bible have asserted that it is not God's book. Any foolish person can do that, and the Bible itself predicts that it should experience this treatment from those who did not know God. Again we find in the Bible an interesting variety. This is well illustrated by Mrs. Ellis, in the following eloquent extract from her recent work entitled the "Poetry of Life." She says, "From the worm that grovels in the dust beneath our feet, to the track of the leviathan in the foaming deep; from the moth that corrupts the secret treasure, to the eagle that soars above his eyrie in the clouds; from the wild ass in the desert, to the lamb within the shepherd's fold; from the consuming locust, to the cattle upon a thousand hills; from the rose of Sharon, to the cedar of Lebanon; from the crystal stream gushing forth out of the flinty rock, to the wide waters of the deluge; from the lonely path of the wanderer, to the gathering of a mighty multitude; from the tear that falls in secret, to the din of battle and the shout of a triumphant host; from the solitary in the wilderness, to the seraph on the throne; from the mourner clad in sackcloth to the prince in purple robes; from the gnawing of the worm that dieth not, to the seraphic visions of the blest; from the still voice, to the thunders of omnipotence; from the depths of hell, to the regions of eternal glory."

There is no condition of man, no thirst for excellence that is not met with its full supply in the Bible. Why do Odd Fellows take the Bible as their guide? Because it introduces man to God, not the Pagan's polluted fancy, but the one infinite intelligence whose hand guides every star and opens every bud; whose breath is like the roar of the mountain storm and the sigh of the quiet sea; who follows the wandering prodigal and watches the infant's pillow, while he marshals the ranks of angels and orders the worlds on high; who hath revealed himself in Jesus and made an atonement for sin, thus bridging the gulf between himself and man.

While this Order believe that the truths in the Bible are the same yesterday, to-day and forever, they believe that every revolving moment presents it in some new aspect and unfolds its burning glory. Every struggle of a redeemed soul, and every flutter of the pinions of a saved and ascending spirit in heaven's eternal sunlight, makes this great truth a more deep, glorious, and interesting mystery. A spiritual knowledge of this blessed Book will fit a man for deepest suffering, or highest achievements of humanity. Answer, ye heathens in bondage, ye martyrs in fire. So you are not following cunningly devised fables.

By the Scriptures we mean all the books of the Old and New Testament. These books cover a period of more than four thousand years, from the creation to sixty years after the ascension of our Saviour. The Word of God is a rule of faith and life. We need know no more. It is full, all sufficient; a rule for every station, class, condition in life. We do not believe this Book is for a particular class, but for all; for priest and people. It is the guide from earth to heaven. It is translated into 250 different languages, and accessible to all. The Apostle thus ready to lay down his life, was conscious that he and other ministers of Christ had not followed fables, devised for the purpose of soothing men's passions and gratifying their depraved hearts.

We do not deny that good morals were taught by ancient moralists in fairy tales, inculcated by pagan priests. Every religion among the heathen, Hindooism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism, had fables, but they have no proof that the events ever took place; they depend solely on the authority of the writer. But the authority of the Bible is supported by evidence. Pagan writers have established most of the events stated in the Old Testament. The facts of the New Testament can be proved with equal certainty with the landing of Julius Cæsar on the shore of Britain. The events of paganism are without dates; but the year and often the day of the occurrences of the Bible is given with exactness.

Mohammedanism is one of the most intelligent sects, yet the things in it would be laughed at by the children of our Sabbath Schools. In the Koran the contradictions are endless. Mohammed insisted that the last revelation was the truth. The fables were many of them impure. Not one contains a sound morality; many of them so gross that missionaries would not dare to translate them.

The Bible! Holy, high, unrivalled in purity of speech and thought. The fables gave no clear views of the way of salvation or of a future state. All was dark, confused, contradictory, no comfort, no good hope. The Bible is the chart of life, the revelation of God's salvation. And that is the reason that the fathers of this ancient order of Odd Fellows have taken the Bible for their guide.

Be thankful for the Scriptures, every day, every hour; rightly use them; read and meditate. Follow them as a body of Odd Fellows, then asa body you will be wise, holy, benevolent, happy, and fitted for life, death and eternity.

Ignorant attempts to supply a substitute for mother's milk are often attended with ill effects; a suitable food given judiciously will always give satisfaction. Mellin's Food is now thoroughly established as the best nutriment for infants. Its good effects are witnessed in the robust health of the thousands of children who have been reared upon it.

GENTLEMEN!

DO YOU WEAR THE

"EIGHMIE" SHIRT?

If you do we cannot tell you anything about it for you know it is the best.

If you do not we want to tell you

It is the Best Fitting Shirt Made.

Made of the Best Wamsetta Cotton. Laundered and Unlaundered.

Prices of Unlaundered: 1st quality $1.00, 3 for $2.75. 2nd quality 75 cents each.

Try them and you will wear no other.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

Entertainment by Pupils.

The pupils of Miss Stella M. Haynes's School of Elocution, at No. 492 Main street, gave a pleasing entertainment in Horticultural Hall last evening. The programme was well arranged, and was listened to with much interest by the large number present. The selections were given in a manner that showed the careful and thorough training each pupil has received. Millocker's "Gasparonne," by the Elberon Orchestra Club opened the exercises. Then Miss Edith M. Gould gave "Mrs. Middlerib's Letter." Miss Ada M. White gave "Buzzards' Point" in a manner that called forth much applause. It was expected that Mrs. E. H. Plaisted would contribute two songs, but she was unable to be present. Her place was taken by Mrs. J. F. Howells.

E. C. Stedman's "Country Sleighing" was given by Miss Ella H. Plaisted. Mrs. Hattie E. Price gave with much dramatic ability Mark Twain's "How Tom Sawyer got his fence whitewashed." On a hearty encore, Mrs. Price gave "The interview."

After the cornet song, "Golden Shore," by the Elberon Orchestra, the first instalment of the marching, posings and tableaux was given by Miss Ida E. Fitch, Miss Ella H. Plaisted, Miss Effie C. Walsh, Miss Edith M. Gould, Miss Ada M. White, Mrs. Hattie E. Price and Mrs. W. A. Newgent. Each participant was dressed in a beautiful white Grecian costume. Following each other in rapid succession, the effect being that of living statuary. The several movements were made upon the platform without the aid of a curtain, and with musical accompaniment. The whole, being lighted by the calcium light, made a very effective and pleasing entertainment.

"Hallowed be Thy Name," "Rock of Ages," were among the tableaux that were especially well received. This part of the entertainment was one of the features of the evening.

The second hearty encore was given Miss Olive Hewitt in James Whitcomb Riley's "Elf Child." "Lulu's Complaint" was given as a response. J. J. Shea deserves much praise for the dramatic presentation of "Swore Off." He possesses much skill in this direction. Mrs. Howells gave Trotere's song, "In Old Madrid." There was another delightful appearance of the class in posings. De Berri's concert galop, "12 o'clock," closed the evening's entertainment.—Worcester Evening Gazette, Feb. 21.

Miss Haynes, by whom the above entertainment was conducted, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Haynes of Pleasant street, this city, and is an elocutionist of wide note and rare proficiency.

North Woburn.

Mr. Herman F. Page is confined to his home with a very severe cold.

A sociable will be held in the vestry of the Congregational Church on next Friday afternoon and evening.

The monthly sociable of the Unitarian society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Tidd on last Wednesday evening, March 4th.

Be sure and attend the entertainment to be given by the Good Will Club in the Chapel on this, Friday, evening. The proceeds to be used in purchasing new books for the library connected with the Sunday Schools. Every one should be on hand and help to encourage the Club in their good work.

Mr. Charles W. Newton has gone to Marlborough, where he has charge of one of the stitching rooms in a large shoe factory. If his stay is permanent we shall lose one of our best citizens, which goes to show that there is not enough business in this village to support its people. Some new enterprise is needed.

Burlington.

The annual Town Meeting will be held March 16.

The Sunday School are making preparations for an Easter Concert.

Rev. Mr. Allen of Andover preached an excellent sermon at the church Sunday morning, and also conducted the evening service. Our church-going friends must not forget that the time of service has been changed from afternoon to half past ten o'clock in the morning.

In the diary of Rev. John Marrett for 1791 we find some notes on the weather a hundred years ago, which may be interesting to the readers of the JOURNAL:

Jan. 1, he writes: "Last night and to-day a great snow storm, wind north, very cold, ye snow deep and drifted—ye year come in like a Lion."

On the next day, Sunday, Jan. 2, he records: "Fair and pleasant, preached Dorni [at home]. But one exercise, very thin meeting, went to meeting on rackets. Snow Deep and Drifted."

Some "fair and moderate" weather followed. On the fifth of the month it was "lowery and moderate;" on the seventh "lowery and moderate and thawing." More storms of snow and hail followed. On the seventeenth day he records "a Severe and Blustering Snow Storm."

Feb. 17, he writes: "Last night and to-day ye Coldest this winter."

On the next Sunday he describes the meeting as "thin."

Feb. 28, there was "a great thaw."

April 3, he writes: "Had in ye morning a fair and full view of a total Eclipse of ye Sun."

The spring of 1791 seems to have been rather forward.

April 19, Mr. Marrett "Sowed flax, barley and oats, onions and parsnips."

May 2, he "Put Cows into Meadow."

May 7, he "planted most of ye Corn."

May 10, he "finished planting potatoes and Sauce Beans."

May 18, he writes: "Apple trees in their full Blossom."

"Chipman's Liver Pills the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.'

Postponed.

The Fair in aid of the Home for Aged Women which has always been held Fast Day, has for this year been postponed to Wednesday and Thursday, the 15th and 16th of April, and will be held in Dow's Block.

This change of place will enable the ladies to serve the supper on the same floor with the bazaar and the ice cream table, a much more convenient arrangement.

The change of date is caused by the engagement of all the halls Fast Day. —X.

Literary Notices.

OUR LITTLE ONES, published by the Russell Pub. Co. of Boston, is one of the very best of the juvenile magazines in this country. The March number of it is as pretty as a picture, and cannot but please immensely all well-regulated little ones that see it. Every page has a picture, and the stories and verses which they illustrate are prime.

WINCHESTER.

Mr. Thomas Spurr makes a very efficient and popular Town Treasurer.

The Unitarian Society are canvassing the question of a new church edifice, or an enlargement of the present one.

On the opening of the new rooms of the Y. M. C. A. which will take place in a week two, it is proposed to hold a grand reception and give an entertainment.

Within a year there will be a street or elevated railroad between Winchester and Arlington. The operations of the West Side Syndicate will make one or the other absolutely necessary.

Mr. Henry M. Pitt and Mrs. Henry Temple Brown will give a reading in Rangely Hall, Wednesday evening, March 11, commencing at 8 o'clock. After the reading there will be dancing until 12 o'clock.

The prospect for much building and considerable increase of population this coming season is encouraging. Winchester is fast becoming the most popular residence place in the vicinity of Boston.

Selectman Ayer will be elected this year "as sure as shooting." He is perfectly conversant with the affairs of the town and we haven't a man among us who could fill his shoes. Mr. Ayer is a very valuable officer for the interest of Winchester and I hope he will live a good many years to serve here in the capacity of Selectman and other public positions.

At a special Town Meeting held last Monday evening it was voted almost unanimously to use the Australian system of voting at the next annual Town Meeting, to be held this month, in pursuance to a recently enacted statue giving towns the right to decide for themselves whether they would adopt it or not. Mr. Henry F. Johnson, who is abreast of every real political, municipal or social reform, who steps to the music of progress, made a telling speech in favor of the Australian method of voting, and it was carried with hardly a dissenting voice

The Boston & Maine railroad is wide-awake to the interests of Winchester, and the accommodation at the present time are unequalled by any other town outside of Boston.—Star. Glad to hear it. Since Mr. Sanborn has filled the office of Superintendant of the Southern Division of the B. & M. Railroad not only Winchester but all the cities and towns on the lines under his management have fared well—much better than they did when his predecessor held sway. Mr. Sanborn is an able railroad man, and not only that, but he is disposed to use the patrons of the road fairly and liberally.

Mrs. Lucy F. Hill, wife of the late Jonathan Hill, who died in Woburn last Sunday morning at the age of 73 years and 13 days, was the last of the eight daughters of Capt. Josiah Locke, who was drowned Aug. 21st, 1818, in the 39th year of his age. Capt. Locke was a resident of the westerly part of this town where he was born Dec. 23, 1779.—Star. The Lockes have been an influential family here from early times. The members in each generations were held in high esteem, and they were connected by marriage with many other leading families, some of whom now and always have had their homes on or around "Locke's Hill," in the western part of this town. The Lockes have been people of great integrity of character and always commanded the confidence and respect of their fellow citizens.

Boarder:—"Mrs. Toughsteak, I shall send the expressman after my collar box and cane." Landlady:—"What are you leaving us for, Mr. Slim?" Boarder:—"Because you have replaced the Brussels soap that was in my room with that of inferior grade."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Sheriff's Sale.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

WOBURN, March 3, 1891.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction, at my office, No. 424 Main street, in said Woburn, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all the right, title, and interest, liable to be taken on execution, that Charles M. Wendall, of said Woburn, had on the 3d day of February, A. D. 1890, that being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, with the building thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in Woburn, in said County, with the buildings thereon, on the northerly side of a private way leading out of Beach street and bounded as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake and stones at said private way; thence the line runs easterly, on and by said private way, about ten rods to a wall at land formerly of John Nelson; thence northerly by land last named by the wall to land belonging to the City of Woburn; thence westerly by land last named about ten rods to another stake and stones at land supposed to belong to one Woodland; thence southerly by land last named about twenty-seven rods to the bound first mentioned; containing about one and one-half acres, more or less.

Also, at the same time and place, all the right, title, and interest that the said Charles M. Wendall had on the said 3d day of February, liable to be taken on execution, in and to the following described real estate with the buildings thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the northerly side of Charles street, and bounded as follows, namely:—Southerly by said Charles street; easterly by land of Simeon Weymouth; northerly by land of said Weymouth, and by land formerly of Alfred G. Carter; westerly by land formerly of one Thurston.

JOHN E. TIDD, Deputy Sheriff.

LECTURE

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE

Friday Night Club,

— AT THE —

Unitarian Church,

— ON —

Friday Evening, Mar. 13, at 7.45 O'clock,

— BY —

Rabbi Solomon Schindler,

Subject: "WHY I AM A JEW."

Admission, - - 15 Cents.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the will of Hannah Chamberlain late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachusetts, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Exec.

Woburn, Mass., Feb. 24, 1891.

NOTICE TO LAWYERS.

You have a perfectly right sort of sentiment in your fondness for an old desk, or chair, or bookcase. But your client hasn't that sentiment. He will think you more well-to-do, and therefore abler, if your office is well and newly furnished. Of course you know where to go for the best furniture.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

OVER A MILE OF CORD

Is used every week in tying up the bundles of the

BOSTON HERALD

That go by train to every part of New England.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar

Concert

At Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

Miss M. Emma Fosdick has the pleasure to announce that she will give her second annual concert on Thursday Eve'ng, March 19, '91.

ASSISTED BY THE FOLLOWING ARTISTS:

Miss ANNABELLE CLARKE of Medford, Soprano Soloist.

Mr. W. S. BATTIS, Instructor at Colby University, Waterville, Maine, Reader and Impersonater.

Mr. W. L. RICE, of Winchester, Violin Soloist. Royal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club, of Lowell.

Miss MERTENA L. BANCROFT, Accompanist.

Together with Banjo and Guitar Orchestra of 25 pieces, Quartette, Duett, Solos and Giutar Orchestra.

The above talent will offer one of the most attractive and select entertainments given in Woburn this season.

Admission 25 Cents,
Reserved Seats 35 "

Tickets will be for sale at C. H. Buss's Drug Store, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Tuesday Eve'ng, March 3,

where a plan of the Hall can be seen.

Secure your ticket early to prevent disappointment.

Doors Open at 7.15. Concert Commences at 7.45.

404 Main St.,

WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop.

Having had 37 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Specia designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

WOBURN

Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

A meeting of the Shareholders will be held in the Board of Trade rooms on

Thursday, March 12,

at 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of nominating Officers and Auditors for the ensuing fiscal year.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 133 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

ANNUAL Canned Goods Sale!

Now is the time to buy your Canned Goods, and the Boston Branch is the place to buy them.

Tomatoes, Bacon's	8c.,	95c. per doz.
Tomatoes, Cidar,	10c.,	$1.15 " "
Tomatoes, F. & S. Imperial,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Corn,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Corn, Sandy River,	12c.,	1.40 " "
Corn, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Peas, Standard Marrowfats,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Peas, Booth's Marrowfats,	13c.,	1.50 " "
Succotash, Honey Drop,	14c.,	1.65 " "
Squash, Richardson's,	14c.,	1.65 " "
String Beans,	8c.,	.90 " "
Asparagus Tips,	25c.,	2.85 " "
Peaches, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" "	35c.,	4.00 " "
Bartlett Pears, Richardson's,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Sliced Pineapple,	23c.,	2.65 " "
Grated Pineapple,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Pres. Strawberries,	25c.,	3.00 " "
Blueberries,	14c.,	1.65 " "
White Cherries, California,	35c.,	4.00 " "
Apricots, California,	22c.,	2.60 " "
Apricots, Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Plums, California,	25c.,	2.85 " "
" Golden Gate,	30c.,	3.50 " "
Salmon, Alaska,	10c.,	1.20 " "
Salmon, Booth's,	15c.,	1.80 " "
Salmon Steak,	18c.,	2.10 " "

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of Mary Ann Carroll, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William L. Carroll who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Josiah Richardson late of Woburn in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Edwin Richardson.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lewis L. Whitney, the trustee under said will, has presented for allowance the fifteenth and final account of his trusteeship:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Mary A., Patrick H., and Catherine McGrath of Woburn, in said County, minors,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lawrence McGrath, the Guardian of said minors, has presented his petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified, of his said wards for investment: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County on the third Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

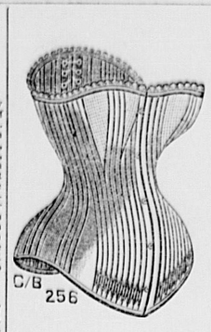
THIS WEEK AT BONELLI'S

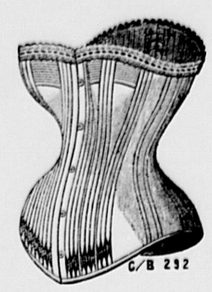
22 Franklin St., Woburn.

English Tambse Cloth, a regular $1.00 quality, only 65 cents per yard. This is a big bargain.

Langdon 42 inch Bleached Cotton at only 10 cents a yard. Think of it! only 10 cents, the price of ordinary yard wide cotton.

Give us a call and save money.





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES IN HEAVY-WEIGHT GOODS,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machnes

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Filfield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, JR.

W. H. Brine

1 and 3 Tremont Street., Cor. Pemberton Square, BOSTON.

Only Place of Business.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 391 Main Street, Woburn.

NAAMAN IS HEALED.

LESSON X, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 8.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings v, 1-14. Commit Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Ps. ciii, 3—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "Now Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master and honorable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria."

"He was also a mighty man in valor, but he was a leper."

Gideon and Jephthah and others who served God are called men of valor (Judg. vi, 12; xi, 1; I Chron. xii, 8, 30), but so also was Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin (I Kings xi, 28). Some are men of valor or might for God, and some are valiant for the devil. May our song be, "Through God we shall do valiantly" (Ps. lx, 12; cviii, 13). What availed all Naaman's greatness since he was a leper? And what avails all the might of the world, with all its honor, if one is a sinner in the sight of God, and on the way to endless torment (Matt. xxv, 41, 46; Rev. xx, 15)?

2. "And the Syrians had gone out by companies, and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel a little maid; and she waited on Naaman's wife."

Let any little girl consider well the situation of this little maid, stolen from home, which was as much to her as home is to any child, and now a little slave in a far off land, with little if any prospect of seeing father and mother again; and yet she seems to be faithful in her new home under these hard circumstances. Let the boys consider Joseph, stolen from home by his own brethren and serving as a slave in Egypt; and yet we read four times in one chapter that the Lord was with him (Gen. xxxix, 2, 3, 21, 23).

3. "Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy."

Not only faithful as a servant, but faithful in testimony, and that for the benefit of her enemy, reminding us of Rom. v, 8, 10; Matt. v, 44; Rom. xii, 20, 21.

4. "And one went in and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus said the maid that is of the land of Israel."

The little girl's saying is being spread abroad. It has now reached his ears for whom it was intended. We have only to speak of Jesus as we have opportunity, and we may be sure that the message will in due time be owned of God. His word will not return to Him void (Isa. lv, 11).

5. "And the king of Syria said, Go to, go, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel."

"And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand pieces of gold and ten changes of raiment."

6. "Behold I have sent Naaman, my servant, to thee, that thou mayest recover him of his leprosy."

Thus wrote the king of Syria to the king of Israel. The Lord who gave deliverance to Syria is not recognized. We cannot wonder at this if we consider the church of Christ today and see her reliance upon money and influence and the favor of this world, while He whose name she bears is comparatively unknown and unsought and unhonored.

7. "Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man doth send unto me to recover a man of his leprosy?"

Thus spake the king of Israel, when having read the letter he rent his clothes and fancied that Syria's king sought a quarrel with him. "Am I God?" reminds us of Jacob's angry words to his wife Rachel (Gen. xxx, 2), and killing and making alive reminds us of Deut. xxxii, 39, I Sam. ii, 6.

8. "Let him come now to me and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel."

Thus spake the man of God when he heard that the king had rent his clothes.

9. "So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha."

A great and honorable and mighty man of this world stands in his majesty at the door of this poor and dependent servant of God. He is now in the right place, but not in the right spirit. He knows that he is a leper, that he has a deadly disease, and he has come a long journey seeking for health; but then he is no poor man; he does not come as a beggar; he is not like the leper of Matt. viii, nor the ten of Luke xvii. He is able to pay for his healing and he wants it done as to a great and mighty man. He is dealing with men and wants his position before men to be recognized. He does not know Luke xvi, 15.

10. "And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean."

What magnificent indifference to earth's potentates and earth's favors. What an opportunity to make a friend with great influence and obtain a great sum of money. But, like Abram before the king of Sodom, he is conscious that the possessor of heaven and earth is his friend, and he can afford to say concerning the king of Syria's gold and silver, "I will receive none."

11. "But Naaman was wroth, and went away and said, Behold, I thought" * * *

He wanted health, but he wanted it given in a style befitting his high position.

12. "Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?"

Here are some more of his thoughts: Syria is better than Israel, Damascus than Jerusalem, Abana and Pharpar than Jordan. It is a great humiliation for him, a Syrian, to come to Israel seeking any favor, and he does not want favors; he can pay for all he gets.

13. "My father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldst thou not have done it?"

Thus reason his servants with him, showing more wisdom than their master, for "Great men are not always wise" (Job xxxii, 9); and they had him, too, as we say, for that was just the thought of his heart.

"How much rather then when he saith to thee, Wash, and be clean?"

14. "Then went he down."

That is good, for every proud person must come down, and if they come willingly it will save God the trouble of bringing them down.

"And dipped himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God."

"And his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean."

Just as the man of God had said so it came to pass. It always has been, is and will be just as God says. There is nothing like the word of God, and on our part nothing like obedience. It is not some great thing we are to do to be clean, but just come as we are, and accept Jesus as God's gift to us, and He will do great things for us. Then, being clean, He will do great things in us and through us.

A remarkably handsome woman is said to be the moving spirit in a philanthropical movement in Russia to supply the poor of that country with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

In chronic and stubborn cases of neuralgia, gout, and rheumatism use Salvation Oil. It is the greatest pain-destroyer of the age. Price only 25 cents.

Fireworks were not known to antiquity. They are a modern invention. If ever the ancients employed fires at their festivals it was only for religious purposes.

Bright's Disease Lost Its Victim.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton, of West Rutland, Vt., writes: "We are certain that only for Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., our little ten-year-old daughter would have been dead from Bright's Disease. We had tried in vain other means, but the Favorite Remedy came just in time to save her life."

The use of holly, in particular, dates back at least to the founding of the Roman saturnalia, for the plant was dedicated to Saturn and regarded as an emblem of peace and good will.

THE CROWS AND THE FARMER.

The farmhouse was cosy and sweet as could be;
The green fields and orchards were pleasant to see—
Then why, do you think, was the farmer so glum?
His good wife looked out, saying, "Why does he stand
Like a stock or a stone, with the hoe in his hand,
When it's supper time, quite, and the cows haven't come?"

The farmer stood thinking, "There's nobody knows
The life a poor farmer is led by the crows!
It's much if they leave me a morsel to eat.
'Twas the peaze, and the beans, and the oats, and the rye;
They didn't spare cherries enough for a pie,
And now I'll be blest if they're not at the wheat!

"And I really believe that before I am older
They will come to that scarecrow and light on his shoulder,
Or build them a nest in the crown of his hat!
If I live till to-morrow we'll some of us see—
I'll take the old gun and hide up in this tree.
I've buckshot enough; we'll try how they like that!"

How they liked it, however, he was not to see.
Though all the next morning he hid in the tree,
Not a crow was on hand, save one wary old scout,
Who crept through the bushes, flew close to the ground,
And took word to the flock, "The old gentleman's 'round
With a gun in his hand, and we'd better clear out!

"When he puts up a scarecrow we're certain at once,
And if we were not we should each be a dunce,
That there's lots of good eating and nothing to pay;
But a man with a gun's so unpleasant a sight
It destroys the most ravenous crow's appetite,
And when we're not hungry, pray why should we stay?"

—Margaret Vandegrift in St. Nicholas.

Virus of Indian Snakes.

A communication concerning the physiological action of the poison of the venomous snakes of India, presented to the Royal society, is a paper of exceptional interest. It contains an account of numerous experiments made upon small birds, cats, dogs, fowls, frogs, guinea pigs, pigeons and rabbits, with the virus of the cobra and that of the almost equally deadly viperine snake known as the daboia. These experiments were made in England, with poison sent thither from Bengal in a gum like condition, which preserves its potency. The idea that the venom is effective only when conveyed into the system through the blood is a mistake; it also acts when introduced by means of the stomach, although it is not then so certainly fatal.

When carried directly to the heart, as by the jugular vein, the poison arrests its action and causes almost instantaneous death. Death is more commonly produced, however, by the paralyzing effect of the poison upon the muscular apparatus, and the consequent check of respiration. It is a remarkable fact that while this snake poison acts injuriously upon so many forms of animal life, and to some extent even upon plant life, it is practically harmless as against venomous snakes themselves.

Disclosure of Invention.

The number of claimants of priority of invention in the Bell telephone suits, and in several other cases where important electrical interests were involved, has shown the necessity that the law on this subject should be very clearly defined, both for the prevention of future litigation and the protection of existing interests. It has been decided by the commissioner of patents that the mere statements of an applicant for a patent that he disclosed the invention is of no avail, either to constitute evidence of disclosure or to impart sufficiency to a statement of facts in themselves inadequate, unless he states by what agency the disclosure was made and the details of which it consisted. Sketches and models should be produced, if possible, or else reproduced from memory. If verbal disclosures are relied upon, the language is to be stated as nearly as possible.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Faithful to His Trust.

G. R. French, of Cornville, went to help a neighbor plow, taking with him a double harness and allowing the dog to follow. The harness was not used, but thrown down in a shed. The dog, thinking it his duty to guard it, lay and watched it for two days and two nights without food, and would not leave until the owner went and took the harness. This dog should be named Cassabianca.—Somerset (Me.) Reporter.

Among the bootblacks of Washington is a colored man who has lost his right arm and right leg, but single handed he polishes boots with neatness and dispatch, and he has a good stand and a fair run of trade. It was a railroad train that took off his arm and leg. Of course he would prefer to have the full number of arms and legs, but he takes a cheerful view of life, works manfully and is grateful that his life was spared.

A prominent coal miner of Elmwood, Ills., testifies to the value of electricity in its application to certain work in mines, which, he says, cannot be overestimated. The operating expenses in the driving of the pump alone were reduced to a remarkable extent, the expenditure being $300, as compared with the $1,200 entailed by operation by steam power.

The three golden balls, or more properly pills, were the coat of arms of the Medici family, the great Lombardy money lenders. Pawnbrokers, in carrying on the same business, assumed the Medici shield. The three golden balls also form the emblem of St. Nicholas.

It is said that to drink sweet milk after eating onions will purify the breath so that no odor will remain. A cupful of strong coffee is also recommended.

There are growing on a farm in San Antonio, Cal, two large fig trees that are as old as the State. They are thirty feet in height, have a very large spread and are marvels of productiveness. It is thought they will yield 1,000 pounds of fruit each.

When a loon sees anything bright—a red scarf, or looking glass, or a lantern at night—he swims towards it and wants it. He could not do anything with it if he had it, only to spoil it—but he wants it all the same.

The ups and downs of impecunious nobility are seldom better illustrated than in the case of Count Sackendorf, who is now conductor of an elevator in a Cincinnati hotel.

A new financial term coined by the mathematicians of the Berlin University is "Vereinsligenthumsverwaltungsdurchsichtsausschuss."

A PHILANTHROPIC LETTER CARRIER.

By Far the Most Popular Man in His District, at Least Among the Cats.

The day was closing damp and cold over Postal District "G," and a young lady was shivering as she waited for the letter carrier at the half open door of a handsome house in West Twentieth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Presently she saw him crossing from the opposite sidewalk, with his eye fixed encouragingly upon the steps above which she was standing.

"Here he comes!" she exclaimed joyfully to somebody in the hall behind her. "I am certain he has a letter for us. He is walking straight— Oh, dear me, the striped cat has caught him. How I hate that greedy brute!"

But, though a gaunt and hungry striped cat did, indeed, seem to have captured the stout, soft hearted postman, and was rubbing her head against his gray trousers, her blandishments were powerless to delay him long. He fished a small piece of meat out of the paper bundle that he carried under his arm, gave it to her, and moved on with an increase of speed that enabled him to place a letter in the outstretched hand of the young lady as soon as though he had not met the striped cat.

The animal quickly finished the food that had been given to her, and then proceeded to show her gratitude for past favors, as well as her lively sense of benefits to come, by scampering after the letter carrier. She was no longer alone, however. Three other cats had lovingly welcomed the evening advent of their best friend, and falling into an orderly procession behind him were gratefully taking the bits of meat that at short intervals he extracted from his bundle and threw to them. When a cat voraciously ate out of her turn he stood still for a moment and sternly rebuked her. Then she slunk to the rear of the line and seemed to be heartily ashamed of herself.

Before he reached the end of the long block at least a dozen cats were behind him. He fed them all and gave good advice to many of them. His longest delay was at an empty house. Here he went through a side entrance into the rear garden, where he carefully removed the remains of the morning's meal from the grass and left a new supply on a piece of brown paper. The cats that occupied that mansion in the absence of the family were of too high a social strain to eat their meals upon the street.

The good natured letter carrier has been endearing himself to the dogs and cats of the neighborhood in this way for years. It increases his butcher's bill materially, but he doesn't mind that. He is especially careful to look after the comfort of animals left behind by families who go to the country in the summer, and he is probably the most "all 'round" popular man in the district.—New York Sun.

About Autographs.

Autograph collecting is a very innocent though somewhat costly hobby. My collection has cost me over $500, and its cash value today is over $1,000. Autographs have their cash prices and will always fetch them. The signature of a president of the United States is worth $1—that is to say, any since Garfield. Garfield's is cheap at $2, and Lincoln's at $10. A letter written by Lincoln early in the war has been sold for $50. Thomas Jefferson's signature fetches $10 and is very scarce. Foreign autographs run high. The first Napoleon's is worth between $20 to $50; Dr. Johnson's about the same.

Queen Victoria's is sold as low as $6.50, and is often a forgery at that. The Prince of Wales has been very sparing with his autographs, and the only one I ever knew of being sold brought $12.50. Lord Beaconsfield's is worth $5, but as Mr. Gladstone will courteously reply to any letter sent him, his autograph is a drug in the market, and has scarcely any cash value at all. Boulanger's autograph used to sell for $1, and Bismarck's is worth three times that amount.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. Brown's Peculiar Experience.

Ed Brown, the grocer, had a peculiar experience a few days ago. He had purchased a brand new tarpaulin for one of his delivery wagons. It lay on the walk in front of his store, and Brown himself stood in the window looking at it, when a man came along and began to fold it up. Brown thought it strange that a stranger should do such a thing, but absentmindedly concluded that the man must be an employe whose face he did not remember. And while he was cogitating over the matter the fellow had rolled the tarpaulin up and walked off with it. The man was a thief, and the tarpaulin was stolen literally before Brown's eyes.—Omaha World-Herald.

Wilder's Wit.

"There is a great deal of jealousy and bickering in the theatrical profession," remarked Marshall P. Wilder the other day. "I know three performers who have been playing together for three years without speaking to each other."

"Humph, that's strange! Who are they?"

"The two horses and the dog in the 'Still Alarm.'"—New York Telegram.

Not an Amateur.

Editor in Chief—Is that new man good for anything?

Managing Editor—He is evidently an old and experienced journalist. His first editorial begins, "The political pot has begun to boil."—Good News.

Nobody Knows

What I suffered for years with those terrible racking sick headaches. Life was only a torment to me; if you are so troubled, I would advise you to use Sulphur Bitters, for they cured me.—CLARA BELLE.

A single hair can support a weight of two ounces, and it is so elastic that it may be stretched to one-third of its entire length, and then regain its formerly size and condition.

Mr. Straight of Walla Walla, Washington, found an exquisite pink pearl, the other day, in an oyster that he picked up from the river. He had it mounted for a shirt stud.

W. H. Dobson of Havre de Grace, Md., has a record of 520 ducks killed in one day. This feat he performed in 1884, and it has never been equalled.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

A MONSTER TOAD.

A Lieutenant in the Swiss Army Put to Flight by the Creature.

M. Charles Offredus, a lieutenant in the Swiss army, gives the following account of a gigantic toad he saw on the coast of Italy:

After having seen Rome, Naples and other principal cities of Italy, I returned through Venice. I had just left Aquapendente, a town situated upon an eminence, and passed down the mountain afoot to go to an inn that lies out of the town. M. Buschins, the companion of my journey, was a good ways before me, I having loitered by the way to examine some peculiar plants indigenous to those parts. I had not penetrated far when I heard a rustling in the thicket upon which I had my eyes fixed.

I looked down and saw at my feet an enormous toad, so prodigious that, without exaggeration, it seemed to be more than a foot and a half across the back. The ugly monster was so near me that it touched my left foot. Seized with horror, I quickly drew back my foot, having only strength enough left to run away as fast as I could. Recovering my wits when I had reached a safe distance from the horrid creature, I stopped a while, and at last made up my mind to return to the spot where I had seen the horrible beast.

Seeing it in the same spot I came to the conclusion that I could easily dispatch it with my sword. Uncertain, however, what weapon I should use in making the attack, and judging that distance would be more prudent than a close engagement, I laid hold of a large stone, which I could scarce lift with both hands, and with my naked sword under my arm I presented myself before the animal. His mouth was wide open, and his little black, wicked looking eyes were sparkling, his whole aspect betraying not the least sign of fear at sight of danger. On the contrary, he appeared anxious for the fray.

Having raised the stone as high as my strength would permit, I measured well its fall, covering the toad entirely, crushing it, so I thought, into a shapeless mass. "Horrible beast," I said to myself, "that is the last time ever you will frighten a tired soldier out of his wits;" and "there shall be your grave," I again said, as I piled a number of smaller stones upon the large one that had first crushed the monster. I had a great desire to examine the thing more closely, and if possible to dissect it, but had not the courage to touch even the stones under which it lay buried.

Standing gazing intently at the little rock mound which I had intended as a tomb for the unsightly creature, I noticed that the smaller of the stones had commenced to move. Soon the whole mound toppled over, and the beast walked out alive, seeming none the worse off from his late experience. Seeing that the creature had neither wound on his ugly skin nor broken bone in his body, I snatched my cloak and sword and passed out of the thicket, declaring that I would no longer make war against such a monster. Arriving at the inn I called for a glass of wine, but no sooner had I drank it than I felt feverish symptoms, which turned into a chill, lasting nearly two weeks.—St. Louis Republic.

Models of Famous Sparklers.

The models of all the great diamonds of the world are found in the government collection, and there are emeralds from New Mexico and from South America. Four long bottle green Brazilian emeralds, of two carats each, are very fine, and another which Professor Dana bought in Peru is over an inch long. New Mexico furnishes the finest garnets in the world in point of color, and it seems to be the precious stone region of the United States.

A curious stone exhibit has just been received from Siberia. It is a bowl of fruit made of precious stones, carved out so naturally that one would mistake them for the original. There are red raspberries and luscious black cherries, strawberries and currants, resting on leaves of green serpentine which are more natural in their appearance than the famed cow of Sculptor Myron, which was so lifelike that it imposed upon a living calf. In another quarter of the museum Uncle Sam keeps his gold in the rough. Under glass cases there are great lumps of quartz with the gold shining out in more or less delicate veins.—Washington Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

Caroline Herschel's Many Years.

The life of Caroline Herschel, one would imagine, was anything but favorable to long lasting. Insufficient sleep, irregular and hasty meals, long fasts, excessive toil, both bodily and mental, were the conditions of her life—at least, during the fifteen years she was her brother's housekeeper and astronomical assistant. A lady who devoted herself to hard work, one of the necessities of which was that she had to spend the whole of every starry night, covered with dew or hoar frost, on a grassplot in the garden, would not, one would think, be likely to make old bones. At the age of 82, however, according to her nephew's account, she skipped up two flights of stairs and ran about like a girl of 20. She died at the age of 98.—All the Year Round.

Telegraph lines are subject to a great variety of pests. In Rio, for example, there is an orchid that incrusts the wire and causes leakage. In Japan the large web of a spider, dripping with rain or dew, frequently interrupts the traffic, while in Norway a large species of woodpecker raises havoc with the poles.

A Valuable Discovery

Dr. Brown Sequard's elixir of youth may be an important discovery, but every one knows that Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure certainly is. It has given thousands afflicted with serious heart disease a New Lease of Life. Druggists who can observe its effects on many customers everywhere speak very highly of it. Mr. John Weaver, of Knightstown, Ind., says: "I have sold much of Dr. Miles' New Cure and have received many good reports." O. Monroe, of Dunkirk, N. Y., reports large sales. "And the best part of it is every bottle has given satisfaction. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

A man who hit on the idea of popping corn in an attractive stall in the busiest part of Fulton street, New York, in full view of the shoppers, is making lots of money.

March 14, 1855, the first engine and train of cars passed over the bridge at Niagara Falls. The railroad span is 821 feet. The track is 245 feet above the water.

A Plea for the "Green Goods" Man.

I think that the "green goods" sharpers are a much abused class, said a shrewd little lawyer friend of mine, who makes a specialty of defending that particular species of confidence operators. Why, they are really a protection to the honest, hard working members of the community, and should be encouraged, instead of being hunted like wild beasts. In the first place they have practically killed the counterfeiting business. Years ago operators on a large scale flooded the country with counterfeit bills and flourished, despite the greatest exertions on the part of the government detectives. But the "green goods" men have so demoralized the dishonest class of citizens, among whom the counterfeiters found their customers, that the making of "queer" money is restricted to a few small gangs of Italians, who do a very limited business.

In the next place the "green goods" operator finds his victims only among dishonest people who are far worse than he is. The courts are finally waking up to the fact that these alleged victims are persons of the most despicable character. You should see some of the letters received by clients of mine; they are enough to make one despair of human nature. One letter was from a villainous mill owner out west, who explained that he had a number of workmen, and that he would have little difficulty in passing the "queer" money upon them. As I said before the "green goods" man does good work in frightening such hypocritical wretches into being passably honest.—New York Telegram.

Power of Imagination.

Surgeon General Francis, of the British East Indian medical service, tells of a drummer who was suddenly aroused from his sleep by something crawling over his naked legs. Being in India, the land of deadly serpents, he imagined it was a cobra, and his friends, who had collected by the outery, thought so, too, and it was treated accordingly. Incantations, such as are customary with the natives on such occasions, were resorted to. The poor fellow was flagellated with twisted cords and cloths, while ropes were tightly bound around his arms and legs, in view partly to arouse him, but principally to drive out the evil spirit which had taken possession of him.

With the first dawn of light the true cause of the drummer's fright was discovered in the shape of a harmless lizard which was lying crushed and half killed by the side of the patient. But it was too late; from the moment when he believed a poisonous snake had bitten him he passed into an increasing collapse, gradually growing worse until he died, purely from an imaginary snake bite, some six hours after the harmless little quarian had dragged its icy body across his warm limbs.—St. Louis Republic.

New York's Holidays.

A little more than a century ago, or just before the beginning of the Revolution, the New York colony had at least twenty-six annual holidays. These were not the festivals of a certain number of their citizens, but the legally appointed days of rest and amusement for the whole colony, on which the custom house, all places of business and all public offices were closed.

These holidays were as follows: The King's Birthday, Anniversary of the Death of Charles the First, New Year's Day, Shrove Tuesday, Ash Wednesday, Lady Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Easter Tuesday, Ascension Day, St. George's Day, Restoration Day of Charles II, Queen's Birthday, Whitsun Monday, Whitsun Tuesday, Prince of Wales' Birthday, the Day That King George Landed in England, Coronation Day, All Saints' Day, Anniversary of Gunpowder Plot, Christmas, Fast Day, Thanksgiving Day, General Election Day, and Commencement Day of Columbia College, called College Day.—New York Ledger.

All for One Cent.

It is delightful to think how much fun a bright and healthy boy can get out of one cent. He bought a red top. After a while he remembered that he had seen in the toy shop some tops painted green, and he went back and exchanged the red top for a green one. Later he thought that he didn't want a toy after all, and he carried back the green top and exchanged it for candy. It would be a waste of space to tell what he did with the candy, but it may be mentioned that he took the empty fancy wrapper back to the toy shop and offered to exchange it for a full one. This, however, was a little too much for the benevolent shopkeeper, who said, "We do everything we can to please our customers, but we can't give something for nothing."—New York Sun.

A Doctor's Lapse Lingua.

Fair Patient—What is the matter with me?

Popular M. D.—Let me see your tongue.

F. P.—Well?

P. M. D. (absent mindedly)—I think it needs a good, long rest.

F. P. (frigidly)—What do you mean, sir?

P. M. D.—Beg pardon. I mean you need a good, long rest.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

It Never Fails.

Charles—Wish I could find a remedy for dandruff.

Bryetoppe—Try mine.

Charles—What is it?

B.—Baldness.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

In continental Europe oysters are never served without a plate of bread and butter cut into in finger lengths, and piled on the plates crosswise like lady fingers.

An apple raised in Delta County, Col., this season weighed an even pound, and was fifteen inches in circumference. It was of the Alexandra variety.

The manager of a variety show in Berlin has succeeded in bringing some genuine Dahomey Amazons to the German capital, where they are now on exhibition.

A Japanese author has just finished a novel on which he has been steadily at work for forty-one years.

Six-millions of dead letters are annually torn and sold as old paper in Washington.

Woman's Column.

Miss Friday Schytte, a Danish violinist, has been awarded a first prize at the Conservatory contest in Paris.

A bureau to represent the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Fair is about to be opened in New York.

A bill has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature to pension school teachers who have taught in the public schools of the State for twenty-five years continuously.

The Trades' Assembly of Denver, Col., has voted to petition Congress to submit to the States an amendment to the Federal Constitution enfranchising women.

The United States Senate has passed a bill to provide for the purchase of a site and the erection of buildings for the Girls' Reform School of the District of Columbia.

Miss Lucy E. Swallow, of Hollis, is the first woman applicant for admission to the State Agricultural College of New Hampshire, under the new law.

Miss Nancy Cornelius, who graduated in 1888 from the Indian Industrial School at Carlisle, has received her diploma from the Hartford Training-School. She is the first Indian woman to prepare herself scientifically for nursing.

Mrs Zerelda G. Wallace has been invited by Chancellor Vincent to address the Chautauqua Assembly on Woman Suffrage. This is the first time that the advocates of equal rights for women have had occasion to be grateful to Bishop Vincent; but for once they will all heartily approve of his action.

The Board of Lady Managers for the World's Fair have decided not to have a separate exhibit of women's work, but to have a pavilion for a special exhibit of such work as does not come under the general classification, and of such matters as will call attention to woman's progress and development. For this woman's building, designs by women architects are asked for on or before March 23, 1891.

Miss Letitia Burlingame, the lady lawyer of Joliet, Ill., who has lately died, was highly esteemed. Her funeral was attended by the bench and bar of the city, and a large concourse of people. Miss Burlingame was a graduate of the law department of Ann Arbor, and a successful practitioner. She was a member of the executive committee of the Illinois E. S. A., and president of the Will County E. S. A. She was thirty-eight years of age.

The Wisconsin House of Representatives has passed by a large majority a bill permitting married women who are lawyers to act as court commissioners or assignees. Women are allowed to practice law in Wisconsin, but married women have until now been disqualified from holding these positions on account of coverture. The vote in favor of removing the disability stood 53 to 42. Miss Kate Pier, a lawyer of Milwaukee, worked for the passage of the bill.

Dr. Julia McAllister, who has recently been appointed on the staff of physicians at the New York State Insane Asylum, in accordance with the new law which requires that at least one woman physician shall be employed in all such institutions, passed a fine civil service examination. She is already doing good work. The other physicians approve of her, the women patients like her, and she causes everyone to feel that a woman physician supplies a long-felt want.

Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey of Winthrop, Me., herself a large taxpayer, made an argument at the recent Legislative hearing in Maine against the taxation of women without representation. Mrs. Bailey showed that she was not alone in making this request. In her own town of Winthrop, there were 170 women who paid taxes. Some time ago, Mrs. Bailey had a petition in favor of municipal suffrage circulated among these women, and 169 of them signed it. The other had already gone on record as in favor.

Within the past few days, the friends of woman suffrage have had legislative hearings in six States, Maine, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Massachusetts. In Maine, the hearing was before the Judiciary Committee. In the other States, it was before the Legislature in the hall of the House of Representatives. The Illinois Legislature not only gave the ladies the use of Representatives' Hall to address the House, but, after hearing them, invited them to speak the next day before the Senate in Committee of the Whole. This was the second time in twenty years that any person not a member had been allowed to speak from the floor of the Senate, and was the first time in either house that women had been given a hearing except before special committees in small committee rooms.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be affected you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore, 50c per bottle.

A girl at Norristown, Pa., attacked with toothache, left the theatre, and going to a neighboring dentist had the offending molar extracted, after which she returned to see the rest of the play.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

In the Pacific coast states, at least, the potato crop has not been a failure. In some parts of southern Oregon from 30,000 to 40,000 pounds of potatoes have been raised from a single acre.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

The first use of a locomotive in this country was in 1819.

Nickel is a modern metal. It was not in use nor known of till 1715.

How to catch a fish is a study. How to lie about it come natural.

The number 13 is not so unlucky if you put a mark like this before it: 8.

Church lotteries may be wrong, but the chorister gets his money by chants.

A child now-a-days looks upon the most humbe toy peddler as a man of rare gifts.

DR HAYNES' ARABIAN BALSAM
One of the Best Medicines Ever Invented for
PERFECT AND IMMEDIATE RELIEF
IN CASES OF PAIN AND INFLAMMATION.
This excellent compound is achieving the most signal triumphs, astonishing many who have occasion to use it by the certainty with which it relieves them of their sufferings, both externally and internally. It is safe and certain in its action.
For Burns, Poisoning, Erysipelas, Inflammation of the Eyes or Bowels, Earache, Deafness, Rheumatism, Pains in Side, Back or Shoulders, Piles, Sore Throat, Croup or Bronchitis.
Price 25c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
THE GREAT German Remedy.
TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.
For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, It will cure you.
Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.
The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS, $1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist in a cure. It never fails.
Operatives who are closely confined in shops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not disappoint.
Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, Boils and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.
General Debility needs a gentle tonic, then use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.
SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.
Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.
SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.
Sulphur Bitters.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY { Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in { Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK { "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

SALVATION OIL
TRADE MARK
KILLS ALL PAIN. 25c A BOTTLE
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25 c.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palatka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR W. L. PACKAR

Public Library 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1891. NO. 13.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.57, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.25, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.25, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.44, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M, 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10 02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5 52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.23 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A. M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.55, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4 20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.09, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *5.30, then 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.06, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, hen every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Wmut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons, B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS, Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave., opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
512	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,

—DEALER IN—

Drugs and Medicines,

And Druggist's Sundries,

WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE!

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines

—AT—

417 Main St., Old Post Office.

D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,

Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A.M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lawrence Mail opens at 7.45 A. M., 1 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lawrence, 8 A. M., 4.45 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Nashua, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors,

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

THE ROOM-MATES.

BY JOHN B. RAYMOND.

Henry Hadley and John Ashton had roomed together for six months, but had never exchanged a word. There was no quarrel between them; they were not deaf mutes; they were normal, every-day young men, and one, at least, longed ardently to hear the other's voice.

It came about in this way: Hadley was a reporter on the News-Herald, where he had filled a certain round of dry-as-dust assignments for years and was not much liked by his associates. He had a tendency to drudge; he wore faint "mutton chop" side-whiskers and turned up the bottoms of his trousers when it rained. But he was really a capital fellow, and in spite of his prosiac exterior he had a little romance of his own. He was engaged to be married, and Alice Tyler was a girl of whom any one might well be proud. She was the niece of a friend of Hadley's, and when he proposed to her, after a long, despairing courtship, he was astounded to find himself accepted. It seemed incredible that such a perfect creature could ever be his own, but after he had somewhat recovered from his transports his practical nature asserted itself, and he began to retrench his expenses in preparation for the event. Thus it was that he eventually answered an advertisement for a room-mate.

It also happened that the other occupant of the room was also a reporter, although a very different stamp of man. John Ashton was a meteoric genius. He was a waif from dead and gone Bohemia. His forte was the strange, the odd, and the grotesque, and his startling and unlooked-for strokes had gone far toward making the Chronicle famous. In his field he was invaluable, and he had long since killed his chance of promotion by meriting it too much.

The News-Herald, as everybody knows, is published in the afternoon, while the Chronicle is a morning daily, and Hadley, who had made his arrangements through the landlady, was disappointed when he awoke early on the first day in his new quarters to find that his room-mate, who had let himself in sometime during the night, was then asleep in the little alcove opposite his own. He had promised himself much pleasure from the society of a man whose work he so much admired, but the pale, handsome face and slight form, relaxed in the languor of deep sleep, prompted him to dress as quietly as possible and slip out without awakening the other.

It turned out, to Hadley's infinite chagrin, and probably to Ashton's secret amusement, that this was no mere accident. The former went to work early in the morning and his duties ended when the big presses threw out the first copy of the last edition, at about dusk. Ashton, on the other hand, arose a little after noon, lounged about until dark, and left his desk any time between one and three o'clock at night. Consequently, when he reached the room he invariably found Hadley asleep, and when he awoke he was the only occupant. And vice versa. Several things conspired to maintain this fantastic relationship. Their offices were remote from one another. Their work was essentially different. It did not make common resorts or mutual friends. So it easily chanced that by day they never met.

Such was the curious train of events which had carried them through one summer and into an autumn that brought to Hadley many a miserable heartache. A shadow had somehow fallen across the honest fellow's love affair. It was hardly to be defined in terms; that was the worst of it—it was so intangible; so difficult to say just what was wrong. There was a change in Alice. She was silent; she was distraught; her tears came and went like April rain. Yet she protested that nothing was amiss, and met his well-meant questioning with an impatience that surprised and frightened him; for he did not know very much of women, and her asseverations sounded to his ears like confessions in disguise. Above all, he felt a cumbersome unfitness to cope with the situation. It was like a plow-boy essaying to probe a sensitive wound, and at length he feared to speak lest he should precipitate some unknown crisis.

Thus it was, when at dusk one autumn day he walked from the office to Alice's home to pay one of his customary visits. It was an indolent evening, suave with the spell of Indian summer, and through the dreamy haze that wrapped the city even the hum of traffic sounded faint and harmonious, like a choir of giant insects at the approach of night. He fell into a vague reverie as he walked on, and when he stopped mechanically before the house he did not ring at once, but sat down upon a little bench just within the gate and masked by lilac-bushes.

The narcotic calm of the scene and hour lulled him into serenity, and night fell unmasked, until, at length, a familiar voice broke in upon his meditations. He recognized it on the instant as Alice's, but it was mingled with deeper tones that were unfamiliar to him. Although no words had yet detached themselves from the tangle of sound, it seemed to him that one voice was urging and one remonstrating. Presently they came nearer and stopped by the gate.

"Oh, I cannot! I cannot!" some one cried. It was Alice's voice, and although there was not a jot of the spy in Hadley's nature, something in the intonation held him spell-bound.

"But why not?" said the other voice, a melodious baritone—low, persuasive, thrilling. "But why not? It was a conditional promise; the conditions have changed and that is——"

"No; it is not that," broke in the girl. She was speaking quietly, but a pathetic little quaver ran through her words. "Oh, can't you understand! He is honest and true, and I could not break his heart!"

A moisture sprang on Hadley's forehead and very slowly he opened and closed his hands. There was a pause, and then the pleasant baritone again: "Are there no rivers in Damascus? What of my heart, Alice?" Hadley heard no more. Something seemed to suffocate him. His breath went no further than his throat, and the dusky web of lilac-branches danced in black and shapeless phantasmagoria before his eyes. He was dimly conscious of a patter of feet, a wave of perfume, and gush of yellow light as the hall door clashed open and shut, and then he knew he was alone again.

Alone! A hideous sense of loss, and bitter, hopeless desolation, such as he had never felt and never dreamed of, overwhelmed him. He did not think; he did not dare to think. He staggered to his feet, opened the gate and passed out.

To run away, to elude this thing as if it was some sentiment, palpable pursuer, was the first impulse that possessed him, and he hurried on, blindly, stumblingly, he cared not where. How far he walked thus he had no means of knowing, but when he stopped it was on a thronging thoroughfare, before the window of a great emporium, aquiver with electric lights. He drew a long breath and pulled himself together. An illuminated dial that punctured the gloom of the upper air marked after midnight, and a faintness began to assail him, a deadly reaction that turned his knees to water. The careless, alien crowd jarred on him, the barbaric splendor of the windows smote upon his brain; he wanted to be alone, and presently he saw the open doorway of a cafe and entered.

A few people sat at tables here and there, and on one hand were the curtained doorways of a row of little rooms or stalls. He walked instinctively toward one of these and drew the drapery aside. A man within, who musing, apparently over a bottle and a half-eaten meal, turned at the sound, and the room-mates looked one another in the face.

Ashton was the first to recover himself, and sprang up with outstretched hand. "Why, my dear fellow!" he exclaimed, "Am I indebted to insomnia for this pleasure?"

Hadley took his hand absently, but did not at once reply. What was there about that voice, with its plausible vibrating timbre, that thrilled him so?

"I have been a little troubled," he said, hesitatingly, "and tried to—walk it off."

"Ha! And came in here, I daresay, to drown it in a drink, as the proverb goes. My word for it, trouble is the thirstiest thing on earth. I tried to drown a small sorrow in drink once, and when I was under the table there was the sorrow, sober a judge. But I'll tell you something, Hadley, it won't stand feeding. The proper thing to drown sorrow in is mutton chops and fried potatoes. Suppose we put it to the touch. Waiter!"

"Hold!" said Hadley, who burned to stop this badinage, "I am not hungry—not in the least. Let me sit down a moment and think."

He sank into a vacant chair and gazed at the other with a sudden, haggard intentness. A thought had just occurred to his distracted mind. Why was not this man, so bright, so versatile, so self-contained, so en rapport with the great world and its usages—why was not he the very man of all men to give him counsel in this predicament?

"Ashton," he said, "I am in distress. Will you give me your advice?"

Ashton smiled grimly.

"You have come to a good shop for advice," he said. "My whole life is more or less a warning. However, if I can be of any service to you, blaze away. Out with it, my boy!"

But Hadley did not find the story so easy to tell.

"I am engaged to be married," he said, at length.

"Ho! ho!" cried Ashton. "I foresee a stern parent with a prejudice against literary characters." Then something in the other's face checked him and he dropped his tone of levity. "Forgive me," he said gently. "What is this trouble of yours? You need not mention the lady's name of course. Make it a hypothetical case."

"Oh no!" said Hadley, "I can confide in you. She is the best girl in the world. Her name is Alice Tyler."

Ashton was leaning over the table toying with a glass, but at the words he rose involuntarily and fixed his eyes upon the other with strange and challenging regard. Hadley paused for a moment with a dim and troubled conscience that he had touched some hidden spring; but only for a moment, and then, slowly and incoherently he told his story. Ashton sank back as he proceeded and heard him in silence to the end.

"Do you know this man?" he asked, when it was done.

"No," replied Hadley, gloomily. "What does it matter who he is?"

Ashton did not reply; he seemed lost in thought.

"Hadley," he demanded, suddenly, "do you intend to marry this girl? But pshaw!" he continued, "you are too honest to be a trifler. And this fellow—why, a thousand to one he is amusing himself looking for a new sensation, and has no more use for a wife than he would have for a bishopric. You must have saved some money, have you not?"

"Yes," said Hadley, rather surprised: "I have a few thousand dollars in bank."

"Well," sighed Ashton, this is a world of fact, but we can't all grasp it. Some men are made for homes and some are not. I might have ten times your income, and the last chapter would find me a vagabond. I tell you Hadley, you have no real rival. This is a shadow that has already passed, and shadows leave no trace."

"What shall I do?" he asked.

"Do! Why, do nothing. For heaven's sake don't distress the girl with questions. I tell you this belongs to the past. Forget it. Bury it. Act as if nothing had happened, and all will come right in the end. If I were you I would make it convenient to be away for a few days. She will miss you, depend upon it, and you can begin where you left off. Can't you arrange to go away?"

"I think so," said Hadley. "When had I best go?"

"Go to-morrow. You will come back a new man and find her eager to welcome you."

Hadley reflected a moment.

"I will take your advice," he said.

When he returned home, at the close of the week, from a brief visit to a neighboring city, he mounted the stairs with an eager step, but paused, perplexed, in the open door. The room was dismantled of much of its furniture, and looked bare and unfamiliar. He entered, almost timidly, and read this legend, chalked upon the looking-glass:

KEEP WHAT TRAPS OF MINE YOU FIND. HAVE MIGRATED. GONE WEST GOOD BYE. GOOD LUCK TO YOU. J. A.

"It was an extraordinary thing," he used to say in after times, when he and Alice were happily mated. "Here was a brilliant, successful man with the world before him, one might say, who pulls up stakes all of a sudden, goes out West goes to the dogs, and inside a year winds up in a dance-hall fight with a bullet through his head. No, I can't say why he did it; he never mentioned it to me, although we roomed together over six months."—Frank Leslie's.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will care all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

Stop.

You cannot travel far on a railroad without seeing a board, with the word "Stop!" conspicuously displayed on it. The word of command is so placed that the engineer cannot help seeing it. But he does not always heed it; and when he does not, a fearful accident may be the result.

Engineers are not the only persons for whom there should be such a signal. The young man of the period needs to have the word "stop" where he can see it very often. He is on a fast train and little does he think of danger ahead. But it is there: and alas! how often is there a wreck of character and of prospects that were the prophecy of a long and happy career. There is a time to let on a full head of steam; but there is also a time when a full stop is the only way to escape destruction.

You are away from home, are you? and you find the evenings lonesome? A well-dressed young man, whose place of business is next to yours, drops in; and, by his invitation, you go out with him for a walk. He says he will show you the sights, and he has been in the city a good while. You go with your new-made friend from time to time, and soon you learn, or think you have learned, that a glass of wine is one of the nicest drinks in the world. Claret won't hurt you. You have read in the newspapers that a celebrated minister of the gospel said: "If you want a glass of claret with your beefsteak, and can afford it, you're a fool if you don't have it." So you have it. Now, my young friend, you have on all the steam you can carry. There is danger ahead. "Stop!"

What is that you are reading? The covers look a little yellow; the print is fine, and the paper is poor. Ah, yes! it is a dime novel. Did you ever see birds flitting about a threshing machine? I used to see them quite often when I was a boy. Wherever wheat had been scattered, there you would find a bird taking a square meal, with the ground for a table, and a dear little bill for knife, fork, spoon, and all the rest of the dishes. But I never saw a bird trying to fill its crop with chaff.

Dime novels are worse than chaff. They fill the head very fast, but they make very poor filling. To the reader of such miserable trash, I would say "Stop!" Then do as the engineer sometimes does when he has stopped his train. Back up and switch off onto another track.

The world is full of good reading. Why feed your mind on chaff, when you can do so much better? Did you say you could not afford books? Let us see. I notice that you smoke. "Oh, yes: but only a couple of cigars a day." Indeed! Well, supposing your two cigars to be five-centers, the blue smoke that you blow into the air in one year costs you $36.50—a sum which would pay for all the best magazines in the country for a year.

A full-toned organ has I don't know how many stops. A high-toned young man needs almost as many stops as an organ. Mind your stops, and your life will be full of music. Joy, health and prosperity will be yours.

But if you do not stop your wine, and tobacco, and worthless reading, depend upon it, you will run off the track some day. So come at once to a full "stop."

Marvellous Endurance.

The vast amount of labor performed by the heart in keeping all portions of the body supplied with blood is not generally known. It beats 100,000 times, and forces the blood at the rate of 168 miles a day, which is 3,000,000,000 times and 5,150,880 miles in a life time. No wonder there are so many heart failures. The first symptoms are shortness of breath when exercising, pain in the side or stomach, fluttering, choking in throat, oppression, then follow weak, hungry or smothering spells, swollen ankles, etc. Dr. Franklin Miles' New Heart Cure is the only reliable remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

Literary Notices.

The March WIDE AWAKE bristles with good things, from Margaret Sidney's inimitable Pepper Serial to Miss Poulsson's Scandinavian Witch Story; from John D. Long's article on Our Government, with its page portrait of Hamilton to Mrs. William Claflin's Letter on the behavior of young people to their elders and superiors; from Oscar Fay Adams' illustrated visit to Winchester College to hear the boys sing the famous old Commencement song, Dulce Domum, to Mrs. Ormsbee's graphic account of How Grandmother's Spoons Were Made; from articles by the learned men of the Smithsonian Institution to the four sparkling pages of original anecdote known as the Men and Things pages; these and many more stories, poems, pictures and articles give a wide range of first class reading. WIDE AWAKE is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

The heirs of J. R. Andrews of Shenango, Pa., two weeks ago discovered papers which proved that he had $8,000 of bonds in the Treasury Department at Washington, and a few days later they found $17,000 in Government bonds in a tin box on a beam in the barn. They are in search of further treasure.

Boils—Blood Disorder.

I had been troubled with boils which came out on my ears, neck, and in fact all over my body. I tried everything and could get no relief until I was advised by my neighbor, T. N. Arnold, to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. After using it less than three months, I can say I am fully cured.—Sam'l Grady, No. 20 Caledonian ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Munroe's Clothing House.

GREAT MARK DOWN

—IN—

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Etc.

FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

We shall turn these goods into cash REGARDLESS of COST.
Please come and see us.
Our prices always the lowest.

C. M. MUNROE, 423 Main Street, Woburn.

Life of General Sherman.

No literary announcement of the year is of greater interest to the general public than that of a comprehensive Life of General Sherman, which is about to be published and sold through agents by the noted house of Hubbard Brothers of Philadelphia. Admirable biographies of Grant and Sheridan, complete to the time of their death, are already familiar to the public, but a life of the third great commander, to finish the series, has been lacking. The various biographies of Sherman hitherto published have necessarily been incomplete; and even his own memoirs, written in 1875, said almost nothing of his intensely interesting early life, and not a word, of course, of the more than twenty years of social activity and fraternity with old comrades since the war.

The work which is now to be issued will splendidly supply the widely felt demand for a history of the great strategic commander. It is being written by General O. O. Howard, a man of fine literary attainments, who knew him better than any other of his comrades now living, and ranked next but one to him in the army, and by Willis Fletcher Johnson, whose ability as a historian is familiar to the reading public of America through his former unusually popular works, which have had millions of readers, and the sales of their vast editions enriched an army of book agents. That this history of Sherman, the last of the great Generals will surpass all others in popularity is not to be doubted.

The story of this great General's career is of a marvellous march from the mountains of time to the sea of eternity. Of the three great war heroes, Sherman was by far the most interesting personality. He was the best known to the public and the best loved for his genial disposition and warm sympathy with the popular heart. He has joined his illustrious compeers in the eternal bivouac of the dead. His is a life to study—to emulate—and is a profound inspiration. The forthcoming volume will tell the whole story of his marvellous career, and from the authorship engaged upon it, we are assured it will be told in a way that will enthral the attention and interest of every reader from first to last. It is a book every American will want and one every American youth should read. It will doubtless be the best life of the great chieftain published, and we predict for it wonderful popularity.

Pimples on the

Face cured. Sulphur Bitters will cure the worst case of skin disease; from a common pimple on the face to that awful disease scrofula, it is the best medicine to use in all cases of such stubborn and deep-seated disease. Do not delay; use Sulphur Bitters and drive the humor from your blood.

A Belfast (Me.) paper tells a story at the expense of a merchant of that city who was so sharp in trade that drummers were almost afraid to tackle him. One of the tribe, however, entered his store one day while the merchant and his clerk were busy down cellar. Espying an open box of cigars the drummer filled his pockets with them, and when the merchant and his assistant reappeared treated them liberally with the tempting bait. The maneuvre resulted in securing a large order, and the drummer generously bestowed the remainder of the cigars upon his innocent patrons before he left.

Salvation Oil quickly finds its way to the seat of the disease, allays the inflammation, and, by removing the cause, effects a permanent cure. 25 cts.

Mr. Ruskin thinks there is a great future for American art—but he hardly realizes the enormous demand over here for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Mexican High Schools and Colleges.

There are within the republic of Mexico, according to the most reliable statistics, sixteen schools for the high branches of female education, sixteen preparatory schools for professional careers, nineteen law colleges, twenty-six seminaries of ecclesiastical studies, nine colleges of medicine, eight for engineering, one for practical mining engineers, and thirty-one public institutes or lyceums where, besides preparatory studies, the careers of lawyer, physician, apothecary, merchant or engineer may be acquired. Besides there are four colleges of fine arts, two colleges of agriculture, one special for the blind, one for the deaf-mutes, three of mechanical arts and trades for men and women, three conservatories of music, one military college, two nautical academies and several normal schools and colleges where the profession of teacher is taught to men and women.

Alcohol a Poison.

We put a drop of alcohol into a man's eye. It poisons it. We try it upon the lining of a living stomach. Again it poisons it. We study, after death, the stomach of drinking men, and find alcohol produces in regular stages intense congestion, morbid secretions, deeper hurt, destruction of parts, utter ruin. We study its influence upon the health and strength of sailors and soldiers, and find it helps to freeze them in arctic regions and exhaust them in the tropics. We watch two regiments on a long march in India, one with and the other with out grog, and are driven to the conclusion that even moderate quantities of alcohol weaken the muscles and break the endurance. We visit

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

A HITCH IN THE PROCEEDINGS.

Having been called upon to ante up their share of the expense for constructing the Metropolitan Sewerage System, or in anticipation of being so called upon, the towns of Winchester, Stoneham and Everett have entered a protest against the same and if pushed they propose to try the constitutionality of the act creating it. In other words, these towns will refuse to contribute a single penny towards this great undertaking unless they are compelled to do so by the highest judicial tribunal in the Commonwealth.

It is generally thought that the towns named above are not the only ones that will refuse to pay their proportional part of the several millions of dollars it is estimated the work will cost.

At the sea end, or outlet, of the great drain many thousands of dollars have already been expended, but if Winchester et als. persist in their determination to test the constitutionality of the law on the subject operations will have to be suspended all along the line and the completion of the system will be set back a considerable length of time.

ISN'T IT?

Ex-Speaker Reed may or may not be affected by the way in which the vote of thanks for impartial presiding was passed, but a strictly party vote is never a compliment to any man—Boston Courier.

A unanimous vote of thanks from his party and a unanimous negative from the other side is the highest compliment a Speaker can have given him. A vote of thanks, on laying down the gavel by the whole House, amounts to nothing. It is a formal, meaningless ceremony. But when a Speaker has carried himself in such a way as to incur the enmity of his party opponents and to make his party associates stick closer than a brother, then the vote of thanks is worth something.

NEEDS WEEDING OUT.

The Boston Herald's praise of some of the members of the Massachusetts Republican Club raises the suspicion in our mind that the Club needs weeding. We had observed, without the Herald's aid, indications of the existence of Mugwumpry in the Club which, coupled with the Herald's warm commendation of a few of the members, excites the JOURNAL'S fears and leads it to suggest the expediency of an early overhauling of the list and freeing the association from even the faintest suspicion of everything not pure Republicanism.

☞ THE HOME JOURNAL is one of the oldest and best of the Boston literary weeklies, and also one of the most liberally sustained by the public. It is a neat, clean, bright 8-page paper, fresh and breezy in all of its departments, ably edited, carefully printed, and "made up" with good taste. Success to it.

☞ The Danvers Mirror, one of the brightest papers published in Massachusetts, was enlarged last week to an 8-column size. We like to see and make mention of such evidence of prosperity as that shown by our sprightly and esteemed contemporary.

☞ The Supreme Court have fixed on March 26 as the date for a hearing on the constitutionality of the Metropolitan Sewage act.

☞ We return our sincere thanks to Senator E. F. Wyer of this District for a copy of the "Manual for the General Court, 1891."

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

C. E. J.—Wanted.
Box 1260—Wanted.
120 Main St.—Hens.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
J. E. Skinner—Citation.
J. W. Johnson—Citation.

— See "Hens for sale."

— The snow is about all gone.

— Read "Wanted" by P. O. Box 1260.

— The Boston Branch have a change in their card this week.

— Mr. Cyrus Cummings has been quite sick with pneumonia.

— There are in this city about 17 graduates of Wellesley College.

— The W. H. S. B. engaged in a military drill yesterday forenoon.

— Everything is lovely at the factory of the Russell Counter Company.

— Fine fruits and vegetables are a specialty at Sylvester's Cash Market.

— The new U. S. mail delivery cart is a daisy. It was built at Amesbury.

— La Grippe continues to hold quite a good many of our people in its cruel clutches.

— A powerful 36-hour rain storm cleared off very early on Tuesday morning.

— The room of the City Assessors in Municipal Building is to be refurnished.

— Dr. March addressed a missionary meeting at Fitchburg last Wednesday afternoon.

— The snow went off very rapidly last Saturday under the ardent rays of a March sun.

— Mr. Lester Partridge of Dedham, with his family, visited his parents here last week.

— Charlie Wood goes West this week to seek his fortune and establish a home—perhaps.

— Read the card "Wanted" in our advertising columns signed by C. E. G. of Winchester.

— "The Order of the Mystic Seven" is the last "investment" humbug that has struck Woburn.

— A private musicale was enjoyed at the residence of Mr. J. H. Nason on Wednesday evening.

— We are unable to determine whether "In Harbor" was sent for publication in the JOURNAL or not.

— Do not forget that Miss Fosdick's Banjo Concert will commence at 7.45 P. M. Doors open at 7.15 P. M.

— We have experienced considerable real balmy spring weather this week and can stand a good deal more of it.

— Cashier George A. Day of the First National Bank is feeling a good deal better than he did when he was sick.

— Mr. D. W. Kelley, the prosperous Mechanic Building druggist, spends a portion of the time at his Malden store.

— C. M. Munroe is selling 300 fine fancy shirts that cost $1.50 each for 50 cents each. Go quick if you want same.

— In accordance with the advice of physicians Thomas W. Kenney started for Florida last Monday for a brief sojourn.

— Mr. C. M. Munroe's display of mid-winter goods at spring prices is unsurpassed in quantity, quality and variety.

— It is expected that the Great Chief of I. O. R. M. for the State of Massachusetts will visit Shawsheen Tribe this evening.

— The fire alarm at 8 p. m. Wednesday was for a little blaze in the fruit store in Allen's Block. No damage done.

— Capt. W. E. Sherman of the ship Lucelle which in the last 13 months has sailed round the world is now at his home in this city.

— Mrs. Mary Shaw and Mr. John W. Shaw of this city were recent arrivals at the Hotel del Coronado, Coronado Beach, California.

— Mechanics Hall will be dedicated by its owners, the O. U. A. M., next Wednesday evening Mar. 18. An interesting season is anticipated.

— Ex-Sachem O. J. Hart of this city and suite raised the Chiefs of Wamscott Tribe, I. O. R. M., of Stoneham a week ago last night.

— Mr. William Ellard, a prominent citizen of Cummingsville, was reported as having baen taken suddenly and dangerously ill on the fifth.

— "Arsenical poisoning" through the medium of wall-papers, upholstering, draperies, etc., is on deck again. Readers of the JOURNAL, it is all bosh.

— A man by the name of John Cullen was struck by the 9.15 P. M. train last Wednesday evening near Conn street, and quite severely injured.

— The W. H. S. Graduates Association will hold a meeting this evening to elect officers for the year. It is hoped that every member will be present.

— It is given out that George Freddie Williams and John E. Russell will make speeches before the Woburn Tariff Reform Club on the evening of March 25.

— All reserved tickets to Miss Fosdicks concert are sold, and those who have not secured their seats should do so at once. There are only 25-cent tickets now left.

— There has been a tremendous rush for tickets to Miss Fosdick's Guitar and Banjo concert to be given next Monday evening at Lyceum Hall. It is going to be a fine one.

— The Lawrence mails that have come here at 7.45 A. M. and 1 P. M. and have left here at 8 A. M. and 4.45 P. M., also the 4 P. M. Nashua mail, have been discontinued.

— Fitz & Stanley of the Boston are noted, among other things, for the extent and variety of their canned goods. They have a large stock on hand and are selling cheap.

— Mr. Thomas D. Hevey was elected Clerk and Almoner of the Overseers of the Poor last Monday evening. He takes the place so long and efficiently occupied by Mr. John Ferguson.

— A meeting of the Co-operative Bank was held last evening to sell money and nominate officers. There was about $3,000 for sale. It is presumed the old Board of officers were nominated.

— Miss Emma Fosdick promises a delightful programme at her banjo, mandolin and guitar concert next week Thursday evening, Mar. 19. — City Press. She will carry it out in the best of shape too.

— Mr. Charles H. Gooding, proprietor of the City Dining Rooms on Main street, went to Portland, Me., last week to visit his father who suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which he died on Sunday evening.

— Postmaster Wyman has discontinued the street letter box on Maine street close by the postoffice door and established a new one on the corner of Maine street and Montvale Ave. near Bancroft's shoe store.

— We are indebted to Major Henry C. Hall for a copy of the "First Maine Bugle," a publication issued quarterly by J. P. Cilley, Treasurer of the First Maine Cavelry Association, of which Major Hall is a member.

— A large number of tannery employees are still out of work with no very flattering prospect for a change in the programme. Such forced idleness comes hard on poor people especially at this season of the year.

— The date of hearing in the case of Boston against the Dows of this city has not yet been fixed but will take place soon. In the meantime business at the Dow factory approaches nearer and nearer a final shut-down.

— A despatch received on Monday forenoon informed Mr. A. Willoughby that his oldest brother, Dr. Willoughby, died at his home at Hollis, N. H., on Sunday. In response to the telegram he went to Hollis on Tuesday morning.

— A high grade concert is to be given at Ashley Hall, Montvale, this evening, under the management of the Principal of Ashley Hall School, Miss Whittemore. The artists are to be Wulf Fries, F. H. Lewis and Miss Bullard.

— A sacred concert wil be given in Lyceum Hall next Sunday evening under the auspices of the Knights of Labor for the benefit of the benefit of the leather workers in Lynn who are experiencing the bitterness of a mid-winter lockout.

— Miss Meagher and Miss Callahan of Class '90, and Miss Harkins and Miss McGovern of Class '91, St. Johns Parochial School, attended the concert given by the pupils of the Parochial schools of Lowell, Lawrence and Boston, in Boston last Tuesday.

— Last Saturday morning Miss Hannah Coughlin had two fingers on her right hand nearly cut off by a heel-cutting machine at the factory of Wilbur E. Cummings. Dr. Murphy dressed the wounds and took measures to save the fingers if possible.

— Next Tuesday will be St. Patrick's Day. There has as yet been no movement made here to celebrate the same and probably it will be suffered to go by without the customary parade. Some of the Saint's desciples will give entertainments so report says.

— Mr. Joseph F. Winn, the milkman whom good housewives esteem, took pains to drop into the JOURNAL office last Tuesday morning to make the announcement (for private use solely) that the "going" was about as mean and rough as he ever saw it in March.

— The Committee on Highways, Supt. Jones, representatives of the Fire Department, Telephone and Electric Light Companies examined the route last Tuesday over which the Postal Telegraph Company want to set their poles. Hearing adjourned one week.

— The Olympian Club will give their 6th grand costume carnival in Mechanics Building, Huntington Ave., Boston, on next Wednesday evening, March 18. Tickets 75: children 50. One hundred valuable prizes will be distributed. It will be a big thing on skates.

— Edward Shandley, who has been employed in the Highway Department of this city for several years, had one of his legs broken by an accident last week Thursday. He was taken to the Mass. Gen. Hospital. It was not a great while ago that he suffered from a similar accident.

— Mr. Jacob Brown who was so terribly injured by a fall from the roof of his residence on Canal street last fall is making very satisfactory progress towards complete restoration to health. He goes about the house on his crutches, has resumed his place at the table, and is improving every day.

— Mrs. Susan K. Ellis and her daughter Josie returned from their visit to Washington, D. C., a few days ago. They tarried in New York a short time to visit a son and brother and also "did" places of note in the vicinity of the Nation's Capital. Their trip and visit were very pleasant indeed.

— Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott made some successful rum raids last Monday. One of the places struck hard was that of P. H. Burke who will probably have to suffer for violating the law. "Kitchen bars" are plenty in this city but the officers are doing good work in suppressing them.

— The many friends of E. R. Webster were glad to see him again the past week after several years of absence. He was for a number of years associated in a business way with the Bond Bros. of North Woburn, but has been of late residing in Newark, N. J. He is now on a month's vacation in the East.

— For Rent. Rooms furnished or unfurnished, single or en suite, with or without steam heat, at the Windsor House, corner of Main and Union streets. A first class Restaurant connected with the house. Meals served at all hours. Apply to J. I. Munroe or Gordon's Restaurant, No. 461 Main street Woburn.

— Ah Ba Sundre, a converted high cast heathen from India, in Hindoo costume, will speak here on work in India. He will be accompanied by Major Brewer of the Mass.. R. I. and Conn. Division of the Salvation Army. Meeting to be in Dodge's Block, corner of Main street and Montvale Avenue, Saturday night, March 14.

— The First Congregational Sunday School provided a supper and entertainment for 150 sailors of all nationalities at the Seamen's Bethel in Boston last Tuesday evening. Some 25 Woburn people connected with the Congregational SS. and church went to the supper and Dr. March delivered an address to the sailors. All said it was a pleasant time.

— Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Goddard and Mrs. Goddard's sisters Miss B. and Miss A. Frost, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Aldrich attended the grand reception given a fortnight ago by Mrs. Doctor Adeline Church at the elegant Church residence in Rangeley, Winchester, at which there were some 200 of the most distinguished society people of Winchester, Woburn, Boston and elsewhere.

— At half past 2 last Sunday afternoon a passenger car of the B. & M. standing on the track with others near the old depot was totally consumed by fire and three more badly scorched. The loss was estimated at from $4000 to $5000. The firemen were promptly at the scene and by good work prevented a more extensive fire. The origin of the fire was unknown although it is generally thought it was occasioned by a gas explosion of the heater.

— Mr. Dixon's lecture last Monday evening under the auspices of the Y. P. M. S. of the First Parish church in this city, considering the weather and roads, drew a good house and proved quite satisfactory to the Society from a pecuniary point of view. President Cotton, through whose instrumentality chiefly this community was privileged to hear the distinguished lecturer, expressed himself to a JOURNAL representative as being happily disappointed in the attendance considering everything. Of course "Fools" was handled "without gloves" by Mr. Dixon whose witty sayings kept the house in the best of humor all the evening. He is one of the most popular and generally sought-for men now occupying the lecturer's stage.

— The last meeting but one before the annual meeting of the Board of Trade will take place next Tuesday evening, at which matters of interest to the city will be discussed. There is a good prospect for a large accession of members this spring which will have a tendency to infuse new blood into the veins of the organization. The interest in the prosperity of the Board was never stronger than at the present. It is going to increase in numbers and wax strong.

— The fame of Prof. Churchill of Andover as a reader attracted an immense audience at Music Hall last Friday night when he read under the auspices of the Wellesley College Alumnæ of Woburn. Some 40 or 50 tickets in excess of the seating capacity of the hall were sold, but they all "got there" and had the privilege of enjoying one of the best literary entertainments ever given in this city. Prof. Churchill, as a reader, is without a peer in New England.

— The St. Charles Minstrel troup will give their regular St. Patrick's Day show at Lyceum Hall on the evening of the 17th, which we feel sure will draw a big crowd. Their reputation for good singing, instrumental manipulation, and acting, is such as to preclude the necessity of any commendatory words from our pencil, nor need we ask people to attend their concert next Tuesday evening for everybody and the women folks will be sure to go without any urging by the JOURNAL.

— Mr. William S. York and family returned from their California trip last Saturday. They were gone 32 days, in which time they visited New Orleans and other Southern cities, and then proceeded on by the Southern Pacific Railroad to California where they tarried some weeks and enjoyed everything they saw very much. Nearly all the winter resorts on the Pacific coast and many places of interest were visited by Mr. York and his family, who express themselves as highly delighted with the whole trip.

— If correctly reported the School Board at their last meeting administered a richly deserved rebuke to Class '91 of the W. H. S. and by implication to their parents and guardians for having presumed to petition for a change in the graduating programme this year. Discussing the matter they "deprecated the presenting of petitions to the Board by the scholars on matters pertaining to conducting the schools and did not wish it understood that it was the petitions of members of the Class that influenced their decision" in this case. "The right of petition" does not apply to the School Committee of this city it would seem.

— The medal received by Supt. Richardson which was awarded by the French Government to the Woburn public schools for their exhibit at the Paris Exposition is briefly described thus: On the face of the medal is a classic female figure crowning a man beside an anvil, a symbol of industry. Below is a miniature representation of the exposition buildings, including the Eiffel tower in the foreground. Above this is the number, "1889," the year of the exposition. On the upper are the medal is inscribed, "Exposition Universelle." On the reverse side of the medal is also a classic female figure represented as blowing a trumpet. At the right is a queenly bust crowned with laurel. At the left is the inscription "Republique Francaise" and at the bottom "Ecoles Publiques De Woburn."

— Mrs. Ada Cary-Sturgis of Durham, Maine, whose sweet songs so greatly enhanced the pleasures of the annual meeting of the Pine Tree Club last week, has been visiting friends here since that meeting. She is a niece of Capt. and Mrs. Merrill W. Strout and a cousin of Mr. Charles M. Strout of Montvale Ave., who with the Carys all had their homes in Old Durham years ago, where Miss Lydia J. Valentine of Court street, this city, grounded the younger members of the families in the rudiments of an education. Mrs. Sturgis is a sister of Annie Louise Cary (now Raymond), the celebrated prima donna, and it used to be said down at Portland, where both were well known, that Ada was fully as sweet a singer as her gifted sister. We hear that she is enjoying her visit here very much.

— The Woman's Club of this city held their annual meeting on March 6, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year. President, Mrs. Frances K. Harlow; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Caroline G. Johnson, Mrs. Frances W. Hill; Recording Secretary, Miss Grace M. Bryant; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. S. Adelaide Porter; Treasurer, Miss Maria E. Carter; Auditor, Mrs. Jennie K. Adams; Directors, Mrs. Anna L. C. Remick, Mrs. Elmira S. Ramsdell, Mrs. E. Maria Beau, Mrs. Evelyn M. Trull, Mrs. Melina Skinner, Mrs. Maria B. Bickford, Mrs. Cynthia B. Goddard, Mrs. Isabella Ward. The next meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club will be held in Music Hall, the Dow Block, on Friday, March 20, at 3 P. M. Mrs. Martha Sewall Curtis will address the club on the subject of "Woman in the Nineteenth Century." Miss Grace Bryant, the Recording Secretary for the last year, has sent us the Club's annual report which was received too late for publication this week. It will appear in our next issue.

— John W. Johnson, Esq., Counsel for the six certificate-holders in the Middlesex Investment Company who want their $200 each now; M. T. Allen, Esq., Counsel for the 200 or 300 who want a prorata division of the funds in the Treasurer's hands; Col. Henry B. Hayes, who acted for the latter and procured the injunction to restrain the officers from paying out the funds until the matter is decided; President B. A. Tripp of the Company; and many interested parties, went to Manchester, N. H., last Saturday, to take part, for and against, in the matter of the application for a receiver to wind up the affairs of the Company which was tried before Judge Lewis W. Clark in that city that day. Col. Hayes, President B. A. Tripp, President Frank Waldron of the Woburn Common Council, and some others testified; the lawyers submitted arguments; and finally Judge Clarke took the case under advisement. In all the talk that this case has given rise to not a word, hint or inuendo has been heard against the integrity of the officers of the Company. No one has the least question of their confidence in the fairness of their scheme or the least doubt or suspicion that it was not a strictly legitimate business. And in the controvesy that has arisen over the funds no one doubts but that President Tripp and his official associates want to do just the right thing.

She Was "Particular" Like.

"John, go up to Mrs. Swandown's and get that barrel of flour we sent up yesterday. Head it up and drive around the block and when you go back open the other head and she'll think it another barrel and 'twill suit. Thus said a groceryman who had a very particular customer. But these particular kind, though they may be deceived in the matter of flour, are never cheated in their soap, for they buy Brussels, the economical asop. The name is on the goods.

A Music Party.

It was given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Strout last Tuesday evening at their inviting home on Montvale Ave. Its object was to afford some of the many friends of the family in this city and Boston the privilege of listening to the charming vocal efforts of a relative of theirs from Durham, Me., Mrs. Ada Cary-Raymond, Annie Louise Cary's musical sister, and enjoy her society for an hour or two. She is a very sweet singer and the Strout family wanted our musical people to hear her. Hence the very pleasant party above mentioned.

There were nearly 70 representatives of the cream of Woburn society present, among whom were seen several quite notable local vocalists, and some pianists of wide and honorable repute, and nearly the whole company were lovers of and people more or less interested in the graceful art. The brilliantly illuminated and genially warmed parlors and drawing-rooms of the Strout residence were thronged by a gay party whose enjoyment of the occasion was supreme.

The solos were given by Ada Cary-Sturgis, and so finely rendered were they that the company were captivated. She sang several pieces delightfully, each one of which was greeted with generous applause. Her audienence were charmed. The Schuman Quartette, composed of Mrs. Strout, Mrs. Partridge, Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. Seaver, sang several songs which were highly appreciated by the ladies and gentlemen who listened to them. Mrs. C. M. Strout accompanied the vocal programme on the piano and thus intensified the pleasure derived from the productions of the vocalists.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lewis, at the head of the Lewis Music School, delighted the company by the rendition on the piano of several pieces from the classics in their customary artistic style, the execution of each of which eliciting praise in unstinted measure. As an organist and pianist Mr. F. H. Lewis has no equals in this region.

There were some very agreeable elocutionary exercises by Mr. Curtis who enjoys quite an enviable reputation as a reader. His contributions added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Seasonably a collation of tempting viands was served which the company seemed highly to relish, and after disposing of this, and giving a season to social intercourse, the party broke up and its members repaired to their respective homes feeling that rarely had it been their privilege to pass so delightful an evening.

City Report—1890.

The annual reports of the various Departments of the city government have been published and many copies are already in the hands of the people. They give a complete history of the municipal affairs of Woburn for 1890 and to most readers will prove interesting, no doubt. The few following items have been culled from the volume by the JOURNAL'S statistical Editor: The City Clerk reports 462 births; 107 marriage certificates; 226 deaths; dog licenses yielded $1,412 40. The Collector's report shows good service during the year.

The length of pipe laid by the water department was 10,155 feet, making a total laid to date of 240,049 feet——Seventy-nine services have been put into buildings, and no service has been cut off for non-payment. The Commissioners say: "For the first time in its history this department is absolutely self-sustaining, the revenue for the past year having been sufficient to not only meet the expense of maintenance, and the entire interest charges, but also to allow a real surplus of $336.50." The receipts from 2156 services were $30,527.93. The total cost of the water works to date is $560,219 55. Number of gallons pumped in 1889, 293,805,400, an increase of over 40,000,000 gallons. Coal used, 5713 tons.

The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department reports the force to be 65, and that there were 34 alarms answered.

The Chief of Police reports the number of arrests for the year to be 376, of whom 320 were residents. Of these 43 were arrested for assault, 239 for drunkenness, 23 for larceny, 20 violation of liquor law.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners report a balance of $95,192 58.

The Auditor shows the municipal debt to be $84,583.33 and the water debt $416,006; temporary loans, $26,437.44.

The library trust fund amounted to $59,-138 95.

The Librarian of the public library reports volumes issued 60,758, and 942 new volumes added to the library.

The Superintendent of Schools reports 47 schools and 72 persons employed, while the number of pupils enrolled was 2575. Average cost per pupil, on the basis of daily attendace, was $18 64; basis of average whole number, $15 88; basis of enrolment, $13 89; while the average cost for each child between 5 and 15 years was $12.32.

The Truant Officer reports 275 cases investigated, 63 being truants.

Y. M. C. A.

Boys meeting Sunday, 3 P. M. This meeting is designed for all boys of all ages. Average attendance for the month of February 18.

The 4 o'clock Men's meetings are increasing in interest and numbers. An average attendance of 50 last month, and we wish to make it 75 for this month. Will you, young man, aid us?

At 3.30 P. M. we hold a Prayer Service for Christian men who are interested and believe that such meetings are helpful. We should be pleased to see all who wish to carry out the first clause of 1 Cor. 2:9, present next Sunday.

Next Sunday at 4, Mr. J. E. Caufield, Gen. Sec. of Winchester Y. M. C. A. will have charge. He is a young man, a good leader, and we can assure all of a good meeting. Besides, you will receive a cordial welcome and meet some of the best men in the city.

—The Woman's Auxiliary are planning for a unique entertainment which all will want to see. The junior branch are also at work on a "Law Case" wh ch they hope soon to bring to the public's notice. On the 23rd a members reception will be given. Are you a member? If not join at once so as to be able to take this in.

City Government.

ALDERMEN.

A regular meeting of the Board was held on the evening of the 6th instant at which there was a full attendance.

Mayor Bean made the following nominations which were confirmed by a unanimous vote: for Fence Viewer, Cyrus Cummings; Public Weighers, Eugene D. Newton, Gilman F. Jones and Louis W. Claffy. Surveyors of Lumber, Eugene D. Newton and Clarence Littlefield. Measurer of Wood and Bark, Louis W. Claffy. Sealer of Weights and Measures, John Lynch.

The following petitions were received: John O'Donnell for State Aid: referred to State Aid Committee. James Little and twenty-five others, for a fire alarm box at the corner of Harrison Avenue and Grove street. Referred to committee on Fire Department. Thomas Salmon, to erect an advertising post in front of 480 Main street. Granted.

Mrs. Lucretia True and family sent in a letter of thanks for the resolutions of the Board on the death of Alderman John S. True.

Official bonds of Constables Tho's Mulkeen, Thomas Quinn, Edward Simonds approved——John Ellard and Lawrence Martin were drawn as jurors——James Dolan was chosen Assistant Assessor for Ward 2 in non-concurrence, the Common Council having elected E. C. Collamore. ——On a third ballot Charlie A. Jones was chosen Cemetery Commissioner, Dr. John M. Harlow having declined an election.

An order providing for a ballot for City Solicitor was laid on the table by a yea and nay vote of 4 to 3. [Same old bone of contention.—ED.]—The reports of Overseers of the Poor and Chief of Police were received and filed.

Reports of Committees. State Aid: recommending Sylvester Murray for $4 a month, to be applied under the direction of the Overseers of the Poor. Same committee; Michael Feeley, leave to withdraw. Fire Department. W. E. Cummings and others for a fire alarm box on Main, near Warren street, leave to withdraw. Police. Petition of Lemuel Armstrong for a billiard and pool table license. Order that it be granted. All these reports were accepted and adopted.

Alderman Davis addressed the Board, saying that he desired to make a motion, which he hoped would be adopted, to take up the order of business, that is the election of officers, and he hoped the Board would see fit to take from the table the order providing for the election of City Solicitor. It was no way to transact City business to refuse to take action. It was necessary for the Board to choose a City Solicitor. He did not consider it right to table a motion to proceed to ballot. He was ready to cast his ballot and was not ashamed of it, and he hoped the others would do the same. Gentlemen had no right to assume that the ballot would always be the same, or that there were not enough votes to elect a City Solicitor. The citizens of Woburn would not endorse muzzling of the ballot by members of the Board. Members had a right to vote for whom they pleased, but they had no right to interrupt a ballot. Such filibustring or muzzling as that is not worthy of such a Board.

"I am heartily sick of this," said he, "and my only desire is to have the office filled, and no more of this boy's play, which smacks of ward politics. I hope gentlemen will allow a ballot to be taken, but if not I want the public to know who are working in the interest of the city and who are not."

The vote was taken, but the Mayor, not being able to decide, ordered another, when, on the call of Alderman Davis, the vote was taken by yeas and nays, as follows:—Yeas. In favor of taking from the table and having a ballot for City Solicitor, Davis, Ham, Pushee, 3. Nays,—opposed to any action, Fowle, Finn, Walsh, Dearborn, 4, and the motion of Alderman Davis was defeated. Adjourned.

Obituary.

MR. EBENEZER N. BLAKE died at his residenceon Abbott St. in this city at 9 o'clock, a. m., Thursday, March 12, of cancerous tumor, after an illness of several months.

The deceased was born at Farmington, Franklin county, Maine, on July 30, 1817, and was one of several children of Dr. Blake who went from Boston to Farmington somewhere in the nineties and in a few years established a reputation for skill as a physician and surgeon which reached far beyond the confines of his home.

About 1835 the subject of this notice left Farmington and repaired to Salem, Mass., where he served an apprenticeship at the leather tanning and currying trade, and at its expiration, in 1839, he came to Woburn and went to work in the tannery of Dea. Marshall as a journeyman. He afterwards entered the employment of Moses Cummings at No. Woburn with whom he remained until, some years after, he entered into a co-partnership with J. B. Winn, Timothy Winn, Lewis Shaw and Joseph Kelley, which firm for a long time did a large and successful business in the manufacture of leather. The firm had three tanneries, and after several years of great prosperity it was dissolved, and Mr. Blake continued to do business with Charles Tidd and other partners until a few years ago when he retired on a handsome fortune.

Early in his business career in Woburn he married Miss Harriet Cummings, daughter of his employer, Mr. Moses Cummings, who was a brother of Dea. John Cummings the father of Hon. John Cummings of Cummingsville, who survives to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent husband. Several children were the fruit of this long and happy union, those now living being Emma L. (Mrs. Parker of New Hampshire), Warren N., Dr. Harrison G., Isabella F., Hattie C., all of this city except the first.

A brother of the deceased was the inventor of the famous Blake Pump and the founder of the Blake Pump Works of Boston; another, who died a year or so ago, was a promihent actor in the great struggle in 1855 to make Kansas a free State.

Mr. Blake was a Director in the Woburn First National Bank; President of the W. A. & M. Association; a Director in the Blackstone National Bank of Boston.

He will be sadly missed in this community. He has lived here 52 years at least and has always been closely identified with the interests of the place and the people. He had many staunch friends for he was a kind hearted man, genial in manners, sociable with everyone, and his conscientious honesty and high regard for truth and fair play gave him a strong hold on the confidence and esteem of his fellowmen. He was a bright, brainy man; successful in whatever he undertook; interesting in social intercourse; and his aim was to do right for right's sake.

His sorrowing wife, children, and other relatives will receive the sympathy of this community in their sore bereavement.

When you see a line full of clothes hanging out at nine o'clock on Monday morning, you may depend upon it that the lady of the house either worked on Sunday or else used the economical Brussels soap.

Ventilation.

Those who listened to the excellent readings given by Professor Churchill on the evening of the 6th instant suffered much on account of the vitiated condition of the atmosphere of the hall.

To be obliged to breathe overheated, poisonous air is the chief cause of much illness among our people.

Owing to the height of the walls in Music Hall and the position of the windows great care should be taken to have the temperature in accord with the means of ventilation.

The sweet air of heaven is a blessed boon: when will those who have the care of public halls know this?—S.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Now Select Your

Diaries, Almanacs, Magazines and Papers for 1891, at

HORTON'S BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

The Employers' Liability

ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

— ALSO, —

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

The Last Night.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
11.45 P. M.,
March 3, 1891.

MY DEAR JOURNAL:—You have the proceedings of Congress in the daily papers, but as I have the privilege of witnessing the last night session of the Fifty-first Congress I send it as I see it.

With the noise and confusion it is difficult for one so unused to the sight to tell what is going on. Here is Gen. Banks who says they are regaling themselves with milk-punch to strengthen them for the long night work. Mr. Coggswell is wandering around in front of the desks, hands in pocket, while two are reading papers alternately and gesticulating. Congressman McKinley is busy writing, while others are sitting on desks; laughing; others with feet on desks while smoking.

Macomis of Maryland is speaking now. There is millionaire Vaux, eighty years old. Little pages are flying around. Well they may for eighty dollars a month! Here is speaker Reed with a white pink in his buttonhole. Here is a man house cleaning; evidently he goes home to-morrow.

Some one is trying to read the report; a member asks to have the reading dispensed with; Holman of Indiana objects. Boutwell of Maine is listening intently as the report is being read.

Every sofa has its occupant. If these men are needed to vote they must come forward, sleepy, and dismayed at losing a comfortable place.

The third reading is finished, and now is the struggle for recognition. Perkins of Kansas has it. Holman objects.

I have it now. They are talking about the Cherokee strip, and a price per acre. Those men in the aisles are commanded to return to their seat. To us looking on there seems no regularity but we are not versed in the ways, and show our ignorance in criticising. However careless these men seem to us the work is going on and the wheels of the government are turning.

This is the last night and much work will be done. The soft light comes from above, illuminating the coats-of-arms of the different States and casting a pleasant glow over the assembly. The beautiful mosaics of the corridors have echoed the footfalls of many this night.

Mr. Lawlor of Chicago says that before we came a temperance bill was presented and it was voted that no liquor should be sold in the District. Then they went out and drank milk-punch in the cloak room. He also says there are 11,000 bills untouched as yet. Widows of soldiers in the last war have waited 20 years for pension bills to be recognized, but the wheels of government are turning.

A message now from the Senate and a momentary lull occurs. Now they are talking about increasing the Army, and now they say "vote, vote," and those outside have to come in and vote. "No quorum" they say. "Fall in for a quorum," and they swarm in. This is to make 12-company regiments so they can make 3 battalions of 4 companies each. It seemed to be carried.

Now a bill regarding copyright is being read. A little disturbance occurs for Holman objects to what is said. Noise and confusion, and the mallet comes down. Mr. Reed says they shall keep quiet while they speak upon the copyright bill. A gentleman said something about protecting the rights of the mother tongue. Mr. Hank of Tennessee says "we are having too much of the mother tongue." "Yes," said another, "by the gentleman from Tennessee." This is an interesting debate; whether our authors shall be protected, or we have cheap books for the masses.

Now comes the voting. The ayes seem to have it. Now the roll is called for ayes and nays and the copyright bill is—127 to 87—passed at 2.15 A. M. on Wednesday morning, March 4th, 1891.—H.

Burlington.

The warrant for the Town Meeting is posted.

The winter term of the schools ends this week. Public exercises will be held at the Centre school.

Rev. P. Thurston of Sutton, supplied the pulpit of the church in the morning and evening last Sunday.

The snow storm was severe in Burlington. No such breaking out of roads as that of last week has been known for three years. The sleighing is not good and does not promise to be.

The proper food for her infant is a subject of the highest importance to a mother who can not nurse her child. Mellin's Food is a perfect substitute for mother's milk, and is highly recommended by the most prominent physicians of both Europe and America.

Unclaimed Letters in the Woburn Post Office, March 7, 1891.

When calling for letters advertised in this paper please state the fact and thereby greatly facilitate the delivery of the same.

Mrs. Homes, Cademy Hill, Mr. John Mason, A. Nosworthy, Esq., Musician, Mr. A. G. Stevens, Mrs. Alice Taylor, Main St., Mr. James Vanney, forwarded from Peabody.

A. B. WYMAN, P. M.

Dirt flees before Brussels soap like a grasshopper before the advance of a yellow-legged chicken.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Feve, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chiblainsr Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Hereafter women will be admitted to the Liverpool Trades Council as delegates from women's unions.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists.'

Mrs. Fawcett and Miss Phillippa Fawcett are coming to America to study the women and schools.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

BAPTIST—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: The Fruits of Christianity. At 6 p. m. Christian Endeavor Society; at 7 p. m. Short Sermon. Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

UNITARIAN—At 10 30 a. m., preaching by the pastor. Subject: What has the Bible done for civilization? This is the tenth and last sermon in the series on the Bible. At 7 p. m., lecture. Subject and lecturer to be announced Sunday morning.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "How to be Saved." At 6 p. m. Young Peoples' meeting; at 7 p. m. preaching by the pastor. Wednesday evening prayer meeting. Friday evening Christian Endeavor.

METHODIST.—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: The Leaven. At 6 p. m. Epworth League prayer meeting. At 7 p. m. General Prayer and Praise meeting. Regular prayer meeting Wednesday

HAMBURGS
— AND —
LACE EDGES.

Our annual sale of Hamburgs and Lace Edges. We have on our counters one of the finest lines of Hamburg Edgings and insertions ever shown in this city, in a large variety of widths, qualities and prices.

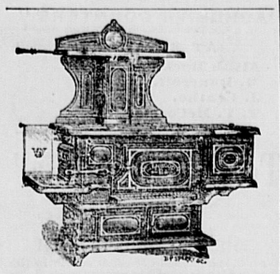
LACE EDGES.

Have just recieved a large assortment of lace edges a special feature of which are Edges varying from one to eight inches in width, at only five cents per yard.

It would well pay our patrons and others to call and look these goods over.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

Meeting of the Pine Tree Club.

The Executive Committee made up their minds that the first anniversary meeting and dinner of the Pine Tree Club should be worthy of the State from whence its members sprang and they carried out their intentions in the best style and to the unbounded satisfaction of every one who had anything to do with it. To the interest and activity of Secretary William N. Titus from Waldo county was the signal success of the affair largely due, but Nason and Dorr and Strout and others should be cheerfully accorded a full meed of praise for their valuable services. Dr. Seth W. Kelley, President of the Club, manifested a lively interest in the reunion and banquet and contributed much to its success.

About 100 Sons and Daughters of Maine were present at Concert Hall to meet and greet each other and participate in the festivities and pleasures of the reunion. They reported themselves as natives of all sections of the Pine Tree State—from regions extending "from Kittery Point to Quaddy Head," from the Canada line to Sheepscot Bay, and from the Scooduc to the Bogo river. There were representatives from the lumber regions of the north, the clam beds of the south, "Oxford bears," from the "Penobscot country," Androscoggin, Cobossecontee, Maddawaska, Carrabassett, Moosehead, Passadumkeag, Norredgewock, Agamenticus, and all over the State, between whom the greetings were cordial, earnest and honest. Of course many of these people were strangers to each other, but they hailed from Maine, which was all the introduction that was needed as a preliminary to the exchange of experiences and an evening's pleasant social intercourse. A common nativity was the bond that united these scores of Sons and Daughters of Maine in an organized union that is strong, warm and promises to be enduring.

To begin with, an informal reception was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors when and where some old acquaintances were renewed any many new ones formed, and which occasion everyone improved by saying something good and pleasant about their native State of Maine. The reception was so highly enjoyed that it put into more than one head the idea of holding a sort of everyday, free-and-easy, social, kitchen-fireplace party in the course of a month or so for the purpose of giving the 200 Maine people in Woburn an opportunity to make each others acquaintance without an entertainment and gastronomical accompaniment. To do something towards carrying out such an idea a meeting of the Executive Committee was held last Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nason on Main street.

At the close of this informal reception supper was announced and with well whet appetites and as much alacrity as might be consistant with good breeding (Maine people were always well brought up) the company repaired to the dining hall and sat down to an abundant and most excellent repast prepared by Caterer S. H. Patten, himself a good sample of the hardy sons of the Pine Tree State, and served in the best of style. Everybody said it was a royal good dinner and everybody seemed to enjoy it.

After the meats and salads and bread-and-butter, came good, honest Maine doughnuts, some twisted and others round with a hole in the middle, followed by all the standard pies of that glorious old Commonwealth; then blancmanges, walnuts, coffee, and icecream; and after all these, and the company had got themselves into the most receptive and comfortable state of mind, order was called and postprandial exercises announced.

Dr. Seth W. Kelley, President of the club presided, and gave the people assembled a warm and cordial welcome. In his neat and appropriate address from the Chair he congratulated the natives of Maine on the formation of the Pine Tree Club, and was most agreeably surprised to meet so many of the members there that evening. He complimented the guests at the festive boards on their loyalty to the State of their birth and early homes as demonstrated by the large attendance at this, the first anniversary of the Club's organization. In an impressive manner he continued: "But we note with sorrow the absence of some who were with us a year ago at our reunion. Since then our honored President has been taken from us, by an inscrutable but all-wise Providence. He was a typical Man of Maine and one whom we all delighted to honor. To-night we cherish and revere his memory. He was an upright man, with the choicest qualities of mind and heart, and was an honor to his native State as well as to the State of his later home.

"One other, the poetess in the exercises of that evening, has also been 'called up higher.' Though a daughter of Maine by adoption, she was a glad and devoted one.

"Sweet, noble and loving soul, missed and mourned by a whole community, we here tonight do homage to your sterling worth and womanly virtue.

"The record of the State of Maine and her people forms a bright chapter in the history of New England and of America, to which we proudly point with no fear of shame or honest criticism in its perusal.

"Our ancestors possessed those sturdy traits of character which have made the history of the State a glory and a blessing to mankind. Their energy and courage as pioneers in the wilderness, their love of liberty, their patriotism, their pious devotion and religious zeal, their love of well doing, have been transmitted to their children and their childrens' children, and stand forth today, pre-eminently, in the noble types of manhood, presented in her poets, her scholars, her soldiers, her statesmen and her men of thrift and business.

"North, South, East and West you find the men of Maine foremost in affairs. They have also carried with them their inborn love of freedom and patriotic fire and devotion to our common country. Hence we have the right, and here at least the privilege, to congratulate ourselves upon our birthplace and to show pride in the name and fame of this good old State."

Mrs. Ada Cary-Sturgis of Maine, a sister of the unrivalled songstress Annie Louise Carey, was introduced by President Kelley as "a sweet singer from Maine" which praise was fully justified by the splendid manner in which the lady rendered several popular pieces during the evening. She has a charming voice—full, round and melodious—and gave it full play first on "The Waiting Heart," which was followed at intervals all too long for music-loving ears and hearts, by "The Song that Reached My Heart," "Way Down upon the Swanee River," "Home, Sweet Home," and others. Mrs. Charles M. Strout presided at the piano and added much to the musical enjoyment of the evening. The music was an important and pleasing feature of the reunion and each piece was warmly applauded by the company.

President Kelley next presented to the assembly in fitting words Col. A. S. Daggett of Boston, a native of Maine, whose heart was overjoyed to meet so many Pine Tree people around the banquet tables, to partake of their good cheer, to shake their honest hands, and help them celebrate the first anniversary and reunion of the Pine Tree Club. The Colonel is an enthusiastic lover of his native State and never tires of saying good things of her soldiers, her statesmen, her judiciary, her bar, her poets, editors, and other great and good men and women; and he loves her forests and fields; her rivers and lakes; mountains and plains; her sea-girt coast, and the cities and towns and hamlets and farms where peace and plenty dwell all the year round, and he isn't afraid to say so—indeed he loves to say it on every occasion. The speech of Col. Daggett was listened to with marked attention and generously applauded from beginning to end.

Mr. S. C. Small of Winchester glories in being a native of Maine, a fact which President Kelley fully appreciated when he introduced him to the company at the tables. Some think that when Mr. Small gets to talking about his boyhood days at Bowdoinham, or Cathance Landing as old people call it, he is apt to "draw the long-bow," but those who knew Cathance Landing 50 years ago and the country that lay back of it, and how hard it was to catch fish there then, would have no reason to question Mr. Small's veracity when reciting some of his mirth-provoking anecdotes respecting the hardships of his early life. The melancholly story of the drowning in Holmes's Hole of five good citizens of Cathance Landing some 75 years ago is still told by the venerable people of that little village on winter evenings, and Mr. Small has perhaps seen the dear old lady who composed the following verse on that direful event:

"Five honest men from Cathance went,
And never's known to wrangle;
On cedar poles in Holmes's hole,
Cringle, crongle, crangle."

Mr. Small and his stories are always honored guests at Woburn banquets.

After Mr. Small President Kelley introduced Chaplain George L. Crawford, a son of Maine, now and for many years a resident of Boston. He kept the tables in a roar from beginning to end and contributed materially to the life, fun and pleasure of the occasion.

The Executive Committee exercised good judgment in arranging the programme in that they did not string it out far into the night, nor overburden it with a multiplicity of speakers, nor make it stiff and uncomfortable by too much ceremony. The reunion and dinner was a great success and it will be a long day before the Sons and Daughters of Maine in Woburn forget it.

Secretary Titus then read the following letters from distinguished Sons of Maine and with this the meeting closed;

BANGOR, Feb. 19, 1891.

WM. N. TITUS, ESQ.,

Dear Sir:—I have your favor of the 17th inst., as Chairman of the Executive Committee inviting me to the reunion of the sons and daughters of Maine, of Woburn, March 4.

It would give me pleasure to meet with the Pine Tree Club on the occasion named, but I cannot consistently do so. I have just returned from N. Y., and I find that I overtaxed my strength, at my age, and it would not be prudent for me to make another journey so soon, so I must be excused.

Yours Truly,
HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25, 1891.

WM. N. TITUS, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Mr. Blaine regrets that important official engagements which require his presence in Washington, will prevent his acceptance of the kind invitation of the Pine Tree Club to attend their reunion at Woburn on March 4.

Very respectfully yours,
SYDNEY T. SMITH,
Acting Private Secretary.

SENATE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14, 1891.

WM. N. TITUS, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—I have just received your kind invitation to be present at the reunion of the Pine Tree Club of Woburn, Wednesday evening, March 4. I shall not be able to leave Washington at that time and therefore cannot be present, but I send my best wishes for yourself personally and for the occasion, which I am sure will be enjoyable, as are all the places where the natives of Maine get together.

Yours very truly,
EUGENE HALE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16, 1891.

MR. WM. N. TITUS,

Dear Sir:—Your kind favor of the 12th, inviting me to be present at the annual reunion of the Pine Tree Club of Woburn, is received. Please accept my thanks for the courtesy extended, and my regrets that it will be impossible for me to be present. I do not expect to go East until the latter part of March, and if not in Washington shall be further South at the time of your reunion. I am,

Very truly,
WM. P. FRYE.

SPEAKER'S ROOM, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14, 1891.

MR. WM. N. TITUS,

Dear Sir:—Speaker Reed regrets that his duties here till noon of March 4, will prevent his leaving the city and that he cannot accept the invitation of the Pine Tree Club of Woburn at their reunion that evening.

I will say further that Mr. Reed will soon after adjournment go to Portland and has declined all invitations except one.

Very respectfully,
AMOS L. ALLEN,
Private Secretary.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, U. S.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18, 1891.

WILLIAM N. TITUS, ESQ.,
Chairman Executive Committee.

My Dear Sir;—I am in receipt of yours inviting me to be the guest of the Pine Tree Club of Woburn on the evening of March 4. It would afford me much pleasure to be present, if my public duties permitted, but as Congress will not close until March 4, and I shall be detained here for some little time after that date, it will be impossible for me to accept your kind invitation.

Thanking you for your courtesy, I remain,
Very sincerely yours,
N. DINGLEY, JR.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, U. S.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15, 1891.

Dear Sir:—It will be necessary for me to be here on March 4, next, when you so kindly invite me to meet the Pine Tree Club at their first annual reunion.

Maine raises more granite, ice and slate, and brave, true men than any other State in the land. She sends forth her patriotic and heroic spirit into every school district in the nation, which is the foundation of all that is glorious and true and reliable in the Union. So long as the other States follow she will lead them to justness and greatness.

Truly yours,
S. L. MILLIKEN.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, U. S.
WASHINGTON, FEB. 19, 2891.

WM. N. TITUS, Esq.,
Chairman of the Executive Committee, Pine Tree Club of Woburn, Mass.,

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your kind invitation of the 12th inst., inviting me to be present and speak at the first annual reunion of your Club to be holden on the evening of March 4th, next. In answer permit me to say that I am exceedingly obliged for the invitation and that it will be impossible for me to leave here at that time. Please extend to the members of the Club my thanks for the invitation.

Very Truly,
C. A. BOUTELLE.

Mayor George F. Bean had also been invited but a previous official engagement required his attention until it would be too late for him to attend, and he sent a letter of congratulation and earnest wishes for the success of the occasion. This letter was also read by Mr. Titus.

Mrs. Sturgis then sang "The Lost Chord" gloriously and the meeting adjourned.

Among those around the tables were the following: President S. W. Kelley, Chaplain George L. Crawford and wife, Col. A. S. Daggett, Wm. N. Titus Esq. and wife, Mr. J. Howard Nason and wife, Mr. Morris G. Rich, Portland, Mrs. Fannie Thomas, Boston, Mr. Charles M. Strout and wife, Mrs. Ada Cary-Sturgis, Mr. Melville C. Strout and wife, Boston, Mr. M. F. Roak, Boston, Miss Florence Hackett, St. Paul, Minn., Mr. C. S. Small, Mr. J. W. Hemenway, Miss Delia R. Bates, Mr. Joseph Smith and wife, Mr. A. J. Edwards and wife, all of Winchester, Miss Eva D. Walker, of Fryeburg, Me., and the following residents of Woburn: Mr. Francis A. Partridge, Mr. James E. Furlong and wife, Mr. C. H. Dudley, Miss Jennie S. Dudley, Mr. James M. Kimball, Mr. George W. Kimball, Mrs. Jacob Ames, Mr. Charles A. Nichols and wife, Mr. S. C. Scantlebury, Mr. James Partridge and wife, Miss Minnie E. Moody, Mr. D. R. Carpenter and wife, Mr. J. W. Sawyer and wife, Mr. Asa G. Sheldon and wife, Mr. Ward L. Dennis, Mrs. A. J. Austin, Miss Ina V. Austin, Mr. Andrew M. Faden and wife, Mrs. Wm. G. Miller, Mr. H. M. Call and wife, Dr. J. P. Bixby and wife, Mr. C. C. Miles and wife, Miss Annie E. Childs, Mr. Edwin W. Gurney and wife, Miss Ethel Maud Gurney, Mrs. W. S. Strout, Mr. A. A. Fish and wife, Miss Stella Smith, Mr. George A. Pearson and wife, Mr. Zoeth W. Atwood, Miss Susie DeLoriea, Dr. N. A. Springer, Mr. Charles W. Dorr and wife, Mr. Wm. H. Swain and wife, Miss Addie M. Swain, Miss Alice Huse, Miss L. J. Valentine, Miss Elizabeth V. Bridgham, Mrs. Eunice B. Leach, Mrs. Addie S. White, Miss Dolly Milton, Mr. W. E. Smith and wife, Major H. C. Hall, Mr. James E. Fowle, Mr. A. T. Carter and wife, Mr. H. M. Eames and wife, Miss Lillie C. McLucas, Mr. George E. Waters and wife, Mr. A. P. Maxwell and wife, Mr. David Ronco, Mr. T. R. Corbett and wife.

The Committee who had charge of the affair and to whom much credit is due for its success were: Wm. N. Titus, Esq., Mr. C. W. Dorr, Mr. Edwin W. Gurney, Mrs. George A. Hobbs, Mrs. Wm. B. Smith, Mr. Charles M. Strout and Mrs. James Partridge.

North Woburn.

Mrs. Timothy Reed still continues to be seriously sick.

Mrs. Herbert Dockham and children of Meriden, Conn., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Marion.

Five days after the snow storm and still some of our principal sidewalks are buried under huge snow drifts. Where is our Superintendent of Streets? He must know that there is such a place as Ward 6.

The bidding on the shadows of the young ladies for the purpose of enjoying a pleasant lunch and chat with them will be one of the features of the sociable to be held at the church this, Friday, evening.

On Wednesday evening, March 4, Mr. Edward Buchanan was given a surprise party at his home by quite a delegation of his friends who turned out in spite of the severe storm. Mr. Buchanan was presented with a fine easy chair beautifully upholstered with plush. A superior collation was served and a very pleasant evening was passed.

The entertainment given by the "Good Will" Club in the Chapel on last Friday evening, gave a very satisfactory result. The dialogues were of a very interesting character and the recitations by Miss Bennett, Miss Lena French and Miss Susie Edgecomb were thoroughly appreciated. Piano solos were executed in a very pleasing manner by Miss Bessie Barker, Miss Grace Bond and Miss Gertrude Watson. One of the best features of the entertainment were the duets sang by Miss Hattie Marshall and Miss Nellie Rodd.

The entertainment given by the Good Will Club last Friday night at the Unitarian Chapel in North Woburn was a grand success. The children sustained their several parts in a manner that would do credit to older heads. The singing and the instrumental music were well received. The of the "Light House Keeper's Daughter" as told by Miss Nellie Bennett of the Emerson College of Oratory held the audience spell bound and the burst of applause that greeted her at its close told how well it was appreciated. Miss Lena French, as the Elf Child, sent us all home feeling we had passed a very enjoyable evening, but we "must watch out or the goblins would get us."

Last Saturday was Mr. Andrew R. Linscott's 47 birthday, and likewise the 25th year of his teaching in the public schools of Woburn. His birthplace was Jay in the state of Maine from whence he moved to this town at an early age. He served faithfully and bravely in the great War of the Rebellion and helped maintain the supremacy of the Stars and Stripes in that monstrous struggle. After returning from the war, at the solicitation of leading people of No. Woburn, he embarked as an instructor of youth and has continued in that occupation ever since, having been reckened always as one of the very best and most efficient teachers in the town or city. He has taught in the Rumford, Hudson and Central Grammar schools, but Rumford has always been felt to be his true school home. He was first Alderman for this Ward, and is, all in all, one of the truest, most exemplary and best esteemed citizens of Woburn.

WINCHESTER.

Street cars run regularly to Symmes's corner.

The new Y. M. C. A. building will be opened on the 17th.

Mr. S. W. Twombly declines a re-eleetion to the office of Assessor.

Every voter will be dead in love with the Australian system after it has been tried here.

The Wedgemere Tennis Club will give their annual entertainment on Fast Day evening.

Mr. Harrison Parker led the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Sunday afternoon. It was a very interesting one.

It is thought that Mr. B. F. Nourse, the well known real estate dealer, will be elected Town Collector this spring He would make a good one.

The prize pool tournament which has been going on for a week at the Hall of the Winchester C. T. A. S. closed last Monday evening. It created great interest and drew big crowds.

Much dissatisfaction is caused by the failure of the ventilating apparatus in the new Gifford school building to perforn its functions properly. One of the teachers states that she has lost nearly a week by having to dismiss her pupils this term.

At the special Town Meeting held last Monday evening it was voted to reject the proposition to adopt the Australian system at our next annual meeting. The politicians were opposed to it, as they always are to any real political reform.

Following is the report of the Winchester Y. M. C. A. for February: Total attendance at the rooms, 658; calls made by secretary, 160: meetings of the religious work, gymnasium and rooms committee, and two directors, meetings were held.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Twombly arrived home from their California trip on last Saturday evening in the best of health and spirits. Both were well while away and both enjoyed the journey and visit on the Pacific coast hugely. They saw a great deal of the Golden State and were pleased with it all.

Boston Herald: Ladies at Winchester are circulating a petition that an article may be inserted in the warrant for the annual Town Meeting, looking to better ventilation at the Gifford school building. About a year ago a patent system was introduced with highly unsatisfactory results, as described in the Herald.

It's economical—Brussels soap.

Sheriff's Sale.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

WOBURN, March 3, 1891.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction, at my office, No. 424 Main street, in said Woburn, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all the right, title, and interest, liable to be taken on execution, that Charles M. Wendall, of said Woburn, had on the 3d day of February, A. D. 1890, that being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, with the buildings thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in Woburn, in said County, with the buildings thereon, on the northerly side of a private way leading out of Beach street and bounded as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake and stones at said private way; thence the line runs casterly, on and by said private way, about ten rods to a wall at land formerly of John Nelson; thence northerly by land last named by the wall to land belonging to the City of Woburn; thence westerly by land last named about ten rods to another stake and stones at land supposed to belong to one Woodland; thence southerly by land last named about twenty-seven rods to the bound first mentioned; containing about one and one-half acres, more or less.

Also, at the same time and place, all the right, title, and interest that the said Charles M. Wendall had on the said 3d day of February, liable to be taken on execution, in and to the following described real estate with the buildings thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the northerly side of Charles street, and bounded as follows, namely:—Southerly by said Charles street; easterly by land of Simeon Weymouth; northerly by land of said Weymouth, and by land formerly of Alfred G. Carter; westerly by land formerly of one Thurston.

JOHN F. TYLER, Deputy Sheriff.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To all persons interested in the Trusts under a deed of Oliver B. Coolidge of Woburn, in said County given to Ebenezer Lawrence, in trust, and recorded with said Middlesex (So. Dist.) deeds, Book 280, Page 212,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a petition has been presented to said Court by Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, praying to be appointed Trustee under said deed;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

New Bargains At BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Peacock Blue Henrietta, Silk Warp, 86c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Black India Twill, 46 inches wide, 65c., sells in Boston for 75c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 in. wide, 75c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 44 in. wide, 60c., sells in Boston for 75c.

We will give anyone a Dress Pattern of the above goods if they can match them in Boston Retail Stores for less than the prices quoted as Boston prices.

We would be pleased to have you take up this offer.

WANTED,

Near the first of April, a strong willing young woman, between twenty and thirty years of age, for nursery and chamber work, in a family where there are three children under six years. Best of reference required.

Address with particulars,
C. E. G.,
Winchester,
Mass.

Finishing Wanted.

Wanted, a few hundred sides of rough stock finished in GLOVE, PEBBLE and RUSSET GRAINS.

Also, Bottom Price for finishing splits. Quote lowest price by mail to

P. O. BOX 1260,
WOBURN, MASS.

A Suggestion to DOCTORS.

Habit has made you have a sort of affection for your old furniture. From a practical point of view this is a mistake. Your patients will come twice to once if you have a cheery office. For your new furniture you had better come to us.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

2,500,000 WORDS.

A copy of the
SUNDAY HERALD
Contains, exclusive of advertising, two million, five hundred thousand words, which, if placed in one straight line, would reach 1¼ miles.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar

Concert

At Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

Miss M. Emma Fosdick has the pleasure to announce that she will give her second annual concert on Thursday Eve'ng, March 19, '91.

ASSISTED BY THE FOLLOWING ARTISTS:

Miss ANNABELLE CLARKE of Medford, Soprano Soloist.

Mr. W. S. BATTIS, Instructor at Colby University, Waterville, Maine, Reader and Impersonater.

Mr. W. L. RICE, of Winchester, Violin Soloist.

Royal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club, of Lowell.

Miss MERTENA L. BANCROFT, Accompanist.

Together with Banjo and Guitar Orchestra of 25 pieces, Quartette, Duett, Solos and Glutar Orchestra.

The above talent will offer one of the most attractive and select entertainments given in Woburn this season.

Admission	25 Cents.
Reserved Seats	25 " **

Tickets will be for sale at C. H. Buss's Drug Store, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Tuesday Eve'ng, March 3,

where a plan of the Hall can be seen.

Secure your seats early to prevent disappointment.

Doors Open at 7.15. Concert Commences at 7.45

All branches of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Polishing. Drapery and Shade work. Carpet work a specialty.

Carpets taken up, cleaned by steam, planned and fitted, sewed and relayed, Cushion work, Yacht work, Mattresses made over, and to order.

I expect to build up my business by pleasing my patrons. Send me a trial order, and you will not need to go to Boston for such work afterwards.

P. SCHWARTZ.

Don't forget the address.

404 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

LECTURE

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE

Friday Night Club,

— AT THE —

Unitarian Church,

— ON —

Friday Evening, Mar. 13, at 7.45 O'clock,

— BY —

Rabbi Solomon Schindler,

Subject: "WHY I AM A JEW."

Admission, - - 15 Cents.

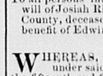
HENS FOR SALE.

Apply at 129 MAIN ST., WOBURN.

For Sale.

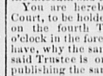
Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 135 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes, as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.



Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.



2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.
Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

35c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the estate under the will of Josiah Richardson late of Woburn in said County, deceased, testate, given in trust for the benefit of Edwin Richardson,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lewis L. Whitney, the trustee under said will, has presented for allowance the fifteenth and final account of his trusteeship:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge in said County, on the fourth Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said Trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

S. H. FOLSOM, Asst. Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the next of Kin, and all persons interested in the Estate of Mary A., Patrick H., and Catherine McGrath of Woburn, in said County, minors,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Lawrence McGrath, the Guardian of said minors, has presented his petition for license to sell at private sale certain real estate therein specified, belonging to his said wards for investment:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Lowell, in said County on the third Tuesday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said Guardian is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the WOBURN JOURNAL, a newspaper printed at Woburn, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ann Bell Skinner, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Jennie E. Skinner, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

G. McGREGOR

FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of hoquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral Bouquets will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the will of Hannah Chamberlain, late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachusetts, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Exec'r.

Woburn, Mass., Feb. 24, 1891.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

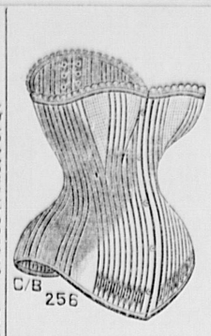
Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

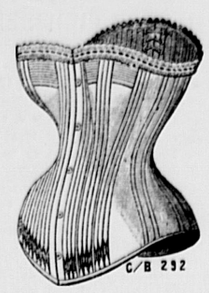
ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?





Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES IN HEAVY-WEIGHT GOODS,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, JR.

W. H. Brine

1 and 3 Tremont Street., Cor. Pemberton Square, BOSTON.

Only Place of Business.

JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 434 Main Street, Woburn.

GEHAZI IS PUNISHED.

LESSON XI, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 15.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings v, 15-27. Commit Verses, 15-17 — Golden Text, Num. xxxii, 23—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

15. "Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel."

Thus spake Naaman as, having returned with all his company from Jordan, he stood before the man of God and prayed him to accept a blessing in the form of money and raiment.

16. "But he said, As the Lord liveth, before whom I stand, I will receive none. And he urged him to take it; but he refused."

Thus spake and acted the man of God. He was not rich in this world's goods, and yet he turns away from riches when voluntarily offered to him, and apparently from a grateful heart. How different from most people! How different from the church of today, which in the most ungodly ways seeks to raise money for what is called the Lord's work!

17. "Thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt offering nor sacrifice unto other gods, but unto the Lord."

Naaman seems truly to have turned from idols to serve the living and true God (I Thess. i, 9), and he desires to take home with him some of the earth of the Lord's land (Hos. ix, 3), that when he offers sacrifice to the Lord he may do it literally upon holy ground, though in a far country. He did not understand the worship of Jehovah; he did not know that God would hear him from any soil (I Kings viii, 48, 49), but he seems sincere, and if any one sincerely desires to know God He will enlighten him. "Then shall we know if we follow on to know the Lord" (Hos. vi, 3).

18. "When I bow down myself in the house of Rimmon, the Lord pardon thy servant in this thing."

19. "And he said unto him, Go in peace."

This is the decision of the man of God in the matter, and this is his blessing. See in II Chron. xxx, 18-20 how the Lord pardoned His own people, and allowed them to eat the passover otherwise than as it was written. And observe that the attitude of the heart toward God is more in his sight than the outward form.

20. "But Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, the man of God, said * * * as the Lord liveth I will run after him and take somewhat of him."

Here is an idolater indeed—an idolater in Israel, an idolater in the house of a holy man of God, for covetousness is idolatry (Col. iii, 5). He forgot that the law taught us unto covetousness, and that Achan was stoned and burned because of his covetousness (Ex. xviii, 21; Josh. vii, 21).

21. "So Gehazi followed after Naaman."

When Elisha said "Go in peace," Naaman departed; but it seems that he went but a little way ere this covetous Gehazi overtook him. Living with one like Elisha how was it that he had not more of Elisha's spirit?

"And when Naaman saw him running after him he lighted down from the chariot to meet him, and said, Is all well?"

Or, as in the margin, "Is there peace?" There was little peace in that covetous soul. "There is no peace, saith the Lord, unto the wicked" (Isa. xlviii, 22; lvii, 21). "The way of peace they know not" (Isa. lviii, 8).

22. "And he said, All is well. My master hath sent me" * * * *

23. "And Naaman said, Be content, take two talents."

His little scheme was working well. Lying seemed to be a paying business. He had only ventured to ask for one talent of silver, and now two talents are pressed upon him, which, with some urging (?), he consents to receive. Some three thousand dollars for one lie; many a man has lied for even ten or five dollars or less, and boys and girls have been known to lie for a very small amount.

24. "And when he came to the tower (Margin, secret place) he took them from their hand, and bestowed them in the house: and he let the men go, and they departed."

He had no desire to make a great display of his riches, at least not for the present. He had that which he coveted, it was safely in his possession and securely deposited, and no one about the premises was any the wiser, as he thought; and like the rich fool of Luke xii, 19, he perhaps said to himself, What a good time I can now have!

25. "He went in and stood before his master."

As if nothing had transpired worth mentioning, as if he were a very devoted and faithful servant, as if he would say, "My dear master, thou man of God, what is thy pleasure?" We read in Ezek. xxxiii, 31, of some who "sit before the servant of God as the people of God, and they hear His words but they will not do them; for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness."

"And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy servant went no whither."

Lie upon lie. This is at least the third in this transaction. How hard the heart grows! It is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked (Jer. xvii, 9). What a gulf has opened between him and his master! Let some boy tell how he felt, when, having spent the afternoon in some forbidden place or way, he was asked at the tea table where he had been. Let some Christians say how they feel about prayer when they have been doing what they know God does not approve.

26. "Went not mine heart with thee, when the man turned again from his chariot again to meet thee?"

Ah, Gehazi! he's got you now. Covetousness is a bad thing, and lying won't help it any. "Be sure your sins will find you out." "A lying tongue is but for a moment" (Num. xxxii, 23; Prov. xii, 19). Eve obtained and perhaps enjoyed with Adam the forbidden fruit. Achan obtained and possessed the garments and the gold. Gehazi obtained and possessed the coveted silver and raiment; but in no case did these things bring peace. There cannot be true enjoyment of anything unlawfully obtained. And even though not in this life is the sin laid bare, there is a day coming when the Lord will bring to light the hidden things of darkness and make manifest the counsels of the hearts (I Cor. iv, 5). We should always remember that the eyes of the Lord are in every place beholding the evil and the good, and that "all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do" (Prov. xv, 3; Heb. iv, 13).

27. "The leprosy, therefore, of Naaman shall cleave unto thee and unto thy seed forever. And he went out from his presence a leper as white as snow."

A moment of sin, a lifelong punishment. He begins at once to eat the fruit of lies (Hos. x, 13). It did not pay after all.

An infallible sign of physical decay is sleeplessness; if this is dangerous in an adult, it is deadly in early childhood. Dr. Ball's Baby Syrup will always assist in comforting the baby.

It has proved undoubted usefulness, we refer to Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. Price 25 cents.

The Chinese Government has decided to establish brickyards in the empire, in order to rebuild most of the cities, whose houses are almost wholly built of wood. The frequent fires in these places almost invariably result in the destruction of thousands of buildings.

Bright's Disease Lost Its Victim.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton, of West Rutland, Vt., writes: "We are certain that only for Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., our little ten-year-old daughter would have been dead from Bright's Disease. We had tried in vain other means, but the Favorite Remedy came just in time to save her life."

An extensive emigration of negroes from Arkansas Westward is in progress. It is expected that thousands will leave before the summer opens

THE SACRAMENT OF SUFFERING.

We laughed together, dear, you and I,
Many a time in the days gone by;
There was many a jest betwixt us twain,
But never a thought of grief or pain;
And the sun shone bright in the sky above—
It was not the sunshine taught us love.

We often lingered a little while
With a kindly word or a passing smile
(As folks may do who often meet),
Or hand clasped hand in the crowded street;
But with smiling words we still could part,
It was not yet, dear, heart to heart.

Love grew up in the after time,
When life's sweet joy bells ceased their chime.
My soul was rent with anguish sore,
A kindred sorrow kept your door;
'Twas then, as we knelt and together wept,
That into each other's hearts we crept—
Friends, firm friends, through the passing years,
Friends through the sacrament of tears.
—Florence Tylee.

Two of Mr. Allen's War Stories.

Congressman Allen, of Mississippi, never tires of telling funny tales about the war. Here are two: A Confederate soldier in a certain regiment had become noted for running away from every fight. On one occasion his captain found him in line as an unexpected attack opened. Standing behind him, the captain drew his pistol and said: "Now, John, up to this time you have run from every fight. You have disgraced yourself on all occasions. Now, if you stir from the line this time I intend to shoot you dead. I shall stand here, right behind you, and if you start to run I shall certainly kill you." John heard the captain through, and drawing himself up to an unusual height replied: "Wall, captain, you may shoot me if you like, but I'll never give any low lived, low down Yankee the privilege of doing it." At Murfreesboro' a Confederate soldier was rushing to the rear with all the speed he could command. An officer hailed him and sneeringly inquired why he was running so fast away from the Yankees. The soldier, without stopping, yelled back, "Because I can't fly."—Galveston News.

The Dead Sea.

One of the most interesting lakes or inland seas in the world is the Dead sea, which has no visible outlet. It is not mere fancy which has clothed the Dead sea in a perpetual gloom. The desolate shores, with scarcely a green thing in sight, scattered over with black stones and ragged driftwood, forms a fitting frame for the dark, sluggish waters, overhung with a continual mist, and breaking in slow, heavy sepulchral toned waves upon the beach. It almost seems as if the smoke from the wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which lie at its bottom, was yet ascending up to heaven, and as if the moan of their fearful sorrow would never leave the death smitten valley.

It is a strange thing to see those waves, not dancing along and sparkling in the sun as other waves do, but moving with measured melancholy and breaking upon the shore with scarcely a sound—a fact due to the great heaviness of the liquid, which has more salt and bitumen in it than water. Fish cannot live in such a solution. It has even been said that birds cannot fly over, an absurdity often disproved.—St. Louis Republic.

Sure Preventive.

The Spanish wit and philosopher, Quevedo, who in his time gained a reputation for knowing almost everything, was asked if he knew of a means whereby a person could avoid growing old.

"Most certainly," said Quevedo, "I know of certain rules which will surely prevent your growing old."

"What are they?"

"Keep always in the sun in summer, and always in the wet in winter. That is one rule. Never give yourself rest; that is another. Fret at everything that happens; that is still another. And then if you take care always to eat your meat cold, and to drink plenty of cold water when you are hot, you may be perfectly sure that you will never grow old!"—Youth's Companion.

Average Height of the Land.

The average level of the solid earth has been calculated by Dr. John Murray to be 1,400 fathoms below mean sea level; but more recent explorations show greater ocean depths, according to Dr. H. R. Mill, and a mean sphere level at a depth of 1,700 fathoms. That is, all the land above the level of 1,700 fathoms beneath the sea would have to be filled into the greater depths in order to give equal height to all parts of the solid earth.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Fremont's Nationality.

It is probable that Fremont was a German. He seems to have drifted to Charlestown and to have been taken care of by a worthy German. When he went to school he was received as Fremont, though his German name was Freimuth, and he was probably the heir of a rich German family of that name.—Atlanta Journal.

He Wasn't Built for a Copper.

Neighbor—What would you like to be?

Johnny—Policeman.

Neighbor—You would never do for that. Whenever there is a fight you are always around.—Texas Siftings.

Bad Outlook for Brorson.

Smithers—Bronson's humor is very dry.

Editor—It isn't half so dry as it will be after it has been in my stove a few minutes.—Harper's Bazar.

A Warm Attachment.

Dashaway—Travers is so attached to dress.

Cleverton—Yes; I've known him to wear the same suit for a year.—Clothier and Furnisher.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

It is said that when a young Napoleon of Finance was in Murray street a creditor called very early in the morning. The officer announced the visitor. The young man exclaimed; "It is too early to receive company, tell them I am out."

Every tissue of the body, every bone, muscle and organ, is made stronger and more healthful by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PLENTY OF BLANKETS FOR ALL.

The Inexhaustible Supply of Bed Clothing Held by a Steward.

"Unexpectedly I found myself forced to run over to Boston," said a man the other day. "It was so warm and disagreeable that I determined to go by boat, although I knew that I would be unable to get a stateroom. I fancied that I should enjoy sitting up until late, when I could get a little nap in one of the seats in the cabins. But when the sun was down I found it cold on the water, and was driven into the cabin from the deck. By 11 o'clock I was so sleepy that I could not hold my head up. The fresh wind outside, followed by the warmth of the cabin, acted like an opiate on me.

"I hunted up one of the under stewards and asked him if he could not arrange for me one of those mattresses which I saw as he had done for others. Oh, yes; they were there for any one who wanted them.

"'But,' I said, 'I can't sleep on one of those things as they are. Can't you get me a sheet and blanket?'

"'I don't know,' he answered doubtfully.

"But he did know when I slipped a dollar into his hand, for in a short time he came back and made a bed for me. I dropped off to sleep at once, and was only awakened by feeling my blanket roughly jerked off me. Sitting up in my improvised bed I saw the retreating form of my steward carrying the blanket. He went up to a man, made up a bed for him, took a dollar and started off.

"'See here,' I cried indignantly, 'what do you mean by stealing my blanket?'

"'Oh,' he said, 'did you want it?'

"'Of course I wanted it; didn't I pay for the use of it?'

"'Well,' he answered coolly, 'it's so warm I didn't suppose you cared about it.'

"'I do; it's cold now.'

"'Oh,' he said easily, 'there are plenty more of them. I'll get you another.'

"He walked up to a sleeping man, deftly pulled his blanket from him and brought it to me.

"'There,' he said, 'if you want another I'll get it for you. There are plenty of them.'

"I tucked myself in carefully this time to save being robbed again, and turning over went off for a second sleep."—New York Tribune.

Sowing on Stony Ground.

Once in a while you hear a Sunday school story that is really good, even if it is rather wicked. In a "suburban village" is an Episcopal church, which maintains a Sunday school, and one of the classes therein is taught by a laughter loving girl. There are ten little girls in her class, nine of them of not remote Irish ancestry and one little negress.

The other Sunday Virgin Mary Parsons—that's the little darky's real name; Virgin Mary is the full name of half the negresses who are called Mary—came very late; the other nine children were present, and looked up as the late comer swept proudly up to her seat. Ignoring the teacher's salutation, the little darky concentrated into two words all the ill feeling that months of contempt had wrought in her, and tossing her head indifferently threw at her classmates the single remark:

"Morning, Paddies!"

The lesson that morning, the teacher is forced to explain, fell into stony ground.—Chatter.

True Courage.

There is a vast difference between brutality and courage. What the world needs to-day is not the courage of the prize fighter—we have too much of that already—but the courage of Gen. Grant and Garibaldi, the courage which has led thousands, when there was need, to die, not only on battlefields but in yellow fever hospitals, at the martyr's stake, and on the cross. Such courage has never been promoted by brutal sports which endanger either human or harmless animal life.—Dumb Animals.

The Queen of Spain Smokes.

Christina, queen regent of Spain, is a great advocate of tobacco. She consumes a large quantity of Egyptian cigarettes, and there is nothing that her little "Bubi," His Most Catholic Majesty King Alphonso XIII, enjoys more than when his mother permits him to strike a match and apply the flame to the end of her cigarette. When thus engaged the little fellow laughs merrily and indulges in all sorts of antics, like a light hearted little monarch that he is.—Paris Letter.

"A Local Habit-ation and a Name."

Vicar of Ballyhooley—Well, Mab, my child, have you made up your mind to the Irish vicar?

Mab—Oh, I don't know, father. He's so eccentric.

Vicar's Wife—Eccentric, dear?

Mab—Yes, mother. When he's in Belfast he calls his congregation "dear Belfast souls," and in Dublin "dear Dublin souls," and in Cork "dear Cork souls."—Judy.

Worn One Hat Ever Since 1859.

One of our state officials can daily be seen on the street exhibiting with no little pride a straw hat which he has worn since 1859, and which is now nearly as good as new.—Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

About Time to Stop.

Criticus—In my opinion all the possible jokes have been worked off.

Editor (wearily)—Yes, and almost all the impossible ones also, I fancy.—Chatter.

There is an enormous tree in the Ocmulgee River swamp near Abbeville, Ga., that rivals the great trees of California. It is ot the tupelo gum variety and hollow at the base, with an aperture large enough to admit a tall man. The hollow is 15 feet high by 12 in diameter.

Among the dishes advised for Lent by a writer of culinary matters are oyster croquettes, lobster croquettes, volaurent of salmon, jardinere salmon, fillets of halibut, caramel custard and cabinet pudding. Lent under these circumstances is hardly a time for fasting.

"Nervy, what kind of a market do you call this?" "Well, I should say it was a market in which men made more money in their heads than they did in their pockets."

An important discovery of tin at Millwood, Va., is reported.

WHAT CANDY COSTS.

How Small Fortunes Can Be Spent Very Easily on Sweetmeats.

Violets and rose leaves, delicately candied, are for sale at $5 a pound.

Gold dragees, a plain round candy dipped in gold, cost $10 a pound. Silver dragees cost $1.50 per pound.

Fruit candies cost 80 cents.

Chocolates and bonbons of the finest description are 80 cents.

Caramels, cups and drops are 50 cents.

Lime tablets, frequently used on steamers to prevent seasickness, cost 60 cents a pound and come in bottles.

Cream peppermints are also used for steamer purposes by young women and children. These are the same price.

Taffy and molasses drops, besides old fashioned molasses candy, are here for sale at 40 cents a pound.

Salted almonds are $1 a pound. Cream cherries are 80 cents a pound.

Chocolate for eating and cooking purposes can be bought for from 40 cents to 65 cents a cake.

Cocoa is 25 cents a cake. Chocolate creams, jellies and nuts are 80 cents a pound.

Satin bags for candies are, when filled, worth $7 each.

Rests for chairs, in lovely designs in lace and painting, are filled with bags of candy and cost $14.

Cap mottoes, for dinners and germans, cost from 25 cents to $3 a dozen.

Dinner favors, in dainty designs of guitars, bags, bouquets and everything beautiful, are to be ordered at from 50 cents to $2 each.

Satin boxes cost from $5 to $60; these are hand painted and embroidered, and filled with choice candies they are fit presents for a queen.

Royal Worcester, Crown Derby, Hungarian, Minton, Carlsbad and Moore, for holding candies, are very dainty and elegant. These cost from $8 to $25 each, and are painted frequently in special designs to order.

Twined baskets cost $3 to $15 each.

Sterling silver bonbonnieres, for holding candies, are of the most charming designs. These range in price from $5 to $15.

The choicest of these sterling silver bonbonnieres contain Italian mint drops, a rare delicacy.

Bonbonnieres for holding dragees are made of handsome enamel. These cost from $5 to $20 each.

Sterling silver dishes for table use, for holding choice candies, cost from $3 to $8 each, and are very elegant.

Boxes of dragees cost 25 cents each and boxes of pastils cost the same price.—New York World.

The Common Sense of the Court.

One of the oldest and best practitioners at the Erie county bar was arguing a motion at a neighboring county seat, and was depending more upon his own sound logic than upon authorities for success. At a critical juncture the judge interrupted the speaker with this inquiry, "Yes, I understand, but where are your authorities upon the subject?" "If your honor please," retorted he briskly, "I will explain the absence of authorities, with your permission, by telling a little story: A young man freshly admitted to practice had produced in court in support of a motion a wealth of authorities. After allowing the young man to read page upon page of dry decisions the judge at length interrupted wearily: 'You are just beginning in practice,' said he; 'let me give you some advice. It does very well to cite authorities once in a while, but you must always trust somewhat to the common sense of the court.'" It was a bold, almost audacious, position to take, but it won his case.—Buffalo Courier.

No Forgiveness There.

A missionary was preaching to an American frontier audience on the Prodigal Son. After he had described the condition of the son in rags among the swine, and had started him on his return, as he began to speak of the father coming to meet him and ordering the fatted calf to be killed in honor of the prodigal's return, he noticed a cowboy looking interested, and he determined to make a personal appeal. Looking directly at his hearer the preacher said: "My friend, what would you have done if you had had a son returning home in such a plight?" "I'd have shot the boy and raised the calf," was the prompt reply.—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Thirsty Cats.

A plea for the thirsty cats that haunt the back streets in the early morning may surely come in here. If you cannot afford to give such skeleton visitors a sip of milk at least set a saucer of water before them. To see them in the back yards of closed houses vainly lapping at the dry stone under the yard hydrant is a pathetic sight.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Family History.

Mrs. De Style (in her bric-a-brac corner)—I cannot imagine how my grandmother managed to keep this set of china so long. Since I have had it the servants have broken half a dozen of the choicest pieces.

Mrs. Levelhead — Probably your grandmother did her own housework.—Good News.

Its Other Effect.

Mrs. Fangle—A Berlin physician says that constant piano practice will almost certainly ruin the health of any girl.

Mr. Fangle—Yes, and it has the same effect on the tempers of the people next door. Don't you think so, my dear?—Argosy.

Fifty Spasms a Day.

Had Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., lived two thousand years ago she would have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits. She was subject to nervous prostration, headaches, dizziness, backache, palpitation and forty to fifty spasms a day. Though having been treated by eight physicians for years without success, she was permanently cured by one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. A trial bottle of this new and wonderful medicine and a finely illustrated treatise free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Sara Bernhardt has been sitting to M. Clairin for a medallion portrait in which she wears the crown of Cleopatra. Miniaturists are copying the print, which appeared in a French journal, on ivory to fill orders from United States jewelers.

The Americans present at the launch at Portsmouth, Eng., on Thursday were much struck by the display of an enormous American ensign side by side with the royal standard of England.

Why Loved.

Admiral Nelson disliked stiffness and formality. When the hour had come for beginning the council of war he had called on board his ship, instead of opening it ceremoniously he would pace the quarter deck with his captains and coax them into a frank expression of their opinions.

One morning as the Victory, Nelson's ship, was floating along with a four knot breeze, the cry rang out, "Man overboard!"

A midshipman named Flinn sprang to the rail, and looking over saw his own servant in the ship's wake. As he knew that the man could not swim the lad leaped overboard, and held the man up until both were recovered by a boat from the ship.

Nelson, who had seen the brave deed, called the lad up to him and made him a lieutenant on the spot. The other midshipmen cheered and tossed up their hats.

"Stop, young gentlemen!" cried Nelson, putting up his hand for silence, and then, with a smile, added: "Mr. Flinn has done a gallant thing today—and he has done many gallant things before—for which he has got his reward; but mind, I'll have no more making lieutenants for servants falling overboard!"

It was such offhand acts as this which made the great admiral admired and loved by his officers and crews.—Youth's Companion.

Goodness Seldom Pays.

A man stood in a doorway on Jefferson avenue at 10 o'clock at night puffing at a cigar. Along came a second man with an unlighted cigar in his fingers, and he halted and asked:

"Give me a light, please?"

"Certainly," was the reply.

The smoker then took from his vest pocket a match, and from his coat tail pocket a candle wrapped in paper. He struck the match, lighted the candle, and then taking a paper from another pocket he lighted it at the flame of the candle and held it out with the remark:

"Certainly, sir—always willing to oblige."

The other looked at the match, the candle and the paper in unfeigned astonishment for a moment and then drew back, pocketed his cigar and passed on with the remark:

"Much obliged, but you are too all-fired civil."—Detroit Free Press.

A Marvelous City of the Dead.

A map by Padre Marchi shows that one of the Roman catacombs occupies an area of nine furlongs in greatest length by seven in greatest width. A recent calculation from this map places the area of the entire series of catacombs at sixty times this amount, and the total length of the subterranean streets at not less than 900 miles. This agrees very closely with Padre Marchi's estimate by a different method. He conjectured that there may have been twenty confraternities of diggers, and that these might have excavated about seventy feet of road and 100 graves every day; and this, taking two complete centuries as the time which the catacombs continued to be used as Christian cemeteries, gives a total of 720 miles and 6,000,000 graves—figures, however, that Padre Marchi considered much too small.—Arkansaw Traveler.

No Calf.

A Harvard professor's study window overlooks the lawn of a neighbor, upon which is tethered a fine Jersey cow. He says that he was looking out of the window one summer evening when his gentlemanly neighbor came out to milk. As he sat upon the milkstool and bent over to his task the motherly cow turned her head and deliberately began to lick the back of his coat. He jumped to his feet, overturning the pail of milk, and, grasping the stool, belabored the bewildered beast. The professor suggests, when he tells the story, that the poor man could not stand the implication.—Portland Transcript.

A New Excuse.

"Can't you settle that account now, sir!"

"Why, I mailed you the money long ago."

"I never received it."

"Well, I saw in the newspapers that letters containing $35,000 have gone to the dead letter office in the last twelve months. Yours must be among them. See the government about it!"—Epoch.

Reductio ad Absurdum.

Judge (to prisoner)—You are charged with entering this man's store and stealing a clock. What have you to say for yourself?

Prisoner—I am not guilty of theft; I am guilty only of procrastination.

Judge—Only guilty of procrastination? How so?

Prisoner—I am the thief of time.—Jewelers' Circular.

Big Towns with No Hospitals.

The statement is made, as startling, that Richmond, Va., a city of almost 100,000 people, has no city hospital. Omaha, a city of 135,000, is also in the same unfortunate dilemma.—Omaha Bee.

Very Deferential.

"Mr. Dolley is a very deferential man," remarked Amy to her mother.

"Yes," assented the old lady, "he's differed with everybody ever since he was a little boy."—West Shore.

Of Course.

Tommy—Sis, here's a little fuzzy baby caterpillar.

Kittie (severely)—Oo mustn't call that a caterpillar. It's only a little kittenillar.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

For the past three weeks the Lower Potomac fisheries have been almost coining money. It is estimated that more fish have been caught on the Virginia shores of the Potomac since the 15th of December than during the whole season for the last twenty years.

A Frenchman in the Province of Lorraine bequeathed France $800, with which to buy arms to fight Germany in the next war. As he was beyond the reach of the law the Germans arrested his brother as accessory to the crime of sedition and conspiracy.

A unique international exhibition of the year will be that of products, machines and implements connected with the various clay, stone, cement and asphalt industries. It will be held in Hungary, but will hardly produce world-wide enthusiasm.

It is reported that $40,000,000 of British capital is invested in Paraguay.

Woman's Column.

Twenty-three of the United States now admit women to practice at the bar as lawyers.

A bill to give women municipal suffrage has been introduced in the Michigan Senate by Senator Miles.

Miss Sanborn, of Laconia, N. H., has been appointed a notary public by Gov. Tuttle and his council. She is the first woman to hold such a position in New Hampshire.

Dr. Edith Pechey Phipson has been appointed a member of the Senate of the University of Bombay. The Vice-Chancellor said he believed this was the first time a woman had been appointed a member of the governing body of any university. But he was mistaken. It has happened in America several times.

Madame Von Truffel, better known as Blanche Willis Howard, is living happily and writing busily in Stuttgart. Her husband lately said to a friend that it would be "a blot on his 'scutcheon" if her marriage should paralyze his wife's literary faculties. He is said to be as proud of her as a literary woman as he is devoted to her as a wife.

Miss Gertrude E. Fonda of St. Albans, Vt., has won the fifty-dollar prize offered for the best original design by a woman for an article of household furniture. Her design is a book-case in the form of a large volume open at a little more than right angles, with the shelves across the open pages. It is made of wood, and the binding, lettering and trimming of blue and gold are cleverly imitated. About 200 designs were submitted in the competition.

Miss Yerne Tsuda, who has been a special student at Bryn Mawr for more than a year, recently gave an interesting talk to the students on the progress of education among Japanese women. Miss Tsuda was one of the five children sent to this country by the Japanese Government, in 1871, to be educated. She and one companion were the only ones able to complete their ten years' residence. On her return to Japan, Miss Tsuda was appointed teacher of English in the Peeresses' School, founded by the Empress at Tokio, a position she still holds, and to which she will return in June.

The National Farmers' Alliance, which had present, at its recent convention in Omaha, more than a hundred delegates from eleven States, and which in Nebraska alone has 65,000 members, passed the following resolution:

"We believe that women have the same rights as their husbands to hold property, and we are in sympathy with any law that will give our wives, sisters and daughters full representation at the polls."

Lewis E. Gurley, president of the Troy (N. Y.) Female Seminary, has presented to the trustees a memorial building to cost about $45,000. It will be erected this year. The building is to be a memorial to the deceased brother and sister of the donor, and is also to perpetuate the memory of Mrs. Emma Willard, the founder of the seminary, and a pioneer in the movement for the higher education of women.

Miss Elizabeth Sheldon, who has made a thorough study of architecture, gave a lecture recently in the vestry of the Church of the Messiah, New Haven, Conn., on "Interior decoration." There was a large attendance. The New Haven Journal and Courier says of the lecture: "Not only did it show excellent knowledge of the history and principles of design and of art in general, but the delivery of the lecture would have commanded praise by the side of almost any examples of platform work. Miss Sheldon ought to have an opportunity to give a course of lectures on art."

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

Christianity or the plain precepts of the Bible, as embodied in the Golden Rule, strikes at the root of all evil, makes the love of humanity paramount to self love, and is the only remedy for all individual and social evil; makes religion and morals harmonize, brings peace on earth and good will to men. All efforts to establish justice by any other means always will fail. When true religion is fairly tried, as it never has been, it is sure to succeed. "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Now, Give Attention

To the purification of your blood, for at no season is the body so susceptible to the benefits to be derived from a good medicine, as in March, April and May. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the people favorite spring medicine. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, curing scrofula, saltrheum, etc., regulating the kidneys and liver, repairing nerve tissues, strengthening and invigorating the whole body, as well as checking the progress of acute and chronic disease, and restoring the afflicted parts to a natural, healthy condition. If you have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla for your spring medicine; do so this season.

I am something of an expert at palmistry, dearest," said the young man, taking her hand. "In the lines of this fair palm I can trace—" "O no, no, no! I don't want to know the future, Harry. But can you truly read the lines in the palm of my hand?" "I can, darl—" "Then please turn down the light a little lower, Harry!" she said with a shudder.

Judge Simpson

Of the Superior Court writes: From mental exhaustion, my nervous system became shattered, and I was utterly unable to sleep nights. Sulphur Bitters cured me, and my sleep is now sound, sweet and refreshing.

The Hungarian Ministry has sanctioned a lottery for raising 8,000,000 florins for the benefit of the Protestant Church fund.

Women were particularly successful in entering the British Royal Academy Schools this year. Of the 23 who were chosen 13 were women and 10 men.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

DR. J. MILLER'S VEGETABLE EXPECTORANT
IS INVALUABLE FOR
Coughs and Colds and all Lung Troubles.
35c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take
BLUE PILLS
or arsenic, they are deadly. Your Kidneys are your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use
Sulphur Bitters!
Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are laid on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day!
PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.
A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards Free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
DR. KARL WESSELHOEFT'S GERMAN CATARRH CURE
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A Family Jewel."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

Dr. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP
THE PEOPLE'S REMEDY. PRICE, 25c.
Salvation Oil "Kills all Pain."

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass

CUT RATES!
— AT —
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Pa[illegible]c.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
201 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE!

WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. ECONOMICAL.
EVERY PAIR WARRANTED
$2.99 POPULAR PRICES $4.00 $2.00
FOR SALE BY
M. BANCROFT, Agent.

IVERS & POND PIANO FORTES.
The best. New Styles. Honest Prices. Easy Payments. Old pianos in Exchange. Catalogues and full information mailed free. If desired will call by appointment at homes of those who cannot visit our rooms.
IVERS & POND PIANO CO.
181 Tremont Street, - - - - Boston.

BAY STATE MANDOLINS GUITARS & BANJOS.
BEST & CHEAPEST
ILLUST'D CATALOGUE & INSTRUCTORS FREE
OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
J. CHAYNES & CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Mrs. Mary L. Graham,
TEACHER OF THE PIANO-FORTE
Pupils may call at Mrs. Jennings's, 408 Main street, Woburn.
Terms reasonable.

PublicLibrary 1Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1891. NO. 14.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8 15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 8.05, 6.55, 7.35, 8 03, 8.55, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.35, 5.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.05, 6.00, 9.00, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.30, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.36, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.4', 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.39 P. M. Return at 6.35, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.00, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.45, 10.10 P. M. Sunday, 9.23, 11.00 A. M., 12 M., 2.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.00 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.22, 8.51, 10 02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.08, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.30, 5.52, 6.25, 6.35, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.28, A.M., 12.58, 2.57, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.35, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10 40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 6.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.05, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 3.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.30, then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

* Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Quealey, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Loomsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Maguire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William R. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,
Barber and Hairdresser,
Lyceum Hall Building,
WOBURN, MASS.

, Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER
PLUMBER,
No. 129 Main St., opp. Postoffice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave, opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
272	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
5?2	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN,
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE
Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.
438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.
G. F. JONES, Proprietor.
Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN
AUCTIONEER.
Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,
HARDWARE !
Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.
No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S
First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.
390 MAIN ST., - WOBURN.

N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.
Opposite the Public Library,
Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.

DEALER, REPAIRER.
396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at
A. GRANT'S,
426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.
GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE
SEXTON.
Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,
AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,
77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.
COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.
Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.
Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address
LAWRENCE READE,
77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,
REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR
And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,
Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,
Lamps, Cutlery,
Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.
E. G. CLOUGH, 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,
STONE MASON AND BUILDER
Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.
Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.
Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines
—AT—
417 Main St., Old Post Office.
D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist,
Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 3.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,
(SUCCESSORS TO)
L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,
FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS
Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.
Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.
Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.
Dental Parlors,
No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.
Near Boylston Street.
, A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

CHOICE OF AN ACTRESS.

Being at foundation a womanly woman, she always expected to marry. I say expected, instead of hoped, because she had constantly too many admirers to doubt her opportunities—to her mind it was simply a question of meeting the right one.

She felt that when the right man came she would be willing to give up everything for him; indeed, she contemplated with a certain serene satisfaction the coming of a time when her triumphs and ambitions and fame and freedom would be exchanged for the proud servitude of wifehood.

Still she wasn't in a hurry to meet the right man. He would come when he did come—and when he did come it couldn't be helped, and she would be glad. Upon various occasions she had experienced a distinct sensation of fretfulness.

She had conscientiously given the admirer a fair chance to prove himself the right man, but had always been downright glad when he had failed to do so. The admirer always made some mistake fatal to his interests.

Perhaps he lost his head, and went down on his knees; that always immediately settled it. She was much too proud and too humble a woman to be willing to marry a man who went down on his knees about it.

Or he lost his head, and threatened to shoot himself, or drink himself to death, or jump in the bay.

Now and then she was moved with regret at the storm which she had raised, and expostulated in a kindly fashion with her victim, but more often she shrugged her white shoulders, saying, if not to the man, at least to herself, that the man who was foolish enough to want to shoot himself because a woman did not love him, had better shoot himself.

Some men were doggedly meek—of these she was a bit afraid—yet so far these meek, dogged wooers had presently developed into bores, which, she felt, lessened the danger. I say danger, because she regarded the possibility of marrying any man but the right man a danger.

Sooner or later, in the course of every admirer's attention she made a stanch effort to dismiss or escape him.

She argued to herself that escape from the right man would be impossible, and that escape from any other was to be regarded as wisdom and hailed as good fortune.

She never went out of her way to attract men—in the first place she had no need to, and besides she really did not care to increase the chances of coming across this more or less to be dreaded right man.

She kept pretty closely to her work, enjoyed the footlights, spent her money freely, rejoiced in her independence, and thought herself a lucky girl.

Of course she had admirers. She considered that a natural result of her position, profession, sex and attractions.

She permitted men who loved her certain privileges—they might kiss her hand, come to the theatre and see her play, and give her flowers and feel miserable about her.

Any one of them, she realized, might develop into the right man, so she treated them all conscientiously. She never misled them or led them on, and since she was frank with them and never discourteous, she felt she had a right to be exacting about their manners, and she always was.

Upon the three or four occasions when a man's devotion had stirred in her a certain degree of interest she had rigidly demanded time to find out and make up her mind.

To find out meant to satisfy herself that the man in question and the "right man" were of one "identity." To make up her mind meant to decide whether, right man or not, she would have him!

The candidate having always failed to stand this test, she had, directly she was so assured, dismissed him promptly and gently.

By what subtle sign of authority she would recognize the right man she did not know. He would be big, she was sure of that, and very gentle; he would meet her mentally, "understand" her, satisfy her morally and tenderly, master her physically.

He would be above all her little arts and caprices, but he would admire them; he would be too dignified to go down on his knees from not being able to help it, yet quite fond enough of her to do it. For her part, she would never wish it, and she would be very meek and gentle and obedient, and glad to be so; but—but, meanwhile she was free, and of that she was glad, too.

Really, her life was delightful; she lifted her white arms into her pretty lace wrapper and laughed to herself as she settled for her little rest before retiring. Her parlor was warm, and the light softened by colored shades; a bit of sandalwood among the logs sent a spicy fragrance out with the heat, she rubbed her head among the cushions and laughed again to herself.

It was a notion of her own, this half hour rest before retiring. For the sake of it she usually came home at once from the theatre.

Going out to suppers and sitting up and drinking wine was stupid, besides such a course would soon spoil her good looks. A warm, all-by-herself half hour in her own pretty room with the crackling of her fire for company was much nicer.

It was nice to feel that the comfort around her was all of her own making, and to know herself in the midst of it to be very pretty and very sweet, and alone, in spite of the ones she could check off on her pink fingers as at that very moment who were miserable for sight of her.

As a rule, men had sought her out and made themselves as charming as they found possible and permitted; but Crag Demmon attracted her.

He was big, undeniably a gentleman and by nature apparently a savage. He fell promptly in love with her, and his personality riveted her attention in an insistent way which she made no effort to oppose. For the first time a man's passion for her seemed to invest the man with strength.

To face his savagery and do as she pleased in spite of his fierce jealousy she found an exhilaration; to command a creature so much bigger than herself, and to feel his strength and not his weakness obeyed, was an excitement.

To look into his savage, somber eyes and melt them with the smile of her own was worth doing, and intoxicating.

One day he asked her to be his wife, adding that unless she gave him some definite answer he would see her no more. She was much interested.

"Could you leave me and not see me again?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Would you shoot yourself?"

"No."

She felt aggrieved. After a pause she asked, "Do you love me?"

"Yes." His teeth were set, his face pale, and he looked at her as if he hated her.

Her breath quickened. "Why do you hurry me so?"

"Because I will be made a fool by no woman."

A throb of fear went through her. She flung her head back and made answer, "You may go at once," and then, because his eyes frightened her, she began to cry and—"How do you expect one to decide at once like that, if she loves you? I can't and I won't—you can go."

"How much time do you want?"

"I don't know."

"I will wait a while."

"Much better go. I won't be put on time. I don't think I shall care for you, anyhow, and even if I did you are so ugly maybe I would not marry. Go away and let me alone." She spoke in a frightened rush.

"Don't be foolish," he answered; I will wait—a while."

During the "while" he saw a great deal of her; he curbed his temper, was always gentle, always devoted, made no effort to kiss her, half strangled a man at the club who suggested that all actresses were alike, and looked at her half the time as if he hated her.

She grew frightened and meek, and made an exhaustive study of his tastes. One day he spoke harshly to her; she cried out that he must not—that she loved him.

Thereat he took her in his arms, kissed her and said, "Will you be my wife?" A month from that time she married him.

Her manager protested, and a good deal of money was paid over. To the wife the manager said, "You are a fool; if you ever want to come back to the stage let me know."

* * * * * * *

Demmon carried her off to Europe. He was strong and gentle and devoted. There was little trace of his savagery, except in a fiercely jealous guardianship over her.

Now and then he ordered her around. Once she protested vehemently; he looked at her and answered, "You forget you belong to me."

He gave her all the money she wanted, bought her anything she fancied, and insisted upon her dressing richly and indulging extravagances, but once, when she received a check for a story she had written, he tore the bit of paper in pieces, saying: "I will give you all the money you want! Don't forget!"

She was happy—oh, yes. Her one thought was to please him, and to please him made her happy. She gave up all her own fancies, and endeavored only to meet his moods. She kept up all of the pretty petulance and caprice that had pleased him originally, because sometimes it amused him to see her childish and exacting—she knew when to be silent, though, and how to efface herself.

She read the papers faithfully, and, by dint of study and close attention to a few political arguments within earshot of which she came, she got a fair grasp of the principles of the party opposite to her husband's, and argued with him very well.

To such men as he presented she made herself charming—he liked to have other men admire her; herself, she took no interest in attracting them, and she was always a bit afraid of being too successful and so annoying her husband. Besides, attention from other men made her heart ache; her husband loved her dearly, but he did not tell her so very often, and sometimes when she made mistakes he called her stupid.

Of course she did make mistakes sometimes. Being very anxious to please him, her instinct was not always true. There were times when he liked to have her creep to the side of his chair and push her soft hair against his face, saying nothing meanwhile, unless the little caressing breath from her lips could be called speech; but then again this annoyed him, and he had to be let alone.

Being very fond of him, it was hard to come near or pass him without reaching out a hand touch his shoulder or cheek, and this fretted him dreadfully when he was not in the mood. Also there were times when she wanted him to take her in his arms and be good to her, and find out how she felt, or when she wanted to cry and be miserable and be petted and coaxed out of it; all this was childish and foolish, but—oh, dear! how her heart ached sometimes.

He loved her—of course she knew that—so there was no need that he should tell her so all the time: besides, he did tell her what an unfailingly attractive companion he found her, and he praised her tact and sense and the way she kept her pretty looks.

She was happy when she was with him, only happy when she pleased him; and she used to cry her pillow wet very often.

At the coming of the child her husband was distinctly displeased; when it died the mother grew sullen

They got back to America; a letter from her old manager inclosed a contract for the coming season. She signed, left all her jewels, and with her maid started for New Orleans—Emma V. Sheridan.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get trial bottle free at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

The first Capuchin monastery in Ontario has just been completed. On the ground floor is the chapel. Above are the cells of the monks. Each cell or room is lighted by a small window, and contains a rude bed, with a pallet of straw and straw pillow and a little wooden desk, the handiwork of the occupant. In the basement is the laundry, the monks doing their own work in this department and the dining-room. Plain deal tables are arranged around the sides of this room. Each monk has assigned to him two plates, a water jug, a cup and a bowl—all of brown earthenware—and a knife and wooden fork and spoon. The furniture, which is as plain as possible, was all made by the monks.

They All Failed.

The following letter from Mr. W. A. Thomsom, of Columbus, Wis., is peculiarly interesting: "My wife," says he, "has been treated for her head, stomach and nervous prostration by three doctors in New York, two in Chicago, one in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati, and at the large institute in Buffalo for 16 months. They all failed But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine helped her wonderfully." This should be used in all headaches, backaches, changes of life, nervous disturbances, fits, rheumatism, etc. Ask at Charles H. Buss drug store for a free trial bottle and Dr. Miles' new book on the Nerves and Heart

An interesting race between merchant vessels has been started.

Woman's Column.

Life of Anna Ella Carroll.

The biography of Anna Ella Carroll is now completed, and will be printed as soon as 500 copies shall be subscribed for at $1 apiece. Payment to be made when the work is ready for delivery; and the names of the subscribers to be published. Names of individuals and societies subscribing may be sent to Miss S. E. Blackwell, 1829 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

This biography has been prepared from data furnished by Miss M. H. Carroll, and from the Congressional records. The proceeds, after defraying the cost of publication, are to be for the benefit of Miss Anna Ella Carroll. The work includes Miss Carroll's ancestry and early life, an account of her civil services, and numerous letters of historical interest. It will be accompanied by a portrait of Miss Carroll at the time of the Civil War.

An Object-Lesson.

A new illustration of the need of women on public boards is afforded by the death, under most distressing circumstances, of a twelve-year old girl, through the culpable carelessness of the superintendent of the Michigan State School at Coldwater. The Equal Suffrage Association of Detroit passed the following sensible resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Superintendent of the State Public school gave into the hands of a man unknown to the officers of the school, without any guarantee as to his character, a young girl, thereby paving the way for her consequent abuse and atrocious murder: therefore

Resolved, That the death of this motherless child under such harrowing circumstances is an evidence that women should be on the boards of control of all public institutions containing persons of their own sex, and that the placing or indenturing of children from that or any other institution should not be in the hands of men alone.

Mrs. E. W. Croft thought that the root of the difficulty lay in politics. She said, very reasonably: "We can never have these institutions rightly managed so long as politics control the appointment of the officers in charge."

The Women Ignored.

It often aggravates the condition of disfranchisement for women to see themselves wholly ignored when public questions of large general or local interest are pressed upon the attention of the people, as in Presidential elections, and in Town Meetings. Here is one of the latest. The Danvers (Mass.) Mirror, in its last issue, says:

"Important matters are coming up at the special Town Meeting to-night, and every citizen who is loyal to his town should make an effort to be present. The questions to be discussed closely concern the interests of the town."

The questions to come up involved women not less than men. They also involved the spending of money, and the women would be taxed; but they had no vote.

It is the same with the Divorce Reform League. Its officers and members are all men, as though the question had no concern for women. In the same way the Lying-in Hospital of Boston, where only women are treated, has its whole Board of Trustees, officers and physicians composed of men. There are plenty of well-qualified women physicians, but they are wholly excluded, although they are the only persons properly entitled to have the care of the women in the Lying-in Hospital.

LUCY STONE.

Pimples on the Face cured. Sulphur Bitters will cure the worst case of skin disease; from a common pimple on the face to that awful disease scrofula, it is the best medicine to use in all cases of such stubborn and deep-seated disease. Do not delay; use Sulphur Bitters and drive the humor from your blood.

An uncommonly well-developed specimen of the genus tramp addressed the veteran stock operator, Addison Cammack, in New street the other day with a hearty "Say, Uncle, will yer give me a quarter?" The cynical millionaire looked curiously at the forlorn combination of rags and impudence and replied, sarcastically; "Why, of course; come to my office when you have leisure and I will give you my note for the amount." "Yer note?" queried the mendicant, as an anxious look stole over his face, "Well, say, who can yer git to indorse it?" Cammack actually grinned as he passed over a silver quarter.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

A man at Anderson, Cal., won the bet that there were seven dogs in town to each voter.

SOMETHING NEW.
The Greely Pants Stretcher.
The best and simplest in use.
PRICE ONLY 25 CTS.
Munroe's Clothing House.
423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

The Boston Mugwumps.

The Boston mugwumps have been interesting themselves in an attempt to retain Gen. Corse as postmaster, and, in arguing their case, they have not hesitated to become maudlin. They say that as Gen. Corse who was appointed by Cleveland, has made a good postmaster, he ought to be reappointed by Harrison. This gives us a front view of the mugwumps idea of politics.

This idea is worth considering as one of the curiosities of emasculated temperaments. The mugwump view is that the contests between the parties mean nothing. When the people elect a Democratic or a Republican Congress, the result is not only fortuitous, but humorous. When the people, through their electoral system, choose a Democrat or Republican President, the mugwump idea is that they are only fooling.

That Gen. Corse has made a good postmaster there can be no doubt, but he has not made a good Republican postmaster. Nevertheless, the mugwumps of Boston have been besieging Mr. Harrison and begging him to reappoint the Democratic veteran. We do not believe that Gen. Corse himself has sympathized with this movement to retain him in office under a Republican president.

Mr. Harrison has set an example in this matter for Democratic Presidents to follow, and it is a very wholsome example.—Atlanta Constitution.

If you don't want to have ultimate trouble cure your catarrh now by using Old Saul's Catarrh Cure. It costs but 25 cents.

One lap (its mother's) for the well baby in daytime. About 700 laps of the bedroom floor at night for the happy (?) father unless he has Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup to ease the little sufferer.

The Omaha Bee reports: "A Leadville jury recently becoming disgusted with the "sass" administered to themselves, as well as the lawyers and witnesses, by the Judge, ordered the Sheriff to lock the latter up for a couple of weeks, "just to let out a hole or two in his checkrein," as the foreman, a livery stable keeper, aptly expressed it. And to His Honor's great exasperation he was incontinently lugged off to jail and placed in durance vile, while the case went on smoothly with the most popular barkeeper in town occupying the judicial chair."

Boils—Blood Disorder.

I had been troubled with boils which came out on my ears, neck, and in fact all over my body. I tried everything and could get no relief until I was advised by my neighbor, T. N. Arnold, to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. After using it less than three months, I can say I am fully cured.—Sam'l Grady, No. 20 Caledonian ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Farmer Aiken of Venango county, Pa., aged 80, started for Pittsburg on his first railroad ride. "The rattle of the train terrorized him, and he got off at the first stop and took to the mud roads. He hired a private conveyance and went to Pittsburg in that manner."

"If any here present," said the officiating clergyman, "can show just cause why this man and this woman may not lawfully be joined together, let him speak or forever hold his peace." The groom, Mr. Lariat of Arizona, casually laid a pair of large revolvers on the railing in front of him and the ceremony proceeded.

The administrator of the Cathedral at Milan has found it necessary to contradict the statement of an English clergyman that the bones of Judas Iscariot were preserved as relics in the cathedral.

The signatures of many members of the British House of Commons, among them some of the most learned, are so illegible that the clerks are sometimes unable to decipher them.

A portion of the Indians who were sent to Florida with Geronimo have been returned to within a few miles of their old stamping ground, much to the dislike of the citizens.

Scientific Drops.

Pipes for gas, water and electric cables made of paper have recently appeared at Vienna.

Platinum and silver can each be drawn into wire many times smaller than a human hair.

Tough paper is made by mixing chloride of zinc with the pulp. The more concentrated the zinc solution the tougher will be the paper.

The telescope enables us to measure the invisible by first making it visible; the spectroscope enables us to measure the invisible without making it visible.

An employe of the Pullman Company has invented an electrical air brake, which is so constructed that the air chambers can be recharged whether the brake is in operation or not.

Celluloid in solution is now being extensively used as a lacquerer for all kinds of fine metal work and as a wood varnish with results that are said to be superior to the old methods.

Every year a layer of the entire sea, fourteen feet thick, is taken up into the clouds. The winds bear their burden into the land and the water comes down in rain upon the fields to flow back through rivers.

Literary Notices.

THE MUSICAL RECORD for March is a number which cannot help but please musical people. It is published monthly by O. Ditson & Co., Boston.

THE NEW MOON, a Lowell literary product, is filled to the brim with good things this month. The stories and poetry are of the best quality, while the Editor's Departments are running over with bright, timely articles.

The Baltimore American says: The republican party always manages to swing back to its old victories after an off year defeat. Read this paragraph from an editorial in yesterday's New York Sun, the leading democratic paper of New York State: "Fifteen of the 30 cities of New York choose their mayors on the first Tuesday of March, and 22 of the 60 counties hold their town elections on the same day. In the contest of the present week the republicans have recabtured Rochester, carried Dunkirk, elected for the first time in the history of the town a republican mayor in Rome, won in Newburgh, Olean and Amsterdam, and carried six of the seven wards of Elmira the home of Gov. Hill, exactly reversing last year's result in that town. The Sun wants to know who is to blame for this. Of course, the people are to blame.

A visitor in New Orleans says that there are three features of the life in the Creole City that are sure to impress the stranger forcibaly. They are the cemeteries, which are veritable flower-gardens; the language of the French residents, which is spoken every-where and has the pure Parisian accent, and the fact that the negroes on the lower river still sing the old tuneful songs that were heard in slavery days.

It is said that Mr. Mills is coming to New England shortly in the interests of his canvass for the Speakership. It is further said that Mr. Mills is Mr. Cleveland's candidate for the position—whereat our Massachusetts Democratic Representatives will doubtless fall down at once and worship him.

The new year will bring Miss Belgarnie, of the London National Society of Woman's Rights, to New York to lecture on the wrongs of the oppressed sex.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts laid the memorial stone of a new wing of the Princeton Almshouse at Wood Green a fortnight ago.

Seven American girls were registered among the Newham students last month. What's the matter with our Bryan Mawr and Smith Colleges?

Royal Baking Powder is reported by the U. S. Government, after official tests, highest of all in leavening power. It is the best and most economical; a pure cream of tartar Baking Powder.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 195 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 156 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

THE TREATMENT OF RUM DRINKERS.

There is a bill before the Legislature of this State which proposes something of a revolution in the judicial treatment of persons more or less addicted to the drink habit and it ought to become a law. It is a long step forward on the line of true, humanitarian reform. It treats the slave to the habit of liquor drinking more rationally than the laws now in vogue on the subject do, and recognizes the fact that the unfortunate victims are human beings even when intoxicated and are entitled to and should receive fair treatment from the laws.

Mr. L. Edwin Dudley of Boston, who is at the head of the Law and Order League of this State, gives the salient features of the proposed law in the following paragraph from an able letter written by him to the Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee of Legislature a few days ago in which he urges the enactment of the bill with zeal and power:

"In brief, the bill provides for abolishing the system of fines, which we believe does no good, and much harm, which makes an unjust discrimination between those who have money and those who are impecunious. The bill provides that the courts shall by investigation and a system of records ascertain the facts about all persons who arrested for drunkenness, to the end that the court shall be so informed that it can deal with each case intelligently; and, further, it is provided that those who are usually sober, industrious and good citizens, and who but infrequently yield to the temptation of strong drink, shall be allowed to go free, without being taken into court and recorded as criminals. The further provision all will agree is one that should be made. It is simply that those persons who are given up to the habit of intoxication shall be sent to correctional or reformatory institutions long enough to give them an opportunity to overcome their appetite and habits, and to give some hope that they may be reformed and made good citizens."

Another feature should be added and that is that no person quietly walking along the streets, annoying no one and making no disturbance, should be liable to arrest. "Disorderly" conduct should be actual instead of a legal fiction to justify the police in taking a person in charge and locking him up. Under the present practices and perhaps laws intoxication includes, or carries with it, "disorderly," whether the person is actually so or not. This ought not to be law.

But the bill is a long step in the right direction and we hope it will pass.

☞ Mayor Bean's veto of the order to increase the pay of the policemen in this city to $850 a year is printed in another place in this paper. Nobody will deny, whether they think the pay of the police ought to be increased or not, but that the message contains a deal of solid truth. The financial condition of this city forbids extravagance in its expenditures, and property owners who are groaning under the the burden of taxation demand a strictly economical administration of the city's affairs. Whether $850 a year is too much or too little to pay the policemen we are unable to say for the reason that we know nothing about it; but we know, or think we do, that the pay in no other city in the State should be adopted as a rule on which our own city government should act in this matter. What is it worth to do the work? and at what price will good men do it? ought to govern the action of the Mayor and City Council in determining the pay of the police rather than what other cities may or may not do.

☞ When the argument of Louis D. Brandeis before the Joint Committee on the Liquor Law of the Massachusetts Legislature came to the JOURNAL office the other morning it got into the wrong box entirely if the author expected a favorable review to be published of it. It was an argument against the anti-bar law of this State and in favor of open bars, free rum, and all that sort of miserable thing. As an argument it was a very weak affair indeed and the lad of a dozen years who couldn't answer it and put rum advocate Brandeis hors de combat in less than no time would deserve to be taken out behind the barn and cowhided.

☞ Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, M. C. from the Sixth District, advanced sound views on the subject of "Emigration" in a speech which he delivered in the House of Representatives on the 19th of last month. Of the kind of foreign emigrants which have been coming to our shores of late years we have had more than has been beneficial to the country, and it is high time that something was done by Congress to stop the inflow of such people as a large bulk of the weekly arrivals is composed of.

☞ A due regard for the public welfare ought to make the reappointment of Hon. A. B. Coffin to the position he has filled so acceptably for the last four years on the State Board of Gas etc. Commissioners a sure thing.

☞ Gov. Russell has gone as far as he can towards removing Commissioner Osborne (lately investigated) from the Board of Boston Police Commissioners. The Council will take their turn at it in about 3 weeks.

☞ Hon. A. B. Coffin, member of the State Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, will please accept our thanks for a copy of the Board's report for 1890.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Co-op. Bank—Meeting.
Post 161, G. A. R.—Fair.
C. D. Appleton—For Sale.
L. L. Whitney—Pro. Notice.
W. N. Blake et al.—Citation.
J. G. Magnire—Mortgage Sale.
Hump. Ad. Agency—Dog Show.
G. P. Rowell & Co.—H. West, L. Co.
Lock Box 1402—Young Men Wanted.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— Mayor Bean has been on a trip to Virginia.

— Read the change in C. M. Munroe's card.

— There was quite a snow squall last Monday.

— It was disagreeably dusty on our streets early this week.

— Mr. J. R. Carter and wife are expected home by the first of May.

— There was more snow yesterday, but not enough to do any good or hurt.

— Mr. George W. Duren went to Worcester last week to visit friends there.

— Take particular notice of the change in Horton's advertisement this week.

— Thanks for Arizona papers received from Mrs. Jennie Greenleaf the other day.

— Some of W. H. Slater's oil paintings are on exhibition at Buss's drugstore.

— The JOURNAL was in error in stating that the City Reports for 1890 were published.

— Rev. Hugh Montgomery delivered an address at Ballardvale last Monday evening.

— City Solicitor F. P. Curran, Esq., has been suffering from an attack of La Grippe (capitalized).

— On last Tuesday, March 17, St. Patrick's Day, the days and nights were of the same length.

— Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond are at St. Augustine, Florida, enjoying life and oranges to the brim.

— Next month the Friendly Aid Society will pay 160 certificates of $100 each held by people in this city.

— Organist Buck has made up a fine musical programme for next Sunday morning at the Unitarian church.

— The choice of pews in the new M. E. Church will be sold on Tuesday evening, March 24, at 7.30 P. M.

— The equinoctial gale is due in this latitude about these days. It will be well to be on the lookout for it.

— Particular attention is called to the advertisement of the N. E. Kennel Club's Dog Show to be held in Boston.

— According to current report the members of the W. H. S. G. A. do not manifest much interest in the organization.

— The arctic feeling in the atmosphere let up on Tuesday evening, since when the weather has been more moderate.

— Harry Knight got a bad cut in his hand at Mr. E. Rollins's shoe stock factory, where he is employed, last Tuesday morning.

— By general order Octavia E. Dorr of this city has been created Aid on Special Work by the Woman's Relief Corps of the State.

— April 2 has been fixed on for Fast Day. It looks now as though that date is going to be too early to open the baseball season.

— After paying the last bill due from the Pine Tree Club the Treasurer, Mrs. Frances Eames, had just 9 cents left of Club funds.

— Mark well the change in the advertisement of Copeland & Bowser. They are showing some fine spring styles in dry and dress goods.

— Mrs. M. A. Winn is slowly recovering from a severe attack of la grippe. For a time it was reported that she was a very sick lady.

— Rev. Dr. Daniel March of this city delivered an address at the Missionary Conference yesterday afternoon at Park Street Church in Boston.

— While chopping wood at the Jones blacksmith shop last Wednesday Geo. Dargie cut his left thumb nearly off. Dr. Murphy was called to dress it.

— Ada Cary-Sturges returned to her home in Maine last Friday after a very pleasant visit here in Woburn, Boston and elsewhere in this neighborhood.

— Next Sunday is Palm Sunday; a week from to-day is Good Friday; and Sunday 29, is Easter Sunday. Easter falls much earlier this year than usual.

— About the only thing in the way of an entertainment that was indulged in here on St. Patrick's Day was the minstrel show by the St. Charles boys.

— Mr. Charles Wood came up from Lynn last week to pay a visit to his son Henry B. Wood and family in this city. Hs has a plenty of good friends here.

— Mr. Thomas L. Cushman, tenor, of Boston, will sing at the Unitarian Church next Sunday evening. He sang last Sunday night and gave great satisfaction.

— Janitor John Connolly of the Municipal Building has had it too. He has been hauled up for repairs several days. The grip is no respecter of persons.

— Mr. William S. McGregor of the Dow hot houses furnished a large number of cut flowers and English violets for individual contributions to Mr. Blake's funeral.

— Mr. George E. Kimball formerly of this place has recently been elected Secretary of the Evangelical Congregational Society of Hingham Centre where he resides.

— "A Stocking" was the theme of Miss Brown's essay before the Fortnightly Club of Winchester last week. She is one of the bright lights of the Woman's Club of this city.

— Mr. Mathew J. Flood and Miss Adelaide McElroy have plighted their troth and now only wait for the coming out of the apple blossoms to consummate their earthly bliss.

— Rev. H. C. Parker conducted the religious services at the funeral of Miss Mary F. Parker at 708 Main street last week. She left many friends who sincerely mourn her departure to the Better Land.

— The annual meeting of the Woburn Co-operative Bank for the election of officers will be held in Board of Trade Rooms, Dow Block, at 7.30 Thursday evening, April 9.

— The grip, if such is the proper name by which to call the prevailing distemper with which so many persons have recently been suffering, is abating in severity and number of attacks.

— Mr. W R. McIntosh, Chief of Police, has also had a time with the grip and was quite sick. Last Sunday he was threatened with pneumonia, but he is now on the mending hand.

— Mr. Howard Carson, engineer of the Middlesex sewerage system, states that it will take more than four years to complete that system through its 130 square miles, and that the cost will be about $5,000,000.

— Harry L. Flanders, who formerly kept a drugstore in this city, and Miss Victoria Maxwell of Winchester, were united in wedlock at Atlanta, Ga., on the 11th of this month. The JOURNAL tenders congratulations.

— Mr. A. B. Barrett, the long time popular barber in the Joseph Kelley block, has been wrestling with something that very much resembles the grip this week, but is able to be about and attend to business.

— The alarm from box 27 last Tuesday was for a slight blaze in the residence of Mr. W. P. Sevrens on Ward street, No. Woburn, which was extinguished before the services of the hose companies were needed.

— City Clerk Moreland has returned to his post of duty in Municipal Building after a fortnights's outing in the low latitudes for recreation. Mr. Moreland has not been robust for some little time, but is now better.

— Mr. Cushman of Boston, who sang at the Unitarian church in this city last Sunday evening, has a magnificent tenor voice and makes music with it fit for the gods to listen to. He certainly is a splendid singer.

— The postmortem examination of Mr. E. N. Blake by Dr. John M. Harlow, his attending physician, disclosed the fact, as the Doctor supposed it would, that the cause of Mr. Blake's death was a cancer of the stomach.

— A big house greeted the St. Charles Minstrels at Lyceum Hall last Tuesday evening. An announcement that the boys are coming out in their burnt cork always fetches a crowd. The performance was excellent as usual.

— It is expected that a hearing by the Court in the case Boston vs. the Dows, tanners, of this city will take place on next Monday. Their tannery and currying shops are nearly or quite all cleared of workmen and indefinitely closed.

— One of the JOURNAL's most highly prized contributors, Miss J. Gertrude Menard of this city, has recently been elected a member of the New England Woman's Press Association, a position of honor which she is well calculated to adorn.

— The City Press says that Messrs. Stephen Dow & Co., among the largest tanners and curriers in this city, contemplate removing their business to Charlestown, which we have reason to believe is the report of a false rumor on the street.

— Clan MacKinnon, No. 45, O. S. C., will celebrate the third anniversary of their organization by a grand concert at Lyceum Hall on the evening of April 15. A feature of the affair will be the music by Lambette's renowned Scottish Choir and Scottish bagpipes.

— The entertainment to be given in Concert Hall, March 30, consisting of Reading's by Prof. O. T. Curtis, Piano solos by Miss Willard, and a Platter Drill under the supervision of Capt. H. N. Conn, promises to be of unusual interest. Don't fail to be present.

— On the 14, 15, 16 of April Mr. James E. Darmody of this city will give, by engagement, his lightning drill and exhibitions in swinging Indian clubs, at a Fair to be held by the Red Men at Portsmouth, N. H. In these exercises few men are equal to Darmody.

— The second annual convention of the Middlesex County Y. P. S. C. E. will be held in this city on Fast Day, April 2, afternoon and evening. An interesting programme has been laid out. Miss Clara M. Fox of Woburn is a member of the Executive Committee.

— Patrick McGowan has decided to enlarge his Conn street leather establishment by the addition of some 60 feet to its length in order to enable him to do his splitting at home instead of sending it away to be done. This will increase his force of hands quite considerably.

— Mrs. Mary A. Livermore will close the Methodist Church Course of Entertainments on the evening of March 26 with a lecture entitled "Twenty-five Years on the Lecture Platform," which lecture has never had a public delivery. It will be well worth hearing.

— Mr. C. Willard Smith lately returned from New York where he made large purchases of spring dry goods which are all shelved in his big store and open to inspection. All the new spring styles are to be seen in the stock, and as for prices please glance at them in his announcement in this issue of the JOURNAL.

— Two weeks ago the Westboro (Mass.) Board of Trade held their annual meeting and banquet at which the principal speech was made by Mr. C. J. H. Woodbury of Boston. It contained sound business doctrine for towns, and was cordially endorsed by the very large company of ladies and gentlemen present.

— The guitar and banjo concert given at Lyceum Hall last evening under the management of Miss Emma Fosdick, the well known and very successful guitar and banjo teacher, by many skilful performers, was a great success musically and financially. The performers and their work were highly meritorious viewed from the standpoint of musical art or their pleasure imparting power. Miss Fosdick must be given the credit of furnishing one of the very best concerts heard in this city this season. Want of time prevents giving a more extended notice of it.

— It is to be hoped that the Magee Furnace Company will get that Union street school house heating machinery fixed up all right this hitch. The thing has been a nuisance all winter, but our school authorities very properly say: "no heat no pay," and so the Company are making another trial to remedy the evil this week.

— It was about as cold a St. Patrick's Day last Tuesday as any common middle-aged person can easily call to mind. A keen N. W. wind prevailed all day which at times blew with considerable velocity and had it not been for the power of the rays of a mid-March sun the day would have seemed more like December than a spring one.

— The following are the prices paid the call men on Fire Departments of adjacent cities and towns: Woburn $65 per year; Winchester, $35; Medford, $50 and poll tax; Malden, $75 and poll tax; Melrose, $35 and poll tax; Wakefield, $25 and poll tax; Reading, $10 and poll tax, and 50 cents per hour; Stoneham, $35.

— Miss Recording Secretary Bryant makes out a very clean and readable report of the doings of the Woman's Club for 1890-91, which is to be found in this issue of the JOURNAL. While no essential fact is omitted from the report there is no waste of words about it. We are glad to learn from it that the Woman's Club is in a flourishing condition.

— Albert Thompson of Woburn has recently painted a large canvas showing a well-balanced landscape interspersed with cattle. It was a commission for a Western collector.—Frank T. Robinson in Boston Traveller. A full description of the very fine painting above mentioned appeared in the columns of the JOURNAL on its completion by Mr. Thompson.

— It was stated that Liberty Council, Order of United American Mechanics would dedicate their new hall last Wednesday evening but it will not be done until next Wednesday evening. It is reported that the dedication will be an affair of importance and the ceremonies of an interesting character. They have furnished their quarters in elegant style.

— At 6 A. M. last Tuesday morning the weather stood at only 14 above zero in this city which, with the exception of a few mornings, was as cold as any thing we have had since Christmas For St. Patrick's Day 14 above was a tolerably frigid figure, and yet 14 it was. On account of the high wind the night previous was almost as cold as anything experienced here this winter.

— Post 161, G. A. R., advertise to hold a grand Fair on Thursday and Friday evenings next, March 26. 27, by which to obtain funds for the benefit of the Post Relief Fund connected with the same. Emerson, the noted humorist, has been engaged for readings, and good musical entertainments will be given on both evenings. Read the notice of the Fair in another column.

— Judge Clarke of the New Hampshire, before whom the case was tried, has rendered a decision in the Middlesex Investment Company adverse to the holders of the six matured certificates and in favor of the Col. Hayes and his associates who procured the injunction. It is thought the decision will be a death blow to the myriads of "investment" companies here in New England.

— Possibly it was inferred from what the JOURNAL said last week about the Lawrence and Nashua mails that Mr. Postmaster Wyman had caused their discontinuance which inference would have been entirely erroneous. They were discontinued by the P. O. authorities at Washington last Oct., soon after they were established, so of course Mr. Wyman had nothing to do with the matter.

— John E. Gilcreast, son of Supt. Gilcreast of the Woburn Gas Light Co., is just getting over a very hard time he has had with one of his hands. Several weeks ago he burned it with a stove-lifter and getting cold in it he has had serious and critical trouble with it. Dr. Graves has looked after it carefully and skilfully and at last Johnnie has got over the worst of it and his hand will soon be all right again.

— James Skinner, Esq., testified last Tuesday before the Legislative Committee on Public Health in relation to the proposed legislation to change the authority to license the prosecution of offensive trades and took the ground that the present laws on the subject were all-sufficent for public protection. Besides Mr. Skinner quite a number of prominent manufacturers testified in favor of the remonstrance against the change.

— Last week Thursday evening members of Hose Co. 1, of which he was a member for several years and foreman, and other friends at a farewell gathering at the Central House, presented Mr. Charles A. Wood, who left for St. Louis last Monday, with an elegant gold chain and a nice meerschaum pipe in token of the high esteem in which he is held by them. There were no set speeches, but a fine collation was served after the presentation.

— Our esteemed fellow citizen Mr. Patrick E. Tennay was successfully raided for intoxicating liquors on the 12th inst. by Chief McIntosh and Officer McDermott. We regret that our old friend should have fallen into the clutches of the law. At the same time we congratulate the temperance people in this city on their good fortune in having a Chief like McIntosh to wage war against the rumsellers and faithful officers to back him in his efforts to suppress illegal rumselling. Chief McIntosh is no respecter of persons: one violator of the law is no better or worse than another violator of the law, and all are bound to catch it so long as he is at the helm.

— There was a well attended meeting of the Board of Trade on last Tuesday evening whereat matters of public importance were discussed. The subject of the petition of the Postal Telegraph Co. to set poles for their wires in this city was canvassed and then laid on the table. Mr. Horton showed that the present service was all that was needed.——On motion of Secretary Lewis the following committee were chosen to present a list of candidates for next year's officers of the Board, namely: F. H. Lewis, B. F. Whittemore, Alexander Grant, Charles M. Strout, Winthrop Hammond.——Matters pertaining to the annual meeting and banquet were discussed.

— Miss L. M. Fogg (successor to Mrs. N. M. Maxwell), whose neat and attractive millinery parlors are in the Dodge Block corner of Main street and Montvale Ave., has returned from New York City where she has been attending the spring millinery openings this week in order to post herself thoroughly on all the latest fashions in millinery goods and styles in making and trimming preparatory to her own spring opening, the date of which will be announced in due time. Miss Fogg has no doubt as to the utility of visits to the metropolis in pursuit of prevailing fashions nor of the benefits which patrons of her establishment will reap from the same. At the proper date Miss Fogg will open a fine stock of goods.

— A large congregation assembled in the Unitarian church last Friday evening to hear the eloquent Rabbi Solomon Schindler of Boston tell why he is a Jew. To a Christian his reasons for being a Jew were not entirely conclusive, but if he is satisfied with them others ought to be. The Rabbi is something of a sensationalist and likes to make a stir in society and be prominent among his fellowmen; and he manages, through several channels for reaching the public, to keep things humming pretty lively most of the time. His rather unique sort of a lecture was given under the auspices of the Friday Night Club who have furnished the public with some fine entertainments this winter in the shape of lectures, music, etc.

— At 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon Mr. Alexander Brown died at his residence, No. 30 Mt. Pleasant St., in this city after an illness of not long duration. He was born in Scotland on May 21, 1807, which country he left with his parents about 1813 and settled with them in Nova Scotia, where so many intelligent and enterprising Scotchmen have made their homes. About 40 years ago Mr. Brown came to Woburn and has been a respected citizen of the town ever since. He carried on the trade of a carpenter and builder up to some 10 or 12 years ago when he retired. The deceased was an active and honored member of the First Baptist church in this city and an exemplary man in all his habits and modes of life. It was only a few months ago the writer met him on the streets and although almost 84 years old he was as bright as many a man much younger. His wife survives him and had he lived until the 28th of this month Mr. and Mrs. Brown would have celebrated the 58th anniversary of their wedding day. Besides the venerable widow seven of their 14 children remain to mourn the death of a kind and indulgent father. They are; John S., residing in San Francisco, California; William P. in Cambridge; James A., in this city; Charles S., in Boston; Helen L., a teacher in Allston, and two daughters living at home.

— The funeral of Mr. E. N. Blake took place at his late residence on Abbot street at half-past 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon. The Messrs. Tripp, City Undertakers, had charge of it, and the religious services were conducted by Rev. Daniel D. Winn, pastor of First Baptist church in this city, and Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor of the First Parish church. Mrs. Morrill of Boston sweetly sang appropriate selections of music for the sorrowful occasion. A great many beautiful flowers—offerings of love and esteem for the deceased—adorned the rooms and the elegant casket in which peacefully rested the earthly remains of the cherished head of the late happy family and filled the air with their delicious fragrance. There were several floral memorial pieces of artistic design and exquisite finish, that from the Free Masons being among the largest and most beautiful. Many people gathered in the rooms to pay their respects to the memory of a good citizen, kind neighbor and true friend; to leave a last token of their appreciation of his worth and a to pay a fitting tribute to it. These were mostly his townspeople who knew and appreciated him best, but there were other relatives and friends from Boston and elsewhere in attendance on the solemn occasion. The remains were interred in the family lot in Woburn cemetery on Salem street.

— Last Friday evening Burbank Woman's Relief Corps, 84, celebrated the 4th anniversary of their organization by a supper and entertainment at G. A. R. Hall, 424 Main street, and made a very pleasant time of it. About half past 7 the large company sat down to an excellent supper provided by the good ladies of the Corps and ample justice was done it by those who surrounded the board. A feature of the monthly meetings of the Corps is the fine supper served by them to which Comrades of Post 33 and others are always invited. After the repast was finished an address of welcome to the invited guests was made by Mrs. Sarah A. Woodside, President of the Corps, who, after making a brief announcement of the cardinal principles of the organization, gave the following epitome of the Corps work during the 4 years of its existence: turned over to Post 33, $330.90; expended in relief, $129.84; given towards relief, besides money, $140.94; making a total for the time of $601.68, or an annual payment of $150.42. These figures are something to be proud of. After the report Mrs. Woodside said: "What is still more to our credit, from the day of our institution to the present time not one word of discord or unpleasantness has occurred among our members or the comrades of the Post. Perfect harmony and good feeling has prevailed." Then followed speeches by Mayor Bean, members of Post 33 and associate members; some excellent readings by Mrs. B. A. Stearns and Mr. Elmore A. Pierce, and fine piano solos by Miss Lucy Woodside. The evening closed with singing war songs and pipe talks. It was a real, genuine good time.

— The sacred concert given under the auspices of the Knights of Labor at Lyceum Hall last Sunday evening for the benefit of the Lynn Strikers was honored with a very large audience and yielded a handsome sum of money. Calnan's Orchestra furnished fine instrumental music, while the songs by Woburn talent and the Electric Male Quartet of Stoneham were excellent. We think it would be much more sensible for the laboring men of this city to keep what money they have and let outsiders take care of themselves. Hundreds of tanners and curriers here are idle because there is nothing for them to do; many have had no work for weeks and weeks; some—nearly all of them—will get no work for weeks and perhaps months to come; and the idea of contributing funds to the Lynn strikers, or anybody else, under these circumstances, is worse than folly. Before our laborers get work they will need every penny they can rake and scrape together; they need it now; many families are exceedingly destitute of food, fuel and clothing; they will be worse off before summer comes; and still the managers of the Knights call on them for money to help others elsewhere who are no poorer than themselves. The Lynn strike is not a voluntary affair on the part of the workmen. They were ordered out by the officers of the K. of L. and many of them are cursing the officers for it. Only a few days ago we read newspaper interviews with a large number of the Lynn workmen everyone of whom blamed their present troubles on the officers of the K. of L., who they roundly condemned for their meddling. In every interview the men were desirous to get back to their work, but the labor leaders and demagogues will not permit them to do so. If left to themselves the workmen at Lynn would soon settle their difficulties and everybody would be at work earning wages instead of calling on Woburn Knights to collect and send them money to live on. In reality, a large share of the money collected for them goes to buy luxuries for the labor leaders, the officers and bosses.

Woburn Co-operative Bank.

The above institution held its regular meeting on the evening of March 12, and nominated the following gentlemen to be its officers for the coming year. For President, James Skinner; Vice-President, George Buchanan; Treasurer and Secretary, Arthur W. Whitcher; Directors, Benjamin F. Whittemore, Joseph W. Hammond, William F. Davis, Otis Bacon, Lawrence Reade, Martin Hayward, Joseph B. McDonald, Squire B. Goddard, Thomas Salmon, Fred H. Lewis, Henry C. Hall, S. Franksford Trull, Fred J. Brown, Frederic A. Flint and H. Eustis Smith; for Auditors, Charles A. Burdett, Arthur E. Gage and Winthrop Hammond.

There was a lively demand for the money, $2,400 being sold at a premium of 5 cents on a share. Every dollar was taken and $50 over. During the the year past the Bank has disposed of something over $24,000, being an increase over former years by $3000.

A large share of the money bought goes into local improvements—considerable of it into building. Scores of young men in this city have found the Bank a blessing to them for through it they have been enabled to secure homes of their own and to pay for them in the easiest possible way. The institution has from the beginning been officered by careful, liberally disposed men, to which probably may be attributed a considerable share of its popularity and success.

As suggested by the JOURNAL last week as probable the corps of this year's officers, with one or two very slight changes, have been renominated and will no doubt be re-elected.

The fourth annual report of this institution shows 384 members, a gain of 24; and 2210 shares, a gain of 75 over last year. It has $65,875 in real-estate loans; $2020 in share loans, and cash on hand $3,178.55, sold to four members awaiting their pleasure. Last year it had $5,937.54 on hand, unsold, making the years business over $6000 better than last. The Bank has a capital of $70,445.98; a guarantee fund of $182.88; a forfeited share amount of $47.71, and a surplus, after paying all expenses, of six per cent each year for the past four years, and the guarantee fund of $692.88.

The Bank readily sells its money for building purposes and to take up mortgages with. The usual monthly amount sold is from $2,500 to $3,500 and at the April meeting $2,500 will probably be offered. The ninth series of shares, limited to 400, will be for sale on and after March 30, and from present indications it will all be sold before the regular meeting.—X.

The Ashley Hall Concert.

Miss Whittemore, its Preceptress, is making a brilliant success of the Ashley Hall School in this city and the JOURNAL congratulates her on it. Because the talented and accomplished young lady decided to establish her educational institution at Montvale rather than at Woburn Centre many predicted that the worthy scheme would prove abortive, but these people reckoned without their host, for the school is a complete success; it is doing the best of educational work; and it has bedrock for its foundation. Energy, pluck and good practical sense have won the day and Woburn has a young ladies school, or seminary, in the Ashley Hall institution of which it may well feel proud.

Music is a part of the curriculum at the school so a vocal and instrumental concert was given at the Hall on last Friday evening under the direction of Mr. F. H. Lewis, one of the best and best known organists and pianists in this part of Massachusetts. He is at the head of the Lewis Music School in this city, a member of the Faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, and a teacher of wide and enviable reputation. The talent who appeared in the concert were Mr. Lewis, Wulf Fries, the celebrated violoncelloist of Boston who is known the country over as without a rival anywhere on his favorite instrument; and Miss Helen Bullard, a superb soprano and a teacher of renown in Boston. A finer combination of musical talent could hardly be imagined, and the concert was in every respect worthy of the reputation of the eminent artists.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was a good attendance and the people present were highly pleased with the rare musical treat set before them.

Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency,

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

Prepare to Paper now before the Spring Rush.

Lowest Prices, Latest Styles, Largest Stock,

OF WALL PAPERS,

—AT—

HORTON'S WOBURN BOOKSTORE,

412 Main St., opp. Lyceum Hall, Woburn.

First-class Hangers furnished.

The Employers' Liability ASSURANCE CORPORATION

Issue Policies indemnifying Employers against any claim of their Employees arising from Accident while in their employ.

Also, general Accident Policies of all kinds.

S. B. GODDARD, Agent.

Piano-Forte Instruction.

Miss M. L. Bancroft,

12 Franklin Street, Woburn.

Private instruction in Modern Pianoforte Playing. Superior method. Equal attention given to beginners and advanced students.

—ALSO,—

SOLOIST AND ACCOMPANIST.

City Government.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Board held a regular meeting on the evening of March 12. Councilman Simonds only was absent.——A communication was received from Mrs. Mary A. Page, wife of Mr. Albert G. Page, of Central Square, asking for compensation for injuries received by a fall while walking on the sidewalk in front of No. 642 Main street, on March 7.——The appropriations order as amended by the Board of Aldermen was concurred in and passed to adoption.

The following veto message was received from Mayor Bean on the salary of policeman:

To the Honorable, the City Council:—

Gentlemen:—I return herewith without my approval an order relating to the salaries of regular officers on the police force, which originated in your honorable body, was amended, and, as amended, adopted by the Board of Aldermen and the amendment concurred in by you on the 26th ultimo. The order reached me on the fifth instant. It increases the salary of each regular police officer $50 per annum.

I have considered this order and the subject to which it relates with much care, both before and since your action upon it, and have reached a decision which is contrary to the opinion of a majority of the members of each branch of the City Council.

I am opposed to the order because the state of the city's finances and the demands upon her resources, present and prospective, are not such, I think, as to now justify an increase of compensation to employes and officials. I have already had occasion to express this conviction and to base thereon an objection to an increase of salary which had been favorably acted upon by the City Council. The same consideration is conclusive with me in this case.

If I do not mistake greatly the sentiment of our citizens, they generally desire an economical administration of municipal affairs. There is no public demand or reason for any unnecessary expense. I think we are agreed that we should especially concern ourselves at present to lighten the burden of taxation. Any increase of salaries established by your passage, and my approval, of this and other similar orders, must be paid out of money raised by taxation or derived from licenses or other miscellaneous sources. If provided for in the latter way and therefore not affecting the rate of taxation for the current year, yet such additional expenditure will certainly leave a smaller balance of unexpended funds in the treasury at the end of the year, and thus ultimately become a tax. Regarding this as the result of incurring what I deem an unnecessary and unwise expense, I do not feel justified in approving this order.

But I am satisfied that the increase of pay contemplated is not one which on its merits should be allowed. There is no reason to think, as it seems to me, that the service required of the police force in any other city of the Commonwealth is less arduous than in Woburn. On the other hand it is evident that in many cities which are more populous than Woburn the police are exposed to much greater personal danger on many occasions than has hitherto come or is likely to come to them in this city, and that special emergencies more frequently involve greater exposure and more exhausting labors than are found here. If therefore in such cities the salary of regular police officers is greater than the amount which we now pay, it would not necessarily follow that the latter is not proportionately large, even though we make the salaries in other cities the basis on which we establish those to be paid here. Viewed from this standpoint it appears to me that the present salary of each officer is adequate.

Looking at the matter in another way I reach the same conclusion. I have informed myself as to the entire amount paid out in salaries for regular police officers in several cities of the Commonwealth and compared the same with the total amount of appropriations in such cities for all current expenses, aside from the public debt, interest thereon and sinking funds. I find that in some cities, which, comparatively speaking may be termed wealthy, the proportion which the amount of such salaries bears to the amount of appropriations above indicated is somewhat larger than in Woburn and indeed in such cities, salaries generally appear to be higher than here. But in other cities the reverse is true and the percentage is less than it is here on the basis of the present salary of $800. This I think a better basis of comparison than the mere statement of the sum paid to each officer in the several cities.

I, however, maintain that we are likely to reach wrong conclusions if we base them merely on any such comparison. The circumstances are different in different cities, the rate of taxation varies, the amount of money at the disposal of the various City Governments differs greatly and out of proportion to the actual demand. We should, I contend, decide such matters as this, according to the circumstances which encompass us, and guided in this case by the facts and circumstances which, in opinion relate to and surround it, the conclusion which I have reached is that the salary of the regular officers as now fixed at $800 is a reasonable compensation for the services they perform; that the aggregate salary list of regular officers is at least a just proportion of our total appropriations; that if comparison is desired, it is as large a proportion as prevails in many other cities of the Commonwealth; that in some cities where the salary is higher than in Woburn the labor performed and the hardship and personal danger involved is much greater, and that, besides these special considerations, it is not wise to now put any additional expense upon the city not imperatively required. I therefore veto the order.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE P. BEAN, Mayor.

Woburn, Mass., March 7, 1891.

The order vetoed failed to pass, the vote being: Yeas, Cutler, Kendrick, McAvoy, O'Donnell, Weafer and Waldron; Nays, Bowers, Hanson, Larkin and Littlefield; 6 yeas and 4 nays, as one more vote was required for the necessary two thirds the order was lost——James Dolan was elected Assistant Assessor in Ward 2.

Advance Sale.

The advance sale of tickets for the Winchester Wedgmere Tennis Club Negro Minstrels will take place at box office of the hall Saturday, March 28, at 7 o'clock, P. M. Orders for tickets may be left at Buss's drug store, Woburn, till noon of that day. Prices: 50 and 75 cents.

[Original.]

IN HARBOR.

A white sail almost listlessly droops o'er
A calm and placid sea,
And undulating hill and glittering shore
Rise on the quiet lea.
Slowly, with morn, the brown hills steal around,
And lo! the boat her anchorage hath found
Within the haven of eternity.
So passed the spirit of the one we love
Where no more shadows loom!
And hearts, but human, weep, as slow we move
Unto the waiting tomb:
And hearts, but human, break: and love and law
Are hard to reconcile; and truth can draw
Few hopeful lessons from the bitter gloom.
"There is no grief like mine!" Poor, burdened heart,
It is the wonted moan
Of thousands thronging life's bewild'ring mart:
And thou art not alone
In thy peculiar adversity:
The ear of God is open to thy cry.
O, 'mid thy tears, still say: "Thy Will be Done!"
[Frank W. Hall, Boston University, Boston.

It's economical—Brussels soap.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. At 4 p. m. Men's meeting at the Rooms.

UNITARIAN.—Preaching by the pastor at 10 30 a. m. Subject: Palm Sunday as a parable of life. Lecture by Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke of Newton, Mass., at 7 p. m.

BAPTIST—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject: "America for Christ." At 6 p. m. Christian Endeavor Society; at 7 p. m. Short Sermon. Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

METHODIST.—At 10 30 a. m. preaching by Rev. William J. Hamilton; at 6 p. m. Epworth League; at 7 p. m. prayer and praise meeting. Wednesday evening prayer meeting. Friday evening class meeting.

CONGREGATIONAL—At 10.30 a. m. preaching by the pastor. Prelude: "Hosanna Day." Sermon: "The Third Word of the Cross, Home." Young people's meeting at 6 p. m. Preaching by the pastor at 7 p. m. Subject: "The Time of Visitation." The usual meetings Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Married.

At Atlanta, Ga., on March 11, 1891, Mr. Harry Lincoln Flanders, formerly of Woburn, Mass., and Miss Victoria Maxwell, daughter of Mr. John Maxwell of Winchester, Mass. The present home of the newly married couple is at the St. Charles Hotel, Pella City, Ala.

Died.

Date, name, and age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, March 12, Bernard Reddy, aged 62 years.

In this city, March 12, Ebenezer N. Blake, aged 70 years, 7 months.

In this city, March 13, Alexander Brown, aged 83 years, 9 months, 22 days.

In this city, March 13, Peter Clark, aged 78 years.

In this city, March 13, Mary E. Flynn, 3 months, 25 days.

In this city, March 17, Rebecca Holmes, aged 38 years.

In this city, March 19, Mary E. Brevier, aged 21 years, 10 months, 1 day.

In this city, March 19, Patrick Collins, aged 53 years.

In Burlington, March 12, Sarah Jane Paterson, aged 33 years, 7 months.

That Tired Feeling

Is experienced by almost everyone at this season, and many people resort to Hood's Sarsaparilla to drive away the languor and exhaustion. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves sluggishly through the veins, the mind fails to think quickly, and the body is still slower to respond.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is just what is needed. Read what is said by Mr. C. Parmelee, 349 Bridge Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.: "I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic, and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling."

"For years I was sick every spring, but last year took Hood's Sarsaparilla in February and have not seen a sick day since." G. W. SLOAN, Milton, Mass.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels,

LOOK

— AT OUR —

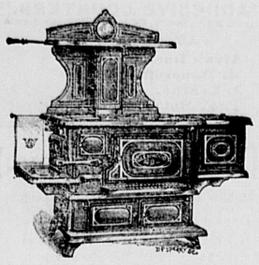
LLMA CLOTH,

A new fabric, 30 inches wide and only 12½ cents a yard.

Also at our large assortment of FLOWER SEEDS, at 3 cents a paper now on hand.

Copeland & Bowser

355 Main St.



A. L. HOLDRIDGE,

AGENT FOR THE

Glenwood Cook

— AND —

Garland Oil Stoves.

Farming Tools and Garden Seeds of all kinds. Stoves stored for the Summer. Blacked and set up in the Fall at reasonable rates.

The Annual Report of the W. W. C., 1890-1891.

Whe Woburn Woman's Club was organized in 1883 with a charter membership of 95, and to-day it has 155 members, a gain of 36 over last year. There have been held during this Club year 17 meetings—7 before the summer recess, and nine afterwards; also a lawn party on June 27. Two "home talent" meetings have been held—one in the form of a memorial service. The annual reception was given on the evening of Jan. 16, and a special meeting was called on Feb. 4, to meet Mrs. Helen Campbell. For fourteen meetings we have been indebted to lecturers from abroad for entertainment and instructions.

The annual meeting of 1890-'91 was held on the afternoon of Friday, March 7, in Concert Hall. Mrs. Lucy E. B. Converse, who had so ably filled the office of President during the previous Club year, yielded to the general and urgent wishes of the members to assume for a second term that honored role. Two new Vice-Presidents were elected, a new Recording Secretary, a new Treasurer, and two new Directors. After all business was disposed of, Mr. Clarke of North Woburn gave a talk on "Physical Culture," illustrating his remarks by taking the various exercises described.

This Club had only just entered on its year of 1890-91, which promised to be so bright, when it received a sudden shock in the death of its first President, EMMA PUTNAM KELLEY. That it might in some way express its deep love and respect for this noble woman and pay a loving tribute to one whose memory it held so sacred, the afternoon of March 20 was devoted to a service in memory of its founder. They who took part in this service were the friends and classmates of Mrs. Kelley and her co-workers. Mrs. J. K. Adams spoke of Mrs. Kelley's efforts in the formation of the W. W. C.; of her organization of the W. E. S. L.; of her interest in the W. H. A. W.; and of her many other generous works for the good of her town-folks. Mrs. C. G. Johnson drew a picture of Mrs. Kelley in her school-days. Mrs. F. W. Hill spoke of Mrs. Kelley in her home life and friendships, and in her final illness so patiently endured. An original poem of Mrs. Kelley's was read by Mrs. S. Adelaide Porter.

Resolutions on the death of Mrs. Kelley were submitted to the Club by Mrs. E. Maria Bean. It was voted they should be adopted, and that a copy should be sent to the bereaved family and friends.

On Friday, April 4, the Club listened for the first time to Prof. W. O. Crosby of the B. S. N. H whose subject, the "Geology of Woburn," proved of interest to all. Prof. Crosby illustrated his remarks by means of charts, and he exhibited geological specimens which he had collected in his many rambles about our city.

The Club passed an enjoyable afternoon on Friday, April 18, listening to Rev. H. Bernard Carpenter's paper on the "Poetry of Poverty"—that is, poverty as represented by the poets. Little did we think that this genial nature, this fine intellect, would never again delight us; that the summer would call from earth a man whose literary career promised so rich a fulfilment.

The Club was interested in hearing, on May 2, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, whose lecture on "Organization" was able and eloquent.

On May 16, Miss Frost, who had kindly acted as our delegate to the convention held in N. Y. city in April by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, gave us an interesting account of the proceedings during the 3 days the Federation was in session. After the acceptance of this report, Mrs. Mary E Blake read a paper on "Juvenile Literature."

With the flowers and sunshine of June there came to us Mrs. Livermore who brightened by her presence the afternoon of June 6. Her answer to the question "Has the Night of Death no Morning?" was as full of faith in a better and truer life hereafter as was the day full of sunshine and beauty.

On the afternoon of June 27, the officers of the Club gave to the members and ex-officers and to other guests from the Malden, Melrose and Winchester Women's Clubs, a Lawn Party on the grounds of Mrs. Converse and Mrs. Hayward. The President and two Vice-President's received many guests from four to six. Simple refreshments of cake and lemonade were served. After the two hours had been pleasantly passed the Club separated for the summer vacation.

The literary exercises of the first fall meeting on Oct. 17, were conducted by members of the Club, this being the second home meeting of the year. Two excellent and original papers were read—one on "Housekeeping and Home-making" by Mrs. Alice M. Barker; the other on "Co-operative Housekeeping" by Mrs. Jennie Kelley Adams.

On Nov. 7, Miss O. M. E. Rowe lectured on the "Heredity of Character and Ability." The subject was treated from a scientific standpoint by one whose mind is well stored with a knowledge of the sciences that relate closely or remotely to the study of Heredity.

The meeting of Nov. 21, was held in the evening that others not members might listen to Mr. John Baker's recitals of Russia's cruelties toward her political prisoners and exiles with which sorry classes of sufferers the Baker family was closely associated.

On Dec. 5, the Club had the good fortune of welcoming for a second time Julia Ward Howe, who read a paper on "Marriage and Divorce." From her character and mental ability, from her knowledge of people and books, Mrs. Howe is peculiarly fitted to discuss such vital questions and her paper received our earnest consideration. By request Mrs. Howe recited her "Battle Hymn of the Republic," prefacing its recital by a sketch of its birth and subsequent history.

The Club warmly welcomed, on Dec. 20, the gifted daughter of Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, a graceful writer and pleasing speaker. Her paper on the "Art of Conversation" was carefully prepared from studies of society as well as from books and will be productive of the Club's improvement from a conversational standpoint. A delightful afternoon was passed on Jan. 2, in listening to Mrs. Erving Winslow read from Ibsen's "Doll's House."

The Club held its annual reception and a supper in Music Hall on the evening of Jan. 16. The President and Vice-President, assisted by those ladies from out of town who were invited to address the Club, received the members and their guests. After an hour or more had been agreeably spent in conversation the way was taken to the hall where supper was served for 240 guests. After the supper was finished the President gave a graceful address of welcome, which was followed by music and speeches successively. The speakers of the evening were Mrs. Kate Tannatt Woods, Mrs. Bernard Whitman, Rev. Ada C. Bowles and Dr. Alice G. Bryant. The Saint Cecilia's rendered many vocal selections in their own delightful way. Miss How of Boston sang several solos and Miss Bancroft played the accompaniments on the piano most pleasingly. The Club may be pardoned for feeling some pride in this pretty reception which went off so harmonious.

A special meeting was called on February 4, to meet Mrs. Helen Campbell. From 2.30 until 3 an informal reception was held. Mrs. Campbell's paper proper, began with the position of women in the home and in the business world fifty years ago. She traced women's growth in their efforts toward obtaining an independent living from 1840 to the present time, and she quoted freely from labor statistics to corroborate her statements.

We spent the afternoon of Feb. 6, most delightfully in Japan with Rev. E. G. Porter as our courier. The scenery, architecture and customs of Japan, its people, religion and its system of education, were all so graphically described that one felt as though one had in reality beheld the sights and heard the sounds so vividly depicted.

The meeting of Feb. 19, was one long and pleasantly to be remembered as the time we greeted one whom we have long wished to see and hear, Louise Chandler Moulton. Mrs. Moulton gave us in a bright, amusing way her Impressions of London Society. She graciously granted our wishes and recited three of her poems "The Dead Men's Holiday," "The Way to Arcady" and "The Name on a Door."

This last year has been a busy and prosperous one: we have become an incorporated body; our membership has increased; our treasury has the necessary funds for our existence; our meetings have been unusually interesting; we have listened to the best of speakers on a variety of subjects; and we have tried to become better acquainted with one another in our few social gatherings.

Some of the advantages of our joining the Federation of Women's Clubs have been: the sending of a delegate to the convention held by that body in New York last April, the many courtisies extended to our President, and the invitations sent to the Secretaries and Treasurer by other Women's Clubs, thus enabling the members of ours to become better acquainted with the members of others, and to study the different methods in use in other societies of women.

May we grow in numbers, in wealth, in sociableness, and attain a high standard of excellence that shall be worthy our first President, EMMA PUTNAM KELLEY.

GRACE M. BRYANT,
Recording Secretary.

Spring Goods.

New Dress Goods

50 inch Ladies' Suitings, 50 cents a yard.

Colored Cashmeres, 50 cents. New and desirable Shades.

Handsome Plaids, 50 cents a yard.

Silk Warp Colored Henriettas, $1.00 a yard.

Good Cashmeres, Black and Colors, only 25 cents a yard.

C. Willard Smith

399 & 401 Main St., Woburn

Ye Soft Soap Days.

Time was when the hard wood ashes were stored away in barrels; when the household fat was saved, and in the spring out came a leach, and then began the making of the year's supply of soft soap. But now all this is changed, and when soap is needed, it is secured at the store, and "ten times out of nine," as Artemus Ward used to say, the order will go in for Brussels soap, for that is the best and most economical.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever, Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. L. Flanders & Co.

Bismarck says of Brussels soap. "Mit dot soap I can vash myselluf mit von hand und chew a pretzel mit der udder von."

North Woburn.

Miss Carrie Parks is quite seriously ill.

The Good Will Club held a meeting and sociable in the vestry of the Congregational church on last Wednesday evening.

The shadow party in connection with the sociable which took place in the vestry of the Congregational church on last Friday evening was a charming success. The ladies produced some very affective shadows which sold very rapidly and netted a goodly sum. After the gentlemen had feasted to their hearts content upon the shadows and their well filled lunch baskets, a short entertainment was given, of which the most pleasant features were the readings by Mr. O. T. Curtis and the singing by the female quartet.

The alarm from box 27 was for a slight blaze in the rear part of Mr. William Sevrens house on Ward street. The fire is supposed to have caught among some rags, and would have resulted in quite a serious blaze had not Mrs. Sevrens worked with great zeal. But although the fire had got under considerable headway before she discovered it, she had it entirely extinguished by the time the firemen appeared on the scene. On account of the bell not ringing in the alarm the firemen of this Ward knew nothing about the fire until it was all out.

It is idle curiosity that prompts a boy to look upon the "true inwardness" of a gun, and immediately afterward throw both heels clear out of sight behind the clouds, but it is pure necessity that causes the prudent housewife to use the economical Brussels soap.

Y. M. C. A.

Boys meeting at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Prayer service at 3.30 p. m. Sunday for Christian men.

Men's meeting at 4 p. m. Sunday.

On the 30th the "Unique" entertainment will be given by the Woman's Auxiliary, and will consist of reading by Mr. Curtis, vocal and instrumental, music besides A PLATTER DRESS PARADE under the instruction of Capt. H. N. Conn.

Monday evening reception to members of Association and Auxiliary. President Mr. W. W. Hill of the Association and President Mrs. E. T. Dow of Auxiliary will receive the members and their guests in the parlor from 7 to 8. Mr. E. K. Hood, Elocutionist, of Lynn, Mass., and Miss May Bosby, soprano soloist of Boston, will be present to entertain the members after reception, in Concert Hall. The Reception Committee of the Auxiliary will serve refreshments during the evening.

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills.

An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles and constipation. Splendid for men, women and children. Smallest, mildest, surest. 50 doses for 25 cents. Samples free at Charles H. Buss' Drug Store.

Burlington.

The Agricultural Society gave a successful dancing party in the Town Hall, Tuesday evening.

The annual town meeting was appointed to be held Monday but as the town clerk was prevented by sickness from attending and the town reports did not come from the printer's until that day, the meeting was adjourned for one week, until Monday, March 23.

The Republicans of this town will hold a meeting at 7.30 o'clock, Saturday evening, March 21, in the Selectmen's Room to elect delegates to attend a convention to be held in Tremont Temple in Boston on Wednesday, March 25, to elect delegates to the National Republican League Convention to be held at Cincinnati.—X.

The following items are taken from the printed town reports. The number of births for 1890 was 8—males 2, females, 6; marriages, 5; deaths, 9—males, 5, females, 4. The whole number of dogs registered for the year was 55—males, 53, females, 2.

The number of paupers at the almshouse for the year was 3; number of of tramps, 163.

The town library contains 2130 volumes. The circulation in 1890 was 1100. A very important part of the report this year is the Valuation List of the town. In the Assessors report we find the following items:

Total value of Real Estate,	$416,394 00
Total value of Personal Estate,	93,700 00
Number of Polls, 176.
Tax rate per $1000,	11 90
Number of acres of land assessed, 7,328.
Number of dwelling houses, 134 1-2.
Number of horses, 245.
Number of cows, 412.
Number of swine, 384.

The Superintendent of schools, Mr. G. M. Wadsworth, appends his first annual report to that of the school committee.

An Appeal to Editors.

EDITOR JOURNAL: The bill for municipal suffrage for women will soon come up for discussion in the Legislature. This bill is in behalf of the only class of adult citizens who are politically helpless. They have personal and public interests, just as men have. These interests have to be legislated for. But women have no Senators or Representatives elected by themselves, and they are never members of the Legislature. Hence they are comparatively powerless as regards all legislation for themselves. Any man can see how unjust it would be if he were treated in the same way. It is equally unjust to treat women so. The public will see this, and will sustain the passage of the municipal woman suffrage bill if editors of newspapers will state the case, and urge it as its justice demands. Please express yourself editorially in its favor, and oblige,

LUCY STONE.

Boston, March, 1891.

Mellin's Food is put up in glass bottles, and is in the form of a fine, granular powder, consisting entirely of soluble and assimilable matter; it is not the bulky indigestible product of the miller or baker, but is the result of skillful manipulation, by careful and uniform chemical processes based upon scientific principles.

WINCHESTER.

F. L. Ripley has gone to California.

Polls are to be opened next Monday at 12 o'clock meridian.

Major Winn has recovered from an attack of la grippe.

The Wedgemere Tennis will give a minstrel show on Fast Day evening, April 2.

Mrs. C. E. Swett will fill the office of Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society another term.

Rev. John J. Blair of Andover preached for Rev. Wm. Newton last Sunday, and he preached well too.

Last week's Star contained an excellent biographical sketch of Mr. Sumner Richardson from the pen of his relative Mr. N. A. Richardson.

Mrs. Editress Theo. P. Wilson of the Star read an interesting paper before our principal ladies literary club, the Fortnightly, which was highly spoken of by the critics.

Miss Emily G. Wetherbee, of the Lawrence High School, read an interesting paper on "Reading for the Young" before the Winchester Fortnightly Club on the afternoon of Monday, March 16.

"Chipman's Liver Pills

the best in the world. Never gripe or make you sick. They are purely vegetable, and will sure cure your bilious trouble. All who use them speak well of them. Sold by all druggists."

Young Men Wanted.

Five men wanted to devote part of their leisure time to something that will pay them well. Those having steady employment preferred.

Address Lock Box 1452, Woburn.

DOG SHOW.

NEW ENGLAND KENNEL CLUB ORGANIZED MARCH 9 1864

MECHANICS' HALL, HUNTINGTON AVENUE, March 31, April 1, 3 and 4.

1500 NOTED PRIZE DOGS.

The largest show ever held in America. 20 CELEBRATED TRICK DOGS perform every day and evening. Admission 50 cents; Children half price.

N. B. Special attractions FAST DAY, April 2.

G. A. R. FAIR.

POST 161.

Two Nights: Mar. 26 & 27.

Post Hall, Savings Bank Block.

OBJECT:—Increase of Post Relief Fund.

Prof. Emerson, the well known Humorist and Impersonator, and other talent will appear.

Supper Served Each Evening From 6 to 8 o'clock.

SINGLE ADMISSION, 15 CENTS.
SEASON TICKETS, 25 CENTS.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ebenezer N. Blake, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument puporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Warren N. Blake, Harrison G. Blake, and Joseph B. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, and that they may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on their bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

WOBURN Co-operative Bank.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the Shareholders will be held in the Board of Trade rooms, Dow's Block, on Thursday, April 9,

at 7.30 P. M., for the purpose of electing Officers and Auditors for the ensuing fiscal year, and for any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

A. W. WHITCHER, Secretary.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Edwin Richardson, late of Woburn in the County of Middlesex, Massachus tts, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to LEWIS L. WHITNEY, Adm.

Woburn, Mass., March 19, 1891.

DEFAULTED KANSAS MORTGAGES

Bought, collected, foreclosed property examined. Charges reasonable. Information free. Write us.

Hartford Western Land Company.

(INCORPORATED CAPITAL, $50,000),

Wichita, - - - - - Kansas.

WEST MEDFORD.

FOR SALE—A desirable estate on line of B. & L. R. R., 2 minutes' walk from station, containing 21,000 feet of land, house and stable; both have all modern conveniences, house of 12 rooms and bath; stable accommodates 7 horses; large lawns, fruit and shade trees. Apply to CHAS. D. ADDISON, 155 Blackstone street, Boston.

Finishing Wanted.

Wanted, a few hundred sides of rough stock finished in GLOVE, PEBBLE and RUSSET GRAINS.

Also, Bottom Price for finishing splits. Quote lowest price by mail to

P. O. BOX 1260,
WOBURN, MASS.

550 MILES.

The white paper used in one edition of the

BOSTON SUNDAY HERALD,

Would make a strip two feet wide and five hundred and fifty miles long.

SEE Saturday's Boston Herald for the contents of next Sunday's Herald.

The ablest and cleanest Newspaper published in New England. No Objectionable News or Advertising.

Just the Paper for your Family to read.

NEW WINE

Should not be put into old bottles. No more should new offices be filled with old furniture. Thousands of new offices are being made ready for lease, and we suggest to the leasers to call upon us for their new furniture. We have it in every style and price.

Keeler & Co.

Washington Street, cor. Elm, just beyond Adam's Square, BOSTON.

Mortgagee's Sale

— OF —

REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Ann Doherty to John W. Johnson of Woburn in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Trustee under the will of Adelaide A. Eaton, dated January 15, 1889, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Libro 1852, Folio 353, and by said John W. Johnson, Trustee, assigned to Hugh McCafferty by assignment dated May 10, 1890, recorded with said Deeds, Book 2000, Page 42, for a breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Saturday the eleventh day of April, A. D., 1891, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in the westerly part of said Woburn, on the northerly side of Sheridan St., and bounded and described as follows, namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises on said Sheridan street, at land of Sewall Taylor; thence the line runs easterly, by and with said Sheridan street, one hundred and ninety-eight feet to land now, or formerly, of James Doherty; thence notherly, on and by said land of Doherty ninety nine and one-half feet to land now, or formerly, of Mrs. Hanley; thence westerly, by said land of Hanley and by land now, or formerly, of Bartholomew Hogan, one hundred and ninety-nine feet to said land of Taylor; thence southerly, by said land of Taylor, ninety-nine and one-half feet to the point of beginning: Being the same premises described in two deeds to said Ann Doherty; one from Philip Doherty, dated March 21, 1867, recorded with Middlesex (South District) Deeds, Book 1007, Page 318; the other from John Doherty, dated December 19, 1867, and recorded with Middlesex (So. District) Deeds, Book 1026, Page 526.

$100.00 of the purchase money will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

HUGH McCAFFERTY, Assignee and present holder o said Mortgage.

JOHN G. MAGUIRE, Attorney.

Woburn, March 16, 1891.

Sheriff's Sale.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

WOBURN, March 3, 1891.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction, at my office, No. 424 Main street, in said Woburn, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1891, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all the right, title, and interest, liable to be taken on execution, that Charles M. Wendall, of said Woburn, had on the 3d day of February, A. D. 1890, that being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, with the building thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land situated in Woburn, in said County, with the buildings thereon, on the northerly side of a private way leading out of Beach street and bounded as follows; namely:—Beginning at the southwesterly corner of the premises at a stake and stones at said private way; thence the line runs easterly, on and by said private way, about ten rods to a wall at land formerly of John Nelson; thence northerly by land last named by the wall to land belonging to the City of Woburn; thence westerly by land last named about ten rods to another stake and stones at land supposed also to belong to one Woodland; thence southerly by land last named about twenty-seven rods to the bound first mentioned; containing about one and one-half acres, more or less.

Also, at the same time and place, all the right, title, and interest that the said Charles M. Wendall had on the said 3d day of February, liable to be taken on execution, in and to the following described real estate with the buildings thereon, to wit:—A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Woburn, on the northerly side of Charles street, and bounded as follows, namely:—Southerly by said Charles street; easterly by land of Simeon Weymouth; northerly by land of said Weymouth, and by land formerly of Alfred G. Carter; westerly by land formerly of one Thurston.

JOHN E. TIDD, Deputy Sheriff.

New Bargains At BONELLI'S

22 Franklin St., Woburn.

Peacock Blue Henrietta, Silk Warp, 80c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Black India Twill, 46 inches wide, 65c., sells in Boston for 75c.

Wine Color Henrietta, 46 in. wide, 75c., sells in Boston for $1.00.

Seal Brown Henrietta, 44 in. wide, 60c., sells in Boston for 75c.

We will give anyone a Dress Pattern of the above goods if they can match them in Boston Retail Stores for less than our prices quoted as Boston prices.

We would be pleased to have you take up this offer.

WANTED,

Near the first of April, a strong willing young woman, between twenty and thirty years of age, for nursery and chamber work, in a family where there are three children under six years. Best of reference required.

Address with particulars,

C. E. G.,
Winchester,
Mass.

For Sale.

Valuable improvement property for investment, on the corner of Main and Richardson streets. House contains 9 rooms and in first-class repair. Also, Barn, Carriage and Greenhouses, Hennery, Shed, &c., &c., and about 40,000 feet of land, with frontage on Main street about 153 feet, Richardson street about 412 feet (no waste land), every foot of this valuable land available for building purposes; as an investment it is the best on that part of Main street for dwelling or business. The south part of Main street is fast becoming a business centre; such a chance is seldom offered. Anyone who desires an absolutely safe and profitable investment for the present, and one which holds forth such excellent prospects for increased future value are advised to look this estate over thoroughly. Terms easy.

SALEM STREET.

Fine double dwelling house 17 rooms, Bay Windows, about 20,000 feet of land. This property is in first-class repair. Call and get full particulars. Terms easy.

BEACON STREET.

2 Houses. The income is $23 a month. The buildings are in first-class repair, good frontage, high and dry. Easy terms.

Also, bargains in houses on Beacon, Grove, Bennett, Glenwood, Church, Bedford, Vining Court, and High street, &c., &c. Also, beautiful house lots at your own terms, within 5 minutes of City Hall. It will pay you to look these house lots over. High and dry and in first-class neighborhood.

Also, tenements to let. Rents collected, &c.

Money to Loan on Easy Terms.

Office open in the evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

WANTED, Real Estate of all kinds to sell or To Let.

E. J. GREGORY,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Office, 396 Main St., Woburn.

TRY OUR Best Old Gov. JAVA COFFEE,

35c. Per Pound.

We guarantee it the very best Java, all straight goods and no mixture.

Boston Branch Tea and Grocery House,

327 & 329 Main St.

FITZ & STANLEY.

404 Main St., WOBURN.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the Public of Woburn and vicinity that he has opened the above premises formerly occupied by F. M. Frye, as an Upholstery and Furniture and Repair shop.

Having had 27 years of experience—worked with leading firms in Boston, at A. H. Davenport and Keeler & Co., also in the best Houses of Paris and London.

I guarantee firstclass work at reasonable prices.

F. SCHWARTZ.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Ann Bell Skinner, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Jennie E. Skinner, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond pursuant to said will and statute;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

PROBATE COURT,

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To all persons interested in the Trusts under a deed of Oliver B. Coolidge of Woburn, in said County given to Ebenezer Lawrence, in trust, and recorded with said Middlesex (So. Dist.) deeds, Book 290, Page 212;

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a petition has been presented to said Court by Warren N. Blake of said Woburn, praying to be appointed Trustee under said deed;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first Tuesday of April next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE M. BROOKS, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

J. H. TYLER, Register.

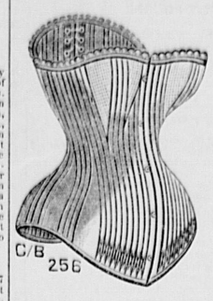
G. McGREGOR FLORIST,

Church Avenue.

Beautiful designs in all kinds of Greens and Flowers is a specialty with him.

Magnificent Flowers for evening wear in the shape of boquets and wreaths for the dress etc.

Mr. McGregor's English Violets are the finest in the market. Either Wedding or Funeral flowers will be at prices lower than anywhere else. Special designs furnished immediately and at the shortest notice.



Six new styles added to my already very large stock making the finest assortment I have ever exhibited.

I offer specially new features and superior fitting qualities. No more unsightly showing of the corset through the dress across the shoulders.

Dry Goods and Millinery House of A. Cummings

367 & 369 Main St., Woburn.

Genuine Bargains!

Always to be obtained by all who are in want of

Strictly All-Wool Fabrics,

For Ladies', Gents', Youths' or Children's Wear,

In all Weights and of the Latest Shadings and Styles.

The many who have availed themselves of the bargains offered by us in the past can testify to this, and all in want in the future are invited to send for samples and prices before supplying themselves elsewhere and be convinced.

All the Remnants and Imperfect goods made at the Assabet Mills also sold by us, and they are offered at PRICES LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Write for Samples or gives us a call.

The People's Dry Goods Company,

MAYNARD, MASS.

Just what you are looking for. The chance to save a Dollar by getting your Meats, &c., at the

CASH MARKET,

DOW'S BLOCK, 312 Main St., Woburn.

GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES IN HEAVY-WEIGHT GOODS,

— AT —

G. R. GAGE & CO., FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - - - Woburn.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

— AT —

DODGE'S JEWELRY STORE.

PRICES REASONABLE.

347 MAIN STREET, - - - - - WOBURN.

Ladies Wanted

To call and examine our large stock of Wall Paper selling at cost. New Goods.

Fine Wall Paper,	5c.
Extra Fine Wall Paper,	10c.
Gilt Papers,	8 & 10c.
Best Gilt,	15c.

Window Shades at Boston Prices and put up free of charge. Paper Hangers furnished.

C. E. SMITH, 439 Main street, opp. Central House, Woburn. Branch Store: Main Street, Stoneham.

M. BANCROFT,

345 Main Street, WOBURN.

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES,

Slippers, Rubbers, &c.

FULL LINE

Goodyear Glove Rubbers.

ALSO DEALER IN

Sewing Machines

AND FINDINGS.

Have you smoked the famous La Corona de Fifield, sold at Cyrus's Cigar Store, 339 Main street?

Globe Dental Parlors

227 Tremont St., Boston.

GAS FREE for the painless extraction of teeth. Fillings inserted at reasonable prices.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH Only $8.00 per Set.

Guaranteed to fit or no pay. Advice concerning the teeth cheerfully given. All work warranted.

C. A. BILLS, D. D. S.,
F. A. CROSSMAN, M. D. } Managers.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

227 Tremont St., BOSTON.

The Metropolitan MARKET

Has constantly on hand

Meats, Poultry, Vegetables, &c.,

Fine great Turkeys, Ducks, Chickens, Mince Meats, Juicy Roasts, Tender Steaks, Tongues, Choicest Vegetables and Fresh Fruits of all kinds.

Prices Very Low.

Special attention is paid to the prompt delivery of all goods.

J. DURWARD, Jr.

W. H. Brine

1 and 3 Tremont Street., Cor. Pemberton Square, BOSTON.

Only Place of Business.

JOB PRINTING Of all kinds neatly done at the JOURNAL Office, 551 Main Street, Woburn.

ELISHA'S DEFENDERS.

LESSON XII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 22.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings vi, 8-18. Commit Verses, 15-17—Golden Text, II Kings vi, 16—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

8. "Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp."

Between the story of Naaman and Gehazi and this lesson the Holy Spirit has written the record of a house building near Jordan by the sons of the prophets, and the miraculous recovery of a lost ax, from which we see the need, humanly speaking, of the money which Naaman offered Elisha; but the prophet prefers to rely wholly and only upon the God of Israel.

9. "And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place, for thither the Syrians are come down."

How often we are reminded that "All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do," and that "The eyes of the Lord are in every place beholding the evil and the good" (Heb. iv, 13; Prov. xv, 3)! But here is wondrous grace and continued grace to a wicked man. The king of Israel was Jehoran, son of Ahab, and he wrought evil in the sight of the Lord, cleaving unto the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat (chap. iii, 1-3), and yet this is not the first time that God has shown him kindness through Elisha.

10. "And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once, nor twice."

"God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this, that power belongeth unto God," and this power is continually being put forth on behalf of sinful man to bring back his soul from the pit, but though God speaketh once—yea, twice—yet man perceiveth it not (Ps. lxii, 11; Job xxxiii, 14, 29).

11. "Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing."

It was not his sins that troubled him, but the fact that he could not catch his prey, and that his enemy so successfully eluded him.

12. "Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber."

Like the servants of Naaman, these servants seem wiser than their master, for "Great men are not always wise" (Job xxxii, 9).

13. "And he said, Go and spy where he is, that I may send and fetch him."

The Lord so effectually hid Elijah that Ahab and all his searchers could not find him anywhere in all the land (I Kings xviii, 10). He also hid Baruch and Jeremiah so that their enemies could not find them (Jer. xxxvi, 26). Yet this unbeliever thinks to capture one who could say of God, "Thou art my hiding place; Thou shalt preserve me from trouble; Thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance" (Ps. xxxii, 7). "The wicked watcheth the righteous and seeketh to slay him, but the Lord will not leave him in his hand" (Ps. xxxvii, 32-33).

"And it was told him saying, Behold, he is in Dothan."

14. "Therefore sent he thither horses and chariots and a great host, and they came by night and compassed the city about."

Surely they had their man now, and escape was impossible. Thus it seemed to human eyes.

15. "And when the servant of the man of God was risen early, and gone forth, behold, an host compassed the city both with horses and chariots."

While Elisha slept the enemy encompassed him about, but Elisha's God neither slumbers nor sleeps, and Elisha rested in Him, and feared no evil. His servant, however, had not the faith of his master, and we may imagine his fears as this sight met his eyes. The host of Syrians was real and formidable, and there was evidently no way of deliverance.

"And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do?"

He probably felt something like Israel when they saw the hosts of Pharaoh pursuing them, the mountains on either side of them and the sea before them (Ex. xiv).

16. "And he answered, Fear not."

From Gen. xv, 1, to Rev. i, 17 how often that precious word "Fear not" has stilled the troubled soul! But before it can give peace it must be spoken by one who has some ground and authority for saying it.

"They that be with us are more than they that be with them."

What is it that Elisha sees that his servant cannot see? Is he giving utterance to a hope or to the assurance of a reality? We shall see that he means just what he says and is fully persuaded of every word of it.

17. "And Elisha prayed and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see."

What a simple prayer, how short, how comprehensive! No preliminaries and no conclusion, not even an amen; just a single petition, asking as from a familiar friend for just what he wanted. My soul says, "Lord Jesus, ask the Father for me that my eyes may by the Holy Spirit be opened to behold wondrous things out of Thy word." And I expect He will. Thanking Him for what we have seen, let us expect more light every time we open His Word.

"And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw; and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha."

Now we know why Elisha said, Fear not, and why he said to his servant that their helpers were more numerous than the enemy. Let no one dare to explain away these unseen realities of God's love and care and power.

18. "And when they came down to him Elisha prayed unto the Lord and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness."

Another brief prayer; a single petition. Can this man ask and receive anything he desires? A river divided, a spring healed, oil multiplied, a Son given, life from the dead, food multiplied, a leper healed, a man made leprous, iron to swim, eyes opened to see angels, eyes dimmed to see not at all or to see wrongly? How has he obtained this power? With whom is he in partnership?

"And He smote them with blindness, according to the word of Elisha.

So did the angels to the men of Sodom (Gen. xix, 11). In Him we live and move and have our being. In His hand is our breath and all our ways (Acts xvii, 28; Dan. v, 23). He says: "I am the Lord, and there is none else. I form the light and create darkness. I make peace and create evil. I the Lord do all these things" (Isa. xlv, 6, 7). He changes not. He is no respecter of persons. Every redeemed soul is a member of His body; but where is the power of God that ought to be seen in every believer?

Herman is up to many tricks; but he will never take in as much, as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in its big raid on coughs and colds.

We indorse all the proprietors have said relative to the merits of Salvation Oil. It is nonpareil.

The well-known Australian writer, Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, is to be honored on her sixtieth birthday by having her portrait painted at the expense of the Vienna Government, to be placed in the Town Hall.

Bright's Disease Lost Its Victim.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton, of West Rutland, Vt., writes: "We are certain that only for Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., our little ten-year-old daughter would have been dead from Bright's Disease. We had tried in vain other means, but the Favorite Remedy came just in time to save her life."

Mrs. Massingberd, who is regarded in London as a radical and a philanthropist, is about to open a coffee palace and club to be known as the Massingberd Arms and intended for the working classes of Bournemouth.

POT-POURRI.

The blue jars in the window,
The big bowls in the hall,
Hold that sweet old time perfume
That we pot-pourri call.
We cannot tell who made it,
Nor where the flowers did grow,
For those who picked them left us
Full fifty years ago.

Yet, when at scented evening
I stand beside the bowl,
And watch my roses fading
As night mists upward roll,
I seem to see their spirits
Stand silent there below,
Who made pot-pourri for us
Full fifty years ago.

I watch them, youths and maidens,
About the garden glide;
I see them cull the flowers
There growing side by side;
I hear their soft love whispers,
I almost seem to know
The races dead and buried
Some fifty years ago!

—All the Year Round.

Magnetism, Heat and Iron.

It is now pretty widely known that iron suddenly ceases to be magnetic when heated to the critical point of its "recalescence" or "after glow," and that if alloyed with some 12 per cent. of manganese, as in manganese steel, it becomes almost completely non-magnetic. These facts show us that iron is not necessarily magnetic under all conditions, for admixture with a small quantity of another metal and even mere change of temperature render it non-magnetic. Stranger still, some observers report that iron again becomes magnetic when the temperature reaches whiteness, but this lacks confirmation.

The behavior of nickel steel is very remarkable. As usually received from the maker nickel steel with 25 per cent. of nickel is non-magnetic; and yet it is a mixture of two magnetic metals, iron and nickel. If now we cool this nickel steel to 20 degs. C. (4 degs. Fahr.) it becomes very decidedly magnetic, and remains so when it again returns to the normal temperature. If finally we heat it it remains magnetic till it reaches its critical temperature of 580 degs. C. (1,076 degs. Fahr.), when it again becomes non-magnetic, and remains so until again cooled to 20 degs. C.—Engineering and Building.

Absent Minded.

Not many things are absolutely indispensable. Most men would "feel lost," as the common expression is, without a watch, but after all the absence can be borne. A certain man who is now a member of the United States senate so decided on one occasion. Indeed, he may be said almost to have demonstrated that life can be lived with a good measure of comfort and success in the absence not only of a watch but even of a mind.

In company with a friend he was one morning hastening to overtake a train when he stopped suddenly and exclaimed:

"There! I've come away and left my watch under the pillow!"

"Let's go back and get it," said his friend.

"Hold on!" said the senator, "I don't believe we shall have time."

Upon this he drew the lost watch from his pocket, looked carefully at the face of it, counted the minutes and added, "No, we sha'n't have time." Then he pressed on toward the station, saying, "Oh, well I guess I can get along for one day without a watch."—Youth's Companion.

A Safe Hobby.

A hobby is apt to be an expensive palfrey. It sometimes costs piles of money to groom and run it, and it seldom wins purses and cups enough to pay for its keep and entrance fees. Nevertheless as a man, in the absence of some special object to engage his thoughts, is almost sure to get into mischief, it is better for him to push ahead on any sort of a hobby that is not vicious than to lounge through life in a slipshod, desultory way, without definite aim or purpose. No matter what other praiseworthy hobbies a man may have, he should make conscience the prime favorite of his moral stud. That is a hobby that is always safe. Give it the rein freely, never curb it or check it, go with it in whatsoever direction its divine instinct would guide you, and over every "hill of difficulty," through every "slough of despond," it shall take you safely to the "narrow house"—which shall seem to be as the "House Beautiful"—at your journey's end.—New York Ledger.

Noiseless Bucket.

A recent patent, which has many points in its favor, is on a noiseless bucket. This bucket is fitted with India rubber feet, eyelets and handle guards, and thus all noise in handling is obviated. The eyelets are made somewhat larger in the bucket arms than usual, so that the rubber can be easily put in, and the handle works freely in the rubber. The fitting up of the bucket can be done in two or three minutes. By this arrangement no ring marks are left on carpet or table, and the wear and tear of the bucket is reduced to a minimum. — Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

No Sign.

"I think Mary is in love."

"What makes you think so?"

"Why, she's always before the looking glass."

"Pshaw! that's no sign. The girl is simply studious; given to reflection, as it were."—Exchange.

Good Advice.

An article now going the rounds advises people to eat before going to bed. This is excellent advice, as there is nothing more disagreeable than to have crumbs between the sheets.—Detroit Free Press.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nerve Tonic and Alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at F. E. Lovell's Drug Store.

From the Chicago Herald: "Cremation will become the universal mode of cleansing the bodies of the dead of impurities and perishable elements in the tissues, while it will preserve the part that may then be cherished according to noble sentiment and without doing violence to any creed or belief in resurrection or in a future existence of the same physical sheath in which the spirit has been incased."

A CITY'S WATER SUPPLY IN TANKS.

Novel Scheme to Convey Water from Lake Ontario to Rochester.

By far the most novel suggestion that has yet been offered for supplying Rochester with additional water is the following:

The proposal is, in brief, to bring the water from Lake Ontario by means of tank cars running on a railroad.

In explaining the proposal the projector said: "Since the idea first occurred to me I have looked at it from all points, and the more I think of it the better it pleases me. But whether it will be found practical or not remains to be seen. The engineers can no doubt easily calculate the cost, and that is the only feature that I am in fear about. As it is, after a rough calculation I estimate that this plan will give this city and other places pure water at low price and in unlimited quantity. The whole plan is to bring the water in a vessel made for the purpose from a point in the lake so far from shore that there will be no chance of it containing impurities.

"The vessel would be somewhat on the plan of the floats used in New York for carrying garbage out to sea and dropping it in the ocean through the bottom of the vessel. In the case of my ship the cargo, instead of being taken to sea, would be brought from sea to shore, and in place of entering the hold through the hatches would come in through a trap in the bottom. When we had our vessel full of the pure and sparkling water we would tow it to the harbor by a tug, and pump the water into tank cars specially made for the purpose and running like ordinary freight cars on the common track. The cars could be provided with trap doors or valves through which to discharge their liquid contents into a reservoir over which the train would run, just as a coal or wheat car runs and drops its load. This plan, of course, would only be adopted where the system was to be applied on a large scale. Where the idea was to be adopted as a temporary expedient the water could be pumped from the cars directly into the mains of the town.

"Now for some figures in regard to the scheme. The railroads carry freight at a profit for half a cent a ton per mile. A ton of water contains 285 gallons, so that, allowing 50 gallons of water to each person, the railroad would carry a supply for a family of five the distance of a mile for half a cent. It would cost 3 1-2 cents as freight from the lake to Rochester, assuming that the distance is seven miles. Thirty tons is an ordinary load of coals on a gondola car, and a locomotive would have no difficulty in drawing a train of twenty cars, or 600 tons, holding 171,000 gallons. If one train made twelve trips a day—a moderate estimate for a run of seven miles—we get 2,052,000 gallons of water. You see there is virtually no limit to the amount of water you can bring to town in that way, and the plant required is neither expensive nor difficult to make.

"Two or three steam pumps of a kind that can be found ready made, the ship for carrying the water and the tank cars are the principal novel features of the whole, and any good mechanic can rig them all up in a short time. The plan, I tell you, is entirely practical, and when I have had a chance to consult with some ship carpenter as to the cost of the vessel, and with the railroad managers as to the best rates they can give on freight, I may give you more in relation to it.

"Just fancy," continued the projector, "how easy it would be to establish a reservoir in the vicinity of Burke park, and keep it full of water by a train of tank cars running to and from Charlotte.

"If the cost of carrying the water by rail should prove too great," the projector added, as though he had caught another idea, "then I shall figure on the expediency of bringing the water from Lake Erie in canal boats. All we want in that case is a fleet of boats that we can run into the lake, fill with pure water, tow down here and pump the contents into the reservoir. I intend to call the attention of the Chicago people to the plan of bringing water in ships from beyond the sewage line."—Rochester Post Express.

Steno-telegraphy.

Under the name of steno-telegraphy a French electrician has devised a new telegraphic system founded on the combination of mechanical stenography with telegraphy. This system can be applied indifferently to any stenographic machine worked by a keyboard. As soon as spoken the words are, so to say, decomposed by the ear of the operator at the keyboard. The syllables are printed in small distinct lines on a tape of paper, and they are afterward read from left to right. It is said that with the Michela stenographic machine a skilled operator can print 200 words a minute by this system.—Exchange.

Artistic Criticism.

Clarisse (showing some photographs)—And this is a portrait of Raphael.

Mrs. Mushroom—Family portrait?

Clarisse—Oh, dear, no. One of the old masters, you know.

Mrs. Mushroom—One of the old masters? Why he don't look more'n twenty.—America.

Capt. Bridge, of the British navy, who is said to have visited more islands of the Southern Pacific than any other man, remarks that in all his travels he never saw a cannibal who was not ashamed of the practice except on the island of New Britain.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for 20 years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy.—R. G. Vassar, 56 Warren St., New York.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me.—S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

The adoption of the free coinage policy by the Democrats, without qualification or reserve, might seem at first blush to expose the Republican party to one great peril, the return of the Mugwumps. But at the bottom the Mugwump is nothing but a free trader, and the Republican party is in no danger of his fatal support so long as it stands for protection. The Democrats can fight for bad money, or unlimited coinage, or outright repudiation, and still count upon the detrimental support of the fanatical free trader.—New York Tribune.

OLD MEXICAN MINES.

A Plucky Young American Has Become Rich Developing Them.

William Miller, a young American with a world of pluck and very little money, left here three years ago to explore some mines that had been located for him at the head of Yaqui river, 120 miles west of El Paso, Tex., and about the same distance from the Arizona line. He took with him three carpenters and a professional hunter, who was also a prospector. He has returned with a pocketful of money.

He says that his party, after wandering ten days in the Sierra Madre and enduring incredible hardships, reached the point for which they had been aiming. Miller, who claimed to have derived his information and a map from an old German who died here five years ago, says that they pitched their camp between the eastern and middle forks of the Yaqui. It is a country under the dominance of a tribe of Indians that even the Mexican military force has been unable to subdue, and has been hitherto barred to the entrance of any metal seekers.

They found an old Spanish mine that was especially rich in ore streaks and worked there for two years. One of the carpenters died before the place was reached, and the others built a bin, a furnace and some derricks. They worked two years and took out about $30,000 worth of silver, which they managed to smelt after a fashion, and which they stored in camp. Then another of the carpenters died. The third was drowned bathing in the river while a freshet was on.

Miller described the mine as something altogether wonderful. The seams of precious metal ran along the roofs and sides of corridors that were made by hands that had crumbled into dust before George Washington was born. Miller and his company found their way to the Mexican Central railroad and went to the capital. There they saw the official and claimed the mine, which was started by old Spanish explorers and settlers more than 200 years ago. They formed a company in which some Boston people were interested, and are now taking out $1,000 worth of metal a day. This stuff is shipped to smelting works in Colorado. Miller has married a Mexican wife since he left here, and is apparently very wealthy. His company is called the Yaqui Mining and Land company. He states that he has never seen finer farming territory than that which forms the banks of a stream that is almost altogether unknown to the whites, and that President Diaz is much interested in a scheme for colonizing it.—San Antonio, Tex., Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Starting Seeds by Electricity.

It appears from the results of a series of experiments recently undertaken in Russia by N. Specnew that electricity may eventually be made to play a prominent part in agriculture. These experiments, which extended over five years, showed that by submitting different seeds to the action of an electric current their development is rendered more rapid and complete. The seeds of haricot beans, sunflowers, winter and spring rye were used. A second series of experiments was made with pot herbs and flowering plants at Kief. The influence of the electrical treatment was shown by a larger crop and by the growth of vegetables of enormous dimensions. In a third series of experiments electricity on a large scale was applied, static electricity being used instead of current electricity.

The results were quickened ripening and larger growth. Barley ripened twelve days sooner with electro-culture. Potatoes treated in the same way seldom showed disease, only 0 to 5 per cent. being bad, instead of 10 to 40, which is the usual percentage. An important factor in this treatment is that vines which have been subjected to it possess immunity from phylloxera, and this points to a new means of combating the microscopic diseases which attack vegetable growth. It is suggested as a weapon with which to fight the potato bug and the army worm. The cost of the process is comparatively small.—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

How Screws Were Made.

It is not well known when screws were first made or by whom. The application of mechanical contrivances to make screws can be traced as far back as 1569, when they were made by a Frenchman whose name was Benson.

The bolts were forged and the thread was made by filing. In 1741 the watchmaker Hindley, of York, improved upon Benson's method. For a very long period his way of cutting screws by the screw plate was continued in England. The best patent for cutting screws was obtained by Job and William Wyatt in 1760. Up to 1840 about ten more patents were issued for the same branch of mechanism.

One of the patents, obtained Jan. 28, 1837, by Miles Verry, is worthy of mention. It was the art of making pointed screws—wood screws. Wyatt employed three separate machines, one for making the bolts, one for cutting the groove in the head and one for cutting the thread.—Jeweler's Weekly.

Do not use thick glue for joints or veneering. In all cases work it well into the wood in a similar manner to what painters do with paint. Glue both surfaces of your work, excepting in the case of veneering. Never glue upon hot wood or use hot cauls to veneer with as the hot wood will absorb all the water in the glue too suddenly and leave only a very small residue with no adhesive power in it.

The belligerent utterances of a Madrid newspaper with reference to Cuba illustrate the mischief which reckless newspapers do in disturbing international friendliness. The United States has not the slightest desire to appropriate Cuba, but it has suited the purpose of certain sensational Democratic newspapers to concoct a yarn crediting Mr. Blaine with that intention; and the Madrid paper, not being sufficiently familiar with the reckless character of American Democratic papers, takes them seriously.

If you decide, from what you have heard or read, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute instead.

A Cincinnatian bought a small house and engaged a laborer to tear part of it down so that alterations could be made. The man got his directions mixed and began operations on a building across the street. He had got the roof off before the blunder was discovered.

Execution by Gas.

"Hanging is played out" is true in a sense not meant by the notorious criminal who gave the expression currency. As a method of capital punishment it is obnoxious to the humane sense of modern times. By "humane sense" is not meant the sickly sentiment that condones crime and crowns the murderer with flowers, but that educated, civilized opinion which believes in a death penalty and favors its execution in the least barbarous way. Besides the possible accidents due to the bungling of officials, hanging has many accessories of an unnecessarily disagreeable and painful character. Electricity as a death agent is still more uncertain than the rope, and hideously revolting and cruel in its application. Paganism never contrived a torture worse than the deliberate seating, the tedious strapping, the painstaking adjustment, the buzzing and the creeping and the writhing of the death dealing current. The method has not a redeeming feature, and were it not for the glamor of novelty thrown around it by certain pseudo-scientists it would speedily drop out of consideration.

My medical friend, Dr. R. C. Stewart, suggests a method of penal death which is practicable, simple, cheap, certain and humane. It contemplates the construction in each prison of a death cell—a cell differing from others only in having properly contrived adjustments to make it relatively air tight when needed, into which shall run a number of gas pipes from the ordinary (bi-carburetted hydrogen) gas main, or better still, from a retort generating sufficient carbonic acid gas. This cell can be fitted up like other cells as a place of confinement. The condemned can occupy it weeks or months, uncertain of his day of doom. When the fatal hour arrives the sheriff enters and reads the solemn sentence, relatives and friends take their last farewell, the minister of spiritual comfort does his last sad offices, and suitable time is given the prisoner for reflection. Then the cell is closed tight, the cocks are turned, and unconscious of his approaching end the victim falls asleep to wake no more on earth. By this form of asphyxiation death is absolutely painless, while the majesty of the law, punitive and deterrent, is sustained.—Representative Wherry in Philadelphia Press.

A Gorgeous Snake.

One of the most brilliantly colored snakes that exist has been added to the collection in the reptile house in the zoological gardens. It has a black color with regularly arranged rings of yellow and red, the texture and colors together producing an effect much like that of a strip of freshly cleaned oil-cloth. This snake is one of the most venomous, and its bright hues may be regarded as a warning of its dangerous qualities.

Any snake eating bird or mammal would know from hereditary experience that it would be a risky affair to meddle with such a creature, so the danger signal benefits both alike, though we cannot suppose that the snake was influenced by any amiable intention in, so to speak, assuming this conspicuous dress.

The proof that this is really an example of "warning colors" is afforded by the existence also in South America of another snake colored like the Elaps, but perfectly harmless. The snake trades upon the deadly reputation of Elaps, and is let alone in consequence of its being mistaken for it. It is the ass in the lion's skin with a happier fate.—London News.

The Accommodating Yacht Agent.

Suppose a man is going in for yachting. He wants a certain sort of boat, but does not know just where he can get exactly what he wants. He goes to a yacht agent and tells him what he wants and about how much he is willing to pay. The available yachts of the two great yachting navies of the world are offered for his inspection. Finally he decides on a yacht, and then all he has to do is to give the agent his check. Now as to manning her. A list of all the available sailing masters in the country is spread before him, with their records, and a list of yacht sailors who have registered at the agency. In short, all he has to do is to say to the agent, "I want such and such a yacht, manned and ready for sea at such and such a time and place." On the appointed day he finds his yacht ready for him.—New York Tribune.

Remedy for a Stye.

That quite common trouble on the edge of the eyelid, a stye, is the result of inflammation of the small glands or follicles. A piece of ice is the best abortive remedy. If the stye is not checked at the start on the second or third day it would be well to draw out with a pair of tweezers two or three of the hairs in the center of the swelling. In this way it is often possible to evacuate the little abscess.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Faith in the Clergy.

A Newport youngster showed faith in the clergy of the old fashioned sort during a shower. When the wind began to smash in the windows, and the air was full of dust, pebbles and sticks, the boy looked up to his father and said, "Papa, I wish the minister was here."—Lewiston Journal.

The Right Thing to Do.

Mrs. Bingo—Do you notice, dear, how pale and delicate our Harry is getting to be? He needs more exercise, I think.

Mr. Bingo—Then we had better pack him off to college at once.—Epoch.

A Fortunate Woman.

Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., has reason to be very thankful. She was a great sufferer from heart disease for years. Was short of breath, had hungry spells, pain in her side, fluttering, faintness, etc. After taking two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, she says, "I am better than for 20 years. My mind and eyesight have improved wonderfully. I advise all peasons thus afflicted to use this great remedy. Sold by Charles H. Russ druggist. Dr. Miles' work on Heart Disease, containing marvelous testimonials, free.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says, "The Southern cotton crop is expanding in remarkable manner. In the palmiest year of the old slavery times the yield was nothing compared to what it is now, and it is growing steadily year by year. The crop raised in 1890 was by far the largest on record, and dealers are increasing their estimates of it at the end of each month. According to conservative calculations it will amount at least 8,000,000 bales, an increase of a million bales over any other.

Breeding Fleet Dogs for Wolves.

Canadian farmers, having been troubled sorely for many years by wolves and coyotes, are taking determined steps toward ridding themselves of these pests. The Canadian wolves are not particularly ferocious, but they are sufficiently bold to be a constant menace to the flocks and herds. Dogs have been utilized for the protection of the sheep and cattle, but it remained for Sir John Lister-Kaye to import a number of Belgian, French and Scotch hounds for the special purpose of hunting and exterminating the wolves. The experiment has been attended with fair success, but it is discovered that more effectual service would be done if the dogs were capable of greater speed.

With a view, therefore, of insuring the desired fleetness Mr. Dan Gordon, of Ottawa, has bought two of the fastest and best bred greyhounds in England, and he expects to secure by means of judicious crossing of breeds splendid dogs for wolf hunting. The wolf nuisance in Canada is more serious than we suppose; in one day seventeen of the beasts were killed by a party of three men who scouted over the Cochrane ranch. To Russia, however, must we go to find wolves of singular ferocity and in large numbers. Seventy thousand were killed in the Vologda and Casan districts in 1889. It is officially estimated that 170,000 are still running at large in Russia, and they multiply exceedingly fast.—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

The Power of the Moonstone.

There is a perfect mania for moonstones, not always to be worn as ornaments, but to be carried about the person as a temptation to good fortune and success. To show how deep seated is this belief I will quote from a letter received by a dealer in gems from an unlucky artist: "Having heard of your wonderful fortune-compelling moonstones I send immediately for one, hoping that it may dissipate the ill luck that has followed me for some time. Though not a believer in necromancy I am inclined to accept this with my whole heart. If you can add an extra charm to it I will remain your debtor for life."

Once in a while one catches a glimpse of a humorous side to this superstition, as in the case of a well known newspaper man who, being in love with a young woman many years his junior, did not dare to try his fate until he had a moonstone which held a "magic mirror." One was easily found for him, and it must have brought him the coveted success, since he was married within six months to the "object" of his adoration.—Sally Joy White.

Proving the Earth's Shape.

It was not until 1663 that Picard, under the auspices of the French Academy of Sciences, reduced the degree to anything like a certainty. His plan was to connect two points by a series of triangles, thus ascertaining the length of the arc of a meridian intercepted between them, to compare it with the difference of latitudes found by making celestial observations. The stations used were Melvoisine, in the vicinity of Paris, and Sourdon, near Amiens. While these measurements were being made a discussion arose as to the interpretation of them, some affirming that they indicated a prolate, others an oblate spheroid.

The former figure may be popularly represented by a lemon, the latter by an orange. To prove which was right Picard's observations were extended far to the north and south, one expedition going to Peru, the other to Lapland. The Peruvian expedition worked nine years on the question, the Lapland about five. The results of the measures thus obtained confirmed the theoretical expectations of the oblate form.—St. Louis Republic.

In a London Drug Store.

There is a wide difference between the London drug stores and ours. There is no such craze for patent medicines there as here, and there is nothing like the American inclination for every man to be his own doctor. An English druggist sells face powder, cologne, soap, tooth brushes, patent pills and the like, but his main business is putting up prescriptions. He has no clientele of men who drop in for a little aromatic spirits of ammonia after a night of dissipation, or for acid phosphate after too much smoking, or for tincture of iron and so many grains of quinine, or a glass of Calisaya for a tonic, or a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda to offset a too hearty meal. All that which so enriches our druggists is unknown in England.—Julian Ralph in Harper's Weekly.

Among Camera Fiends.

There is no use in mixing much in the company of amateur photographers unless you share their enthusiasm. Get half a dozen of them together and they will begin about "pyro," and "iron developer," and "bromide prints," and "color values," and their language will depart so far from every day English that you speculate whether they are talking Sanskrit or Choctaw. This is how it happens with some of the women artists who use photography as an adjunct to sketching.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Congratulated.

"So you've got married, old man, while I have been away?"

"Yes."

"Well, I congratulate you on having shaken off that she dragon of a housekeeper of yours at last."

"Oh, don't make any mistake, dear boy, she's the woman I've married!"—Chatter.

Judge Simpson

Of the Superior Court writes: From mental exhaustion, my nervous system became shattered, and I was utterly unable to sleep nights. Sulphur Bitters cured me, and my sleep is now sound, sweet and refreshing.

A Russian doctor has discovered, it is said, that microbes are always present in great numbers in the fasting stomach of a healthy person. During the earlier part of digestion they are always quite numerous. The gastric juice, however, tends to destroy the microbes though no effect on digestion appears to be exerted by them. How the doctor discovered all this is not stated.

The man who devotes his time to cutting buttons from the coats of eminent men is the latest nuisance in Washington.

California regulators recently hanged the wrong man and then sent a letter of apology to his widow.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.
THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50¢

DR HAYNES' ARABIAN BALSAM
One of the Best Medicines Ever Invented for
PERFECT AND IMMEDIATE RELIEF
IN CASES OF PAIN AND INFLAMMATION.
This excellent compound is achieving the most signal triumphs, astonishing many who have occasion to use it by the certainty with which it relieves them of their sufferings, both externally and internally. It is safe and certain in its action.
For Burns, Poisoning, Erysipelas, Inflammation of the Eyes or Bowels, Earache, Deafness, Rheumatism, Pains in Side, Back or Shoulders, Piles, Sore Throat, Croup or Bronchitis.
Price 25c. and $1 at all Druggists.
E. MORGAN & SONS, Prop's, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.
BLUE PILLS
Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy or high-colored?
IT IS
Don't Wear Yellow Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use
Sulphur Bitters!
Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day!
PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.
A. P. Ordway & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. and Canada.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Lawrence, Mass., and receive an elegant set of Fancy Cards free.

MELLIN'S FOOD FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS
THE ONLY Perfect Substitute For Mother's Milk.
A Pre-Digested Food for DYSPEPTICS, CONSUMPTIVES, CONVALESCENTS.
Invaluable in Cholera Infantum and Teething.
A PERFECT NUTRIENT In all Wasting Diseases.
REQUIRES NO COOKING.
OUR BOOK "The Care and Feeding of Infants"
Giving also valuable advice to Invalids, MAILED FREE.
DOLIBER-GOODALE CO. BOSTON, MASS.

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Rose Cold, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Hay Fever and Catarrh. We guarantee to cure, (or refund the money), everyone who faithfully uses
DR. KARL WESSELHOEFTS GERMAN CATARRH CURE
$1 per bottle, six for $5. Sold by all druggists. Manufactured only by JOHN H. GREER, Ph. G., Chemist, 259 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY
PURIFIES the BLOOD AND IS RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS
when all other remedies fail—as the only positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Thousands gratefully testify that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Saved Their Lives. To Mothers and Daughters (even the youngest) Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has Proved a Real Blessing.
$1.00 bottle; 6 for $5.00. All Dealers.
"A FAMILY JEWEL."—A beautiful illustrated Book—how to Cure all Blood and Kidney Diseases—mailed free. Address (naming this paper)
DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y.

SALVATION OIL TRADE MARK
KILLS ALL PAIN. 25 C A BOTTLE
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 25 c.

A life of Jennie Lind, written by Canon Scott Holland, is one of the promised publications for this year.

The American Institute of Instruction holds its annual convention at Bethlehem, N. H., July 6-9.

The entire net earnings of the Pennsylvania Railway and its branches the past year foot up $19,515,295.

The new valuation of Maine real estate shows a handsome increase.

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, generally slip off the feet.
THE "COLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
make all their shoes with inside of heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the rubber from slipping off.
Call for the "Colchester."
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS."
SAGE & CO., Boston, Exclusive Wholesale Agents.
AT RETAIL BY
Alvah Buckman.
M. Bancroft.
J. Leathe.
T. F. McCormack.

To Our Readers!
We have made arrangements with the publishers the Cottage Hearth Boston, Mass., to offer the WOBURN JOURNAL with their Magazine this year.
THE COTTAGE HEARTH
Is a well known Family Magazine now in its 14th year, and is a favorite wherever introduced. It has each month MUSIC, FLORAL AND HEALTH DEPARTMENTS, LATEST FANCY WORK, SABBATH READING, DEMOREST'S PATTERNS, APPROVED RECEIPTS, HOUSEHOLD HINTS, AND PRIZE PUZZLES for CHILDREN.
This Beautifully Illustrated
Monthly Magazine has among its many
CONTRIBUTORS
EDWARD EVERETT HALE, LUCY LARCOM, CELIA THAXTER, LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON, GEORGE MACDONALD, MARGARET DELAND, AUGUSTA MOORE, ROSE TERRY COOKE.
It is a large 32-page, elegantly printed magazine and has attained a large circulation solely on its merits as a family magazine. Its
Price $1.50 a Year
is very low for such a desirable home magazine, but we offer to send it a year
Free To Any One
who will send us $2.00 for a year's subscription to the WOBURN JOURNAL.
Sample copies sent free on application to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass. We have supplied this magazine in years past to many of our readers and they have been highly pleased with it. For further particulars address WOBURN JOURNAL, Woburn, Mass.

CUT RATES!
—AT—
Leeds's Drug Store.
Atlanta, Ga., Apopka, Chattanooga, Cardiff, Gainesville, Havana, Cuba, Key West, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Macon, Memphis, Milledgeville, Mobile, New Orleans, Oakland, Ocala, Palacka, Sanford, St. Augustine, Thomasville, Waycross, Sorrento, Savannah, Ft. Payne.

J. R. CARTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
Coal and Wood,
291 Main Street, - Woburn.

GIVE YOUR POOR FEET A CHANCE! WEAR M. A. PACKARD & CO.'S EASY FITTING SHOES FOR GENTLEMEN
COMFORTABLE. DURABLE. STYLISH. EC

Public Library 13Jan90

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLI. WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1891. NO. 15.

F. E. LOVELL, Ph. G.

DRUGGIST.

Family Cough Syrup WILL CURE that Cough.
Use LOVELL'S COLD PILLS for that cold.
Physcians Prescriptions a specialty

361 Main Street, Opp. Common, Woburn, Mass.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

OCTOBER 13, 1890.
Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.15, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.09, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.55, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.55, 6.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

SUNDAY—To Boston, 9.23, 11.00, A. M., 12 M., 3.00, 3.30, 5.03, 6.00, 9.05, P. M. Return, 9.00, 11.00, A. M., 12.40, 2.36, 4.00, 5.00, 7.45, 10.15 P.M.

FOR LOWELL at 6.38, 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23 A.M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42, 10.28, 11.35 P. M. Sunday at 9.30 A. M., 5.30 P. M. Return at 6.55, 7.11, 7.35, 11.00, A. M., 1.20, 4.35, 6.45, 8.02, P. M. Sunday at 8.45, A. M. 4.25 P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE at 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 5.08, 5.57, 6.42, P. M. Return at 6.42, 7.40, 9.09, A. M., 12.10, 5.15, P. M., change at Wilmington.

For Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H. at 7.27, 8.29, 8.56, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 5.08, 6.42 P. M.

For Greenfield, Peterboro, Hillsboro and Keene, N. H. at 8.29 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Amherst, Milford and Wilton, N. H., 8.29, 11.23, A. M., 1.35, 4.30 P. M.

For Warner, Bradford, Sunapee, Newport and Claremont, N. H., 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35 P. M.

For Penacook, Franklin, Lebanon, White River Junction, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 1.35, 4.30, 6.42 P. M.

For Tilton, Laconia, Meredith, Ashland, Weirs, and Plymouth, 8.29, 11.23 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

For North of Plymouth and on Passumpsic R. R., 8.29 A. M., 6.42 P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 8.29, 11.23 A. M , 6.42 P. M.

WINCHESTER and WOBURN.

Trains leave Woburn for Winchester at 5.55, 6.16, 7.00, 7.22, 7.42, 8.22, 9.00, 9.41, 10.50, 11.37 A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.09, 2.47, 4.23, 5.12, 6.05, 6.25, 8.29, 9.15, 10.10, P. M. RETURN, 6.09, 6.55, 7.35, 8.05, 8.55, 9.35, 11.00, A. M., 12.10, 1.07, 2.00, 3.10, 4.05, 4.45, 5.55, 6.55, 6.15, 6.40, 7.35, 9.00, 10.00, 11.10 P. M.

Trains leave Winchester for Woburn, 6.31, 6.35, 7.19, 8.02, 8.29, 8.51, 10.02, 11.16 A. M., 12.37, 1.06, 2.20, 3.28, 4.21, 5.01, 5.50, 5.52, 6.25, 6.33, 7.05, 8.01, 9.25, 10.21, 11.26 P. M. Sunday, 9.21, 11.23, A.M., 12.58, 2.37, 4.27, 5.21, 8.13, 10.40 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

North Woburn Street R. R. Company.

WEEK DAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 5.50, 6.15, 6.45, 7.45, 8.30, 9.15, 10.15, 11.00, 11.50, A. M., 12.45, 1.45, 2.15, 2.40, 3.15, 3.45, 4.45, 5.35, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.45, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 8.10, 8.55, 9.40, 10.40, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 1.10, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 5.10, 6.00, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 9.10, 9.55, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 6.30, 7.00, 7.45, 8.45, 9.15, 10.00, 11.00, 11.40, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.45, 5.40, 6.30, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.45, 10.15 P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 8.50, 7.20, 8.10, 9.05, 9.40, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12 M., 12.50, 1.50, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 5.10, 6.00, 6.50, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 10.00, 10.35, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave North Woburn for Woburn and Winchester at 8.15, 9.15, 10.00, 10.45, 11.45, A. M., 12.45, 1.15, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 8.45, 9.15, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester at 8.40, 9.40, 10.20, 11.10, A. M., 12.10, 1.10, 1.40, 2.10, 2.40, 3.10, 3.40, 4.10, 4.40, 5.10, 5.40, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, P. M.

RETURNING:

Leave Winchester for Woburn and North Woburn at 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 11.45, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, P. M.

Leave Woburn for North Woburn at 9.20, 10.20, 11.20, A. M., 12.10, 12.50, 1.50, 2.20, 2.50, 3.20, 3.50, 4.20, 4.50, 5.20, 5.50, 6.20, 6.50, 7.20, 7.50, 8.20, 8.50, 9.20, 9.50, 10.25, P. M.

Subject to change and correction without notice.

J. E. SEWELL, Supt.

East Middlesex Street Railway.

IN EFFECT OCT. 1, 1890.

Leave Woburn at 5.15, *6.20, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, A. M., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, then every half hour until *6.30, then 7.30 8.30, 9.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 5.45, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.05, A. M., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, then every half hour until 7.05, then 8.05, 9.05, 10.05 P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn 6.15, 6.45, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.00 10.30, A. M., then every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn 6.55, 7.55, 8.55, 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, 1.55, 2.55, 3.55, 4.55, then every half hour until 7.55, then 8.55, 10.05, 11.05, P. M.

SUNDAYS.

Leave Woburn for Stoneham 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M., then every hour until 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Chelsea at 9.05, 10.05, 11.05 A. M., 12.05, then every hour until 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, P. M.

Leave Chelsea for Stoneham and Woburn at 9.50, ten every half hour until 10.30 P. M.

Leave Stoneham for Woburn at 9.55, 10.55, 11.55, A. M., 12.55, then every hour until 8.55, then 10.05, 11.05 P. M.

*Workingmen's Car.

WESLEY WENTWORTH, Supt.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

First Congregational. Main street, corner of Common. Rev. Daniel March, D. D., pastor.
North (Trin.) Congregation. Main street, North Woburn.
First Baptist. Main street, corner of Park. Rev. D. D. Winn, pastor.
First Methodist Episcopal. Main street, corner of Walnut. Rev. Hugh Montgomery, pastor.
First Unitarian. Pleasant street, corner of Winn. Rev. H. C. Parker, pastor.
Unitarian Chapel Association. Minot street, North Woburn.
All Saints Chapel. Central street. Montvale.
Roman Catholic, St. Charles. Corner Main and Summer streets. Revs. John Queeley, L. W. Slattery, pastors.
Roman Catholic, St. Joseph's. Washington street. Revs. M. F. O'Brien and Dennis Lee, pastors.
Trinity Episcopal. Main street, opp. Franklin.
Scandinavian Evangelical Society. Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Headquarters in Municipal Building

Mayor,	George F. Bean
President of Aldermen,	W. Frank Fowle
Clerk of Aldermen,	David F. Moreland
President of Common Council,	B. Frank Waldron
City Messenger,	Edward Simonds
City Janitor,	John Connolly
Clerk of Common Council,	E. H. Lounsbury
City Clerk,	David F. Moreland
City Collector,	John G. Magnire
City Treasurer,	John C. Buck

Supt. of Schools. Frank B. Richardson.
Sextons. B. A. & C. E. Tripp.
Chief of Police. William H. McIntosh.
Supt. Cemetary. L. L. Whitney.

LEWIS WHITE,

Barber and Hairdresser,

Lyceum Hall Building,

WOBURN, MASS.

 Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting a specialty.

FOREST HOOPER

PLUMBER,

No. 120 Main St., opp. PostoSice, Woburn.

Dealer in PLUMBER'S MATERIALS. Drain Pipe, Hose, etc. Stocks kept on hand. Estimates given.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

BOX.	LOCATION.
23	Cor. Main and Clinton Sts., Central Square.
26	Cor Main and School St., North Woburn.
27	Junction Elm and Pearl Sts., North Woburn.
32	Junction Burlington and Lexington Sts.
34	Junction Cambridge and Lexington Sts.
35	Cor. Willow and Bedford Sts. (Cummingsville)
38	Cor. Winn and Bedford Streets.
41	Cor. Middle and Washington Streets.
42	Junction Bow and Salem Streets.
43	Montvale Ave. opp. Vernon Street.
45	Cor. Cedar and Washington Streets.
46	Central Street, opp. School-house (Montvale).
47	Salem Street, Walnut Hill.
48	Cor. Montvale Ave. and Maple Street.
51	Cor. Green and Mt. Pleasant Sts.
53	Fowle Street near Highland Station.
56	Main Street, opp. Joseph Buck's
57	Conn Street, Bryant & King's Factory.
61	Main Street opp. Salem Street.
62	Cor. Main and Park Streets.
63	Junction Montvale Ave. and Union Street.
65	High Street, McDonald's Lumber Yard.
67	Cor. Main and Kilby Streets.
68	Main Street opp. Catholic Church.
69	Cor. Pleasant and Canal Streets.
212	Merrimac Chemical Works, North Woburn.
512	Pumping Station, Horn Pond. (Private.)
912	Shaw & Co. and Beggs & Cobb's Factory. (Pri.)

SIGNALS.

1—One blow for test at 11.45 A. M., daily.
11—Two blows dismiss department.
111—Three blows calls out the entire department.
11-11—Twenty-two, once repeated, at 8.05 A. M., and at 12.45 P. M., denotes no session of schools.
7—Seven blows calls the steamer.
Seven blows, followed by Company number, repeated, calls a hose company, thus: 7—1 calls Hose 1.

Business Cards.

GEORGE P. BROWN.
—DEALER IN—
Drugs and Medicines,
And Druggist's Sundries,
WINCHESTER, - - - MASS

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded and orders answered with care and dispatch. The public will find our stock of medicines complete, warranted genuine, and of the best quality.

CENTRAL HOUSE

Sale, Hack, Livery and Boarding Stables.

438 MAIN STREET, - - WOBURN.

G. F. JONES, Proprietor.

Telephone 10-2.

WILLIAM WINN

AUCTIONEER.

Sale of Real Estate and Personal Property attended to on reasonable terms.

L. THOMPSON,

HARDWARE !

Farming Tools and Seeds, Painters' Supplies Stoves and Kitchen Ware.

No. 437 Main Street, Woburn.

DAVID RONCO'S

First-Class Hair-Dressing Rooms.

390 MAIN ST.. - WOBURN.

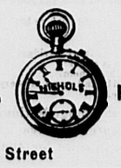
N. A. SPRINGER, M. D.

Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

42 Pleasant St., Woburn, Mass.

Opposite the Public Library,

Office Hours: 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 P. M.



DEALER, REPAIRER.

396 Main Street Woburn

Fall and Winter Styles in Custom Clothing at

A. GRANT'S,

426 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

Overcoatings and Suitings selected to suit the occasion and taste of the customers.

GRANT him a call as you are sure to be SUITED.

LAWRENCE READE

SEXTON.

Funeral and Furnishing Undertaker,

AND FUNERAL DIRECTOR,

77 Main St., Woburn, Mass.

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES, and every necessary article constantly on hand for the burial of the dead. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. Flowers Preserved.

Orders by Telephone, Telegraph, or Express promptly attended to Night or Day.

Particular attention given to the care of lots in Woburn and Winchester Catholic cemetery. Funerals attended to in any cemetery in the State. All orders for the opening of graves or business connected with the cemetery, address

LAWRENCE READE,

77 Main St., - Woburn, Mass

JOHN I. MUNROE,

REAL ESTATE NEGOTIATOR

And Manager, - Bank Block, Woburn,

Has a large number of very desirable House Lots other than those of the W. C. L. & I. Co. which he would like to show parties looking for bargains. They are located from the centre to the circumference of the city: also land by the acre, houses and farms.

Hardware, Ranges,

Lamps, Cutlery,

Kitchen Goods, Paints, Oils, Glass, etc., etc. Iron Piping, Drain Pipe and Tin Roofing.

E. G. CLOUGH. 407 Main St.

J. M. ELLIS,

STONE MASON AND BUILDER

Roofing and Concreting Done to Order. Ploughing, Teaming and Jobbing of all kinds. Sand and Loam For Sale.

Residence, Offices and Stables, Salem St., Woburn.

Second Residence from Main street on right hand side.

Buy Pure Drugs and Medicines

—AT—

417 Main St., Old Post Office.

D. W. KELLY, Registered Pharmacist.

Successor to J. P. SHIELDS.

Business Cards.

WOBURN POST OFFICE.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

Boston Mail opens at 7, 7.30, 8.20, 10.20, 11.50 A. M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.30, 7, 7.30 P. M.
New York Mail opens at 7.30 A. M.
Northern Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
Lowell Mail opens at 8.30 A. M., 2.30 P. M.
Winchester Mail opens at 11.50 A. M., 6.30 P. M.
North Woburn Mail opens at 5.00 P. M.
Cummingsville Mail opens at 9.00 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.
Burlington Mail opens at 10.00 A. M.

MAIL CLOSES.

Boston Mail closes at 7, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 11.00 A. M., 12.30, 1.40, 2.30, 4, 4.45, 5.30, 7.45 P. M.
Northern, 7.00 A. M.
Montvale, 7.00 A. M.
Northern, via Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
Lowell 8.30 A. M., via Winchester 12.30, 4 P. M.
Winchester, 12.30, 4 P. M.
North Woburn, 5.30 P. M.
Cummingsville, 8.30 A. M., 5.55 P. M.
Burlington, 10.00 A. M.

Post Office opens at 6.40 A. M.
Closes at 8.00 P. M.
Saturdays at 8.30 P. M.

Arthur B. Wyman, P. M.

B. A. & C. E. TRIPP,

(SUCCESSORS TO)

L. HOUGHTON ALLEN,

FUNERAL UNDERTAKERS

Coffin Warehouse, 8 Montvale Avenue, Woburn Center. Residences, 2 Eastern Avenue, and 65 Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Wholesale or Retail Orders left at either place, or sent by Telegraph or express, promptly attended to. Hearses, Carriages and Flowers furnished. A large assortment of Coffins, Caskets and Grave Clothes constantly on hand.

Telephone No. 7519 at Office.

WILBUR A. REYNOLDS, D. D. S.

Dental Parlors.

No. 180 Tremont St., - Boston.

Near Boylston Street.

 A continuance of WOBURN PATRONAGE respectfully solicited.

The Woburn Journal

MISS SOMEBODYELSE.

If you have ever been engaged to two girls at once you know exactly how Harry Pollard felt after the second Lenox club assembly.

"I'll cut and run," he said to himself the following morning as the full realization of his embarrassing position dawned on his mind. "It's a devil of a mess."

He pondered the situation for a time, and finally decided to accept an invitation he had from an old college chum to visit him at Cape Cod. Harry Pollard forthwith wired his friend Bob Hewitt and told him he was coming.

Fiancee No. 1 was a tall, stately girl of twenty-five. She had known Harry Pollard ever since they were children. He had always liked Carolyn Cannon, and that evening after they had waltzed together he thought he loved her, and told her so. She thought she loved him, and said so. It would have been very well, no doubt, if matters had paused here; but they didn't.

Fiancee No. 2 was Miss Aspinwall-Jones, and she wouldn't have captured Harry Pollard if it hadn't been for a very scheming mamma. When Pollard accepted a seat in Mrs. Aspinwall-Jones' carriage to drive to the assembly he did not dream the consequences of the rash act. For before the cotillion was half over the scheming mamma had a very bad headache—and would Mr. Pollard mind if she drove home at once? They might finish the dance, and very likely could get some one to chaperone them on their homeward drive.

"Very likely!"—nothing of the sort. When Harry Pollard and Miss Aspinwall-Jones got into the brougham before everybody, and brazenly started off for a two mile drive after midnight, significant glances were exchanged among the on-lookers.

"Too bad, you know," said one. "He's too good a fellow for her."

It was tacitly understood that she was hunting his money. She was an awfully pretty girl and all that, but frightfully poor.

Miss Aspinwall-Jones had passed through four seasons more or less, and was too old a hand to let such an opportunity pass. It was not every day that she could manage things to have Harry Pollard alone with her in a brougham.

It was an alleged fainting fit that did the business then; and when a girl sinks down on your shoulder, and when her lips look very red and tempting, what are you to do? Harry Pollard was but human, and forgot all about Carolyn Cannon. When he left Miss Aspinwall-Jones that night there was an understanding between them.

"But don't tell any one yet," he said.

Everything seemed to go wrong after he left Lenox. He missed his connections at Boston, and at last when he reached his Cape Cod retreat he found no one waiting for him at the station.

Rain was falling, and a hazy fog obscured everything. It was after six and growing dark rapidly. Harry Pollard stood on the platform in his gray mackintosh and looked about helplessly.

He questioned the station agent, and was directed to a cottage a half mile up the road. Then he resolutely tramped off, carrying a single hand bag.

"I'll find the place, never fear," he said.

Presently he came to a cottage answering to the description given him. He walked up the steps, but before he had time to pull the bell the door was opened suddenly, a pair of arms were around his neck and he was kissed heartily on the lips by an extremely pretty girl. He didn't seem to mind it, and stood stock still in abject confusion. Then the girl drew back, saying:

"Bob, dear, I'm so glad to see you."

"Er—why, really," he began.

The instant he spoke the girl looked frightened. A wave of color flooded her face. As the light from the hall streamed on him and she saw his face, her eyes—Harry Pollard retained his self possession enough to note they were blue and awfully pretty—looked very much troubled. Indeed she had something to be troubled about.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, and ran swiftly away.

Harry Pollard watched her, and stood blinking in the light.

"Deuced cordial reception," he said to himself. "Wonder who she is? Not Bob's wife, of course; I know her. His sister? He had none. And she called him 'Dear Bob'. I have it—his cousin, by Jove. Odd I didn't think of it before. Just returned from abroad. Wish I had known she was here and I wouldn't have come. I've had quite enough of women; and she begins like the rest—kissing and all that sort of thing. My luck follows me everywhere."

The door was open and Harry Pollard felt that he couldn't walk in, so he pulled the bell and waited.

Presently a woman came into the hall, and the moment she caught sight of Pollard she gave him her hand and greeted him cordially.

"Where did you drop from?" she asked. I am awfully glad to see you. So sorry Robert is not here."

It was Mrs. Hewitt, of course, and Pollard found that they had not received his telegram, as the wires were down; and as for Bob Hewitt he was in Boston, and expected home every moment.

"You'll find it awfully dull here," said Bob's wife; "but Cousin Lou is with us, and I want you to like her very much."

And he did like her very much. When she came down to tea her face was still burning, and she looked shyly at him.

"Mr. Pollard, this is Cousin Lou," said Mrs. Hewitt.

"We have already met," said Pollard, whereupon she blushed and looked angry, and he regretted his want of tact.

Pollard had been there but a short time when he felt that after all there were worse places in the world; and, as for Cousin Lou, there were worse girls—Miss Aspinwall-Jones, for instance. There were walks on the beach, drives and chats after tea every day, and he came to know Cousin Lou better in a week than if he had met her in society for a year.

There was a peculiar charm in her presence, a witchery in her manner that aided her physical charms.—Her mind was a treasure house that day by day yielded its store, and Pollard began to feel ashamed of his ignorance of many things this girl knew better than he.

The inevitable happened one day. They were returning from a walk on the beach. A sou'wester was blowing and a mist lay at sea: rain had begun to drizzle when they reached the house and a light streamed from the front windows.

"This is much like the first night I met you," he said.

"Yes," she said, with a rising inflection that was peculiar to her voice.

"And it seems so very long ago," he added.

"Yes?"

"And since then I have discovered something—shall I tell you what it is?"

Silence.

"I love you very much—may I hope? May I hope that some time you will tell me that you love me?"

"Yes"—this time without the rising inflection.

That was all there was to it, or nearly all, and the next day Harry Pollard went away.

"Now for the governor," he said to himself as the train neared Boston. He found him at his office and was met with a frown.

"What's this—hear from Lenox?" his father said.

"From Lenox?" and the younger Pollard looked as innocent as a lamb.

"A person by the name of Mrs. Aspinwall-Jones writes me that you have proposed to her daughter. Is it true?"

"Well, yes; I suppose it is," replied the younger man desperately.

"You won't marry her, sir—do you hear?"

"Eh?" replied Pollard the younger sadly bewildered.

"I have broken off the engagement, sir, wrote to her and told her you do not get a cent of my money unless you marry as I direct. She wrote back that it was very cruel, very wicked in me to wreck two young lives, but I wrecked them. There, sir, is a package the young woman sent me, containing a few jimcracks you sent her," and the elder man handed the astounded youngster a package. "Now, don't let me hear from any more such nonsense."

"It seems too good to be true," almost shouted the exultant youth. "Thank you, governor, awfully," and he grasped his father's hand enthusiastically.

"God bless my soul, what do you mean, I say? What do you mean?"

"I'll tell you some day," and out of the office rushed Harry Pollard.

He had scarcely gained the street when he remembered Carolyn Cannon, and he hadn't said a word to his father about Bob's cousin Lou. Perhaps he had better wait.

But what did his father mean by saying that he must marry as he should direct. If he went against his wishes he would not get a cent of money from his father, and money, you know, is an extremely necessary article, even if it is "love in a cottage." But Lou—his father must see her to agree with his son that she was the most glorious woman in the world.

And that Carolyn Cannon affair—how could he get out of that? He would go to Lenox, at all events, and face the music. Perhaps something would turn up. But how could he explain his sudden departure? Business?—yes, very important business took him away.

When he got to Lenox it was about eleven o'clock in the morning, and he felt very seedy, having had but little sleep the night before.

He went to the hotel and freshened up a bit, and then started to walk to Miss Cannon's cottage, which was but a short distance away.

On the way a buckboard drove by, and he saw Miss Aspinwall-Jones and her scheming mamma. The latter bowed coldly, the former effusively, as if to show she didn't care much, after all. Pollard returned her bow a little awkwardly. He felt sheepish, remembering what had passed in the brougham that night. As he neared Miss Cannon's cottage he nerved himself up as to what he should say. Should he deny the existence of their engagement, say she misunderstood him, or should he throw himself on her mercy and say they both made a mistake.

About a hundred yards ahead of him he saw her turn a corner—how well he remembered that tall, graceful figure and that languid, deliberate gait. He hastened his steps to overtake her, but she turned into her gateway before he could catch up with her. He would have called out to her, but some people were passing and he did not care to attract their attention. She turned her head carelessly, but evidently did not see him, for she did not bow. She passed on and entered the house.

An instant later he stood on the steps and touched the bell. A serving maid answered.

"Will you please ask Miss Cannon if she will see me?"

The maid went away and a moment afterward returned.

The answer dumbfounded him.

"Miss Cannon is not at home."

He said not a word and then went away. It was a little unpleasant to be thrown over that way, but perhaps it saved a good deal.

He wrote her a note the next day offering to explain if she see him. He said she was unjust and cruel; he could tell her everything. Would she not consent to see him?

The note he received in reply was very formal; she declined to see him.

That was all; but Harry Pollard felt relieved. She was a woman he had known for a long time, and without giving him an opportunity to reply to charges which were trivial in themselves she deliberately threw him over. But it was what he wanted—what he came to Lenox for, but withal very humiliating.

He went back to Boston and wrote to Carolyn Cannon a full confession, at the same time telling her of his engagement with Bob's cousin Lou. A short time afterward he received a note from her congratulating him. When they meet on Commonwealth avenue they bow civilly, of course that is all.

Something very important took Harry Pollard away from Lenox—a note from his father. When he read it he frowned, for he felt that his troubles were not yet over. The letter read:

MY SON—Come away from Lenox immediately. I do not care to hear of any more engagements. I shall expect to see you at the house to-morrow evening; I wish to introduce your future wife, Miss Madison. You know quite as well as I that if you marry as I direct you get a good part of my money, otherwise not a cent. Miss Madison is one of the most beautiful, intellectual women I ever knew; her family is irreproachable, and she is not a money hunter. If you go against my wishes and throw over this girl and my money you are an ungrateful cub. To-morrow evening at 8 o'clock I shall expect to see you in the drawing-room. JOHN D. POLLARD.

Should he go to the house, he thought as he walked aimlessly through the public gardens. Throw over Lou for this money and the accomanying inevitable girl? Never, by Jove! "Beautiful, intelligent—bah!" he muttered, as he walked up the steps of his father's house.

He met his father in the hall.

"I'm here, governor," he said, forcing a laugh. "I suppose I shall learn my fate, but I suppose—suppose this Miss Madison doesn't like me?"

"No danger of that," replied the old man, rubbing his hands and laughing heartily. "She is in the drawing-room." He pulled open the portiere and Pollard at once stepped in.

"I'll leave you," said Pollard the elder.

Harry Pollard stepped into the room and saw smiling, happy radiant, Bob's cousin, Lou.

He stepped forward, and then paused and looked at her blankly.

"Lou, Lou," he said, "is it you? I expected to find Miss—Miss"——

"Somebody else," she said quickly. "I am she."—Elmira Telegram.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. E. Lovell's Drugstore.

The Christian Bible.

The revision of the early Protestant versions of the Bible in different countries, and the wide-spread interest felt in the work among all classes, are among the many signs that the Scriptures are not losing their hold upon the minds of men. The study of comparative religion does not operate to weaken, it rather tends to increase the influence and authority of the Christian Bible. Let any one attempt to read the Koran, and he will rise from the effort with a profounder sense of the depth of power that belongs to the writings of the Prophets and Apostles. Editions of heathen scriptures and excerpts from heathen sages which have been sometimes put forth as rivals of the Bible bring no very large profit to editors or publishers. The Bible remains a well-spring of spiritual life. The conviction is not likely to be dislodged that within its hallowed pages life and immortality are in truth brought to light. The progress of culture and civilization in the lapse of ages does not lessen the worth of the treasure which they contain.—From an article on the Revised Version: The Century for August.

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause of failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc.; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigestion, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congestion, etc. Paine in the left side, shoulder and stomach is caused by heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miles' New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold by Charles H. Buss.

Experience of Massachusetts Cities.

The cities of Malden, Quincy, Worcester and Woburn, Massachusetts, give some facts concerning the effects of no-license that are suggestive. In Malden the increase in population during the past five years is sixty per cent. while the increase in the cost of providing for its poor is only twenty-five per cent. The increase in the deposits in savings banks is over seventy-eight per cent. while a co-operative bank has been established with a paid-up capital of $78,000. The population is 24,466, and requires only twelve patrolmen to keep order. In Quincy the deposits in safety banks during its three years' prohibition were, in 1888, $1,385,534; in 1889, $1,494,542; in 1890, $1,623,202, a large portion of which comes from the laboring classes. The valuation of property has increased eighty-two per cent. since the forty-two saloons were closed. Worcester has had no license since May 1, 1890. The same city marshal and same police force as now served in 1889. The arrests for drunkenness in six months of 1889, numbered 1,571, in the same six months of 1890, under prohibition, the number was 763. There is not a liquor sign in the city, nor a public place where liquor can be obtained. The streets have been quiet, and the liquor business driven to kitchen dives and obscure places. Similar good effects are seen in Woburn.—Union Signal.

What It Costs

Must be carefully considered by the great majority of people, in buying even necessities of life. Hood's Sarsaparilla commends itselves with special force to the great middle classes, because it combines positive economy with great medicinal power. It is the only medicine of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar," and a bottle taken according to directions will average to last a month.

At Portland, Oregon, the grand jury which adjourned January 17, made the following recommendation: "It having been found impossible to suppress, we recommend the licensing of houses of illfame." This is the legitimate fruit of the "high license" liquor ordinance of the above named city. The arguments in favor of licensing the liquor crime are applicable to any other criminal act: the efforts of our "Christian statesmen" to legalize "the sum of all villainies" must rejoice the heart of every panderer to men's evil appetites and desires.—Toledo Good Templar.

Boils—Blood Disorder.

I had been troubled with boils which came out on my ears, neck, and in fact all over my body. I tried everything and could get no relief until I was advised by my neighbor, T. N. Arnold, to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. After using it less than three months, I can say I am fully cured.—Sam'l Grady, No. 20 Caledonian ave., Rochester, N. Y.

It is said that a crick in the back is sometimes relieved as quickly as produced by stretching the back by bending backward across a log or fence. Hot fomentations, with a vigorous rubbing, usually give relief quite readily.

Cashier

Wm. E. Durgin of the Boston Loan Co., 275 Washington Street, says: I recommend Sulphur Bitters as the very best medicine I have ever used. There is nothing like them to give an appetite, tone up the system, and do away with that languid feeling which is so frequent among those confined indoors.

SOMETHING NEW.

The Creely Pants Stretcher.

The best and simplest in use.

PRICE ONLY 25 CTS.

Munroe's Clothing House.

423 Main Street, Woburn, Mass.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

The strange case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde has been generally allowed to "take the cake" as regards improbability, but an inspector of the French sanitary service notes a case of dual existence which, if it does not throw Mr. Stevenson's creation into the shade, at least is equally incredible.

According to M. Proust, a certain Emile X——, an avocat, is afflicted with hysteria, manifested in him by unconsciousness and loss of sensibility. He goes into trances in court and cannot proceed with his pleadings. He loses his memory and forgets his previous existence. He starts out on a new life, becomes a different person, and as such walks about, travels by railway, stays at hotels, sleeps, pays visits, buys, etc., and when restored to his first condition is entirely ignorant of what took place when in his second condition. He has quarreled with his father-in-law, smashed valuables, torn up manuscripts, contracted debts, left restaurants without paying his bills, been charged with swindling and condemned in default, and when in his normal condition has known nothing whatever of any of these escapades.—London Tit-Bits.

Neighbors in a Big City.

An instance of the entire indifference which New Yorkers feel for people who live next door to them occurred when a gentleman attempted to find a man whose address had been given as 259 West Twenty-third street. The address proved erroneous. The gentleman in question lived and had lived for many years at 251 in that street. He is an ex-senator, a man of great local prominence, and is known pretty well from one end of the city to the other, yet inquiries at five or six houses in the immediate vicinity of 251 failed to discover anybody who knew where the ex-senator lived. The inquirer even asked at 249 and 253, missing 251 by an accident, and even then he was unable to find the house.

It is said that one of the most vexing questions in English social life is embraced in the phrase, "Ought we to call on her?" Apparently New Yorkers never have any trouble in deciding whether to call or not upon people who live near them. They not only do not call, but apparently make the strictest efforts to keep from acquiring information of any nature about their neighbors.—New York Sun.

Women as Employes.

A business man of the city giving employment to both men and women, upon being asked why he did not employ more women than he did, said: "I have employed women very often, and I wish I could feel more encouraged. But the truth is that when a young man comes to me and begins his work he feels that it is his life's business. A wife, home and happiness are to be earned, and he settles steadily and earnestly to his labor, determined to master it, and with every incitement spurring him on. He cannot marry until he knows his trade. It is exactly the other way with the girl. She may be as poor as the boy, and wholly dependent upon herself for her living, but she feels that she will probably be married by and by, and then she must give up the work. So she goes on listlessly. She has no ambition to excel; she does not feel that her happiness depends on it. She will marry, and then her husband's wages will support her. She may not say so, but she thinks so, and it spoils her work."—Columbus State Journal.

Saltpeter in the Soil.

Capt. Douglas Galton, one of the first living authorities on sanitary subjects, lecturing before the Royal engineers, says: "The soil in many cities and villages is loaded with nitre and salt, the chemical results of animal and vegetable refuse left to decay, from the presence of which the well water is impure. There are many factories of saltpeter in India derived from this source, and during the great French wars, when England blockaded all the seaports of Europe, the first Napoleon obtained saltpeter for gunpowder from the cesspits of Paris." The almost universal modes of village life mean the presence of large and increasing masses of putrifying matter in the soil, a condition which in India is the origin of cholera or the terrible Delhi ulcer, and in our own climate is responsible for at least one-third of the death rate.—New York Herald.

A TALE WITH A MORAL.

Busy Men Should Keep Themselves Posted Concerning Prominent Men.

George B—— is an extremely busy young Wall street man. He is ambitious, and for several years he has been devoting all of his time to business in the hope of finally attaining an independence. Prosperity in his case has not been of rank growth, but he is still confident. He was called to a small Connecticut town some time ago. He finished what he had to do and found that he must wait an hour for the return train. Glancing over the register of the little hotel he saw a familiar name. It was that of a man who has attained great eminence as a traveler, a writer and a lecturer.

Some years ago B. had known him slightly, and had admired him

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1891.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of Sparrow Horton, 193 Main Street, Charles R. Brown, 106 Main Street, John Cummings, 2d, Cummingsville, Samuel E. Wyman, W. A. Hanson, North Woburn, and at G. P. Brown's Winchester.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon.

WELL DONE, SENATOR WYER!

At no General Court for years has the fight over temperance legislation been sharper or more determined than in the present one. The principal bone of contention has been the repeal of the present law prohibiting public bars and the substitution of a power to license proprietors to sell rum over them wherever the business is carried on.

Under the leadership of Representative Wardwell of Haverhill the House has successfully opposed the change in the law demanded by the rumsellers, but in the Senate the action has been against to the present method of furnishing customers with intoxicating liquors and in favor of a return to the saloon bar. The report of the Senate committee to whom the matter was referred was in favor of the law as it now stands.

Last Tuesday a substitute for the Committee's report adverse to a change was offered which, if carried, would reinstate the public bar in the saloons and give the temperance cause a serious setback. After a thorough discussion of its merits the substitute was adopted by a large majority. The negative vote of 14 was composed entirely of Republicans and among them was the name of EDWIN F. WYER, Senator from this District and resident of this city. Enough rum Republicans however joined hands with the entire Democratic force in the Senate to cast a vote of 23 in favor of the saloon and its interests. This vote in the Senate will not affect the question of a repeal of the present law at all for the House had already voted strongly the other way, and the rum men have now nothing to do but retire a badly whipped party.

In common with the temperance people of this Senatorial District we feel grateful to Senator Wyer for his vote on this important matter. He certainly would not have voted as he did unless he had believed it right and for the best interests of the people, which fact adds materially to the credit due him for the wise and manly course he pursued.

WHEELED INTO LINE.

Last Tuesday the House of Representatives of the Legislature of the State of Maine voted to adopt the Australian Ballot System of voting by 76 yeas to 60 nays, and the same has become a law, the Senate having previously voted in its favor.

The bill finally passed was almost precisely like the Massachusetts law which has worked so admirably and is so warmly endorsed by all parties. Great opposition was brought to bear against the Australian System in Maine from the time of its introduction into the Legislature two years ago, and it came chiefly from Republicans; but more light on the subject and a better understanding of the new method of voting have worked a favorable change, and the system has become a law.

☞ The Governor's Council vetoed Gov. Russell's order for the removal of Police Commissioner Osborne most emphatically last Wednesday. Every sensible person knew they would.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Canal street—To Let.
R. B. P. Co.—R. B. P.
Mrs. Jennings—Baseballs.
Five Cents Sav. Bank—Notice.

Job Work.

Job printing is done as neatly, as promptly, and at as low prices, at the JOURNAL office as at any establishment in Middlesex County. Entire satisfaction in quality of work and prices is guaranteed.—tf.

— See Smith's "Fire" ad. in this paper.

— There was a powerful rain last Saturday.

— Mr. Fred Roby has come back to Woburn to live.

— Mrs. M. B. Cummings and family are at Mattapan.

— George Bullock, currier, has gone to Pennsylvania to live.

— Read the notice to King's Daughters in another column.

— Robins and blue birds made their appearance here several days ago.

— Winter still lingers in the lap of Spring—the hoary-headed old trifler!

— Mrs. Mary Shaw and her son J. Warner have returned from California.

— Moving-day is close at hand and heaps of people are getting ready for it.

— Grant has got in a fine stock of the latest styles in suitings, etc. for men.

— Rumor says that Mr. George M. Irving contemplates a change in business.

— It is now said that the City Reports will be ready for delivery next week.

— Supt. Fish's men are putting electric lights into Music Hall, Dow Block.

— Read "To Let" and then call on J. W. Johnson Esq., and rent a fine cottage.

— Mr. J. H. Hammond and wife were at St. Augustine, Fla., at last accounts.

— The Sheridan Light Infantry will give a ball at Hibernian Hall on Fast Day night.

— It is said that Mr. C. B. Bryant is going to occupy the Theodore Boutelle shop.

— Thomas Robertson has had an offer of an actor's situation at Austen's Nickelodeon.

— Mrs. Michael McKay of Chestnut street has been very ill lately, but is now much better.

— Delegations of Relief Corps 83 and 84 visited the Dorchester Relief Corps last Tuesday.

— Fire! Fire! Don't fail to read C. Willard Smith's Fire Sale which begins to-morrow morning.

— Union Fast Day services will be held at the Unitarian Church. Mayor Bean will an address.

— Mr. Samuel Smith, lately with Mr. E. G. Clough, has accepted employment at Waltham.

— Copeland's last week's change of advertisement should have read 10 cents instead of 12 1-2.

— Col. W. T. Grammer has about fully recovered from a severe attack of the prevailing distemper.

— A good many cellars in this city were more or less flooded after the great rain of last Saturday.

— The alarm Saturday morning was for a little fire in a house near the Stoneham line. No damage.

— Capt. J. P. Crane had a very pleasant time during his Southern trip. He returned several days ago.

— Principal Soule of the Arlington Cutter school visited the Cummings school in this city last Monday.

— Our people ought to step into the Boston Branch about next Thursday and see how cheap sugar can be sold.

— Mr. Waterman Brown is preparing for the best flower garden that he has ever produced on Church Ave.

— Tickets for "Trovatore" will be placed on sale at 7.30 p. m., April 4, at the store of J. W. Hammond & Son.

— Legg has some fine samples of his photographic work on exhibition in the windows of Copeland & Bowser's store.

— Mrs. C. Packard has sold her millinery store in this city and will attend wholly to her Stoneham store and trade.

— There is a good deal of "hoss talk" indulged in now days in connection with some contests of speed on the road and turf.

— The cars make half hour trips between here and Stoneham. Supt. Wentworth is bound to accommodate the public and does so.

— For the first time in nearly a week the sun made his appearance last Wednesday and everyone rejoiced to see his face once more.

— The sale of pews at the M. E. Church last Tuesday evening was a highly satisfactory one. A neat sum was netted by premiums.

— The spring vacation of our schools will begin next Monday and last a week. Won't marbles and baseball have to take up, though!

— Mr. Charles T. Gay, for a long time Mr. N. J. Simonds's competent bookkeeper, has moved to Everett. He will be missed here.

— Mr. Supt. Sewell of the N. W. St. Railroad will please accept our thanks for favors cheerfully rendered in the way of office supplies.

— Last Friday evening Major Irving R. Bancroft, Capt. James H. Hanson, and Sergt. Chester L. Fish attended the Boston Latin School drill.

— The St. Charles C. T. A. contemplate quite seriously the organization of Womens Auxiliary in connection with their excellent society.

— The W. H. S. B. will give a public drill on April 10 in order to raise funds to defray expenses of attending the annual muster at Lynn.

— Several parties have been made up to go down to Winchester on Fast Day night to the Wedgemere Tennis Club's Negro Minstrels entertainment.

— This is the closing evening of the Post 161, G. A. R. Fair, and if nothing happens there will be a big crowd present. It has been a success so far.

— An old Woburn weatherwise says when Spring fairly gets here, which will be very soon now, it will have come to stay, with Summer just ahead.

— About the best thing in the market in the shape of a spring medicine is "Our Own" sarsaparilla which Lovell offers to the public at a fair price.

— Hon. E. D. Hayden has been elected President of the A. & M. Association to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. E. N. Blake.

— A funny sort of an assault and battery case will be tried in the District Court to-morrow morning. The parties are members of the cream of Stoneham society.

— The N. Y. Observer of last week said that Rev. Mr. Munhall, the great evangelist, "expects to be in Woburn soon." He will go from here to Everett.

— The Dow will case was resumed before the Probate Court at East Cambridge last Monday and after hearing some testimony it was continued to April 18.

— On next Friday, April 3, the 6th and 7th grades of the Cummings school will give a physical drill in the Cummings school hall under the direction of Mrs. Livingstone.

— E. E. Thompson, Esq., was laid up in the early part of this week at his home on Montvale Ave. by something that possessed many of the characteristics of the grip.

— Mr. George E. Kimball, of the firm of Wilder & Kimball, lumber dealers at Hingham, thinks life would be rather a dreary affair without the Woburn JOURNAL.

— The funeral of Mrs. Frank Taylor, who died at her home on Main street, Central Square, last Saturday, was held on Monday and many relatives and friends attended it.

— The Woburn Workers will hold an adjourned meeting in the vestry of the Congregational church to-morrow, Saturday, afternoon at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

— Brewster Colony, No. 19, U. O. P. F., will give a "mum" supper on Fast Day evening with an entertainment accompaniment. The supper will be announced at half past 6.

— Mr. Gregory will sell at auction to-morrow afternoon a lot of personal property at the Cummings place corner of Maine and Richardson street. Some good bargains will be offered.

— A prominent and intelligent manufacturer in that village said the other day that there are 2,000 people out of employment in Stoneham at the present time. It is terribly dull over there.

— Arthur E. Gage, Esq., Secretary of the Woburn Tariff Reform Club, will please accept the thanks of the JOURNAL for courtesies anent the Club's banquet last Wednesday evening.

— Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hackett, who have been visiting their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Thompson in this city, expect to return to their home at St. Paul, Minn., at an early day.

— City Clerk Moreland if feeling all right again. His nervous system had got a little off color, but rest from official duties and outdoor exercise restored it to its normal condition.

— The last sunlight hop for the season at Stoneham will be given on Fast Day, April 2, for which a fine order of dances has been made out. It will take place in Armory Hall.

— The opening game of B B in this city will be played on Fast Day between the Brown & Durrell Club of Boston and a select nine from Woburn's best players. It will be interesting.

— A fine course of Sunday evening lectures at the Unitarian church closed last Sunday. Eminent men have filled numbers in the programme with much acceptance to their audiences and, it is hoped, to their profit.

— Mr. William H. Gould has one of his thumbs split open by a circular saw last Saturday at the Johnston Electric Signal Company's factory on Main street where he is an employee. Dr. Chalmer's was called and dressed the wound.

— The Peoples Dry Goods Company of Maynard, this State, whose advertisement appears in this paper, is one of the most flourishing establishments in this part of the country. It is perfectly reliable and enjoys public confidence.

— One of the most attractive features of the concert to be given by Clan McKinnon on the evening of April 15 will be Lambett's celebrated Scottish Choir. It is worth going a good ways to hear. There will be other fine musical attractions.

— Frank Menchin kindly forwarded "comps" to a Social Assembly to be held by Nahmeokee Council, D. of P., on Thursday evening, April 2, next at Red Men's Hall, for which thanks are returned. The best of music will be provided for the dance.

— After a 3-weeks serious but triumphant conflict with the grip Mr. James Leonard Fowle, the old standby at Gage & Co's., got back to his post of duty last Monday morning And so did Mr. Alvah Buckman get to work after a severe pull with it.

— When he returns from his California visit about May 1 it is expected that Mr. John R. Carter will take the residence on Winn street now occupied by Mr. Gilman F. Jones. Mr. Jones has rented one of Mrs. Timothy Winn's fine houses on Main street above Kilby.

— A large meeting was held by members of Painters Union, 193, at Fraternity Hall last Monday evening at which the minimum price per day was established at $2 50. Only a few if any of the bosses have been heard from. The Union have the support of the Trades Council.

— The "Line Gale" set in just a week ago to-day and continued until it played itself out about the middle of this week. A change of the moon from first quarter to full was rather too many guns for the equinoctial and it yielded to better weather, although not in the most graceful manner.

